"The organization of the book is highly unsatisfactory. Chapter headings and sub-headings do not furnish a clear guide to their contents. . . Finally, it is to be noted that the data are not always reliable, the material is inadequately documented, and the writing is prolix, discursive, and careless. One finds ample evidence throughout the book of hasty writing and insufficient care in editing. Despite its shortcomings, however, the book obliges one to admire the British for their remarkable achievements. It is to be hoped that a more adequate study of the British war economy will appear in the near future." Leo Fishman
— + Ann Am Acad 228:119 Jl '43 470w

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert
Foreign Affairs 22:164 O '43 20w

Reviewed by Norman Angell
Management R 32:316 Ag '43 700w

Reviewed by W. S. McCauley
Pol Sci Q 58:297 Je '43 650w

MURSELL, JAMES LOCKHART. Education for American democracy. 528p $3.75 Norton

370.973 Education—U.S. Education—Aims and objectives. Democracy 43-8812

The purpose of this book is "to interpret on a background of history and of social reality the controversial issues, the outstanding and characteristic practices, and the chief institutional patterns with which we have to do in American education at the present time." (Pref) Bibliography. Index.

Reviewed by Thomas Woody
Ann Am Acad 231:163 Ja '44 600w

Booklist 40:72 N 1 '43

"Do you glow with satisfaction at the fact that our country has the most stupendous experiment in education that the world has ever seen? Do you become discouraged at the distance between what schools ought to be and what they are? In either case this book is for you. For it is unique in placing America's educational effort in terms of today's total assets and liabilities." Ordway Tead
+ Sat R of Lit 26:11 S 18 '43 800w

MURSELL, JAMES LOCKHART. Music in American schools. 312p il $2.60 Silver

780.7 Music—Instruction and study 43-3935

"Based on the premise that 'American education is about to make another of those dramatic steps which have marked its course in the past,' this book sets forth a review of past experiences and practices in music education and proposes ways and means of making music a more integral part of daily living, both during the present crisis and in the years following the war." (School & Society) Index.

Cleveland Open Shelf p15 Ag '43

School & Society 57:308 Mr 13 '43 80w

MUSSEY, JUNE BARROWS. Magic; il. with phot. of the author's hands, by Margaret Hawthorn. 83p $1 Barnes, A.S.

793.8 Conjuring 42-50809

Describes simple conjuring tricks and stunts, explaining the proper way of showing them, as well as the mechanics. Little or no equipment is required. Illustrated with photographs.

Booklist 39:203 Ja 15 '43

"For old and young, for any one with a turn for tricks, either as puzzler or as prestidigitator. . . Illustrations instead of spreading attention over a magician's whole figure, concentrate on the hands at crucial moments, and by a series of excellent photographs display those of Mr. Mussey in action."
+ Books p10 D 20 '42 110w

Christian Century 60:110 Ja 27 '43 20w

Springf'd Republican p7e Jl 25 '43 60w

Wis Lib Bul 39:106 Jl '43

MYER, WALTER EVERT, and CROSS, CLAY. Education for democratic survival. 264p $1.50 Civic educ. service, 744 Jackson pl, N.W, Washington, D.C.

940.53144 Reconstruction (1939-). World war, 1939—U.S. Education—U.S. 42-22676

The authors present arguments showing the need for intensive civic education in our schools, and outline a plan of study, utilizing two periods daily in senior high schools.

Reviewed by A. M. Farquhar
Library Q 13:357 O '43 370w

Reviewed by Ordway Tead
Sat R of Lit 26:14 Mr 6 '43 800w

"The broad outline of Education for Democratic Survival is so captivating that it is easy to neglect worthwhile lesser matters. For example, the analogy of a jury trial with the handling of controversial questions in a classroom is worthy of a place among the classics in educational literature. Similarly the paragraphs of appraisal of specific contemporary magazines are excellent. Social studies teachers will find many of these incidental matters of real help in their teaching. Nevertheless, in the strong central argument for converting schools to a program of 'political preparedness' lies the great strength of this book." S. E. Dimond
+ Social Educ 7:46 Ja '43 600w

MYERS, GUSTAVUS. History of bigotry in the United States. 504p $3.50 Random house

272.9 Religious liberty. Persecution. Toleration. U.S.—Race question 43-9842

"A good deal has been written on subject of tolerance in past few years. Nothing has covered subject quite as Mr. Myers has done. Book is no academic study of intolerance, or bigotry, as he chooses to name it. It is a narrative of historical facts from seventeenth century to May, 1942, to prove constant existence of bigotry in America." Library J

Reviewed by Ephraim Fischoff
Ann Am Acad 231:192 Ja '44 650w

"The scholarship and good sense in this book will provide source material for many years to come."
+ Atlantic 172:123 Ag '43 90w

Booklist 39:456 Jl 15 '43

"The book might be fairly enough described as a quarry out of which one may dig a vast amount of really valuable material; but, as it stands, it presents better evidence of the author's industry than of his ability to give an orderly, well-written presentation of facts. . . Some of the book's imperfections may be due to the fact that it was compiled during the last days of the author's life; in fact he died before it was actually published. Possibly then he may have finished his work hurriedly with a consciousness that he had little time left for recasting and rewriting." Joseph McSorley
Cath World 157:663 S '43 360w

"It is a regrettable fact that our author butchered the English language. He wrote with a meat cleaver and a bludgeon, and one almost suspects that he deliberately avoided vividness and niceness of expression for fear such might gnaw away at his objectivity and make him seem a partial witness. In any case, reading his book gives no esthetic joy, however greatly it may contribute to your store of knowledge and understanding. The latter it will certainly do."
+ — Commonweal 38:564 S 24 '43 1000w

"Just now, when political, religious, and racial matters have got to be dealt with, Mr. Myers' substantial history makes important, though not very pleasing reading. Good for any library, of any size, if subject is not adequately covered." K. T. Willis
+ Library J 68:326 Ap 15 '43 110w

Reviewed by E. S. Morgan
New Eng Q 16:507 S '43 350w

Reviewed by C. W. Mills
New Repub 109:344 S 6 '43 650w

"Gustavus Myers's last book is not the equal of those written in his early manhood. Its long asides, its peculiar emphasis, its lack of form, all contribute to the conclusion that his final reputation will rest not on this book but on 'The History of Tammany Hall' and the 'History of the Great American Fortunes.'" Francis Brown
N Y Times p5 Je 27 '43 550w

"The style is flat, academic, and uncompromising, but the facts are here, and the book should be read by anyone seriously interested in the roots of native contemporary political, religious, and racial reaction."
+ — New Yorker 19:70 Je 26 '43 70w

Reviewed by H. W. Kallen
Sat R of Lit 26:6 Jl 31 '43 1800w

Reviewed by Bruno Lasker
Survey G 32:406 O '43 390w

"In this 495-page book, Historian Myers gives bigotry one of its most strenuous workouts. He puts at the disposal of those who would combat bigotry, and who would preserve merely credulous and ill-informed people from the infection of intolerance, a tremendous arsenal of fact and of reference."
+ Time 42:101 S 27 '43 850w

"The history of American bigotry is essentially a comedy and should be so written; but until some great man accomplishes that task, Mr. Myers's contribution will remain of value to the prudent." G. W. Johnson
Weekly Book Review p3 Jl 11 '43 1400w

MYERS, JAMES. Do you know labor? 240p $2 Day

331.8 Labor and laboring classes 43-5612

"A simple presentation of the labor problem, suitable for the use of clubs or discussion groups. This is a revised, enlarged edition of a book published in 1940 by the National home library foundation. Partial contents: Different kinds of labor unions; Wartime status of labor; Strikes and how to prevent them; Democratic ownership; Negroes and labor unions; Women and trade unions; Workers' education." Booklist) Bibliography. Index.

Booklist 39:371 My 15 '43

"This is straight from the shoulder stuff from a man who has been on every important field of industrial conflict for the past quarter century. No one I can think of right now knows labor better than Jimmy Myers. . . My advice to all alert-minded churchmen, who want to know the sociological and economic time of day, is to do these two things. First get hold of Do You Know Labor? and read and digest [it]. . . The book bristles with data contained between no other two covers. It is invaluable in its suggestions for discussion and its superb bibliography. Then write to the Industrial Division, Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America, 297 Fourth Avenue, New York City and send them five cents for Myers' outline of 'Informal Conferences.'"
+ Churchman 157:14 Jl 1 '43 1000w

"'Do You Know Labor?' is a little forbidding in format, but solid in substance and written with humor and rare wisdom."
+ — Commonweal 38:422 Ag 13 '43 750w

MYKLEBOST, TOR. They came as friends; tr. by Trygve M. Ager. 297p $2.50 Doubleday

940.542 World war, 1939—Norway 43-1897

Study of the German methods used in attempting to convert their "fellow-Nordics," the Norwegians, to the Nazi principles, and how they were hampered by the non-cooperation of all the inhabitants of the invaded nation. The author is a Norwegian journalist.

Booklist 39:273 Mr 1 '43

"If anyone doubts the strength inherent in true democracy; if anyone needs to renew his faith in the power of this great force to order men's lives, let him read this heroic story of Norway's martyrdom and will to survive. We have not had a clearer, more complete or more authentic record of the events following the Nazi occupation." H. A. P.
+ Christian Science Monitor p14 F 15 '43 360w

Cleveland Open Shelf p5 Ap '43

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert
Foreign Affairs 21:8 Jl '43 30w

"Valuable addition to growing literature dealing with Norway under Nazi rule. . . Well written and well translated. . . Should have wide appeal. Recommended for college and public libraries." F. E. Hirsch
+ Library J 68:82 Ja 15 '43 130w

Manchester Guardian p3 Ag 4 '43 130w

Reviewed by Bjarne Braatoy
Nation 156:351 Mr 6 '43 150w

New Repub 108:190 F 8 '43 90w

Reviewed by Sigrid Undset
N Y Times p1 Ja 31 '43 1750w

"Rather simple-minded here and there, but a heartening object lesson in democracy."
+ New Yorker 18:62 Ja 30 '43 70w

"Mr. Myklebost's book must strengthen our faith in democracy. He gives a true account of a race of noble men." S. V. Gustafson
+ Springf'd Republican p6 My 17 '43 300w

Times [London] Lit Sup p421 S 4 '43 600w

"The book is written as a historical record, reporting faithfully, with documentation, the night which settled down over Norway almost three years ago. It is illumined, as are all the annals of this world disaster, by the inextinguishable beams of the human spirit." Paul Sapieha

+ Weekly Book Review p5 F 21 '43 1000w

MYSTERY chef's own cook book. 366p $1 Garden City pub. co.

641.5 Cookery 43-13705

"Way back in the early years of radio, there used to be a program for housewives which was conducted by a friendly and informal gentleman who called himself 'The Mystery Chef.' His sponsors sent listeners, upon request, a small paper-bound book of recipes. . . Today the book has grown up into a big book in board covers . . . and is even more full than ever, packed with foreign and American recipes and the well-remembered short-cuts." Springf'd Republican

"The buildup is corny, but the recipes are excellent. I don't believe we have ever had a failure with any of them, including his pollo alla cacciatora and his beef a la Stroganoff, which have always come out beautifully. We have profited by many of his excellent cooking tips—some of them amazingly ingenious." S. I. Hayakawa

+ — Book Week p9 Je 27 '43 340w

Springf'd Republican p7e Je 13 '43 170w

N

NADI, ALDO. On fencing; foreword by Paul Gallico. 300p il $3 Putnam

796.86 Fencing 43-4468

Serious study of the art of fencing, written by a fencing master, and illustrated with photographs. For students only.

Booklist 39:384 Je 1 '43

N Y Times p20 My 30 '43 200w

"That Aldo Nadi, the world's greatest swordsman, has decided to write 'On Fencing' is excuse enough for another book on the sport. But where other texts have been straightforward expositions of technic, Mr Nadi has some interesting and emphatic things to say about the physical, educational and even spiritual value of fencing. What is more, he is able to go his pedagogical predecessors one better by describing an actual duel that he engaged in." M. R. B.

+ Springf'd Republican p8 Ap 15 '43 330w

NAIDICH, JAMES. Mathematics of flight. 409p il $2.75; text ed $2.20 McGraw

629.1323 Aerodynamics. Mathematics 43-12642

This book contains the selected topics in algebra, geometry, and trigonometry needed by anyone interested in aeronautics, either as a basis for pre-induction training or for civil life. No previous secondary school training in mathematics is necessary for an understanding of the text. Index.

"This book is interestingly written and illustrated. It is elementary enough for anyone." L. E. Grinter

Book Week p10 N 7 '43 50w

Booklist 40:74 N 1 '43

Reviewed by L. A. Eales

Library J 68:771 O 1 '43 20w

N Y New Tech Bks 28:47 Jl '43

Reviewed by James Stokley

Weekly Book Review p36 N 28 '43 50w

NAMIER, LEWIS BERNSTEIN. Conflicts; studies in contemporary history. 222p $2.50 (8s 6d) Macmillan

940.504 History, Modern A42-4828

"This book is a collection of eighteen essays written by a professor of modern history at the University of Manchester. With one exception, they were prepared and printed in magazines or journals after the outbreak of World War II. In this volume these essays are brought together with a minimum of change. Subjects which form the central theme of the various articles are: a brief history of Europe, 1815-1919, the Versailles settlement, the meaning and evolution of democracy, Germany and the background of the Nazi movement, and problems of Jews." Am Soc R

Reviewed by Julian Park

Am Hist R 49:137 O '43 400w

"The essays were written in a popular style; hence there are very few references and footnotes of an explanatory nature. Nevertheless the various subjects are treated in an erudite and objective manner, so they are valuable summaries of the topics discussed. . . The book may well serve as a stimulus to social scientists in the United States to put forth more thought and effort on the interpretation of contemporary social issues to the public." C. R. Hoffer

+ Am Soc R 8:480 Ag '43 350w

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert

Foreign Affairs 22:155 O '43 20w

"Almost half the essays are concerned with the background of present-day Europe, beginning with a masterly survey of the nineteenth century, from Vienna to Versailles, and ending with a comparison of 1812 and 1941. No man knows more of Europe and of its collective psychology; in fact, these essays should be compulsory reading for every student of history and of international affairs." A. J. P. T.

+ Manchester Guardian p3 Jl 24 '42 300w

"Let me recommend strongly Mr. Namier's essays. They are sometimes so succinct as to make rather stiff reading, but there is never a wasted or a thoughtless word." Raymond Mortimer

+ New Statesman & Nation 24:95 Ag 8 '42 800w

Reviewed by G. N. Shuster

N Y Times p24 Je 13 '43 550w

"Where all are excellent it is superfluous to select. Every reader will choose his own preferences. In Symmetry and Repetition Professor Namier says all that really needs to be said on the influence of history on political action. His section on the Jews is the most lucid and yet one of the briefest expositions of this perpetually exasperated problem. . . The note of prophecy, and of warning, is never aggressive in these calmly written essays. But it is there." C. V. Wedgwood

+ Spec 169:110 Jl 31 '42 700w

"The historian and the political journalist march in step in this book. It is full of illuminating matter. Among the other items is a terse, logical and extraordinarily realistic discussion of the nature of democracy."

+ Times [London] Lit Sup p390 Ag 8 '42 2600w

NASH, ANNE. Said with flowers. 211p $2 Doubleday

43-6909

Mystery story.

Booklist 39:427 Je 15 '43

"Swift action, crisp dialogue, good plotting and a detective who is not easily fooled." Isaac Anderson

+ N Y Times p12 Ap 25 '43 120w

"Entertaining."

+ Sat R of Lit 26:25 Ap 24 '43 40w

"This soft-boiled thriller by a newcomer struck us as more than satisfactory reading." Will Cuppy

+ Weekly Book Review p21 My 16 '43 200w

NASH, WALTER. New Zealand; a working democracy. 335p $3.50 Duell

993.1 New Zealand. World war, 1939—New Zealand 43-17694

"Author is first New Zealand Minister to United States, and the introduction by Eric Estorick is devoted to his accomplishments at home and abroad. Short description of land and people, the development of agriculture and industry. Social and labor legislation; New Zealand's part in the war; her manpower problem; war economy, postwar problems; rehabilitation and the problem of the Pacific. Contribution for better understanding of New Zealand and her place among nations." (Library J) Index.

NASH, WALTER—Continued

Booklist 40:140 D 15 '43

"This is a cheering book. It is the clear responsible voice of reason and sanity in the midst of the almost deafening blare of insane and suicidal propaganda with which we are being attacked from all sides at the moment... A book to buy and keep—or preferably lend to your reactionary friends." Gwenyth Grube
+ Canadian Forum 23:237 Ja '44 550w

Reviewed by J. A. Sohon
+ Library J 68:623 Ag '43 70w

Reviewed by C. H. Grattan
Nation 158:50 Ja 8 '44 700w

"Mr. Nash is by now well and favorably known in this country. He has doubled (or alternated) the posts of Minister of Finance, in Wellington, and Minister resident at Washington. Newspapermen and the public in general seem to have appreciated his forthright and frank discussion of war and peace issues. Aligning himself with the idealists in Washington, he rapidly became a recognized leader of United Nations policy. But the other side of his work is perhaps more important. He is a cool and determined realist with a strong political grip on his home base and remarkable administrative gifts. New Zealand is therefore fortunate in her spokesman." J. B. Condliffe
+ New Repub 109:924 D 27 '43 900w

Reviewed by John MacCormac
N Y Times p7 O 24 '43 850w

Scientific Bk Club R 14:4 D '43 180w

"'New Zealand' is, of course, a semiofficial presentation; the author has probably not played up some of the New Zealand experiments which were less successful, and the frictions which are inevitable in any society. Even with this reservation most Americans will find this book reassuring, challenging and exciting." H. W. Cross
+ Springf'd Republican p7e Ja 9 '44 1150w

Reviewed by Walter Millis
Weekly Book Review p5 D 5 '43 900w

NATHAN, GEORGE JEAN. Beware of parents; a bachelor's book for children; il. by Whitney Darrow, jr. 130p $2 Farrar
817 43-3347

A bachelor's advice, supposedly to children, on how to view their parents. Contains witty refutations of over two hundred proverbs, often used by parents.

"Unfortunately, the dodos Nathan is defending have been extinct for many a year, and the windmills just aren't there. Like too many people who write for and about children, he is recalling the days of his own childhood and obviously hasn't looked at anything really young since about 1903... There are two chapters in which proverbs and similes beloved of parents are debunked, and every now and then the old Nathan rapier flashes and the bite and sparkle is there. But for the most part the gleam is dulled and the whole thing is rather tiresome." P. A. W.
— + Book Week p9 Ap 11 '43 420w

"Too many pages given to showing fallacy in two hundred and one proverbs. Strikes your funny bone in places but has effect of trying to be clever and is best taken in small doses. Limited appeal." H. R. Burdett
Library J 68:171 F 15 '43 70w

"The book seems to be not so much the humorous and debonair warning against parents implied in the title as a handy outlet for a lot of objections that the obstreperous author wanted to get off his chest... As usual the author is stimulating, irritating and sententious. But the flick of Nathan wrath seems less sharp today because it is dated. The betting is that his angle would change overnight were he to become a father." Beatrice Sherman
N Y Times p3 Ap 25 '43 360w

"Hypocritical of course (obviously the kids aren't going to understand Mr. Nathan's references to Kossuth and 'Lady Audley's Secret'), but parents may give a look, to their pleasure and profit. Frontispiece, and rakish drawings by Whitney Darrow, Jr."
+ New Yorker 19:80 Ap 3 '43 70w

Reviewed by Christopher Morley
Sat R of Lit 26:30 Ap 17 '43 270w

"Enlightened parents who read the book will wonder where Uncle George has been for the past quarter of a century (besides the theater, of course)... Uncle George's thesis, however, is sound... All humans, of whatever age, are people, and should be treated as such. This is the burden of Uncle George's message, and he delivers it, as usual, with matchless urbanity, cold disdain and a middling portion of wit." Thomas Sugrue
+ — Weekly Book Review p16 Ap 11 '43 500w

NATHAN, GEORGE JEAN. Theatre book of the year, 1942-1943; a record and an interpretation. 300p $3 Knopf
792 Theater—U.S. Drama—History and criticism (43-51298)

A survey of the American theatre from June 1942 to June 1943 by the dean of American dramatic critics. Covers every play produced professionally during the period, and also a number of typical plays produced in various experimental theatres. Index.

Booklist 40:75 N 1 '43

"Title would lead you to believe that Nathan aspired to rival Burns Mantle's justly famous annual volume. Take warning: There are no excerpts from plays, no lengths of run, no full indices, and, frequently, no plots. Book, despite its title, in no way conflicts with Mantle. It is Nathan, pure and impure." George Freedley
+ Library J 68:667 S 1 '43 80w

Reviewed by J. K. Hutchens
N Y Times p32 O 3 '43 600w

"A collection of critical essays on last season's dramatic fare, including the turkeys. Not the least of the author's charms is that he uses words like 'neoteric' when he simply means 'recent,' and his syntax is still as complicated and fascinating as the works in a watch. Mr. Nathan's book is full of very funny reading for the casual theatre goer and interesting, if occasionally high-handed and debatable, thoughts for the trade."
+ New Yorker 19:86 S 25 '43 70w

"The book is neither very informing nor very witty. For what it is worth, Mr. Nathan introduces the book with his own 'honor list' and ends it with a table of performances that were especially interesting to him."
Theatre Arts 27:F2 D '43 420w

Reviewed by W. P. Eaton
Weekly Book Review p24 N 7 '43 380w

NATHAN, ROBERT. But gently day. 161p $2 Knopf
43-12145

At the moment of his death a young American soldier, killed in a plane crash, finds himself back in the home and times of his great-grandparents. It is the period just after the Civil war, when it seems as tho the wounds sustained in that war will never heal. The love of the young soldier for the girl who is to become his grandmother and the errant ways of another woman bring about the second tragedy.

Atlantic 172:131 N '43 120w

"The author has delved deeply enough into American customs and costumes to produce a good, though slender, period novel. But it takes all the talent Nathan possesses to bring off the romance between the corporal and the girl who will later become his own grandmother—a triangular situation which involves the young man who will later be Henry's grandfather. If all of this sounds a trifle involved, it should be remembered that Stephen Vincent Benet demanded an equal act of faith in 'The Devil and Daniel Webster'—and Nathan with poetic justice dedicates this book to the late Benet. But whereas Benet brings off his difficult denouement, Nathan slips into dangerous melodrama (or perhaps burlesque) at a moment which should have been handled with extreme restraint." Sterling North

+ — Book Week p3 S 12 '43 650w

Booklist 40:48 O 1 '43

"It is hard to see the value of this jugglery with time; the details of Pennsylvania life, though authentic, do not arise naturally from the lives of the characters, and the sentiments expressed by the young airman have little or no relevance to his story."
Cath World 158:219 N '43 200w

Christian Science Monitor p12 N 6 '43 400w

"Not Nathan's best, but most libraries will need for his enthusiasts." Thelma Brackett
+ — Library J 68:668 S 1 '43 70w

"If one wishes to be literal-minded and fussy about logic, there are things in this tale which are quite definitely troubling. I might as well confess they bother me. . . The chief point about 'But Gently Day' is that no one who is in the least sensitive to good English prose could fail to find some pleasure in it. Mr. Nathan is one of those writers—Aldous Huxley is one of them, and so was Scott Fitzgerald—who continue to surprise one by their technical dexterity. One forgets, between books, how good they are. Mr. Nathan has a style that is lucid, clean-cut, incisive, colloquial. There is nothing emasculated about it, as one might expect from a writer so dedicated to whimsy and fantasy. For this reason—and many others—I keep hoping that Mr. Nathan will one day abandon his parables and fairy tales and meet his world squarely, face to face." E. H. Walton
+ — N Y Times p6 S 5 '43 900w

"It all has the familiar look and ring of other of Mr. Nathan's works, and the faithful will know just what to expect; so will the unfaithful."
New Yorker 19:86 S 11 '43 90w

"Mr. Nathan's excursion in time has the unpretentious charm which his readers have come to love. If it never achieves the magic and suggestiveness of that great sortie into the past—Henry James's 'Sense of the Past'—it manages also to avoid the sentimentalisms of John L. Balderston's 'Berkeley Square.' The story is told with a gentle matter-of-factness that lulls one's critical sense. . . Mr. Nathan has combined the trivial and the philosophic in such a way as to hint at profundity while sometimes achieving only a blurring of outlines." Edna Lerner
+ — Sat R of Lit 26:11 S 11 '43 600w

"'But Gently Day' proves once more that the voice need not be loud or violent to move the heart to courage." E. M. B.
+ Springf'd Republican p7e O 3 '43 190w

"As in an earlier book, 'Portrait of Jennie,' so now in 'But Gently Day,' Mr. Nathan binds the past and the future with the finespun threads of his imagination. But in this new book he has poured, however reluctantly, more of himself than ever before. It is still Robert Nathan dexterously eliminating his own mortal coil from the careful simplicity of his work, but this time the substance is not missing. Here are his intimations of immortality, and because there is nothing for which people long so much as the hope of some deathlessness in death, Mr. Nathan's story should reach the heart of every one who reads it." Virgilia Sapieha
+ Weekly Book Review p3 S 12 '43 900w

NATHAN, ROBERT. Journal for Josephine. 143p $1.75 Knopf

B or 92 Cape Cod—Description and travel 43-2244

Journal describing the day-by-day life of a small family, spending the summer of 1942 on Cape Cod. In a quiet manner that life is made to show the reactions of a man, his wife, and their small daughter, to a world at war. Even the little village and its peaceful inhabitants are geared for war.

Booklist 39:288 Mr 15 '43

Bookmark 4:15 Mr '43

"Every once in a while an author comes along who is capable of writing about ordinary, everyday living in terms that make it seem not humdrum, but eternal. Robert Nathan has this ability and his 'Journal for Josephine' belongs on the shelf next to those two other familiar and favorite ladies, the English Mrs. Miniver and her American cousin, Mrs. Appleyard. The 'Journal' isn't a novel, but the essence of one."
+ Boston Globe p15 F 17 '43 200w

Christian Science Monitor p16 F 16 '43 390w

Cleveland Open Shelf p6 Ap '43

"Mr. Nathan's style has poetic grace even in writing of rabbits in the lettuce or of submarines off-shore. Recommended." A. R. Eaton
+ Library J 68:171 F 15 '43 60w

"Sometimes Mr. Nathan's journal is merely a charming, informal record of a Summer on Cape Cod. Yet, at other times it is—in the literal sense—a war diary, offering modest but valid testimony from the front here at home. It crystalizes an experience which, I think, was well worth recording—which certainly has a meaning for all of us. 'Journal for Josephine' is a very slight book, but it is not by any standards a trivial one." E. H. Walton
+ N Y Times p6 F 21 '43 550w

"All done in Mr. Nathan's tender, tranquil prose, with his customary serious undertones."
+ New Yorker 19:59 F 20 '43 50w

"This is a quiet little book, its salty sunshine only faintly shadowed, and the spirit sad rather than fearful. Mr Nathan gives us, in his journal, a small child named Frances, for which we are most grateful. He gives us Josephine herself, Josephine the gay, the resourceful and the brave. And if, in the writer of the journal, he gives the reader more than usual of Robert Nathan himself, the gift is affectionately received."
+ Springf'd Republican p7e F 14 '43 220w

"Like all of Mr. Nathan's books, 'Journal for Josephine' has charm, a studied sort of charm, and despite his characteristic constraint, the quality of life shows richly through. He has the poet's gift for compression, for crowding a whole volume of meaning and association into a phrase." F. H. Bullock
+ Weekly Book Review p4 F 21 '43 1000w

NATIONAL BROADCASTING COMPANY, INC. NBC handbook of pronunciation; comp. by James F. Bender. 289p $2.75 Crowell

421.5 English language—Pronunciation. Radio broadcasting 43-15750

"More than 12,000 words are included in this compendium, revolutionary in its acceptance of common practice in vowel distortion and elision, etc. The criterion is 'Standard American', as determined by agreement among the 'best' radio voices. The book has point for stage and screen voices as well." Theatre Arts

---

Booklist 40:140 D 15 '43

Commonweal 39:286 D 31 '43 80w

"In a world of confusion, it is handy to have a reference point for at least 12,000 things. This handbook, backed by a large group of experts, supplies it." C. B. Palmer
N Y Times p48 N 28 '43 380w

Theatre Arts 27:758 D '43 60w

Wis Lib Bul 39:155 D '43

NATIONAL COMMISSION FOR YOUNG CHILDREN. Children's centers; a guide for those who care for and about young children; ed. by Rose H. Alschuler. 168p il $1.50; pa $1 Morrow

362.71 Children—Charities, protection, etc. Nursery schools 42-50546

"Practical, detailed information on the setting up of children's centers now vitally needed in communities where mothers are engaged in war work or other industries. Basic standards of organization and administration are outlined and a daily schedule including special services in regard to health, nutrition and cooperation with welfare agencies suggested. Complete data are supplied for housing and equipment." (Bookmark) Annotated bibliography. Index.

Booklist 39:194 Ja 15 '43

"Useful to teachers of any early school group whether designated as nursery school, junior kindergarten, day nursery or children's center."

+ Bookmark 5:5 Ja '43

"'Unfortunately it is not possible to do more than indicate some methods of approach and try to highlight a few of the many problems involved.' The editor evidently feels as the reviewer does, that the pressure of the situation has resulted in a somewhat hurried attempt to place the book before the public. Its contents would have been enriched and broadened by wider reference to other writers and points of view, as for instance those whose works are noted in the bibliography." M. V. Gutteridge

+ — Survey 79:160 My '43 350w

"An unusually full bibliography concludes an enlightening work."

+ Weekly Book Review p22 F 14 '43 180w

Wis Lib Bul 39:25 F '43

NATIONAL FOREMAN'S INSTITUTE. Foreman's management conference manuals; prepared by the staff of the National Foremen's Institute, Deep River, Conn. 24v [1157p] fabrikoid $24 (Including Conference Notes and Supervisor's Memory-Jogger) 20% discount to libraries c1941 The institute

658 Foremen. Factory management

"These manuals, first published in 1929, have been revised several times. (Cover title: Foremanship management conference manuals.) The intent of the N.F.I. foremanship training program is to bring before foremen the tested ideas and current practices of others for comparison with their own practices in order to bring about improvement of methods. Each manual deals with an integral phase of foremanship training, such as 'Foreman's relationship to management,' 'Maintaining quality standards,' 'The foreman as a manager,' and 'The foreman as a leader.' These 24 manuals will serve as study guides in training new supervisors, as a refresher course for experienced foremen, and help key workers to double as supervisors under emergency conditions. Each manual has a table of contents. The set is paged continuously, but there is no general index." Subscription Bks Bul

"The subject material seems to be capably handled, but its brevity and elementary nature detract from the value of the manuals. The style and triteness produce a tone of condescension. There are no bibliographies or supplementary reading lists. . . . These publications may be useful as circulating material in libraries in industrial communities, but there is other, and in many cases better, material available for this purpose. The publications are recommended only for a company or industry wishing to inaugurate a training program for foremen and supervisory personnel. They may also be of interest to public and commercial vocational schools offering programs for training supervisory personnel, to industrial directors, and to the industrial foreman or supervisor."

+ — Subscription Bks Bul 14:8 Ja '43 550w

NATIONAL TELEVISION SYSTEM COMMITTEE. Television standards and practice; selected papers from the proceedings of the Committee and its panels; ed. by Donald G. Fink. 405p $5 McGraw

621.388 Television 43-1568

"This volume has been compiled from The Proceedings of the National Television System Committee, on which are based the standards adopted in 1941 by the Federal Communications Commission for commercial television broadcasting in the United States. The original record . . . constitutes a thorough and authoritative examination into the technical bases of a public television service. The distribution of this material was limited to the personnel of the N.T.S.C. . . The plan adopted in editing the record has been to select reports and papers which directly underlie the official television standards." (Editor's pref) Index.

"Quite technical and up-to-date information."

+ Book Week p10 My 9 '43 20w

Library J 68:129 F 1 '43 20w

N Y New Tech Bks 28:18 Ja '43

"It is safe to predict that when television for the public is resumed and improved after the war, this is a book to which the engineers will be constantly referring." James Stokley

+ Weekly Book Review p14 My 2 '43 60w

NATONEK, HANS. In search of myself; tr. by Barthold Fles; ed. by Sugden Tilley. 261p $2.75 Putnam

B or 92 New York (city)—Social life and customs 43-15812

The author was born in Prague in 1892, educated in various European capitals, and thereafter followed the callings of journalist and writer. With the beginning of war he became a refugee, finally reaching America. This book of reminiscences is chiefly concerned with his life in New York city living in poverty but hope; it ends with the acceptance by a publisher of its earlier chapters.

Reviewed by Gustave Bernard

Book Week p26 D 5 '43 200w

"Generally recommended for current purchase." Jacqueline Overton

+ Library J 68:623 Ag '43 90w

"Instead of becoming downcast Hans Natonek looked New York in the eye and set out to find what it was all about. 'In Search of Myself' gives us the answer: an extraordinary fresh view of our city, with its bewildering goings-on analyzed by a lean and sardonic wit." Jack Gould

+ N Y Times p5 N 7 '43 480w

"Sober and profound, the book is also witty and imaginative, full of marvelous episodes and sketches." Louis Adamic

+ Sat R of Lit 26:5 N 13 '43 1150w

"Here is a story that will make every American see his country a little more clearly and teach him to understand a little more profoundly what it represents to those driven out of Europe. At the same time, Mr. Natonek says a few things about this country, and about New York life in particular, which it will do us no harm to hear. He is a man of tact, but he is amused—and his thrusts are to the point."

+ Weekly Book Review p28 N 7 '43 400w

NEAL, ALFRED CLARENCE. Industrial concentration and price inflexibility. 173p $3.25; pa $2.75 Am. council on public affairs

338.52 Prices. Competition. Trusts, Industrial 42-25090

"Dealing primarily with the effect of concentrated industrial control upon pricing in the Great Depression, Professor Neal offers some significant findings on price inflexibility and on the relations between industrial concentration and price behavior." Management R

Reviewed by J. M. Blair
Am Econ R 33:181 Mr '43 1150w
Management R 32:83 F '43 30w
New Repub 107:801 D 14 '42 120w
Social Studies 34:192 Ap '43 20w

NEBLETTE, CARROLL BERNARD. Photography; its principles and practice; with chapters by Ralph H. Braden [and others]. 4th ed 865p il $7.50 Van Nostrand [38s Chapman]

770 Photography 42-23140

"Comparison with the third edition [Book Review Digest, 1939] indicates an up-to-date revision of all the chapters where information on new materials, new processes, modifications of old processes, and recent contributions to theories had made rewriting desirable. Compared to the earlier editions, the present one is structurally adequate, for the book now proceeds in a logical sequence from the history of photography through a very useful chapter on the optics of photography, to the theory of the photographic process, practical negative and positive processes, and the final chapters on photography in color." (Chem & Eng N) Indexes.

Reviewed by A. E. Marshall
Chem & Eng N 21:254 F 25 '43 500w
Reviewed by James Stokley
Weekly Book Review p29 Mr 7 '43 200w

NEEDHAM, JOSEPH. Biochemistry and morphogenesis. 788p 328il 35pl $12.50 Macmillan [52s 6d Cambridge]

574.19 Biological chemistry. Embryology. Morphology [A43-845]

"British book. Principally a study of biochemical investigations of morphogenetic hormones, which are of fundamental importance for animal and plant development. Considers morphogenetic substratum, stimuli, and mechanisms. Glossary of special terms and extensive bibliography." Library J

"An admirable and encyclopedic work." E. A. Evans, Jr.
+ Chem & Eng N 21:576 Ap 25 '43 350w
Library J 68:212 Mr 1 '43 40w
Times [London] Lit Sup p11 Ja 2 '43 700w

NEEDHAM, JOSEPH. Time: the refreshing river (essays and addresses, 1932-1942). 280p $3.75 Macmillan [16s Allen, G]

504 Science. Religion and science [A43-1629]

"This attractive book consists of eleven papers or essays on subjects varying from 'Laud, the Levellers and the Virtuosi' to an estimate of Whitehead's Philosophy from the point of view of a biologist and from 'A Revaluation of the Idea of Progress' to thoughts on the work of J. S. Haldane. Most of these essays and addresses are in the nature of prolegomena to the exposition of a thesis or illustrations and applications of a thesis already expounded. This thesis is set out in the first paper, 'Metamorphoses of Scepticism.'" New Statesman & Nation

"Dr. Needham's expositions are at all times agreeable and are sometimes exciting. Here is no mere collection of theorems or a bare presentation of facts, but a gay and vigorous dissertation, the reader of which participates in the gallop of an able mind at full stretch over difficult country. The book is adorned with frequent and apt quotations from contemporary poets and rises on occasion to passages of considerable eloquence. Dr. Needham is, in fact, a first-rate advertisement of his own principle that the scientist should not stick to his last, but has as much right as anybody else to take the whole field of human experience, including art, literature and religion, in his stride." C. E. M. Joad
+ New Statesman & Nation 25:143 F 27 '43 1000w

"No one should fail to read this book simply because he is not interested in just another exposition of Communism (or Socialism, for Dr. Needham does not appear to draw a distinction). A good deal of the book is not directly connected with politics, and there is much that is fascinating in curious passages of history and extracts of Chinese literature. Almost throughout, the argument is maintained at a high level (though there are exceptions, especially in the attack on eugenics). Throughout one can see that Dr. Needham is sincere and has a genuine wish for the welfare of mankind, and particularly of the working class." J. R. Baker
+ Spec 170:296 Mr 26 '43 750w

"While [the book's] cogency may appear at times to suffer from the author's tendency to 'prowl' (his own word), it is always stimulating. Dr. Needham is, in particular, well read both in the poets and in the theologians. He is steeped in Lucretius, but also has a great admiration for the younger poets of the present day; some will recognize his title as a phrase of Mr. Auden's."
+ Times [London] Lit Sup p369 Jl 31 '43 360w

NEELY, HENRY MILTON. The star finder; illustrator Gordon Reekie. 46p il $2.75 Smith & Durrell

523.8 Stars—Atlases 43-17565

"This atlas-style book is designed to help the novice become acquainted with the principal constellations and to show how the appearance of the sky changes with the time of day and the position of the observer on the earth's surface. It will 'make easier the approach to astronomy and navigation for those who may want to go into serious study later.' It is profusely illustrated by Gordon Reekie, who has been quite successful in making the technical diagrams pictorial and interesting. Reproductions of celestial photographs and instruments are included through the courtesy of the Mount Wilson, Yerkes, and Naval Observatories. . . The fundamentals of astronomy are presented in popular style, with emphasis upon the relation of the earth to the celestial sphere." Scientific Bk Club R

"Approach is from the navigator's view and rather full explanations will be a little confusing for the simple star gazer. Good glossary but no index. The size (31 x 31 cm.) and the fact that charts are to be removed and pricked for use make it questionable for libraries. For serious users of high school age and up." Marian Cumming
+ — Library J 68:964 N 15 '43 80w

"In places the attempt to oversimplify the explanations may confuse the reader, and in some of the diagrams accuracy seems carelessly sacrificed. In general, however, the book accomplishes its purpose very satisfactorily. The printing of the star charts with white stars on a black ground is an excellent feature and makes it possible to view them by means of a flashlight held back of the page. One wishes that the names of stars and constellations had been printed in much less conspicuous lettering so as not to confuse the configuration. The charts cover the entire sky, not neglecting the South Pole, and the book will therefore be as useful in the southern hemisphere as in the northern."
+ — Scientific Bk Club R 14:3 O '43 330w

NEHRU, JAWAHARLAL. Unity of India; collected writings, 1937-1940 [ed. by V. K. Krishna Mĕnŏn]. 432p maps $3 Day [12s 6d Drummond]

954 India—Politics and government [41-14470]

A collection of the writings of India's nationalist leader. The volume is in five parts: India and the states; Congress politics; Away from politics; India and foreign affairs; Towards a constituent assembly.

Booklist 39:199 Ja 15 '43

NEHRU, JAWAHARLAL—Continued

"The book is not all politics. Reflections on science, on economic planning, and on languages are included. As well as colorful accounts of his travels in India and Europe. But by far the most powerful and stimulating sections are those which deal with the political history of India and of the world during a period of steadily rising crisis." K. L. Mitchell

+ Books p2 N 29 '42 650w

"This Kashmiri Brahmin who absorbed with the incisive mind of a caste bred for brain power the whole intellectual mechanism of the West is the final product of Macaulay's education policy of 1834. He judges India, Britain, and the affairs of the world by the tenets of English liberalism and Marxian Socialism, and yet there must be in him the heritage of his race, his religion and his caste. It is a fascinating human dilemma that gives these pages a significance beyond the political plane." R. H. F.

+ Manchester Guardian p3 My 30 '41 330w

Reviewed by K. L. Mitchell

New Repub 108:260 F 22 '43 120w

Reviewed by Edward Thompson

New Statesman & Nation 21:513 My 17 '41 750w

Times [London] Lit Sup p229 My 10 '41 500w

NEIKIRK, MABEL E. All about Oscar, the trained seal; il. by William O'Brian. 131p $2 Winston

43-12649

Six stories about Oscar the trained seal, reprinted from Story Parade. Oscar gets into one predicament after another and poor Mr Zabriski, his trainer, has to get him out; but in the case of the German submarine, the palm went to Oscar.

"This is the sort of humor children from 7 to 10 enjoy, and understand. William O'Brian's pictures add to the merriment." P. A. Whitney

+ Book Week p11 O 10 '43 100w

"Recommended." D. M. MacDonald

+ Library J 68:772 O 1 '43 70w

"The humor is of the juvenile slapstick variety but it is highly enjoyed by those for whom it is intended, and harried parents will be grateful for Oscar's insistence on the virtues of a hearty breakfast." E. L. Buell

+ N Y Times p12 D 26 '43 120w

NEILSON, MRS FRANCES FULLERTON. Mocha, the Djuka; il. by Avery Johnson. 143p $2 Dutton

43-12122

Story of an American boy, Terry Jones, who accompanied his father on a trip to the Surinam jungle of Dutch Guiana, and there made friends with Mocha, a Djuka boy. The two boys have some frightening experiences in the jungle, but emerge safely. For ages eight to twelve.

"Here is a truly beautiful book, both in format and story. . . There is adventure in the jungle and the discovery of treasure—but this does not end like most treasure tales. I can recommend it highly for the ages 8 to 12." P. A. Whitney

+ Book Week p11 Ag 29 '43 110w

"A varied series of adventures keep up the interest of this story for readers of the middle age, making known to them the customs of a primitive tribe." A. M. Jordan

+ Horn Bk 19:324 S '43 110w

Reviewed by Winifred Schott

Library J 68:773 O 1 '43 110w

"Although Mrs. Neilson's style is not exactly distinguished and though her pictures of primitive life do not leave one with the sharp, firsthand impressions such as one gets in reading Mrs. Waldeck's 'Little Jungle Village,' there is enough of that life and background to stir the imagination of 8 to 11 year-olds, and they will remember the story for its adventure and for the friendship which surmounted differences of language and color." E. L. Buell

+ N Y Times p6 Ja 30 '44 280w

"While the jungle background is made vivid with color and sound, this is essentially a story of friendship, the sort of blind trusting friendship, that is only possible between small boys. It is written warmly and wisely. All friendly and eager youngsters will recognize themselves in this charmingly written and illustrated little book, and will understand that the bond of friendship was a secret treasure that neither time nor space could completely destroy."

+ Springf'd Republican p7e S 5 '43 130w

Reviewed by M. L. Becker

+ Weekly Book Review p10 N 14 '43 330w

NEILSON, FRANCIS. Garden of Doctor Persuasion. 235p $2 Nelson, C.C.

42-23430

"A mysterious man takes 'The House of the Poet' (where a recluse poet had written and died) in a tiny West Country village. He is an herbalist and a philosopher and helps the villagers in many ways, physically and spiritually. The local doctor calls him a quack but he turns out to be both physician and a chemist. The people call him 'Dr Persuasion.' Half the year he spends there; the other half roaming on foot through the south of France and, after the breaking out of the war, in Cornwall, bringing back more rare and useful plants." Springf'd Republican

"The book is a religious book in the highest and noblest sense. Thoreau would have loved it, Emerson would have gloried in it, and you will find an enrichment to your soul if you read it." Preston Bradley

+ Book Week p11 Ag 8 '43 430w

Books p8 D 27 '42 150w

"In form a narrative, in reality it is a tract on mysticism and a way of life." E. K. A.

Springf'd Republican p7e Ap 11 '43 250w

NELSON, ALFRED LEWIS, and FOLLEY, KARL WILMOT. Plane and spherical trigonometry [and Mathematical tables]. rev ed 247,135p $2.40; without tables $1.80 Harper

514 Trigonometry 43-11388

"This revision differs from the first edition (1936) in a rearrangement of the material, in the expanded discussion of vectors, and in the introduction of many new problems which are replacements for the most part of those in the earlier book. In the treatment of vectors in Chapter 3, and of vectors as complex numbers in Chapter 10, special consideration is given to the aeronautical applications." (N Y New Tech Bks) Index.

Library J 68:670 S 1 '43 30w

N Y New Tech Bks 28:47 Jl '43

NELSON'S encyclopedia, unabridged; Franklin J. Meine, editor-in-chief. 30v il maps $28.71 c1940 Columbia educational books, inc., Chicago

031 Encyclopedias and dictionaries

"The verso of the title page in this set contains the following information: 'Previously published as the Nelson Complete Encyclopedia and copyrighted 1905. Revised and copyrighted 1937. Revision pages added annually and copyrighted as follows: 1905 to 1939 inclusive, by Thomas Nelson & Sons, New York. Nelson's Encyclopedia Unabridged revised and copyrighted 1940. . . .' Nelson's Looseleaf Encyclopedia on which this set is based was reviewed in the Subscription Books Bulletin April 1930 [Book Review Digest, 1934]. The Nelson Complete Encyclopedia, c1937 was reviewed in Subscription Books Bulletin, April 1938 [Book Review Digest, 1938]." Subscription Bks Bul

"The encyclopedia is the short article type, alphabetically arranged. Examination of this set makes obvious the unevenness of revision. There is an article entitled World War, The Second which covers events through 1940. Articles on countries participating in or directly affected by the war have been revised. However related articles have frequently been left unchanged. For example the article Alien has not been changed since 1928 and no mention of the Alien Registration Act of 1940 is found in the set. The article Aircraft Carriers includes data through 1933 only... Carelessness in editing is apparent... Nelson's encyclopedia, unabridged, c1940, is not recommended for homes, schools or libraries."
— Subscription Bks Bul 14:47 O '43 950w

NEUENDORFF, GWENDOLINE. Studies in the evolution of dominion status. 379p $5 Norton [18s Allen, G]

971 Canada—Politics and government. Canada—Nationality A42-3490

This book on the development of dominion status in Canada is in two parts: part one is entitled, The governor-generalship of Canada; part two, The development of Canadian nationalism. Bibliography. Index.

"A book on Canadian government written by a South African under the supervision of an Englishman who has lived in both Canada and the United States should get away to an unusually good start... Unhappily, however, these beneficent influences are not sufficient in themselves to produce a really good study, and the absence of some of the more common virtues has spoilt what might have been an unusually fine achievement." R. M. Dawson
— + Canadian Hist R 24:61 Mr '43 1100w
Times [London] Lit Sup p35 Ja 16 '43 40w

NEUMAN, ABRAHAM AARON. Jews in Spain; their social, political and cultural life during the middle ages. 2v 317;410p il maps ea $2.50 Jewish pub.

296.0946 Jews in Spain 42-21783

For descriptive note see Annual for 1942.

Reviewed by R. B. Merriman
Am Hist R 48:549 Ap '43 450w

Reviewed by W. J. Cahnman
Am J Soc 49:271 N '43 300w

"This is a sober, closely detailed account based on the primary sources. The reader will at times have to work hard to keep from sinking in a quicksand of minute fact, but all books have the vices of their virtues."
Am Soc R 8:247 Ap '43 40w

"Dr. Neuman's stimulating book is something more than an excellent study in economic, social, and cultural life; it is also a precious contribution towards a broader and deeper understanding of contemporary problems." G. L. D. Vida
+ Crozer Q 20:253 Jl '43 1200w

"A work of scholarly documentation, prolonged research and ripe culture. Though it uses an amazing array of previous historical and social studies, yet it represents a new telling because it is chiefly based on some hitherto unavailable and other previously little exploited primary sources." B. D. Wolfe
+ Weekly Book Review p14 F 21 '43 850w

NEUMANN, ROBERT. Mr Tibbs passes through [Eng title: Scene in passing]. 255p $2.50 Dutton [7s 6d Dent]
43-1378

This is the first novel written in English by an exiled German writer who had achieved considerable success in his native tongue. The story concerns a family of refugees who find a home in a small village. The scene is ostensibly England and the people have English names.

"'Flood' is recommended at this time. The book at hand, because of the force of a somewhat dramatic circumstance, is not. Neumann has given up being German and is making a heroic and highly promising attempt to think and write in English because, as he said some time ago, he is tired of writing in the language of savages. Unfortunately, 'promising' is about all that can be said of 'Mr. Tibbs.' Neumann has the language well under control, but the easy idiom and purposeful direction of English writing and thought—whether the thought is correct or mistaken in any special instance—have not come as easily." Phil Stong
— + Book Week p9 Mr 28 '43 500w

"This intricate chronicle of war refugees is not of the ordinary run. The analysis of character reveals frequent flashes of profundity and the book is set apart by the virtuosity of its writing." Marguerite Higgins
+ Books p10 Ja 31 '43 900w

Reviewed by J. K. Paulding
Commonweal 38:150 My 28 '43 450w

"Interesting characterization, though mode of telling gives story, which has little plot, a feeling of unreality, as if reader saw thoughts and happenings in a mirror. Mr. Neumann, born in Vienna, was best seller in Germany before his books were burned." R. T. Manlove
+ Library J 68:128 F 1 '43 100w

"Dr. Neumann seems more at home with the English language than with the manner of life of an English village, but there are many delightful, imaginatively written scenes drawn with the skill of the practised novelist." J. D. Beresford
+ — Manchester Guardian p3 Je 19 '42 100w

"The plot is episodic and slender, depending entirely on the characters. Because of the schizophrenic opposition of the nature of the characters against the nature of the setting, and also because Mr. Neumann, unhindered by the fact that this is his first book in English, is sometimes carried away by his own stylistic facility, the book has moments of sounding like 'Dear Brutus' played in a shell hole. Yet at best it has a kind of queer, almost gruesomely illuminated quality that gives it a place as a serious war allegory."
— + New Repub 108:518 Ap 19 '43 120w

"So great is my admiration for Mr. Neumann's linguistic ability that I am reluctant to pass a hostile judgment. But it must be admitted that this novel suffers from grave, sometimes it seems from mortal, weakness. It is too often unbearably sentimental. The theme—the new village life of a bombed-out urban family—is open to abuse in this direction, and Mr. Neumann too frequently gives way to the temptation. It is astonishing that he has also acquired a style which is unhappily precious." Philip Toynbee
— + New Statesman & Nation 24:28 Jl 11 '42 250w

"The story about Mr. Tibbs is not Robert Neumann's first novel, but his latest and best. It is constructed and told as skillfully as any of his stories, but it is not slick. How much its qualities are due to his writing in a new language seems hard to determine. No doubt the necessity of pondering over the right word and syntax has resulted in more thoughtful, and, strange as it may sound, more personal writing." Marianne Hauser
+ N Y Times p7 Ja 31 '43 800w

"A confused and confusing story of a family of refugees from an unidentified war who settle in a village of an unnamed country. In spite of the bizarre obscurity of the narrative, the book has a strange fascination."
New Yorker 18:63 F 6 '43 70w

"This beautifully written novel is not altogether satisfying, partly because of its brevity, which does not permit its characters enough room to expand, and partly because of its confusion of methods. A brilliant expressionistic section will be followed by a straightforward passage; then the narrative will float into gaseous wistfulness or melt into suggestive but vague prose-poetry. In spite of a consistently rhythmical and heightened prose, which never becomes florid, this eclecticism of method is a bit confusing and annoying." A. C. Richards
+ — Sat R of Lit 26:12 F 20 '43 500w

Reviewed by John Hampson
Spec 168:588 Je 19 '42 180w

NEUMANN, ROBERT—Continued

"Robert Neumann's story is strange and provocative. It can but be caviar to the general, but his reward, one is quite sure, will nevertheless be great in the approval of the discriminating and meditative few."

+ Springf'd Republican p7e Ja 31 '43 500w

"The story is kept on the move, though rather jerkily, and every now and then a small stroke of clever and unexpected sentimental fancy comes off particularly well, but otherwise the depths tend to seem somewhat hollow."

+ — Times [London] Lit Sup p293 Je 13 '42 450w

NEUMANN, SIGMUND. Permanent revolution; the total state in a world at war. 388p $3 Harper

321.6 Totalitarianism. Dictators 42-22249

For descriptive note see Annual for 1942.

"Among the many important books on the origins and meaning of contemporary dictatorship the new book by Professor Neumann occupies a special position. It approaches the problems not from their historical and ideological foundations, though these aspects are in no way neglected but from the structural framework which distinguishes modern dictatorship from the nineteenth century state. . . A very useful bibliography of more than sixty pages will be most welcome to the reader of this stimulating study of modern dictatorship." Hans Kohn

+ Am Hist R 48:534 Ap '43 550w

"Neumann has successfully achieved this purpose. His book is thoughtfully composed, carefully written, and based on extensive and systematic research. Sixty pages of annotated Bibliography add to its usefulness and make it an indispensable manual to the student of government and social order in totalitarian states." Ernst Kris

+ Am J Soc 49:86 Jl '43 750w

Reviewed by H. McD. Clokie

Am Pol Sci R 37:350 Ap '43 650w

"The work is a mature and thoughtful analysis of the first order, comprehensively informed by weighty reflection. Its sixty-two pages of bibliography classified according to subject matter is of inestimable value. All those concerned with the restoration of a stable order of peace without the former status quo ought to digest the suggestive ideas of the author." Herman Hausheer

+ Ann Am Acad 226:168 Mr '43 450w

"Quietly and with a fine feeling for reality Professor Neumann gives us one of the best analyses of the current world scene and of the forces that dominate it, particularly those which we are now engaged in destroying." R. G. Woolbert

+ Foreign Affairs 21:574 Ap '43 70w

"In these days of hastily produced potboilers concerning the conflict between democracy and dictatorship, it is refreshing to come across the work of a scholar. Professor Neumann has written an objective, realistic and comprehensive treatise on 'the total state in a world at war'. He has done his work exceedingly well, without the use of footnotes to 'heckle the text' and without the impedimenta of the cloistered scholar." L. L. Snyder

+ Pol Sci Q 58:144 Mr '43 550w

"Among the many books about the revolutions of the past quarter century, this stands out as a 'permanent' guide to their understanding and appraisal. It is, if not completely unique, certainly one of a select few to go to the heart of the problems which these contemporary revolts against liberalism and rationalism pose for the democratic peoples. Those problems are not primarily economic in origin or result; rather they are psychological—emotional, even neurotic. Dr. Neumann is to be congratulated for turning his keen analysis and skilful appraisal to the exposure of the central forces against which we are fighting." Phillips Bradley

+ Survey G 32:107 Mr '43 650w

"This is one of the most balanced as well as one of the most erudite books on dictatorship to have appeared in recent years. It is the outcome of wide reading and long reflection, distinguished throughout (quite apart from the impressiveness of its argument) by a conspicuous freedom from dogmatism and an uncommon sensitivity of perception. Furthermore, this is not just another narrative of the rise and spread of dictatorships but a serious essay in comparative analysis. Whether or not the reader assents to its main contentions, the reader cannot fail to be stimulated to further reflection and provoked to the reconsideration of his own assumptions by the wealth of its learning and the scope of its perspective." C. H. Driver

+ Yale R n s 32:592 spring '43 2000w

NEVILLE, MARGOT, pseud. of MARGOT GOYDER and NEVILLE (GOYDER) JOSKE. Lena hates men. 256p $2 Arcadia

43-10417

Detective story.

Reviewed by Elizabeth Bullock

Book Week p11 Ap 18 '43 450w

"Too many misleading clues; the significant ones are held back so that the reader has no chance to match wits with the detective; ending abrupt and unsatisfactory." Isaac Anderson

N Y Times p8 My 9 '43 160w

NEVINS, ALLAN. Brief history of the United States; foreword by John G. Winant. 144p maps $1.50 (3s 6d; school ed 2s) Oxford

973 U.S.—History 42-14520

" 'A concise history of the growth and development of the United States, written especially for the British people.' " Am Hist R

Am Hist R 48:412 Ja '43 20w

"Can be strongly recommended."

+ Manchester Guardian p3 F 13 '42 80w

Social Studies 33:287 O '42 20w

"This is a text-book and a school text-book, but it has none of the faults of the genre and all of the merits; designed for schoolboys and schoolgirls, it is entirely adequate for the adult inquirer, and will interest, stimulate and enlighten the expert. Much of the normal text-book lumber is swept aside."

+ Times [London] Lit Sup p64 F 7 '42 950w

NEVINS, ALLAN, and COMMAGER, HENRY STEELE. America, the story of a free people. 507p il maps $3 Little [7s 6d Oxford]

973 U.S.—History 42-24625

For descriptive note see Annual for 1942.

Reviewed by R. L. Beyer

Am Hist R 48:870 Jl '43 250w

Bookmark 5:13 Ja '43

"Two of our most distinguished historians have here combined to write in a single volume a most inspiring introduction to the history of America but one also that will be of interest to those who need no introduction. Though not a text-book for school or college use, it can be read with profit by our boys and girls as well as their elders. The narrative is handled with great skill throughout, and the style is excellent." Alvin Adey

+ Current Hist 3:542 F '43 500w

"The Nevins and Commager book cannot be commended too highly. It keeps a high level of good writing and is uniformly sound and interesting. Sometimes, perhaps, one has the feeling that the authors have been almost too painstaking in their efforts to do justice to the British side of our complicated relationship."

+ Manchester Guardian p3 F 10 '43 150w

"The Nevins-Commager account is an admirably conceived one-volume history of the United States, calculated to give, say, to a Briton ignorant of our history or to an American who has forgotten it, not only the facts but the great sweep and the characteristic episodes, the climaxes and consequences, of major movements in United States history. It is as simple as a school textbook, but has none of the usual banality and dulness." Irwin Edman

+ Nation 156:314 F 27 '43 750w

"There are not many readers in Britain with the knowledge necessary to realise that American history is not less fascinating than it is important. If this book does nothing else than make this fact more widely known, it will have performed a great service." H. J. Laski

+ New Statesman & Nation 25:29 Ja 9 '43 1050w

"A full, learned, readable and cheap history of the United States, written by two of the most intelligent as well as most learned of the younger school of American historians for the British public. Here is the water, sparkling, pure, not without a suspicion of alcoholic stimulus, and the British horse who refuses to drink of this Pierian spring has only himself to blame. Well over four hundred close-packed pages may seem a rather formidable task—holiday or otherwise. But it is the fullness, the seriousness, the self-respect of this history that make its chief merit." D. W. Brogan

+ Spec 170:40 Ja 8 '43 550w

"This is a history of the United States designed for the British public, but not a history which assumes that 'Anglo-American relations' are the main theme of American history, or that all forces work for closer union, closer identity of interest and sentiment between two kindred but far from identical peoples. This is the greatest merit possible in a book of this kind designed for the British common reader who is almost certain to come to this book with a mind innocent of all real knowledge or loosely filled with vague and erroneous general ideas. The second great merit is closely connected with the first. It is so obvious that the mere statement of it may seem insulting, but the fact that this book is by two of the most eminent living American historians means that it is abreast of the latest developments of American scholarship."

+ Times [London] Lit Sup p8 Ja 2 '43 750w

NEW Modern encyclopedia; a library of world knowledge; a complete revision, with comprehensive World war II references; based on edition ed. by A. H. McDannald [general ed, Frank W. Price]. 1176p il maps $3.50; de luxe ed lea $7.50 c1943 Wise

031 Encyclopedias and dictionaries 43-5733

"The foreword says 'the New Modern Encyclopedia is a completely revised ed. of the older modern Encyclopedia,' reviewed in Subscription Books Bulletin January 1934. Each page has two columns. The general maximum length of the longest articles is about a column. Most of the entries are about as long as those in the fact index of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia. The entries cover references in dictionary arrangement to history, business, economics, science, engineering, geography, people, music, literature, religion, government, military equipment and events and other subjects common to encyclopedias, though of course the treatment of most subjects is very brief." Subscription Bks Bul

"There are very few cross references. Many errors and inconsistencies appear. . . The work has many faults. Though it supplies at low cost a large amount of concise information and some recent information that may not be available in multi-volume encyclopedias the information supplied is too brief and undependable for satisfactory use in the home or library. The new modern encyclopedia is not recommended."

— + Subscription Bks Bul 14:49 O '43 650w

NEW world guides to the Latin American republics; sponsored by the office of the U.S. coordinator of inter-American affairs; Earl Parker Hanson, ed.-in-chief; associates: Antonio Colorado, Natalie Raymond [and] Dorothy Teall; 2v; v. 1, Mexico and Central America. maps $2.50 Duell

918 Latin America (43-4990)

Detailed guidebook to each of the ten republics north of the Canal Zone, plus Puerto Rico. Contains several general essays on such subjects as: How to use your travel agent, and Principal Catholic holidays. Bibliographic notes. Maps.

"The authors of this compact volume have done a far more comprehensive job than the writing of a mere Baedeker. They have gone into the history of the countries, studied their art and their peoples, developed maps of areas that had been ignored in the past and, in general, presented not only a handy book for the traveler but a historical document as well. . . Necessarily, the guide is a compilation of existing materials prepared by research workers and writers. But it is also the work of hundreds of individuals and agencies of various governments. As such it is comprehensive, intelligent and well edited." Ernest von Hartz

+ Book Week p2 Ap 11 '43 550w

Booklist 39:352 My 1 '43

Reviewed by Elizabeth Wilder

Nation 158:19 Ja 1 '44 1200w

"Because travel outside the United States is restricted for the duration of the war except to railbound countries, this book is more likely to be dreamed over than used. Its authors, though, must have realized this, for they have leavened the maze of facts with evocative impressions of what pleasures, other than mere sightseeing, the tourist might enjoy in exotic spots. From a purely practical point of view the volume appears to be well selected and edited." A. N. Williams

+ Sat R of Lit 26:27 Ap 10 '43 270w

Reviewed by B. D. Wolfe

Weekly Book Review p23 My 16 '43 900w

NEW world guides to the Latin American republics; sponsored by the office of the U.S. coordinator of inter-American affairs; Earl Parker Hanson, editor-in-chief; associates: Antonio Colorado, Natalie Raymond [and] Dorothy Teall. 2v v2 maps $2.50 Duell

918 Latin America (43-4990)

Volume two of this series covers South America, and like the first volume, is intended as a guide for travel in normal times. Arrangement same as in volume one (Book Review Digest, August, 1943). Index

"Since the book is essentially a travel guide it should not be judged according to scholarly standards. The history part is accurate enough, but it deals mostly with dates of well-known events and does not attempt to give an insight into the social forces that were the cause of those events. Here and there a hint is given as to the real role of the church in South American history and political life. The problem of dictatorships is completely ignored. For those interested in having a valuable reference book on South America or for those having priorities to travel there, this book is a real bargain." D. B.

+ Book Week p9 Ag 8 '43 270w

Booklist 40:11 S '43

"Concise, compact and highly informative."

+ Commonweal 38:448 Ag 20 '43 30w

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert

Foreign Affairs 22:167 O '43 50w

Geog R 33:696 O '43 380w

"There is a kind of pleasure to be found in this type of guide book that has long added to the gaiety of travelers. Each one will doubtless find his own plums and nuggets, and the pickings are particularly rich in the historical accounts, which are often masterpieces of non-sequitur; even more absurd than Tolstoy's burlesque of academic history, in 'War and Peace.' . . The 'New World Guides' are,

NEW world guides—Continued
obviously, orthodox and cloistered even beyond the pattern laid down by the maestro Baedeker. It is a pity. Reference books and handbooks for inter-America are really badly needed. The brilliant list of names on the editorial board of this one, and the resources at their command, should have produced something more efficient, useful and honest." Anita Brenner

N Y Times p40 S 26 '43 950w

Reviewed by B. D. Wolfe
Weekly Book Review p26 O 10 '43 600w

NEW YORK (CITY). Public library. Bookmen's holiday. See Bookmen's holiday

NEW YORK ACADEMY OF MEDICINE. March of medicine, 1942. (Lectures to the laity, no7) 217p il $2.50 Columbia univ. press

610.4 Medicine—Addresses, essays, lectures

"Annual lectures aimed at keeping the layman informed on the less technical phases of advances in medical knowledge, with some emphasis on the history and romance of medicine. Contents: Tuberculosis: the known and the unknown, by James Alexander Miller; The brain and the mind, by Tracy Jackson Putnam; The Freudian epoch, by A. A. Brill; Genius, giftedness, and growth, by Arnold Gesell; The history of the B-vitamins, by Norman Jolliffe; The newer knowledge of nutrition, by A. J. Carlson." Booklist

Reviewed by M. P. Ravenel
Am J Pub Health 33:1131 S '43 700w

"The book can be recommended without reservation." Israel Davidsohn
+ Book Week p4 My 16 '43 200w
Booklist 39:422 Je 15 '43

NEWCOMB, COVELLE (MRS ADDISON BURBANK). Silver saddles; il. by Addison Burbank. 262p $2.25 Longmans

43-51266

Flint, the son of an American rancher, living in Mexico, is sent on a three-hundred-mile trip to bring back a thorobred horse for his father. In the seven days the trip requires, the boy lives a lifetime—he wins the loyalty of the horse, meets and outwits horse thieves and bandits, and wins a silver saddle in a rodeo.

Booklist 40:50 O 1 '43
Cath World 158:318 D '43 50w

"Suspense and mystery make it exciting for any youngster of ten or twelve or so."
+ Churchman 157:14 N 15 '43 30w

"This is capital adventure in a country well known to author and illustrator alike." A. M. Jordan
+ Horn Bk 19:410 N '43 80w

"Excitement, danger, and breath-taking adventure, as well as a good deal about horses. Will be enjoyed by all who like horse stories. Illustrations in black and white by Addison Burbank are full of action and interpret story admirably. Recommended." J. E. Stromdahl
+ Library J 68:730 S 15 '43 80w

Reviewed by R. W. Stewart
Library J 68:823 O 15 '43 70w

Reviewed by Lena Barksdale
Nation 157:592 N 20 '43 20w

"This is a swift-paced yarn which doesn't put too much strain on one's credulity." E. L. Buell
+ N Y Times p6 Ja 30 '44 220w

"There is action, mystery and suspense in this 1943 version of the old thriller and in addition there is the sort of writing which makes Keith Cimarron and other characters very real, and portrays Mexican scenery and atmosphere with zest."
+ Springf'd Republican p7e S 5 '43 140w
Wis Lib Bul 39:162 D '43

NEWCOMB, ROBERT THOMAS. Janissa. 358p $3 Destiny

43-11144

A novel of Egypt and Palestine just after the beginning of the Christian era.

Christian Century 60:968 Ag 25 '43 40w

"Mr. Newcomb has created many vivid characters." Lisle Bell
Weekly Book Review p20 O 10 '43 130w

NEWCOMB, THEODORE MEAD. Personality and social change. 225p $2.50 Dryden

301.15 Attitude (psychology) 43-10545

"This is a report of a series of studies sponsored by the American Council on Public Affairs extending over four years (1935-39) in which the author has attempted to measure changes in the political and economic attitudes of students in Bennington College and to account for observed changes in terms of social and psychological factors. Changes in attitudes were measured by repeated applications, at half-year intervals, of a test originally designed by Stagner but modified by the author to meet this particular study." Ann Am Acad

"The study does not answer the original research question, at least not in the terms in which it was set. To do this the analysis would have to be extended to other types of communities. . . Objection may be raised to the neglect of the author to relate his theoretical position to existing sociological ideas of personality development and community types. No mention is made either of the standard works on these subjects nor of other studies of attitude development and change. It should be said, however, that the theoretical aspects of the treatment are good despite this omission. Finally, Newcomb is to be commended on his successful handling of the difficult task of combining the statistical with the case approach. He has produced a more meaningful result than would have been possible by means of either approach to the exclusion of the other." W. H. Sewell
+ — Am Soc R 8:620 O '43 600w

"It is not easy to pick flaws in this study even if one were disposed to do so. On the whole, it stands as an important contribution to social psychology if for no other reason than having made quite clear how terrifically complex social attitudes really are." M. A. May
+ Ann Am Acad 230:237 N '43 1050w

NEWFANG, OSCAR. World government. 227p $2 Barnes & Noble

321.021 International cooperation. Reconstruction (1939-) 43-460

Argument for world government in the form of a federal union, which must be set up if mankind is to survive. An appendix contains the covenant of the League of nations and the amendments in force December 16, 1935.

"This little volume is a straightforward plea. . . Its author has been writing and publishing such works for some twenty years and may be said to have contributed a more extensive and more substantial semi-utopian, semi-polemical, semi-scientific literature along this line than any other American student and writer. . . In general tone and outlook, and even content, it is satisfying and encouraging. Here and there, moreover, occur strikingly sane and wise judgments on key issues. . . On the other hand, traces of doctrinaire mentality appear here and there and a lack of psychological realism, together with certain seemingly sentimental obsessions." P. B. Potter
+ — Am Pol Sci R 37:345 Ap '43 550w

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert
Foreign Affairs 21:576 Ap '43 30w

NEWHOUSE, WALTER HARRY, ed. Ore deposits as related to structural features; prepared under the direction of the Com. on processes of ore deposition of the Division of geology and geography of the Nat. research council. 292p il maps $6.50 Princeton univ. press

553.1 Ore deposits

Contents: Some relations of ore deposits to structural features; Structural features associated with ore deposits of certain types and in large areas; Ore deposits arranged according to structural features; Ore deposits in massive rocks; Ore deposits in layered rocks; Ore deposits near contact of massive and layered rocks; and Structural petrology applied to ore deposits.

J Geol 51:501 O '43 800w

"Recommended."

+ Library J 68:36 Ja 1 '43 40w

N Y New Tech Bks 27:56 O '42

"The treatment is technical, but many interested in individual districts will find useful summaries with references and illustrations. These should be of value in quickly grasping the general structural relationships of many important mining districts. The classifications given in the section written by Dr. Newhouse will prove useful to those with a specialized interest. The views presented in the book as a whole follow the generally accepted pattern well tested by experience, some of the more speculative concepts of structural relationships being conspicuously absent." Paul Kerr

+ N Y Times p27 Ap 4 '43 160w

NEWMAN, BERNARD. New Europe. 568p maps $3.75 Macmillan [18s Hale, R]

940.5 Europe—History. Europe—Politics. World war, 1939—Peace 43-11999

"Author, a lecturer for British Ministry of Information, gives result of twelve years' study of problem of postwar boundaries, which he deems the first matter to be settled, even before economic arrangements. Shows the many difficulties to be encountered, particularly in Baltic and Balkan countries; also discusses and compares the Fourteen Points of President Wilson and the Atlantic Charter." Library J

Reviewed by H. S. Foster, Jr.

Am Pol Sci R 37:1120 D '43 600w

"The book is written for the layman, and the expert will find little in it that is new. The absence of the discussion of economic problems in the book is a serious drawback." Emil Lengyel

+ — Ann Am Acad 231:167 Ja '44 360w

"The many maps in 'The New Europe' help to make the myriad of border-riddles more graphic to eyes unaccustomed to geographic and ethnic mysteries. The book is especially recommended to businessmen, politicians, soldiers, teachers—yes, and to defense workers who want to know." Louis Zara

+ Book Week p8 Ag 29 '43 600w

Booklist 40:143 D 15 '43

"Among the many recent books which, in varying degrees of detail, picture Europe as it is (or was a year or two ago) and suggest steps toward its organization into a peaceful and prosperous continent after the war, this reviewer would choose Mr. Newman's volume as the most satisfactory. . . This is no complete guidebook for postwar reconstruction. But within its limits it is in the highest degree valuable."

+ Christian Century 60:990 S 1 '43 350w

Christian Science Monitor p10 Ja 2 '43 230w

Christian Science Monitor p14 Ag 25 '43 350w

"We are glad we read the book; we recommend the book. What Mr. Newman has done needed doing and he has done it excellently. . . Apparently Mr. Newman has traveled everywhere, lived everywhere: his sympathies are not narrowly engaged anywhere. The book breathes an invigorating air of impartiality, not cold impartiality but sympathy impartially and naturally given to the many peoples of Europe."

+ Commonweal 38:493 S 3 '43 700w

Reviewed by G. E. Brown

+ Library J 68:362 My 1 '43 110w

New Repub 109:758 N 29 '43 90w

"Mr. Newman, a well-known English author, has for years studied and visited the countries of Europe. He has done military and political intelligence work in various regions of the Continent. More than that, he has investigated frontier problems on the spot: for the twelve years ending in World War II he devoted part of each year to a bicycle tour of Europe's disputed boundaries. Add to that background an objective viewpoint and a genius for clearness and simplicity and you have the ideal interpreter of revisionist Europe." H. C. Wolfe

+ N Y Times p6 Ag 22 '43 1150w

Reviewed by W. C. Langsam

Pol Sci Q 58:609 D '43 1250w

"To anyone who feels a personal qualm of conscience about being in a state of dilletante ignorance in relation to the less known frontier districts of Europe, Mr. Newman's book can be heartily recommended. For it is a keen, readable, informed survey of Europe's many border problems between the two wars, accompanied by positive suggestions as to how the frontiers of a Europe freed from Axis domination should be drawn." W. H. Chamberlin

+ Sat R of Lit 27:9 Ja 1 '44 1300w

"Mr. Newman is a well-known writer of thrillers and of travel books; he is less well known as a writer on international politics. But this book shows that Mr. Newman has more sense and more relevant information than have many more pompous planners and more solemn students of our present ills, their cause and cure. . . There are some minor slips . . . but this book is not only thought-provoking, it is question-answering." D. W. Brogan

+ Spec 169:438 N 6 '42 750w

"The author is in a sense idealistic; yet practical, too, and insistent that stubborn facts and human cussedness must not be ignored. His book is valuable now and will remain so for many years."

+ Springf'd Republican p8 S 20 '43 600w

Reviewed by Heinz Soffner

Survey G 32:513 D '43 390w

Times [London] Lit Sup p506 O 17 '42 1100w

Reviewed by Alfred Werner

Weekly Book Review p10 S 5 '43 550w

NEWMAN, ERNEST. More stories of famous operas. 592p $4 Knopf

782.1 Opera—Stories, plots, etc. 43-4459

Stories of twenty-nine more operas, following the author's Stories of the Great Operas (Book Review Digest, 1930). Partial contents: Gianni Schicchi, by Puccini; Thaïs, by Massenet; The Golden Cockerel, by Rimsky-Korsakov; Elektra, by Strauss (Richard); Orfeo ed Euridice, by Gluck; Lakmé, by Delibes; Don Pasquale, by Donizetti; La Juive, by Halévy; Manon, by Massenet; Falstaff, by Verdi; Louise, by Charpentier; Pelléas and Mélisande, by Debussy; The Bartered Bride, by Smetana; Romeo and Juliet, by Gounod; Der Rosenkavalier, by Strauss (Richard); Cavalleria Rusticana, by Mascagni; I Pagliacci, by Leoncavallo; Boris Godounov, by Moussorgsky. Index.

Booklist 39:351 My 1 '43

"Newman is a critic with powers of insight and intellect that one is bound to respect and admire, but also with weaknesses—one of them being his own admiration of his powers and their works, which causes even his good writing to have an odor of ostentatiousness and pompousness, and which makes even the substance of some of his writings very bad. This book has both good and bad in it; and even with faults and deficiencies that limit its usefulness it is probably the best of its kind." B. H. Haggin

+ — Nation 156:747 My 22 '43 900w

NEWMAN, ERNEST—Continued

"There is as much richness to be found in the present book as the reader-listener is willing to search for. Delight in the study of a new work can be increased by Mr. Newman's delicious wit and happy turn of phrase; and with a familiar work these qualities of the author but endear it the more." Elizabeth Gilman

+ N Y Times p4 Ap 18 '43 800w

"Ernest Newman's new set of opera tales shows him again as an experienced littérateur, gifted with an easy conversational tone tinged with elegant sarcasm. He manages to throw in his not inconsiderable information without ostentation. This reviewer has no quarrel with Newman the man of letters and hastens to say that this handsome volume has a good many enjoyable pages. The author's sound and often delicate literary sense appraises the construction of libretti with a sure grasp." P. H. Lang

+ — Sat R of Lit 26:24 My 1 '43 500w

NEWMAN, MRS GERTRUDE, and MEYER, EDITH PATTERSON. Polly Poppingay, milliner; il. by Grace Paull. 226p $2 Lippincott

43-13935

The scene is Cleveland in 1897. Polly, aged eleven, went to visit an aunt who had a hat shop; in fact the Poppingays had always been milliners. Polly developed a talent for making dolls' hats and set up a business of her own in the shadow of the family shop. For girls of eight to twelve.

"Aside from its charm and the excellent picture of the millinery business, the story has the added virtue of making young readers want to try something themselves. The book hadn't been at our house a week before budding milliners began to crop up all along the block. Gertrude Newman knows whereof she writes because she used to have a doll hat shop herself." P. A. Whitney

+ Book Week p2 N 14 '43 180w

Booklist 40:83 N 1 '43

"While the locale is novel and all its details thoroughly worked out, the characterization and writing are average only. Not recommended." E. W. Turpin

— + Library J 68:1010 D 1 '43 40w

"Story has originality, plausibility and atmosphere. Recommended for Betsy Tacy readers and older." Maude Adams

+ Library J 68:1010 D 1 '43 40w

NEWMAN, JOHN HENRY, cardinal. Newman treasury; sel. from [his] prose works; chosen and ed. by Charles Frederick Harrold. 404p $4 Longmans

208 43-51153

"Selection of essays and sermons, shorter passages and aphorism from writings on many subjects (mostly religious), and portions of the Meditations and the Apologia. . . The editor has planned the volume 'with a recognition of the fact that there was in Newman an inevitable movement toward the Roman Catholic faith almost from the first.' " (Christian Century) Selected bibliography.

"As revealed in the preface and in the construction of the book itself, the present editor is seen to be not only sympathetic and sincere, but also intellectually well poised. The discerning reader of these four hundred pages will perceive—as the editor intended—that Newman began to move towards Catholicism at the very beginning of his literary activities."

+ Cath World 157:668 S '43 200w

"This is, on the whole, as effective a marshaling of Newman's argument and influence as could be desired by those who hope they will prove persuasive."

+ Christian Century 60:668 Je 2 '43 130w

"This anthology will appeal equally to those to whom Newman is little more than a name and to veteran Newmanians who can never get too much of their favorite. The selections are judiciously made, and represent admirably what Professor Harrold considers Newman's three great themes. . . Three things make this anthology distinctive: first, its timeliness, by which we are made to see that the Newman who spoke to his generation about the destructiveness of intellectual pride, the necessity of faith and the stupidity of intolerance speaks with equal power and clarity to our generation against our addiction to those same vices. The book's second mark of distinction is the presence in an anthology which includes so many full-length essays of so rich an assemblage of 'Selected Passages' and 'Aphoristic Selections' which are given unity by being grouped about what were, fundamentally, the most important aspects of Newman's thought as an Anglican and as a Catholic. The Treasury's third mark of distinction is the editor's brief but thoughtful introduction and the scholarly notes which preface his selections. . . The readers of Professor Harrold's anthology will, I believe, praise him for the catholicity of taste and scholarship which went into the making of this fine book." J. J. Reilly

+ Commonweal 38:230 Je 18 '43 350w

"This would be at any time a welcome and serviceable volume, but it is especially timely today, and for a tragic reason. The bombing of London in the Winter of 1940-41 destroyed the central book repository in the city, and among the casualties was the publisher's entire stock of the complete sets of Newman's works. It may be a long time before they are republished in full—if ever. For indefinite years to come we are therefore dependent upon volumes such as the one now in hand." W. L. Sperry

+ N Y Times p4 Jl 4 '43 950w

Wis Lib Bul 39:104 Jl '43

NEWMAN, QUINCY BOGARDUS. Marine electric power. 2d ed 238p $2.50 Simmons-Boardman

623.87 Ship propulsion. Electric engineering
43-4470

"Concise manual by the retired Engineer-in-Chief of the U. S. Coast Guard covering various phases of electrical engineering likely to be encountered on board ship. New material added deals principally with the application of theory to practice, but the book still is useful mainly as a concise, simple discussion of electrical theory." (N Y New Tech Bks) Index. For first edition see Book Review Digest, 1937.

Book Week p10 Ap 18 '43 20w

"Elementary aspects of electrical equipment and operation for layman and high school student. Written in simple style without much mathematics."

+ Library J 68:432 My 15 '43 20w

N Y New Tech Bks 28:8 Ja '43

Reviewed by A. F. Johnson

N Y Times p31 O 24 '43 80w

NEWMARK, MAXIM. Dictionary of science and technology in English-French-German-Spanish. 386p $6 Philosophical lib.

603 Technology—Dictionaries. Science—Dictionaries
43-9606

"Equivalents of scientific and technical terms are given in four languages. English terms are given first, with the corresponding terms in the three other languages. Subsequently, there are given indexes of the French, German and Spanish terms, arranged in alphabetical order, for the convenience of those using the book as an aid in translating those terms into English or into one of the two other languages." Eng N

Chem & Met Eng 50:199 Jl '43 150w

Eng N 130:128 Je 3 '43 70w

"Can only be considered for elementary student in foreign technical words. Arrangement is not convenient for use when translating into English. Although good type face is used, quality of paper makes it seem very poor. Not recommended for libraries."

— Library J 68:477 Je 1 '43 40w

N Y New Tech Bks 28:25 Ap '43

"In a dictionary of this size many technical words are necessarily omitted but within its scope the selection appears to be good. Terms in ordinary usage as well as recent terms are included. It does not contain as many purely technical terms as the New technical and commercial dictionary, by Guerrero, but it has more general words and some technical words not found in Guerrero. The Dictionary of science and technology has some inconsistencies in its entries and cross references. . . The Dictionary of science and technology is recommended only for those who want a technical dictionary of limited scope which includes four languages in one volume."

— + Subscription Bks Bul 14:25 Jl '43 600w

NEWSOM, CARROLL VINCENT, and LARSEN, HAROLD DANIEL. Basic mathematics for pilots and flight crews. 153p $2; to schools $1.50 Prentice-Hall

510 Mathematics 43-4062

"Another of the many recent experiments in teaching mathematics. It begins with a review of arithmetic, passes on to the elementary operations in algebra and the solution of simple algebraic equations, devotes considerable space to graphic representation, explains the use of vectors, the use of the circular slide rule in navigation, and adds a chapter on the trigonometry of the right angle. Many numerical problems and the answers are given." (N Y Times) Index.

Book Week p10 Ap 18 '43 50w

Library J 68:432 My 15 '43 30w

N Y New Tech Bks 28:12 Ja '43

Reviewed by M. A. Rossnoff

N Y Times p31 Ap 18 '43 160w

NICHOLS, EDWARD JAY. Danger! keep out. 288p $2.50 Houghton

43-1143

Story of an American industry told in the form of a novel. It describes the evolution of an American oil refinery from the days of crude stills, thru the period of tower stills, up to the pressure stills, with watchmen, high fences, and Danger, Keep Out signs. It is told in terms of the men who worked in the refinery, but in the last analysis the refinery is the hero of the story.

Booklist 39:293 Mr 15 '43

" 'Danger! Keep Out' has no plot in the usual sense, and no central character other than the plant itself. In spite of the rather technical subject with which it deals, it is of broad and absorbing interest. A tersely told story not of industry alone, but of certain aspects of the whole modern system of industrialism." Barbara Woollcott

+ Books p10 Ja 24 '43 850w

"Seldom are these book review columns used to call the attention of Chem. & Met. readers to a work of fiction. 'Danger, Keep Out' is strictly fiction. It is, however, a good story for chemical engineers—particularly those interested or connected with the petroleum industry. . . From considerable personal experience in an Indiana refinery, the author writes with unobtrusive authority that makes his fiction credible."

+ Chem & Met Eng 50:192 D '43 190w

"Mr. Nichols writes very well about the oil-refining industry. He calls his book a novel, but actually it is just a good book about the oil-refining industry with a few touches that don't quite add up to a novel. The conversation is very tough and dirty, and the description very technical—both possibly a little more so than is necessary to show that oil-cracking is a tough and technical business." J. C. Cort

+ — Commonweal 37:402 F 5 '43 420w

"The writing is adept at catching atmospheric qualities, the strains of a pressure still, the vapors and odors of oil, the grimness of the men at work. Written from an experience which is relived in the writing, this book even enjoys the advantage of reading occasionally like a novel." Isaac Rosenfeld

New Repub 108:484 Ap 12 '43 150w

"Unusual and interesting novel. . . Mr. Nichols is no less expert when dealing with the experimental laboratory than with the more prosaic aspects of the refinery. Admirably and vividly he conducts us from the Pressure Still to the foreman's office, from the girls in the grease factory and box factory to the men in the acid works and the filter plant. In short, he has re-created a world little known to the general reader and has made this teeming world of fire and smoke and oil and hard work and mechanical ingenuity come alive with a variety of very real people." Edwin Seever

+ N Y Times p7 N 1 '42 800w

"Nichols knows his refinery people and his style has the flow and power of the industry he has selected to write about. The trouble is we never see his people in depth or intensity. He merely uses his characters to weld together the significant facts of one crucial year in the history of oil refining. . . This novel is a good blueprint of what happened to the oil refining industry in the period after the World War. It is also more than a blueprint; it is this more that should make Nichols's next novel worth looking ahead to." Benjamin Appel

+ — Sat R of Lit 26:12 F 20 '43 700w

"Although Mr Nichols's knowledge is inexhaustible, there are many details of the process that are never clear. The book is, and has to be, weighed down with many terms and much technical slang that must be ignored to sustain narrative continuity. Obviously, therefore, the appeal of 'Danger! Keep Out' is limited to special groups who already have a passing knowledge of the process on which the novel for the excitement of the scene and for the solid worth of the novel is based. Others will read skillful writing." Lee Varley

+ Springf'd Republican p7e Ja 24 '43 500w

Time 41:87 F 1 '43 650w

Reviewed by Robert Littell

Yale R n s 32:vi spring '43 290w

NICHOLS, MADALINE WALLIS. Gaucho; cattle hunter, cavalryman, ideal of romance. 152p $3 Duke univ. [18s Cambridge]

918.2 Gauchos 42-10572

A scholarly study of the South American "cowboy", his true nature and characteristics, and his nature as depicted in romantic literature. Extensive bibliography. Index.

"The eighty-page bibliography is a classified and annotated listing of 1,431 works in which the gaucho is prominent. Part I covers the literature on the real gaucho; Part II, with over a thousand titles, is on the gaucho of romance, in literature, in folklore, in art, and in music. Particularly because of this bibliography the volume will prove highly useful." J. W. Caughey

+ Am Hist R 48:439 Ja '43 180w

"Miss Nichols lives up abundantly to the late Dr. Charles E. Chapman's characterization as 'the leading authority in the United States on the gaucho and similar types in Hispanic America.' Is there any author of a sociological monograph on an occupational type who can supply credentials from his own field that are half so convincing?" W. T. Watson

+ Am Soc R 7:893 D '42 480w

NICHOLS, MRS MARGARET (GORMAN). For love's sake only. 254p $2 Macrae Smith co.

43-12688

Love story of one of America's richest heiresses, set against that of her highly personable secretary.

Booklist 40:95 N 15 '43

Reviewed by Lisle Bell

Weekly Book Review p16 Ag 29 '43 140w

NICHOLS, MRS MARGARET (GORMAN). Passing dream. 253p $2 Macrae Smith co.
42-22995

The story of a hasty war wedding which ended in tragedy. The scene is Washington, D.C.

"Margaret Nichols draws her characters with sympathy and handles her theme with skill." Lisle Bell
+ Books p30 N 22 '42 180w

"A well-written light novel."
+ Wis Lib Bul 39:29 F '43

NICOLSON, HAROLD GEORGE. Desire to please; a story of Hamilton Rowan and the United Irishmen. (In search of the past, v2) 216p il $3.50 Harcourt [15s Constable]

B or 92 Rowan, Archibald Hamilton. Ireland—History 43-15667

"Hamilton Rowan was Harold Nicolson's great-great-grandfather. An arrant, rebellious, and wholly engaging man, he helped, along with Wolfe Tone, Lord Edward Fitzgerald, and Castlereagh, to write an Irish chapter into the history of the Napoleonic era. Exhilarated by a visit to America during his undergraduate days, he returned to London unsynchronized with cautious British politics, sought contemptuous exile in France. A nostalgic stepchild of Ireland, he later threw himself into the Irish Nationalist movement with such headlong success that he was condemned to death as a traitor—a fate which, fortunately he was narrowly spared." (Publisher's note) Index.

Christian Century 60:1169 O 13 '43 130w

"Hamilton Rowan hardly comes alive in these pages. Perhaps, too, he was not alive enough, or vital enough, in his lifetime to become alive or vital in biography. This is not to say that the biography which Mr. Nicolson has written does not make good and interesting reading. It does. But it leaves the impression that he is handling a theme by which he has not been really moved." Ernest Barker
Manchester Guardian p3 My 19 '43 420w

"Harold Nicolson has published a biography of his fantastic ancestor—a beautifully written document so packed with history, humor, political intrigue, personal anecdote, suspense, and, not least, with wisdom, that its two hundred pages take as long to read and digest as would several novels of the size and quality of 'Gone with the Wind.'" James Stern
+ Nation 157:476 O 23 '43 1050w

"This graceful record, despite some minor errors of fact, such as the statement that Lord Edward Fitzgerald was never a United Irishman, will interest historians as well as the general reader." Frank Macdermot
+ — New Repub 109:529 O 18 '43 420w

Reviewed by Elizabeth Bowen
New Statesman & Nation 25:340 My 22 '43 950w

Reviewed by Saul Bellow
N Y Times p5 O 3 '43 1000w

Reviewed by Edmund Wilson
New Yorker 19:63 Ja 1 '44 2000w

"A figure, heroic and comic, Don Quixote and Sancho Panza in one, comes to life in Mr. Nicolson's book. The sense of immediacy of the present reality of Hamilton Rowan and his troubles is cunningly increased by the chapters, at the beginning and end, in which the author tells of his own life in Ireland. Mr. Nicolson's outlook on past and present distresses in Ireland is clear and sensible; but he has so written that most readers will fall under the spell of that romance which cannot die so long as men like Hamilton Rowan are remembered and revered." R. E. Roberts
+ Sat R of Lit 26:36 O 16 '43 1100w

"This is a book to be recommended. For one thing it is easily and charmingly written. It is not a biography in the ordinary sense of the term. It has indeed some of the qualities of a dream, and of a dream of Mr. Nicolson's own childhood. Hamilton Rowan, for a time one of the United Irishmen, is a figure of the historical past, but he is also alive today in his descendants. Throughout his book Mr. Nicolson is aware of this continuity in diversity, of the associations of place, of the strange, unexplored and underground streams which flow from the past into the present and fill the deep lake of human personality." E. L. Woodward
+ Spec 170:504 My 28 '43 700w

"A very interesting and at times exciting life-story is skilfully reconstructed by Mr. Nicolson, who has had access to records collected by his cousin, Rowan's direct descendant."
+ Times [London] Lit Sup p250 My 22 '43 550w

Reviewed by C. G. Stillman
Weekly Book Review p5 O 10 '43 850w

NIEBUHR, REINHOLD. Nature and destiny of man: a Christian interpretation. 2d ser 329p $2.75 Scribner

233 Man. Christianity (41-51676)

"This volume, representing the second series of the Gifford Lectures delivered at Edinburgh in the Autumn of 1939, seeks to present the answer of Christian faith to the human problem. It therefore analyses Christian doctrines of redemption and Christian concepts of historical destiny and compares them with alternate classical and modern doctrines." (Pref) Indexes.

Reviewed by Conrad Bergendoff
Ann Am Acad 228:150 Jl '43 290w
Booklist 39:285 Mr 15 '43

"The argument of his book is finely woven and hangs together like the threads of a great net. Whether all its threads will bear up under the strain of criticism, I leave to specialists to say. Some threads in the total pattern of Dr. Niebuhr's reasoning seem rather thin and fragile. At some points he seems to be trying too hard to make a case and is betrayed into overrefinements of analysis. Sometimes I wonder whether his free selection of the biblical material out of which to weave his thesis is not somewhat arbitrary. . . But these are only shadowy reservations, and I hold them lightly, awaiting the critical controversy which is sure to come as the details of his argument are put to a critical test. Of one thing, however, I feel sure—whatever may be the final effects of criticism upon this book, its influence in reorienting Christian thought toward its true source and goal will be profound and permanent." C. C. Morrison
+ — Christian Century 60:322 Mr 17 '43 4250w

"Niebuhr has scored again, and it is his all-time high. Volume II of his Gifford Lectures is even better than his first." R. C. Miller
+ Churchman 157:19 Ap 15 '43 360w

Reviewed by J. S. Bixler
Crozer Q 21:62 Ja '44 2400w

"This extraordinary book is not easy to review. It has an amazing wealth of scholarly lore, a richness of insight and perceptiveness, an architectural quality of rearing before one's eyes a structure of impressive logical design—all of which may well entitle it to the distinction of being (with its preceding Volume I) the most notable Christian apologia of our times in the English language." Ordway Tead
+ Ethics 54:150 Ja '44 1300w

Reviewed by A. E. Murphy
J Philos 40:458 Ag 19 '43 3950w

Reviewed by R. L. Calhoun
J Religion 24:59 Ja '44 4700w

"Reinhold Niebuhr's book would render a great service if it did no more than describe and classify the diverse conceptions of history formulated by Western humanity. But this book does much more. It defends with extraordinary probity and consistency the Biblical-Christian view of man and history. Mr. Niebuhr seems to me to be one of the rare coherent Protestants of our time." Denis De Rougemont
+ Nation 156:457 Mr 27 '43 1000w

Reviewed by Raphael Demos
New Repub 109:465 O 4 '43 1100w

"This is a book by a gifted theologian for readers with theological minds. Mr. Niebuhr is a Protestant clergyman and professor of divinity who does not shrink from making an intellectual approach to the doctrines of his chosen pulpit. By the intellectual rather than the mystic approach he accepts them. This will make him none the less stimulating to those who happen to disagree with him. . . It will interest Protestant intellectuals, including, no doubt, many of the clergy, here. It does not justify the ambition of its title, and its first chapter may send many readers back to the eternal simplicities of the Twenty-third Psalm and the Sermon on the Mount." R. L. Duffus
+ N Y Times p6 Mr 28 '43 800w

Reviewed by W. R. Matthews
Spec 171:88 Jl 23 '43 750w

"Without doubt, this work, of which the second volume is the most significant, is one of the most outstanding contributions to man's understanding of himself and his world that our century has or will produce. This may seem like extravagant praise, but Dr Niebuhr's grasp and perspective is gigantic, his appreciation is so sanely balanced and his understanding so profound, that each rereading of his work will emphasize the fact that this is surely a landmark in the history of philosophy." C. D. Kean
+ Springf'd Republican p7e Mr 28 '43 2000w

Times [London] Lit Sup p380 Ag 7 '43 900w

"Theology, even more than the higher mathematics, is as a rule hermetically sealed against lay intruders. But Dr. Reinhold Niebuhr's is not that kind of theology. His book is austere—in 321 pages, he permitted himself only two frosty flickering smiles—but it is not cryptic. Any man who cares for philosophy, history and religion will find it, not easy indeed, but accessible; and, if arduous at times, all the more rewarding. Alpine climbing is a strenuous and magnificent pastime." Albert Guerard
Weekly Book Review p9 Mr 28 '43 1500w

NIEDERHOFF, AUGUST EVAN. Blueprint reading for the shipbuilding trades. 87p il $2 McGraw

623.8 Shipbuilding. Blueprints 43-13772

"Orthographic projection, alphabet of lines, abbreviations and ship terms found in ship-construction blueprints. Author was supervisor of blueprint reading in Portland, Oregon, for National Defense Training Classes. Actual prints used in shipyards as illustrations." (Library J) Index.

Booklist 40:55 O 15 '43
Eng N 131:116 N 4 '43 10w
Library J 68:477 Je 1 '43 40w
Library J 68:960 N 15 '43 40w
N Y New Tech Bks 28:40 Jl '43

NILES, ALFRED SALEM, and NEWELL, JOSEPH SHIPLEY. Airplane structures. 3d ed 2v 454; 439p il ea $4.50 Wiley

629.134 Airplanes 43-51276

Third edition of a work first published in 1929 in one volume, republished in 1938 in two volumes [Book Review Digest, 1938). "In the third edition, the principal changes in Volume I have been the clarification of some articles with which students have had trouble, the rewriting of others to make them consistent with new material in the second volume, and the correction of typographical errors. In the second volume there are six completely new chapters which are devoted primarily to problems connected with the types of metal and plywood construction which are now being used." (Pref. to the 3d ed) Bibliography. Index.

Reviewed by L. E. Grinter
Book Week p11 O 31 '43 50w (Review of v2)
Booklist 40:62 O 15 '43 (Review of v2)
Library J 68:575 Jl '43 30w (Review of v 1-2)

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 68:771 O 1 '43 20w (Review of v2)

NILES, BLAIR (RICE) (MRS ROBERT NILES, jr). Passengers to Mexico; the last invasion of the Americas. 390p $3 Farrar

Charlotte, consort of Maximilian, emperor of Mexico—Fiction. Maximilian, emperor of Mexico—Fiction 43-51134

The tragic story of the failure of the French invasion of Mexico under Maximilian, as it appeared to a group of contemporaries. They include Sara Yorke, a young American girl; a French captain; President Benito Juárez; the United States minister to Mexico; William H. Seward, secretary of state in Washington; and others. Bibliography. Index.

Reviewed by Jean Douglass
Book Week p6 Ap 11 '43 500w
Booklist 39:366 My 15 '43

"For the general reader, Mrs. Niles' book is adequate to every need, but to the student of one of the most colorful epochs in New World history, it contains nothing new." A. H. W.
+ Christian Science Monitor p14 Ap 14 '43 550w

"Annotated bibliography of eye-witness and other contemporary material. Recommended as readable and original presentation of crucial period in New World history." M. J. Messler
+ Library J 68:289 Ap 1 '43 90w

"Mrs. Niles has written a sort of swift-moving biographical history of those years, and what formal history has set down in rather cold type she has presented in warm flesh-and-blood. To do this she has extricated from the less accessible documentation of the past a number of actual figures, all of whom came to Mexico during the period and most of whom are slight footnotes or nothing at all in the weighty tomes. It was an excellent idea and she has handled it most successfully." Herbert Gorman
+ N Y Times p9 Ap 4 '43 600w

"Told in the form of a commentary on the memoirs of the period. This makes for a certain scattering of effect, but on the whole the author manages her cast of butterfly romantics and sombre Mexicans with a crisp sense of the drama and the issues involved."
+ — New Yorker 19:88 Ap 10 '43 50w

Reviewed by Betty Kirk
Sat R of Lit 26:33 Ap 10 '43 400w

Reviewed by J. H. Jackson
Weekly Book Review p6 Ap 25 '43 800w
Wis Lib Bul 39:72 My '43

NILSON, ARTHUR REINHOLD, and HORNUNG, JULIUS LAWRENCE. Practical radio communication; principles, systems, equipment, operation, incl. very high and ultra-high frequencies and frequency modulation. 2d ed 927p il $6 McGraw

621.384 Radio 43-13755

"Rapid and extensive advances in the science of radio communication make this second edition necessary. Approximately two-thirds of the text is new. A noteworthy improvement has been made in chapter groupings; basic radio principles are now concentrated in the first eight chapters. Aviation radio, broadcasting and marine radio follow in the order given. This arrangement will make the book easy for the student to use, for he will concentrate first on those chapters in which he is immediately interested, saving the remainder of the book for post-graduate study. . . Important additions in this edition are Ohm's law problems and explanations, principles of high-efficiency radio-frequency amplifiers, receiver-circuit design, the cathode-ray oscilloscope, antenna arrays, ultra-high frequency theory and practice, frequency modulation, aviation radio, latest broadcast equipment, and four complete chapters on marine radio, including automatic alarms and modern direction finders." (Pref) For first edition see Book Review Digest, 1935. Index.

NILSON, A. R.—Continued

"It is neither over-theoretical nor over-simplified, but is a book of practical value." L. E. Grinter
+ Book Week p6 D 26 '43 50w
Booklist 40:97 N 15 '43
Library J 68:670 S 1 '43 50w
N Y New Tech Bks 28:50 Jl '43
N Y New Tech Bks 28:54 Jl '43

Reviewed by James Stokley
Weekly Book Review p8 Ja 9 '44 150w

NIXON, RAYMOND BLALOCK. Henry W. Grady, spokesman of the new South. 374p il $4 Knopf

B or 92 Grady, Henry Woodfin 43-15890

Long sympathetic biography of a Southern journalist and politician who died in 1889 at the age of thirty nine. Tho he died young, his fame as orator and writer had spread beyond his native state to all parts of the country. Bibliography. Index.

"A very desirable book for college and larger libraries. A must book for southern libraries." J. B. Fogg
+ Library J 68:958 N 15 '43 70w

"Grady's work as a newspaper man was notable. His writings were trenchant, pungent and crisp. . . Grady's fame became truly national after his address in New York City in 1886 before the New England Society. His subject was 'The New South,' and the banquet hall at Delmonico's rang with applause as he pleaded for greater cordiality and understanding between the sections. . . Dr. Nixon's enthralling pages provide us with a vivid picture of the man, set in the clearly etched framework of an era to which he made a memorable, lasting and constructive contribution." Virginius Dabney
+ N Y Times p5 Ja 2 '44 600w

"In telling the story Mr. Nixon has done an excellent job. If he errs, it is on the side of over-friendliness to his hero, but it is an amiable error; and the book is not altogether uncritcal, by any means. On the whole, it is an admirable account of an interesting, if minor, figure in American as well as Southern history." G. W. Johnson
+ — Weekly Book Review p2 Ja 2 '44 1150w

NOCK, ALBERT JAY. Memoirs of a superflous man. 326p $3 Harper

B or 92 43-14635

"Memoirs, which are really essays, reflecting author's 'philosophy of informed common sense.' Highly individualistic and skeptical of future of our civilization, book is full of relevant observations on our times: literacy, education, 'economism' (more commonly called 'materialism'), collectivism—to name just a few aspects." Library J

Reviewed by Edgar Main
Book Week p6 O 10 '43 380w
Booklist 40:78 N 1 '43

"Here is a book that is worth the time of anyone to read who is interested in the study of his fellowmen and their thinking in this extraordinary time of wholesale transition from an age that is finished to an age about to be born. It is brilliantly written, is full of sharp insights and epigrammatic phrases in criticism of this, that and the other aberration of thinking and behavior by us poor humans, and is redolent of a wide culture, the product of extensive travels among books and men in many languages and lands." T. F. Woodlock
+ Commonweal 38:589 O 1 '43 900w

"Well written, readable, and stimulating." Rudolf Hirsch
+ Library J 68:667 S 1 '43 50w

Reviewed by Rolfe Humphries
New Repub 109:594 O 25 '43 900w

"The honest truth is that, for those who are not merely literate but can really read (A. J. insists on the distinction), this book is packed with things that make it worth reading. The reward will be both entertainment and profit, coupled with admiration (sometimes reluctant) for a master craftsman and plenty of wholesome exasperation with a vagarious author." H. I. Brock
+ N Y Times p8 S 26 '43 1100w

"I have not since the days of the early Mencken read a more eloquently written blast against democracy or enjoyed more fully a display of crusted prejudices. Mr. Nock is a highly civilized man who does not like our civilization and will have no part of it. He is a rare bird, one of an almost extinct species, and, as he very properly puts it, a superfluous one. We are not apt to see his like again." Clifton Fadiman
New Yorker 19:80 S 25 '43 250w

Reviewed by H. J. Haskell
Sat R of Lit 26:8 O 9 '43 1600w

Reviewed by C. D. Kean
Springf'd Republican p7e O 24 '43 1000w

"Whether for instruction or for entertainment, this is a unique book, of instant timeliness and permanent value." Isabel Paterson
+ Weekly Book Review p6 S 19 '43 1800w

NOLAN, JEANNETTE (COVERT) (MRS VAL NOLAN). Final appearance. 314p $2 Duell 43-4316

Detective story.

"None of it is too convincing and the bizarre setting doesn't come through as real, but there's plenty of mystery and Miss White is ahead of you until just toward the end, when you're ahead of her by a few pages—which may be, to some, gratifying." Elizabeth Bullock
+ — Book Week p8 Mr 28 '43 340w

"Interesting background in this story, which is apparently based on the historical aspects of the old Indiana town of New Harmony."
+ New Yorker 19:68 Mr 6 '43 70w

NOMENCLATURE of naval vessels. 80p il $1.25 Chemical pub. co.

623.803 Shipbuilding—Dictionaries

"A glossary of technical terms related to naval vessels and their construction, first published in pamphlet form and now revised and enlarged. Includes blueprint abbreviations, symbols of riveting schedules, and drawings of charts of ships' sections." Booklist

Booklist 39:142 D 15 '42
N Y New Tech Bks 27:61 O '42

NORDAU, MRS ANNA (DONS), and NORDAU, MAXA. Max Nordau; tr. from the French. 440p il $3.75 Nordau com, 386 4th av, N.Y.

B or 92 Nordau, Max Simon 43-8442

"By profession Nordau was a physician, a sociologist, a philosopher, a journalist, a playwright, and an art critic, but first and foremost he was a champion of freedom." (Nation) "The fact that Nordau, only twenty years after his death, must be introduced to the reading public, testifies to the need for this book. . . The task has been ably performed by the biographers, his octogenarian widow, a descendant of Protestant gentleman farmers and army officers, and his daughter. The book describes the meteoric career of the son of a humble rabbi in Budapest, a man who lived a full life and was, probably, more hated and better loved than any of his contemporaries." (Weekly Book Review)

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert
Foreign Affairs 22:165 O '43 10w

"A graceful, captivating biography of a great European who was born in Hungary, became a German author, lived in France, was exiled in Spain, fought for Zion, and remained a true humanitarian all his life." Rustem Vambery

+ Nation 156:898 Je 26 '43 600w

"All this is interestingly told by his biographers who interpolate many significant anecdotes and little known details. However, the vast material is not assembled systematically nor in chronological order. A book of this magnitude ought to have index and bibliography. Incidentally, it somewhat overestimates Nordau's importance as a poet and imaginative writer. Despite these shortcomings, it is a valuable contribution to the understanding of a wise and noble man who ardently longed for the establishment of a better and finer social system." Alfred Werner

+ — Weekly Book Review p16 Jl 18 '43 800w

NORLING, MRS JO, and NORLING, ERNEST RALPH. Pogo's fishing trip; a story of salmon. 42p il $1 Holt

42-20808

Story of a small boy, Pogo, who learns about salmon fishing while on his uncle's fishing boat in Puget Sound. Simple text and many pictures. For grades two to four.

Booklist 39:297 Mr 15 '43

Wis Lib Bul 39:16 Ja '43

NORLING, MRS JO, and NORLING, ERNEST RALPH. Pogo's sky ride; a story of airplanes [pictured by Ernest Norling]. 45p $1.25 Holt

43-12637

John and his dog, Pogo, visit an airplane factory, learn a lot about making airplanes, and finally take a ride in one. For readers six to eight.

Reviewed by P. A. Whitney

Book Week p11 O 3 '43 80w

Booklist 40:19 S '43

Churchman 157:14 N 15 '43 20w

Reviewed by E. T. Dobbins

Library J 68:728 S 15 '43 70w

Reviewed by E. S. Littlefield

Library J 68:822 O 15 '43 50w

"Excellent informational story for young children. Clear, realistic pictures and diagrams are an integral and helpful part of the book." E. L. Buell

+ N Y Times p9 S 5 '43 140w

"All small boys and many of their young sisters will be fascinated by 'Pogo's Sky Ride,' which is quite complete in itself."

+ Springf'd Republican p7e S 5 '43 90w

Reviewed by M. L. Becker

Weekly Book Review p6 Ag 29 '43 200w

Wis Lib Bul 39:147 N '43

NORMANO, JOAO FREDERICO. Spirit of American economics; a study in the history of economic ideas in the United States prior to the great depression; with a suppl, The development of Canadian economic ideas, by A. R. M. Lower. 255p $3.50 Day

330.973 Economics. U.S.—Economic policy

43-11680

"Prepared as a publication of the Committee on the Study of Economic Thought, this is a scholarly essay on the development of economic ideas in America, as distinguished from those inherited or continued from the Old World. Dr. Normano begins with 'Homespun America'—the days of the Colonies, and traces the various schools of political-economic thought through the growth of the United States. His work is freely documented." (Current Hist) Index.

"The book is too short for much detail, even regarding the major figures, but it fits these with lesser authors into a general scheme. Some of the statements that are made can be questioned. . . At times purists may feel a little impatient with Mr. Normano. Yet there is much to be learned from his book, and even when he covers familiar ground, he is stimulating. . . Professor Lower's supplement on Canada is excellent reading. . . It can be recommended without qualification to Americans who want to know more of the Dominion." Edmund Whittaker

+ — Ann Am Acad 230:224 N '43 360w

Current Hist 5:77 S '43 130w

"Recommended for scholarly libraries." Walter Hausdorfer

+ Library J 68:667 S 1 '43 100w

"This sketch of the development of economic thought in the United States is very disappointing. A person of Doctor Normano's training, with continuing interests in the historical school, might have done much with the subject. The text discloses all the weaknesses of the German historical school and little of the somewhat stark realism that commonly gave outstanding significance to their work." A. P. Usher

— New Eng Q 16:676 D '43 490w

NORMANO, JOAO FREDERICO, and GERBI, ANTONELLO. Japanese in South America. 135p il $1.75 Day; $1.75; pa $1.25 Inst. of Pacific relations

325.252 Japanese in South America 43-8111

Survey of the development of large settlements of Japanese in South America, especially in Brazil and Peru. Coming first to supply laborers for coffee plantations and other South American industries, they remained to become an economic and political problem. The book is written by experts, and issued under the auspices of the Institute of Pacific relations, and the Latin American economic institute. Bibliography. Index.

Reviewed by Morton Grodzins

Am J Soc 49:269 N '43 440w

Reviewed by W. E. Dunn

Ann Am Acad 230:204 N '43 650w

Booklist 39:457 Jl 15 '43

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert

Foreign Affairs 22:168 O '43 20w

"Concise, well-documented survey. . . Recommended as first attempt to make essential facts about problem available for general reader." M. J. Messler

+ Library J 68:474 Je 1 '43 80w

Nation 157:332 S 18 '43 60w

Reviewed by Dorothy Teall

N Y Times p26 Je 6 '43 550w

"On the whole the book is a careful and scholarly piece of work." A. C. Wilgus

+ Pacific Affairs 16:384 S '43 210w

Reviewed by R. R. Hill

Pol Sci Q 58:470 S '43 390w

Time 41:104 Je 28 '43 350w

"There has been much uneasy gossiping about the Japanese in South America, and a dearth of fact. This little book, admittedly but an introduction to the subject, is a welcome contribution on an important subject. Mr. Normano is an economist who once lived in Brazil. Mr. Gerbi is an Italian economist now living in Lima." Hubert Herring

+ Weekly Book Review p15 Je 27 '43 1000w

NORRIS, KATHLEEN (THOMPSON) (MRS CHARLES GILMAN NORRIS). Corner of heaven. 280p $2 Doubleday

43-15964

Romantic story of a Maryland girl, left on her own at twenty. With very little money or formal education Griselle went to California to live with friends, take some college courses, and prepare to make her living. She made her way, eventually, but her life was considerably complicated by the machinations of a soulless little blond, with vague ideas about right and wrong.

NORRIS, K. T.—Continued

"It is a typical Norris romance, peopled with realistic youngsters of the modern world." Charlotte Dean

N Y Times p30 N 28 '43 200w

Reviewed by Lisle Bell

Weekly Book Review p28 O 17 '43 280w

NORTH, JESSICA NELSON (MRS R. I. MACDONALD). Dinner party; poems. 82p $2 Prairie

811 43-1386

A volume of poems reprinted from the Atlantic Monthly, The Nation, The London Mercury, Poetry and other magazines.

"Poetry of distinction, subtle and sensitive, neither obvious nor obscure."

+ Christian Century 60:169 F 10 '43 60w

"Seen against the Alexandrian tendency of modern poetry, the excellence of Dinner Party is sharp and undeniable. What I find significant in its subject matter is that the poetry rises not from a self-conscious esthetic attitude nor from a foraging after exploitable material, but from the passion and reverie of a human life—a life richly lived and keenly felt. Readers familiar with the professor as poet, the orator as poet, and so on, will be delighted to encounter again the human being as poet—the honest, unsolicited, unsoliciting human being." J. F. Nims

+ Poetry 62:167 Je '43 850w

NORTH, STERLING. Midnight and Jeremiah; il by Kurt Wiese. 127p $2 Winston

43-17033

Jeremiah was a small boy, living on a farm in Pike country, Indiana, in 1910. Midnight was his pet black lamb, who grew up to be so rambunctious that Jeremiah's grandfather threatened to roast him and serve him up with mint sauce. Then Midnight got the blue ribbon at the country fair, and, during the resultant celebration, ran away. On Christmas eve Midnight found his way back to a mourning Jeremiah.

"In 'Greased Lightning' Sterling North wrote a rollicking story that delighted children and grownups. But in 'Midnight and Jeremiah' he has written a classic. . . I doubt if I've ever read a more appealing scene than the one at the fair, when the judges are looking over the contestants among the lambs and Jeremiah starts whispering the Twenty-third Psalm to himself. . . A story as beautiful as this can only speak for itself. Comment would be superfluous." P. A. Whitney

+ Book Week p3 N 14 '43 360w

Booklist 40:152 D 15 '43

Reviewed by A. M. Jordan

Horn Bk 20:38 Ja '44 90w

"Warm, homey story somewhat marred by sudden departure from realism in next to last chapter, where animals think and talk (like the human characters) in the local vernacular. Rather sentimental ending." Maude Adams

+ — Library J 68:731 S 15 '43 70w

"Some dialect, but more humor, and fourth-grade readers will enjoy Midnight's misadventures. Illustrated by Kurt Wiese. Recommended." A. M. Anderson

+ Library J 68:731 S 15 '43 100w

"This is a memorable, heartwarming story for children from 8 to 10, full flavored with the smells and sights of the back-country of thirty years ago." E. L. Buell

+ N Y Times p7 D 12 '43 200w

"Highly satisfactory book. . . In a year when as much talk about Americanism is being dished out to children as to adults, Mr. North has quietly cut a slice of real America and handed it to the children to taste for themselves. Kurt Wiese's illustrations are in his best style."

+ New Yorker 19:122 D 4 '43 90w

"A tender, truthful and truly boyish story, as good a bit of Americana as its predecessor, 'Greased Lightning.'" M. L. Becker

+ Weekly Book Review p8 N 14 '43 300w

NORTH CAROLINA. UNIVERSITY. Woman's college, Greensboro. Walter Clinton Jackson essays in the social sciences; ed. by Vera Largent. 245p $3 Univ. of N.C. press [14s Oxford]

304 Social sciences. Jackson, Walter Clinton 42-16719

Eleven essays published by members of the faculty of the Woman's College of the University of North Carolina, in honor of a colleague who has been since 1934 Dean of Administration. In general the essays deal with the theme of "democracy as a way of life." Contents: Introduction, by Vera Largent; A rich cargo, by Harriet Elliott; The definition of the general will, by J. A. Clark; Scientific method and democratic procedure, by Elizabeth Duffy; Psychology, social science, and democracy, by W. P. Chase; Napoleon and Hitler: new order and grand design, by E. E. Pfaff; Impressment during the American Revolution, by Elizabeth Cometti; The colonial status of the south, by B. B. Kendrick; Garner versus Kitchin: a study of craft and statecraft, by A. M. Arnett; The economic future of the southeast, by A. S. Keister; Twentieth century south-wide civic and lay organizations for human welfare, by L. G. Shivers; Earth and man: the European heritage, by Edna Arundel.

Reviewed by H. T. Shanks

Am Hist R 48:630 Ap '43 240w

"As is generally the case, the symposium is uneven, spotty, and loosely coordinated." Arthur Katona

+ — Am Soc R 7:895 D '42 440w

NORTON, ARTHUR EDWIN. Lubrication; ed. by J. R. Muenger. 244p $3 McGraw

621.89 Lubrication and lubricants. Bearings (machinery) 43-258

"The basic theory and principles of lubrication. A textbook particularly suited for classroom instruction, but also of value to practicing engineers. Chapters include: Fluid friction and viscosity; Properties of lubricants; Slider bearing with variable viscosity; Thermal equilibrium; Bearingloads, Ball, roller and needle bearings." N Y New Tech Bks

Library J 68:130 F 1 '43 30w

N Y New Tech Bks 28:28 Ap '43

NORTON, FREDERICK HARWOOD. Refractories. 2d ed 798p il $7.50 McGraw

669.8 Refractory materials 42-20345

"New material added to the present revision of a standard work includes a chapter on the fundamental concepts of matter in the solid state. Five chapters on the selection and use of refractories should be of interest to the furnace-builder." (N Y New Tech Bks) For first edition see Book Review Digest, 1932.

Chem & Met Eng 49:183 O '42 150w

Library J 67:1063 Jl 1 '42 20w

N Y New Tech Bks 28:16 Ja '43

NOYES, ALFRED. Poems of the New World; with an introd. by Viscount Halifax [decorations by Vernon B. Sisson]. 134p $2.50 Lippincott

821 42-25918

Collection of verse about America, presented as a tribute to this country, by an English poet.

"'New values' and 'celestial wonder' are not the qualities of Mr. Noyes's poetry. It is hearty, uncomplicated, romantic, flowing along in simple tuneful numbers, full of easy sympathy with humanity, in easy admiration for its struggles, easy sorrow for its sins. No word in his vocabulary is ever minted into a new value, and while his sentiments are noble, they are uniformly vague." Elizabeth Drew

Books p15 F 7 '43 330w

"The thirty-six poems in his new volume reveal not only Noyes's distinctive gifts, his buoyancy, his open and sensitive mind, and his grace and felicity of phrase, but also a genuine admiration of the United States and affection for its people." J. J. Reilly

+ Cath World 157:100 Ap '43 270w

"The quality of the poetry varies throughout the volume. Often it is of a high order, but sometimes it takes on a sing-song, slightly monotonous pattern. As in 'Mount Wilson,' however, where verbose passages occur, the tone is lofty and the message worth while. In that poem, as in most of his other work, Mr Noyes shows the profound reverence with which he approaches his subjects." Pearl Strachan

+ — Christian Science Monitor p8 Ja 16 '43 600w

NOYES, ALFRED. Secret of Pooduck island; with drawings by Flora Nash DeMuth. 183p $2 Stokes

43-13640

A family of squirrels living in an empty Maine cottage, a nature-loving youth, called Solo, a porcupine, a weasel, a skunk, and a crow are the chief characters in this story for young readers.

Cath World 158:315 D '43 20w

"Told with imagination and humor, lighted by beautiful passages in prose and occasional verse, the story of Pooduck Island is wreathed in a mist of Indian magic and wisdom. Mr. Noyes makes a happy entry into the field of children's books." A. M. Jordan

+ Horn Bk 19:418 N '43 100w

"Especially recommended for exceptional child. Similarity of life of animals and that of humans adds much in weaving fine story. Humor, poetic beauty, nonsense, and folklore." M. L. Goodwin

+ Library J 68:847 O 15 '43 50w

"A rare and lovely story." Lena Barksdale

+ Nation 157:592 N 20 '43 20w

"Some of the incidents are lively and dramatic, but as a whole the book lacks smoothness and continuity because the real and the imaginative elements do not blend but break in upon one another with a disconcerting abruptness. Flora DeMuth's lively little squirrels add a touch of gaiety to the pages." A. T. Eaton

— + N Y Times p8 Ja 16 '44 340w

NOYES, CHARLES EDMUND. Economic freedom; a democratic program. 234p $2.50 Harper

330.973 U.S.—Economic policy. Reconstruction (1939-) 43-5793

"Free enterprise in the sense of liberal capitalism was doomed long ago by technology and decline of growth in population. Economic freedom means control by majority of the people in the various parts of economic structure. Savings and investment, for example, should be adjusted to growth of new and productive enterprises. Debt should thus be periodically reduced by depression, and savings kept in line by heavy taxation. Basis of economic freedom lies in wider distribution of income, in maintaining steady flow of purchasing power, and in decentralization of power in government and business." (Library J) Index.

"This is a readable, stimulating, and annoying essay. It is readable for it is completely free of modern economic theory with its technical difficulties in the fields of monopoly, competition, and that puzzling hybrid, monopolistic competition. It is stimulating for the reader is made aware that the author is dealing with one of the live social subjects of our day. It is annoying because the brief discussions seem to leave important points unsettled." H. F. Fraser

+ — Ann Am Acad 229:198 S '43 600w

"Like most liberals today, he is wary of selling short the old idea of individual freedom based on private property. Yet he knows that the free market is a myth, monopoly a fact. He seeks a middle way, and in many areas of enterprise he sees some clear democratic solutions. Where he lacks answers, he has facts and sound analyses to offer in a fairly readable fashion." R. H. Rovere

+ Book Week p2 My 23 '43 160w

Reviewed by A. W. Taylor

Christian Century 60:1232 O 27 '43 600w

"Recommended for attempt to interpret newer economic trends." Walter Hausdorfer

+ Library J 68:287 Ap 1 '43 110w

"Throughout the treatment an economist . . . feels that though the instincts are right the analysis is inadequate and the less general conclusions frequently incorrect. Thus not only is much of the orthodox economics under attack rather out of date, but the criticisms themselves are similarly dated and inconclusive. . . Another example of inadequate analysis is the chapter on The Burden of Private Debt, in which private debt is blamed for all the evil effects of imperfect competition. . . Throughout the book the economist is irritated by an underestimation of the part played by the price mechanism in the efficient running of the economy and by a continual rejection of economics instead of an attempt to harness it to our social ideals. . . But in spite of all these and many other annoyances, Mr. Noyes's more important conclusions are usually sound." A. P. Lerner

+ — Nation 157:22 Jl 3 '43 1000w

"Lucidly written volume. . . The author tells us little that is new, yet it is told so clearly that his book may well serve as a guide to the 'middle way' in public policy."

+ New Repub 109:54 Jl 12 '43 120w

Reviewed by H. W. Cross

Springf'd Republican p7e Je 20 '43 800w

NOYES, MORGAN PHELPS. Preaching the word of God. 219p $2 Scribner

251 Preaching 43-9599

"These lectures are a series of studies in the spirit of the Christian ministry. They do not presume to give technical advice on the making of sermons or on the conduct of a parish. They do not come from an expert in either field. They do come out of the experience of a minister engaged in the everyday duties of a pastorate who has tried to define for himself his approach to some of the problems that confront him in his calling." (Foreword) Index.

Christian Century 60:800 Jl 7 '43 70w

"A wholesome stimulant to the fagged pastor and an inspirational incentive to the young preacher. . . Dr. Noyes' treatment of many pertinent present day questions is sound, sensible and satisfying." W. F. Thompson

+ Churchman 157:16 S 15 '43 120w

NURA, pseud. See Ulreich, N. W.

NUSSBAUM, ARTHUR. Principles of private international law. 288p $3.50 Oxford

341.5 International law, Private 43-4361

"Arthur Nussbaum, for many years professor of law at the University of Berlin, came to this country in 1933 and has since been research professor of public law at Columbia University. In his recent book Prof. Nussbaum says, 'Private international law, or conflict of laws, may broadly be defined as that part of private law which deals with foreign relations.' He further explains that, 'The problems of private international law originate in the territorial diversity of legal systems.' " Book Week

"Student, teacher, practitioner, and judge should welcome this incisive, stimulating supplement to case book and treatise. The style is crystal clear and straightforward; the scholarly apparatus, without flaw." Henry Reiff

+ Am Pol Sci R 37:737 Ag '43 750w

NUSSBAUM, ARTHUR—Continued

"The bench, teachers of law, students of this particular field and those members of the profession whose practice involves 'Conflict of Laws' will find this well documented and exhaustive study to be of genuine interest and truly helpful." C. B., jr.

+ Book Week p9 Ap 11 '43 180w

"Only a scholar of the very first rank thoroughly trained in continental law and an expert in the conflict of laws would be able to understand the mysteries of our law and to bring to light its essential characteristics. Professor Nussbaum has undertaken this most worthy task and executed it in a superb manner. We shall look forward with much anticipation to his further reflections on other aspects of our conflict of laws." E. G. Lorenzen

+ Harvard Law R 57:123 O '43 1950w

NUTE, GRACE LEE. Caesars of the wilderness; Médard Chouart, sieur des Groseilliers and Pierre Esprit Radisson, 1618-1710. 386p pl maps $4 Appleton-Century

971.01 America—Discovery and exploration—French. Des Groseilliers, Medard Chouart, sieur. Radisson, Pierre Esprit. Canada—History 43-4912

"This book tells the story of two French explorers, Médard Chouart, Sieur des Groseilliers, and his brother-in-law, Pierre Esprit Radisson. They explored North America in the seventeenth century, when Frenchmen discovered the Great Lakes, the Mississippi, the Ohio, the Missouri, Lake Winnipeg, and the Saskatchewan... Many persons have attempted to tell the story of Radisson and Des Groseilliers. Most of them have actually told only a small part of it—the American, the Canadian, the English, or the French portion. This book is an effort to portray them as they were, now Frenchmen, now Americans, now Canadians, and now Englishmen." (Introd) Bibliography. Index.

"The narrative is almost consistently fluent, humane, and colorful. The technical apparatus is excellent, although the reproductions of old maps are hardly sufficient supplement to the end papers, and for some reason the usage as to French names which is asserted in the preface is abandoned in the index." J. B. Brebner

+ — Am Hist R 49:106 O '43 650w

Christian Century 60:919 Ag 11 '43 260w

"The author has done well to keep a steady course through the intricate and multitudinous plots and counterplots of French officials, religious orders, Canadians, English, and Bostonians, and the numerous lawsuits in which the two men engaged, and it must be admitted that the course is less clear to the reader than to the writer. The many footnotes are not much help, though a testimony to the scholarliness of the work."

Christian Science Monitor p10 Jl 24 '43 700w

"Unfortunately, there emerge from dusty archives not full, rounded personalities, but only contour outlines of men. Nevertheless, Miss Nute's tireless scholarship has added to the picture of these two amazing figures."

N Y Times p21 Je 6 '43 200w

"To the scholar this book will be necessary and very useful. To the general reader it will be stiff but tantalizing reading. . . A number of interesting old maps illustrate the text but the lack of clarity in their reproduction leaves something to be desired." L. B. Packard

+ — Social Studies 34:327 N '43 700w

NUTE, GRACE LEE, ed. & tr. Documents relating to Northwest missions, 1815-1827; with notes and an introduction. 469p $5 Alvord memorial comm. c.o. Minn. hist. soc, St Paul, Minn.

970.62662 Missions—Northwest 43-4767

"[This is] the first volume of a projected series devoted to the publication of original documents relating to the history of the Mississippi Valley... The majority of these documents were written originally in French. With the exception of a few which have been published elsewhere, those appearing here are printed in the original language as well as in an English translation. Most of them are letters written by people who, for one reason or another, were interested between the years 1815 and 1827 in the Roman Catholic mission established in the valley of the Red River of the North at that time." Am Hist R

"Not all students of the history of the Northwest will go as far as the editor in assigning to either Lord Selkirk or Bishop Plessis as the basis for his interest in the Red River mission motives primarily utilitarian. Again, some critics may object that the translation is too literal; others, that it is not literal enough; but there is less ground for such charges in the later pages of the volume than in the earlier. In most other respects the standard of the publication is uniformly high. The printing is accurate; the footnotes and references are sufficient; a glossary explains most of the extraordinary terms appearing in the text; and there is an excellent index which obviates the need for a detailed table of contents." J. P. Pritchett

+ — Am Hist R 48:810 Jl '43 490w

"This collection of documents is uncommonly good reading, and is of considerable importance for the light it sheds upon the early history of the Red River Settlement... The editor has done a capital job. . . The footnotes are neither excessive nor scanty... The translations, which are also the work of Miss Nute, are done in fine style. The index has been carefully prepared and is most useful." A. L. Burt

+ Canadian Hist R 24:201 Je '43 700w

O

O. HENRY MEMORIAL AWARD. Prize stories of 1943; sel. and ed. by Herschel Brickell [and] Muriel Fuller. 319p $2.50 Doubleday

Short stories—Collections (21-9372)

Contents: Livvie is back, by Eudora Welty; The knot hole, by Dorothy Canfield; The fishermen of Patzcuaro, by William Fifield; The little black boys, by Clara Laidlaw; The canals of Mars, by Kay Boyle; Pigeons en casserole, by Bessie Breuer; The enemy, by Pearl Buck; The ascent of Ariel Goodbody, by W. Van T. Clark; The unfaithful, by Whitfield Cook; Standby, by Sarah Grinnell; Black boy's good time, by Elmer Grossberg; Who lived and died believing, by Nancy Hale; The glass pigeon, by Josephine Johnson; Blinker was a good dog, by B. H. Lampman; A tree: a rock: a cloud, by Carson McCullers; Knife-like, flower-like, like nothing at all in the world, by William Saroyan; White for the living, by M. G. Smith; "She shall have music," by Austin Strong; Death and my Uncle Felix, by Alison Stuart; The cane in the corridor, by James Thurber; The old she 'gator, by Peggy von der Goltz; Pecos Bill and the willful coyote, by W. C. White.

"The old distinction between the O'Brien and O. Henry volumes has vanished. The stories in this volume seem to have been selected on the ground of literary quality rather than popular appeal just as much as those in the current O'Brien volume, and like the stories in that volume, many of them seem to me falsely and artificially literary—their writers too conscious of craftsmanship and effect and not sufficiently direct and humble in their sharing of experience." J. T. Frederick

Book Week p4 N 28 '43 140w

Booklist 40:146 D 15 '43

Christian Science Monitor p9 D 31 '43 470w

"The collection contains some good imaginative writing, some original writing and some mature writing, but no story manages to combine all three aims at once." Marjorie Farber

N Y Times p26 D 12 '43 1100w

"An unusually satisfactory collection. . . Not the least interesting part of the book is the editor's intelligent introduction."

+ New Yorker 19:108 N 20 '43 90w

"In places this present collection, good as it is, is not to me, at least, as satisfactory as some of the others. I think from now on critics will have to watch carefully for 'the dream-world' into which the stark horrors of the present not unnaturally is driving the creative mind; a 'dream-world,' to make things all the more confusing, disguised by the surface realism of this decade. This dream-world is important and worth recording, and there has not been enough of it in the past in American writing, but when it mistakes itself for objective description, it comes to the edge of a precipice at the bottom of which is hard ground called lack of conviction." Struthers Burt

Sat R of Lit 27:7 Ja 1 '44 1150w

"This is a good collection indeed. It is not, perhaps, so colorful and exciting as others have been but it is highly representative, in the special way any selection is, of the work in the short story. The times may be one reason why there is some element of the commonplace in the book as a whole, and a second reason is, as the introduction hints, that we are in great need of a redefining of the nebulous term, 'short story.' If one is to draw a firm line between 'short story' and 'sketch' about half of the book is not short stories." Lee Varley

+ — Springf'd Republican p7e D 12 '43 600w

"It is natural, although perhaps not altogether fair, that the five stories rooted in the present world disaster have a sharper impact than the others, since they strike the mind where it is already raw. But taken as a whole, the book seldom flags from a high standard of honest purpose and emotional distinction." Virgilia Sapieha

+ Weekly Book Review p26 D 5 '43 750w

OAKELEY, HILDA DIANA. Should nations survive? 148p $2 Norton [6s Allen, G.]

320.15 Nationalism and nationality. State, The. International cooperation A42-4131

"The author sets forth what she regards as the true nature of the nation and seeks to reconcile it with the need for an attenuation of exaggerated and bellicose nationalism." (Foreign Affairs) Bibliography.

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert

Foreign Affairs 21:3 Jl '43 30w

"This little book is the utterance of someone deeply sensitive to spiritual values and versed in the thoughts which men have had in the past, or have today, about the universe, who looks with distress, with some bewilderment, and yet with a light of hope, at the conflict of nations, the agonies and confusions, of our time. . . When we study the connection of the nation with the State, [certain] problems thrust themselves upon our consideration. Dr Oakeley's book skirts them, but she has not gone into them. She has been content to show how the preservation of a 'historic community's' tradition is something good, for that we may be grateful to her." Edwyn Bevan

+ Hibbert J 41:92 O '42 900w

"It must be said that Dr. Oakeley has hardly thought her way through her problem to any very practical or concrete programme or method of action. But her points are important, and her treatment suggestive."

Times [London] Lit Sup p254 My 23 '42 420w

OAKES, VIRGINIA ARMSTRONG. White man's folly. 415p $3 Houghton

950 Eastern question (Far East). Chinese-Japanese war, 1931-. Journalists—Correspondence, reminiscences, etc. 43-1899

In part a personal narrative of an American girl's experiences in China and the Far East during the last ten years, and in part more or less serious comment on the international situation in China, Burma, the Philippines, and the Netherlands Indies.

"China in battle, suddenly come to the sympathy and careful study of the world, has inspired several excellent books; it is doubtful that any of them has been or will be more informing and, paradoxically, amusing than this one. It has moments of 'Our Hearts Were Young and Gay' and others as solidly factual and soundly polemic as any in those books which protested the arming of Japan by America, or warned of India, or suggested that Russia was more than an economic lunatic asylum." Phil Stong

+ Book Week p1 Mr 21 '43 550w

Booklist 39:290 Mr 15 '43

"Most of the trash is behind the reader when he has finished Chapter 7, and then begins a narrative of historic events in which Vanya took part, which is of great interest and is presented without any such sophomoric striving for effect as mars the effort to make Vanya Oakes, the Shanghai initiate, glamorous. . . The closing chapters of the book are controversial, well argued and well written." Rodney Gilbert

+ — Books p4 F 7 '43 1900w

"Among the best manifestations of Miss Oakes's talent is her description of German strategy to win friends and influence people, as in aping the Japanese deep bow before the Imperial Palace's twin bridges in Tokyo. Such observation and choice of incident is good beyond anybody's question. Actually the book is rich in material of this sort, unfortunately mixed together with an attitude of superiority which may cause its values to be overlooked." R. G.

+ — Christian Science Monitor p16 F 24 '43 450w

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert

Foreign Affairs 21:16 Jl '43 20w

"There is a vividness in Miss Oakes's book, if at the same time a certain political naïveté. . . It is thus for the atmosphere of the Far East on the eve of débâcle and not for political judgment that Miss Oakes should be read." Nathaniel Peffer

N Y Times p12 Mr 7 '43 800w

"Rambling in spots, but intelligent too, and its impressions of events and people are entertaining."

+ New Yorker 18:64 F 6 '43 90w

"'White Man's Folly,' lacks a certain interest and freshness. Miss Oakes writes well but her material is sketchy and disconnected. Instead of rehashing old mistakes and follies, there is today need for blueprinting, for ideas on what must be done to help China, and ideas for a better China and better east Asia that are to be reconstructed after the war." F. L. Reinstein

+ — Springf'd Republican p7e Mr 7 '43 500w

Wis Lib Bul 39:54 Ap '43

OAKESHOTT, MICHAEL JOSEPH. Social and political doctrines of contemporary Europe; with five prefaces by Frederic A. Ogg. 243p $2.75 Macmillan

320.1 Political science. Sociology 43-17360

"This is a book of source materials on the five leading social and political doctrines of contemporary Europe, namely, 'Representative Democracy,' 'Catholicism,' 'Communism,' 'Fascism,' and 'National Socialism.' The first edition of the work was published in England in 1939 [Book Review Digest, 1939]; since that time a second edition was published in 1941, in which certain additions were made to the sections on 'National Socialism' and 'Representative Democracy.' The present, or American, edition, published in 1942, contains introductory notes to each section by Professor Ogg, of the University of Wisconsin. A general introduction to the readings by the author marks a high point in the work." J Pol Econ

---

Reviewed by M. Q. Sibley

Am Pol Sci R 37:183 F '43 190w

"In a compilation of this kind there is always room for serious differences of opinion on the wisdom of including this or that selection. It cannot be denied that every positive choice is thoroughly justifiable, and that

OAKESHOTT, M. J.—Continued
whatever divergencies there are will be chiefly concerned with what has been excluded. On the whole, there is no more compact or judicious selection than this, and it should meet with increasing success in the schools and colleges of the country." H. D. Lasswell
+ Ann Am Acad 229:193 S '43 180w

Reviewed by J. G. Kerwin
J Pol Econ 51:278 Je '43 490w

OAKESHOTT, WALTER FRASER. Founded upon the seas; a narrative of some English maritime and overseas enterprises during the period 1550 to 1616. 200p il $3.50 Macmillan [12s 6d Cambridge]

942.05 Great Britain—History, Naval. Great Britain—History—Elizabeth, 1558-1603. Discoveries (in geography) [43-4254]

History of the rise of British sea power under the Elizabethans—from the first voyages of Hawkins to the West Indies in 1564, to the victory over the Spanish Armada in 1588. A final chapter is devoted to early voyages to America. Many of the illustrations are reproductions of old maps. Index.

"A clear and interesting summary of the exploits of English seamen during the struggle with Spain in the sixteenth century. . . This is not a history of the war with Spain. On the larger causes of that struggle, the author says very little. But it is a useful and well written outline of what will always remain one of the most interesting and important aspects of that war." D. J. McDougall
+ Canadian Hist R 24:301 S '43 450w

" 'Founded Upon the Seas' is an engaging and scholarly critique of the daring at sea that gave British islanders the upper hand not only in sea battles but in seamanship. Dunkirk may have inspired this book, but it is a fervid interest in Hawkins, Drake and their Queen that gives it life. The reader who wishes a salty appraisal—and a poor index—of Elizabethan sea raiders should go to 'Founded Upon the Seas.' At the same time, he must realize that he is reading an engaging and well-founded review of the period rather than the bald history itself." R. E. Berry
+ — N Y Times p20 Jl 18 '43 460w

"The story is well told. Tempting as it is to draw parallels between many of the political and strategical events with those of today, that temptation has been resisted, and we are given a sober and balanced narrative in which, though there are many heroes, there is no idolatry. The heroes are not infallible nor the motives all impeccable. They are the men of a vigorous age in which original thought was encouraged and safety was sought in bold and energetic action."
+ Spec 170:108 Ja 29 '43 260w

+ Times [London] Lit Sup p82 F 13 '43 370w

O'BRIEN, KATE. Last of summer. 269p $2.50 Doubleday [8s 6d Heinemann]

43-51121

On the eve of the second World war a young French girl, on vacation in Ireland, goes visiting her Irish cousins on their isolated estate. She finds the place completely controlled by a charming, but iron-willed woman, her dead uncle's wife. Both her young sons, Angèle's cousins, fall in love with the French girl, but Angèle loves Tom, the elder son. In the short space of twenty days the matriarch succeeds in breaking the engagement, and on the outbreak of war Angèle goes back to France.

"Miss O'Brien takes an infinite amount of time and detail to focus her story, but, when she has finished, her characters and theme stand in a brilliantly sharp light. I would make only one adverse criticism: I was disappointed in the lack of local color. True, there were Irish names and an occasional bit of the brogue, but except for these the setting could have been almost any neutral country. As one who should know, I can say that the characters didn't strike me as being especially Irish."
+ — Book Week p12 My 9 '43 250w

Booklist 39:354 My 1 '43

"Miss O'Brien brings to this novel a delicate perceptiveness of character and thought, a sharp sense of drama, good taste, and, as in all her work, a distinguished literary style. Occasionally in describing a character she lays too many cards on the table, but on the whole she has seen these people clearly and objectively." N. E. Monroe
+ — Cath World 157:329 Je '43 450w

" 'The Last of Summer,' is the kind of craftsmanship which must be read as an integral whole to be adequately appreciated. It is a bit of modern fiction at its best."
+ Commonweal 38:48 Ap 30 '43 550w

"Glamorous and enthralling tale. Sharp observation, deep understanding, and truly clever handling of plot. Recommended." M. H. Zipprich
+ Library J 68:289 Ap 1 '43 80w

"Top-dressing of good Irish talk and lively characterisation make enjoyable The Last of Summer . . . though the date chosen—summer, 1939—involves collision between artificial comedy and dreadful fact. . . Not for the first time impression is given of common ground between country houses in Eire and in Tchekov's Russia." Harold Brighouse
+ Manchester Guardian p3 Mr 19 '43 140w

"I think it has been praised unduly, possibly because it is sufficiently underwritten to promise that still waters are running deep. Actually it is no more than a quiet, workmanlike little novel." Diana Trilling
Nation 156:713 My 15 '43 60w

"Against a background of isolationist and neutral Eire, Kate O'Brien has written a tender and dramatic story of human conflict. To 'The Last of Summer' she has brought her recognized gifts of fluid poetic prose, her subtle probing of the impulses of human behavior and her intellectual and emotional understanding of the Irish people. Beneath the seemingly peaceful surface of the family life she portrays runs a deep ferment of restlessness rooted not only in warring personalities but in a world at war." Rose Feld
+ N Y Times p6 Ap 25 '43 550w

"Slow and over-cautious at first, but warms up nicely. In its quiet way, as neat and fine a novel as you are likely to run across at the moment."
+ New Yorker 19:79 Ap 24 '43 70w

"Miss O'Brien's scenes are vivid and picturesque. Her minor characters . . . are all excellently done. By contrast the figures of Tom and Angéle lack substance. One feels the indomitable Mrs. Kernahan would have shattered their romance single-handed without the intervention of war. Yet Miss O'Brien handles her slender theme with skill and at times brilliance. This graceful and charming novel is the choice of the Book Society." John Hampson
+ — Spec 170:344 Ap 9 '43 320w

"The story is rich in drama, characterization and color. Miss O'Brien has given a vivid picture of that little island, its happy contented people at peace with the world. A bit of old Ireland with an absorbing narrative, interesting from the first page." H. L. Mitchell
+ Springf'd Republican p7e My 23 '43 300w

"Miss O'Brien retains in this novel her habit of slightly obscure psychologizing over trifles, but restores the balance by her quick perception of the play of emotional impulse and atmosphere. It is, in its tried imaginative idiom, an assured and fine-edged piece of work. If one is at times impelled towards criticism, that is in the first place because Miss O'Brien offers a familiar essay in the midsummer enchantment of romantic passion with the air of offering so much more."
+ — Times [London] Lit Sup p137 Mr 20 '43 1050w

"This novel has the composure of good painting. Its direction is inspired. It stamps Miss O'Brien as one of the generation of those who were 'digesting the Russians.' No greater compliment could be paid to her than to say that this story has the finest Russian characterization. All her people are cast upon us forever in their fundamental simplicities and complexities. They are real with the reality of the revealed." Kathleen Coyle

+ Weekly Book Review p6 Ap 25 '43 1300w

O'CONNOR, WILLIAM VAN. Climates of tragedy; with the assistance of Mary Allen O'Connor. 155p $1.75 La. state univ. press
808.2 Tragedy 43-5761

"Mr. O'Connor attempts, within brief compass, to define the social and cultural conditions which are conducive to the production of dramatic tragedy and to demonstrate why no great tragedy has been produced in our era—or indeed since the days of Shakespeare. His discussion of the ingredients of tragedy is sound and clear (and, but for the pricking of Bellona, would doubtless have been fuller), and his standards are of the most strict. Tragedy, he concludes, can only be written in an age of 'restricted individualism,' an age which refuses to tolerate didacticism, easy generalizations, romantic mistiness, which sees a core of order in the universe, and whose commercial stage is governed by sincere intellectualism." Poetry

"A compact, scholarly, and thoughtful study."
+ Nation 157:332 S 18 '43 100w

Reviewed by A. S. Downer
+ Poetry 62:344 S '43 550w

ODUM, HOWARD WASHINGTON. Race and rumors of race; challenge to American crisis. 245p $2 Univ. of N.C. press
325.26 Negroes. U.S.—Race question 43-17678

"The story of racial tension in the United States as it existed during the year of global war from mid-1942 to 1943. Dr. Odum suggests the answer to the question, 'What is the way out and the way on?' when he declares that the book is 'literally an affectionate appeal to all the people of the nation and a challenge to its leadership . . . in facing truth wherever found; in the asking of essential questions; in the search for correct answers.'" School & Society

"Professor Odum's survey is not the last word, and it is often annoying in its form, but it has the particular virtue of honest search for light. It could be the basis for the program which will bring us the solution to one of the bitterest disputes now smouldering on the home front." Hal Borland
Sat R of Lit 27:8 Ja 15 '44 1150w
School & Society 58:480 D 18 '43 80w

"This careful collection of rumors is as valuable as it is tragic. Even more valuable is the accompanying commentary and discussion by Dr Odum, noted sociologist and authority on southern regional problems." Marshall Bragdon
+ Springf'd Republican p6 D 4 '43 950w

O'FAOLAIN, SEAN. Great O'Neill. 374p $3.75 Duell [15s Longmans]
B or 92 Tyrone, Hugh O'Neill, 2d earl of 42-22782

For descriptive note see Annual for 1942.

"Mr. O'Faolain tells the story of Hugh in a magnificent book, which will make many of us revise radically the notions we have long held concerning this period of Irish history. For his facts, many of which are now presented to the general public for the first time, Mr. O'Faolain has drawn upon a doctoral thesis, written by J. K. Graham, of Queen's College, Belfast. He has set a scholar's findings before a vast and colorful background of life in Elizabethan Ireland." David Marshall
+ Commonweal 38:276 Jl 2 '43 1750w

"This is a most able book, written with style and a sharply critical intelligence. It makes sense of the story of the O'Neill if sense can be made of it. But, in truth, the historical evidence is so slight that most is necessarily conjecture, and one is reduced to confess that there is no certain historical figure who can really claim to be Hugh, Earl of Tyrone." A. J. P. Taylor
+ Manchester Guardian p3 Mr 31 '43 200w

"This book is brilliant, serious and confusing—and it does not make its point. But for those whom its title speaks to it will prove stimulating, and will turn their thoughts usefully, and in a clear, new light, to the tragic, desperate scene of sixteenth-century Ireland." Kate O'Brien
+ — Spec 170:202 F 26 '43 950w

"Mr. O'Faolain makes no pretensions to give anything but a popular account of O'Neill's life and times. But his pages show evidence of wide reading, a desire to be fair to all, a resolution not to seek to read the present into the past, and a sustained effort to penetrate beneath the surface to root causes. It should be noted that he takes a much more favourable view of Tyrone's character than does so careful an authority as Dunlop. But the book may be commended to the historian for its breadth and freshness of view, and to the general reader for the brilliance of the writing which is but imperfectly illustrated by the passages quoted above."
+ Times [London] Lit Sup p90 F 20 '43 2750w

O'FARACHAIN, ROIBEARD. See Farren, R.

OFFORD, CARL RUTHVEN. White face. 317p $2.75 McBride
43-8249

This is the story of Chris Woods and his wife Nella, Negro share-croppers who leave their Georgia home to seek freedom and a better way of life in Harlem. But Harlem has its own evils and Chris, pursued by southern justice, falls into the clutches of pro-Nazi agents in the North and comes, finally, to a tragic end.

"'The White Face' is a dramatic first novel, centered in Harlem, but actually of significance to all America, here and now. . . Carl Offord has written a powerful story of one Negro's fate. It is a challenging document, enriched by a genuine understanding of all the vital issues involved." Josephine Herbst
+ Book Week p4 My 9 '43 500w

"Though bitterly realistic, the inherent propaganda is incidental to narrative, which is solidly constructed, convincingly motivated, and moves swiftly and with mounting emotional impact to tragic crisis." Ernestine Rose
+ Library J 68:363 My 1 '43 110w

"Mr. Offord's book may not be a good novel but it is a chilling account of something that is much more than a footnote to the problems confronting us on the home front." Diana Trilling
Nation 156:816 Je 5 '43 120w

"It is a sordid story that Mr. Offord relates—one of abject poverty, petty racketeering and wanton violence—a dreary story of the social and political underworld of Harlem in conflict with progressive elements in the community which, by comparison, seem puny and ineffective. 'The White Face' endeavors to depict this conflict and to dramatize the impact of urbanization upon a rural Southern Negro couple. But somehow the novel doesn't quite come off. The situations seem strained and the characters unreal." H. L. Moon
New Repub 108:741 My 31 '43 600w

"Offord tells his dramatic tale of racial confusion and violence with deep understanding of the working of a fear-crazed mind. Except for the fact of his turning against Nella upon Manny's orders, Chris is an excellent portrayal of a bewildered Negro pushed by superior forces to the extremes of savagery. Offord is less successful with his minor characters.

OFFORD, C. R.—Continued
Why Manny should find Chris so necessary to his plans is never clearly defined. But in spite of its weaknesses, Offord's story in its exploration of racial psychology, with its serious national implications, makes a profound impression." Rose Feld
+ — N Y Times p12 My 23 '43 600w
Springf'd Republican p7e Je 6 '43 700w

"Even if one concedes that Mr. Offord's bitterness had led to touches of exaggeration, this story of life in Harlem, showing how injustice and ignorance have been exploited by the forces of Fascism, is close enough to the grim truth to leave one depressed and shaken." Lisle Bell
+ Weekly Book Review p12 My 16 '43 850w

OFFORD, MRS LENORE (GLEN). Skeleton key. 279p $2 Duell
43-10069

Detective story.

"The writing is more than just competent, mood is brilliantly handled and where suspense is lacking the interactions of the Grettry householders make absorbing reading." Elizabeth Bullock
+ Book Week p7 Jl 4 '43 110w
Booklist 40:15 S '43
Reviewed by Isaac Anderson
N Y Times p8 Jl 4 '43 140w

"Neat and businesslike mystery, written with humor."
+ New Yorker 19:72 Je 26 '43 70w

"This is a fairly soft-boiled baffler, with a timely plot, probably fine for the ladies." Will Cuppy
Weekly Book Review p18 Je 27 '43 250w

O'GARA, GORDON CARPENTER. Theodore Roosevelt and the rise of the modern navy. 138p $1.50 Princeton univ. press
973.911 Roosevelt, Theodore. U.S.—Navy—History A43-1236

"[This work] is the summation of Roosevelt's influence on the emergence of our modern Navy; it describes certain technical reforms brought about by persistent criticism, farsighted statesmanship, and conditions abroad; it sets forth the foundation of American naval policy; and, finally, it is in a sense a study in public administration. In a simple account of the development of the United States Navy from 1901 to 1909, the following and related problems are discussed: the Navy Department, navy yards and bases, naval construction, fleet organization and distribution, and naval personnel. These problems, the pros and cons of proposed solutions, the difficulties besetting reform, the successes and failures of the Roosevelt administration, are skillfully handled." Am Pol Sci R

"Omitting unnecessary detail and clearly written, the study takes the reader through these ten vital years of naval history without ever losing him in technicalities, though such subjects, as gunnery, ammunition hoists, auxiliaries, waterline armor belts, and load displacement are treated adequately. The picture always remains large and clear." R. C. Snyder
+ Am Pol Sci R 37:549 Je '43 450w
Reviewed by L. P. Lovette
Ann Am Acad 229:208 S '43 340w

"While this volume contains little new material, it is nevertheless a well-written study of an important period in our naval history."
Nation 157:332 S 18 '43 250w

OGBURN, WILLIAM FIELDING, ed. American society in wartime. 237p $2.50 Univ. of Chicago press
308.2 U.S.—Social conditions. World war, 1939—U.S. A43-3092

"The early impact of the war upon American culture as it was observed by sociologists during 1942 is the subject of these lectures by members of the faculty of the University of Chicago." (Booklist) Partial contents: Population, by W. F. Ogburn; The urban community, by Louis Wirth; Social science and the soldier, by S. A. Stouffer; The Japanese-Americans, by Robert Redfield; Racial ideologies, by R. E. Park; Crime, by E. H. Sutherland. Index.

"In spite of certain shortcomings this book is useful and timely. Prof. Park's discussion of racial ideologies is fresh and stimulating, indeed. Prof. Blumer's discussion of morale and the factors that go to make up and impair morale contains some very acute analysis. Prof. Redfield's discussion of Japanese-Americans will serve to bring light to a subject which has been obscured too much by bitter prejudice. It is, as Prof. Redfield puts it, 'a crucial case for the testing of the fairness and justice implied in the American ideal.'" A. D. Winspear
+ — Book Week p20 N 14 '43 700w
Booklist 40:88 N 15 '43
Christian Century 61:81 Ja 19 '44 300w
Reviewed by A. L. Hall-Quest
+ N Y Times p10 D 26 '43 650w
Reviewed by J. C. Colcord
Survey 80:29 Ja '44 550w

O'HARA, MARY, pseud. See Sture-Vasa, M. A.

O'HARE, EUGENE. Handbook for home mechanics. (New home lib) 335p il 69c Garden City pub. co.
643.7 Repairing 43-51214

"A first-aid and repair book for household equipment. It covers plumbing, gas, electricity, air conditioning, kitchen and laundry appliances, and in a final chapter, the family car. A chapter on the use and care of basic tools is included." N Y New Tech Bks

N Y New Tech Bks 28:50 Jl '43

"Written in simple everyday language and generously supplied with how-to-do it illustrations, it's a lot for the money and should be of real help in keeping the home fires burning and under control."
+ Springf'd Republican p7e S 26 '43 90w
Reviewed by James Stokley
Weekly Book Review p12 S 5 '43 130w

OLSEN, ALLEN LESLIE, and GREENE, JOHN WILLARD. Laboratory manual of explosive chemistry. 106p $1.75 Wiley
662.2 Explosives 43-16248

"Distinctly intended as a text for a laboratory course under competent instruction, the 'Laboratory Manual of Explosive Chemistry' describes many experiments, such as the preparation of TNT. It will aid in training the many chemists who may be needed in the explosives industry, especially when accompanied by a more complete work." (Weekly Book Review) Index.

Library J 68:670 S 1 '43 20w
Reviewed by James Stokley
Weekly Book Review p6 D 26 '43 100w

OLSEN, DOLORES BIRK, pseud. See Hitchens, D. B.

OLSON, HARRY FERDINAND. Dynamical analogies. 196p $2.75 Van Nostrand
531.3 Mechanics—Electric analogies. Electric circuits—Mechanical analogies 43-7503

"A treatment for engineers, of analogies between electrical systems as the most commonly understood kind of vibrating system and mechanical rectilineal, mechanical rotational, and acoustical systems. The author is Acoustical Research Director of the RCA Laboratories." (N Y New Tech Bks) Index.

Library J 68:575 Jl '43 40w
N Y New Tech Bks 28:30 Ap '43

"Since only the analogies are treated, and not the complete electrical or mechanical equivalent circuits, the concept of electromechanical coupling factor is not specifically introduced. This being the case, the awkwardness of the 'direct' form of analogy in cases of electromagnetic, electrodynamic, and magnetostrictive coupling is not apparent. It is to be regretted that the scope of the book was not enlarged to include such complete equivalent circuits, and also a treatment of the 'inverse' or 'electromagnetic' form of analogy." Hugo Schuck

R of Scientific Instruments 14:309 O '43 360w

OLSON, JAMES C. J. Sterling Morton. 451p il $3.50 Univ. of Neb.

B or 92 Morton, Julius Sterling 42-22815

The subject of this biography was born (1832) in New York state, and reared in Michigan, but in early manhood he migrated to Nebraska where he became a farmer, journalist and politician. In 1893 he entered President Cleveland's cabinet as Secretary of Agriculture.

Reviewed by J. B. Moore
Am Hist R 48:601 Ap '43 550w

"Students of Nebraska politics will find here much detail to interest them, but students of national affairs will wish for more, particularly about Nebraska's relation to the silver movement. Mr. Olson does not often divert his pen from the chronicle of Morton's personal experiences to detail his relations with leaders of national renown. This may be due to lack of space, time, resources or materials. At any rate, as an outstanding (but not as a favorite) son of Nebraska, Morton has had the advantage of an interesting portrait drawn by a promising young historical artist." J. P. Nichols

+ Pol Sci Q 58:156 Mr '43 460w

OLSON, PAUL R., and HICKMAN, CHARLES ADDISON. Pan American economics. 479p maps $4.50 Wiley

330.98 Latin America—Economic conditions. Latin America—Commerce 43-17402

"The purpose of this book is to explore the economic life of Latin America, especially as the economic structures of this vast area are outwardly oriented. In order to study the economies of the various countries, it is essential that a host of nominally domestic matters should be analyzed. Latin American economic activity cannot be understood without description and analysis of population, capital supply, resources, transportation facilities, and similar matters. Yet these aspects of Latin American economic life are of primary concern to the rest of the world only in so far as they have international economic relationships. Indeed, one of the outstanding characteristics of Latin America is the degree to which it is economically intermeshed with the rest of the world. This book focuses attention primarily upon the international aspects of the Latin American economy." (Pref) Bibliography. Index.

"Factual and well balanced study. . . Perhaps a regional analysis would have given the reader a clearer and less massive picture of the many diverse problems. The work is, nevertheless, a useful contribution to the study of Pan American economics."

+ — New Repub 110:61 Ja 10 '44 150w

"The authors frankly prefer not to stick their necks out in predicting what the future will bring, except to assume that it will be something new and somewhere between 19th century trade freedom and the 'economic self-sufficiency' whiched marked and marred the years between the two world wars. Readers will turn to this book primarily for information, not prophecy."

+ Springf'd Republican p8 D 29 '43 500w

OLSSON, CARL. From hell to breakfast. 143p $2.50 Macmillan [7s 6d Allen, G]

940.548142 World war, 1939—Personal narratives, English 43-17299

" 'I am a reporter,' declares Mr. Olsson. In this book he reports what he was told by R.A.F. and naval officers about such episodes as the 1,000 aircraft raid on Cologne, the wrecking of the dock-gates at St. Nazaire, the work of the Weather Willies (airmen who gather and bring back reports of weather conditions from the Atlantic and over enemy countries), the sinking of H.M.S. Dorsetshire, adventures of a night 'Intruder,' and the continual ferrying of planes from Canada and the United States to this country." Times [London] Lit Sup

Reviewed by H. L. Reich
+ Book Week p20 D 5 '43 450w

Booklist 40:181 Ja 15 '44

Reviewed by J. E. Cross
Library J 68:844 O 15 '43 70w

Reviewed by A. B. Tourtellot
N Y Times p9 D 26 '43 400w

Springf'd Republican p6 Ja 31 '44 380w

Times [London] Lit Sup p431 S 4 '43 210w

"Most of the narrators remain anonymous, and some aspects of their work cannot be discussed for security reasons. But there is a great deal they can tell, and they tell it modestly, with humor and a sense of the dramatic. Numerous illustrations—such as before-and-after photographs of St. Nazaire harbor—underline their feats. Like 'Combined Operations' this book was written primarily for a British audience, but any one who desires an acquaintanceship with some of the lesser known men of valor of this war will do well to read it." Herbert Kupferberg

+ Weekly Book Review p3 D 5 '43 1000w

O'MALLEY, PATRICIA. War wings for Carol. 279p $2 Dodd

43-9190

Another in the series of books for older girls, describing the adventures of Carol Rogers. On the eve of her marriage to Major Grant Lowrie, came the news that he had been sent on a secret mission. Carol bravely took a position with New England airlines, and found herself stationed at a northern field on the ferry route to England. There she proved a valuable aid to the vice president, especially in the matter of catching a spy.

"I believe that boys as well as girls will find the book interesting, since it deals with aviation. However, even though the book was entertaining, it might have been more so if there had been a more definitely defined plot." Gwendolyn White

+ — Book Week p6 Jl 25 '43 130w

Booklist 39:468 Jl 15 '43

"Light novels about girls who work for air lines, military or civilian, seem to grade a bit higher in quality than the general run of romances with a war background. This one is no exception and belongs in the top row of its class." C. D.

+ N Y Times p10 Jl 4 '43 300w

"A well sustained, lifelike and usefully timely story of war-time." M. L. Becker

+ Weekly Book Review p8 Je 20 '43 380w

Wis Lib Bul 39:148 N '43

OMAN, CHARLES MALDEN. Doctors aweigh; the story of the United States navy medical corps in action. 231p il $2.50 Doubleday

359.34 U.S.—Navy—Medical corps

43-11666

Informal anecdotal account of the work of the Navy medical corps in war and peace. While many of the stories related concern deeds done in World War II, others cover the author's years of service from the early twentieth century to the present, afloat and ashore, in China, Haiti, the South seas, France and the Mediterranean.

OMAN, C. M.—Continued

Reviewed by Christopher Hall
Book Week p7 Ag 15 '43 320w
Booklist 40:3 S '43
Cleveland Open Shelf p14 Ag '43
Reviewed by E. S. Brown
Library J 68:571 Jl '43 80w
Reviewed by Marcus Duffield
Nation 157:160 Ag 7 '43 210w

"Admiral Oman tells a story of naval medicine and surgery that, besides being timely, is of great intrinsic interest." E. F. Allen
+ N Y Times p17 Ag 8 '43 430w

"Soundly and interestingly written, though the broad range of the subject makes the book hardly more than a full summary."
+ New Yorker 19:62 Jl 10 '43 90w
Scientific Bk Club R 14:3 Jl '43 300w

"Admiral Oman is a smart enough storyteller to include a generous portion of humorous incidents that marked the development of the medical corps." M. R. B.
+ Springf'd Republican p6 Ag 5 '43 340w

"To all who have sons or loved ones at sea, 'Doctors Aweigh' is a profound blessing. Its author is an admiral who is more interested in sailors than in ships or victories, a doctor more concerned with his patients than with disease or medical theory. It is a simple, reassuring story of life and lifesaving at sea and ashore. Yet it glows with high adventure and pride in the Navy. If its humor is often corny rather than salty, it is because Admiral Oman was consciously writing for the landlubber friends and relatives of his boys." Gerald Wendt
+ Weekly Book Review p10 Jl 18 '43 800w

O'NEIL, KERRY, pseud. Ninth floor: Middle City tower; a Jerry Mooney story. 220p $2 Farrar
43-10684

Detective story.

"The story is just barely so-so." Isaac Anderson
N Y Times p8 S 19 '43 80w

"A lively mystery about jewel robberies and murder, not very well written, but more fun to read than many more pretentious stories."
New Yorker 19:96 S 18 '43 50w

"Forthright tale of Quaker City skulduggery with some well-portrayed sub-world characters and a Quixotic sleuth. Fair."
Sat R of Lit 26:21 S 25 '43 30w
Reviewed by Will Cuppy
Weekly Book Review p28 O 31 '43 130w

OPERATION of aircraft engines; pub. under the supervision of the Training division, Bur. of aeronautics, U.S. navy. (Flight preparation training ser.) 206p il 90c McGraw

629.13435 Airplane engines 43-4166

"An elementary work for the aviation cadet covering engines of lower power. Designed to acquaint the potential pilot with an understanding of the functioning of motors rather than to instruct him in overhauling an engine." (N Y New Tech Bks) No index.

N Y New Tech Bks 28:4 Ja '43

"Intended as an aviation cadet's introduction to aircraft engines, it is necessarily elementary in scope and deals 'in general' with engines of lower power, since they are the ones that the student will encounter first." James Stokley
Weekly Book Review p17 Je 13 '43 550w

OPPENHEIM, EDWARD PHILLIPS. Mr Mirakel. 279p $2 Little [8s 6d Hodder]
43-14882

After nine years of war the mysterious Mr Mirakel comes to London, gathers up a few choice spirits, and transports them to a fabulous land where he is all-powerful. What happens there makes up a mystery story in the old Oppenheim tradition.

Reviewed by Elizabeth Bullock
— Book Week p23 N 14 '43 100w

"A haphazard piece of work, which even Oppenheim fans may admit isn't quite up to par."
New Yorker 19:96 O 23 '43 50w

"Good Oppenheim and pleasant diversion for an empty evening."
+ Time 42:104 N 1 '43 40w
Times [London] Lit Sup p377 Ag 7 '43 50w

"Call it mystery, intrigue, philosophical fantasy, war fiction or what you will, 'Mr. Mirakel' is surely one of the master's major works—and don't blame us if you disapprove of some of the central character's eccentricities." Will Cuppy
+ Weekly Book Review p24 O 17 '43 450w

OPPENHEIMER-BLUHM, HILDE. Standard of living of German labor under Nazi rule; research project on social and economic controls in Germany and Russia. 71p pa 50c New school for social research, Graduate faculty of political & social science, 66 W. 12th st, N.Y.

331.8 Cost and standard of living—Germany. Labor and laboring classes—Germany
43-7375

"[This] is the latest of the research projects on social and economic controls in Germany and Russia organized under the Graduate Faculty of Political Science of the New School for Social Research of New York. This study undertakes to show that on the basis of available German official statistical data—adjusted, however, at times by the author to evaluate war-time trends up to 1942—the standard of living of German labor as determined by a measurable supply of goods and services had deteriorated markedly in 1939 when compared with the standard prevailing in 1929. This conclusion is reached by a factual analysis of labor's money income, of the efforts required of labor to gain its reward, and of the real income of labor in the selected years." Am Pol Sci R

Reviewed by George Manner
Am Pol Sci R 37:752 Ag '43 230w
Reviewed by John Lindberg
Ann Am Acad 229:192 S '43 550w

ORBISON, MRS KATHERINE BARNARD (TUCKER). Handbook for nurse's aides; with an introd. by Rufus Cole; and a foreword by George Baehr; line drawings by Winifred Pleninger. 196p $2 Devin-Adair

610.73 Nurses and nursing 43-9912

Explains the duties of the nurse's aide fully and with many diagrams. Even includes some routines not given in the regular training course. Bibliography. Index.

Booklist 40:6 S '43
Cleveland Open Shelf p14 Ag '43
Commonweal 38:376 Jl 30 '43 20w
Library J 68:575 Jl '43 40w

" 'A Handbook for Nurse's Aides' [explains] exactly what the nurse's aide must know and do. . . Glancing through the book, any heretofore squeamish woman will realize that she has been making a mountain out of a molehill, and promptly hie herself to the nearest nurse's aide recruiting office." E. R. Valentine
+ N Y Times p4 Jl 4 '43 550w

"Nothing like this has been offered to nurse's aides, and nothing has been so sharply needed by them in these days when war shortages create so urgent a demand for nursing services and so many women, willing and eager to give more of their time than now they do, find themselves not equipped to use it. To those who would help our understaffed hospitals and health organization . . . now comes a manual whose lucidity and practicality deserve high praise. The author is a professionally trained public-health nurse who has held important offices in this field and since war began has trained many classes of nurse's aides."

+ Weekly Book Review p14 Je 20 '43 500w

ORFIELD, LESTER BERNHARDT. Amending of the federal Constitution; foreword by Henry M. Bates. 242p $3 Univ. of Mich; Callaghan

342.73 U.S. Constitution—Amendments. U.S. —Constitutional law 42-36735

"This volume, composed for the most part of articles that have appeared in recent law reviews, approaches the amending power from three different points of view; constitutional law, jurisprudence and legal philosophy, and political science and legislation. Under the first head appear the inevitable chapters on 'The Genesis of Article Five,' 'Judicial Review of Validity of Amendments,' and a chapter, devoted to an analysis of judicial and authoritative opinions, on 'The Procedure for Amending the Federal Constitution.' The approach via jurisprudence is confined to two chapters—'The Scope of the Federal Amending Power,' wherein are treated questions of express and implied limitations, and 'Sovereignty and the Federal Amending Clause.' The book closes with a chapter devoted to a discussion of proposed reforms in the procedures of amendment." Harvard Law R

"The strength of the work lies in its thorough, scholarly, and exhaustive investigation of court opinions dealing with Article V, and in its systematic approach to all important legal aspects of the amending power. Its almost exclusively legal approach, and its devotion of many pages to what will seem to many as legal minutiae, will restrict the breadth of its appeal and the scope and depth of its impact." V. M. Barnett, Jr.

+ Am Pol Sci R 36:1156 D '42 950w

"The topics covered are well organized, considering that they are largely reprints of law review articles. There are a few cases in which the materials have not been brought up to date, and the reader becomes somewhat impatient at the recapitulation of the efforts of Sherman and Gerry and others in the Constitutional Convention to secure the expression of their views in the Constitution. As a legalistic treatment of materials already well covered, it is complete and well done. As a contribution of importance to the literature of constitutional law and its concomitant, politics, it falls short of the mark." F. H. Sherwood

+ — Harvard Law R 56:324 O '42 800w

O'ROURKE, VERNON ALFRED, and CAMPBELL, DOUGLAS WHITNEY. Constitution-making in a democracy; theory and practice in New York state. 286p maps $2.75 Johns Hopkins press [16s 6d Oxford]

342.7472 New York (state). Constitution. Constitutional conventions 43-8842

"This is a study of the New York State constitutional convention of 1938, in which the authors view the convention as an integral part of the American processes of self-government. Their thesis is that constitution-making cannot (and should not) be divorced from the social complexities and the political scene out of which the demands for change arise. The constitutional convention, they maintain, is an instrument of popular or group control, blessed by all the virtues and plagued by all the shortcomings of the ordinary state legislature." Am Pol Sci R

"The book bears all the earmarks of careful investigation and accurate reporting. It provides interesting as well as profitable reading and should appeal to readers beyond the circle of professional political scientists. It should provide, also, an inspiration for further study. The authors do not exploit all possibilities. The chapter 'Pressure Politics at the Convention' might well be expanded to monograph length." H. M. Dorr

+ Am Pol Sci R 37:726 Ag '43 750w

"Splendid study. . . The final achievement of the volume is competently to practice the doctrine which the authors preach, namely, the sound doctrine that the theory of the good life and the technique of collective accommodation must not be separated at the beginning if they are to be united in the middle or at the end." T. V. Smith

+ Harvard Law R 56:1352 Jl '43 1000w

ORR, GERTRUDE. Here come the elephants. 208p il $2.50 Caxton printers

599.61 Elephants 43-10190

Story of the elephant thruout its history, with special attention given to two circus elephants, Snyder and Princess Alice. Four offspring born in captivity to Snyder and the Princess all died in infancy, despite all the efforts of doctors and scientists to keep them alive. The story of this faithful pair runs thru the whole study. For children twelve or over.

"Recommended by Barnum Brown, Sc.D., Curator of Fossil Reptiles, American Museum of Natural History, who has written the foreword, not a 'must' but certainly a worthy book for any library." A. E. Brown

+ Library J 68:628 Ag '43 100w

"The turbulent family life of Snyder and the Princess Alice, foredoomed to tragedy in unnatural surroundings, crops up at intervals all through the book, its dispersal becoming at times somewhat exasperating. However there are a lot of interesting facts to be gathered in the interrupting intervals, including one more thing that Kipling was right about. The elephant's child really has a mere smear nose." Robert Peck

Weekly Book Review p9 Jl 4 '43 600w

ORTON, MRS HELEN (FULLER). Mystery at the old place; drawings by Sandra James. 112p $1.50 Stokes

43-14780

Mystery story for boys and girls.

"Boys and girls constantly ask us for good mystery stories. 'Mystery at the Old Place' is one we can recommend for them." F. B. Sloan

+ Christian Science Monitor p6 O 25 '43 110w

"Recommended for libraries needing more reading for the transition age, grades from three to five." S. J. Johnson

+ Library J 68:1052 D 15 '43 30w

"Book has attractive format but story lacks vigor. It is a bit old-fashioned for modern mystery fans, even for fourth-grade readers, for whom the book is intended. . . Not quite good enough to recommend." J. E. Wooster

Library J 68:1052 D 15 '43 40w

OSBORN, CHASE SALMON, and OSBORN, STELLA BRUNT. Schoolcraft, Longfellow, Hiawatha. 697p maps $5 Cattell

811 Schoolcraft, Henry Rowe. Longfellow, Henry Wadsworth—Song of Hiawatha

43-2824

"A fascinating story of one of the important sources of American literature and history: the background of Longfellow's famous epic poem, Hiawatha. The volume is divided into four parts: A complete edition of Hiawatha paralleled by the Algic Researches of Schoolcraft on which it was based; a vindication of Longfellow regarding a charge of plagiarism of the Finnish Kalevala; the first biography of Henry Rowe Schoolcraft; a description of Hiawatha's people." School & Society

---

Reviewed by R. H. Brown

Geog R 33:512 Jl '43 330w

Reviewed by D. W. Brogan

Manchester Guardian p3 My 5 '43 250w

OSBORN, C. S.—Continued
"This badly organized and discursive book will have to be resorted to by scholars until it is displaced by a definitive biography [of Schoolcraft]. It is useful to have printed successively passages from 'Hiawatha' and from the several works of Schoolcraft which the poet probably employed. A section of Addenda gives the text of forty-eight MS. letters from and to Schoolcraft in the Public Library of Sault Ste. Marie. And the bibliography is much more complete than in the Dictionary of American Biography." Oscar Cargill
— + N Y Times p31 Ap 4 '43 850w
School & Society 57:168 F 6 '43 80w

OSBORN, GEORGE COLEMAN. John Sharp Williams; planter-statesman of the deep South. (Southern biography ser) 501p il $4 La. state univ. press

B or 92 Williams, John Sharp 43-9760

"John Sharp Williams was a Southern gentleman, a planter, a scholar, and a Senator of the United States from Mississippi. He read widely; talked well; debated superbly; hated hypocrites. . . Whatever his vices or virtues, [he] was an ornament of the human race; preëminently a gentleman." (Sat R of Lit) This biography of him is by a native Mississippian, now head of the social science department of Berry college, Georgia. Index.

Reviewed by R. F. Nichols
Ann Am Acad 229:210 S '43 400w

"In 'John Sharp Williams,' George Coleman Osborn tells the story of this Deep South statesman. It is the biography of the kind of man whose like is passing from the Southern scene; of the well-born Southerner deeply animated by noblesse oblige; a man of intellect but, far more important, a man of character. The tale is well told and is worth the telling. It might have been much better had the author painted the Mississippi background against which John Sharp Williams moved." D. L. Cohn
+ Sat R of Lit 26:34 Je 5 '43 470w

"A well-written and informative biography." Cyril Clemens
+ Springf'd Republican p6 Je 14 '43 550w

"In discussions of such ponderous topics as currency, the tariff and trusts, the author sometimes permits the reader to lose sight of the sparkle and the graciousness that so endeared the Senator to his colleagues and constituents. But in the concluding chapters delightful glimpses are given of the humor, the wisdom, the mellowness and the consummate lovableness that were his shining adornments." B. I. Wiley
+ Weekly Book Review p9 S 5 '43 1200w

OSBOURNE, ALAN, and others, eds. Modern marine engineer's manual. 2v 1696;1190p il v 1 $6; v2 $4 Cornell maritime

621.12 Marine engineering 41-25250

"The first volume, which appeared in 1941, deals with mathematics, safety, engineering materials, combustion, boilers, reciprocating engines and turbines, lubrication and the like. Volume II has appeared much more recently, its contents including such items as Diesel engines, refrigeration and heating, ventilation, deck machinery, electricity, instruments, and an appendix containing some useful tables." Books

Library J 68:290 Ap 1 '43 20w (Review of v 2)
N Y New Tech Bks 27:9 Ja '42 (Review of v 1)
N Y New Tech Bks 28:29 Ap '43

"The information gathered here should be especially welcome to newly qualified marine engineers." James Stokley
+ Weekly Book Review p25 My 23 '43 150w

OSGOOD, HARIETT ELLEN (KEENEY) (MRS C. B. OSGOOD). Pam Pam; pictures by Lilian Neuner. [39p] $1 Oxford

43-2936

Picture story book of three-year old Pam and how she grew—how she ran and jumped and played, and how once she ran away. And then at last Pam was four years old—her legs were longer and her pinafores were shorter—and she was allowed to go to the store by herself.

"Story for nursery and preschool that will appeal to its audience because Pam Pam does the very things interesting to children of that age." Gertrude Andrus
+ Library J 68:531 Je 15 '43 70w

"Designed for nursery school use and is not a library purchase. Not recommended." M. N. Miller
Library J 68:531 Je 15 '43 40w

"Nothing could be simpler than this lively little book. . . But even if we all do it, growing from three to four is a feat of which each of us was proud at the time." M. L. Becker
+ Weekly Book Review p10 Mr 28 '43 150w

O'SHAUGHNESSY, MICHAEL JAMES. Peace and reconstruction; a Catholic layman's approach. 151p $2 Harper

940.5314473 Reconstruction (1939-). World war, 1939—Peace. Sociology, Christian

43-13422

"Well-known business man, organizer of Catholic League for Social Justice and editor of its Bulletin, analyzes spiritual, social, and economic flaws in capitalism and proposes 'brave new world,' based on social encyclicals of Pius XI and Leo XIII and modeled on a Christian democracy in the United States. Extensive quotations make it a handy summary of activities of past decade and present plans toward peace." (Library J) Index.

Reviewed by J. C. Cort
Commonweal 38:614 O 8 '43 650w

Reviewed by R. J. Hurley
Library J 68:623 Ag '43 90w

"The book is a forthright introduction to the Catholic social philosophy, and will be read by many with interest and some surprise." G. N. Shuster
+ Sat R of Lit 26:25 O 2 '43 450w

"Mr O'Shaughnessy has stated the political economy of an important element in modern Roman Catholicism fairly accurately and clearly. The experienced political and economic student will, however, ask many questions if he reads the book. The author's grasp of the contemporary economic situation is not very complete, even if his loyalty to church doctrine is unquestioned. He does not seem to be aware of the significance of living in an industrial age, and therefore his discussion of the solution of the unemployment problem seems superficial. He has a much too naive confidence in the united nations leadership's capacity to handle the complex international political and economic problems of the war." C. D. Kean
+ — Springf'd Republican p8 S 22 '43 550w

OSTENSO, MARTHA. O river, remember! 393p $2.50 Dodd

43-14368

Saga of two Minnesota pioneer families, from the 1870's to the present—the Norwegian Vinges or Wings, and the Irish Shaleens. Ivar Vinge was the dreamer type, but his beautiful wife, Magdali, was the strong, domineering kind. The Shaleens were all poor in worldly goods, but rich in charm and spirit. Thruout the years, Wings and Shaleens were drawn to one another, only to have their love thwarted by Magdali, until, after her death, her grandson married a Shaleen.

"Martha Ostenso has written a strong and absorbing story, which, however, is often lacking in finished artistry. She handles the smooth and vicious Magdali with more facility than she does such sensitive characters as Kate, Rose and David Shaleen, or Olina Wing. This is, however, the best novel Martha Ostenso has written since 'Wild Geese.'" Sterling North
+ — Book Week p2 O 3 '43 320w
Booklist 40:60 O 15 '43

"In this novel, as in others, Miss Ostenso proves that she is at her best when she writes about the land and those who really love it. Her conversations, too, are unerring, real in word and feeling. But when she comes to the 'love interest' she admits a touch of melodrama, which makes engrossing reading, but does not spring inevitably from her characters or her scenes." W. K. R.
+ — Christian Science Monitor p10 N 20 '43 700w

"This is a rich and suggestive book, but it is curiously uneven. The basic idea of defining certain enduring conflicts in American social history in terms of the personal relations of two pioneer families is a very good one. It gives the author a chance to do some vivid, though not entirely original, work on the pioneer past, and it enables her to define, again in not entirely original but still lively terms, the old conflict between the acquisitive and creative strains in our national make-up. I'm not sure, however, that the book as a whole does not suffer both from its effort to hook on to the present world-wide conflict and its very casual emphasis on the social pattern." H. C. White
+ — Commonweal 39:332 Ja 14 '44 290w

"Not good, not bad—but will draw the usual Ostenso readers." E. H. Crowell
Library J 68:725 S 15 '43 50w

Reviewed by Margaret Wallace
N Y Times p18 S 26 '43 320w

"Another of Miss Ostenso's competent, uninspired novels. . . This one is told all higgledy-piggledy, the action of the story shuttles back and forth between the present and the pioneer days of the eighteen-seventies. The author brings to light plenty of greed and selfishness among our idealized pioneers."
New Yorker 19:80 S 25 '43 50w

"There is more economy than in the author's previous books, less melodrama, a bit more humor; the passages of pure description are more than tolerable; and the author's historical sense is, as usual, unerring." R. A. Cordell
+ Sat R of Lit 26:8 N 13 '43 550w

Reviewed by Edrie Van Dore
Springf'd Republican p7e O 10 '43 460w

"The long view, which makes for good history and good philosophy, does not always make for good novels. It is likely to set the reader wondering what is the matter with his opera glasses, that the scenery and the actors seem so little and so far away. The interesting people and moving incidents of 'O River, Remember!' suffer this diminution, it seems to this reviewer, because Miss Ostenso treats them as colored bits in a cyclorama. . . One common pitfall of the historical novel Miss Ostenso has notably avoided. Her characters are all her own creations, and never once does she have to drag in a real personage out of history to brace up a sagging plot." Virginia Swain
+ — Weekly Book Review p8 S 26 '43 900w
Wis Lib Bul 39:160 D '43

O'SULLIVAN, JEREMIAH F., and BURNS, JOHN FRANCIS. Medieval Europe. 770p il maps $4 Crofts

940.1 Europe—History. Middle ages—History. Civilization, Medieval 43-1771

"This book has developed out of the long classroom experience of the authors and their frequent conferences and discussions with teachers and students. It represents in part their response to the need they have felt for a clear, simply written outline of factors and events in the medieval period that have in great measure determined our present way of life. In addition, it tries to give a fuller treatment of cultural history than is ordinarily available for this period, and it emphasizes particularly the basic economic factors that affected feudal society and the development of institutions carried over into later times. The treatment is predominantly topical. Chronology, which on occasion presents serious problems, conforms in general with that in the Cambridge Medieval History and in the leading authorities listed at the close of each chapter." (Pref) Bibliography. Index.

"Interesting and useful textbook." Albert Hyma
+ Am Hist R 49:142 O '43 300w
Social Studies 34:191 Ap '43 40w

OTTEMILLER, JOHN HENRY. Index to plays in collections. 130p $2.50 Wilson, H.W.

016.8082 Drama—Dictionaries, indexes, etc. 43-11700

"This index to plays is limited to collections published in England or the United States between 1900 and 1942. It is compiled by the head of the circulation department of Brown University. There are 329 collections analyzed and the compiler anticipates issuing supplements to keep the index up to date. The book is arranged in three parts: (1) List of collections analyzed and key to symbols, (2) Author index, and (3) Title index. As the title indicates, it includes only plays in collections and only in collections published between 1900 and 1942; it does not include separately published plays. Nor are the plays included limited to any one period; it covers all periods from the ancient Greek to modern American." Library J

Booklist 40:39 O 1 '43

"Since this list includes all collections published since 1900, it will serve as an excellent buying guide for libraries wishing to build up drama collections. There is also a list of other play indexes. As George Freedley, Curator of the Theatre Collection of The New York Public Library, says in the preface, 'Any bibliography which will make the librarian's task of tracking down plays easier is worth publishing. When the compilation is made with the care and thoroughness displayed in this one, then the volume is an indispensable item for the reference shelf. . . More power to the compiler, and may his work be made rapidly available to every librarian.'" S. A. Wetherbee
+ Library J 68:889 N 1 '43 350w
Wis Lib Bul 39:157 D '43

OTTLEY, ROI. New world a-coming; inside black America. 364p $3 Houghton

325.26 Negroes—New York (city). Harlem, New York (city) 43-11506

A Negro newspaperman has written this account of what American Negroes are doing and thinking in these war times, how they are living in Harlem and other places, what are the sources of racial bitterness and what is being done by both Negro and white leaders to give Negroes a real share in democracy. Bibliography. Index.

Atlantic 172:129 O '43 150w

"Roi Ottley's anatomy of Harlem, the Negro capital of America, will probably be referred to as a dispassionate account. The epithet will be correctly applied, but will be misleading. It is true he doesn't rant, nor give way to a pitiful recital of the woes and wrongs of his race. But there is no cool detachment here; Ottley presents a tragic and stormy picture with that extra accuracy that deep understanding and intense feeling give a trained, observant reporter." A. C. Spectorsky
+ Book Week p1 Ag 15 '43 1400w
Booklist 40:3 S '43

Reviewed by L. M. Lyons
Boston Globe p17 Ag 11 '43 400w
Cath World 158:112 O '43 230w
Christian Science Monitor p12 Ag 20 '43 1000w
Cleveland Open Shelf p13 Ag '43

OTTLEY, ROI—Continued

"It is an excellent book. You could do much worse than read this book first off if you wish to acquaint yourself with the principal elements in America's greatest social problem—racial tension. The only fair criticism of 'New World A-Coming' would seem to be on the negative rather than the positive side. What it says and what it covers it says well and it covers adequately; it omits considering some things altogether. . . A word also needs saying about his style. It is high grade journalese. Which means that it is palatable in relatively short doses, but becomes very monotonous and mechanical if you try to read his 350 pages straight through. But don't let this discourage you."

+ — Commonweal 38:542 S 17 '43 550w

"Predict lasting value. Recommended without reservation for generous purchase by all libraries." D. R. Homer

+ Library J 68:623 Ag '43 110w

"In depicting the color and rhythm of Harlem, Roi Ottley is at his best. It is an area in which, as a native son, he is completely at home. He knows its dives and night clubs, as well as its business enterprises, its churches and uplift organizations. He knows the people, the leaders as well as the masses, their temper, their foibles, and the language they speak. He knows the problems which confront them, and the deep social unrest which these problems have created. Writing about this scene with zest, vitality and bright imagery, he faithfully reflects the mood of the people, voicing their militant demand for a full share of 'democracy—cleansed and refreshed,' and expressing their faith in the ultimate realization of this demand." H. L. Moon

+ New Repub 109:342 S 6 '43 800w

"Roi Ottley has performed a distinguished service for the better world toward which some individuals are striving." Rackham Holt

+ N Y Times p3 Ag 15 '43 750w

"A fine book, searching, temperate, and wise, with a good research background, and on the whole well written."

+ New Yorker 19:71 Ag 14 '43 90w

Reviewed by A. G. Hays

Sat R of Lit 26:16 S 18 '43 950w

Scientific Bk Club R 14:3 S '43 390w

"Mr. Ottley, who was born in New York and who has spent most of his life there, is one of the ablest of the younger Negro writers. He knows the racial scene intimately, and he writes about it with honesty, subtle humor, and a faint touch of ironic detachment. One may have to disagree with his poetic premise that 'a new world is a-coming with a sweep and fury of the Resurrection,' but one must admit that he has portrayed well what the Negro thinks, how he behaves, and what he wants in that 'new world a-coming.'" G. B. Johnson

+ — Social Forces 22:235 D '43 280w

Springf'd Republican p7e Ag 15 '43 700w

Reviewed by John Becker

Survey G 32:460 N '43 420w

Theatre Arts 27:693 N '43 450w

"The fact that one is occasionally annoyed or irritated with Mr. Ottley does not detract from the importance of his interpretation of the American Negro world today. 'New World A-Coming' sounds a challenge and a warning, and it is a good thing for America to listen to a spokesman who is eloquent and fearless." Rose Feld

+ Weekly Book Review p1 Ag 15 '43 2000w

Wis Lib Bul 39:119 O '43

OTTO, HENRY JOHN., and others. Community workshops for teachers in the Michigan community health project. 303p il $2; pa $1.50 Univ. of Mich.

370.72 Michigan community health project. Teachers, Training of. Education—Michigan 43-52501

"This book describes a pioneering experiment in organizing and conducting four workshops for in-service training of teachers during the summer of 1941 by the University of Chicago and the University of Michigan, aided by the Kellogg Foundation. The workshops dealt respectively with the following problems: health education; science education; democratic citizenship and the health of children and problems in social science, library science and the language arts." Am J Pub Health

Reviewed by R. E. Grout

Am J Pub Health 33:444 Ap '43 360w

Reviewed by H. R. Becker

School & Society 57:327 Mr 20 '43 800w

OTTO, MAX CARL, and others. William James, the man and the thinker; with introds. by George C. Sellery and Clarence A. Dykstra. 147p $2 Univ. of Wis. press

B or 92 James, William 43-52550

Addresses delivered at the University of Wisconsin in celebration of the centenary of the birth of William James.

Reviewed by E. S. Amer

Christian Century 60:134 F 3 '43 400w

School & Society 57:28 Ja 2 '43 20w

OURSLER, FULTON (ANTHONY ABBOT, pseud). The shudders. 308p $2 Farrar 43-980

Detective story.

Booklist 39:321 Ap 1 '43

"Here, friends, is the slickest, most fearsome and generally goldingdest thriller you're likely to meet in a month of Sundays. It marks the return of Thatcher Colt, former Police Commissioner of New York City and if ever a comeback was a complete wow, this is it." Will Cuppy

+ Books p22 Ja 24 '43 400w

"So-So."

Boston Globe p19 Ja 27 '43 60w

Reviewed by Isaac Anderson

N Y Times p20 Ja 24 '43 240w

"Ingenious."

+ Sat R of Lit 26:20 F 6 '43 40w

OURSLER, FULTON (ANTHONY ABBOT, pseud). Three things we can believe in; a formula for peace of mind in anxious days. 62p $1 Revell

121 Belief and doubt 42-21365

Collection of brief, inspirational talks for a world at war. The three things in which we can have faith are: God; ourselves, and the American way of life.

"Very crisp, clear and brief. Reading time about 20 minutes without hurrying."

+ Christian Century 59:1089 S 9 '42 20w

"Written in the rapid and easy idiom of the trained speaker, 'Three Things We Can Believe In' carries a weight of conviction."

+ Springf'd Republican p8 Je 18 '43 60w

OVERSTREET, MRS BONARO (WILKINSON). See Wilkinson, B.

OWEN, MARY, pseud. See Bruce, M. O. C. K.

OWEN, RUTH (BRYAN) (MRS BORGE ROHDE). Look forward, warrior. 108p $1.50 Dodd

321.041 International federation. Reconstruction (1939-) (W) 42-51763

Presents a plan, and, specifically, a constitution, for a United Nations of the World, based to a large extent on the principles and forms of the United States constitution and forms of government. Author is the daughter of William Jennings Bryan and was formerly American Minister to Denmark.

"This very short volume is packed with more constructive suggestion than most blue-prints of the post-war world. . . As it stands 'Look Forward, Warrior' is a valuable contribution to the idea of world peace, written in a style to be understood by everyone." L. T. Mowrer

+ Sat R of Lit 26:31 Mr 20 '43 850w

"Mrs. Owen's book is perhaps the most simply and directly written of all the peace plans so far. . . Less persuasive in her own plan than in her exhortations to find one, Mrs. Owen has not gone far enough into the difficulties of giving the American Constitution a broader application." R. H. Rovere
Weekly Book Review p18 Mr 28 '43 200w

OWEN, WILLIAM MILLER. Spur gearing. 61p il pa 72c McKnight

621.8331 Gearing 43-7574

"This pamphlet, by the Training Supervisor of the Caterpillar Tractor Company, provides a good working knowledge of gears for any mechanic with a little understanding of mathematics and mechanical drawing. It includes chapters on: Gear tooth nomenclature; Proportion of gear teeth (formulas); Checking gears; Standard gear systems; and Problems in gear calculating." N Y New Tech Bks

---

Library J 68:575 Jl '43 20w
N Y New Tech Bks 28:44 Jl '43

OWENS, ALBERT ALEXANDER; SLINGLUFF, BEN F., and GODWIN, HAROLD E. Fundamentals of shopwork; prepared by request of the War dept. and the U.S. Office of educ. to conform with the official basic preinduction training course outline PIT 103. 152p il $1.75; text ed $1.32 Winston

621.75 Machine shop practice 43-5180

Descriptions and illustrations of shop tools and discussion of their uses. Theory is not considered since the book is prepared for young students and work in war plants. Index.

Book Week p10 My 9 '43 40w
Booklist 39:430 Je 15 '43

"Good, clear drawings."
+ Library J 68:478 Je 1 '43 10w
N Y New Tech Bks 28:45 Jl '43

"Messrs. Owens, Slingluff and Godwin have prepared a book well in the upper quadrant of training manuals. A clear text is supplemented with numerous illustrations. The suggestions to the student are practical and reflect years of experience both in the shop and in the classroom." J. M. Juran
+ N Y Times p20 Ag 15 '43 200w

P

PACH, ALFRED. Portraits of our presidents; the Pach collection. 68p $1.50 Hastings house

923.173 Presidents (U.S.)—Portraits 43-2705

"The famous Pach Collection of the Presidents of the United States is here presented for the first time in book form. The portrait of Lincoln marks the beginning of a succession of sixteen Presidents, whose likenesses are preserved in photographs. Fourteen of them were taken by Pach Brothers. To procure pictures of earlier Presidents Pach Brothers have reproduced in warm sheet-fed gravure copies of the finest portrait paintings in existence. Each photograph is preceded by a brief summary of the President's record, and a photostatic simile of his signature." (Cath World) Index.

Bookmark 4:9 Mr '43
Cath World 107:111 Ap '43 110w
Springf'd Republican p7e My 2 '43 60w

"The usefulness of such a gallery of Presidential portraits as exists in the Pach collection—whose story is told in a foreword—is apparent, and to open it to the general public through such clear reproductions is to perform a service to schools, libraries and citizens historically inclined."
+ Weekly Book Review p24 F 21 '43 150w

PADEN, MRS IRENE (DAKIN). The wake of the prairie schooner; with pen and ink drawings by the author. 514p il maps $3 Macmillan

917.8 West—Description and travel. Overland journeys to the Pacific 43-15419

"Mrs. Paden spent nine summers riding the trail from Missouri to the Pacific with her geographer husband, her scientist cousin and her son, studying it, charting it, placing it geographically. Mrs. Paden kept the field notes and as the years went on went deeper into libraries finding the journals of Forty-niners and other emigrants, the flesh-and-blood items with which to reconstruct the full story of the Homeric trail. By making her story one of personal travelings. . . Mrs. Paden has hit upon a method that gives deep, colorful perspective to history." Weekly Book Review

---

"Irene D. Paden spent, it is claimed, some twenty years in research and travel before embarking on the writing, and one can well believe it. The worth of the book lies in its rich abundance of tale and incident, from which there emerges a singularly real picture of the confusion, uncertainty, danger, horror, beauty, and thrill of this greatest American adventure." Edward Weeks
+ Atlantic 172:137 D '43 270w

" 'The Wake of the Prairie Schooner' is not only satisfactorily authentic but also surprisingly and delightfully alive. The book is clearly a labor of love done with meticulous care, and even illustrated with good sketches by the author, in addition to her maps. The informality of Mrs. Paden's narrative is compelling but never demanding, and she leaves nothing to be desired in the way of index or bibliography." August Derleth
+ Book Week p4 O 31 '43 500w
Booklist 40:113 D 1 '43

"This is a distinct contribution to historical knowledge; but it is even more, it is history made to come alive. Prairie storms and floods, streams that had to be forded, ferried or swum, Indian alarms and worse, stampedes, hail, dust, alkali, buffalo running, merry-making, weddings, births, sermons, trials by jury, all become amazingly real and personally important." K. C. K.
+ Christian Science Monitor p12 N 9 '43 550w

"Unfortunately Mrs. Paden has more competence as a researcher than as a writer. The book wavers between a painfully folksy 'Our Trip Through the Historic West' manner and an unsuccessful attempt to draw from the rich resources of the original records a connected narrative of the trail. Torn between the specialist's desire to incorporate every detail of his researches and the writer's hope of interesting a non-specialist audience, Mrs. Paden has failed to produce the book which should have crowned the family's long labors. . . It is no part of the critic's function to discuss what sort of book the author should have written, but Western scholarship would have been the richer if the Padens' knowledge had been used to annotate and clarify a compilation of the original narratives rather than to document a rather flat narrative of personal adventure." Mason Wade
— + Commonweal 39:260 D 24 '43 420w

"Mrs. Paden, to be blunt about it, suffers from that occupational disease common to research historians, a lack of perspective. She gives us too much in her book and too little: there are too many wagon ruts and too many graves, too many quotations from too many diaries. And, conversely, there is too little history of the trail as a whole and what there is is disjointed and at times open to question. But Mrs. Paden does know her subject, and the authenticity of her statements regarding Western travel in the early days cannot be doubted." Dorothy Gardiner
+ — N Y Times p28 N 7 '43 800w

PADEN, IRENE—Continued

"Awkward writing, but the detail is profuse and evidently authentic. Excellent bibliography, plus sketches by the author."

+ New Yorker 19:96 O 23 '43 70w

Springf'd Republican p7e N 7 '43 550w

"Four hundred and seventy-seven pages of rugged Americana, quietly, effectively told." Lloyd Lewis

+ Weekly Book Review p3 O 31 '43 850w

Wis Lib Bul 40:8 Ja '44

PADEV, MICHAEL. Escape from the Balkans. 311p $2.75 Bobbs

940.53496 World war, 1939—Balkan states. World war, 1939—Personal narratives, Bulgarian 43-12733

"Michael Padev is a Bulgarian journalist who, from 1939 to 1941, was correspondent of the London Times in Sofia. He was a trusted man of the British and American legations in the Bulgarian capital, and after his escape from the Nazi-occupied inferno he married Princess Priscilla Bibesco, daughter of the former Rumanian minister to the United States. . . Padev's book is an appeal for co-operation amongst the Balkan people. He explains how in the concentration camp Bulgars, Serbs, Macedonians, Greeks, Albanians and other nationalities were all friends. What was possible in the prison, he believes will be possible in a liberated Balkans." Book Week

---

Reviewed by M. W. Fodor

Book Week p6 Ag 29 '43 320w

Booklist 40:44 O 1 '43

Christian Science Monitor p12 O 9 '43 400w

Cleveland Open Shelf p17 O '43

New Repub 109:497 O 11 '43 120w

Reviewed by V. S. Pritchett

New Statesman & Nation 26:355 N 27 '43 750w

Reviewed by Eugen Kovacs

N Y Times p12 S 12 '43 650w

Reviewed by Stephen Naft

Sat R of Lit 26:14 S 11 '43 650w

"Padev's style is easy, dramatic, and concise. His volume shows careful compilation and his positive factual conclusions are straight from the shoulder. 'Escape From the Balkans' is highly recommended." R. S. Scott

+ Springf'd Republican p7e S 12 '43 950w

Times [London] Lit Sup p578 D 4 '43 280w

"His book is not a literary masterpiece. He tries to do too many things at once; often the reader gets as dizzy as if watching a juggler trying to keep three balls in the air at once. But it's an important book, a well written book and a book which must be read by any one who wants to understand Europe." Robert St John

+ Weekly Book Review p4 S 5 '43 1250w

PADILLA, EZEQUIEL. Free men of America. (Alliance bk) 173p $2.50 Ziff-Davis

970 American republics. Democracy 43-51108

"After a short historical sketch of the establishment and abolition of slavery on this continent, the author, pointing out that Mexico was the first to abrogate slavery as early as 1810, recalls all former efforts toward Pan-American unity, some of which preceded President Monroe by almost a generation. . . Padilla demonstrates that the inspiration of the Monroe Doctrine was of Latin-American origin, except that the Latin Americans desired a reciprocal arrangement instead of a unilateral declaration. He traces the progress from these beginnings, over the period of distortions and misuses of the Monroe Doctrine, up to the present outlook for real effective solidarity and coöperation on an equal footing, as proclaimed by President Roosevelt in 1933. . . Other sections of the book analyze the economic causes of European imperialism, which inevitably led to war, and its repercussion on America." Sat R of Lit

---

Am Hist R 49:175 O '43 70w

Atlantic 171:131 Je '43 90w

" 'Free Men of America' is a work of creative statesmanship. Statesmen, large and small, should read it. Free citizens must read it." Louis Zara

+ Book Week p2 Ap 11 '43 1450w

Booklist 39:352 My 1 '43

Christian Science Monitor p14 Ap 23 '43 480w

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert

Foreign Affairs 22:167 O '43 30w

Reviewed by H. H. A. Bernt

Library J 68:288 Ap 1 '43 130w

"There isn't a trace of accent in the style, nor, what is more important, in the ideas. For the average reader the book may have one fault, in that it is too generalized throughout. The argument covers a wide range of history, economics and political philosophy; it is blocked in, but is not filled out with as much detail, specific illustration and step-by-step demonstration as we are accustomed to." Anita Brenner

+ — N Y Times p5 Ap 25 '43 1100w

"Those who think that they will have to wade through flowery and verbose oratory will be pleasantly surprised. Though the book covers a tremendous range, it contains a wealth of ideas, clearly and concisely expressed. . . This book deserves to be studied and remembered. It is a work of permanent value." Stephen Naft

+ Sat R of Lit 26:19 Ap 10 '43 1050w

Reviewed by Randle Elliott

Survey G 32:265 Je '43 600w

Times [London] Lit Sup p400 Ag 21 '43 850w

Reviewed by Hubert Herring

Weekly Book Review p6 My 9 '43 900w

PAGANO, JO. Golden wedding. 300p $2.50 Random house 43-5780

Chronicle of an Italian-American family, beginning in the little village in Italy from which Luigi Simone came, carrying him to the Colorado mines, and thru his marriage, his moves from Colorado, to Utah, and finally to California, where he and his Marietta lived to celebrate their golden wedding.

" 'Golden Wedding' is not a great or enduring piece of fiction, probably, but it is none the less a fine book. It is written in an easy, conversational style that often achieves poetic beauty. The story is absorbing, and the characters are portrayed at once clearly and attractively. It is well worth reading." J. T. F.

+ Book Week p9 My 16 '43 140w

Booklist 39:369 My 15 '43

"Jo Pagano has written no masterpiece; he does not go very deep into the heart or soul. Yet his book is one to entertain any American's leisure hours, and to warm any American's heart. Who could dislike such people? They are exuberant and sometimes vulgar. By and large, they are extrovert, although their hearts also can be moved, and deeply moved. But above all they harbor ill-will against no one, and they are deeply thankful for what a magnificent, rich and new country has done for them. Mr. Pagano does not sound any depths, but he wonderfully recreates an atmosphere."

+ Commonweal 38:47 Ap 30 '43 550w

"The delineation of changing social and economic fabric of American life at times vies with the plot for importance, but characterization is good. Not essential for purchase." Katharine Shorey

Library J 68:210 Mr 1 '43 70w

Reviewed by Diana Trilling

+ — Nation 156:570 Ap 17 '43 50w

N Y Times p7 Ap 4 '43 850w

"An almost photographically authentic picture, told in honest, pedestrian prose. How well you will like it depends upon how much life with a lusty Italian family you can take."
New Yorker 19:87 Ap 10 '43 140w

"Mr. Pagano is not yet wholly an expert. Scenes involving a rich Back Bay sister-in-law are both stylized and awkward. But inadequacy so slight, and so easily out-stripped, cannot impair the charm and value of a heart-felt and happily accomplished book." Frances Smyth
+ — Sat R of Lit 26:18 My 1 '43 400w

"'Golden Wedding' is as hackneyed as life and as real. It is a lovely book. In its pages is to be found the secret of our national unity, the inviolable essence of our strength." Leo Lerman
+ Weekly Book Review p6 Ap 4 '43 950w

PAGE, RAY M. 14000 gear ratios. 404p il $5 Industrial press

621.833 Gearing—Tables, calculations, etc. 42-17035

"Tabulated ratios presented in common fractional and decimal forms and in differently arranged sections to facilitate the solution of all classes of gear-ratio problems." Subtitle

"This book should be useful to engineers working on gearing for machine tools, timing mechanisms and small gears of the several types—spur, worm, bevel and helical. An accurate and complete numerical solution of most types of gearing problems can be obtained without the use of other tables or of calculating machines. Some industries, however, will find a limitation in the fact that it lists gears only of 120 or fewer teeth." James Stokley
+ Books p17 Ja 31 '43 180w
N Y New Tech Bks 28:9 Ja '43

PALMER, MARY BABCOCK. We fight with merchant ships. 307p il $2.75 Bobbs

387.5 Merchant marine—U.S. World war, 1939—Transportation 43-51078

"Readable, up-to-date report on our critical shipping problem: the background since 1917, advances in shipbuilding, the submarine war, and the more or less tangled setup in Washington that directs our war traffic in every ocean." New Yorker

"'We Fight with Merchant Ships' ought to be required reading for complacent citizens who may be inclined to relax with a sigh of relief, feeling sure that it's all over but deciding how we're going to punish the Axis partners at the peace conference. The U-boat picture is not one of unrelieved gloom, but one that demands vigilance and sustained effort." Jack Conroy
+ Book Week p6 Ap 18 '43 500w
Booklist 39:330 Ap 15 '43
New Repub 108:677 My 17 '43 50w

"The book does not pretend to be a history. It is rather a book-length magazine article touching on phases of shipping, shipbuilding, administrative functions and policies, a few selected personalities and some brief narratives of torpedoings and other war incidents, many of which have already been well done in the newspapers, and at greater length. The book deserves better editing. There are inexcusable misspellings (S. S. Iriquois) and numerous inaccuracies of fact and precept which would give seamen and shipwise readers the cold shudders." George Horne
N Y Times p17 My 2 '43 480w
New Yorker 19:72 Mr 27 '43 40w

"Unfortunately the whole story is prettied up and gooed up with the 'Everybody's doing swell' approach most often found in official communiqués. There is hardly a word about the N.M.U. and its ortho-communist activities; there is not a word about the arguments between the Maritime Commission and the British about the right type of ship to build and between the same commission and the Navy about priorities on certain construction items. Fred Herman would find it difficult to believe that the Maxfield Parrish merchant marine pictured here is the one in which he served." Fletcher Pratt
Sat R of Lit 26:7 My 15 '43 250w
Springf'd Republican p7e Ap 18 '43 500w

"An intelligent and well-informed history . . . If the book suffers from any serious fault, it is that the author is not himself a seaman, has assayed to do his work, as sailors say, all 'from the beach.' His portrayals of sea life, of convoy, of all the intense and complex and terrible work of the seamen outside are told at second hand. But when writing of the shore side and of what he has personally seen and studied, Mr. Palmer has done a successful job." Robert Carse
+ — Weekly Book Review p12 Ap 11 '43 410w

PAMPHLETEER monthly; a buying guide to free and inexpensive material. $3 per year, 35c per copy. Pamphlet distributing company, N.Y.

016.04 Pamphlets—Bibliography

"This is a paper covered magazine published every month except July and August, approximately 32 pages per issue, listing, classifying and annotating over 300 new pamphlets in each issue. Where this differs from most services is that the Pamphlet distributing company, publishers of the Pamphleteer Monthly, acts as a distributing agency for all pamphlets listed, prices of which run from 5 cents to $3. Material in the Pamphleteer Monthly is classified by subject and the subjects are arranged alphabetically by title. Each entry includes title, author, publisher, date, collation, price and a serial number that is used in ordering from the Pamphlet Distributing Company. Brief annotations are given for most of the pamphlets." Subscription Bks Bul

"According to the publisher's statement, pamphlets listed are chosen on the basis of their value, accuracy, timeliness and use. Some periodical articles (mainly from magazines not included in the Reader's Guide to Periodical Literature) are indexed. No titles are repeated in later issues. The issues are not cumulated which presents some difficulty when one is searching for special titles or subjects. The service is indexed in Public Affairs Information Service. . . The selection of material appears to be from the standpoint of a public library rather than that of a school. This service is intended only as a buying guide, and as such it is recommended. It is not to be compared with services which also give help in selection, classification, subject headings, and reference work."
+ Subscription Bks Bul 13:50 O '42 280w

PANASSIE, HUGUES. Real jazz; tr. by Anne Sorelle Williams; adapted for American publication by Charles Edward Smith. 326p $2.50 Smith & Durrell

781.5 Jazz music. Phonograph records 43-296

"The French author of Hot Jazz [Book Review Digest, 1936] has changed his opinion on certain musicians and questions of general approach since the publication of his first book. He now believes that since jazz is essentially a Negro creation it is very difficult for white people to comprehend or correctly interpret it. His discussion of jazz, blues, and swing, and his evaluation of musicians, both instrumentalists and vocalists, Negro and white, will be of interest to the devotees and to the uninitiated who want to know what it's all about. Appendix contains a selected list of records, arranged alphabetically by musician. No index." Booklist

Booklist 39:315 Ap 1 '43

Reviewed by Henry Steig
Books p16 Ja 24 '43 1050w

PANASSIE, HUGUES—Continued

"Hugues Panassié is a purist, otherwise he would have less to say about the loss and more about the gain as jazz has flowed into the main stream of American theatre. His thesis, then, has its doubtful points but not the book's solid musical analysis nor the etched words with which it describes performers and their styles."

+ — Theatre Arts 27:259 Ap '43 300w

PANIKKAR, KAVALAM MADHAVA. The future of south-east Asia. 126p $1.75 Macmillan [5s Allen, G]

950 East (Far East). Asia—Politics. World war, 1939—Territorial questions 43-17296

"[This work] is written by an Indian, on request of the International Secretariat of the Institute of Pacific Relations, after his attendance at the conference in Quebec in December, 1942. It is 'a study on the general problem of security and post-war political and economic progress in that great colonial corner of Asia lying between India and China, giving particular attention to the possible rôle that India might play.' The problems of Burma, Thailand, Indo-China, the Netherland East Indies, Malaya and Singapore, and the rôle of China and the United States are considered." Scientific Bk Club R

Reviewed by W. F. Sands

Commonweal 39:381 Ja 28 '44 100w

"Very good as brief survey and thoughtful point of view." J. B. Fogg

+ Library J 68:844 O 15 '43 80w

"This little book deserves very careful consideration by all who are concerned either practically or theoretically with post-war reconstruction. . . Mr. Panikkar is eminently competent. He has not previously written very much, but what he did write, particularly a little book on caste, showed that he is extremely intelligent." Leonard Woolf

+ New Statesman & Nation 26:78 Jl 31 '43 650w

Scientific Bk Club R 14:4 D '43 270w

Reviewed by Simon Harcourt-Smith

Spec 171:131 Ag 6 '43 210w

"The writer's qualifications include a brilliant career at Oxford, a Chair in history, and the Secretaryship of the Indian Chamber of Princes. The essay can stand, however, upon its own merits as, for all its brevity, it shows a wide grasp of modern affairs, originality of thought and above all, tolerance and objective judgment."

+ Times [London] Lit Sup p374 Ag 7 '43 850w

PANTER-DOWNES, MOLLIE (MRS CLARE ROBINSON). Watling Green; il. by Mildred Cloete. 78p $1.50 Scribner

43-16878

In the form of a long letter to cousins in America an English girl writes the story of her family in a little Sussex town, first giving a glimpse of pre-war years, and then describing the part each of them takes in the war effort. For children nine or over.

Reviewed by P. A. Whitney

Book Week p7 D 26 '43 270w

Booklist 40:117 D 1 '43

Reviewed by A. M. Jordan

Horn Bk 20:37 Ja '44 70w

"Story, written with humor and sincerity, will be of interest to children from nine to twelve. Appropriate line drawings by Mildred Cloete relieve to some extent the uninviting pages of solid print." E. D. Briggs

Library J 68:1051 D 15 '43 90w

Reviewed by Lena Barksdale

Nation 157:592 N 20 '43 10w

"Mollie Panter-Downes, whose 'London Letter' in The New Yorker has done as much as anything in print to make wartime life in England vivid to readers on this side of the Atlantic, has now written a story for boys and girls that pleases by its naturalness, its good humor and its spontaneous, easy style." A. T. Eaton

+ N Y Times p10 Ja 2 '44 280w

"This wartime tale, with its charm, good humor, and lack of even a suspicion of sentimentality, stands out as a little work of artlessness."

+ New Yorker 19:129 D 4 '43 110w

"The sketchy humorous style shifts to and from the serious and light as it captures the observations of children proud to be living through English history." M. E. S.

+ Springf'd Republican p7e N 28 '43 80w

"Irrepressible good humor and a British tendency to make light of one's own heroism make it especially good reading." M. L. Becker

+ Weekly Book Review p18 N 14 '43 90w

PANZER, MARTIN. It's your future, make the most of it! (Whittlesey house publication) 270p $2.50 McGraw

174 Success 43-10137

"The book starts out to afford 'self-help without self-delusion,' and its approach to the problem of fear is likely to make friends for it from the first. It has suggestions on hard-boiling the ego, on planning, on little things that loom big, on being able to get along quite as well, if not better, without making so many friends and being so deliberately popular." Weekly Book Review

"Readers who know how to separate wheat from chaff may find the book useful." O. E.

Book Week p8 S 12 '43 140w

"The style is breezy but self-respecting."

Weekly Book Review p9 S 5 '43 80w

PARK, CLYDE WILLIAM. Ambassador to industry; the idea and life of Herman Schneider; with a foreword by Charles F. Kettering. 324p il $3.50 Bobbs

B or 92 Schneider, Herman. Cincinnati. University 43-14624

"Herman Schneider, Dean of Cincinnati University College of Engineering from 1906 until his death in 1938 (and of Commerce after 1919), originated and developed the co-operative system of technical education in association with industrial and, later, business firms. So successful was he that the system has been adopted by many colleges and universities in the United States and by the Soviet Government in its industrial training program. This is the story of Schneider's development of the idea." Library J

"Though too little of personal life is given for general appeal, the man emerges as an attractive personality, a forceful and inspired teacher and administrator. Important contribution to history of movement." J. E. Cross

+ Library J 68:667 S 1 '43 110w

"Professor Park gives a detailed picture of his colleague. It is one of fondness and admiration, yet at the same time it is objective and vivid. . . Perhaps too many details are presented. The story of Dean Schneider's life and his monumental cooperative program could have been made more impressive if some of the trifling incidents were omitted or unnecessarily long personal letters left unpublished. But these are unimportant complaints and do not detract from the careful and scholarly presentation." Benjamin Fine

+ N Y Times p34 N 28 '43 900w

PARKER, HARRY EWING. Simplified design of reinforced concrete. 249p $2.75 Wiley

693.5 Concrete, Reinforced 43-8487

"A textbook intended to serve as preparation for advanced study in the fields of architecture and building. The book is written to meet the needs of architects and builders having only a minimum of preparation in the subject. The contents include: Materials; Shear and bending moments in beams; Design of beams; Reinforced concrete floor systems; Foundations; Retaining walls." (N Y New Tech Bks) Index.

"This sort of book can be used for home study or for the architect's classroom. It should be feasible to complete the study of such a book in about a hundred hours. The reader needs an understanding of college algebra and a further knowledge of mathematics will be very helpful. It will not be possible for you to read this book effectively unless you have also studied theoretical mechanics, which is first taught in physics and then extended for engineers in a special course of study. Of course, since concrete structures are not movable your study of mechanics need not include the field of kinetics or dynamics but may be limited to statics." L. E. Grinter
Book Week p11 Je 20 '43 500w
Booklist 40:6 S '43
Library J 68:575 Jl '43 20w
N Y New Tech Bks 28:24 Ap '43

PARKES, HENRY BAMFORD. World after war. 240p $2.50 Crowell
940.53144 United nations, 1942-. Reconstruction (1939-.). World politics. U.S.—Foreign relations 43-589

Study of the problem of maintaining peace in the post-war world. Dr Parkes is of the opinion that the United Nations, in making the peace settlement, must hold an overwhelming amount of power over any nation which seems likely to disrupt the peace. The author is an English-born professor of history at New York university, and is now an American citizen. Index.

Reviewed by D. O. Walter
Am Pol Sci R 37:181 F '43 220w

"As this book claims to deal with the central problem of our days, every reader will open it with great expectations. Nobody hopes for ready-made solutions. We all are behind our time, and the fact that an author is one of us has to be accepted. Therefore it would be sufficient if the burning problems were rightly stated by a description of the specific nature of this war and the specific difficulties of establishing post-fascist democracies after an inter-European civil war. But none of these problems is stated. . . Perhaps the merit of the book consists in having shown, implicitly, that new devices are necessary which cannot be based on the 'business as usual' assumption." E. J. Gumbel
Ann Am Acad 226:167 Mr '43 500w
Booklist 39:317 Ap 1 '43
Commonweal 37:381 Ja 29 '43 20w

"Professor Parkes's new book is one of the more interestingly written of those which set out to offer guidance to peace-planners. . . The book, which is written with Parkes's usual clarity and vigor, makes several points, well worth thinking about and so should be given a place on the peace-planner's book shelf." Alvin Adey
+ Current Hist 3:544 F '43 330w

"Interesting and challenging ideas on post-war organization." R. G. Woolbert
+ Foreign Affairs 21:575 Ap '43 20w

Reviewed by M. J. Bonn
J Pol Econ 51:464 O '43 390w

Reviewed by A. G. Higgins
Library J 67:950 N 1 '42 100w

Reviewed by Reinhold Niebuhr
Nation 156:353 Mr 6 '43 900w

"Professor Parkes's book is an argument for a continuation of the United Nations after the war as a police force to prevent a renewal of the conflict. . . It is not necessary to agree with this point of view to feel admiration at its clear and cogent expression. For all its brevity, the book is really a classic study of power politics." Preston Slosson
+ Pol Sci Q 58:279 Je '43 650w

"In this soberly reasoned essay on the problems that will confront us when we come to make the peace Dr. Parkes has made a valuable contribution to clear thinking. . . Dr. Parkes leaves us with a statement of our problem and the ends we should seek. He offers no plan for the achievement of these ends. This is not a criticism, for his book is purely and frankly a diagnosis—an essential beginning. But the penetration he has shown in this approach leads us to hope that he will outline his views as to the approach to peacemaking." Hugh Gibson
+ Sat R of Lit 26:11 Mr 20 '43 1100w

"If the reader is not convinced by the arguments of the author, he will at least feel that this clear and interestingly written book provides a penetrating criticism of two exceedingly dangerous types of post-war planning: (1) that which provides for a peace of force without justice; and (2) that which provides for a peace of justice without force." F. R. Flournoy
Social Educ 7:91 F '43 550w
Social Studies 34:96 F '43 30w

PARRIS, JOHN A., and others. See Springboard to Berlin

PARRISH, MRS MARY FRANCES (KENNEDY) (M. F. K. FISHER, pseud). Gastronomical me. 295p $2.50 Duell
B or 92 Cookery

Autobiographical reminiscences in which the author's memories of childhood and school days, marriage and travels are threaded on discourses on what she cooked, ate and enjoyed—from the days of peach pie and cream to exotic dinners in out-of-the-way French inns.

"There is deft and witty writing in this book—witty, not in the sense of funny, but in the sense of sharply perceptive. There is also a prevailing sense of tragedy—death and the intimation of death, against which one fortifies oneself by grasping at the sharp, sensuous joys of food and love." S. I. Hayakawa
+ Book Week p3 N 28 '43 400w
Booklist 40:197 F 1 '44

"Mrs. Fisher in searching for the truth about her gastronomical self has uncovered a good deal of humor and perception about human beings which lift her story considerably above table level." Isabelle Mallet
+ N Y Times p8 N 21 '43 500w

"'The Gastronomical Me,' despite its casual title, is sadder, older, less charming than 'Serve it Forth.' It makes more evident than ever the fact that Mrs. Fisher was born to write novels and that it's about time she did." Clifton Fadiman
+ New Yorker 19:105 N 20 '43 320w

Reviewed by M. S. Ulrich
Sat R of Lit 27:16 Ja 8 '44 400w
Springf'd Republican p7e D 12 '43 250w

"One may disagree with an occasional passage in 'The Gastronomical Me,' but I can imagine no two opinions about Mrs. Fisher's style. The brilliance, the bite, the flexibleness that distinguished 'Serve It Forth' are apparent in this latest work, which also marks an increase in the author's technical virtuosity." Sheila Hibben
+ Weekly Book Review p3 N 21 '43 700w

PARROTT, MRS KATHERINE URSULA (TOWLE). Storm at dusk. 207p $2 Dodd
43-2709

Story of an airplane crash in the winter woods in Canada. The flyers, a young American man and woman, found themselves near a cabin well-stocked with food, but with very little ammunition to fight off the wolves. The consequences of their months of isolation were not what they or their friends would have predicted.

"The lonely life in the North woods is made graphic and interesting." Charlotte Dean
N Y Times p25 Mr 7 '43 280w

Reviewed by Lisle Bell
Weekly Book Review p17 Ap 4 '43 200w

PARROTT, THOMAS MARC, and BALL, ROBERT HAMILTON. Short view of Elizabethan drama; together with some account of its principal playwrights and the conditions under which it was produced. 311p il $1.80 Scribner

822.09 English drama—History and criticism 43-6536

"This introduction to the theater of Shakespeare's age is written with an appeal that may lead some readers to the plays. It presents the 'rise, development, and decline of Elizabethan drama from its beginning in the liturgy of the Church to its sudden end with the closing of the theatres in 1642. The main emphasis is on the major playwrights and their best and most significant plays; the focus is the personality of the dramatist, his characteristics and special merits.' Bibliography of texts and critical works." (Booklist) Index.

Booklist 39:384 Je 1 '43

"For instructors who wish to teach Elizabethan drama essentially as it has been taught in the leading American colleges for the past three or four decades, 'A Short View' should serve as a highly satisfactory guide. On the other hand instructors who are convinced that Elizabethan drama has been too much praised and too little criticized by historians throughout the nineteenth and even in the twentieth century may raise a number of objections." Paul Mueschke

+ — N Y Times p22 Ag 1 '43 300w

"In reexamining the whole period, Profs Parrott and Ball have neglected many phases that made Elizabethan drama so important both theatrically and socially. They have emphasized the poetic qualities of the drama rather than its subject matter. For the student the book will serve as an introduction to a period in drama that is rich in color and variety." H. L.

Springf'd Republican p6 Ag 11 '43 300w

"For those who wish to enjoy the 'peculiar glory of Elizabethan drama' with the minimum of confusion and the maximum of pleasure, this compact volume will be a cheerful and ever ready guide."

+ Theatre Arts 27:387 Je '43 350w

PARSONS, JULIA STODDARD. Royalty in the nineteenth century. 233p il $5 Humphries

929.7 Europe—Kings and rulers 43-9340

"Starting from the author's famous collection of photographs of Europe's royal families gathered through a long and active life, and freely illustrated from this authentic source, Miss Parsons's friendly history of royal houses runs decade by decade from the accession of Queen Victoria to the troubled times of Rasputin's Russia, the Austria of aged Franz Josef and the 'cool and tranquil shores' of King Oscar's Sweden. Interest is personal rather than political and emphasis on virtues rather than defects." Weekly Book Review

"Skipping from one country to another within each chapter may bother some readers, but material is well handled. High price is explained by ninety full-page photographs." R. S. Alvarez

+ Library J 68:171 F 15 '43 80w

Weekly Book Review p12 Jl 4 '43 150w

PARSONS, ROBERT PERCIVAL. Trail to light; a biography of Joseph Goldberger. 353p $3 Bobbs

B or 92 Goldberger, Joseph 43-8372

"The life story of an East Side boy, Dr. Joseph Goldberger, who became one of the great epidemiologists in that most modest of government agencies, the United States Public Health Service, and who pioneered in the control of yellow fever, dengue, pellagra, and other diseases." (New Yorker) Index.

"This story of Goldberger, the scientist, and of Goldberger, the man, the husband and the father, is told simply and told well. It is an inspiring story, a good tonic when one's faith tends to run low." Israel Davidsohn

+ Book Week p2 Jl 18 '43 400w

Booklist 39:462 Jl 15 '43

New Repub 109:54 Jl 12 '43 100w

"Dr. Parsons, now Captain Parsons of the United States Navy, has told the story of Goldberger's life and work with sympathy and skill. It is particularly fitting that this biography of a sensitive, likable, courageous and utterly selfless member of a persecuted people, a great benefactor and servitor of all mankind, should be published at this time. It makes fascinating and ennobling reading and it deserves to be widely read." M. T. A. Montagu

+ N Y Times p8 Je 6 '43 850w

"Captain Parsons' engaging portrait of an austerely adventurous man and the generally accurate treatment of medical history make this one of the better biographies of the season."

+ New Yorker 19:79 Je 12 '43 90w

"Dr. Parsons is fortunate in his subject as is his subject in his biographer. It is to be hoped that his book will not be overshadowed by the welter of war books. As truly as any of these it testifies to the true meaning of America. Nowhere else in the entire world could a little Ghetto immigrant rise to such eminence or make so great a contribution to his adopted country." M. S. Ulrich

+ Sat R of Lit 26:21 Je 26 '43 850w

Reviewed by C. B. Moore

Springf'd Republican p7e Je 20 '43 1050w

Reviewed by Gerald Wendt

Weekly Book Review p24 Je 6 '43 550w

PARTON, ETHEL. House between; a story of the 1850's; with il. by Margaret Platt. 343p $2 Viking

43-5777

The last in a series of six stories about life in Newburyport, Massachusetts, between 1800 and the 1850's. The children in the Powlett and Pettiboy families had long used the large empty house between their homes as a sort of club, but when the house was sold and a lively widow and her charges took residence, life was spicier than ever. For children in grades five to seven.

Booklist 39:356 My 1 '43

Reviewed by F. B. Sloan

Christian Science Monitor p6 Jl 26 '43 180w

"Miss Parton's Newburyport Chronicles represent classics of American life between 1800 and 1870 which have been carried on with consistent regard for background and period in times of contemporary appeal." A. C. Moore

+ Horn Bk 19:166 My '43 50w

Reviewed by A. M. Jordan

Horn Bk 19:173 My '43 100w

"Will appeal to girls ten to thirteen, especially those who have read author's Lost Locket." E. T. Dobbins

+ Library J 68:365 My 1 '43 70w

"Lifelike, spiced with humor, and written with a fine integrity, Miss Parton's six books are a splendid contribution to the stories about this country which give to American boys and girls a deeper understanding of their heritage." A. T. Eaton

+ N Y Times p20 My 2 '43 420w

"Nearly everything in the historical background is of interest, from the making of hair jewelry to the launching of Newburyport's great sailing ships. Good line-drawing illustrations."

+ New Yorker 19:69 My 29 '43 50w

Sat R of Lit 26:28 My 15 '43 10w

"Take your time over this and it will repay; better yet, read it aloud. It will even stand being read outdoors in summer, or indoors on a rainy day." M. L. Becker

+ Weekly Book Review p8 My 30 '43 500w

Wis Lib Bul 39:111 Jl '43

PARTRIDGE, BELLAMY. Excuse my dust; il. by Stephen J. Voorhies. (Whittlesey house publication) 359p $2.75 McGraw

B or 92 43-14455

Partly fact, partly fiction this book recalls what life was like in a small New York State town in the early days of the automobile.

"This is warm, well-written Americana which will bring back humorous memories to millions of Americans who used to 'get out and get under.'" Sterling North

+ Book Week p2 S 26 '43 270w

Booklist 40:58 O 15 '43

"Should take its place with author's The Country Lawyer and Big Family in wide popularity." J. B. Fogg

+ Library J 68:667 S 1 '43 110w

"The characters in this book are very real. Although the names are fictitious, the incidents, Mr. Partridge assures us have been taken from actual occurrences. No one will doubt it, and none but a curmudgeon could read the book without pleasure." W. A. MacDonald

+ N Y Times p3 S 19 '43 850w

Reviewed by Arthur Train

Sat R of Lit 26:40 O 16 '43 700w

Springf'd Republican p7e S 26 '43 700w

"Mr. Partridge's style, manner and mood are perfect for this material. He has the small-town man's restraint, the tolerance of the intelligent countryman, together with a sly humor and an eye for all sorts of trivial but revealing little things. He brings back a transition period with complete faithfulness. It's all here, set down calmly and with unpretentious homespun wit." Stanley Walker

+ Weekly Book Review p5 S 19 '43 1150w

Wis Lib Bul 39:159 D '43

PARTRIDGE, ERIC. Usage and abusage; a guide to good English. 369p $3 Harper

428.3 English language—Errors—Use of words 42-23368

"A fresh approach to the meaning of words and their use in written and spoken English, by the British author of A Dictionary of Slang, annotated with helpful comment on American usage by Professor W. Cabell Greet, of Columbia University. In simple, everyday language, explanation is given of the differences in such terms as archaisms, the cliché and battered similes; ambiguity, woolliness and obscurity; colloquialisms, dialect, slang and cant. Matters of grammar, spelling, punctuation and style are fully treated. The layman as well as the student and writer will find the book valuable as a supplemental guide to the use of good English. The arrangement is alphabetical with many cross references." Bookmark

Booklist 39:98 N 15 '42

Bookmark 5:6 Ja '43

PATCHEN, KENNETH. Cloth of the tempest. 185p il $2.75 Harper

811 43-14876

Poems for and about a world at war. By the author of First Will and Testament (Book Review Digest, 1939). Illustrated with surrealist drawings.

"Patchen is a thoroughly irritating young man who endeavors to shock with effrontery where he can not impress with talent. . . Maxwell Bodenheim at his most purple and most pointless was never more extravagant nor obscurantist." Leo Kennedy

— Book Week p7 N 7 '43 160w

"From the point of view of the state of contemporary American poetry Patchen is interesting. He represents, in effect, the latest formula—all that was new in poetry twenty-five years ago appropriated and devitalized to meet the demands of the reader who is ready for poetry only when it becomes an imitation of poetry. It is no more than to describe the operation of poetic justice to add that the reader who cares for poetry only as a commodity will leave him after a while, simply because of the small disturbing presence of the genuine talent the poet once had, and has so outrageously abused. Again, it is the abysmal depths to which criticism in the United States has sunk that, more than anything else, is responsible for these poems." H. P. Lazarus

Nation 158:80 Ja 15 '44 360w

Reviewed by William Poster

New Repub 109:890 D 20 '43 100w

Reviewed by R. G. Davis

N Y Times p42 N 21 '43 180w

"The drawings with which he illustrates his poems are surrealist. So are his poems. I like the drawings better. They are nothing if not original." W. R. Benet

Sat R of Lit 26:64 O 16 '43 40w

"This reviewer maintains that for the most part his work is unintelligible, and that, unless the whole thing is a joke and Patchen is wreaking a horrible revenge on a smug, inattentive bourgeoisie, he believes himself to be conveying ideas when he is not. . . Kenneth Patchen is a rebel. . . But he fails to see that the victory of any rebellion depends upon the successful organization of what the rebel hopes to substitute for the outmoded system, and not upon intellectual anarchy." Sarah Schiff

— Springf'd Republican p10 N 5 '43 900w

PATCHEN, KENNETH. Teeth of the lion. 31p $1; pa 50c New directions

811 43-1762

"Patchen, who can write a poem, it would seem, about anything you want, can also write in the style of any half-dozen or more already respectable enfants terribles. Hemingway, Cummings, Pound, Rimbaud, Blake, and Baudelaire come readily to mind. . . He seeks a personal myth in the fable, the satire, the orgasm, and the dream." Poetry

"Repeatedly the poet leads one toward the brink of a yawning gulf or the tall gate of revelation. Yet he never takes one far enough to make the journey as awful as it promises to be. His performance is invalidated by his irresponsibility. One cannot trust a visionary who seems unable to decide whether to relate a vision or present an allegory." Babette Deutsch

New Repub 108:420 Mr 29 '43 180w

Reviewed by Edwin Honig

Poetry 62:284 Ag '43 360w

"In most of the poems the symbols seem contradictory and inconsistent, as in so many dreams. No doubt they have a personal significance, which a psychoanalyst could resolve more easily than a reader of poetry, who is apt to find a mere kaleidoscope of images confusing and unsatisfying, however individually vivid they may be." Elizabeth Drew

Weekly Book Review p23 S 19 '43 250w

Reviewed by Louis Untermeyer

Yale R n s 33:351 winter '44 140w

PATERSON, MRS ISABEL (BOWLER). God of the machine. 292p $2.75 Putnam

320.15 Political science. Economic policy. U.S.—Civilization 43-7121

"With all the signposts carefully marked along the way, in this serious work of IMP's (subtitled: An Inquiry into the Nature of Government), we may follow the course of empires and nations on their journey into oblivion. Every conclusion in this comprehensive study emphasizes necessity of the dignity of individual freedom, if the American nation is not to be blotted out." Library J

Reviewed by Herman Hausheer

Ann Am Acad 229:180 S '43 450w

"The style is uncommonly pungent, lively, and witty for a work dealing with economics, history, and philosophy. Many of the author's crackling sentences will amuse even those readers who are unwilling to accept all her conclusions."

+ Atlantic 172:127 Jl '43 110w

PATERSON, ISABEL—Continued

"Miss Paterson has written with same pen she uses in her column in New York Herald Tribune Weekly Book Review, and this book is for all readers who will exercise their minds." K. T. Willis

+ Library J 68:362 My 1 '43 70w

"Seldom have so many non sequiturs crawled from such muddied pages. . . Being thankfully inexperienced in the finer business of book reviewing, I am at a loss to understand how John Chamberlain could possibly say of this book that it is 'the first clear piece of sustained primary political thinking that has appeared in ages.' Such a statement either utterly condemns ages of political thinking or more serious political thinking has been going on than one book reviewer, and one author, ever dreamed of." C. W. Mills

— New Repub 109:28 Jl 5 '43 600w

"It is unpleasant to have to mention the almost unremitting arrogance and bad temper of her writing. She is obviously motivated by a deep and serious love of America, but exhibits an intolerance and even active hatred of opposed or divergent opinion that, I hope, is not characteristic of us. I believe she does irreparable damage to her own thinking and seriously compromises the possibility of understanding, when she approaches another person's ideas believing that he is 'a fool,' 'a parasitical pedant, shiftless and dishonest,' and that his opinions are 'the dream of the incompetent and vicious or of the child mind.' . . Her view of human activity as 'the organization of actions over time and space' is valuable and stimulating." John Storck

— + N Y Times p29 My 23 '43 950w

New Yorker 19:87 Je 5 '43 70w

"A good deal of what Mrs. Paterson says in her literary prose may make sense as applied to machines, but, unless the plane on which she thinks and writes is above my comprehension, much is nonsense as applied to political systems. There is no awareness of the fact that those who attempt to govern men must take account of the shifting constituents of human nature and of the fact that men collectively do not behave in the same way that they do individually. . . Mrs. Paterson has some interesting remarks on what she calls the energy circuit in wartime. . . Her book would have been more influential if she had used her engineering analysis to discuss the maximum sustained striking force for eliminating unemployment and lessening poverty. She seems unaware of the fact that men do not starve quietly." Lindsay Rogers

Sat R of Lit 26:18 Jl 10 '43 900w

"Perhaps I get her wrong, but I am sure she is solidly founded on the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of the United States—the older part of it; and so am I. It can be promised that anyone who examines the structure she has raised on these firm foundations will be startled, stimulated and chastised. I was." R. E. Flanders

Weekly Book Review p2 My 23 '43 1250w

PATRIC, JOHN. Why Japan was strong [a journey of adventure]. 313p $2.50 Doubleday

915.2 Japan—Description and travel

43-10041

During the early 1930s, the author, at that time a traveling salesman, lived for a few months in a way approximating the low standard of the Japanese lower classes, in order first to save enough money to buy a passage to Japan and when there to travel about the country as cheaply as possible. With this as a background the author saw much of the real life of Japan usually hidden from the ordinary tourist and the knowledge he gained of Japanese characteristics explains to some extent why Japan is such a formidable enemy.

"No one would have paid much attention to his book two years ago. But it offers a lot of food for thought today." F. S. Marquardt

Book Week p9 Ag 1 '43 700w

Booklist 40:11 S '43

"He writes pleasantly, accurately, instructively. He is quite clear about what he doesn't like, why he does not like it, and why war is now necessary, but still does not hate. He saw much, but not everything." W. F. Sands

+ Commonweal 38:328 Jl 16 '43 210w

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert

Foreign Affairs 22:166 O '43 30w

Reviewed by Helen Mears

New Repub 109:293 Ag 30 '43 120w

"The author occasionally expresses the apprehension that some remark of his, such as his feeling of returning to a 'clean and orderly' Japan from a 'dirty and disorderly' China, or the suggestion that it would be sound American policy, after smashing Japan's militarism, to permit the raising of the Japanese standard of living by promoting freer trade throughout the world, may sound 'treasonable' under present circumstances. One doubts that this will be the case. One suspects that most Americans share Mr. Patric's own qualities of good sense and poise and instinct for honest reporting sufficiently to give his excellent account of Japan's 'common man' the favorable reception it deserves." W. H. Chamberlin

+ N Y Times p20 Je 20 '43 850w

"In spite of errors of easily ascertainable facts, 'Why Japan Was Strong' is a worthwhile book, and time and again the reader comes upon statements which the American people should take to heart." Hallett Abend

+ — Sat R of Lit 26:18 Jl 3 '43 700w

Reviewed by R. S. Scott

Springf'd Republican p7e Jl 18 '43 900w

Time 41:100 Je 28 '43 350w

"Mr. Patric's book might have been more readable, in the reviewer's opinion, had the author not attempted to transcribe all of his direct quotations from both Japanese and Chinese, regardless of their educational backgrounds, into a sort of clipped English phraseology that is not characteristic of any of the university-educated Chinese or Japanese whom I ever met during nearly twenty years' residence in the Orient." Victor Keen

+ — Weekly Book Review p20 Je 27 '43 1100w

PATTERSON, JOHN C. America's greatest inventors. 240p il $2 Crowell

926 Inventors 43-9123

"Of the eighteen inventors represented, several are so modern that material on them is not easily available: Baekeland, 'Father of the Plastic Age'; Burton, who cracked petroleum and enlarged its usefulness; Hall, who refined aluminum and made its use in airplanes possible; De Forest and the electron tubes that are revolutionizing science and invention. Shole's development of typewriter, Mergenthaler and linotype, and interesting facts about better-known inventors make this a useful book for children twelve to sixteen." Library J

Reviewed by J. J. Fleck

Book Week p10 S 12 '43 350w

Booklist 39:469 Jl 15 '43

Chem & Met Eng 50:211 N '43 120w

Reviewed by Gertrude Andrus

+ Library J 68:251 Mr 15 '43 80w

"The style is both spirited and dignified; the earlier inventors, whose accomplishments are more or less familiar to the reader, are made freshly interesting along with others less often found in books for boys and girls." A. T. E.

+ N Y Times p7 Ag 15 '43 280w

Wis Lib Bul 39:105 Jl '43

PATTERSON, NORMA. When the lights go up again. 244p $2 Farrar

43-12689

A story of three orphaned sisters. Harriet, the oldest, after years of hard work and sacrifice, realizes her ambition to bring them all together in a comfortable home. But Harriet's nature, strong and dominating, forces her into meddling with her sisters' love affairs and the home is tragically broken up, though two of the sisters find happiness at the end.

Reviewed by Charlotte Dean
N Y Times p14 Ag 15 '43 180w

"Miss Patterson has developed the story with skill, and in the sharp contrast of the three characters she has found material which lends itself to dramatic climax." Lisle Bell
+ Weekly Book Review p17 Ag 22 '43 180w

PATTISON, HARRY ARCHIBALD. Rehabilitation of the tuberculous. 186p il $2.50 Livingston press, Livingston, N.Y.

616.995 Tuberculosis 43-2691

"Dr. Pattison has devoted a quarter-century to the study and demonstration of how best to restore to self-reliant status persons in whom tuberculosis has been arrested but who need a transition period of suitable preparation before they can safely go their independent way. In the pioneering work of Potts Memorial Institute at Livingston, N.Y., which he organized and has directed from its beginning in 1926, he has solved this problem with notable success; while during the same years he has visited and observed the methods employed and results obtained by somewhat similar centers in America, England, and Europe. Upon this broad foundation he has written a book which is itself a foundation for continued progress in this field." (Survey) Bibliographies.

"As a point of departure for post-war planning, this book can be widely useful. It might open the eyes of other readers as it has opened the eyes of this reviewer." R. M. Atwater
+ Am J Pub Health 33:1477 D '43 140w

"Though compact, his presentation is comprehensive, with an opening chapter on background, thorough discussion of rehabilitation, and supplementing chapters on such broad factors as mental attitudes and effects, marriage, and eugenics. Written in plain and forthright English, it is easy to read and meets a need. Good bibliographies enhance its usefulness." John Daniels
+ Survey 79:158 My '43 350w

PAUL, LOUIS. Ordeal of Sergeant Smoot; il. by Lawrence Lariar. 220p $2 Crown

940.5496 World war, 1939—Humor, caricatures, etc. U.S.—Army—Military life 43-7740

A volume of humorous sketches relating the sad experiences of a Regular Army sergeant in his task of whipping into shape a most unpromising lot of very raw recruits.

Reviewed by S. T. Williamson
N Y Times p9 Jl 18 '43 400w

"Louis Paul's chronicle of the sergeant's woes is filled with chuckles, and Lawrence Lariar's drawings carry on the good work."
+ Weekly Book Review p18 Je 6 '43 270w

PAUL, LOUIS. This is my brother. 166p $2 Crown 43-17138

In diary form this is the story of five American soldiers, captured by the Japanese and condemned to death as spies because of a technicality. After days of mistreatment and torture designed to extract military information only two survive, the writer and one other—and they both know that they, too, will eventually die.

Reviewed by H. L. Reich
Book Week p23 N 14 '43 400w

"A moving tale of mounting horror and one soldier's triumphant faith in the human spirit."
+ New Yorker 19:106 N 6 '43 90w

"There is no question of Mr. Paul's seriousness. He is dead in earnest, he is moved, these are heartfelt searchings. But since he puts the question, the book must stand or fall by the quality of his reasonings, certainly by the answer with which he comes forth. The best we can say is that the spectacle of his fellows' sufferings and his own immersion in the battle quite blind Hilton to what this thing is about." N. L. Rothman
Sat R of Lit 26:22 D 18 '43 550w

"Although there is viciousness and vileness depicted, Louis Paul writes with such gentleness and sadness that the whole mood of the novel is one of calm quietude." Helen Lowe
+ Springf'd Republican p7e N 7 '43 250w

"The idea and stuff of an unusual book are here, but not the sharpness, the poignancy. The men seem to be cut out of the same cloth, their sufferings shadowed, Hilton's thinking pale. The Japanese, who are beginning to take the place of the Red Indian in our fiction, just as inhuman and incomprehensible, follow the usual pattern. To do Mr. Paul justice he has not cared to exploit the sensational values of atrocity, but in slurring them over his book loses force and effect on the reader's emotions." Catherine Brody
+ — Weekly Book Review p16 N 7 '43 500w

PAULI, HERTHA ERNESTINE. Silent night; the story of a song; il. by Fritz Kredel. 83p $2 Knopf

783.6 Carols 43-13486

Story of the origin and spread of the Christmas hymn, Silent Night, written to commemorate the 125th anniversary of its appearance. For children nine to twelve.

"This, surely, is one of the most beautiful and appropriate of Christmas stories—the true history of a song which is known and loved in every land where there is a Christmas." P. A. Whitney
+ Book Week p11 N 28 '43 180w
Booklist 40:100 N 15 '43
Cath World 158:316 D '43 70w

Reviewed by H. A. Masten
Christian Science Monitor p12 D 13 '43 90w
Commonweal 39:119 N 19 '43 40w

"Music and perceptive pictures have their share in making an appealing Christmas book out of this aptly told story." A. M. Jordan
+ Horn Bk 19:419 N '43 70w

Reviewed by R. W. Stewart
Library J 68:826 O 15 '43 70w

"The author has written an interesting story with sympathy and skill. The format is attractive with good type and sketches in black and white and in color by Fritz Kredel. Although slight, this is a worth-while addition. Recommended." L. E. Cathon
+ Library J 68:894 N 1 '43 90w

Reviewed by A. T. Eaton
N Y Times p53 D 5 '43 120w
Wis Lib Bul 39:147 N '43

PAULL, GRACE. Squash for the fair [il. by the author]. [25p] $1.50 Doubleday 43-13337

Picture-story book about small Mary Jane and the squash she raised and took to the fair.

"This is a particularly engaging story for younger children. . . No one can draw more delightful pictures of the American country scene than Grace Paull." Phyllis Whitney
+ Book Week p11 S 19 '43 70w
Booklist 40:50 O 1 '43

"Text and pictures will be absorbing for the four-to-seven-year-old." A. M. Jordan
+ Horn Bk 19:317 S '43 70w

"Author's four-color lithographic illustrations are delightful and combine with text to make a perfect book for children from four to eight." E. G. Mullan
+ Library J 68:672 S 1 '43 60w

Reviewed by E. S. Littlefield
Library J 68:818 O 15 '43 90w

Reviewed by A. T. Eaton
N Y Times p24 S 26 '43 200w
Wis Lib Bul 39:147 N '43

PAULMIER, HILAH CODDINGTON, and SCHAUFFLER, ROBERT HAVEN, eds. Pan-American day. (Our Am. holidays) 327p $2.50 Dodd

808.8 Literature—Collections. Pan Americanism 43-51011

"An anthology of the best prose and verse on Pan Americanism and the Good Neighbor policy. Plays, poems, essay material, speeches, exercises, and sayings for Pan-American Day and for year-round study in the schools." (Subtitle) Can be used with primary, elementary, and high schools. Bibliography.

Booklist 39:246 F 15 '43

"The value of the book as a reference work is its heterogeneity of content, and this same quality keeps it from being a very readable work. . . However, this heterogeneity would not normally defeat the purpose of such a book if the selections represented the finest in their various categories. Unfortunately the editors, with but few exceptions, have chosen rather pedestrian examples of thinking on the subject of the hemisphere, and with the exception of pieces by Rubin Dario, Rafael Pombo, and Camacho, have chosen none of the magnificent statements made by South American writers and statesmen which antedated nine-tenths of the selections which they have selected." A. N. Williams

— + Sat R of Lit 26:40 Ap 10 '43 230w

" 'Pan American Day' is unusually rich in plays for older children and elementary grades: it gathers poetry about the Americas and short descriptive passages easy to recite, devotes a closely packed section to the history and ideals of Pan-Americanism, gives historic speeches, and adds an up-to-date chapter of anecdotes, stories and legends, all program possibilities. All who know the series will be glad to hear of this addition to it." M. L. Becker

+ Weekly Book Review p8 Jl 11 '43 180w

Wis Lib Bul 39:52 Ap '43

PAXTON, VIRGINIA MARGARET (MRS CHARLES E. HARNER). Penthouse in Bogotá [il. by Rafael D. Palacios]. 304p $2.75 Reynal

918.6 Bogotá, Colombia 43-4566

The author and her husband, an AP correspondent, and their year-old son went to Bogotá, where Mr Harner opened the first Associated press bureau in the Colombian capital. This is a gay account of their struggles with inadequate Spanish and lack of knowledge generally to adjust themselves to South American customs of housekeeping and social gatherings.

"The book is a breezy and friendly account of housekeeping in a foreign land. Many American housewives—who can't go and do likewise—will read it with keen enjoyment."

+ Atlantic 171:129 My '43 120w

Booklist 39:331 Ap 15 '43

Cleveland Open Shelf p6 Ap '43

"Intimate and amusing accounts of adventures in alien city. Political and international relationship play a slight part." Margaret Winning

+ Library J 68:247 Mr 15 '43 110w

"The book is tender and gay and rich in laughs. It is definitely for domestic consumption. Aside from a romantic and somewhat garbled account of the Manuela Saenz legend and a flippant reference to the heart of Bolivar —a sacred relic about which Colombians do not jest—there is little history in it, and nothing of Colombia's great cultural wealth of music and poetry. But for North Americans a little dazed with war books it is the 'something light,' too rare in the book lists, a bright and cheery evening's reading, with not a social implication in all its 300 pleasant pages." N. B. Baker

+ N Y Times p21 Mr 28 '43 550w

"One would guess that the material for 'Penthouse in Bogota' is based on the anecdotes that found the best reception in those gatherings back home where returned wanderers regale their friends with the cream of their travellers' tales. But conversation pieces do not always make the best books, and Miss Paxton is so entertaining that the lack of a real Colombian flavor is all the more regrettable." David Loth

+ — Sat R of Lit 26:32 Ap 10 '43 360w

" 'Penthouse in Bogota' is an illuminating book because it goes into such merry detail about the domestic side of life in a foreign land. . . [It] is an entirely unaffected and vivid account of an unmomentous visit abroad." Iris Barry

+ Weekly Book Review p2 Mr 28 '43 950w

Wis Lib Bul 39:72 My '43

PEARSON, JAMES CONSTANTINE. Reciprocal trade agreements program; the policy of the United States and its effectiveness. 328p $2 Catholic univ. of Am.

337.91 U.S.—Commercial policy. Reciprocity. Tariff—U.S. 43-2321

"In the Preface to this study of the Trade Agreements Program, the author points out that the best method of approach to the problem of evaluating the effectiveness of the program is to view it 'within the framework of a proper perspective and adequate theoretical background.' In support of this thesis, the first half of the book is devoted to a historical and analytical survey of the development of international commercial policy from medieval times to the present, with special emphasis on the period between the World War and the outbreak of the present conflict. Even in the second half of the book, which is more directly concerned with Mr. Hull's program, much space is given to a discussion of American foreign trade and commercial policy in the nineteen twenties and early thirties. Scarcely a third of the book, therefore, is devoted to a description and analysis of the Trade Agreements Program itself." Am Econ R

"In his handling of the background material to which he devotes so large a share of his attention, the author shows a wide knowledge of the literature of international trade and commercial policy. He succeeds, moreover, in covering a very broad field with proper balance and emphasis. In spite of these merits, the discussion is somewhat cumbersome and makes rather dull reading, partly because the style is excessively formal and partly because of the author's penchant for elaborately cataloguing such phenomena as the causes of the world depression or the repercussions of the Smoot-Hawley Tariff act." M. S. Gordon

+ — Am Econ R 33:424 Je '43 900w

"A lot of work went into the book, which was a Ph.D. thesis at the Catholic University of America. Except for the analysis of the Belgian agreement, nothing has been added to our knowledge or understanding of the trade agreements program." William Diebold, Jr.

Ann Am Acad 227:169 My '43 450w

PEARSON, LIONEL. Local historians of Attica. 167p $2.25 Am. philological assn.

938 Greece—History 43-920

"Pearson's book, originally a dissertation accepted at Yale University, shares with its predecessor, Early Ionian Historians (Oxford University Press, 1939) [Book Review Digest, 1940], the merit of presenting for the first time a detailed and yet comprehensive study of an important group of Greek historians. It is divided into seven chapters: 'The Atthis of Hellanicus,' 'The Place of Thucydides in the Tradition,' 'The Successors of Thucydides,' 'The Earlier Atthidographers,' 'Ephorus, Theopompus, and Aristotle,' 'Philochorus and Ister,' and 'The Atthis Tradition.' " Am Hist R

Reviewed by Herbert Bloch

Am Hist R 48:765 Jl '43 650w

"The author is, of course, dealing with very slippery materials, regarding which scholars are not likely to reach unanimity of opinion. All that we know about these early historians is derived from a few brief fragments preserved by antiquarians of Roman or Byzantine times. Pearson's scrutiny of these fragments is conscientious and minute—at times almost too minute— but it is questionable whether so elaborate an edifice as his can safely be built upon them." J. W. Swain

Class Philol 38:207 Jl '43 1500w

PEARSON, RALPH M. Experiencing American pictures. 234p il $3.75 Harper

701 Art—U.S. Esthetics. Pictures

43-504

Study of contemporary American art which attempts to differentiate between factual and creative interpretations trends. Many kinds of art—advertising, book and magazine illustrations, cartoons, comics, animated cartoons, prints, and paintings are considered. Index.

Booklist 39:288 Mr 15 '43

"Mr. Pearson is perhaps too literal-minded in applying his test, and he writes very badly, but there is a basis for his every judgment, right or wrong. He has earnestness, sincerity, and knowledge. Also, he examines seriously comic strips, advertising, and magazine art, and makes some shrewd points about Bud Fisher and the New Yorker cartoonists. If only Mr. Pearson had the power to generalize as well as observe; as it is, his book is disjointed, and quite boring except when some specific work of art is being dealt with."

— + Nation 156:355 Mr 6 '43 240w

"There is too much dependence on musical terms for pictorial analysis and a consequent blurring of critical values; otherwise, this is an excellent volume."

+ — New Yorker 18:62 Ja 30 '43 50w

Wis Lib Bul 39:51 Ap '43

PEASLEE, AMOS JENKINS. Permanent United nations. 146p $1.50 Putnam

321.021 International cooperation. Hague. Permanent court of international justice. United nations, 1942-. Reconstruction (1939-) 42-50327

"The author has a clear-cut plan for the political organization of the world after the war. In the first place, Germany, as a 'habitual offender' against peace and decency, must be kept under restraint as long as necessary. Japan does not enter into his calculations, doubtless because most of the materials here presented were written before Japan had become public peril number two. The United Nations must have a written constitution defining the sovereign rights that the separate nations retain (a sort of bill of rights for nations) and those which are surrendered to the union. The last section of the book is the text of a 'proposed amendment to the judiciary articles of the constitution of the League of Nations' which the author submitted in 1919 to the American delegation at Versailles and which, after its failure to be adopted, he was requested not to release for publication at that time." (Christian Century) Index.

"Lucid little volume." Josef Hanč

Ann Am Acad 227:161 My '43 500w

Christian Century 60:52 Ja 13 '43 130w

Commonweal 37:381 Ja 29 '43 30w

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert

Foreign Affairs 21:4 Jl '43 20w

PEATTIE, DONALD CULROSS. Journey into America; il. in color by Lynd Ward. 276p $3 Houghton

973 U.S.—History. U.S.—Civilization

43-14843

A reinterpretation of America and the American spirit, by an American novelist, naturalist, and scholar. In a series of sketches, each seizing upon some aspect of America's past, local history, or characteristics, he attempts to picture the fundamentals of his country's greatness. The book is presented as an open letter to a former German friend.

Reviewed by Edward Weeks

Atlantic 172:139 D '43 240w

"More than any other current book of its kind, 'Journey into America' is the story of how we became what we are, told as only Donald Culross Peattie could tell it, with all the consummate mastery of English prose that placed 'An Almanac for Moderns,' 'A Book of Hours' and 'Singing in the Wilderness' far above other books in their genre. It has been said of Peattie that he is in the great tradition of Thoreau and W. H. Hudson; but he is more than that. By his very devotion to more than the face of his country, he is himself and in his work a tradition." August Derleth

+ Book Week p1 O 3 '43 650w

Booklist 40:76 N 1 '43

Christian Science Monitor p12 O 30 '43 700w

"Although the chapters of this 'Journey' appeared first as a series of magazine articles and retain some of the amusing historical inaccuracies, in minor details, of the original essays, the book is history, alive and alert. The volume is a tonic to the mind and the spirit. With no pretense of profundity, the author writes honestly and fearlessly of his belief and his hope." D. S. Rankin

+ — Commonweal 39:99 N 12 '43 390w

"The general plan of the edifice, the noble proportions and the finely wrought details—all these I admire and praise greatly. Poetry is more than the sum of its parts, just as a building is more than the number of its bricks. The poetic is present on every page of 'Journey Into America.'. There is, as in Mr. Peattie's books generally, an enthusiasm for the basic matter of nature as well as for its mere beauties. There is an enthusiasm too for words and figures and rhythms, so that sentences first start out from the page and then linger in the memory. Mr. Peattie has presented his book as an interpretation of America. In some ways I think it might better be called a reaffirmation of faith in America. It is a good book for Americans to read, not because something of what is said is new, but because much of what is said is old." G. R. Stewart

+ N Y Times p3 O 3 '43 850w

"The author seems to detour some of the rough spots and he has a weakness for easy effects and romantic half-truths. Even so, he makes rich poetry out of the things we have been and are."

+ — New Yorker 19:87 O 2 '43 130w

Reviewed by P. I. Wellman

Sat R of Lit 26:7 O 9 '43 700w

Reviewed by Stewart Holbrook

+ — Weekly Book Review p5 O 10 '43 1200w

Wis Lib Bul 39:145 N '43

PEATTIE, LOUISE (REDFIELD) (MRS DONALD CULROSS PEATTIE). Ring finger. 315p $2.50 Dutton

43-3409

Character sketch of a charming young American dancer, born into an aristocratic family, which had fallen upon evil days. From a raided night club Folly was taken by her rescuer to his luxurious home, and from there she went to her grandfather farther up the California coast. After Pearl Harbor, Folly danced for the troops, and finally resolved her own tangled emotional problems, when she decided to marry the man who had first rescued her.

"The story starts out like a conventional piece of light fiction, but its quality steadily improves until at the end you are ready to believe there are such people." Charlotte Dean

+ N Y Times p14 Ap 11 '43 340w

Springf'd Republican p7e Mr 7 '43 220w

" 'Ring Finger' is a novel of many artifices, and Mrs. Peattie's style has acquired a corresponding unnaturalness. Speech is sharpened into epigram, and often the phrasing is stitched in odd threads—Folly in a 'feckless plight,' Breck in 'royal dudgeon,' Terrill 'retreated to his single privacies,' which means going to the bathroom. One misses the writing texture of 'Wine With a Stranger' and other earlier books by Mrs. Peattie." Lisle Bell

PEATTIE, LOUISE—Continued
Weekly Book Review p10 Mr 14 '43 850w
Wis Lib Bul 39:74 My '43

PEATTIE, RODERICK, ed. Great Smokies and the Blue Ridge; the story of the southern Appalachians; the contributors: Edward S. Drake [and others]. 372p il $3.75 Vanguard
917.68 Great Smoky mountains. Blue Ridge mountains 43-18187

"The second volume in the American mountain Series. . . Roderick Peattie knows this region well, for it was his home as a young boy. In this volume, 'a guide to the understanding of a mountain area and the people who live therein,' he has included those authors who contributed most vitally to this understanding. His distinguished brother, Donald Culross Peattie, has contributed three fine chapters in his own inimitable style: 'Indian Days and the Coming of the White Man,' 'Men, Mountains and Trees,' and 'Blue Ridge Wild Flowers.' Alberta Pierson Hannum, who has taught and lived in these mountains, writes of the people themselves—intimate little vignettes of their beliefs and customs." (Scientific Bk Club R) Index.

Reviewed by J. T. Frederick
Book Week p4 Ja 2 '44 350w
Booklist 40:182 Ja 15 '44
Reviewed by Alfred Mynders
+ N Y Times p7 D 26 '43 1050w

"A very superior book, all in all, about a very superior part of the country."
+ New Yorker 19:68 Ja 1 '44 110w
Scientific Bk Club R 14:3 D '43 420w

"This is without doubt one of the best books ever written about the Southern mountains, but it is difficult to describe because it does not fall into any familiar category. . . It is far from being a guide-book in the ordinary sense. It will, to be sure, serve a prospective visitor well, but it is pleasant reading even in these days when gasoline rationing makes vacation touring out of the question." G. W. Johnson
+ Weekly Book Review p3 D 19 '43 850w

PECK, ANNE MERRIMAN. Manoel and the Morning Star; pictures by [the author]. 31p $1.75 Harper
43-6568

Picture story book about young Manoel of Bahia, on the coast of Brazil. Manoel's ambition was to sail with his friend, captain of the Morning Star, which cruised along the coast. Shows something of the waterfront life of a South American port.

Booklist 39:448 Jl 1 '43
Reviewed by F. B. Sloan
Christian Science Monitor p10 S 27 '43 90w
Reviewed by A. M. Jordan
Horn Bk 19:237 Jl '43 40w
Reviewed by Gertrude Andrus
Library J 68:479 Je 1 '43 70w
Reviewed by A. M. Jordan
Sat R of Lit 26:27 My 15 '43 90w

"This is a pleasant, wholesome way for a seven-year-old—or even younger if he looks at the colored pictures while some one reads—to visit Brazil. The pictures were all made in Bahia." M. L. Becker
+ Weekly Book Review p8 My 9 '43 380w
Wis Lib Bul 39:125 O '43

PECK, ANNE MERRIMAN. The pageant of Canadian history. 370p map $3 Longmans
971 Canada—History 43-17250

"This is a comprehensive history of Canada painted in broad strokes to give the movement and sweep of great periods and developments." Christian Science Monitor

Reviewed by Leo Kennedy
Book Week p4 D 26 '43 360w
Booklist 40:168 Ja 1 '44

"It is a good book to give U.S. Americans a better understanding of our best and nearest neighbor."
+ Christian Century 60:1507 D 22 '43 90w
Reviewed by M. K. McElderry
Christian Science Monitor p10 N 18 '43 60w

"A comprehensive and illuminating book for older readers." A. M. Jordan
+ Horn Bk 20:44 Ja '44 70w
Reviewed by J. E. Cross
Library J 68:958 N 15 '43 100w

"This is an excellent book. Indeed, for the purposes of a general reader who wants to know all about Canada, past, present and with a glimpse into the future, I do not know of a better." Stephen Leacock
+ N Y Times p4 Ja 23 '44 1250w
Social Studies 35:94 F '44 40w

" 'The Pageant of Canadian History' is a satisfactory piece of work; it will have fulfilled its function if it encourages an understanding of Canada and stimulates greater interest in her history and people." Alden Whitman
+ Weekly Book Review p8 F 6 '44 400w

PECK, ANNE MERRIMAN. Young Canada; il. by the author. 248p $2 McBride
917.1 Canada—Social life and customs. Children in Canada 43-14417

Describes the lives, customs, sports, ambitions, and historical backgrounds of the young people of the various provinces of Canada. The book is divided into sections; the Maritimes; French Canada; Old Ontario; Pioneers and prairies; British Columbia; Northwest territories; and North Americans all.

Booklist 40:117 D 1 '43

"Altogether this is an inviting volume." F. B. Sloan
+ Christian Science Monitor p6 O 14 '43 110w
Reviewed by A. M. Jordan
Horn Bk 19:415 N '43 80w

"Recommended for young people's collections and high school libraries, as well as for children's departments. Charming full-page illustrations by author." S. J. Johnson
+ Library J 68:773 O 1 '43 60w
Reviewed by R. W. Stewart
Library J 68:826 O 15 '43 40w
Reviewed by E. L. Buell
N Y Times p18 O 3 '43 270w

"There is virtually no conversation in the information-packed book and its length might prove wearing to a young reader." E. S. P.
Springf'd Republican p7e O 3 '43 160w

PECKHAM, MRS BETTY (CLOCK). Other people's children; il. by Howard Imhoff. 198p $2 Nelson
43-5112

"The author has chosen a broad canvas for her story—the development of the nursery school and child-care movement with the coming of the war. June Burke has a real way with children, so it is natural that she should come to New York to study at the Brownell School. But she is taking a great risk because she has no money and no job. She earns her way for two years as governess of 'other people's children.' . . She learns a lot not only about children themselves but about the environment that determines their behavior, so that when a real wartime job comes at last she is ready to take it." N Y Times

---

"I think any teen aged girl who intends to become a nurse, or to work with children should read this book. The story does not delve too deeply, but gives you an understanding of the subject." Patricia Rothschild
Book Week p11 Ag 15 '43 160w

Reviewed by Eleanor Kidder
Library J 68:434 My 15 '43 80w

"One of today's major problems receives knowledgeable and sympathetic treatment." E. M. Morrow
+ N Y Times p10 My 9 '43 140w

"There are no villains in the adult cast and none of the children are freaks; the attitude of the author is that of the girl herself, who not only loves children but likes them, 'knows how to get along with them' and earns the admiration of their parents." M. L. Becker
+ Weekly Book Review p10 My 16 '43 400w

PECKHAM, HOWARD H. Guide to the manuscript collections in the Library. See Michigan. University. William L. Clements library of American history

PEET, CREIGHTON. Runaway train; phot. by [the author]. [71p] $1.75 Holt
Photographic books 43-4858

Photographs and text describe the adventures of David and his first electric train. As soon as David and his playmates had the train set up, it started out on a journey of its own—out the front door, thru the town, in and out of stores, even making a tunnel thru a bank, while David and Peter panted after the runaway. When the train finally came home, David locked it into a closet.

"Creighton Peet has written an entertaining text to accompany his excellent photographs." P. A. Whitney
+ Book Week p10 Mr 28 '43 230w

"Not a must item, but small boys will enjoy it because of subject matter." D. M. MacDonald
Library J 68:329 Ap 15 '43 50w

"The book is a boon to children of the machine age and proves to worried parents that mechanics have not yet killed the God-given sense of fantasy." E. L. Buell
+ N Y Times p16 Je 27 '43 200w

"The text, which in the beginning seems a little wordy for a book of this nature, is hardly necessary, since the pictures explain themselves and the reader is too excited over what is coming next to bother with a description of what he is looking at." W. H.
Springf'd Republican p7e Mr 21 '43 170w

Reviewed by M. L. Becker
Weekly Book Review p12 My 23 '43 330w

Wis Lib Bul 39:87 Je '43

PEFFER, NATHANIEL. Basis for peace in the Far East. 277p $2.50 Harper
940.531445 Reconstruction (1939-)—East (Far East). Eastern question (Far East). U.S.—Foreign relations—East (Far East) 42-25169

For descriptive note see Annual for 1942.

"Well-founded in his thorough knowledge of his subject, Mr. Peffer's ideas are presented in his usual enjoyable style. They are thought-provoking and entitled to the serious attention of specialist and layman alike." H. S. Quigley
+ Am Pol Sci R 37:354 Ap '43 550w

Bookmark 5:13 Ja '43

Christian Century 60:267 Mr 3 '43 360w

"Probably as good a study as any, of one of our most perplexing problems. Not all readers will agree."
Commonweal 37:620 Ap 9 '43 20w

Reviewed by J. S. Gurley
Current Hist 3:545 F '43 380w

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert
Foreign Affairs 21:587 Ap '43 90w

"Among the increasing number of books, pamphlets, and memoranda on the problem of peace settlement and post-war order in the Far East, Professor Peffer's new book Basis for Peace in the Far East must be deemed one of the most important, and as such deserves careful reading not only by all students of international affairs who are particularly concerned with the future peace in the Pacific region, but also by diplomats and statesmen who may be actually called upon to play a role in the forthcoming peace settlement in the Far East." S. R. Chow
+ Pacific Affairs 16:111 Mr '43 2000w

"The value of this admirable little volume rests largely upon the questions it evokes. Mr. Peffer has produced a remarkably well-considered starting point for a discussion of the post-bellum Pacific structure. To those who will some day draft the peace terms for Japan, or even to the general reader concerned over the Pacific problems, this book is mandatory reading." M. J. Gayn
+ Sat R of Lit 26:18 F 6 '43 950w

Wis Lib Bul 39:40 Mr '43

PEGUY, CHARLES PIERRE. Basic verities; prose and poetry; rendered into English by Ann and Julian Green. 282p $2.75 Pantheon bks, inc, 41 Washington sq, N.Y.
848 43-1662

Selections from the prose and poetry of this French Catholic idealistic writer, who was killed at the Battle of the Marne in the first World War. The French text and the English translations appear on opposite pages. In his introduction Julian Green has written an account of Péguy's life and an evaluation of his work.

"In all respects the preparation of this book has conformed to high standards. The English translation which page by page faces the French original, is artistic, honest and free—surprisingly free at times." Joseph McSorley
+ — Cath World 157:323 Je '43 700w

Christian Century 60:362 Mr 24 '43 390w

"Proud of his peasant origin and imbued with the importance of simplicity Péguy affected no particular style. The convictions which came to him were set down in a straightforward manner, with an emphasis by constant repetition, as in the effort to impress a child; and this very lack of 'style' in a way gave him style. . . It is a stimulating experience to read this book."
+ Christian Science Monitor p11 Mr 13 '43 450w

"Julian Green has had the great courage to present the French text along with its translation, and for those who know if only a little French this provides access to the rhythm and richness of the original. Péguy's language is so simple that the experiment is not at all too difficult. The choice of prose extracts is excellent: on basic verities, on the honor of work, on the modern world, on the Jews, on war and peace: some of the noblest passages from the poetic work are here. No one for whom Péguy is still but a name should miss this remarkable volume; no one who has ever loved Péguy in the past, and is now perhaps without his books, but will find here selected themes leading back into a remembered symphony."
+ Commonweal 37:376 Ja 29 '43 1200w

Reviewed by Paul Rosenfeld
Nation 156:276 F 20 '43 1700w

Reviewed by Conrad Aiken
New Repub 108:804 Je 14 '43 550w

"English versions, which are often distinguished and beautiful, are printed side by side with the French originals, and Julian Green has written a genuinely admirable introduction. The translators have succeeded rather better with the verse than with the prose. Some lack of familiarity with English

PEGUY, C. P.—Continued
idiom seems to have been a handicap occasionally, but I think it only proves the more clearly that this book is a labor of love." G. N. Shuster

+ N Y Times p12 F 28 '43 1000w
New Yorker 18:60 Ja 23 '43 50w

"The introduction by Julian Green is gracious and well written, yet it remains on the surface and avoids the essential issues of Péguy's life and work. The translation on the whole is very good, especially in the poetical part. To most readers it will be highly welcome that the French original faces the English translation. The selection is on the whole well done." Hans Kohn

+ Sat R of Lit 26:8 Jl 24 '43 1100w

Reviewed by C. D. Kean
Springf'd Republican p6 Ap 12 '43 650w

"This is a book of rare importance. It introduces to America in the original text and with page-by-page translation a writer who fell in an early battle of the first world war and who now has become the noblest voice of his unhappy land. We need to know Charles Péguy as a representative of France at her best. We should know him also as a major prophet of that better world toward which, in the present darkness, good men and women of whatever country agonize." John Erskine

+ Weekly Book Review p2 My 2 '43 1500w

PELLER, MRS LILI ESTHER, and MUMFORD, MRS SOPHIA (WITTENBERG). Our new baby; with an introd. by Hazel Corbin and il. by Dorothy Buck. 32p $1.50 Vanguard

649.1 Infants—Care and hygiene—Juvenile literature 43-10254

Describes for children the weakness and dependability of a new baby in the home. It explains about the soft spot on the baby's head, its weak neck and back, the need for sleep and more frequent feeding, and shows the older child how to use his own superior strength. The author is a Viennese child psychologist, who has had the assistance of Mrs Lewis Mumford, in writing the book.

"Every small girl and boy to whom this book is read aloud will learn about baby's care, and will also come through the experience with a well bolstered ego and a feeling of being necessary to both mother and the new baby. The book should be welcomed by every mother who is anxious to have her older children make the necessary psychological adjustments in their acceptance of one who might be regarded as a usurper." P. A. Whitney

+ Book Week p10 Jl 18 '43 180w

"The drawings in sepia are life-like and gentle; they emphasize how much bigger the old baby is than the new one, and draw out his protective teaching instinct. They remind him, by pictures of children in old-fashioned clothes and by his own baby pictures, that everybody once was a baby." M. L. Becker

+ Weekly Book Review p6 Ag 8 '43 200w

PELLOWE, WILLIAM CHARLES SMITHSON. Lamps of liberty. 155p $1.50 Dorrance

252 Sermons 43-5308

"A series of somewhat disconnected essays, or sermonettes (since each has a text), all tending to indicate that the roots of democracy are in Christianity and that religion is a determining factor in the good life." Christian Century

---

Christian Century 60:459 Ap 14 '43 40w

"The topics Dr Pellowe treats arise from today's life and are developed with thoughtfulness and sincerity."

+ Springf'd Republican p7e N 21 '43 80w

PEN, JOHN. You can't do that to Svoboda. 195p $2 Dial press

43-5437

Story of a small Czechoslovakian town near Prague, where the village idiot, one Svoboda, was the railroad porter. When the Nazis came to take over they picked on Svoboda as a likely scapegoat for their machinations, and presently he found himself in a concentration camp. Svoboda was too simple to realize the truth of the situation until the Reich confiscated his life's saving of 318 sokols ($10.87). Then Svoboda went into action.

Reviewed by Arna Bontemps
Book Week p5 Je 6 '43 450w

"This is an unpretentious book—it never offers straight comment but it creates its atmospheres delicately and carefully. We like to think it would make the Nazis froth at the mouth because of its very impudence."

+ Boston Globe p15 Mr 31 '43 100w

"Surely the nicest title of the year is 'You Can't Do That to Svoboda.'. . It is a nice book, too, on the worm-that-turned theme which is always so heartening both in fiction and in life, and especially endearing when the worm is a Slovakian station porter who turns against the Nazis." Diana Trilling

+ Nation 156:533 Ap 10 '43 50w

"You can read this little tale about Svoboda, the simpleton, in about two hours, but its meaning will stay with you long after. And, apart from the disturbing questions it arouses, it is a masterpiece in its portrayal of a town and its people before and during the occupation of an armed conqueror. Pen tells his tale with a simplicity that is beautifully wedded to his subject." Rose Feld

+ N Y Times p41 Mr 21 '43 900w

"We have not had a story like this since Anatole France stopped work." M. L. Becker

+ Weekly Book Review p5 Mr 21 '43 650w

PENDELL, ELMER, and others, eds. Society under analysis; an introduction to sociology. 711p il $4 Cattell

300 Sociology 42-22942

"Although apparently prepared primarily for use by students in introductory courses in sociology, this encyclopedic volume will be of great interest and value to the general reader seeking a broad and inclusive survey of the science of human relationships. The authors of its twenty-six chapters are twenty-one professors in as many colleges and universities in the United States. . . The subjects considered run the entire gamut from man's anthropological background and geologic environment through human biology and psychology to the family, religion, adult education, political organization, social tensions resulting from crime and poverty, population trends, and cultural evolution." Scientific Bk Club R

"The book was written to serve as an introductory text in the field of sociology. It serves its purpose well. . . As in the case of any book of composite authorship, this volume reflects uneven levels of mature scholarship and degrees of variance in matters of theoretical interpretation." S. G. Cole

+ — Crozer Q 20:166 Ap '43 600w

Reviewed by J. H. Bunzel
School & Society 58:191 S 11 '43 450w
Scientific Bk Club R 13:4 S '42 270w

"This text is an interesting change from many of those now in use in that it brings together the opinions of 21 teachers in the field of sociology. This gives the reader great variety, but whether or not it will prove satisfactory to introductory students remains to be seen. . . However, in checking subject matter one is conscious of the omission of the health problems and health organizations in the United States and feels regretful when the Federal Social Security program is covered in one paragraph consisting of two sentences. Introductory students need to know more about these programs which affect their daily lives." L. S. Ebaugh

+ — Social Forces 21:486 My '43 750w

PENDLETON, ANN, pseud. See Trask, M. B.

PENNINGTON, LEON ALFRED; HOUGH, ROMEYN BECK, and CASE, H. W. Psychology of military leadership; foreword by Wilton B. Persons. 288p $2.95; to schools $2.25 Prentice-Hall

355.331 Leadership. Armies—Officers
43-1412

"The book goes into the techniques that enable the Army to expand and operate with the greatest efficiency and speed. It helps the reader to gain a comprehensive understanding of problems in the control of men. It discusses in detail such subjects as leadership, principles of motivation and instructorship." (Book Week) The chapters are on the officer as: instructor, learner, leader, disciplinarian, personnel technician; and the officer and adjustment to military service; the officer and his men in battle; and the officer and army morale. Glossary. Index.

"The 'Psychology of Military Leadership' is a 'must' on the reading list of both industrialist and prospective officer. . . Splendid examples of discipline and personal adjustment are cited. A thorough study of morale and the techniques of its development is undertaken." A. C. Michaelis

+ Book Week p9 Mr 21 '43 160w

"Stemming from the authors' experience, [these suggestions] will be most useful, not only to officers and officer candidates, but also to anyone handling men in large numbers. An especially valuable chapter is on morale and its cultivation." James Stokley

+ Weekly Book Review p14 My 30 '43 100w

PENTECOST, HUGH, pseud. See Philips, J. P.

PEOPLE'S peace, by representatives of the United nations. 271p $2.50 Stewart

940.531 World war, 1939—Peace. Reconstruction (1939-)
43-8580

"Official and unofficial representatives of 18 of the United nations express opinions on issues that will arise in the postwar period, each with relation to his own country. Some of the material has appeared previously in articles and addresses." Booklist

Booklist 39:443 Jl 1 '43

Bookmark 4:14 My '43

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert
Foreign Affairs 22:154 O '43 30w

Reviewed by John MacCormac
N Y Times p20 Ag 8 '43 600w

" 'The People's Peace' does not claim to be definitive. It is simply ground work. Its selections do not aim to persuade the reader to follow a special point of view. Some of the twenty-eight representatives quoted have the right to speak officially; others have not. Some of them are vague; they speak in generalities. Others are specific. . . To us here in America some of the most inspiring pages in the volume contain the words of Mexico's brilliant Foreign Minister Ezequiel Padilla." H. C. Wolfe

Sat R of Lit 26:21 Jl 10 '43 650w

"A vigorous book. Its highest value will be to those who welcome such an opportunity to compare national statements and to envisage thereby not only difficulties of reconstruction but the steadily emergent sense that for all their differences the destruction which all share in global war is bringing about, the world over, a consciousness of first things to be undertaken after this war." M. L. Becker

+ Weekly Book Review p22 Je 13 '43 500w

Wis Lib Bul 39:108 Jl '43

PERCY, WILLIAM ALEXANDER. Collected poems; foreword by Roark Bradford. 386p $3.50 Knopf 811

43-12059

"This volume brings under one cover all the verse which the late William Alexander Percy published in his lifetime: 'Sappho in Levkas' (1915), 'In April Once' (1920), 'Enzio's Kingdom' (1924) and 'Selected Poems' (1930). No poem has been omitted or revised." (N Y Times) The author was a Southerner, who was a lawyer, soldier, plantation owner, and patriot.

"Percy's poetry is literary and derivative in the least desirable sense of that double-edged word. He felt deeply, but his persistent use of the coinage of other and better poets (John Keats was one) prevents his poems (in the main) from communicating that emotion simply and genuinely to the reader. . . At times Percy overcame his self-conscious writing, and when he did some simple charming lyrics resulted. You read one with a pickup of pleasure and turn the page only to find more Capri impromptus, precious and unreal, and Arcadian idylls that insufficiently echo Bion and Moschus a long time after." L. K.

— + Book Week p8 S 12 '43 230w

Booklist 40:90 N 15 '43

"Though its imprint is 1943 much of the book is anachronistic. What could a reviewer say of 'This Side of Paradise' if it were put into his hands and he were told it had just come from the press? This analogy is not far-fetched. Percy considered himself a poet; what he wrote in verse seemed to him more essentially himself than anything he said or did. Yet he deliberately stood aside from the poetic movements of his time." Willard Thorp

N Y Times p4 S 5 '43 1600w

Reviewed by W. R. Benet
Sat R of Lit 26:23 O 16 '43 200w

Reviewed by Caroline Gordon
Weekly Book Review p2 Ja 9 '44 1300w

PERDUE, VIRGINIA. He fell down dead. 216p $2 Doubleday
43-14283

Psychological murder story.

Reviewed by Elizabeth Bullock
Book Week p8 O 3 '43 140w

Booklist 40:80 N 1 '43

"Besides being a good murder mystery, this is an excellent psychological novel about a man with a fixed idea who is so sure that he is right that he permits nothing to stand in his way." Isaac Anderson

+ N Y Times p8 S 12 '43 120w

"Unless you're in just the right mood, this may at times seem a little self-conscious in its efforts to chill you."

New Yorker 19:80 S 4 '43 70w

"Very good."

+ Sat R of Lit 26:20 S 11 '43 30w

Time 42:104 O 11 '43 50w

"Miss Perdue provides a clever brand of suspense, a nice variety of fatalities and a skillfully planned puzzle. Her people are of the staring type." Will Cuppy

+ — Weekly Book Review p18 S 12 '43 140w

PERELMAN, SIDNEY JOSEPH. Dream department. 210p $2 Random house

817
43-1779

Twenty-five humorous articles, many of them reprinted from the New Yorker. They deal in exasperated, poker-faced prose with dentistry, underwear, taxes, a famous restaurant, and the love life of Gauguin, among other trifles.

Booklist 39:272 Mr 1 '43

"Mr. P. is one of the craftiest, slyest, most accomplished writers of nonsense now practicing. But can the customers stand a whole book of it at one dose? It is a moot point. Many of us are geared for only one laugh of the Perelman brand a week. However, there is no compulsion about reading this book at one sitting. One chapter every few days ought to turn the trick." Stanley Walker

+ Books p14 Ja 31 '43 480w

"Many of the sketches in this book have appeared in the New Yorker. They bear re-reading, if you can take so much wild wit and mad parody without decorating your coiffure with straws."

Boston Globe p15 F 3 '43 90w

PERELMAN, S. J.—Continued
Reviewed by Diana Trilling
Nation 156:320 F 27 '43 50w

"S. J. Perelman can be carping, coy, niggling, extravagant or downright tough. In any mood his stuff is lunatic and delightful." Beatrice Sherman
+ N Y Times p3 Ja 31 '43 650w
New Yorker 18:60 Ja 23 '43 50w

Reviewed by Thomas Sugrue
Sat R of Lit 26:21 F 13 '43 200w
Time 41:84 F 1 '43 850w

PERKINS, HENRY AUGUSTUS. College physics, abridged. rev ed 593p il $4 Prentice-Hall
530 Physics 43-7993

"From the basic material in mechanics, heat, sound and wave motion, Dr. Perkins advances to electricity and magnetism and ends with a section on corpuscular physics, which contains an excellent summary of modern attacks on the atomic nucleus, commonly called 'atom smashing.' " (Weekly Book Review) Index.

"We have here a worthy companion to the more comprehensive book. All major topics have been retained, the abridgment having been accomplished mainly by deletion of less basic material. Some of the text has been rewritten, though, of course, most of it has not." H. K. Schilling
+ R of Scientific Instruments 14:306 O '43 180w

Reviewed by James Stokley
Weekly Book Review p32 O 3 '43 100w

PERKINS, ROLLIN MORRIS. Elements of police science. 651p il $4.75 Foundation press
351.74 Police. Criminal law 42-5502

"This is a rather lengthy treatise by Professor Perkins of the University of Iowa law faculty, who is also director of the Iowa Peace Officers' Short Course. It deals, sometimes in popular fashion, with the basic data relating to the practice of the policeman's art. There are thirteen chapters on 'Special Problems of Police Science,' nine of them contributed by specialists in the several fields." Ann Am Acad

"Professor Perkins' book takes its place with many another that has been directed toward the same ends, but in its conscientious effort to provide a firm foundation for the policeman's study of the criminal law, it deserves and will receive especially high rank in its field." Bruce Smith
+ Ann Am Acad 221:241 My '42 700w
Booklist 39:312 Ap 1 '43
Library J 68:130 F 1 '43 30w

PERNIKOFF, OSSIP ALEXANDRE JOSEPH. Bushido, the anatomy of terror. 284p $2.75 Liveright
951.8 Japanese in Manchuria. National characteristics, Japanese 43-6308

This book, which purports to be the somewhat edited narrative of a young Russian herein called Oleg Volgin, relates how he became a member of the Japanese secret service in Manchukuo and of his "training" for his work.

"The book is written in the best horror-story style, and as such it has few if any superiors. As propaganda it seems to be too convincing a story to be effective. The reader is likely to classify the book as a shocker, and enjoy it as such, rather than as a factual account that would lead to the stereotyping of the Japanese as subhuman beasts." R. T. LaPiere
+ — Am Soc R 8:733 D '43 170w

"Pernikoff's judgment of Japanese character as a whole is sweeping and pessimistic. He feels that Japan is a nation terrorized, mentally enslaved, and not aware of the fact; forever smiling behind a mask, and hopelessly brutalized within. His samples of depraved Japanese on the loose abroad have blinded him to a Nipponese homeland which, fortunately, does exist and has common humanity—something to work with in a post-war future. But his picture of Japan-in-Harbin seems both true and horrible." R. G.
Christian Science Monitor p12 Mr 2 '43 600w

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert
Foreign Affairs 22:167 O '43 10w

"Rings true; closely resembles Vespa's Secret Agent of Japan, which describes many of the same incidents, but is more personal. Strong medicine." R. S. Alvarez
Library J 68:82 Ja 15 '43 100w

"If it can reasonably be established that what this book says is true, then it should be brought before the attention of every person in America who knows how to read a printed page. If, on the other hand, the book's reliability cannot be proved, then it represents perhaps the severest count to be brought against any American publisher in this war." N. C.
Sat R of Lit 26:12 Mr 6 '43 1150w

" 'Bushido' can hardly be accepted as an authoritative or balanced account of Japanese activities in Manchuria, but there is increasing evidence to support its account of the depravity into which some Japanese have sunk." Joseph Newman
Weekly Book Review p15 Mr 14 '43 850w

PEROL GUERRERO, ANTONIO, comp. New technical and commercial dictionary. (Editorial technica unida bk) 600p mor thumb indexed $10 Chemical pub. co. [42s Cassell]
603 Technology—Dictionaries. Commerce—Dictionaries. Spanish language—Dictionaries 43-13703

"Contains more than 50,000 words used in electrical, mechanical, chemical and marine engineering, radio, mining, textile and other industries. Also the modern words referring to mechanized and motorized warfare, aviation, meteorology, etc., etc. Words used in business and commerce, conversion tables of weights and measures, English and metric systems. . . Though some general words are included the vocabulary is primarily restricted to the fields mentioned. Some technical terms are included which are not found in the 1940 edition of Appleton's New English-Spanish and Spanish-English Dictionary, by Cuyás, or in the 1942 edition of A New Pronouncing Dictionary of the Spanish and English Languages, by Velázquez. Each of these include some technical terms which are not in Guerrero. The New Technical and Commercial Dictionary is not as comprehensive as the English-Spanish Comprehensive Technical Dictionary of Aircraft, Automobile, Radio, Television, by Sell, which was reviewed in Subscription Books Bulletin, January, 1942 [under title, Book Review Digest, 1942]. Certain words that one might expect to find are lacking, e.g., amphibian, chart, chassis, destroyer, and fabricate." Subscription Bks Bul

Booklist 39:196 Ja 15 '43

"The appearance of this dictionary should be particularly welcome at this time, since the need for a Spanish and English technical reference is greater than ever. . . No bibliography is cited except for two references, which is rather unusual in the compilation of a technical dictionary. As a result, the chemist and chemical engineer will find some rather startling translations. . . In the back of the book there are twenty pages of useful conversion tables of weights and measures, English and metric systems. In the preface the author states that his purpose in producing this dictionary was to 'give help at the needed moment to the engineer at his work, to the importer at his desk, to the technician in his laboratory, and to the soldier in the barracks.' No doubt it will be useful to these people, but the purpose would have been served even better if the price were more reasonable." M. G. Callaham
+ — Chem & Met Eng 49:169 D '42 490w
Library J 67:1067 D 1 '42 50w
N Y New Tech Bks 27:39 Jl '42

"Since the English-Spanish Comprehensive Technical Dictionary by Sell has been published only partially to date, this New Technical and Commercial Dictionary may serve to satisfy an immediate need. Libraries and individuals finding Cuyás or Velásquez inadequate for their needs and Sell too expensive for purchase may wish to consider Guerrero. To meet such conditions the New Technical and Commercial Dictionary is recommended."

+ Subscription Bks Bul 14:28 Jl '43 550w

Reviewed by James Stokley

Weekly Book Review p17 F 14 '43 50w

PERRY, CHARNER MARQUIS, ed. Philosophy of American democracy. 153p $2 Univ. of Chicago press

321.8 Democracy. U.S.—Politics and government. Liberty A43-2052

"Five lectures given in 1941-42 at the University of Chicago, sponsored by the Charles R. Walgreen Foundation. Frank H. Knight, T. V. Smith, and Clarence H. Faust discuss for the general reader the following subjects: Thomas Paine, Revolutionist; Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes, Evolutionist; Constitutional Convention; Meaning of Freedom; Ideal of Freedom. Lectures attempted to get beyond contemporary events to essential principles." (Library J) Index.

J Philos 40:501 S 2 '43 400w

"Not necessary in a public library." L. R. Etzkorn

Library J 68:529 Je 15 '43 80w

PERRY, EDGAR CLOUD, and SCHAFEBOOK, HARRY V. Fundamental jobs in electricity. 447p il $2.20 McGraw

621.3 Electric engineering 43-2220

"One hundred and twenty-one practical experiments designed to be used as a text for the first two years of secondary school training. The various units cover Fundamentals; Signal wiring; Communication; Safety; Light and power wiring; Generators, motors, and transformers; and Electrical equipment for the farm and special equipment." (N Y New Tech Bks) Bibliography. Index.

Library J 68:432 My 15 '43 20w

N Y New Tech Bks 28:8 Ja '43

PERRY, GEORGE SESSIONS, ed. Roundup time. (Whittlesey house publication) 384p $3 McGraw

810.8 American literature—Collections. American literature—Southwest 43-14874

An anthology composed of short stories, excerpts from novels and biographies, and criticism, all concerned with the southwestern United States: Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, and Arizona.

"Good reading. Anthologies are too often dull. But every one of the 384 pages in Perry's 'Collection of Southwestern Writing' is marked by the indefinable but unmistakable quality of gusto—the proof that the writer had something to say, knew how to say it and enjoyed the saying. The result is, of course, pleasure for the reader." J. T. Frederick

+ Book Week p4 O 17 '43 550w

Booklist 40:141 D 15 '43

Christian Science Monitor p8 D 18 '43 450w

"Supposedly, a regional anthology can do one of three things: give a rounded picture of the region, provide a sample from every writer in the area or present a rattling collection of good writing with a common regional tone. Mr. Perry's 'Roundup Time' does the last of these. In his roundup he has so largely missed the Spanish-Mexican-mission aspects of our great Southwest that his corral is incomplete. And, as will be seen presently, his selections sustain too high a literary pitch to have included everyone. . . The final brief criticism section seems tacked on as a hasty afterthought except for Rebecca W. Smith's informative little treatise on Southwest fiction. Mr. Perry's performers look primarily to the Southwest's lurid past and its picturesque present. They give considerable evidence of genuine cultural stirrings of some promise. For the most part his collection provides skilfully diverting fare."

Commonweal 39:17 O 22 '43 420w

"Mr. Perry is the master of ceremonies of this anthology, and he is going to get no complaints from me on his taste. He has selected what he considers the most representative of Southwest writings and if they invariably sound selfconscious it is no fault of his." Kyle Crichton

+ N Y Times p10 O 17 '43 1000w

"Comes close to sheer perfection. As it is the first full-scale presentation of the best of southwestern literature it would be notable for that alone, but more than that it is filled with the most enjoyable reading of our times. Probably never has there been a more expertly conceived panorama of the literature of a geographical segment of the country, and probably no country ever had a similar area which contributed so much vitality to its national letters." R. F. H.

+ Springf'd Republican p7e O 17 '43 500w

Theatre Arts 28:127 F '44 450w

PERRY, JOSEPHINE. Cotton industry. (America at work) 128p il $1.75 Longmans

677.2 Cotton—Juvenile literature 43-51160

The fifth book in the America at work series, describes the cotton industry from its beginnings in Europe, down to the newest byproducts. For grades six to eight.

Booklist 39:391 Je 1 '43

"Will be useful both for reference and general reading. Recommended for children ten to fourteen." Emily Hutson

+ Library J 68:530 Je 15 '43 70w

School & Society 57:548 My 8 '43 20w

"It is based upon authentic materials, carefully written to give a true picture of the magnitude and importance of the cotton industry. Well-illustrated and carefully indexed."

+ Social Studies 34:288 O '43 50w

Reviewed by F. T. Paschall

Social Studies 35:42 Ja '44 360w

PERRY, JOSEPHINE. Steel industry. (America at work) 126p il $1.75 Longmans

669.1 Steel industry and trade—Juvenile literature 43-7873

Non-technical account, profusely illustrated, of the history of steel making, its development and present-day techniques and uses. Index.

Booklist 39:432 Je 15 '43

"In all probability, will be used most in junior high school, but younger and older people desiring material on subject will find it of value." Miriam Snow

+ Library J 68:530 Je 15 '43 70w

School & Society 57:612 My 22 '43 30w

Social Studies 34:288 O '43 30w

"The development of the industry is a technical and complex subject which the author has handled in a simple outline style well within the grasp of a junior high school student. All technicalities are omitted wherever possible, but much of the vocabulary of the industry remains. . . This book should be useful in a community where the steel industry or some phase of the industry dominates the occupational life. It would also be useful in a science class or wherever a particular study of industry is needed." F. T. Paschall

+ Social Studies 35:44 Ja '44 310w

Springf'd Republican p7e Je 4 '43 60w

PERRY, RUTH DAVIS. Children need adults. 136p $1.50 Harper

649.1 Children—Management. Education of children 43-13659

A book of advice on child raising which stresses the needs of the child for an adult's help and guidance in learning self-control. The book is an outgrowth of the work of the Nursery School and Kindergarten of the Riverside Church, New York City.

PERRY, R. D.—Continued

Booklist 40:74 N 1 '43

"A thoroughly practical book."
+ Christian Century 60:1042 S 15 '43 70w

Reviewed by A. I. Bryan
Library J 68:623 Ag '43 110w

"This is a book for intelligent and informed parents and teachers. It is distinguished by a thoroughgoing knowledge of the best books in the field of child development to which Miss Perry has added her own sensitive observations. We may recognize many warmed over ideas, but warmed over ideas, like warmed over dishes, often profit by a bit of something that has been added to them. Miss Perry has made the material in the field so thoroughly her own that she offers a book that is refreshing and stimulating." R. H. Alschuler
+ Survey 78:349 D '43 330w

Wis Lib Bul 39:155 D '43

PERSCHBACHER, OLGA, and WILDE, DOROTHY, eds. America speaking; with graphic impressions by Howard Mueller. 469p $1.60 Scott

810.8 American literature—Collections 43-743

"An anthology of writing by American authors of the past and present voicing a message of freedom and equality and pointing to the essentials of the American way of life." Social Studies

School & Society 57:252 F 27 '43 20w

Reviewed by H. M. Long
Social Educ 7:327 N '43 550w

Social Studies 34:192 Ap '43 30w

"Due to the variety in approach and difficulty, both junior and senior high school teachers may find this book useful. While few of us will have courses in which it can be used in its entirety, it should prove valuable as a stimulating supplement." Elizabeth Mohr
+ Social Studies 34:238 My '43 360w

PERSON, HARLOW STAFFORD. Mexican oil; symbol of recent trends in international relations. 83p $1.50 Harper

338.2728 Petroleum—Mexico. Eminent domain. U.S.—Foreign relations—Mexico. Mexico—Foreign relations—U.S. 42-50547

Resumé of the controversy over the expropriation of the Mexican oil lands. The author headed the research staff which accumulated material for the use of the American "expert" who worked with the Mexican "expert" to settle the problem.

Reviewed by R. S. McCordock
Am Pol Sci R 37:376 Ap '43 190w

"This little book is far more than a factual account of the settlement of the recent oil expropriation episode, which gave rise to many superficial opinions regarding Mexican affairs. It is a scholarly statement which welds the multitude of conflicting factors of international relations into an understandable whole. . . Dr. Person has produced a most worthwhile book." C. G. Forbes
+ Ann Am Acad 228:132 Jl '43 340w

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert
Foreign Affairs 21:17 Jl '43 30w

"Despite the book's brevity, the analysis of the controversy is remarkably complete with but one exception. It is unfortunate that the position of the American oil companies is not subject to the same careful historical and interpretative scrutiny that is given to Mexico's policies. This would serve the dual purpose of casting further light on the basic nature of the controversy and of offsetting the suspicion that the companies are not given a fair hearing."
+ — Nation 156:499 Ap 3 '43 200w

Reviewed by B. D. Wolfe
New Repub 108:124 Ja 25 '43 1400w

PERSON, WILLIAM THOMAS. Abner Jarvis. 254p $2 Presbyterian bd.
43-6453

"Abner, a poor farm boy, works his way through small agricultural college in the South. He is determined to 'learn some things over and above what's in books'; his extracurricular activities include basketball and tennis and a succession of typically Southern pastimes such as 'possum hunting and fish fries. Purpose is to show how a gangling farm boy, not ashamed to appear in class and at tennis matches in overalls, makes a place for himself in college." Library J

"A good clean story written with considerable skill."
+ Christian Century 60:363 Mr 24 '43 40w

"While Abner is a bit overdrawn, and his homespun philosophy sometimes unconvincing, book has many worth-while qualities. Recommended especially for agricultural communities. For young people." M. A. Herr
+ — Library J 68:366 My 1 '43 110w

PETERS, CHARLES CLINTON. Curriculum of democratic education. 367p $2.75 McGraw

375 Education—Curricula 42-51106

For descriptive note see Annual for 1942.

"For many years C. C. Peters has been studying this problem scientifically and objectively, visiting schools in operation, and consulting experienced instructors and executives. As a result of this faithful pursuit of trustworthy educational principles he is today able to give us both the bases of a well-grounded philosophy of education and the substantial planks of an instructional platform that will be of daily service to the classroom teacher. His approach represents a blend of the realistic and idealistic. His investigation has taken him to the front line of dramatic instructional action and the results are apparent in the specific and workable proposals that are here presented." C. D. Champlin
+ School & Society 57:505 My 1 '43 1100w

"This book presents a challenge to those who consider that the curriculum should be prepared solely by 'outside' agencies or by experts. It gives comfort and encouragement to those persons who are attempting to make the curriculum responsive to changing social forces and who have been attempting to reorganize the program to make the school a place where democracy is taught and practiced. The treatise is a splendid example of the operation of logic in approaching the problem of curriculum-building for a democratic school such as the author visualizes." Loy Norrix
+ School R 51:314 My '43 700w

"Although the reviewer is inclined to disagree with much of the material in the first section of this book, he found it interesting, stimulating, and easy to read. It should prove useful as a text and as a good summary of the position of a considerable group of educational leaders." Henry Kronenberg
+ — Social Educ 7:141 Mr '43 500w

"Although the book has its moments of theoretical vagueness and its share of pedagogical jargon, it does have a thoroughly desirable amount of concrete suggestions and a practicality which recognizes that schools are going concerns in which the progress from the present practice to the theoretical ideal must be made, not in one sudden, revolutionary jump, but by slow, step-at-a-time moves which will carry the majority of administrators, teachers, pupils and patrons along with them. . . Two minor criticisms are worth noting: mastery of content as an end-product is attacked, but the function of content as implementary to intelligent doing is not made clear enough; and the chapter on measurement of achievement omits any reference, in text, notes, or bibliography, to Ralph Tyler, although he and his staff have met with considerable success in achieving the kinds of evaluative devices for which Mr. Peters asks in his chapter." S. P. McCutchen
+ — Social Studies 34:94 F '43 600w

PETERSEN, HERMAN. D.A.'s daughter. 282p $2 Duell 43-51063

Detective story.

Reviewed by Elizabeth Bullock
Book Week p8 Je 27 '43 50w
Booklist 39:321 Ap 1 '43

"First-class puzzlement, wacky situations and equally wacky dialogue, rapid-fire action." Isaac Anderson
+ N Y Times p7 F 28 '43 60w

"Pleasant enough job."
New Yorker 19:68 F 27 '43 50w

"Youthful detectives perform excellently through series of comic and shuddery episodes and steal show from up-state N.Y. professionals. Exhilarating."
+ Sat R of Lit 26:21 Mr 6 '43 40w

"Mr. Petersen handles his puzzle with skill. His characters are above average and the fresh country background helps." Will Cuppy
+ Weekly Book Review p28 Mr 7 '43 140w

PETERSEN, HERMAN. Old bones. 276p $2 Duell
43-51299

Detective story.

Reviewed by Elizabeth Bullock
Book Week p11 N 7 '43 130w
Booklist 40:80 N 1 '43

"Good detection and unremitting action and suspense combine to make this a story to be read and enjoyed." Isaac Anderson
+ N Y Times p8 O 24 '43 100w

"Well written, mystifying, capably plotted."
+ Time 42:104 N 1 '43 40w

Reviewed by Will Cuppy
Weekly Book Review p28 O 31 '43 150w

PETERSON, WILLIAM HAROLD; SKINNER, JOHN TAYLOR, and STRONG, FRANK MORGAN. Elements of food biochemistry. 291p il $4; to schools $3 Prentice-Hall

641.1 Nutrition. Food—Analysis 43-5768

"An advanced text covering the chemical changes of food during metabolism. Three previous editions, appearing in photo-offset, were used for a score of years at the University of Wisconsin. The present edition has been completely revised and a new chapter on acidity added." (N Y New Tech Bks) Chapter questions and bibliographies. Index.

Library J 68:478 Je 1 '43 20w
N Y New Tech Bks 28:23 Ap '43

PFAFFMANN, MARY, and STERN, FRANCES. How to teach nutrition to children. 224p il $2 Barrows

613.2 Food. Hygiene—Juvenile literature
42-25282

"First published in 1932 as Food and Your Body; Talks with Children [Book Review Digest, 1932] and now revised. Projects, handwork, and stories are given; some recipes are included." Booklist

---

"How to Teach Nutrition to Children should be a real help to teachers in the grades, and illustrative of successful methods for educating children in situations such as the authors have met them." M. E. Sweeny
+ Am J Pub Health 33:609 My '43 320w
Booklist 39:336 Ap 15 '43

"This is a usable book and should find a ready acceptance among those who work with children, especially those trying to improve dietaries of the young, for it succeeds in teaching 'what every generation (whether mother or child) will need to know about the "why" and "what" and "how much" of food for optimal growth and health.'" N. L. Perkins
+ J Home Econ 35:370 Je '43 280w

PHELAN, PAUL J., ed. With a merry heart; a treasury of humor by Catholic writers; with an introd. and biographical comment. 353p $3.25 Longmans

827.08 Humor. Roman Catholic literature—Collections 43-51154

Collection of humorous prose and verse by Catholic authors, English and American. Index of authors and titles.

Booklist 39:442 Jl 1 '43

"All in all the book is so comprehensive racially, geographically, psychologically and even—despite the title—religiously that only professed curmudgeons will be unable to find at least some pages to their liking."
+ Cath World 157:668 S '43 180w
Cleveland Open Shelf p11 Jl '43

"An incursion into a field where some latitude must be allowed for personal tastes. A few gleams set off a generally drab performance. . . Most of the high spots in this anthology are English. Among the most welcome—although this is admittedly a special taste—are excerpts from Father Ronald Knox. Even here it is typical of the author's acumen that he leaves out the titles without which the Knox limericks lose half their punch. But it is the dross which an anthologist lugs in that really gives him away."
— + Commonweal 38:209 Je 11 '43 150w

Reviewed by Thomas Sugrue
N Y Times p18 Jl 25 '43 850w
New Yorker 19:87 Je 5 '43 20w

"'With a Merry Heart,' is definitely a book which will be an addition to anyone's library. Non-Catholics need have no fear that the Catholicity of the writers included will spoil the pleasure there is in fun with words; indeed, they will find that Catholic humor is as catholic as any other sort."
+ Springf'd Republican p7e My 30 '43 650w
Wis Lib Bul 39:107 Jl '43

PHELPS, ALFRED EDWARD. Your arthritis; what you can do about it; with an introd. by R. Garfield Snyder; il. by James MacDonald. 192p $2 Morrow

616.72 Arthritis 43-7689

"'They used to call it rheumatism or rheumatic fever or gout. A popular name for it among unlettered people—and a highly descriptive one—is "the misery."' . . Dr. Phelps writes very simply of arthritis for those who suffer from it—several millions do, in fact. He gives a few general rules to follow and explains the symptoms, such as muscle spasm, pain, inflammation, and stiffness, the last due to overexertion. He also clarifies the question of the manifestation of arthritis of the spine that produces radiculitis, or nerve-root pain in other parts of the body." (Scientific Bk Club R) Index.

Booklist 39:441 Jl 1 '43

Reviewed by J. C. Shipman
Library J 68:429 My 15 '43 50w
+ Scientific Bk Club R 14:4 Je '43 300w

PHELPS, EDITH MAY, ed. University debaters' annual. (V28) 459p $2.25 Wilson, H.W.

374 Debates and debating (16-1455)

"Constructive and rebuttal speeches delivered in debates of American colleges and universities during the college year, 1941-1942." (Subtitle) Contents: Federal incorporation of labor unions; A league of nations; Military training; Failure of colleges to meet student needs; A federation of democracies based on the Churchill-Roosevelt principles; A federal sales tax; Compulsory saving; Post-war reconstruction; Western hemisphere solidarity; Freedom of speech in time of national emergency. Bibliography. Index.

Booklist 39:99 N 15 '42
Wis Lib Bul 39:25 F '43

PHELPS, MARGARET. Pico and the silver mountain; with il. by Ann Eshner. 127p $1.75 Macrae-Smith co.
42-25239

Story of a little Mexican boy's journey from Mexico City to Taxco, the town on the top of a mountain, where he hoped to learn to become a silversmith.

Reviewed by H. L. Binsse
Commonweal 37:119 N 20 '42 20w

Reviewed by M. L. Becker
Weekly Book Review p8 My 9 '43 300w

PHIFER, WILLIAM EVERETTE. The cross and great living. 192p $1.50 Abingdon-Cokesbury
252 Sermons 43-3146

Sermons on the cross of Christ and its relation to the needs of mankind in a world at war. The author is the pastor of Westminster church in Nashville, Tennessee.

"Few books on the Cross have been written with a more penetrating and exhaustive analysis of the inner meaning and significance of the Cross. It is a good book for Holy Week reading and will create a deeper appreciation and freer understanding of the significance of Easter." Preston Bradley
+ Book Week p10 Ap 18 '43 550w
Christian Century 60:297 Mr 10 '43 20w

PHILIPS, JUDSON PENTECOST (HUGH PENTECOST, pseud). Brass chills. 242p $2 Dodd 43-5355

Detective story.

Booklist 39:369 My 15 '43

"An unusually well-plotted and well-written story of espionage and sabotage, with the suspects limited to the members of a small group. Action, suspense and plenty of thrills from start right down to finish." Isaac Anderson
+ N Y Times p12 Ap 14 '43 120w

"Good."
+ Sat R of Lit 26:40 Ap 10 '43 40w

"This is set forth in Hugh Pentecost's tough, breezy manner, with strong language for emphasis. Rousing in spots, but the main interest is just background." Will Cuppy
Weekly Book Review p16 Ap 4 '43 200w

PHILLIPS, MRS GERTIE STEWART. Lonely apples [poems]. 100p $1.50 Kaleidograph
811 43-3095

"Sweet and gentle verse, a little on the melancholy side but always sweet. The 'lonely apples' are, like fruits that turn to ashes in the mouth, metaphors for 'the hours no one escapes.'" Christian Century

Christian Century 60:169 F 10 '43 30w

Reviewed by A. M. Jakeman
Springf'd Republican p8 My 13 '43 160w

PHILLIPS, HARRY IRVING. All-out Arlene; a story of the girls behind the boys behind the guns; with pictures by Herbert Roese. 202p $1.75 Doubleday
940.5496 World war, 1939—Humor, caricatures, etc. U.S. Women's army corps
43-11472

The experiences of Arlene Chrystal Applegate of Brooklyn, and her family and pals, including her dog, in their all-out effort to win the war. Arlene ended up as a sergeant in the WAACs in Africa, where practically every other private and officer proposed to her, but Arlene was faithful to her hero Terry.

"Arlene is a natural for Mr. Phillips's style, or vice versa. Both are breezy, with the sense of the practical hidden deep beneath the humor. . . If all the Waacs are like Arlene, the Axis fat is in Allied fire sooner than expected. . . Mr. Phillips's jaunt into Colonel Hobby's No-Man's Land is a jocular, though none the less informative one. Here is a guide-book with guffaws on every page." Lucy Greenbaum
+ N Y Times p9 Jl 18 '43 750w
New Yorker 19:68 Jl 17 '43 50w
Springf'd Republican p7e Ag 22 '43 280w

Reviewed by Rachel Meisenhelder
Weekly Book Review p18 Ag 8 '43 550w

PHILLIPS, MARGARET MANN. Within the city wall; a memoir of childhood. 122p $1.75 Macmillan [6s Cambridge]
B or 92 [A43-2347]

"The recollections of a child living in York in 1918. . . What gives this book a particular attraction is that the child of the memories, who was twelve years old at the time, had a strong sense of history: York was to her a town of enchantment and its buildings a living sign of its ancient history. Extracts are given from an historical novel that she was writing, and though they are in themselves only childish work they show strongly how the creative faculty of the mind works on, steadily and continuously, under the outward accompaniment of everyday activities and thoughts." Manchester Guardian

"A sensitively written and charming book." M. C.
+ Manchester Guardian p3 Jl 14 '43 150w

"From her maturity, Mrs. Phillips looks back humorously and affectionately on her childhood, glossing and annotating the observations of her twelve-year-old self, of whom she always writes in the third person. . . Perhaps the most striking point about this charmingly composed picture is its revelation of the scope and freedom that the sensitive intelligent little girl found within the strict Anglican framework of her home and the enrichment brought to her imaginative life by the deep regular rhythms of the Church's life." J. A. Smith
+ Spec 170:456 My 14 '43 300w
Times [London] Lit Sup p383 Ag 7 '43

"What gives the book its permanent value is its bringing back alive the almost forgotten sequence of events and emotions of that last year of the first world war. For it is impossible to read these pages without a sense that what happened then is now beginning to happen; that things to come are taking visible shape."
+ Weekly Book Review p46 N 14 '43 250w

PHILLPOTTS, EDEN. Flower of the gods. 296p $2.50 Macmillan [8s 6d Hutchinson] 43-10323

Detective story.

"The crime-novel expert may perhaps solve the mystery rather too soon, but there is some very ingenious detail, and the means whereby the location of the missing corpse is revealed may justly be acclaimed as truly original." J. D. Beresford
+ Manchester Guardian p3 D 11 '42 60w

"Unfortunately Mr. Phillpotts has used many more words than are necessary for the telling of the tale. Quick, Watson! The blue pencil!" Isaac Anderson
N Y Times p8 Jl 18 '43 120w

"Fascinating reading for those who like to settle down with a book about a man whose servant has Inca blood in his veins."
+ New Yorker 19:64 Jl 10 '43 70w

"Lovers of slam-bang action warned off. Other readers will find tale baffling, faultlessly written and diverting no end. Rewarding."
+ Sat R of Lit 26:20 Jl 17 '43 40w
Springf'd Republican p7e Ag 15 '43 250w

"There are no bouquets here for Scotland Yard, for the detectives fail completely. This is where the veteran skill of Mr. Phillpotts shows itself in what has all the appearance of being a brand new idea. Yet the novel does not rely mainly on ingenuity of plot. Characters drawn with a delicate eye for pleasing effect are the chief attraction."

+ Times [London] Lit Sup p5 Ja 2 '43 120w

"Phillpotts fans and other discerning victims of mysteryitis are in for a treat herewith. 'Flower of the Gods' is another of those stately puzzles that the master has been turning out for some years now and getting better with each successive offering, seems like." Will Cuppy

+ Weekly Book Review p16 Jl 11 '43 500w

PHYSICS manual for pilots; pub. under the supervision of the Training division, Bur. of aeronautics, U.S. navy. (Flight preparation training ser) 229p il 90c McGraw

530 Physics 43-3939

"Extremely brief introduction for student aviators with no previous education in physics." N Y New Tech Bks

N Y New Tech Bks 28:32 Ap '43

"This book, with others in the series, should give embryo aviators as quickly as possible, the fundamentals of science that their work will require." James Stokley

+ Weekly Book Review p22 Ap 18 '43 150w

PICK, JOHN. Gerard Manley Hopkins; priest and poet. 169p $2.75 (8s 6d) Oxford

821 Hopkins, Gerard Manley 42-51522

Study of the Catholic priest and poet, written by a Catholic. "Mr. Pick gives a good picture of Oxford in the Sixties, with the young aesthete-ascetic moving in the direction of Pusey, Liddon, Newman and the Order of Jesuits. The rest of the book, which makes use of the letters and journals published since Lahey's memoir, sets the poems side by side with the exercises and studies of a Jesuit priest." (New Statesman & Nation) Index.

"This book is a 'must' for anyone who would understand the poet and the man." Margaret Meagher

+ Cath World 157:439 Jl '43 1100w

"Interest in Hopkins's poetry during the last twenty years has centred on his technical originality, and little attempt has been made to explore the spiritual background of his life and to bring together in a coherent view the Jesuit, priest, and poet. This Mr. Pick has now done exceedingly well. . . The book is refreshingly free from special pleading. It is an integral study and a guide, concise and revealing, through all that Hopkins wrote." H. I'A. F.

+ Manchester Guardian p3 O 7 '42 130w

Reviewed by Babette Deutsch

Nation 157:247 Ag 28 '43 480w

"Mr. Pick's conclusion is sound, though not new. He has little to add to criticism, but provides much elucidatory detail about Hopkins's mental and spiritual life; and this, since Hopkins's own 'Spiritual Diaries' have been lost to us, is valuable. . . But I diverged from Mr. Pick. My impressions, after re-reading Hopkins all through for perhaps the twentieth time, are of final religious doubt. Praise, weakness, strength, ecstasy, suffering—and doubt. . . That, needless to say, is not at all Mr. Pick's view (he writes as an orthodox Catholic). Doubt is relegated by him to a 'period of desolation,' and it is followed by a serenity, in which Hopkins dies. . . Mr. Pick's Life of Hopkins ends, as you might suppose, on a note calculated to edify the devout. The first real Life of Hopkins, I'm afraid, has yet to be written." G. W. Stonier

+ — New Statesman & Nation 24:207 S 26 '42 1450w

Reviewed by Carlos Baker

N Y Times p10 Je 13 '43 700w

"Mr. Pick has tried perhaps to do too much. He has therefore succeeded in giving us a good rounded picture of Hopkins, but he has done little else to evaluate him as a writer in relation to his contemporaries, or to estimate his place in the history of English poetry. It is significant that the subtitle is 'Priest and Poet'. Mr. Pick has maintained that order of preference in his serious attempt to study the whole man." Richard Eberhart

+ — Poetry 62:347 S '43 950w

"By all odds the best and most original part of Dr. Pick's book is concerned with the gloomy Dublin period of the poet's life. . . Dr. Pick's comment on individual poems is sensitive and helpful. Each of the great Hopkins lyrics is and remains a problem. Readers must wrestle with the meaning and the passion themselves. But this book is an introduction not unworthy of its subject, and a commentary which in clearing away numerous misconceptions does service to every student." G. N. Shuster

+ Sat R of Lit 26:31 Je 5 '43 700w

"I know nothing of Dr. Pick except that from the internal evidence of this book he has written it from the point of view of the Society of Jesus, which means, in my opinion, that he is not intellectually free and independent, but has an already given interpretation to apply both to Hopkins's work and to his life. The fact that in doing this the author is doing precisely what Hopkins himself would have done and (in his letters to Robert Bridges, Canon Dixon and Coventry Patmore about his life and his poetry) actually did do in no way justifies a literary critic doing the same. Dr. Pick, however, might contend, as Father D'Arcy in his Foreword claims, that the two titles of priest and poet 'are inseparable in Hopkins.' I do not think we can allow this. It is a critical heresy of the most mischievous kind. . . It is unfortunate that Dr. Pick does not make any serious attempt at literary criticism, because he shows much sensibility and acumen, and a good book on the real subject of Hopkins the poet would be most welcome. Nobody has yet succeeded in it, and few of our critics attempt it, although serious, objective and catholic (in the original sense) criticism of poetry is one of the most valuable and socially important activities of the human mind." W. J. Turner

Spec 169:318 O 2 '42 600w

"In support of this thesis of Hopkins the priest and poet, Pick often leans over backward. He is so imbued with Hopkins's Catholicism and dedication to Christ that he looks at the poetry too often with Catholic-colored glasses. His admiration for Hopkins is so great that he even finds it necessary to justify Hopkins's regard for his work as 'unprofessional.' The justification is unnecessary, for the magnificence and power of Hopkins's better poems is evidence enough. There is no doubt that Dr Pick deserves great credit for his work, for his study has added new light to the enigma that was Gerard Manley Hopkins, Jesuit priest and poet." E. S. P.

+ — Springf'd Republican p8 Ap 29 '43 410w

Times [London] Lit Sup p474 S 26 '42 2150w

PICKEN, MRS MARY (BROOKS) Mending made easy; the ABC and XYZ of fabric conservation; with il. by C. Florence Valentine [and] Patricia Lingane Rowe. 182p $3 Harper

646.2 Clothing and dress—Repairing. Sewing 43-17666

"Called 'the ABC and XYZ of fabric conservation; this large and explicitly illustrated guide to mending and making over . . . attacks mending from materials and methods of ordinary repairs to delicate reconstructions of knitted wear and reweaving; it attends to gloves, underwear, stockings, linens, rugs, lace and practically everything around the house on which a needle can be used. It shows what can be done with a scrap bag, and otherwise helps a woman to 'make it last' for the duration." Weekly Book Review

Booklist 40:159 Ja 1 '44

Library J 69:32 Ja 1 '44 20w

Weekly Book Review p40 D 5 '43 130w

Wis Lib Bul 40:7 Ja '44

PIERCE, MRS ENID HERBERTA (CRAWFORD), and FLANDERS, MRS HELEN (HARTNESS), eds. Green Mountain verse; an anthology of contemporary Vermont poetry; with an introd. by Dorothy Canfield Fisher. 181p $2 Farrar

811.08 American poetry—Collections. American literature—Vermont 43-11231

An anthology of verse by Vermonters or about Vermont by people who love the state, its scenery, its people, and its customs. Short biographical notes about contributors. Index of authors.

"The best of the pieces are by the professionals, but there are excellent lines all through the book. The weakness of the selection is the fact that so many of the poems deal with the scenery and have little beyond appreciation to add to the scenic pictures. Brief biographies of the contributors add to the book's interest for anyone, and particularly for Vermonters." Hal Borland

+ — N Y Times p22 S 26 '43 130w

Reviewed by W. R. Benet

Sat R of Lit 26:24 O 16 '43 70w

"By and large the men and women whose work appears in 'Green Mountain Verse' are not people who write as a profession. They are school teachers and housewives and storekeepers and ministers who have seen or felt something that is too good to be kept to themselves; and poetry—difficult or spontaneous, singing or plodding, but always unselfconscious —is their way of sharing it. The editors deserve a vote of heartfelt thanks for the perception and understanding with which they have passed along this gift to a wider public." R. H. Bonner

+ Weekly Book Review p16 O 3 '43 400w

PIERSON, FRANK C. Collective bargaining systems; a study of union-employer responsibilities and problems. 227p $3.25; pa $2.50 Am. council on public affairs

331.88 Labor contract. Arbitration, Industrial. Trade unions—U.S. 42-11140

"How may responsibility be attained by unions and employers as parties to an industrial agreement? This involves two somewhat separate aspects, viz., an initial contract which is fair to all concerned, and a determination by each side to live up to its terms in spirit and letter so that each may contribute to industrial peace and social progress. It is the latter phase—one of the great labor problems of the day—which is the chief subject of discussion in this book. It is intended 'to review the methods provided under agreements for handling controversies . . . and to discuss the legal aspects of the problem. But the chief objective is to discover why violations are committed and why disputes occur while agreements are in force,' using specific situations of this sort as the basis of examination." Columbia Law R

Reviewed by J. R. Walsh

Ann Am Acad 224:197 N '42 550w

"The author shows that he has the background, the persistence and the independent point of view required for a more definitive pronouncement on the momentous subject in which he here presents his Ph.D. thesis. It is hoped that he will now bring his thinking to fruition by a bolder and more challenging charting of the program which may be required in this field." Herman Feldman

+ — Columbia Law R 43:419 Ap '43 650w

PIERSON, MRS LOUISE JOHN (RANDALL). Roughly speaking. 332p $2.50 Simon & Schuster

B or 92 43-6123

The exuberant autobiography of a New England woman whose life from the age of twelve has been lavishly studded with the bludgeonings of fate. Louise Pierson has gone from riches to poverty and back again so many times in the last forty years that her life story reads almost like an account of American history during that period—depressions included. She describes her childhood in Quincy, Massachusetts; her difficulties in getting jobs after graduation from Simmons; her two marriages; her trials in raising five children; and her endless attempts to keep solvent, all in a vigorous and witty prose.

"The book is almost too funny to be true, but give the lady the benefit of the doubt, for few grandmothers of our time have survived so many ups and downs. . . The style is brusque, rapid-fire with little feeling but lots of wit." Edward Weeks

Atlantic 172:125 Jl '43 180w

"The life of Louise Randall Pierson has more ups and downs than a roller coaster. America has strewn her path with rose petals, and America has kicked her in a region never located euphemistically by the forthright Louise. But the hymn of praise to her paradoxical country which this woman sings brings you to your feet like the flag passing by or the strains of 'The Star-Spangled Banner.' Louise Pierson has what it takes to win wars." Sterling North

+ Book Week p3 Jl 4 '43 1000w

Booklist 39:445 Jl 1 '43

"A gusty book. It seems impossible that anyone could read it without being interested, moved, amused. But not amused constantly. There is too much to this book. It should have been compressed, if not actually cut."

+ — Commonweal 38:304 Jl 9 '43 300w

"Recommended for public libraries." M. E. Clark

+ Library J 68:529 Je 15 '43 70w

"The primary thing to say about Mrs. Pierson's autobiography is that it is very hard to lay down. Any further remarks are not really important after that one. . . What the reader will remember at the end, I think, is not that Mrs. Pierson grew up next to the Adamses in Quincy . . . but rather that she is in her own way a tremendously clever writer, a wonderful story teller. Without that quality the book would be nothing, but with it, it is first-rate." C.W.

+ New Eng Q 16:536 S '43 170w

"This is a book that will send you scurrying through your vocabulary for the proper descriptive term. You will come up with 'Glub!' The English language is still too poor to afford the kind of super-dooper word which would express the effect of Louise Randall Pierson's hilarious, catch-as-catch-can, knock-down-and-drag-out story of her life." Thomas Sugrue

+ N Y Times p4 Jl 4 '43 800w

"Mrs. Pierson was intended by her New England Providence to be a writer. Most of the pages of her story ooze character and fun and vitality as well as the solid virtues of high-hearted courage and unquenchable determination, with hardly a trace of moral complacency. . . 'Roughly Speaking' is a human document that is more human than documentary. It should make a hugely entertaining play or movie." Clifton Fadiman

+ New Yorker 19:67 Je 26 '43 700w

Reviewed by Bess Jones

Sat R of Lit 26:22 Je 26 '43 400w

"The 332 pages of neat, small print, marred by an affected breeziness and by curiously false conversational passages, nevertheless make up a lively, candid, sometimes exasperatingly interesting book. Its record is bitter, if the facts of the family's struggle alone are considered. But Mrs. Pierson is so persistently cheerful in keeping the record that she seems optimistic by will power alone. Sometimes, like sunlight filtering through the shutters of a darkened room, paragraphs of emotion cut through the desperate happiness and warm the pages with a gentle, subjective glow."

+ — Time 41:98 Je 28 '43 1250w

"'Roughly Speaking,' while an extremely personal document, is also essentially an American document. It is the story of social and economic changes in American affairs over a half century and their effect on a New England 'native' who refused to take life lying down. It would be hard living with Mrs. Pierson, but it is very easy to read her." Rose Feld

+ Weekly Book Review p5 Je 27 '43 850w

PIGEON, MRS HELEN (DUMARESQUE). Probation and parole in theory and practice; a study manual. 420p $2.50; pa $2 Nat. probation assn.

364 Probation system 42-24296

"The manual is divided into four parts. The first deals with the correctional program and discusses law enforcement agencies, detention, the courts, probation, penal, and correctional institutions, and release procedures. The second deals with the behavior of the individual and is a kind of headnote summary of psychiatry in relation to crime. The third deals with the treatment of the individual case and discusses social case work, case study and diagnosis, case work as a means of treatment, social case records, and supervision of staff. The fourth deals with public relations and publicity." Survey

"Considering the need in the training of many probation and parole workers for a brief but comprehensive survey of the field, Miss Pigeon's manual will serve a very useful purpose. Too, her bibliographies provide a good foundation for further study." P. W. Tappan

+ — Am Soc R 8:245 Ap '43 300w

"This is a splendid and useful book." Curtis Bok

+ Survey 78:284 O '42 450w

PILGRIM, DAVID, pseud of JOHN LESLIE PALMER and HILARY AIDAN ST GEORGE SAUNDERS. Grand design. 388p $2.75 Harper

La Cloche, James de—Fiction 43-14648

Continues the adventures of James de la Cloche, begun in No Common Glory (Book Review Digest, 1942). James travels to England, to France, and to Rome on dangerous missions for his father, Charles II, but his main mission is rescuing the girl who is reputed to be his sister. After the girl is safe and his commission discharged, James severs his connection with his father and settles on the Isle of Jersey.

Atlantic 172:135 N '43 120w

"Aside from a certain implausibility of its key figure, in part due to the nature of the man, 'The Grand Design' is fully satisfying. Its historical figures come intimately to life." Elizabeth van Deusen

+ Book Week p7 O 3 '43 600w

Booklist 40:80 N 1 '43

"Too given to political and religious discussions and too little to adventure and love to be popular, book nevertheless should appeal to readers who demand more than sheer escape in historical novels." E. P. Potter

Library J 68:668 S 1 '43 110w

" 'The Grand Design' is a novel complete in itself, but readers who missed 'No Common Glory' will probably want to turn back to it. Taken together they form one of the most exciting historical romances England has given us in a decade." Margaret Wallace

+ N Y Times p16 O 17 '43 480w

" 'The Grand Design' is distinctly above the cloak-and-sword level." Lisle Bell

+ Weekly Book Review p8 S 26 '43 450w

PINE, HESTER. Waltz is over. 371p $2.50 Farrar

43-1377

Family chronicle encompassing three generations, beginning in Ulm, Germany in 1845, and ending in America in 1942. The Multschers, German brewers, came to America after the young daughter of the family, Marta, had fancied herself in love with a scion of the nobility. In America the father founded a brewery, and for years the family remained as German as their product. But the final offspring was American to the core.

Booklist 39:275 Mr 1 '43

" 'The Waltz Is Over' is an impressive novelistic achievement. It has nothing of that pleonastic, long-winded heaviness which makes the reading of many three-generation-family novels such a tedious if not outright boring job. It is told excitingly throughout, and it is firmly constructed. Miss Pine has had the precarious task of drawing an authentic picture historically and culturally without getting tiresome, and she has solved this problem superbly." Marianne Hauser

+ N Y Times p6 F 14 '43 1150w

"In 'The Waltz Is Over' Miss Pine speaks, and speaks ably, I believe, for average loyal German-Americans. The German culture as it is preserved, a little diluted as the years pass, by our American Germans and our German-Americans is worth studying. You will understand it better whether or not you admire it more, if you meet this representative group as Miss Pine presents it." F. H. Bullock

+ Weekly Book Review p8 F 21 '43 1250w

PIPES, JAMES. Ziba; with decorations by Edith Mahier. 188p $2.50 Univ. of Oklahoma press

811 43-16760

"For ten years James Pipes, a young white man from Mississippi, worked as a clerk at Forty-Acre Store, a crossroads store patronized mostly by Negroes, situated between the lower Mississippi and Lake St. Charles, in the swampland of Louisiana. The talk of his clients, as they gathered around the iron stove set in the midst of the store, in the damp delta winter evenings, so greatly interested him that he soon acquired the habit of setting down its most vivid phrases. In 1942 he gathered together this material, in several small baking powder notebooks, and sent it off to the University of Oklahoma Press. The result is 'Ziba,' a fascinating collection of American Negro folklore and folk poetry." N Y Times

Reviewed by J. T. Frederick

Book Week p12 N 21 '43 70w

Booklist 40:161 Ja 1 '44

"This book enters the sphere of activity of the Southern working Negro, and makes that sphere real. Many will not read it, because it is poetry, a real release of the folk imagination. But it is something of which all Americans, white or colored, have the right to feel proud." J. G. Fletcher

+ N Y Times p4 Ja 2 '44 650w

"This book is the most remarkable treasury of Negro expression since 'Green Pastures.' Discover it for yourselves! The Oklahoma University Press has made a fine looking book of it and the decorations by Edith Mahier are exactly right." W. R. Benét

+ Sat R of Lit 26:22 D 4 '43 320w

"Mr. Pipes neither pities, laments nor explains Negro life. His is a forthright presentation, graphic with rich folk-images and full of melody. Technically it is difficult to say where the 'material' ends and the poetry begins. Culturally the book helps preserve a fast disappearing folk-speech. Socially it presents the Negro problem in a vigorous poetic manner. Actually it must be remembered that it represents one class level of life in America and should be viewed as such." Margaret Walker

+ Weekly Book Review p2 D 26 '43 650w

PLATO. Republic; tr. with introd. and notes by Francis Macdonald Cornford. 356p $3 (7s 6d) Oxford

888.4 Political science 42-14752

"A new translation made more convenient for the reader by its division into 40 chapters instead of the traditional 10 books, by some cutting, and by summaries of the arguments." Booklist

Booklist 38:436 Jl 15 '42

"The Introduction, although brief, gives the essential details on the life of Plato, the circumstances of his writing the Republic, and much valuable information about the contemporary philosophy of imperialism in Athens. . . Mr. Cornford's translation is exceptionally fine. It is pleasantly informal and conversational, comparatively easy to follow (the abridgment of some of the repetitious passages is all to the good), and the style suggests, as it should, that the original work might well have been written yesterday." D. S. M.

PLATO—Continued
+ J Philos 39:719 D 17 '42 270w

"It is true that translators always arouse more anger than they satisfy curiosity, but I should think it very difficult to carp at Mr. Cornford: his knowledge of Greek is undisputed, and his fairness to the ideas of his author is patent. Possibly his English will seem too terse, sinewy, and colloquial to those who like to sentimentalize 'things Greek,' but it will rank with the best Elizabethan and Victorian work, with Florio and Scott Moncrieff." Jacques Barzun
+ Nation 155:690 D 19 '42 330w

"Based as it is upon accurate scholarship, the Cornford version may well become standard for our time." H. E. Woodbridge
+ Yale R n s 32:182 autumn '42 250w

PLATT, ROBERT SWANTON. Latin America, countrysides and united regions. (Whittlesey house publication) 564p il maps $5; textbook ed $4 McGraw
918 Latin America—Description and travel 43-74

"Robert Platt of the University of Chicago has found a unique way of bringing strange lands to us. For over twenty years he went mapping, photographing, and talking in the hinterlands. So in Latin America he begins with big maps and notes on the kind of country he studied. Then come little maps of characteristic land units, plus photographs, plus comment on the economy, produce, commerce and regional relations." (Survey G) Glossary. Index.

"The text is written in clear, forceful style, easy to read; there is no adornment, no obvious straining for effect. It escapes the dullness and heaviness that mark most geographic books. It is direct and convincing." W. E. Ekblaw
+ Ann Am Acad 229:205 S '43 490w
Booklist 39:318 Ap 1 '43

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert
Foreign Affairs 21:17 Jl '43 50w

"In his introduction, which, so clearly does it explain the whole project, might well be quoted more or less verbatim as a review of the book, the author warns that the studies presented are 'separate glimpses and therefore are not to be read one after another as a continuous narrative.' Nevertheless, there is a 'continuous progression of ideas' and a logical development from the first chapter, 'Latin-American Intricacy,' to the last, 'Latin-American Political Structure in the World Order,' that will lead many to read the book as a continuous narrative and find their greatest satisfaction in such a reading."
+ Geog R 33:333 Ap '43 950w

"Solid, satisfying, and scientific survey of 'our neighbors to the south.' "
+ Scientific Bk Club R 14:3 F '43 420w

Reviewed by Leon Whipple
+ Survey G 32:55 F '43 300w

PLAYFAIR, GILES. Singapore goes off the air. 273p $2.50 Dutton
940.542 Singapore—Siege, 1942. World war, 1939—Personal narratives, English 43-14496

The author, son of Sir Nigel Playfair, English actor, was connected with the Malaya Broadcasting System during the last months before the invasion by the Japanese. In his Introduction he says: "I have written this book with the intent of painting a fair and faithful picture of civilian Singapore during the last nine weeks before its fall. The bulk of it is in the form of a journal, so that as my time-to-time impressions vary so do my conclusions alter. . . I have not attempted to cover up unpleasant facts, to gloss over mistakes, to withhold criticism or even to disguise my personal dislike of the European way of life in Singapore. . . It has been my purpose to modify a verdict based on the evidence of a remorseless generalization, to include in my canvas light as well as shade."

Reviewed by Harold Ettlinger
Book Week p2 N 28 '43 250w
Booklist 40:143 D 15 '43

"Critics of the part played by the British forces in the early days of the war with Japan will find some basis for their position in his criticisms. The writer applies no whitewash to hide unpleasant facts or gloss over mistakes. He avoids expression of mere opinions and lets the reader reach his own conclusion from the narrative. He is as candid, however, in telling of the diligence, self-sacrifice and bravery of civilian Singapore as in telling of the folly, idleness, self-indulgence and even poltroonery among the people." J. W. C.
+ Springf'd Republican p8 D 15 '43 300w

"Mr. Playfair explains that he sought to present a fair and faithful picture of civilian Singapore during the last nine weeks before its fall. . . The story of Singapore and its shameful demise unquestionably needs telling and explaining, but Mr. Playfair unfortunately has failed to do it much justice." Joseph Newman
Weekly Book Review p24 O 31 '43 850w

PLUM, SVEND MUNK. Plumbing practice and design. 2v ea $4.50 Wiley
696.1 Plumbing (43-3180)

"Data required by those who must design and prepare specifications for plumbing systems have been assembled from many sources and arranged in convenient form in this book. A large part is tabular matter, including extensive tables of pipes and fittings, both metal and earthenware. Accepted methods for setting plumbing fixtures of all kinds are shown diagrammatically." (Eng N) In volume two "practical information is presented for use in the layout and design of water supply and heating systems, sewerage and drainage systems, and gas piping systems. There is a chapter on definitions of physical and chemical terms, one on codes and regulations, and one on architectural practice." (Am J Pub Health)

Reviewed by C. P. Straub
Am J Pub Health 33:750 Je '43 230w

Reviewed by C. P. Straub
Am J Pub Health 33:1481 D '43 140w

"Plumbing forms a large part of the cost of finishing a building after the structural frame is up. This book gives it the attention that it deserves. Treating pipes, fittings, pumps, drains, fixtures, sprinklers and automatic controls, it serves both the contractor and the craftsman."
+ Book Week p10 My 2 '43 50w

Reviewed by L. E. Grinter
Book Week p11 Je 20 '43 250w
Eng N 130:112 Ap 8 '43 140w
Library J 68:36 Ja 1 '43 20w
N Y New Tech Bks 28:15 Ja '43
N Y New Tech Bks 28:32 Ap '43

"This book should be a valuable one for many people, such as architects, contractors, builders and those concerned with building maintenance." James Stokley
+ Weekly Book Review p25 Ap 11 '43 150w

PLUNGUIAN, MARK. Cellulose chemistry. 104p $2.25 Chemical pub. co.
547.3 Cellulose 43-3031

"Brief review of recent developments. The discussion includes the microstructure of cotton and wood fibers, the isolation and purification of cellulose, its dispersion, derivatives, and micellar structure. Reactions are interpreted wherever possible on the basis of the modern concept of the micellar structure of cellulose." N Y New Tech Bks

"The author is to be commended for the clarity and conciseness of his final chapter on the micellar structure of cellulose. This difficult subject is excellently presented in the light of modern colloidal theory. Here is a book which should be in the library of all those interested in this important industrial raw material." R. E. Montonna

+ J Phys Chem 47:464 Je '43 200w

N Y New Tech Bks 28:41 Jl '43

POHL, JOHN FLORIAN M., and KENNY, ELIZABETH. Kenny concept of infantile paralysis and its treatment; with a foreword by Frank R. Ober [commentary by Miland E. Knapp]. 366p il $5 Bruce, St Paul

616.83 Infantile paralysis 43-5656

"This book offers for the first time a comprehensive description of the conception and physical treatment of infantile paralysis as evolved by Sister Kenny and her American coworkers. The main theme of the volume is presented in three parts: the acute stage, the convalescent stage, and the chronic stage." Am J Pub Health

---

"The chief progress in this volume over those previously published is the absence of the large amount of controversy and argumentation which marred Miss Kenny's earlier writings, also the evident endeavor to present controversial issues and points of technic with clarity. Many illustrations add to the practical value of this timely volume which will be studied with equal advantage by physicians and physical therapy technicians, as by all those interested in the care of the victims of infantile paralysis." Richard Kovács

+ Am J Pub Health 33:1360 N '43 400w

"Though primarily intended for the medical profession, the book should prove an indispensable part of the equipment of everyone in any way concerned with the infantile paralysis patient undergoing the Kenny treatment. The text is very clearly and most interestingly written." M. F. Ashley Montagu

+ N Y Times p23 Jl 18 '43 800w

POL, HEINZ. Hidden enemy; the German threat to post-war peace. 281p $3 Messner

943.08 Pangermanism. Germany—History 43-12980

The author, a former German journalist, attempts a concrete answer to the question "What must be done with Germany after the war?" He declares that the world's enemies are not the whole German people nor only the Nazis, but the Pan-Germans, the Junkers, big businessmen, certain intellectuals, and others who may or may not be Nazis. These, he says, must be eliminated if Germany is to be prevented from bringing about another World war. Bibliography. Index.

"Pol's solution is not as convincing as his proof of the existence of the hidden enemy. He suggests an extensive purge carried out by the German people themselves, not only of the Nazis but of the roots of Pan-Germanism and militarism. How that can be done without risking the stigma of 'chaos,' and exactly by whom it is to be done is not entirely clear. Nor are the chances very great of Allied proponents of 'order' allowing Germany the free rein needed to eliminate all risk of another German-provoked war." Harold Ettlinger

+ — Book Week p1 S 5 '43 750w

Booklist 40:44 O 1 '43

Christian Science Monitor p12 O 2 '43 550w

Reviewed by A. B. Lindsay

Library J 68:624 Ag '43 140w

Reviewed by Reinhold Niebuhr

Nation 157:559 N 13 '43 900w

New Repub 109:434 S 27 '43 120w

Reviewed by G. N. Shuster

N Y Times p12 O 3 '43 500w

"I wish 'The Hidden Enemy' could be made compulsory reading, for Mr. Pol obviously knows what he is talking about. His book is all facts and no theory." Clifton Fadiman

+ New Yorker 19:74 S 4 '43 400w

"As a study of an important phase of modern history, the book is disappointing. There are some errors and the quotations from many authors do not mention the sources accurately. And, besides, Mr. Pol's story is not quite as new as he seems to think." H. W. Weigert

Sat R of Lit 26:6 S 25 '43 650w

Springf'd Republican p7e Ja 2 '44 800w

Reviewed by Paul Hagen

Weekly Book Review p18 S 19 '43 1200w

POLIAKOV, ALEKSANDR. White mammoths; the dramatic story of Russian tanks in action; tr. from the Russian by Norbert Guterman. 189p il $2.50 Dutton

940.548147 World war, 1939—Personal narratives, Russian. World war, 1939—Russia. Tanks (military science) 43-2663

"The story of the big Russian KV tanks and their drivers in the fighting around Lake Ilmen during the winter of 1941-42." New Yorker

---

Booklist 39:289 Mr 15 '43

Cleveland Open Shelf p9 Jl '43

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert

Foreign Affairs 21:8 Jl '43 20w

"The style is simple, unadorned and functional, although its version of conversation among the Russian soldiers tends just slightly toward the Rover-Boyish. The book includes a number of fine photographs from Soviet archives, and is excellently translated by Norbert Guterman."

+ New Repub 108:390 Mr 22 '43 120w

" 'White Mammoths,' is fitting evidence to the thesis that thus far in this man's war the Russians, of all soldiers, have done the most fighting, photographed the most dangerous battle scenes, written the most poignant eyewitness narratives of the bloodiest battles waged in the history of so-called civilized peoples." Lloyd Shearer

+ N Y Times p28 Ap 18 '43 550w

"Dramatic and vigorous, but the rather elementary earnestness of the dialogue may make you smile a little."

New Yorker 19:67 Mr 6 '43 50w

"Poliakov was soundly grounded in the military tactics he was covering for Red Star and he wrote with such simplicity and clarity that the reader obtains deeper insight into the truly magnificent fighting spirit of the Russian army and the Russian people. . . As in 'Russians Don't Surrender,' numerous photographs have been inserted in the text but this book includes heart-breaking shots of the old and young victims of Nazi brutality as well as action pictures of the red army soldier on the offensive." M. R. B.

+ Springf'd Republican p7e F 28 '43 550w

"The spirit of the fighting Russians should be known throughout all the United Nations. This book will help to make it clear." Robert Carse

+ Weekly Book Review p2 Mr 7 '43 850w

POLING, DANIEL ALFRED. A preacher looks at war. 101p $1.25 Macmillan

261 War and religion 43-9215

"Convictions of an eminent clergyman, editor, and lecturer who is conscientiously seeking a Christian plan for practical peace. Discussion of absolute pacifism as an untenable position is followed by analysis of plans for economic and political reconstruction of the world. Last half of book is chronological sequence of author's published editorials from February, 1939, to December, 1942, which record development of his thinking on subject." Library J

"Perhaps no volume in so small a compass as this has yet treated the 'war problem' as persuasively as does this little book of a hundred pages." T. F. Opie

+ Churchman 157:16 S 1 '43 130w

"Vigorous, challenging reading for any thinking American. Text of several proposed postwar plans is given in appendices." J. S. Cleavinger

+ Library J 68:475 Je 1 '43 100w

POLLARD, ERNEST CHARLES, and DAVIDSON, WILLIAM LEE. Applied nuclear physics. 249p il $3 Wiley

539.1 Nuclear physics 42-50941

"In treating the subject of nuclear physics the technical aspect is emphasized in this book. [The authors] aim at presenting the essential facts and methods of artificial radioactivity and transmutation in such a way as to be of service to the growing army of chemists, biologists, physicians, and engineers, who, though not necessarily versed in the language of physics, are using the products of nuclear physics to further their ends in their own spheres." (Pref) Indexes.

Library J 68:130 F 1 '43 40w

N Y New Tech Bks 28:15 Ja '43

"Pollard and Davidson have written a very interesting book which is of value to almost any one who has had a little physics and chemistry in high school, and even to research workers. The style is informal, 'zestful' (evidently a favorite mood of the authors) and occasionally colloquial." Melvin Avrami

+ N Y Times p19 Je 11 '43 340w

"This welcome book signalizes the development of nuclear physics from a pure science to an applied science. The ideas of nuclear physics and the technique of radioactive measurements are here surveyed in a form useful for chemists, biologists, and physiologists as well as physicists. And if a technology of nuclear power shall develop after the war, we can expect to find this book in the hands of the employees of the new industry." J. A. Wheeler

+ R of Scientific Instruments 14:320 O '43 1050w

"Though this is hardly a book for beginners it is not a very abtruse one. It omits the elaborate theoretical approach usually found in books in this field. Chemists, engineers. physicians and biologists, for example, with a certain scientific background, will find here a useful account of processes they are already using to some extent." James Stokley

+ Weekly Book Review p30 O 17 '43 200w

POLLOCK, CHANNING. Harvest of my years; an autobiography. 395p il $3.50 Bobbs

B or 92 Authors—Correspondence, reminiscences, etc. 43-2822

Autobiography of one of America's leading playwrights, who began his career as a newspaperman and dramatic critic, became press agent for the Schuberts, wrote several famous plays, and since 1931 has been devoting his time to the lecture platform, the magazines, and the radio. The book teems with anecdotes of the great and near-great. Index.

Atlantic 171:127 My '43 120w

Booklist 39:332 Ap 15 '43

Bookmark 4:17 My '43

"Channing Pollock's autobiography is both dogmatic and delightful. . . Perhaps you will find 'Harvest of My Years' pontifical as well as egocentric. But you will also find that Mr. Pollock can be immensely entertaining, for all his pre-occupation with Mr. Pollock." William Du Bois

+ — N Y Times p8 F 21 '43 1500w

"Playgoing old-timers will find much to tickle their memories in Mr. Pollock's somewhat garrulous and good-natured reminiscences. The latter portion of the book, dealing partly with Mr. Pollock's social and political ideas, is of less interest."

New Yorker 19:67 F 27 '43 50w

Reviewed by John Corbin

Sat R of Lit 26:20 Ap 24 '43 1350w

"Author of innumerable plays, a novelist, essayist and lecturer, he has gathered the crop of his experiences and has written an autobiography that makes for thoroughly enjoyable reading. Being a craftsman of no mean ability, he maintains suspense throughout, a condition often lacking in the life story of less skilled writers." H. L.

+ Springf'd Republican p7e F 21 '43 500w

Theatre Arts 27:322 My '43 370w

"In spite of his naif pleasure in recording his financial successes, [Pollock] is obviously sincere in his admiration of the plain virtues, and nothing in his life contradicts it. He writes plainly for the plain man, which explains his popularity on the lecture platform. He speaks to people of things he would say Broadway has forgotten, and there are no critics out front to damn him the next morning. No wonder he declares he's happy. After reading his book most people will think he deserves to be." W. P. Eaton

Weekly Book Review p4 F 21 '43 1350w

Wis Lib Bul 39:52 Ap '43

POLLOCK, ELIZABETH R. Yes, ma'am! the personal papers of a WAAC private; arr. and ed. by Ruth Duhme; drawings by Page Cary. 172p $1.75 Lippincott

355.34 U.S. Army. Women's army corps 43-8677

Letters written by a private in the WAAC's to her family and friends, telling about her daily routine and how it affected her over a period of several weeks.

Reviewed by Ida Margolis

Book Week p2 Je 27 '43 260w

Booklist 39:440 Jl 1 '43

Cleveland Open Shelf p14 Ag '43

"Not a heavy item but, considering present interest in WAACs and scarcity of literature on subject, this book is recommended." M. E. Clark

+ Library J 68:429 My 15 '43 50w

N Y Times p15 My 30 '43 480w

"Whether Elizabeth Pollock, brought up with unusual cultural and material advantages, is a typical WAAC spokeswoman may be a question. How much editing Ruth Duhme had to do on these letters is also a question. But to the question, 'Does this book tell how it feels to be a woman in khaki?' there is only one answer. 'Yes, Ma'am!'" Rachel Meisenhelder

Weekly Book Review p10 Je 6 '43 850w

Wis Lib Bul 39:104 Jl '43

POLLOCK, MRS KATHERINE (GANTZ). Sly Mongoose; with il. by Kurt Wiese. 78p $1.75 Scribner

43-12454

Story of an engaging small colored boy living in Trinidad, and of the calypso he made up to help him get possession of a white puppy, named Sly Mongoose.

"The scenes of Trinidad at Mardi Gras time are colorful, the illustrations by Kurt Wiese amusing and authentic, but it is the human quality of the story that makes it outstanding. What could be more universal than a boy's longing for a dog? What better way to bring to an American child the understanding that a little Trinidad boy, for all his strange customs, is like any boy anywhere?" P. A. Whitney

+ Book Week p11 Ag 29 '43 180w

Booklist 40:64 O 15 '43

Reviewed by H. A. Masten

Christian Science Monitor p12 D 13 '43 90w

"Sympathetic help of Sombo's family and friends in his undertaking makes this pleasant reading for a fifth grader, especially a dog lover. Background of Trinidad customs is handled naturally and is fresh material. Attractive format; delightful illustrations in black, white, and brown by Kurt Wiese. For any library." K. H. McAlarney

+ Library J 68:672 S 1 '43 70w

"Kurt Wiese's lively pictures help to make Trinidad, with its palms and cocoa field, its Mardi Gras celebration and its calypso contest, real and vivid. The setting of the tale is fresh and unhackneyed. The flavor of the West Indian idiom has been retained but the text is not made hard to read by an overabundance of dialect. The author, who understands children's interests, writes with spontaneity and an enjoyment that is contagious. For children 8 to 11." A. T. Eaton

+ N Y Times p7 Ag 29 '43 260w

"Miss Pollock's sensible assumption that her readers will catch on to the meaning of calypso singers and such West Indian phenomena gives the story a frank, uncondescending quality that is refreshing."

+ New Yorker 19:126 D 4 '43 90w

"Trinidad must be a happy place, judging by this story, and you can judge by it, for I tried it on several Trinidadians and they said with fervor that it was the Real Thing. It would make anybody want to see Trinidad for himself." M. L. Becker

+ Weekly Book Review p8 O 31 '43 450w

POLNAY, PETER DE. See De Polnay, P.

POLONSKY, ABRAHAM. Enemy sea. 288p $2.50 Little 43-8212

Novel of mystery and adventure. An oil tanker leaves Galveston for New York with a cargo of oil. On board as supercargo are a famous woman photographer, and a feature writer who is much in love with her. A former lover is third mate. On the stage thus set, the drama of human emotions is played to a disastrous finish.

Booklist 39:464 Jl 15 '43

"Fast-moving, readable novel despite fantastic incidents. Suitable for most libraries and Hollywood." H. G. Kelley

+ Library J 68:430 My 15 '43 70w

"Despite the author's outstanding gift for sketching a vivid, dramatic scene, his narrative is strained and often anti-climactic. Through Danny, we are constantly groping for the meaning behind each episode, probing the nature of the other characters and analyzing his own reaction to brute force. This adds considerable depth to the novel, but impedes the action. The author himself, we are told, has served in the merchant service. He writes of the men with deep sympathy and admiration; one of the finest bits in the book is his portrait of the big, impassive Negro steward. Polonsky writes sensitively, too of the spirit and moods of the sea—particularly of the enemy sea where death is a daily caller." Evelyn Sager

+ — N Y Times p12 Je 13 '43 550w

" 'The Enemy Sea' is three kinds of story, and they are all good. Mr. Polonsky combines them artfully, and in effect they are integrated and inseparable, but by approaching his material on three levels, so to speak, he has given added values to a novel which otherwise would be simply a narrative of villainy on the high seas. From any angle, here is a satisfying performance." Lisle Bell

+ Weekly Book Review p11 My 30 '43 550w

POLSON, JOSEPH ALBERT. Internal combustion engines. 2d ed 548p il $5 Wiley

621.43 Gas and oil engines 42-23960

"This textbook, planned for students who are familiar with thermodynamics, was first published in 1931 and is now revised and partly rewritten. The treatment of cams, air cooling, and aircraft engine performance has been expanded and a chapter on the gas turbine added." (Booklist) Index.

Booklist 39:204 Ja 15 '43

"Excellent background for automotive, aeronautical, and mechanical engineers."

+ Library J 67:1067 D 1 '42 20w

N Y New Tech Bks 28:9 Ja '43

POMEROY, ELSIE M. Sir Charles G. D. Roberts; a biography; with an introd. by Lorne Pierce. 371p il $6 Humphries [18s Hatchards]

B or 92 Roberts, Sir Charles George Douglas [A43-2457]

"Miss E. M. Pomeroy's factually complete biography of Charles G. D. Roberts makes clear the reasons why the man who has long been known to readers in the United States chiefly for his nature stories is looked upon by Canadians as the dean of their literature. To the United States, Roberts is, first and foremost, one who has described the histories of wild animals with remarkable insight and with great beauty of style; he is also known as a good story-teller, and to a smaller number of readers as a poet. . . To Canadians he is a literary trail-blazer, a pioneer." Christian Science Monitor

"As a source of information about Roberts this biography is a valuable piece of work. As an evaluation of his work it partakes more of appreciation, even of eulogy, than of detached criticism, but throughout it makes clear his careful craftsmanship, good comradeship, and service in encouraging other Canadian writers."

+ Christian Science Monitor p11 Jl 31 '43 700w

Times [London] Lit Sup p404 Ag 21 '43 650w

PONCINS, GONTRAN DE MONTAIGNE, vicomte de. Home is the hunter; tr. by Haakon Chevalier. 271p $2.50 Reynal

43-18431

Story of an old servant's recollections of past days. Old Jean Menandieu, after ten years of retirement, is asked to come back to fill in temporarily in a domestic crisis. Filled with joy he returns to the old kitchens, to his varied labors, to his memories of the family he had served for forty years, but after the five days are over he goes back to his little cottage and one-acre plot of land.

Reviewed by Peter Quinn

Book Week p21 D 5 '43 550w

Booklist 40:166 Ja 1 '44

Commonweal 39:424 F 11 '44 850w

"I am very sorry, but I am not surprised, that 'Home Is the Hunter' has been dismissed as a statement of political reaction. Certainly, issuing in a poignant assertion of values which have disappeared from modern life, it can too easily be read as an anti-democratic document, and this despite the fact that M. de Poncins's complex and subtle intelligence has perfectly comprehended the emotional price that his old society often paid for its virtues. But it seems to me that democracy makes a bad mistake to shut itself off so quickly from criticism like M. de Poncins's by giving it an unpleasant political label." Diana Trilling

+ Nation 158:51 Ja 8 '44 650w

"In a highly civilized country there is never a new order, only the old one patched up and beautified with the offering of love. I think that if M. de Poncins' book is meant to convey a moral, this must be it. As in the case of most works that are not written with a bludgeon pen, the author conveys more than he states. In the astonishingly tender and faithful picture which he has painted of France under its most enduring aspects, one senses a love so constant, so total, that it conceals nothing. There is nothing to conceal in a picture of human greatness and meanness—for this is the only eternal element of this world." Anne Green

+ N Y Times p3 D 5 '43 1100w

"The fidelity of a dog is aften touching, but the dog remains a dog. So, to a free citizen of a free country, Jean will seem more like an animal than a person. . . De Poncins writes beautifully and sensitively. His book may belong to literature, but if it does, it belongs to the literature of feudalism. He writes with all the conviction, and all the contemporaneity, of a 'liberal' French aristocrat of the ancien régime." Clifton Fadiman

+ — New Yorker 19:105 N 20 '43 270w

"Perhaps if M. de Poncins insisted less than he does on conveying a moral message by means of a society whose lasting value is controversial, the reader would more greatly enjoy his well-nigh magic talent of presentation. In any case he will, after this new volume, look forward to the future development of a highly remarkable writer." Robert Pick

Sat R of Lit 26:13 D 11 '43 650w

PONCINS, G. DE M.—Continued

"This story of an uneventful few days in the life of an old man is profoundly absorbing. Distinguished by the beautiful precision and concreteness of the telling, it is a book to linger in one's memory and to reward re-reading." Mary Ross

+ Weekly Book Review p4 D 5 '43 950w

PONSONBY, ARTHUR AUGUSTUS WILLIAM HARRY PONSONBY, 1st baron. Henry Ponsonby; Queen Victoria's private secretary; his life from his letters, by his son. 425p il $3.75 (21s) Macmillan

B or 92 Ponsonby, Sir Henry Frederick. Victoria, queen of Great Britain 43-16024

"Every morning for 25 years (1870-95) a solemn, bearded man in frock coat, droopy trousers and elastic-sided boots opened Queen Victoria's mail. General Sir Henry Frederick Ponsonby was the Widow of Windsor's Private Secretary. Over the years, in daily letters to his wife and in countless jottings, Ponsonby chartered the awesome complexities of his job. Out of this mass of papers his son, Arthur (Lord Ponsonby of Shulbrede), a onetime page at the Queen's court, has contrived a book which is both a biography of his father and a candid portrait of the Queen in her most fractious, most politically influential years." (Time) Index.

Reviewed by Harold Hobson

Christian Science Monitor p10 Je 12 '43 450w

Reviewed by P. W. Wilson

N Y Times p14 N 14 '43 1050w

"Seldom can a book have been written with less attempt to judge or emphasise. The author, Ponsonby's third son, was brought up at Windsor and Osborne, but keeps a stern check on reminiscence. . . In the main, the story is left to the documents, and so is sometimes incomplete for when Sir Henry rejoins his wife the daily letters stop, and we are left with a discreet footnote referring us to some other work for the sequel. The book is consequently better suited for browsing or reference than for reading through at a stretch. To say this is no criticism of the author, still less of the subject; for no man, it is clear, would have liked dramatisation of his life less than Sir Henry Ponsonby." Lettice Fowler

+ — Spec 169:388 O 23 '42 700w

Time 42:98 N 15 '43 900w

"Though he is alive to the more comic aspect of the picture he is presenting—and gives us some beguiling glimpses of minor royalties, the Duke of Cambridge interviewing 'the gas pipe man' at Sandringham or hiding from the Queen with Prince Leopold behind a garden door—Lord Ponsonby does not sacrifice the serious to the anecdotal. He gives us a fascinating outline of the Queen, composed of her own emphatic letters and a hundred incidental touches and draws a sympathetic portrait of her Private Secretary."

+ Times [London] Lit Sup p510 O 17 '42 2650w

"A fine character study, done with notable objectivity and insight." C. G. Stillman

+ Weekly Book Review p3 Ja 2 '44 700w

POOLE, ERNEST. Giants gone; men who made Chicago. (Whittlesey house publication) 354p il $2.75 McGraw

977.311 Chicago—History. Chicago—Biography 43-2200

In these biographical sketches of men who "made Chicago," the author, himself a native of Chicago, presents an informal history of the city from the 1830s to the twentieth century. Index.

Booklist 39:291 Mr 15 '43

Reviewed by Dorothy Hillyer

Boston Globe p15 F 17 '43 300w

Christian Science Monitor p14 Mr 5 '43 380w

"Well worth while and of interest to many types of reader, especially to anyone interested in Chicago. Long list of sources and acknowledgments will be useful to reader desiring more on subject." H. P. Bolman

+ Library J 68:171 F 15 '43 120w

New Repub 108:486 Ap 12 '43 90w

Reviewed by F. S. Adams

N Y Times p9 Mr 7 '43 440w

"Drawing on family memories and supplementing them with the reminiscences of friends, Mr. Poole also writes with that quiet pride in Western achievement that is comparable to the way in which a Frenchman speaks of 'mon pays.' To understand the warmth and generosity with which Ernest Poole has described men damned by some historians as freebooters and exploiters of labor, we have to recognize the claims of that larger family called Chicago, which has sent its sons all over the country. Mr. Poole could not help seeing these men as human beings first, and although distance and maturity gave him perspective, he never judged them coldly as disembodied social forces." Harry Hansen

+ Sat R of Lit 26:8 F 27 '43 850w

"It is Poole's superb portraits of the Yankee pioneers that make his book the best collection of biographical sketches ever done about Chicagoans. No history of the city has so many portraits etched so swiftly, clearly, deeply and easily, each sentence a painter's brush stroke." Lloyd Lewis

+ Weekly Book Review p1 F 21 '43 1250w

Wis Lib Bul 39:54 Ap '43

POPE, ARTHUR UPHAM. Maxim Litvinoff. 530p $3.50 Fischer, L.B.

B or 92 Lītvīnov, Maksīm 43-15740

Combination biography of former Soviet Ambassador Litvinoff, a compilation of some of his more important speeches, and a background of his Russian politics during the last forty years. Bibliography. Index.

"It is a good job, well done, and a valuable contribution to an understanding of the Soviet attitude as to the present, as well as to the future. It is indispensable reading for anyone who wishes to understand this new phenomenon in historical evolution—the Union of Soviet Social Republics." J. E. Davies

+ Book Week p3 O 17 '43 1100w

Booklist 40:93 N 15 '43

"Large library or one collecting all sorts of material on Russia would include this book; otherwise, it is not important. Author is an authority on Persian art and has written several monographs on special subjects in that field." G. E. Brown

Library J 68:724 S 15 '43 70w

Reviewed by H. H. F. Eulau

New Repub 109:658 N 8 '43 750w

"A remarkable feat of scholarship and research as well as a vivid and interesting picture of a man who has played a singularly important role in world affairs of the last twenty-five years." Walter Duranty

+ N Y Times p12 O 17 '43 950w

"A readable, thorough, and intelligently organized book."

+ New Yorker 19:95 O 23 '43 90w

Reviewed by Bruno Lasker

Survey G 33:25 Ja '44 500w

Reviewed by Louis Fischer

Weekly Book Review p5 O 17 '43 1400w

POPULAR educator library; a liberal education of university standard, prepared by sixty-three experts. 10v $16.70; de luxe ed $19.70 c1940 Nat. educ. alliance

082 Lectures and lecturing

"This set consists of 'lectures' on 57 subjects, each subject a unit in itself with little relationship to the others. In this respect it resembles 'a liberal education of university standard' [sub-title]. The subjects and authors of a few of the series of lectures are: Accountancy, by Earl A. Saliers; Aeronautics, by Theodor Von Karman; American History, by Harry Elmer Barnes; Anthropology, by Clark Wissler; Archaeology, by Albert T. Olmstead, and others; Art and Architecture, by Ernest Pickering; Astronomy, by Clyde Fisher; Bible History, by G. B. Winton; Biology, by John H. Gerould; Botany, by Loren C. Petry; Business English, by John Presley Fife; and Chemistry, by L. A. Goldblatt. The foreword, signed simply 'The publishers,' indicates that the set is designed for those who have had to cut short their formal education." Subscription Bks Bul

"The arrangement of the various lectures is, in the words of the foreword, 'scrambled.' The lectures, instead of being a unit, are scattered through successive volumes, so that the subscriber is indeed compelled to 'jump hither and thither,' if not from subject to subject, at least from volume to volume. . . Aside from drawbacks in arrangement, the set suffers from lack of consistent editorial supervision and revision. The level at which material is presented varies from subject to subject, depending on authorship. . . The material in these volumes is modeled on the usual extension course. The authors are competent in their fields. The set lacks the cohesion that vigorous editing might have provided. More subjects could be added at will, the only revision needed being in the index. Popular Educator Library may prove useful to an individual who does not have access to library resources and wishes a systematic approach to the subjects included. Because of the arrangement of subject matter, the lack of good editorial supervision, and a binding unsatisfactory for library use, it is not recommended for libraries or schools."
— + Subscription Bks Bul 14:29 Jl '43 900w

PORTER, MRS ELLA BLODWEN (WILLIAMS). Sandra Kendall of the 4-H; the career story of a young home demonstration agent. 271p $2 Dodd
42-19646

Career story for high school girls. It describes the experiences of an Iowa home demonstration agent, supervising women's projects and 4-H activities for girls. The author was born on an Iowa farm and knows her subject at first hand.

"Conversation, especially in first two chapters, is too heavy with information and lacks sense of humor, but characters are human and the theme wholesome. Plot unhackneyed, plausible. Mild love interest. Make-up satisfactory. . . Recommended for high school girls." Maude Adams
+ — Library J 67:848 O 1 '42 70w

Reviewed by E. M. Morrow
N Y Times p10 My 9 '43 160w

"Information about the H. D. A. and the 4-H is handed out in rather large chunks, but the story is interesting and the real-life situations are such as would be met in such a position. Moreover, it will open up to country and small-town girls a vocational outlet of somewhat more practical nature than interior decorating or selling antiques."
+ — Wis Lib Bul 39:18 Ja '43

PORTER, JAMES AMOS. Modern Negro art; with eighty-five halftone plates. 272p $3.25 Dryden
709.73 Art, American. Art, Negro 43-16044

A study of the art produced by American Negro painters and sculptors from the last quarter of the eighteenth century to the present. The book contains 85 half-tones of works by over 40 artists. Bibliography. Index.

"Basically we believe it is a mistake to talk about Negro art. Just as we believe it is a mistake to talk about Catholic art. . . Thus one is disposed to greet Mr. James A. Porter's 'Modern Negro Art' more as a symptom of a peculiar atmosphere in which we live than as a venture really justified by the facts."
Commonweal 38:637 O 15 '43 850w

"Comprehensive and scholarly but very readable; indicates years of careful study and research performed with an artisan's skill. Valuable documentation including elaborate footnotes." D. R. Homer
+ Library J 68:844 O 15 '43 100w

Reviewed by V. N. Whitehill
Survey G 32:513 D '43 180w

POST, ALBERT. Popular freethought in America, 1825-1850. 258p $3 Columbia univ. press
211 Free thought. U.S.—Religion 43-5516

"In this study the author has made no attempt to consider all the ramifications of freethought. . . The emphasis has been placed almost exclusively on religion. Disbelief in divine revelation and overruling Providence was one of the cardinal principles of freethinkers. In addition, the idea of natural law and an accent on human reason are prominent in their thought. The beginning date of 1825 was selected because it marks the commencement of freethought organization, and the terminal date of 1850 because it ends a period of noticeable decline." (Pref) Bibliography. Index.

Reviewed by Oscar Cargill
Am Soc R 8:485 Ag '43 600w

"Dr. Post has done a creditable piece of work. His research is adequate, his documentation abundant, and his judgment good. On such a subject, however, his views at the end of his scholarly career would doubtless be far more profound than at its beginning. His theme better befits the master than the student." J. D. Hicks
+ Ann Am Acad 231:193 Ja '44 450w

"The bibliography attached to this historical monograph attests to the author's extraordinary reading and research. And yet the book is as pedestrian a piece of writing as could have come out of the schools. Nowhere is it rescued from dullness by incisiveness, interpretation, brilliance or wit. In it there are no hills and valleys. It is plain and straight and level—it is consistently uninspired." Francis Downing
— + Commonweal 38:208 Je 11 '43 600w

Reviewed by R. H. Abrams
Crozer Q 21:82 Ja '44 800w

Reviewed by W. W. Sweet
New Eng Q 16:530 S '43 700w

Reviewed by S. L. Jackson
Springf'd Republican p6 Je 21 '43 950w

POST, HOWARD WILLIAM. The chemistry of the aliphatic orthoesters. (Am. chemical soc. Monograph ser) 188p $4 Reinhold
547.4 Esters 43-9686

"The purpose of this monograph, as stated by the author in an introductory chapter, is 'to coordinate and to present the material now to be found in the literature on the orthoesters of aliphatic carbon, namely those of orthoformic acid and its homologs and of orthocarbonic acid'. To the very successful accomplishment of this purpose the author has devoted six of the book's 12 chapters. In addition to these chapters four others are devoted to the carbohydrate orthoesters and orthoacids, the silico-orthoesters and the polyalkoxides of other elements in the fourth column." Chem & Eng N

Reviewed by S. M. McElvain
+ Chem & Eng N 21:1580 S 25 '43 180w

"The book is well written though a number of errors have been permitted to slip through. . . In spite of these criticisms, this monograph is a worthwhile addition to any chemical library. It is certainly the most up-to-date compilation in English of the literature of orthoesters." G. D. Byrkit
+ — Chem & Met Eng 50:191 D '43 320w
Library J 68:626 Ag '43 70w
N Y New Tech Bks 28:41 Jl '43

POSTGATE, RAYMOND WILLIAM. Somebody at the door. 249p $2 Knopf [8s 6d Joseph, M]
43-7755

Detective story.

"Highly recommended to those who have the strength to take their drama without sugar-coating." Elizabeth Bullock
+ Book Week p10 Ag 8 '43 280w

POSTGATE, R. W.—Continued
Reviewed by Harold Brighouse
Manchester Guardian p3 Ap 21 '43 50w

"Another superior job by the author of 'Verdict of Twelve.' As a whole it is not quite up to its predecessor, but the sixty-page saga of Herr Mannheim's deliverance from Germany is alone worth the price of admission. The detective-story field is greatly enriched by this author, who evidently believes—and practises it—that the proper study of mankind is man."
+ New Repub 109:54 Jl 12 '43 60w

Reviewed by Isaac Anderson
N Y Times p10 Je 13 '43 70w

"Intelligent mystery, cut on the same pattern as Mr. Postgate's 'Verdict of Twelve' but not as well thought out. The exciting moments outnumber the dull ones, though, and the book is far above average."
+ — New Yorker 19:80 Je 12 '43 100w

"Excellent."
+ Sat R of Lit 26:39 Je 19 '43 40w

"No genuine detective-story fan would, I imagine, accept Somebody at the Door as in the first, or even second, class of murder tale. The method employed to kill Mr. Grayson seems improbable, too elaborate and—frankly—incredible. On the other hand, the characters are quite convincing in their pedestrian way, and their suburban background is very clearly and accurately displayed. But the story falls between too many stools, and is disappointing." Kate O'Brien
— + Spec 170:370 Ap 16 '43 80w
Time 42:104 Jl 5 '43 380w

"Enough murder is provided by Mr. Postgate to make a lintel for 'Somebody at the Door.' Once this was in place he could give his mind to what interested him far more—a set of panels, each a separate life. Here is another linked-biographies novel, and like many of the others it proves very readable."
+ Times [London] Lit Sup p185 Ap 17 '43 150w

"Unusual and highly superior crime tale by the author of 'Verdict of Twelve' (1940)." Will Cuppy
+ Weekly Book Review p19 Je 13 '43 400w

POTEAT, EDWIN MCNEILL. Four freedoms and God. 155p $1.50 Harper
940.531 World war, 1939—Religious aspects. Liberty 43-7852

"Dr. Poteat has taken President Roosevelt's four freedoms: Freedom of Speech, Freedom of Religion, Freedom from Want and Freedom from Fear, and clothed the ideas with analytical and penetrating spiritual philosophy which will commend itself to all who wish to see a better world after the international holocaust of today." Churchman

"The distinguished scholar, student, author and minister of the Euclid Avenue Baptist Church of Cleveland, Ohio, Dr. Edwin McNeill Poteat, has written a book which deserves the attention of all thoughtful people." Preston Bradley
+ Book Week p10 Je 13 '43 500w
Reviewed by W. F. Garrison
Christian Century 60:741 Je 23 '43 600w
Reviewed by T. F. Opie
+ Churchman 157:16 S 1 '43 100w
Cleveland Open Shelf p19 O '43
Wis Lib Bul 39:120 O '43

POTTS, JEAN. Someone to remember. 256p $2 Presbyterian bd.
43-5799

"A novel in which the heroine is not the juvenile lead but a fine old lady the influence of whose personality and memory helped the whole community." Christian Century

Christian Century 60:363 Mr 24 '43 30w

"There is a simple, homely feel to the story, and an original angle to the plot." Charlotte Dean
+ N Y Times p16 Je 6 '43 200w

"An unusual character study." Lisle Bell
+ Weekly Book Review p17 Ap 4 '43 150w
Wis Lib Bul 39:123 O '43

POUND, ROSCOE. Administrative law; its growth, procedure and significance. 138p $1.85 Univ. of Pittsburgh
353 Administrative law. U.S.—Executive departments. Justice, Administration of 42-15504

"To the growing attacks on current developments in administrative justice, Roscoe Pound adds the weight of history and philosophy in a volume that is one of the more succinct and reasoned analyses of the shortcomings of administrative justice unrestrained by the traditions and processes of the common law as administered by regularly constituted courts. Proceeding from the assumption that the common law is a taught tradition of the supremacy of law, of individual rights, and of adjudication instead of administration, Dean Pound denies the idea that 'whatever is done officially is law.' Administrative law, so-called, is, therefore, but a species of justice without law, lacking the restraints of judicial procedure and the techniques of decision inherent in that 'artificial reason' of the law." Am Pol Sci R

Reviewed by R. J. Harris
Am Pol Sci R 37:527 Je '43 550w

"The depth of controversy is attested by the violence and the distortion which it generates. Some time ago I pointed out how largely invective prevailed in discussions concerning administrative law. Not the least offender, both by reason of intellectual eminence and the extent of his transgression, is Dean Pound." L. L. Jaffe
Columbia Law R 42:1382 N '42 1350w

"One picks up a new book by Dean Pound with the hope of finding some new turn of thought, a fresh insight, at least a new statement of an old problem, but the reader of Administrative Law is disappointed; for in this little book of lectures the author says nothing that has not already been said by him in Contemporary Juristic Theory (1940) and Social Control Through Law (1942). In some instances the repetition is even in ipsissima verba." M. R. Konvitz
Harvard Law R 56:1020 My '43 650w

POWELL, ARTHUR GRAY. I can go home again. 301p $3 Univ. of N.C. press
917.58 Georgia—Social ife and customs 43-17163

Recollections of a Southern judge born in southwestern Georgia in 1873. He began filling out legal documents for his father at the age of ten, was a school teacher at fourteen, and clerk of a law court at fifteen. At the age of thirty-three he was a judge, but later went to Atlanta where he set up a private law practice. His reminiscences are filled with pictures of life in the southern Georgia communities where he has spent his whole life.

Reviewed by Gusta Hill
Book Week p7 Ja 2 '44 320w
Booklist 40:196 F 1 '44

"Non-Southern readers—'Yankee reformers,' the jacket calls them—will find it hard to stomach Judge Powell's unashamed assertion of the traditional Southern attitude toward Negroes. Like the book itself, though, this assertion is authentically representative. For the rest, this is a talkative, nostalgic, earthy and thoroughly human book. Reading it is rather like thumbing through someone else's old family album." Richard Match
+ — N Y Times p12 Ja 9 '44 480w

POWELL, DILYS. Remember Greece. 211p maps $2 Hastings house [7s 6d Hodder]
949.5 Greece—History. World war, 1939—Greece [A41-4062]

The author was the wife of the late director of the British School of archaeology at Athens, and lived in Greece from 1926 to the outbreak of the present war. The first part of her book is an account of the Italian and German war against Greece, during the Nazi invasion. The second part is a brief summary of the geography and history of the country. The book is an American edition of a book published in England in 1941. War chronology, maps, and index.

"Understanding, high indignation and a skill in making the statistics of horror come alive for us, combine to make the last chapters of this book memorable." A. C. Spectorsky
+ Book Week p2 Ag 15 '43 160w

"The author writes with clarity and ease." W. M.
+ Christian Science Monitor p10 Ap 18 '42 500w

"Miss Powell writes in a warm and understanding way . . . about the land and the people which she learned to know in the 13 years that she lived in the country."
+ Christian Science Monitor p13 Ag 21 '43 450w

"The story of the courage and indomitable spirit of the Greeks in the face of inevitable failure to keep their independence is told in a charmingly personal manner by a woman who had lived in Athens since 1926. . . This book should be read by all who are interested in the struggle of a small nation against fascism."
+ New Repub 109:346 S 6 '43 150w

Reviewed by A. M. Nikolaieff
N Y Times p12 Ag 29 '43 200w

"Mrs. Powell's enthusiastic descriptions of the landscape, her vivid pen-portraits of her Greek acquaintances, and her interpretations of Greek folklore and customs make pleasant reading. Equally interesting is her eye-witness account of the political gyrations that led to the dictatorship of General Metaxas, the 'little Moltke' who was falsely accused of having been pro-German. The author is at her best when she relates episodes from Greek everyday-life. . . Regrettably, the vast and rich material is not assembled systematically nor in chronological order. Nevertheless, the book is valuable as the story of a brave people who, in the words of Pericles, chose 'to die resisting, rather than to live submitting.'" Alfred Werner
+ — Sat R of Lit 26:9 S 4 '43 350w

POWELL, FLORENCE LEE. In the Chinese garden; phot. by [the author]. 112p $2.75 Day
712.6 Gardens—China 43-8850

"[This book contains] a collection of photographs of private Chinese gardens in Soochow presented as 'one walks through it,' as the author describes. The two gardens are Liu Yuan and Shih Tsu Lin. The first was built in the sixteenth century and the latter in the fourteenth." N Y Times

Am Soc R 8:624 O '43 90w

"It is too bad that so much of the brief text is spent on tabulating symbols which appear in the architectural features—symbols for longevity, truth, immortality, and so on and on. These are details which, touched on superficially, only make the Chinese seem quaint and baffling." M. P.
Book Week p9 Je 27 '43 230w

"If you like gardens, you will love Florence Powell's book. If you love China, you will treasure it. If you appreciate beauty, you will want to buy it and keep it." Helena Kuo
+ N Y Times p34 My 23 '43 380w
Weekly Book Review p21 Jl 25 '43 250w

POWELL, JOHN HARVEY. Richard Rush, Republican diplomat, 1780-1859. (Pennsylvania lives) 291p $2.75 Univ. of Pa. press [16s 6d Oxford]
B or 92 Rush, Richard 42-50483

Biography of an early nineteenth century Pennsylvanian, prominent in both state and national affairs. Bibliographical note. Index.

"The author must be commended for his scholarly treatment. He neither eulogizes nor condemns but lets his statement of the facts and quotations do this. The nearest he comes to attempting to state his own evaluation of Rush is perhaps in the following: 'participated in exciting events near leaders of men and thought,' 'served devotedly and usefully,' 'never a popular champion of a cause,' and 'not one of the positions Rush held was an elective office.' The absence of footnotes may perhaps be justified on the ground that the definitive biography is still to be written when the collection of Rush papers is made available. The present volume supplies a long-felt need." A. L. Kohlmeier
+ Am Hist R 49:117 O '43 650w
Social Studies 34:47 Ja '43 50w

POWELL, RICHARD PITTS. Don't catch me. 314p $2 Simon & Schuster
43-51007

A rather frolicsome mystery story in which an antique dealer and his wife get tangled up with a fake Chippendale chair, gangsters, a citizen of Luxembourg, and Nazis.

Booklist 39:225 F 1 '43

"This is light, carefree likable entertainment with a sort of juvenile or collegiate touch over all." Will Cuppy
+ Books p13 Ja 10 '43 320w

"Best of the week."
+ Boston Globe p19 Ja 13 '43 40w

"Since to reveal even a hint of the plot would spoil the reader's pleasure, we shall content ourselves with saying that Andy and Arab run into enough excitement to last an ordinary person a lifetime. Arab is anything but an ordinary person, and we suspect that she will go on seeking thrills and will drag Andy along with her. It will be all right with us if she does."
+ N Y Times p8 Ja 10 '43 200w

"Light and well written, with some Axis villainy thrown in for spice."
+ New Yorker 18:52 Ja 9 '43 70w

"Recommended."
+ Sat R of Lit 26:20 F 6 '43 40w

"Written by a former newspaper reporter, 'Don't Catch Me' is not intended for those who take their mystery novels as grim mental exercises. This is as bright and high-spirited a book as has been published since Nazi villains came into vogue."
+ Springf'd Republican p7e Ja 10 '43 180w
Time 41:88 F 1 '43 30w

POWELL, SIDNEY WATERBURY. Where are the people? 223p $1.75 Abingdon-Cokesbury
250 Pastoral work 42-22922

Today the ending of the old nursery rhyme is too often not "Open the doors and see all the people" but "Open the doors, and where are the people?" In this book the author discusses some methods helpful in bringing people back into the churches.

"Christians who want their religion to be contagious and preachers who want really to spread the gospel must do much of their work outside the confines of church walls. Ministers must think more of people than of audiences. This is the spirit in which the book is written. All of it is inspirational and much of it is specific and practical."
+ Christian Century 59:1323 O 28 '42 120w

Reviewed by I. M. Rose
Crozer Q 20:171 Ap '43 300w

POWER, EFFIE LOUISE. Work with children in public libraries. 195p il $3 A.L.A.
027.625 Libraries, Children's 43-51223

"Library Service for Children [Book Review Digest, 1931] appears with a new title, modern format, revised text, and a new chapter on work with children in rural areas." (Booklist) Index.

Booklist 40:17 S '43

POWER, E. L.—Continued

"As is to be expected from one of Miss Power's experience, the presentation of material is sound and practical, sprinkled with humor, and forward-looking. It is a regret to this reviewer that the material has had to be so condensed. A student or beginning children's librarian would often find some difficulty in interpreting the ideas presented. . . These are criticisms of structure and in no way affect the essential worth of the book." M. R. Lucas

+ Library J 68:949 N 15 '43 550w

"Indispensible to beginners and to inexperienced or untrained workers with children in libraries because of its practical information and detail, it is also invaluable as an interpretation to administrators of public libraries and schools of the values of children's libraries and the extent of their potential influence. The author's enthusiasm and idealism, tempered by experience, inspire faith and confidence in her co-workers." Siri Andrews

+ Library Q 14:77 Ja '44 600w

POWER-O'MALLEY, RUTH (MRS H. H. SHUFELDT). Mrs Cassatt's children. 178p $2.50 Houghton

43-18846

Portrait of a matriarch, Mrs Cassatt, ambitious self-centered wife of a one-time governor of Virginia. When the narrator met her in Bermuda she was over eighty, living in a haphazard cottage, but still beautiful and still playing the Lady Bountiful. Because he had loved one of Mrs Cassatt's daughters-in-law, the narrator delved into the old lady's past and little by little the stories of Mrs Cassatt's four children came to light—every one of them a sacrifice to their mother's possessiveness.

Booklist 40:199 F 1 '44

"'Case history' of each child makes story; book is not thrilling; reader looks at the Cassatts rather than lives with them. Yet there is charm and ease in the writing. Well to watch for future books by Miss Power-O'Malley when the characters may speak more for themselves. Recommended." H. R. Burdett

+ Library J 68:892 N 1 '43 130w

Reviewed by Mary Poore

N Y Times p8 D 26 '43 380w

"'Mrs. Cassatt's Children' is spottily written—a strange combination of maturity of thought and immaturity of style. But taken by and large, the characters stand up on their own feet and, as personalities, have a substance that seems almost biographical." R. Y. Williams

+ — Weekly Book Review p2 D 26 '43 750w

POWERS, PAUL ODELL. Synthetic resins and rubbers. 296p il $3 Wiley

668.4 Gums and resins, Synthetic. Rubber, Artificial 43-17575

"The chemistry of synthetic resinous materials and the raw materials from which they are made is discussed in this book. [It] covers the theories of polymer formation, condensation polymers, vinyl and synthetic rubbers, resins from natural products, and application of synthetic resins." Chem & Eng N

Chem & Eng N 21:2139 D 25 '43 40w

Library J 68:961 N 15 '43 30w

"Chemical terms and formulae are used, but a college course in chemistry would be ample preparation. In order, apparently, to avoid commercialism, the authors refer to the materials only by their chemical names. In a college classroom the instructor can explain what these are. It might be a help to a person using the book for home study if, for example, somewhere in the four pages which are devoted to a good account of the polyamides and their important applications, he were told that they are commonly known as 'nylon.'" James Stokley

Weekly Book Review p6 D 26 '43 250w

POZNER, VLADIMIR. First harvest; tr. from the French by Haakon Chevalier. 242p $2.50 Viking

43-7229

A tragic tale of a small French village under the Nazi occupation.

Atlantic 171:129 Je '43 120w

"Characters are drawn with humor, tenderness, and real understanding of simple but rugged nature of French peasant. Interesting addition to literature of the war. Author is French of Russian extraction. Will be popular." E. M. Olcott

+ Library J 68:289 Ap 1 '43 70w

Reviewed by Harold Brighouse

Manchester Guardian p3 O 1 '43 100w

"The novel, though more competent than most anti-Nazi novels of its kind, is glossy and empty." Alfred Kazin

— + New Repub 108:569 Ap 26 '43 750w

"The most that can be said for Vladimir Pozner's new book on France is that he, in taking up the national situation at the point where 'The Edge of the Sword' came to a close, has attempted to record in sequence her contemporary history. . . It is neither a sensitively written and absorbing novel nor a document of unquestionable veracity. Pozner has done no more than take an acceptable and timely theme, a situation by now so familiar to us that he apparently believes no further individual endeavor was required to give it distinction and reality." Kay Boyle

— + N Y Times p8 My 2 '43 500w

"Well written, capably engineered novel . . . but the theme, the people, and the treatment are the sort that is beginning to appear standardized. The author leans so far backward to make his Nazis believable that they end up by sounding almost sentimentalized, if that's possible."

+ — New Yorker 19:74 My 1 '43 100w

"It is the deep and loving understanding of the people that gives Mr. Pozner's novel its warmth, its human tenderness, and its genuineness. There is no false pathos, no cheap glorification in the pictures of those innocent and unsuspecting village people who are suddenly rounded up by the Nazi garrison and told that ten of them must die as hostages if the 'murderer' of a German soldier found dead on the cliffs does not give himself up. . . 'First Harvest' is a moving, powerful, and beautifully written novel, extraordinarily well translated by Haakon Chevalier." F. C. Weiskopf

+ Sat R of Lit 26:17 My 8 '43 700w

Reviewed by John Hampson

Spec 171:296 S 24 '43 300w

"First Harvest is a dismal, moral tale of average literary merit."

Time 41:104 My 3 '43 70w

"M. Pozner paints the life of the village in intimate domestic detail and exhibits a sane humanity and a good deal of skill besides, in his rapid sketches of the mayor, the priest, the schoolmistress, the lighthouse keeper, the baker, the Communist postman, the sixteen-year-old Yvonne, the old women and the children. . . The narrative is restrained and acute in perception, but at the same time it is both narrow in range and wanting in grip."

+ — Times [London] Lit Sup p473 O 2 '43 360w

Reviewed by Virgilia Sapieha

Weekly Book Review p7 Ap 25 '43 1000w

Reviewed by Mark Schorer

Yale R n s 32:vi summer '43 130w

PRACTICAL index system. Central education association service basis of $1 per month for General section, or $1.25 with Secondary school section included. Term of service usually for three years. New edition each year, plus occasional supplements and bulletin board material. Green Bay, Wis.

016.04 Pamphlets—Bibliography

"An index of free materials (pamphlets, maps, exhibits, films, etc.) appears in the form of a 125 card file, complete in a tin box.

Each card, 5 by 7 inches in size, has a subject heading under which are listed sources of material on that subject. Information given for each entry usually includes the author and title, size or number of pages, descriptive information and address of issuing organization. Some subjects may take as many as three cards to list all sources while other subjects with little material may be included two or three to a card. Main subjects are filed alphabetically as are the sub-topics. The index file includes table of contents and cards listing the main subjects. There are no cross references in either the table of contents or in the index itself." Subscription Bks Bul

"The subject headings used are not standard. They are rather general and indefinite such as Dramatics, Economics, Industrial arts, Sciences, and while it would be possible to find material of value by reading through the cards, the index does not lend itself to quick, ready reference. No cross indexing is done; for example if material on South America is desired, one must look over four cards labeled Geography-World and two more on Travel. . . The cards for films merely list titles, neither in alphabetical nor subject order. It is necessary to read through the entire listing to find what films are available. These deficiencies make the service difficult to use. As this service lacks certain refinements of indexing and subject headings, and in view of the fact that it costs at least $12 a year, it is not recommended."
— Subscription Bks Bul 13:51 O '42 550w

PRAGEMAN, IRVING HENRY. Mechanism. 296p il $3 Int. textbook

621.8 Machinery 43-51057

"This treatise on Mechanism is intended for the use of students in any branch of engineering who are beginning a study of the motions of machine parts. It would be best adapted to courses during the sophomore or junior years of the engineering curriculum. The text describes the motions, velocities, and accelerations of various machine parts. Static forces that may be transmitted in some of the simpler machines and inertia forces acting on machine parts are also described." (Pref) Index.

"It seems to be carefully written and well organized."
+ Book Week p10 Ap 18 '43 110w
Library J 68:432 My 15 '43 20w
N Y New Tech Bks 28:13 Ja '43
Reviewed by James Stokley
Weekly Book Review p18 My 9 '43 80w

PRAIRIE SCHOONER. Prairie schooner caravan; an anthology ed. by Lowry C. Wimberly. 351p $3 Univ. of Neb.

810.9 American literature—Collections 43-18466

"The University of Nebraska's literary magazine, called 'The Prairie Schooner,' has been running for seventeen years. This is an anthology of stories, essays and poems that have appeared in its pages, a collection edited by Lowry C. Wimberly." Weekly Book Review

"'Prairie Schooner Caravan' is an excellent regional anthology of prose and poetry and it is attractively presented. Both prose and poetry are well chosen and such fine material as has been omitted from this anthology has been left out only because even better pieces were included." August Derleth
+ Book Week p33 D 5 '43 400w
Time 42:98 D 27 '43 550w

"Such a magazine fills the need for students who write that an experimental laboratory brings to students in science. As in the laboratory, not all the work can be important or significant. Some of it is learning by the trial-and-error method, but how else can progress in art or science be made? These contributions selected as the best and most representative of 'Prairie Schooner' standards, make a good showing." Rosemary Benet
+ Weekly Book Review p6 D 26 '43 850w

PRATT, EDWIN JOHN. Brébeuf and his brethren. $1.25 Basilian press, 121 E. Boston Blvd., Detroit

811

"A narrative poem in unrhymed iambic pentameter reciting the heroic story of the French Jesuit missionaries who were killed by the Iroquois in the seventeenth century." Christian Century

"The story is a noble one and it is well told, but it must be the religious value rather than the literary quality—which is respectable but not remarkable—that has induced Catholic critics to hail the work with high acclaim."
Christian Century 60:548 My 5 '43 80w

"It is an interesting fact that, just as the best Catholic novel of the last few years—'The Song of Bernadette'—was written by a Jew, so this notable Catholic poem was written by a Protestant. It is not quite in the same class with Werfel's great novel, and hardly deserves the extravagant praise it has received in certain quarters, but at least it must be said to be striking and arresting." Theodore Maynard
+ Commonweal 38:151 My 28 '43 320w

"It is a gross oversight that [the author] is so little known in this country. This present story, of the Jesuit martyrs of Canada, is an epic of heroism true to the facts of history. . . Pratt here writes in blank verse, but his rhymed verse is strikingly deft." W. R. Benet
+ Sat R of Lit 26:24 O 16 '43 180w

PRATT, FLETCHER. Navy has wings; with a foreword by J. S. McCain. 224p il $2.75 Harper

358.4 U.S.—Navy—Air service 43-3361

A popular resumé of the whole story of naval aviation from pilot training and selection to the actual fighting. Index.

"The book's first five chapters describe the rigorous training of a Naval Air Cadet. This is a fine companion piece for Corey Ford and Alastair MacBain's Army Air Cadet book, 'From the Ground Up.'. . Pratt's portrait of the intricacies of Naval aviation prepares the reader to expect some astounding exploits from this keen weapon for Uncle Sam in the months ahead." W. F. Morse
+ Book Week p4 Mr 21 '43 270w
Booklist 39:312 Ap 1 '43
Bookmark 4:6 My '43
Cleveland Open Shelf p6 Ap '43
Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert
Foreign Affairs 22:160 O '43 20w
Library J 68:212 Mr 1 '43 50w
New Repub 108:390 Mr 22 '43 150w

"It is a readable book, done in a light, conversational style, and its chief aim seems to be to picture the men who make America's naval aviation unquestionably the best in the world." F. P. Graham
+ N Y Times p24 Ap 11 '43 400w

"Good stuff, up to date and not too technical."
+ New Yorker 19:67 Mr 6 '43 50w

"Mr. Pratt's book is a well organized and rounded description of how the Navy goes about training its naval aviators in the midst of a war. Its descriptions are full and accurate." Yates Stirling, Jr.
+ Sat R of Lit 26:8 My 15 '43 360w

"One of the most absorbing and informative books on war personnel and tactics yet to be published."
+ Scientific Bk Club R 14:3 Mr '43 420w
Reviewed by P. J. Searles
Weekly Book Review p11 Jl 4 '43 380w

PRATT, HARRY EDWARD. Personal finances of Abraham Lincoln. 198p il $3.50 Abraham Lincoln assn.

B or 92 Lincoln, Abraham 43-4913

"Harry E. Pratt, executive secretary of the Illinois Abraham Lincoln Association, in a search of primary and secondary sources, has unearthed much material revealing how Lincoln earned and spent his income as storekeeper, lawyer, lobbyist, legislator and President." N Y Times

PRATT, H. E.—Continued

Reviewed by A. B. Miller
Ann Am Acad 229:212 S '43 220w

"One of the most important Lincoln books of recent years." Jay Monaghan
+ Book Week p2 My 16 '43 600w

Reviewed by E. D. Jones
Christian Century 60:1074 S 22 '43 330w

Reviewed by Theodore Mack
N Y Times p20 Je 6 '43 360w

PRATT, THEODORE (TIMOTHY BRACE, pseud). Barefoot mailman. 215p $2.50 Duell
43-11852

Story of Palm Beach and Miami in the eighteen eighties, and of Steve Pierton who carried the mail, on foot, between the two cities. In time, a girl and a forerunner of the land shark brotherhood, complicated Steve's life, but the mail went thru, nevertheless.

"All the conventions of frontier melodrama, from the simple hero to the good but alcoholic Indian, are observed in this novel with a charm which makes them seem not only fresh but natural as daylight. . . Steven's adventures are told with beguiling good humor, and are set in brilliant, loving descriptions of the Florida coast, calculated to make any reader rush for the nearest beach to take off his shoes and hunt sea shells."
+ Atlantic 172:131 O '43 90w

"The book is short but it is packed with exciting incident and heart-warming human interest." Marion Neville
+ Book Week p2 Ag 8 '43 430w

Booklist 40:14 S '43

Commonweal 38:469 Ag 27 '43 360w

"Good characterization. Recommended." Catherine Van Dyne
+ Library J 68:573 Jl '43 70w

"Perhaps this book will not reach all the readers who enjoyed the author's delightful 'Mr. Limpet,' and his recently published 'Mr. Winkle Goes to War.' He has not pictured Florida with the poetry and depth of a Marjorie Kinnan Rawlings. (For this reviewer's money, that lady is still queen of the orange groves.) But, for all its lack of pattern, 'The Barefoot Mailman' is an unique contribution to the treasury of Americana, Deep South Division. It will open the eyes of many readers who have wondered about the genesis of our American Riviera." William Du Bois
+ — N Y Times p6 Jl 25 '43 950w

"Very pleasant, well-written local-color novel."
+ New Yorker 19:63 Jl 24 '43 50w

Reviewed by N. L. Rothman
Sat R of Lit 26:18 Ag 14 '43 450w

" 'The Barefoot Mailman' is light and entertaining reading. Though the characters for the most part fall into 'types,' they are convincing. The vivid descriptions of the coast and the story of Florida, though fictionized, are a credit to Mr. Pratt." E. S. P.
+ Springf'd Republican p7e Ag 8 '43 390w

"Mr. Pratt writes with deep feeling throughout, but his sensitivity is at its height when he writes of the sea and the land and of simple people. 'The Barefoot Mailman' has a deceptive amateur charm." F. H. Bullock
+ Weekly Book Review p4 Jl 25 '43 750w

PRATT, THEODORE (TIMOTHY BRACE, pseud). Mr Winkle goes to war. 199p $2 Duell
43-4268

Quiet story of a mild little bespectacled man, Mr Winkle, who found himself chosen by his government to go to war. Private Winkle was older than the run of soldiers, he had never shot anything in his life except a squirrel, and his wife had always bossed him. Out of such unheroic material the army built Private Winkle up to Sergeant Technician Winkle, a hero of the South Pacific.

"The book is somewhat better than you would think from a summary of the plot. The writing is simple, facile and humorous, if rather too consistently whimsical in the Robert Nathan tradition. There are moments of real perception, or perhaps they only seem so in comparison with the inadequacy of character and plot: Mr. Winkle realizing why Army humor must inevitably be crude." S. E. Hyman
+ — Book Week p6 Mr 14 '43 430w

Booklist 39:320 Ap 1 '43

Bookmark 4:20 Mr '43

Reviewed by Diana Trilling
Nation 156:390 Mr 13 '43 90w

"Mr. Pratt writes with tenderness, smooth understatement and quiet humor. Through it all is kindly, sympathetic pity; restrained emotionalism. . . Mr. Winkle should be to the middle-aged American what Private Hargrove has been to the young squirts. It's a swell book." Meyer Berger
+ N Y Times p5 F 28 '43 700w

"Makes you feel pretty good."
+ New Yorker 19:66 Mr 6 '43 70w

"It isn't much of a novel, but it has its points, and it may have some propaganda value. It is the story of how the army can take up a timorous, ineffectual fellow and transform him into a tough and wholly admirable character. That such transformations do take place is a pretty well accepted fact; therefore the tale of what happened to Mr. Winkle by no means strains the reader's credulity—except in minor spots." Stanley Walker
+ Weekly Book Review p10 F 28 '43 500w

PREFACES to peace; a symposium. 437p $3.50 Columbia univ. press; Doubleday; Reynal; Simon & Schuster

940.531 World war, 1939—Peace. Reconstruction (1939-). World politics 43-16543

"This volume brings together men of similar purpose, though of somewhat varying views. Wendell L. Willkie's 'One World' is here reprinted in full. Herbert Hoover and Hugh Gibson's 'The Problems of Lasting Peace' is reproduced complete. Henry A. Wallace is represented by a section of his new book, 'The Century of the Common Man.' Sumner Welles's 'Blueprint for Peace' is here reproduced from the new book, 'The World of the Four Freedoms.' " Christian Science Monitor

Christian Science Monitor p14 Jl 22 '43 600w

Reviewed by H. S. Commager
N Y Times p1 Jl 18 '43 1250w

Reviewed by W. L. Shirer
Weekly Book Review p3 Ag 15 '43 1700w

PRENTICE, WILLIAM KELLY. Those ancient dramas called tragedies. 194p il $2.50 Princeton univ. press [12s 6d Oxford]

882.09 Greek drama—History and criticism. Tragedy 42-19842

"This work will make a special appeal to those who are interested in an interpretation of the aesthetic and ethical problems of ancient Greek tragedy in terms of present-day standards. The author deals briefly with the origin of tragedy and then proceeds to a detailed study of representative plays of the three Greek tragic poets. The tragedies discussed are four each from Aeschylus and Euripides and three from Sophocles. The treatment usually starts with a discussion of the legends underlying each play, whenever these require elucidation; then comes a technical dramatic analysis, with considerable attention paid to the histrionic details; the conclusion being normally a searching comment upon the religious and ethical problems involved." (Am Hist R) Index.

"The chief foundations of Professor Prentice's criticism seem to have been laid in the era when Verrall and Jebb were regarded as the leading authorities. It is noteworthy that so mature and thorough a scholar apparently felt he had relatively little to learn from the younger generation. Every page bears signs of a profound familiarity on the part of Professor Prentice with the problems which the plays present to modern minds, a familiarity born of more than half a century of loving attention to Greek tragedy, coupled with sincere and earnest reflection upon their aesthetic and moral significance to men of our own age." W. A. Oldfather and S. B. Straw

Am Hist R 48:634 Ap '43 210w

Reviewed by Gilbert Norwood

Class Philol 39:64 Ja '44 1600w

"The author has utilized the results of modern scholarship, but avoids any display of learning. His main purpose is to make the tragedies understandable and agreeable to a reader unfamiliar with Greek language and literature. As introductory reading for an interested general reader or for a college student the book can be highly recommended." P. O. K.

+ J Philos 40:419 Jl 22 '43 270w

PRESTON, GEORGE HEINRICHS. Substance of mental health; il. with sketches by the author. 147p $1.75 Farrar

131.3 Mental hygiene. Children—Management 43-9711

Study of the basic laws of mental health, by the commissioner of mental hygiene for the state of Maryland. Dr Preston suggests that just as one can acquire immunity to a disease by being vaccinated, so a child who receives the right treatment can acquire an immunity to mental disease in adult life.

"Dr. Preston drafts no hard and fast rules. He is content instead to formulate general principles for the intelligent parents' guidance. His book as such makes fascinating reading." Leo Kennedy

+ Book Week p10 S 19 '43 290w

Booklist 40:87 N 15 '43

Reviewed by David Tilden

Weekly Book Review p23 S 19 '43 330w

PRICE, GEORGE. It's smart to be people; with a foreword by S. J. Perelman. [84p] $2 Farrar

741 Humor, Pictorial. Caricatures and cartoons 42-51546

A book of humorous cartoons, many of them first published in the New Yorker, Colliers, and the Saturday Evening Post.

Booklist 39:249 F 15 '43

"Some of George Price's relaxedly drawn characters reach a point where they disregard even the law of gravity. They are wonderful people to sort of let down with and suspend your own gravity. . . We could fill several paragraphs citing our favorites, and so could you. It's much simpler just to curl up with the book." Lisle Bell

+ Books p8 D 20 '42 330w

PRICE, GEORGE. Who's in charge here? with a foreword by Wolcott Gibbs. [96p] $2.50 Farrar

741.5 Humor, Pictorial 43-16643

"One hundred and fifty drawings by this artist whose demoniacal people manage to get themselves into the darndest messes. Most of the pictures first appeared in this magazine. There is a foreword by Wolcott Gibbs." New Yorker

Book Week p21 D 5 '43 70w

Reviewed by Isabelle Mallet

N Y Times p7 Ja 9 '44 550w

New Yorker 19:112 N 20 '43 40w

"In George Price's third time at bat in book form he scores another hilarious hit. 'Who's in Charge Here?' poses a question for which there is happily no rational answer. After all, what more is to be said when daffiness reaches such dizzy heights?" Lisle Bell

+ Weekly Book Review p4 D 5 '43 130w

PRICE, MRS MARGARET (EVANS). Animals marooned; with pictures by the author. 185p $1.75 Harper

43-16957

Two small boys, one the son of a British naval officer, the other his colored helper, fall heir to all the pets which departing Bermuda families leave behind. The boys have their troubles getting enough food, with rationing in force, and keeping the animals contented. How, for instance, does one go about keeping an armadillo happy? For boys and girls from eight to twelve.

"There is humor in this story of the boys' toilsome persistency, the kind which emphasizes rather than obscures a situation which pulls at the heartstrings of all kindly people, and its best quality is its portrayal of people living quietly, gallantly through the anxiety and suspense of war." E. L. Buell

+ N Y Times p12 D 26 '43 220w

"No other animal story is quite like this: there couldn't be till food shortage affected Bermuda in this war. What happened there to pets has so much bearing, in so many ways, on the pet problem under rationing anywhere that it concerns a wide, personally interested public. . . [It is] a moving story that children will go on reading after the war. The author's drawings are quite as appealing." M. L. Becker

+ Weekly Book Review p38 N 14 '43 430w

PRICHARD, HAROLD ADYE. If they don't come back; some thoughts on immortality. 77p $1.25 Macmillan

237.2 Immortality 43-6589

An essay on immortality, written by an Episcopal clergyman, in answer to an enquiring friend whose young daughter died while on war service in Libya. "It restates most of the reflections on death and the life hereafter that men have been propounding through the ages, together with what is regarded as new light on the subject from psychic research, telepathy, and recent science." (Crozer Q)

Christian Century 60:694 Je 9 '43 70w

"His chapters on immortality, elaborated into subjects covered by the here-after, telepathy, what is resurrection and some final thoughts, while of conventional subjects, are refreshingly new in their presentment of Dr. Prichard's convictions. They will re-confirm the faith of the faithful, hearten honest doubters or wavering minds and aid the humble soul to attain peace and confidence. And we all may thank God for the evidence of serenity and peace, as attained in the author's own heart, rooted and grounded in these fundamental principles of our religion." A. L. B-C.

+ Churchman 157:17 S 15 '43 150w

"There is little sentimentalizing, and the tone is never 'pious'; indeed, some will criticize the essay as lacking warmth and feeling." Mitchell Bronk

Crozer Q 20:266 Jl '43 200w

PRIESTLEY, JOHN BOYNTON. Black-out in Gretley. 273p $2.50 Harper [8s 6d Heinemann]

43-454

For descriptive note see Annual for 1942.

Atlantic 171:152 Ap '43 60w

"It's Priestley at his best, which is to say that it is pretty good but not really stunning, from an artistic or psychological point of view. Not that there is anything vulgar about this brilliantly-made 'Story of—and for—Wartime.' Priestley commands not only a reliable, solid talent but also a good deal of literary taste and experience. He is never cheap, and he is certainly never clumsy; but his devices are at times a little bit on the obvious side." Klaus Mann

+ Book Week p4 Mr 14 '43 650w

PRIESTLEY, J. B.—Continued
Booklist 39:252 F 15 '43
Bookmark 4:20 Mr '43

"It is incredibly readable, though its substance is actually rather thin and one never takes seriously the adventures of its hero, Humphrey Neyland. . . Not only he but most of the other characters in fact seem to have wandered into this book from the pages of a detective or murder-mystery novel. Or perhaps it would be more accurate to say that this is a detective story, pure and simple. . . Pure entertainment, of course, but awfully hard to lay down until the end." Iris Barry
+ Books p9 F 7 '43 380w

"It is not only a mystery story, but a great war story as well." D. H.
+ Boston Globe p19 F 10 '43 250w

"Though it never creates the illusion of reality, it has a certain interest for the reader who likes action and might have been successful if Mr. Priestley had held his hand with the spies he brings together in Gretley. There is no sense of the quiet background of English village life and no sense of the stability which saved England from her enemies in the air and on the ground. The reader is rushed forward at a breathless pace; at every turn of the road he meets a spy or some other instrument of Nazi plotting, and though the outcome is obvious from the beginning he can take no satisfaction in that because of the net that is being spread round him as well as round the spies." N. E. Monroe
− + Cath World 157:218 My '43 130w

"With no trouble at all, the eminent British novelist, essayist and playwright has whipped off one of the best spy stories to come out of the war: better, in fact, than many of those whose writers depend on spies for their meat and drink. Effortless, colorful prose, striking characterizations and a credible plot will keep the reader's eyes wide open till 3 a.m." G. E. S., Jr.
+ Churchman 175:14 Ag 1 '43 120w

"As a novel, it is painfully deficient; like most stories of mystery, the building-up of the situation is enthralling, but the climax is quite artificial and weak. People so resourceful and tough as Mr. Priestley's spies would never crack as they did under the gentle rhetoric of his Mr. Neyland. What merit there is in the book, resides in small touches of characterization and description." J. G. E. Hopkins
— + Commonweal 37:500 Mr 5 '43 220w

"J. B. Priestley is what I very much hope is a type of new-school Englishman; his agent of the British intelligence has the mind to pause in his not very exciting adventures to speak forcefully if briefly of the social changes that this war must bring." Diana Trilling
+ Nation 156:321 F 27 '43 40w

"The story moves swiftly and, in spite of its lacunae in plot structure, holds the reader's attention to the end. What gives the book special stature is Priestley's fine glow of rebellion against a way of life which needs to be changed and his splendid portrayal of a motley crew of characters, best of whom is Perigo, the man who rouged his cheeks." Rose Feld
+ N Y Times p6 F 7 '43 800w

"Mr. Priestley has written the story with his left hand, while the rest of his articulate self has been busy getting on with the war. He has decorated the tale, as one might ice a cake, with tasty bits of 'social significance.' But icing and cake are not of a piece. The cake, or the tale, is just another who-done-it. The plot is run-of-the-mill, but the fact that the author is a born story-teller is a help. And all expert readers of mystery yarns will, while reading this one, enjoy the minor pleasure of anticipating Mr. Priestley's every 'revelation.' " B. R. Redman
— + Sat R of Lit 26:13 F 20 '43 400w

"Mr. Priestley makes Humphrey Neyland's adventures exciting and credible enough, but his real service is in pointing out a social type which is any country's greatest menace, and which we, in this country, may well fear and distrust."
Springf'd Republican p7e F 7 '43 380w
Wis Lib Bul 39:74 My '43

Reviewed by Robert Littell
Yale R n s 32:xii spring '43 400w

PRIESTLEY, JOHN BOYNTON. Daylight on Saturday. 280p $2.50 Harper [9s 6d Heinemann]
43-13164

The central point of the story is a large, camouflaged aircraft factory, somewhere in the English midlands. The lives of a few people, supervisors and workers at the plant, are sketched in, but the factory and its product are of more importance. Any life which the characters have outside the factory is a matter of hearsay only.

Reviewed by Edward Weeks
Atlantic 172:125 S '43 480w

"Sixty thousand copies of this novel were printed and immediately sold in England. A wiser government would not have limited the paper to this relatively short run. All of England and all of America need 'Daylight on Saturday'—one of the finest morale builders of the entire war." Sterling North
+ Book Week p3 S 12 '43 600w
Booklist 40:48 O 1 '43

Reviewed by N. E. Monroe
Cath World 158:219 N '43 140w
Christian Science Monitor p12 O 23 '43 550w

"Although he succeeds in giving what is probably an excellent picture of wartime industry—its high moments of patriotism, its lag because of monotony, the clash between fascistic and communistic personalities, interference by the Ministry, and all modern attempts to speed up production—the love element is poorly done, and general result is dull." E. P. Potter
+ — Library J 68:625 Ag '43 90w

"Perhaps the best comment on this novel is that the men and women in it are absorbingly interesting when Mr. Priestley lets them alone." Charles Marriott
Manchester Guardian p3 Je 25 '43 280w

Reviewed by Diana Trilling
Nation 157:534 N 6 '43 180w

Reviewed by Weldon Kees
New Repub 109:496 O 11 '43 90w

"Prolific Mr. Priestley has turned in a rather metallic job in this wartime portrait of a South Midlands aircraft plant. The finished product has a machine-like quality, as if the author had stayed overlong in the plant and had been influenced by assembly line technique. . .The author's frequently noticed tendency toward Dickensian style is quite noticeable in this book, chiefly in his selection of character names and in his cunning trick of repetition of habitual phraseology." Meyer Berger
N Y Times p4 S 12 '43 500w

"Mr. J. B. Priestley's most recent contribution to the war effort is a pleasant, engaging, but by no means superficial novel, 'Daylight on Saturday.' " Clifton Fadiman
+ New Yorker 19:83 S 11 '43 380w

"The war has deepened and widened Mr. Priestley's sympathies and correspondingly enhanced his writing. This is an excellent book, eloquent in its portrayal of British industrial workers at their war-time task, warm in its delineation of human nature, convincing in its psychology and motivation. It goes without saying that Mr. Priestley knows how to tell a story; he never was better at it, even in 'The Good Companions,' than in this novel." Amy Loveman
+ Sat R of Lit 26:10 S 11 '43 550w

"The device is technically orderly and its topical symbolism is clear, and not overstressed. Mr. Priestley has indeed written a tale for the times, keeping the immediate major problem—defeat of Fascism—as closely allied as possible to the private foibles, worries and desires of the hardworking, everyday people on whom that defeat depends, and for whom it must be turned into the fruitful, palpable victory of good over evil. . . The story is plain, warm, lively, and has plenty of action and feeling; its cross-section plots and emotions are neatly woven together, and it gives what is probably a very realistic picture of modern factory life." Kate O'Brien

+ Spec 170:600 Je 25 '43 500w

Reviewed by Helen Lowe
Springf'd Republican p7e S 26 '43 440w
Time 42:101 S 13 '43 900w

"It is all very well observed, vigorous and animated in style and full of the thoughtful good sense, perhaps a shade too consciously benevolent now and then, that one is unfairly inclined to take for granted in a novel by Mr. Priestley. . . Altogether although there are shrewd and entertaining passages in plenty and here and there an exceptionally revealing illustration of social and psychological attitudes in war industry at the present time, so documentary a narrative almost of necessity lacks any sort of inner cohesion. Mr. Priestley's lively and expert way with the topical does not, in fact, save him here from losing grip on the imaginative factor."
+ — Times [London] Lit Sup p305 Je 26 '43 950w

"'Daylight on Saturday' is as near to our present as today's newspaper. For that reason it is, as a novel, intensely interesting yet unsatisfying." Mary Ross
Weekly Book Review p8 S 12 '43 550w
Wis Lib Bul 39:160 D '43

PRIESTWOOD, MRS GWEN. Through Japanese barbed wire. 197p $2 Appleton-Century

940.547252 World war, 1939—Prisoners and prisons, Japanese. World war, 1939—Personal narratives, English 43-14824

"This personal-experience narrative is a detailed account of an English woman's dramatic escape with a male English companion from Stanley concentration camp in Hongkong and her thousand-mile journey, partly through Japanese-occupied territory, to Chungking and safety." Weekly Book Review

Booklist 40:181 Ja 15 '44

"It was a notable adventure and the telling is done with skill and with just enough humor to keep the story from being too ghastly while sacrificing nothing of its seriousness."
+ Christian Century 60:1272 N 3 '43 130w

"This book is unpretentious, but there is never a dull moment and plenty of laughs along the 'underground' escape trail to Chungking." Victor Keen
+ Weekly Book Review p26 O 31 '43 950w

PRINCIPLES of flying; pub. under the supervision of the Training division, Bur. of aeronautics, U.S. navy. (Flight preparation training ser) 338p il $1.50 McGraw

629.1323 Aeronautics 43-4843

"Non-technical and well-illustrated text for the student pilot. Part I covers nomenclature, Part II, theory of flight, and Part III, structures." (N Y New Tech Bks) Glossary.

N Y New Tech Bks 28:3 Ja '43

Reviewed by Theofore English
N Y Times p10 My 16 '43 140w

Reviewed by James Stokley
Weekly Book Review p20 My 16 '43 100w

PRITCHETT, CHARLES HERMAN. Tennessee Valley authority; a study in public administration. 333p maps $3.50 Univ. of N.C. press

627.1 Tennessee Valley authority. Water power 43-51171

History of the Tennessee Valley authority's ten years of existence. "The author discusses the background of the T.V.A., its multiple-purpose program, its development as one of the greatest power agencies in the world, the many problems and opportunities which stemmed from its character as a government-owned corporation, its relation to other governmental agencies and to Congress and the President, its dynamic personnel program, its role as a regional planner, its stormy career in the courts, its contribution to the war effort, and its ultimate meaning and significance. He affords an insight into the nature and magnitude of the administrative problems encountered, and the manner in which these problems were met." (Publisher's note) Index.

Reviewed by B. A. Gruen
Am Econ R 33:701 S '43 450w

Reviewed by H. C. Nixon
Am Pol Sci R 37:732 Ag '43 750w

"Professor Pritchett is an enthusiastic admirer of the TVA, and there is assuredly much to admire. The Authority has done a great deal to help restore our faith in ourselves and in our ability to control our environment, and has had a very stimulating effect on the entire Federal Government. Still, it is somewhat disturbing to have a member of the faculty of one of America's major universities produce a book which is almost wholly one-sided and uncritical." John Thurston
+ — Ann Am Acad 229:220 S '43 450w

Reviewed by Robert Lasch
Book Week p3 Je 6 '43 400w
Booklist 39:382 Je 1 '43

"Here is a textbook for a course in public administration, as its subtitle suggests. It is a comprehensive and detailed but gracefully written history of one of the most dramatic and far-reaching socio-economic experiments of our times. Its greatest value lies, however, in the fact that Mr. Pritchett, employee of the Social and Economic Division of TVA from 1934 to 1937, now member of the Political Science Department of the University of Chicago, is painstakingly objective." R. W. C.
+ Christian Science Monitor p11 Jl 31 '43 550w

Reviewed by J. M. Gaus
J Pol Econ 51:474 O '43 900w

Reviewed by B. B. Seligman
New Repub 109:526 O 18 '43 750w

Reviewed by Herbert Agar
New Statesman & Nation 26:338 N 20 '43 1350w

"This is a handbook that any one wishing to get beyond the obvious poetry, drama and controversy of TVA will want to read. The author is assistant professor of political science at the University of Chicago. He is, therefore, interested in administrative problems and in TVA as an example of a new kind of public agency." R. L. Duffus
+ N Y Times p19 My 30 '43 650w

Reviewed by J. E. Pate
Pol Sci Q 58:456 S '43 650w

"An excellent new book. . . Dr. Pritchett's unusually readable book invites laymen as well as specialists to glimpse what may be tomorrow's partial solution of today's political-economic tensions."
+ Springf'd Republican p6 My 8 '43 1000w

"Dr. Pritchett has had unusual opportunities to observe the TVA from within. He has been a special student of the public corporation. It can honestly be said that Dr. Pritchett's book fills a long-felt want. This story has not been told before; it is well told here." C. S. Ascher
+ Survey 80:30 Ja '44 400w
Times [London] Lit Sup p537 N 6 '43 330w

PRITCHETT, JOHN PERRY. Red River valley, 1811-1849; a regional study. (Carnegie endowment for int. peace. Division of economics and history. Relations of Canada and the United States) 295p maps $2.75 Yale univ. press

971.27 Red River valley

"The subject of this work is essentially the history of a geographical region—the area drained by the Red River of the North—within specified time limits. The story begins with the coming to 'Assiniboia', the district under consideration, of a group of colonists sent out from the British Isles by the Earl of Selkirk. At first the settlers were thwarted and starved by nature and mischance, and buffeted by the forces of two warring fur-trade empires. Later they were bullied and oppressed by a fur-trade monopoly. Finally, partly through their own efforts, but more as a result of the advance of the American frontier up to the Red River Valley, they won freedom." (Pol Sci Q) Bibliography. Index.

PRITCHETT, J. P.—Continued

"Professor Pritchett has done his task so well that it is unlikely it will ever need to be done again." J. D. Squires
+ Am Hist R 48:585 Ap '43 550w

Reviewed by R. O. MacFarlane
Ann Am Acad 229:216 S '43 480w

"Professor Pritchett's volume is written with lucidity and directness. It is closely organized, carefully documented and contains many quotations from the documents. There are, however, few highlights and little fine writing. It is unlikely the volume will be widely read except by professional historians and descendants of Selkirk settlers." D. C. Masters
+ — Canadian Forum 23:189 N '43 420w

"The volume is by a scholar who is so intimate with his source material that he can write in great detail, yet with accuracy and clearness." A. S. Morton
+ Canadian Hist R 24:71 Mr '43 900w

Christian Century 59:1458 N 25 '42 130w

Reviewed by H. F. Raup
Geog R 34:164 Ja '44 360w

"The episodes which make up this piece of regional history are, in themselves, striking enough, and even thrilling; and they have lost little or nothing of this as they appear in the pages of the present study. . . The field could scarcely have been better chosen, as the scenes of this drama present some of the finest, and also some of the basest, characters yet known in American history. Aside from these qualities of subject matter and tone, however, The Red River Valley has considerable merit in several other respects. The structure is well proportioned and the content both coherent and well articulated; the style is smooth but expressive; the materials are pertinent and, in large measure, original. Among the features of the book which are most likely to arouse objections the chief, perhaps, are the preponderating position allotted to the Earl of Selkirk, the severity of the judgments passed on the activities of the North West Company, and the comparatively slight attention that is given to the part played by Americans." D. J. Pierce
+ Pol Sci Q 58:154 Mr '43 420w

" 'The Red River Valley' is a scholarly and well written work, but its academic accuracy and thoroughness do not spoil its charms of novelty, adventure, high purpose and, from first to last, readibility." D. J. Pierce
+ Weekly Book Review p14 Ap 11 '43 700w

PROKOSCH, FREDERIC. Conspirators. 338p $2.50 Harper

43-1142

Lisbon in 1940 is the scene of this novel. "The city has become a no man's land, a neutral, a cosmopolitan refuge, a replica in miniature of all the great cities now concentrated there, so to speak, waiting passage for the Americas. It is also the spy city, the center of the conspirators. An oasis in a world at war, it becomes inevitably the spring-board for alien political action and intrigue. . . A political prisoner, Vincent, has escaped from the Alfama prison in Lisbon and is commissioned to kill the Nazi agent who had betrayed him. Vincent is naturally a pleasant person, a man of good-will, a dreamer and something of a poet. Now he has to transform himself into a conspirator and assassin and match his wits and nerve with the others who were born that way. The contrast makes the story: the old Lisbon and the new, the past way of living and loving and the present way of hating and killing." (N Y Times)

"A poet's novel—fantastic, dreamlike, filled with sudden gritty details, with grave ecstasy and triumphant despair. . . This is a book for readers who like dreamy horror and prose for its own sake."
+ Atlantic 171:154 Ap '43 70w

Booklist 39:252 F 15 '43

"Whatever the weakness of his plot and his character delineation, Mr Prokosch is excellent in creating the world in which his people move. . . The death scene is poetically written, but, for all its beauty, does not carry the note of conviction. The mood of intrigue is real, but the intrigue itself is not." Rose Feld
+ — Books p2 Ja 24 '43 900w

"Though the take has all the inevitably somewhat melodramatic excitement of a story of vendetta, it is charged throughout with a compelling poetic beauty, a beauty which, not being in the nature of applied ornament, never for a moment hampers the impetus of the narrative, but rather accelerates the action by informing it with a more vigorous vitality." Wilfrid Gibson
+ Manchester Guardian p3 Ap 16 '43 250w

Reviewed by Malcolm Cowley
New Repub 108:122 Ja 25 '43 1200w

Reviewed by Philip Toynbee
New Statesman & Nation 25:340 My 22 '43 250w

"The story is largely mood; the mood of old Lisbon, of its new cosmopolitanism, its conspiratorial secrets, its secret dramatic violence, its individual desperate heroisms. As a story, it is slight compared with the thrillers that have come from the war. As a visual and emotional effect it is beautifully and lovingly composed, the love for Lisbon counterbalancing and even outweighing the hatred of its conspirators. It is written by a connoisseur whose lovely landscapes have finally come to life and death; but it is still written in terms of the beauty of the landscape. It is a lovely and a terrible book, and only Prokosch could have written it." P. M. Jack
+ N Y Times p6 Ja 24 '43 750w

"Though but a half-successful attempt, his 'The Conspirators' was worth doing. It was worth doing because it does manage to take the unmanageably gigantic theme of the decay of a continent and submit it to something like imaginative treatment. It fails to be totally effective because Mr. Prokosch is so much less interested in plot and character than in atmosphere that his book turns into a poetical reverie rather than a novel." Clifton Fadiman
+ New Yorker 18:57 Ja 23 '43 500w

"Mr. Prokosch has moved a good way from the manner of his first novel 'The Asiatics': moved indeed from the richness, the rather extravagant variety still to be found in the story just before this, 'The Skies of Europe.' He has stripped for action, as it were; and the relics of his romantic, imaginative highly-colored manner are rather sinister in this story of murder—a story that recalls Koestler, even if it stems from Dostoievsky." R. E. Roberts
+ Sat R of Lit 26:6 F 6 '43 600w

Times [London] Lit Sup p209 My 1 '43 450w

"Seldom have I met characters more at the mercy of their author. I did not keep count, though I wish I had, but I am willing to give Mr. Prokosch first prize for the number of times he makes a character change his emotions in the course of one chapter. And not graduated changes either, but violent reversals from fear to elation, from despair to hope. It's a strangely wilful, unreasonable marionette show, with flashes of verbal beauty and, often, an atmosphere of portent and suspense." Robert Littell
— + Yale R n s 32:x spring '43 250w

PROPPER, MILTON MORRIS. Blood transfusion murders. 277p $2 Harper

43-9413

Detective story.

"The author's pedestrian narrative style is the only thing that keeps this from being a most exciting story." Isaac Anderson
+ — N Y Times p8 Jl 4 '43 100w

"Capably developed but rather long-winded yarn with finish that may prove reader was horn-swoggled throughout."

+ — Sat R of Lit 26:17 Jl 3 '43 30w

Reviewed by Will Cuppy

Weekly Book Review p18 Je 27 '43 300w

PROUDFIT, MRS ISABEL (BOYD). Noah Webster; father of the dictionary; il. by I. B. Hazelton. 229p $2.50 Messner

B or 92 Webster, Noah 42-52190

Biography of the Yankee farm boy, who at the age of fifty began work on his great book—the first American dictionary. For grades seven and eight. Bibliography. Index.

"This is a colorful book, full of personality and with never a dull moment. From the Boston Tea Party, the Battle of Saratoga, the Constitutional Convention, right through the eighteen years that he labored over the dictionary, it is worth the time to read. The author has done a marvelous job." H. B. Fischman

+ Book Week p7 Jl 11 '43 320w

Booklist 39:257 F 15 '43

Reviewed by F. B. Sloan

Christian Science Monitor p6 S 9 '43 50w

Cleveland Open Shelf p16 Ag '43

"All libraries will want this life, for it is a picture of early education in the United States as well as the story of a well-known man and his work." R. W. Stewart

+ Library J 68:131 F 1 '43 70w

"Of the two great Websters, the many-sided Noah is the one less known, and this story of the dictionary man should prove absorbing reading to children of high-school age and younger. Written with considerable biographic skill."

+ New Yorker 19:70 My 29 '43 90w

Wis Lib Bul 39:32 F '43

PROULX, BENJAMIN A. Underground from Hongkong. 214p $2.50 Dutton

940.542 Hong Kong—Siege, 1941. World war, 1939—Prisoners and prisons, Japanese. World war, 1939—Personal narratives, Canadian 43-10515

In 1941 the author, a Canadian by birth, had lived in Hongkong and the Far East for twenty-one years. He was a stock broker, and his family consisted of a wife and two young sons. In 1939 he joined the Royal naval volunteers, so when the Japs attacked Hongkong, he went to his station and fought valiantly. After the fall of the city he was captured by the Japs. He gives a detailed description of the battle, the surrender, and his escape from prison.

Reviewed by F. S. Marquardt

Book Week p3 Ag 22 '43 410w

Reviewed by Wenzell Brown

N Y Times p4 Ag 29 '43 320w

Reviewed by Joseph Newman

Weekly Book Review p21 S 12 '43 700w

PRUNIERES, HENRY. New history of music; the middle ages to Mozart; with an introd. by Romain Rolland; tr. from the French and ed. by Edward Lockspeiser. 413p $5 Macmillan

780.9 Music—History and criticism 43-2212

"Henry Prunières [began the publication of] Nouvelle Histoire de la Musique [in 1934] and took it up to the end of the eighteenth century. In the present version, various corrections and amendments have been made—mostly alterations which would normally occur in any second edition of a work of this scope—an additional section on Mozart has been introduced, and the bibliographies have been amplified." (Pref) Index.

"Prunieres' enthusiasm, scholarship and wide cultural knowledge of arts other than music, are at their best up to the 18th century, from which point the book falls off. Bach's religious nature is perhaps exaggerated, or at least not fully explained. . . But, such qualifications aside, the new history is admirably done." C. W. Durgin

+ — Boston Globe p15 F 17 '43 230w

"Most readers will be especially enlightened by the discovery of so much music of permanent value, and not merely of historical interest, before Bach. It would be much appreciated if some musicologist would prepare, as the companion to such a history as this, a single volume of music containing a substantial body of illustrative material. The brief excerpts in this text, not much more extensive than the themes in the program notes of an orchestra concert, are helpful but inadequate, and the splendid 20-page bibliography lists no such volume." W. E. Garrison

+ Christian Century 60:638 My 26 '43 420w

Christian Science Monitor p12 Mr 27 '43 450w

Cleveland Open Shelf p8 Ap '43

Reviewed by R. S. Angell

Library J 67:267 Mr 15 '43 110w

" 'A New History of Music' is a good book. In it the author's delight in music and his discrimination are as evident as his familiarity with libraries. He is lively, often piquant, and invariably honest, and in some fields his special enthusiasm readily communicates itself to the reader. M. Prunieres will not displace the 'Oxford History,' but he will save you the weariness of Wilm and the mediocrity of Gray. . . It is the lovely music of the Renaissance which calls out M. Prunieres's best qualities. He writes of it with subtle understanding and imaginative flair. On later periods he is never less than satisfactory, with one sad exception. A history of music from the Middle Ages to Mozart which fails with Mozart is rather like the Giralda without the added topmost tower which makes of the less than perfect original structure a thing of flawless beauty. But M. Prunieres does fail." Ralph Bates

+ — Nation 156:320 F 27 '43 850w

Reviewed by Jacques Barzun

New Repub 108:709 My 24 '43 750w

"If Mr. Prunieres, in his zeal, seems to be too lavish in his praise, remember that he has lived with these figures for many years and they bulk larger to him than to most people. One may disagree with some of his evaluations, but one cannot help but be stimulated by his point of view." Howard Taubman

+ — N Y Times p27 Mr 7 '43 1000w

"It will not do to present this work to the American public as a major contribution to modern musicology. The translation robbed the book of its easy flowing style but conserved the factual mistakes and the typical French preoccupations and points of view. The translator is furthermore guilty of a number of misreadings, some of which are technical, while others simply show him floundering in linguistic mire. Prunières writes well, with a typically Gallic sense for fine nuances." P. H. Lang

— + Sat R of Lit 26:34 My 15 '43 700w

"In A New History of Music covering the long period from the beginning of the Middle Ages to Mozart, Henry Prunières has performed a valuable service for the musical amateur by filling in the many long gaps between the few great familiar names of composers in the early formative years of European music. . . The translation from the French by Edward Lockspeiser (who is also credited with editing and bringing the work up through Haydn and Mozart) appears to be admirably done. The footnotes briefly outlining the lives of the important composers are a valuable addition and so placed that they do not break the continuity of the main theme."

+ Theatre Arts 27:323 My '43 350w

Times [London] Lit Sup p9 Ja 1 '44 470w

"Pruniere's book is ten years old. It is an injustice and disservice both to him and to the American reader. American books on the history of music, such as Finney's or Fergu-

PRUNIERES, HENRY—Continued
son's, are decidedly superior to this torso of a musical history. . . Mr. Lockspeiser's preface is most objectionable to American historians of music, but should be almost equally so to their British colleagues. It is emphatically untrue that this book 'fills a gap,' that it 'explores unknown epochs,' etc., for aside from the chapters on the seventeenth century there is not one original sentence in the whole work." P. H. Lang
— Weekly Book Review p14 Mr 28 '43 1000w

PRZERWA-TETMAJER, KAZIMIERZ. Tales of the Tatras; foreword by Carl Carmer [tr. from the Polish by H. E. Kennedy and Zofia Umińska; drawings by Janina Konarska; initials by T. Zarnover]. 247p $2.50 Roy pubs. [7s 6d Minerva pub. co]
Tales, Polish 43-18553

Collection of folk tales about the shepherd tribes of the Carpathian mountains. The stories are translated from the works of a Polish poet who was born and lived among these people. He later perished in Warsaw in 1940.

"Tetmajer, a noted Polish writer, has gathered these stories and retold them with loving understanding and a powerful simplicity that is beautiful. There's always a smile around his mouth. . . The memories of these folktales will live among the Poles forever, just as they'll not forget their author, the most idolized poet of Young Poland, Kazimierz Przerwa-Tetmajer." H. L. Reich
+ Book Week p5 Ja 2 '44 380w
Booklist 40:199 F 1 '44

"The preparation of the book for American readers has been a labor of love for many hands. Praise is due the translators, H. E. Kennedy and Zofia Uminska, for their skillful preservation of poetic imagery, particularly in the lovely songs. Three distinguished Polish artists have contributed drawings of great charm. All in all, this is a book to remember." N. B. Baker
+ N Y Times p8 D 26 '43 500w

"In an introduction to the book, Carl Carmer points out a similarity to our own folk literature, but you may find that these Polish tales lack the saltiness which flavors the legends of America."
New Yorker 19:67 Ja 1 '44 110w

"Kazimierz Tetmajer was a very skilled literary craftsman but in his stories he preserved all the simplicity and naivete of the folk tales. The translators and illustrators have done an excellent job; through their efforts the American readers are getting all that a translation and illustration can possibly convey of a foreign world and its beauty." F. C. Weiskopf
+ Sat R of Lit 26:8 D 25 '43 450w

"Though the Nazis brought about [Tetmajer's] death, they could not silence him. His songs and tales not only live on in the land where he wrote them, but will also spread, thanks to this English translation, to all the people in America whose ears are attuned to the music of a free and simple folk." Virgilia Sapieha
+ Weekly Book Review p4 D 12 '43 850w

PUNKE, HAROLD HERMAN. Law and liability in pupil transportation. 291p $3 Univ. of Chicago press
379.175 School children—Transportation A43-2659

"An analysis of court decisions concerned with transportation of children to schools, which have been handed down during the period from 1880 to 1940. . . The author begins his treatise by discussing the authority and responsibility of school officials in providing transportation and follows through, in logical sequence, with chapters on the 'Discretion of School Officials in Providing Transportation,' 'Contracting for Pupil Transportation,' 'Recovery by Parents for Transportation Provided,' 'Care, Injury, and Tort Liability in Pupil Transportation,' and 'Social and Educational Implications of Court Rulings on Pupil Transportation.'" (El School J) Index.

Reviewed by O. T. Richardson
El School J 44:181 N '43 700w
School & Society 58:175 S 4 '43 50w

PURDY, MRS CLAIRE LEE (STEWART). Stormy victory; the story of Tchaikovsky; with decorations by Vera Bock; music drawings by Rudolf W. Kohl. 248p $2.50 Messner
B or 92 Tchaikovski, Peter Ilyitch 43-2214

Biography of Tchaikovsky for the teen age. It includes musical excerpts; chapters are introduced by a few bars of a Russian folk song; a bibliography, list of composer's works, music index, and general index, make the book valuable as a reference tool.

Reviewed by Jean MacMahon
Book Week p10 My 16 '43 200w
Booklist 39:322 Ap 1 '43

"The appearance of this biography of Tchaikovsky for the teens particularly pleases, because the keynote of its production strikes as soon as the page meets the eye, and is maintained throughout the romantically handsome volume. Its woodcuts—decorations rather than illustrations—have the absorbed theatricalism, Gothic intensity, deliberate cultivation of emotion that belong with this music and the period and place of its production; the music itself, freely represented by short passages and even by excerpts long as a page, fits easily into the form of the pages." M. L. Becker
+ Books p8 Ja 17 '43 320w

"It is most fitting at this time for young people to be given a popular life of this distinctively Russian genius, in whose work they can trace elements of Eastern richness and beauty, the melancholy of the Slav, the songs of the Cossacks. . . Vera Bock's decorations add their touch of beauty." A. M. Jordan
+ Horn Bk 19:105 Mr '43 100w

"Good introduction to Tschaikovsky. Very readable biography in which the purely fictional parts have captured what might well have been atmosphere of composer's personal life. Less pleasant aspects are merely suggested but not covered over nor denied. . . Should be welcome addition to library collection of music biographies for older boys and girls. Decorations by Vera Bock. Recommended." Irene Millen
+ Library J 68:173 F 15 '43 90w
New Yorker 19:71 My 29 '43 90w

PURDY, HARRY LESLIE; LINDAHL, MARTIN LEROY, and CARTER, WILLIAM AMBROSE. Corporate concentration and public policy. 650p $4.25 Prentice-Hall
338.7 Trusts, Industrial. Corporation law 42-51271

"A text devoted to the problems and public policies arising from the concentration of economic power in the United States. The authors have confined the study to monopoly and monopolistic competition in the general field of industry, tracing the developments in a considerable number of industries which have been characterized by concentration and cooperation." (Management R) Index.

"The book is written lucidly and with judicious balance. . . It is interesting to speculate upon what the effect will be of training a generation of students upon such an analysis of the monopoly problem. Previous generations schooled in a more superficial but highly entertaining analysis were not moved to much action. Will a more penetrating, though less spectacular, presentation carry more conviction? Or shall we continue, as in the past, to ignore the economics of monopoly and concentrate on its morals?" J. P. Miller
+ — Am Econ R 33:443 Je '43 2050w
Management R 32:83 F '43 50w

PURYEAR, VERNON JOHN. France and the Levant from the Bourbon restoration to the peace of Kutiah; with an introd. by Henri Hauser. 252p pa $2.50 Univ. of Calif. [15s Cambridge]

327.44 Eastern question (Near East). Levant—Commerce—France. France—Commerce—Levant. France—Foreign relations
A 42-89

"The third in the writer's studies of the policies applied by the major powers in Balkan Europe, southwestern Asia, and Egypt, this book chronologically and topically precedes its companion volume, International Economics and Diplomacy in the Near East [Book Review Digest, 1936], an account of British commercial policy from 1834 to 1853." (Pref) "As Professor Puryear traces the complicated web of French and of general European diplomacy in the Levant from the downfall of the Napoleonic Empire to 1833, his emphasis is rather on commercial policies than on the political and military aspects of the balance of power system, though these aspects are by no means neglected. He shows the revival, after 1815, of French interest in the trade of the Levant, first in Greece and in other parts of Turkey, and then explains why, after 1824, it extended to Egypt and, after 1829, to Algeria." (Am Hist R)

"Puryear's book is based on the best secondary works and monographs, on extended and thorough research in the archives of Berlin, Vienna, London, and Paris, and on manuscript materials he discovered at Marseilles. The author assumes a detailed knowledge of the diplomacy of the period, and he is himself so immersed in his material that the monograph is at times difficult to follow. The book is, nevertheless, a valuable contribution full of fresh material." F. B. Artz
+ — Am Hist R 48:331 Ja '43 350w

"For the scholar, the book is indispensable. As further archival research in this field will be impossible at least until the end of the present war, we have here, within the limits set by the author, the final word of authority for years to come." H. L. Hoskins
+ Geog R 32:686 O '42 750w

PUTNAM, GEORGE PALMER. Duration. 213p $2.50 Doubleday
43-15968

Story of Washington in its present-day turmoil, describing the life, the people, especially the latter. The hero is one of the army "retreads;" a man who had fought in the last war, and was doing his bit behind a Washington desk in this one.

"It is not a complete record—it was probably not intended to be—but if the book is read, it will be for this picture of life in Washington." Mary Poore
+ N Y Times p20 N 7 '43 400w

"Unfortunately Mr Putnam is not an expert novelist. His characters talk and talk for pages, conversation that is meticulous in its reproduction of actual arguments and discussions, verbal photography, with no selective high lighting, and the result is disappointing. Newspaper personalities, headlines, world happenings are discussed as the average man and woman do—but this is not the material of which novels are made." L. S. Munn
Springf'd Republican p7e D 5 '43 330w

"'Duration' is chiefly of interest as a sort of sound track of Washington's talk and turmoil." Lisle Bell
Weekly Book Review p29 N 7 '43 200w

PUTNAM, WILLIAM CLEMENT. Map interpretation with military applications. 67p il maps $1.25 McGraw

526.98 Maps. Physical geography. Photography, Aerial 43-4497

Explains the interpretation of maps and its importance to military science. The author is a geologist and states that "landscape as it is read in maps was shaped by geologic processes in times past." Discusses characteristics of topographic maps and aerial photographs. Selected references. Index.

"This small volume is a handsome book, well illustrated with maps and aerial photographs. Very little descriptive material on scales, contours, grid systems and symbols is given, for the reason that these belong in more advanced treatises. The book is primarily intended for Army and Navy R.O.T.C. students, but for the man at home and for the amateur geologist it is really an excellent book." J. C. Penn
+ Book Week p8 My 16 '43 320w
Booklist 39:383 Je 1 '43
Library J 68:212 Mr 1 '43 30w
N Y New Tech Bks 28:11 Ja '43
Reviewed by R. P. Hoelscher
+ N Y Times p31 O 24 '43 200w

PYLE, ERNEST TAYLOR. Here is your war; drawings by Carol Johnson. 304p $3 Holt

940.542 World war, 1939—Tunisia. World war, 1939—Personal narratives, American 43-15418

Human interest story of the African campaign, consisting of the author's newspaper columns in expanded form, with pen and ink drawings added. The author says: "I haven't written anything about the 'Big Picture' because I don't know anything about it. I only know what we see from our worm's-eye view, and our segment of the picture consists only of tired and dirty soldiers who are alive and don't want to die; of long darkened convoys in the middle of the night; of shocked, silent men wandering back down the hill from battle . . . of jeeps and petrol dumps and smelly bedding rolls and C rations and cactus patches and blown bridges and dead mules and hospital tents and shirt collars greasy black from months of wearing; and of laughter, too, and anger and wine and lovely flowers and constant cussing. All these it is composed of: and of graves and graves and graves."

"Whether he is writing about the German machine gunners deep down in the rocks, or the disgruntled Algerian farmers, or the infantry mascots, or our bomber pilots and stretcher bearers, he measures experience by his own civilian yardstick. He reports the war as if he were an uncle of the boys he has seen, who got taken along and wants to be sure we understand. And in such writing there is more than a little of autobiography." Edward Weeks
+ Atlantic 172:130 D '43 500w

"A soldier should be writing this review—one who crouched with Ernie Pyle in a foxhole while German artillery and dive bombers combed the Tunisian valley around them. Or one who talked with him in some night bivouac when hours of quiet came after a day of combat. . . The main reason soldiers and civilians like what Ernie writes is Ernie's own participation in all he sees. Few others reporting the war have his eye for the detail that counts, or his power of easy, homely and sometimes sharp expression. But none of the others have his balance between detached observation and personal narrative—narrative which is itself divided between the things that happen to Ernie alone and the things that happen to Ernie and those around him at the time." J. I. Greene
+ Book Week p1 O 31 '43 550w
Booklist 40:91 N 15 '43
Cleveland Open Shelf p17 O '43

"Americans owe Ernie Pyle a great deal for what he has done and is still doing to bring them closer to their loved ones overseas."
+ Commonweal 39:254 D 24 '43 450w

Reviewed by Marcus Duffield
Nation 157:589 N 20 '43 800w

"The publishers describe Pyle as 'America's favorite correspondent' and, from what I hear in the newspaper-syndicate business, I believe that is an accurate description of the fact. Pyle functions in this book as the human-interest reporter. He is a very fine one—a hard worker, indefatigably curious and fond of an enormous range of people. He ferrets out the facts about them and the conditions of the life they are leading at present. Although the title of the book, 'Here Is Your War,' is overambitious . . . it is true that there is more meat in this blueplate of our army in the Mediterranean than can be found in any other newspaperman's book that I have read." Ira Wolfert

PYLE, E. T.—Continued

+ New Repub 109:820 D 6 '43 400w

"There is no embellishment, no fine writing. This is not a book of memories, revived and polished on a sunny terrace in Connecticut. It was written behind rocks scarred by snipers' bullets, in pup tents, foxholes and dugouts, in freezing cold and cruel heat, in the midst of dust and dirt and unnamed crawling things which shared the common quality of being repulsive. It concerns only what came within the range of Pyle's vision." Edward Streeter

+ N Y Times p1 O 31 '43 1450w

"Mr. Pyle has been called the Richard Harding Davis of this war. As a matter of fact, he has a better eye than Davis ever had and he writes without a touch of heroics. For what he termed 'think stuff' turn elsewhere, but for the tiny detail, the 'worm's-eye view,' go to Ernie Pyle." Clifton Fadiman

+ New Yorker 19:93 O 30 '43 110w

"It took weeks of reading his daily dispatches to realize that he was assembling a magnificent mosaic right before our eyes. Now that we have the sum of his dispatches from the African front gathered into a book, we realize once more what a superb job he was doing day by day. For here is the whole Tunisian campaign, from embarkation to victory, set forth as nobody else has yet presented it. This is war, the modern war we are fighting, in detail and in remarkable roundness. . . Ernie Pyle warms the heart and makes the middle-aged eyes gleam with pride that those are our boys he is writing about. I have a hunch that those boys will want to read this book when they get back and so will their children. Maybe their grandchildren." Hal Borland

+ Sat R of Lit 26:37 O 30 '43 900w

"The best thing about 'Here Is Your War' is the fact that it so perfectly supplies what the military news lacks, and which we need for the human and pictorial material that makes the other kind of dispatch at all meaningful. War to Ernie Pyle is just people doing something new and difficult and sometimes bloody. That formula he has followed superbly, faithfully."

+ Springf'd Republican p7e O 31 '43 900w

"To anyone who has never been near a battlefront, this book will give a vivid picture; and in the future it will be one of the books to which historians will turn to explain the character of the men who fought this war, and the conditions under which they carried out the day by day fighting which led us to victory." Eleanor Roosevelt

+ Survey G 32:508 D '43 330w

"This book is a modest one, keyed to a quiet pitch and also very effective. It should be read in good, large chunks, but it is not a one sitting book. Start anywhere and read it forward or back. It's unique reporting in this war and grand stuff." Stewart Holbrook

+ Weekly Book Review p2 O 31 '43 1000w
Wis Lib Bul 39:158 D '43

Q

QUEEN, ELLERY, pseud. of FREDERIC DANNAY and MANFRED LEE, ed. Female of the species; the great women detectives and criminals. 422p $2.50 Little

Short stories—Collections 43-10424

Anthology of twenty-one short stories, all featuring women detectives or criminals, English and American. Partial contents: Susan Dare in Spider, by Mignon Eberhart; Hildegarde Withers in Green ice, by Stuart Palmer; Elinor Vance in Diamond cut diamond, by F. A. Kummer; Sister Ursula in Coffin Corner, by H. H. Holmes; Miss Marple in Village murder, by Agatha Christie; Solange Fontaine in Lot's wife, by F. T. Jesse; Lady Molly in The man in the Inverness cape, by Baroness Orczy; Millicent Bracegirdle in Miss Bracegirdle does her duty, by Stacy Aumonier; Sophie Lang in The Jorgensen plates, by F. I. Anderson; Four Square Jane in The stolen Romney, by Edgar Wallace.

"A fine collection of short stories picked out most ingeniously by Ellery Queen." Elizabeth Bullock

+ Book Week p9 Ag 1 '43 150w
Booklist 40:60 O 15 '43

Reviewed by C. B. Palmer
N Y Times p7 S 5 '43 500w
New Yorker 19:64 Jl 24 '43 30w

"First class."

+ Sat R of Lit 26:24 Jl 24 '43 30w

"Mr. Queen explains his choices and omissions in his preface, thereby disarming criticism on this point, except in one particular. Why, if he felt obliged to omit stories about Ruth Kelstern and Gwynn Leith on the ground that he had included them in '101 Years' Entertainment' should he give us Edgar Wallace's 'The Stolen Romney' which also appeared in that anthology?. . . And while we're on the subject, we'd like to see another Hildegarde Withers short story instead of 'Green Ice.' It's a good story but something less familiar would have been fun. On the whole, however, in spite of these minor carpings, it's a very enjoyable collection. The women detectives are interesting, although perhaps not quite as interesting to the real puzzle fan as the best of the men." W. H. H.

+ — Springf'd Republican p7e Jl 25 '43 500w

"Two-headed Ellery Queen, undoubtedly our profoundest student of the short whodunit, herewith offers in a handsomely conceived and executed volume twenty-one examples of same, as defined by the subtitle. With lady sleuths and sinners all over the place, some of them new to the book world, customers should have all kinds of fun and cold chills watching the girls round up amazed killers or commit assorted crimes with truly male aplomb." Will Cuppy

+ Weekly Book Review p17 Jl 18 '43 450w

QUEEN, ELLERY, pseud. of FREDERIC DANNAY and MANFRED LEE. There was an old woman. 321p $2 Little

43-51064

Detective story.

"You'll find that Ellery is as superbly self-assured as ever, as much given to those intuitive flashes. The formula for the evidencing of his genius follows a pattern which will be familiar to all Ellery Queen fans—and which may, or may not, cause you to want to read the book." Elizabeth Bullock

Book Week p11 Ap 4 '43 230w
Booklist 39:321 Ap 1 '43
Bookmark 4:20 Mr '43

"Verdict: Suspects and clues all over the place—so many that even Ellery Queen is almost stumped. One of the very best of the Ellery Queen mysteries." Isaac Anderson

+ N Y Times p9 Mr 28 '43 120w

"Very good."

+ Sat R of Lit 26:19 Mr 27 '43 40w

"Ellery [is] in good form from the moment one discovers him thinking ungrammatical thoughts in the first paragraph until he emits his final whimsy on the last page. His mental gyrations are masterly, considering the difficult set-up he has wished on himself. You know what loony characters can do to one's ratiocinative powers. Besides some of the scenes in which he finds himself are more distressing than mysterious, as witness the family dinner and the duel at dawn. We can just hear the three Ellerys exclaiming in unison, after finishing with the Pottses, 'Well that's over!' " Will Cuppy

+ Weekly Book Review p23 Mr 28 '43 400w

QUEENY, EDGAR MONSANTO. Spirit of enterprise. 267p $2 Scribner

330.973 U.S.—Economic policy. U.S.—Politics and government—20th century. Industry and state 43-10426

"A salvo against government control of business. Attempts to show that, by skilful government propaganda, business abuses have been played up, to prepare way for utopian postwar plans made by those who do not understand nature of enterprise. Government has shown no evidence in the bureaucratic management of its own affairs that it is as progressive as business. Nor does there seem to be place in system of government-controlled industry for the individual initiative that has contributed so largely to American economic development. By Chairman of the Board of Monsanto Chemical Company." Library J

Reviewed by S. D. Kirkpatrick
Chem & Met Eng 50:197 Ag '43 1000w

Christian Century 60:897 Ag 4 '43 60w

Reviewed by C. L. Willard, Jr.
Churchman 157:16 S 1 '43 300w

"When he is convincing Mr. Queeny expatiates at long and pained length on the deadening effects of government bureaucracy. He calls for building up the backward nations industrially as a means of securing prosperity all round. He is not even opposed to having a genuinely local labor representative and a representative of the public on corporation boards of directors. But all in all, this little book may one day serve as a document of the nineteenth-centuryism still flickering in the 1940's. . . What is lacking in this book is any kind of a solution. The old slogan of new gadgets produced under highly competitive conditions sounds like that 'corner' we used to hear so much about."
Commonweal 38:324 Jl 16 '43 500w

Reviewed by Walter Hausdorfer
Library J 68:571 Jl '43 100w

Reviewed by Claude Robinson
Management R 32:438 N '43 500w

Reviewed by B. B. Seligman
New Repub 109:401 S 20 '43 480w

Reviewed by John MacCormac
N Y Times p8 Ag 8 '43 600w

Reviewed by C. J. Friedrich
Sat R of Lit 26:13 Ag 7 '43 700w

"Edgar Queeny's book is another document from an American who has made a real contribution to the material welfare of the people of his country, who feels that our future does not lie in adopting the Russian way of life, however admirable it may be, or in setting up a collective system of any sort whatever; but rather in using and developing the fine economic machine that is today the envy of the common people of the entire world." John Magee, Jr.
+ Springf'd Republican p6 Jl 13 '43 800w

Reviewed by C. N. Stabler
Weekly Book Review p18 Jl 11 '43 650w

QUINN, ARTHUR HOBSON. History of the American drama; from the beginning to the Civil war. 2d ed 530p $5 Crofts

812.09 American drama—History and criticism 43-11974

A new edition of a work first published in 1923 (Book Review Digest, 1923). "It proved not to be necessary to alter the general plan of the History, but by resetting some pages and many individual lines it has been possible to correct errors and to add vitally necessary information. Fortunately it has been possible to revise completely the Bibliography and the Play List, and they have been entirely reset." (Pref)

Booklist 40:97 N 15 '43

"Professor Quinn has prepared the second edition of his history with scrupulous erudition, but I think the list of plays would have been more useful if grouped under their authors. Here is a textbook not to be recommended to the casual reader." E. V. R. Wyatt
Commonweal 38:518 S 10 '43 1200w

Springf'd Republican p10 D 3 '43 390w

QUINN, VERNON. Picture map geography of Mexico, Central America and the West Indies; with maps and drawings by Da Osimo. 114p $2 Stokes

917.2 Mexico—Juvenile literature. Central America—Juvenile literature. West Indies—Juvenile literature 43-6216

Information on the history, topography, and industries of Mexico, Central America, and the West Indies, accompanied by picture maps showing industries. Grades four to seven.

Booklist 39:374 My 15 '43

"Good supplementary material, presenting facts, stories, and legends in an entertaining way. . . Recommended." J. E. Wooster
+ Library J 68:479 Je 1 '43 30w

"Will enliven geography."
+ Sat R of Lit 26:30 My 15 '43 20w

"A feature throughout is explanation of the meaning of place names, through which a wealth of legend can enter Latin America's story. Some older readers could learn something from this elementary introduction." M. L. Becker
+ Weekly Book Review p8 Je 13 '43 290w

Wis Lib Bul 39:126 O '43

QUINTANILLA, LUIS, 1900-. A Latin American speaks. 268p $2.50 Macmillan

970 America—Civilization. American republics. Latin America—Foreign relations. U.S.—Foreign relations 42-51747

"Mexican diplomat and writer, with firm faith in democracy, attempts to present sincere, unbiased account of present-day America, viewed as a unit rather than from limited angle of North, Central, or South America. Dividing his book into three parts, national conditions, inter-American relations, and America's international role, author presents economic problems common to the Americas, analyzes Monroe Doctrine, traces growth of Pan-Americanism from Bolivar's Congress of Panama in 1826 to Roosevelt's Good Neighbor policy, then optimistically predicts part Inter-Americanism will play in establishment of new world order after war." (Library J) Index.

Am Hist R 49:175 O '43 80w

Reviewed by W. T. R. Fox
Am Pol Sci R 37:360 Ap '43 380w

Reviewed by L. L. Bernard
Am Soc R 8:237 Ap '43 700w

"Written by a Mexican diplomat, formerly at Washington but now at Moscow, this is the most undiplomatic book ever published on inter-American affairs; because the highly qualified, witty author really writes what he thinks." Alfred Manes
+ Ann Am Acad 227:189 My '43 480w

"Minister-Counselor Quintanilla of the Mexican Embassy in Washington may be faintly surprised to have this book described as an important practical force in the development of inter-American relations. But if it is given the attention due it from readers in the United States, that is precisely what it can be and should be." Duncan Aikman
+ Atlantic 170:160 D '42 700w

Booklist 39:218 F 1 '43

Bookmark 4:15 Mr '43

"In justice to the author his book should be judged not by its philosophizing and its discussion of cultural differences—both of which have been done much better elsewhere—but primarily by its discussion of inter-American political and economic relations which makes up the book's core. And the core of the book is sound." B. D. Wolfe
+ Books p3 Ja 17 '43 1500w

Reviewed by Louisa Byles
Cath World 157:554 Ag '43 750w

Christian Science Monitor p11 My 15 '43 500w

Reviewed by S. G. Inman
Churchman 157:16 Mr 15 '43 600w

" 'A Latin American Speaks' performs a useful service. It is written in clear and forceful language, and it makes clear without shadow of a doubt the tremendous and almost sickening disparity between the standards of living of South and Central America and that of North America, exclusive of Mexico. . . By and large what his book is useful for is the bright light it casts on the problem of lifting the living standards of the people dwelling within the boundaries of the Good-Neighbor-Lands. As any sort of account either of their culture or their other aspirations, it is very nearly useless."

QUINTANILLA, LUIS—Continued

+ Commonweal 37:426 F 12 '43 500w
Current Hist 4:83 Mr '43 340w

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert
Foreign Affairs 21:589 Ap '43 20w

"Timely book; of reference value." M. J. Messler
+ Library J 67:951 N 1 '42 110w

"An excellent and deeply stirring book. . . The author, who is also a poet and playwright, has the mixture of political experience and cultural interests so common in Latin America and so rare in our own country, and his entire book is written on a high moral plane that is rare in our time."
+ New Repub 108:294 Mr 1 '43 150w

"There is much said in 'A Latin-American Speaks' with which many readers, including this reviewer, would argue. Very likely the author would welcome that. As a matter of fact, probably no one, in any of the Americas, could read it without parentheses such as; (Cheers!) (Cries of No! No!) (Murmurs and Applause) (A Voice: One moment, Mr. Speaker). It is a provocative book. Just the same, or perhaps therefore, it ought to be read by as many Americans as count themselves of good-will, in the twenty-one republics of this Western Hemisphere." Anita Brenner
+ N Y Times p1 Ja 10 '43 1500w

"The reviewer has seldom read a more satisfactory book." J. F. Rippy
+ Pol Sci Q 58:314 Je '43 260w

Reviewed by Leon Whipple
Survey G 32:55 F '43 800w
Theatre Arts 27:323 My '43 550w
Wis Lib Bul 39:38 Mr '43

"The author, who is a distinguished Mexican diplomat, has chosen his title wisely. 'A Latin American Speaks' is just that. Dr. Quintanilla ranges widely over the American scene, expressing informally his views on a multiplicity of subjects. His 'talk' is bright, urbane, often stimulating, and, above all, frank. . . The book demands attention, especially as the expression of wide-ranging thought of an eminent 'good neighbor.' One may hope that Dr. Quintanilla's example will be emulated." W. G. Fletcher
+ Yale R n s 32:624 spring '43 420w

R

RADIN, MAX. Day of reckoning. 144p $1.75 Knopf

Hitler, Adolf—Fiction 43-7995

An American lawyer propounds a problem: after the war is over what will happen to Hitler and his associates. This book describes the imaginary trial of Hitler and six other Nazis, in 1945, on the charge of murder.

"The author of 'The Day of Reckoning' is professor of law at the University of California and has written many books on his subject. He has been admitted to the bar of the United States Supreme Court, and is pre-eminently qualified to sketch an imaginary trial of the men for whom half the world is gunning. And he gives you no dry-as-dust treatise, but a thrilling account that makes 'Famous Jury Trials' as lackluster as a literary tea by comparison." Leo Kennedy
+ Book Week p4 Jl 25 '43 450w
Booklist 39:464 Jl 15 '43

Reviewed by R. B. Schlesinger
Columbia Law R 43:960 S '43 1950w

"Professor Radin, well known for his imaginative approach to the problems of jurisprudence, has written a book that ought to be read by every lawyer worth his salt. The Day of Reckoning, though cast in the form of a dramatic play, is a searching discourse on the nature of law. It seeks to determine on what legal ground the actions of Hitler and his associates can be termed crimes and punished accordingly." C. J. Friedrich
+ Harvard Law R 56:1338 Jl '43 2500w

Reviewed by Rustem Vambery
Nation 157:413 O 9 '43 850w

"This book is swell reading and in its fashion makes a real contribution to our general thinking on the acute problem of what to do with the Nazi leaders." M. L. Ernst
+ New Repub 109:400 S 20 '43 800w

"Here is a small book which may be read as pure fantasy or as a piece of realism of an event as likely to happen as not. In either case, it is sure to divert the reader. . . Mr. Radin has done a brilliant piece of writing which is a delight to read." John Cournos
+ N Y Times p14 Je 13 '43 600w

"An engrossing job, and no doubt a perfectly plausible statement of the legal issues that would be raised in such a trial."
+ New Yorker 19:79 Je 12 '43 50w

"Professor Radin has packed an enormous lot into this small book, and the result is dramatic and both emotionally and cerebrally exciting. As to the law involved, I do not know, but coming as it does from one of the most eminent lawyers and teachers of law in the country, I imagine it is perfect. I will leave that to the lawyers, but without hesitation, and, as a mere layman, I suggest that they all buy the book. They will find it engrossing, they may find sources for wit-sharpening argument, and without any question they will be presented with a thesis that goes to the very foundation of law and its relation to society." Struthers Burt
+ Sat R of Lit 26:9 Jl 3 '43 1150w

"The defense rests on the grounds that in war all things are possible and that it is war as such, and not the leaders, which must be outlawed. This arbitrary legal ball is tossed back and forth with skill. Through the careful, stilted language there emerge far-reaching philosophical conceptions. The law, in the hands of so profound a student of it, takes on life and becomes the true protagonist of this lucid, logical and remote little tale." Virgilia Sapieha
+ Weekly Book Review p3 Jl 11 '43 600w

RADTKE, O. ARNOLD. Keene cement craft. 123p il $2 Bruce pub.

738.3 Pottery. Handicraft

"Detailed directions for using Keene's cement for vases, lamps, book ends, etc. The cement, mixed with mineral colors and water and fashioned into small objects, has appearance of imitation marble. For industrial-arts shops and the hobbyist." Library J

Reviewed by L. E. Grinter
Book Week p7 Jl 25 '43 50w
Library J 68:626 Ag '43 40w
N Y New Tech Bks 28:45 Jl '43

RAE, BARBARA. Cooking without meat; a supplementary kitchen guide for war-time cookery; il. by Alice Blodgett. 126p $1.50 Mill

641.5 Cookery 43-16618

A book of "recipes that contain no meat and at the same time call for a minimum of other rationed foods." (Foreword) Contents: When there is no meat; Herbs and other seasonings; Proteins without meat; A word to the wise; Rice for dinner; Spaghetti and macaroni; Cheese for meatless days; The legume family; Egg dishes; Vegetables in the spotlight; Gravies and sauces. Glossary. Bibliography. Index.

Booklist 40:159 Ja 1 '44

"This kitchen guide should not only prove a boon in the present emergency but should prove useful after the war in providing different dishes for those desiring a change." M. L. H.
+ Springf'd Republican p7e D 26 '43 170w
Wis Lib Bul 40:7 Ja '44

RAE, WALTER. Editing small newspapers; a handbook for young journalists; foreword by Joseph M. Murphy. 214p il $2.50 Mill

070 Journalism. Newspapers 43-3601

Discusses all phases of newspaper editing, especially as it applies to the small town weekly. Will serve also for high school papers. Glossary of newspaper terms used. Index.

Booklist 39:347 My 1 '43
Springf'd Republican p7e O 6 '43 220w
Wis Lib Bul 39:50 Ap '43

RAETH, GEORGE ADOLPH. Master homecraft projects. 160p il $2 Bruce pub.

684 Furniture 42-20611

"Modern designs predominate in the 24 furniture projects provided in this book. Supplied with detailed working drawings, and of interest alike to class instructors and home shop workers." Wis Lib Bul

Booklist 39:196 Ja 15 '43
Reviewed by Maude Adams
+ Library J 67:849 O 1 '42 70w
Wis Lib Bul 39:26 F '43

RAINE, WILLIAM MACLEOD. Hell and high water. 241p $2 Houghton

Western story.

Booklist 39:427 Je 15 '43

"William MacLeod Raine, veteran of some three dozen Western novels, has again given us a top-notch story of its kind, packed with fast action, suspense and excitement and surpassingly well written." G. W. Harris
+ N Y Times p26 Ap 18 '43 250w
Reviewed by Will Cuppy
Weekly Book Review p24 Ap 11 '43 100w
Wis Lib Bul 39:86 Je '43

RALEIGH, JOHN MCCUTCHEON. Pacific blackout. 244p $2.50 Dodd

940.5391 World war, 1939—Netherlands Indies. World war, 1939—Australia. World war, 1939—Personal narratives, American 43-6280

The author, a CBS representative, was in the Netherlands East Indies just before Pearl Harbor and for some weeks thereafter. When the Japanese took over, he was shifted to Port Darwin, Australia, and he remained in that locality until June, 1942. This book is an account of his stay there.

"An apparently hasty job not ranking with some of the other recent volumes by correspondents yet nevertheless containing valuable facts." R. G.
Christian Science Monitor p16 Ap 7 '43 340w
Reviewed by J. G. Murtagh
Commonweal 38:52 Ap 30 '43 180w

"The approach and arrival of war in Java and its continuation in Australia are described here by a Columbia Broadcasting System correspondent. Some of the story is of necessity told at second hand, but it contains considerable spot reporting. When World War II is over, Mr. Raleigh's contribution will probably be apparent in the tapestry of the conflict, for thus far comparatively little has been written of the region he covered. Dutch and native morale in Java is exceptionally well pictured in the book." E. F. Allen
+ N Y Times p17 My 2 '43 440w

"Because of the historical and strategic importance of the loss of Java and the Netherlands East Indies, it was desirable that someone, preferably a newspaperman, should write a book about Japan's quick conquest of that area which could supplement Jack Belden's excellent story of the loss of Burma, 'Retreat With Stilwell.' 'Pacific Blackout,' . . . partially fills this need, factually at least, although the Raleigh work is not the fine and vivid piece of writing which Belden achieved." Hallett Abend
Sat R of Lit 26:38 Ap 17 '43 750w

"Given the tensions and dislocations of a war period, it is easy for casual observers like Mr. Raleigh to find many things which may rightly be criticized and attacked. But such criticisms are of value only if they are placed in their proper perspective in relation to the more fundamental forces emerging in this people's war. Mr. Raleigh's book unfortunately, remains on a strictly superficial level throughout." K. L. Mitchell
Weekly Book Review p17 Ap 18 '43 1000w

RAMAKRISHNA. Gospel of [the author] tr. into English with an introd. by Swami Nikhilananda. 1063p $7.50 Ramakrishna-Vivekananda center, 17 E. 94th st, N.Y.

181.4 Philosophy, Indic 42-22750

"The material in the present volume has been used before, but has not previously been available in so handy a form. The original work is a long account in Bengali of the last four years of Ramakrishna's life written by a disciple named Mahendra Gupta, who styled himself 'M.' Conversations are reproduced in full, ideas are expounded or illuminated, the 'Master's' habits and practices are described in detail.. In an introduction the Swami gives a long account (76 pages) of Ramakrishna's life, which is at once factual, reverent and appreciative and is in many respects more enlightening than the main text." Books

Reviewed by W. N. Brown
Books p16 Ja 31 '43 750w

"In addition to its presentation of the teaching of one of the world's great saints, this volume has other admirable features. It is beautifully bound and printed. The masterly introduction by Swami Nikhilananda is an excellent preparation for understanding the text. The vast number of devotional songs scattered through the work will be a revelation to those unacquainted with India's sectarian literature. The glossary of Hindu words is of immense value for the Western reader." A. E. Haydon
+ Christian Century 60:135 F 3 '43 900w

"It might be easily possible that 'The Gospel of Sri Ramakrishna' should be the most important book of the year for Western readers, if only for the practical reason that our understanding of the Indian mind is destined to be a more and more pressing matter." Stark Young
+ New Repub 108:154 F 1 '43 330w

"Swami Nikhilananda of the New York Ramakrishna-Vivekananda Center has rendered us a great service by translating this voluminous work into fine English. He has also written a very illuminating introduction." Shridharani
+ Sat R of Lit 26:21 Ja 9 '43 700w

RAMAN, T. A. Report on India. 231p $2.50 Oxford

954 India 43-15077

Concise information about the history, economics, and politics of India, by an Indian Nationalist newspaper man, formerly London editor of the United Press of India. Partial contents: The first four thousand years; Britain and India; On cows, and caste, and other things; Rupees, annas, pies or the economic background; Industrial India: present and future; India and the war; The Cripps mission; After Cripps; Parties, policies and prospects. Bibliography. Index.

RAMAN, T. A.—Continued
Reviewed by Sudhindra Bose
Book Week p4 Ja 2 '44 200w
Booklist 40:143 D 15 '43
Reviewed by Joseph McSorley
Cath World 158:506 F '44 110w
Reviewed by W. F. Sands
Commonweal 39:234 D 17 '43 420w

"Small libraries that have not bought recent books on India will welcome this very readable account." K. T. Willis
+ Library J 68:768 O 1 '43 100w
Reviewed by Frances Gunther
— New Repub 110:60 Ja 10 '44 150w
Reviewed by Howard Breit
N Y Times p6 N 21 '43 280w
Reviewed by Jacques Ducharme
Springf'd Republican p10 Ja 7 '44 220w

"If the war against Japan develops as every one expects, our people are shortly going to feel an urgent need of an Indian primer. . . This is precisely what 180 out of 214 pages of reading matter in Mr. Raman's little book is. The balance of it is to me true too, because I agree with him. To those who have other views, some of it may seem partisan and controversial; and it is their privilege to take it or leave it." Rodney Gilbert
+ Weekly Book Review p2 N 7 '43 1600w

RAMAN, T. A. What does Gandhi want? 117p il $1.25 (3s 6d) Oxford

940.5354 World war, 1939—India. India—Politics and government. Gandhi, Mohandas Karamchand 42-36386

For descriptive note see Annual for 1942.

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert
Foreign Affairs 21:587 Ap '43 50w
Reviewed by K. L. Mitchell
New Repub 108:259 F 22 '43 1100w
Reviewed by M. S. Farley
Pacific Affairs 16:380 S '43 210w

"One rises from the perusal of these bewildering statements [Gandhi's] with the conviction that the Government of India took the only possible course open to them, however painful it must have been, in placing their author under restraint. Mr. Raman's book will not find favour with devotees of the Mahatma, but readers can form their own opinions from the quotations which he provides." H. G. Rawlinson
Spec 170:248 Mr 12 '43 340w

"This little book contains a record, not otherwise obtainable in this country, of the most important of Mr. Gandhi's statements on the war, and after studying them and Mr. Raman's sensible comments the reader may still find there is no answer to the question asked in the title."
+ Times [London] Lit Sup p74 F 13 '43 200w

RAME, DAVID, pseud. See Divine, A. D.

RAMSEY, GUY HAYLETT. One continent redeemed. 280p map $2.50 Doubleday [8s 6d Harrap]

940.542 World war, 1939—Personal narratives, English. World war, 1939—Africa 43-16579

Personal narrative plus observations on the military and political phases of the Tunisian campaign by an English war correspondent, attached to an American contingent.

"Guy Ramsey is more frankly critical than most of the war writers have been—about more things. But his criticism is that of a man who wants to gloss over nothing, to report the bad with the good, and he knows that few things are actually all to the good." J. I. Greene
+ Book Week p19 N 14 '43 110w
New Repub 110:61 Ja 10 '44 150w

"An Englishman with all an Englishman's native biases, although he had attended Harvard, Mr. Ramsey gives American readers an opportunity to see ourselves as others see us. It is only fair to add that he is as generous in praising the good qualities of our fighting men as he is candid about those Americanisms that irritate him." F. S. Adams
+ N Y Times p47 N 21 '43 850w

"Mr. Ramsey is informative, garrulous, sophisticated, enthusiastic, realistic, poetic. . . He likes to talk newspaper shop, often to a boring extent. He has a fine sense of detail, a flair for anecdote, a feeling for drama and personality. His command of French and his 'passion for France' help him to a rare understanding of the French mind. He can be superior and acidulous, in the snobbiest British tradition; but usually he winds up with a temperate, balanced judgment." Frederick Gruin
+ Sat R of Lit 27:10 Ja 8 '44 650w
Spec 171:392 O 22 '43 170w

"The later stages of the Tunisian campaign did not fall within Mr. Ramsey's scope. This is to be regretted, for in his vivid account of the landing at Arzeu, the only major action in which he took part, he reveals a descriptive touch which would have stood him in good stead had he been attached to General Patton's or General Anderson's force."
+ Times [London] Lit Sup p472 O 2 '43 650w

RAND, AYN. Fountainhead. 754p $3 Bobbs 43-7230

"Unusual story of struggle for success among New York architects. Careers of Keating and Roark are followed up, from day one graduates with honors from his alma mater and other is expelled because of unruliness, although he is real genius. Interesting insights into methods by which, for a while, people may gain glory and money, but creative artist wins out. No lack of romance, but amorous ways of Dominique Francon may not appeal to all." Library J

"Probably because of its theme, 'The Fountainhead' is conventional; that is to say, its action and even to a certain extent its character development are determined by its theme. Its background seems authentic enough, and Miss Rand pursues her thesis without deviation and with good characterization and enough action to satisfy even the most exacting. Its scope is broad enough, too, for every taste, and yet, as a novel, 'The Fountainhead' leaves a great deal to be desired. Miss Rand's writing manner . . . is offensively pedestrian, pockmarked with short, clipped, staccato sentences which make the reading far more difficult than it need be and tell the reader that Miss Rand has much to learn before she can write." August Derleth
+ — Book Week p4 Je 13 '43 380w

"Well written but too long. Recommended for libraries with larger fiction sections." F. E. Hirsch
+ — Library J 68:328 Ap 15 '43 70w

"Surely 'The Fountainhead' is the curiosity of the year, and anyone who is taken in by it deserves a stern lecture on paper-rationing." Diana Trilling
Nation 156:843 Je 12 '43 120w

"Ayn Rand is a writer of great power. She has a subtle and ingenious mind and the capacity of writing brilliantly, beautifully, bitterly. 'The Fountainhead,' her second novel, has been more than five years in preparation; it is a long but absorbing story of man's enduring battle with evil. It has drama, as might be expected of the author of the play 'The Night of January 16'; it has poetry, sometimes a bit too lush; and it has a challenging conception. Good novels of ideas are rare at any time. This is the only novel of ideas written by an American woman that I can recall. . . Nothing she has to say is said in a second-rate fashion. You have to think of 'The Magic Mountain,' you have to think of 'The Master Builder,' when you think of 'The Fountainhead.' " Lorine Pruette
+ N Y Times p7 My 16 '43 650w

"A novel of remarkable vigor and interest. 754 pages long, it is not a word too long for the things it has to say, and the reader will not find it flagging even in those pages where its passionate pleading leads it into logical confusion." N. L. Rothman

+ Sat R of Lit 26:30 My 29 '43 550w

"It may be said that Miss Rand overreaches her mark, that her forces for good and evil are all white and all black. But she demonstrates her premises with an eloquence and lyricism that reveals her own great faith that the individual cannot be enslaved. It is a powerful work that will be remembered." Helen Lowe

+ Springf'd Republican p7e My 23 '43 470w

"I could sing the praises of this book in several keys, for I am of several minds about it. By all the rules of the game, it ought to sell by the carload. It tells of exciting events and colorful characters. It is daring, not offensive. Its style would satisfy the most exacting professor, yet it has the vim and snap of the best journalese. It is frankly intellectual, and fearlessly discusses life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness, but it never sinks to the highbrow. . . A snapshot may fail to tell whether a man is stumbling or running, laughing or crying. It is manifestly unsafe to judge an author by a single book. If 'The Fountainhead' is a first step, something to be transcended, it is a magnificent promise. If it is a mature achievement, with which the author is fully satisfied, it is . . . marvelously clever. I am eager to give Ayn Rand the full benefit of the doubt." Albert Guerard

+ — Weekly Book Review p2 My 30 '43 1650w

RAND, EDWARD KENNARD. Building of eternal Rome. 318p $3.50 Harvard univ. press

937 Rome—History. Rome—Civilization

A43-964

"Professor Rand undertakes to trace and interpret the ideas that were channeled through Rome from the period of the Republic down through the Empire into the Renaissance. Beginning with the intrusion of Greek influence in the Scipionic circle the author follows its development through the great Roman writers until as the Roman energy faded its finest fruits were adopted and reinvigorated by the infusion of Christian ideals to produce the foundation upon which modern culture is built. . . Presented originally as the Lowell Lectures for 1942, the material has been somewhat modified for book publication and abundant notes have been added." Sat R of Lit

"For the literary layman there is great stimulus here to send him back to read some ancient writers whom he never knew. Polybius and Fronto are presented with a warmth and understanding that make them new and welcome friends, no matter how much one has manhandled their texts in the past. For the historian there is nothing new in text criticism or the investigation of the facts of Roman chronology. There is, however, food for thought in the suggestions with regard to the sources of Polybius' philosophy and Livy's and Tacitus'. To this reviewer Tacitus seems to receive scant justice and Livy not too much. But these lectures were not intended to be a survey of roman history or of Roman literature, and they were presented to a general audience." C. W. Mendell

+ Am Hist R 49:89 O '43 700w

Reviewed by M. L. W. Laistner

Class Philol 38:265 O '43 1650w

"A book well worthy of its theme from any point of view and sheer delight to read." T. F. Woodlock

+ Commonweal 37:649 Ap 16 '43 650w

"This is a notable volume—notable, if for no other reason, for the fact that it comes from one whom many of us regard as the foremost Latinist in America." G. D. Hadzsits

+ Crozer Q 21:73 Ja '44 550w

"In spite of its lively style 'The Building of Eternal Rome' is a learned work that will appeal chiefly to the academic audience. . . On the dissenting side certain observations may be put forward. . . But even those who are not in agreement with the literary treatment of the history of ideas will find that Mr. Rand has done a valuable service by tracing the continuous stream of thought that flowed through Eternal Rome into the modern world." H. J. Haskell

+ — Sat R of Lit 26:19 My 8 '43 800w

Reviewed by H. W. Marr

Springf'd Republican p10 Je 2 '43 390w

RAND, HOWARD B. Digest of the divine law. 248p $2 Destiny

231.7 Bible and law. Kingdom of God

43-5671

"Assuming that every statement in the form of a command in any part of the Bible is a law of God for all people and for all time unless otherwise specified, the author (a lawyer) digests the explicit and implicit biblical 'laws' into something approximating a code. It covers practically every phase of private and public life." Christian Century

Christian Century 60:548 My 5 '43 130w

Christian Science Monitor p10 My 29 '43 600w

RANDALL, JEAN. Traveler's End. 250p $2 Dodd

43-12125

Story of the effect of the present war upon a beautiful young American woman, who lost her father, brother, and husband in the course of a few weeks. She withdrew to a quiet corner of Arkansas to forget the war, but found herself involved in it before many months.

"The story is pleasantly told, and Miss Randall's readers will be glad to add it to their collection." Charlotte Dean

+ N Y Times p20 S 26 '43 200w

" 'Traveler's End' is written with sympathy and carries a healing message." Lisle Bell

+ Weekly Book Review p16 Ag 29 '43 140w

RANDALL, LEWIS VALENTINE. Bridgehead to victory; plans for the invasion of Europe. 183p $2 Doubleday

940.5401 World war, 1939-. Strategy 43-51202

Consideration of where, when, and how an Allied invasion of the continent of Europe could be launched. Partial contents: Preparations, means, and weapons for an invasion; Some remarks on tactics; The Eastern front; A plan for invasion. The author bases his conclusions, among other considerations, on "five years' experience in the German army before and during the last war."

"For the armchair professor of military science and tactics this easily understood book of plans for the invasion of Europe will prove invaluable. . . One suggestion I would make is that in future the author refrain from discussion of the political aspects of the world situation. He may be a good military man but in his few brief mentions of politics he's slightly askew." Justin McCarthy

+ — Book Week p2 Je 20 '43 550w

Booklist 39:443 Jl 1 '43

"For the nonmilitary reader, this book is an excellent presentation of the various factors that must be given careful consideration in preparing for an invasion of Europe." F. L. O.

+ Christian Science Monitor p11 Jl 17 '43 470w

Cleveland Open Shelf p9 Jl '43

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert

Foreign Affairs 22:158 O '43 40w

"Doesn't seem to be the kind of book that libraries will be buying. . . A military problem most civilians would be willing to leave to the military. The few who would enjoy thinking about it could develop their own ideas and have as much fun as Mr. Randall did." Margaret Owen

RANDALL, L. V.—Continued

Library J 68:475 Je 1 '43 70w

"The author has become so enamored of the fashionable terminology that his writing is unnecessarily involved; for instance, he constantly misuses the word 'geopolitical' when he means 'geographical.' He would, too, have done well to check more carefully his geography and certain unfortunate misstatements of fact. Though assiduity in research can never replace local knowledge or professional experience gained in staff work, on the whole the author gives us in this book a comprehensive picture of the strategy of invasion and offers his public as good an insight into the choice of locality and the methods to be employed as they are likely to get. But whether his opinions are strategically sound and in keeping with those of the Combined Chiefs of Staff is another matter." Murray Harris

N Y Times p5 Je 6 '43 800w

"This is a clear, factual book. . . What could have been a laborious and circuitous series of conjectures, full of 'ifs and buts,' is, instead, a concise and clear statement of the known obstacles which we will overcome in the defeat of our German enemy in our invasion of Germany itself." H. J. Taylor

+ Sat R of Lit 26:23 Je 26 '43 550w

"'Bridgehead to Victory' is not only worth reading, it deserves serious thought for its logical study of each possible scene of European action and its analyses of the prospects and fruits of success in each." P. J. Searles

+ Weekly Book Review p16 Je 20 '43 800w

RANDALL, MERLE, and YOUNG, LEONA ESTHER. Elementary physical chemistry. 455p il $4.50 Randall & sons, 2512 Etna st, Berkeley, Calif.

541 Chemistry, Physical and theoretical 42-18695

"The text is prepared for second- and third-year college students contemplating chemistry as a career or preparing for the fields of biology, geology, and engineering. The material is presented in thirty-two chapters and includes an unusually wide range of topics. The emphasis is placed throughout upon what the authors designate 'modernized classical physical chemistry'. The notation used is that of the Lewis and Randall 'Thermodynamics and Free Energy of Chemical Substances.' Problems are distributed throughout the book." (Chem & Eng N) Index.

Reviewed by F. G. Keyes

Chem & Eng N 21:55 Ja 10 '43 850w

"The text is recommended for such readers who already have some knowledge of physical chemistry or for those who want to refresh their memories. However, without some background or experience in the field, the text will probably not be elementary enough. Finally, the teacher will welcome the large number of problems for class room work." F. C. Nachod

+ — Chem & Met Eng 50:199 Jl '43 260w

"The book is a photolithic reproduction from the Stanford University Press. It is replete with tables and figures well reproduced. It treats the usual topics covered in elementary texts in a very refreshing and vivid manner, and with the inclusion of an unusually large amount of thermodynamics." S. C. Lind

+ J Phys Chem 47:465 Je '43 100w

"From one of the authors of that famous book, Thermodynamics, by Lewis and Randall, a reader will expect something of an unusual character, and the book under review by Merle Randall and Leona Esther Young will not prove a disappointment in this respect. Whether one agrees with the authors or not in their mode of presentation of the material, it is impossible to regard the book entitled Elementary Physical Chemistry as a conventional text; for this reason it is worth the careful consideration of every teacher of physical chemistry. . . Altogether this is an interesting book which should prove stimulating to a good teacher and good students, and many who have taken a conventional course in physical chemistry will find in it much that is new to them." Samuel Glasstone

+ R of Scientific Instruments 14:105 Ap '43 850w

RANSHOFEN-WERTHEIMER, EGON FERDINAND. Victory is not enough; the strategy for a lasting peace. 322p $3 Norton

940.53144 Reconstruction (1939-). World war, 1939—Peace. World politics. International cooperation 42-50474

For descriptive note see Annual for 1942.

"Dr. Ranshofen-Wertheimer's study is highly suggestive to political scientists. His emphasis of the psychological factors in and conditions of postwar peacemaking, although not entirely new, is of special importance in a period when many either ignore their significance or deal with them without an adequate background in European thought. That background is here portrayed with insight and objectivity, from experience in government and in its observation from the press gallery. It is one of the most revealing interpretations of postwar problems that hás as yet appeared for Americans from a European pen." Phillips Bradley

+ Am Pol Sci R 37:543 Je '43 750w

"As a subtitle to this volume the promise of a 'strategy for a lasting peace' matches the brilliant main title. The text almost matches the title and the subtitle together; which is saying a good deal. Everybody who is interested in the problems of post-war reconstruction, at least on the international side, should read this book. He should, however, read it with all his faculties awake. Otherwise he will neither appreciate the wealth of suggestion contained in its pages nor appraise critically the various points made by the author, not all of which are self-evident, or consistent, or clear in their implications." P. B. Potter

+ — Am Soc R 8:358 Je '43 750w

"There is much to be learned from this book. There are also many views open to doubt and criticism. For instance, given the entirely changed political and social conditions, drawing upon the peacemaking of 1815 as a model is problematical. The author does not regard Europe as a unit in either an ethnological, historical, religious, geographical, or economic sense. What he calls 'a common instinctive response to life' appears to be a rather thin and vague element of the required underlying community of feeling. . . The treatment of Russia and her probable role in postwar Europe is treated inadequately and casually. Despite, or rather because of, such controversial opinions, Victory Is Not Enough should be read discerningly as a stimulating contribution to the challenging problem of future peace." Josef Hanč

+ — Ann Am Acad 226:165 Mr '43 750w

Atlantic 171:152 Ap '43 70w

Booklist 39:273 Mr 1 '43

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert

Foreign Affairs 21:575 Ap '43 60w

"This book may well shock many American peace-planners. But there is nothing superficial about it. Brilliantly written, it should prove a substantial contribution to an Anglo-Saxon understanding of Europe at a time when the need for such understanding is urgent." Bruce Knight

+ J Pol Econ 51:463 O '43 900w

"The book is badly organized and turgidly written, but it has considerable power and logic."

+ — New Repub 108:390 Mr 22 '43 180w

"This book is, perhaps, open to the criticism that the author has dealt himself all the cards in the deck. Yet it is, on the whole, as realistic and satisfying a discussion of the outlines of war-torn and post-war Europe as has been offered by any writer." G. N. Shuster

+ — N Y Times p10 F 21 '43 1250w

"A vivid style and freshness of approach make Victory is Not Enough one of the most readable of the new crop of books on post-war world organization." Bruno Lasker

+ Pacific Affairs 16:125 Mr '43 550w

Reviewed by G. N. Shuster
Pol Sci Q 58:281 Je '43 700w

"It is stimulating reading, provocative and decidedly controversial in many aspects, but definitely constructive." L. S. Munn
+ Springf'd Republican p6 Ja 13 '43 1000w

Reviewed by Mildred Adams
Survey G 32:98 Mr '43 750w

RANSOME, ARTHUR. The Picts and the martyrs; or, Not welcome at all [il. by the author]. 308p $2.50 Macmillan [8s 6d Cape, J.] 43-16040

More adventures of the children of the Swallows and Amazon series. Nancy and Peggy Blackett are left in charge of Cook, while Mrs Blackett goes on a cruise. Dick and Dorothea are invited to stay with them. A happy holiday is planned by the children, but the Great Aunt descends upon them, wrecking all plans. Nancy decides on a revolutionary course, Dick and Dorothea fall in with her plans, and a delightful time is spent by all, despite Great Aunt. For early teen age.

Booklist 40:184 Ja 15 '44

Reviewed by A. M. Jordan
Horn Bk 20:41 Ja '44 100w

"Mr. Ransome's gift for story-telling is rare in that the adventures of his characters provide as much fun for grown-up readers as for children, and that guarantees that for children they are first-class. His sense of proportion in events is exact; he knows how devastating it can be if the letter that should be in the cranny of the wall is not there when it is expected and how helpful a doctor can be who insists that a tiresome great-aunt must rest in bed every day after lunch." M. C.
+ Manchester Guardian p3 Jl 23 '43 200w

Reviewed by A. T. Eaton
+ N Y Times p6 N 14 '43 440w

New Yorker 19:129 D 4 '43 90w

"Perhaps I am prejudiced, well on the way to being a great-aunt myself, but I find it hard to believe in such a monster as Miss Turner. But even if the plot of this latest Ransome is a little strained, the texture is as dependable as ever, and stay-at-home children will find this the best substitute for a Lake's holiday." J. A. Smith
+ — Spec 171:42 Jl 9 '43 200w

"From a host of mediocre writers Arthur Ransome stands out in triumph. There is little new to say about his work. It is firm, intelligent, in tune with twentieth-century mentality and well written."
+ Times [London] Lit Sup p563 N 20 '43 100w

"Few authors have the satisfaction of knowing that their next book will be a classic, but the saga of Swallows and Amazons is so firmly established in children's literature that a new volume takes at once its place in the canon." M. L. Becker
+ Weekly Book Review p6 N 14 '43 400w

RAPER, ARTHUR FRANKLIN. Tenants of the Almighty; FSA photographs by Jack Delano. 403p $3.50 Macmillan

975.861 Greene county, Georgia. Farm tenancy. Agriculture—Georgia 43-8914

Survey of Greene county, Georgia, a civilization in microcosm. "It is a sort of anatomy of the grass roots in an age of change under distant influences. But it takes the familiar form also of the county history, in which, beyond Indians and settlement, Civil War, cattle tick, and tough, angry politics, is the 'Unified Farm Program.' That program, involving the diverse ends of Washington programs in a plan of local and national good intentions and good will, is only one chapter and not necessarily the last one. By and large, however, Mr. Raper believes that the works of Washington and the New Deal, as correlated in Greene County in the Unified Farm Program, are items in advance for a people whose progress has been long delayed." (Sat R of Lit) Copiously illustrated. Indexes of text and pictures.

Booklist 39:461 Jl 15 '43

"A superb series of FSA plates sets the tone for this deeply human story, informal, colorful and warmly personal throughout one hundred and fifty years of history."
+ Commonweal 38:348 Jl 23 '43 650w

"Important for understanding of problems tackled by Farm Security Administration and for detailed picture of results of Unified Farm Program in this county. Valuable addition to black belt literature." L. I. Poste
+ Library J 68:247 Mr 15 '43 110w

"All in all, this book is a valuable historical and sociological document. Only one error was noted. Matthew Thornton is described as a Virginia signer of the Declaration of Independence. He should have been credited to New Hampshire." Virginius Dabney
+ N Y Times p20 Jl 18 '43 650w

"Mr. Raper has written about Greene but, more important, he has written the small town and rural story of Big Government where it has meaning in the lives of the people. As such, Mr. Raper has in a sense made a new sort of book about the remote results of centralized government. . . It is an exciting story and one which needed to be told. Factually, Mr. Raper has done the job excellently. Pictorially also in the fine photographs by Jack Delano with which the book begins, the Greene County story is made clear. Somehow, however, while the book gives us all the facts, it remains a document rather than a drama." Jonathan Daniels
+ — Sat R of Lit 26:14 Je 26 '43 370w

Reviewed by John Maclachlan
Social Forces 22:234 D '43 320w

Reviewed by Lois MacDonald
Survey 79:252 S '43 500w

RATCLIFF, JOHN DRURY, ed. Science year book of 1943. 317p $2.50 Doubleday

505.8 Science—Yearbooks (42-8189)

Second annual volume of a yearbook which contains reprints of important popular articles on science. "Under the four main headings of the Year Book—medical research, aviation, natural history and agriculture—twenty-eight articles are reprinted. 'Collier's' leads with seven, five are from 'The Saturday Evening Post' and four from 'The Reader's Digest.' Two are extracts from books." (Weekly Book Review) For first volume see Book Review Digest, 1942.

Reviewed by L. E. Grinter
Book Week p7 Jl 25 '43 90w

Booklist 39:383 Je 1 '43

Bookmark 4:7 My '43

Cleveland Open Shelf p7 Ap '43

"Even the most casual reader must realize that 1942 was a momentous year in scientific history. Although much is shrouded in censorship, the periodical press, through the medium of its best writers, has kept the public informed concerning many of its important events. It is to Mr. Ratcliff's credit that he follows his first venture of last year with this second volume that represents 'the year's best scientific reporting and writing.'" A. H. Compton & others
+ Scientific Bk Club R 14:1 Ap '43 1150w

Reviewed by James Stokley
+ Weekly Book Review p21 Ap 11 '43 600w

RATHBONE, ALFRED DAY. He's in the paratroops now. 190p il $2.50 McBride

356.16 U.S.—Army—Parachute troops 43-3840

This book, illustrated with many photographs, tells how American paratroopers are chosen, how they are trained, what equipment they are given, what they may be expected to accomplish. Written in easy, informal style.

Booklist 39:348 My 1 '43

Cleveland Open Shelf p6 Ap '43

RATHBONE, A. D.—Continued

"Fascinating account. . . Like other books in series, this volume has attractive format, contains excellent photographs. Recommended for first purchase for high school libraries and young people's section of public libraries." E. P. Nichols

+ Library J 68:213 Mr 1 '43 50w

RAVEN, CHARLES EARLE. Science, religion, and the future; a course of eight lectures. 126p $2 Macmillan [7s 6d Cambridge]

215 Religion and science 43-10231

"Convinced that the divorce between science and religion has been largely responsible for the disaster which has overtaken Western civilisation, Dr. Raven sets out to bring the two together in his new book. . . Up to 1720, it looked as if science and religion would flourish together. An interesting chapter describes this 'childhood of science.' It is followed by a still more interesting chapter on the Darwinian controversy—'a Victorian storm in a tea-cup.' . . In the remaining chapters, Dr. Raven puts forward his constructive suggestions, which deserve thoughtful consideration from both scientific and religious angles." Spec

Booklist 40:87 N 15 '43

Reviewed by F. J. Van Antwerpen
Chem & Eng N 22:138 Ja 25 '44 250w

Christian Science Monitor p10 S 11 '43 350w

Reviewed by F. J. Moore
Churchman 157:14 O 1 '43 360w

"The author is Regius Professor of Divinity in the University of Cambridge. This gives the assurance of fine culture, tested scholarship, and trusted leadership in the Church of England. . . The characteristics of English churchmanship at its best are present throughout the volume. A literary quality, that is both unobtrusive and piquant, marks almost every page. Almost always he is fair to the opponent, but succinct criticism leaves no one in doubt as to his estimate of the works of theologians as Barth, Kirkegaard, Inge, Gore, Niebuhr; and of popularizers of science as Hogben and many of the modern historians. He can strike off the blistering phrase almost as happily as can Churchill. This is English scholarship that covets and improves by the give and take of criticism, which unfortunately, in this country, so often is taboo." I. G. Matthews

+ Crozer Q 21:65 Ja '44 1200w

"A book of the first importance in the present theological situation." R. N. Cross

+ Hibbert J 42:85 O '43 2150w

"Short but illuminating book." A. D. Ritchie

+ Manchester Guardian p3 My 21 '43 210w

"Dr. Raven is Master of Christ's College and Regius Professor of Divinity in the University of Cambridge. He studied genetics under Professor Bateson and is well qualified for the task to which he here sets himself. The latter half of his book is dynamically constructive."

+ Scientific Bk Club R 14:4 Ag '43 270w

"Dr. Raven is stimulating and often provocative. Many of his judgements will be challenged. It would be difficult to better his brilliant description of the Darwinian controversy in this country [England], but he probably exaggerates its historic importance. . . Then Dr. Raven is apt to underestimate some of his predecessors and contemporaries." H. G. Wood

+ — Spec 170:530 Je 4 '43 500w

Times [London] Lit Sup p246 My 22 '43 2200w

RAYLEIGH, ROBERT JOHN STRUTT, 4th baron. Life of Sir J. J. Thomson, O.M, sometime master of Trinity college, Cambridge. 299p il $6 Macmillan [18s Cambridge]

B or 92 Thomson, Sir Joseph John 43-2971

"Lord Rayleigh's biography of Sir J. J. Thomson provides a picture of the departed period which fell between the eighteenth century and our own. Thomson, like Tennyson or Salibury or Asquith, was one of the outstanding figures of that time, and he was in science what they were in literature and politics. . . In the middle 'nineties he had accumulated around him a group of young geniuses which included Rutherford, C. T. R. Wilson, Richardson, Langevin, Townsend, and other subsequently outstanding men. His greatest achievement was to manage such a group and provide it with directive conceptions. He discovered the electron with their aid in 1897, and founded much of electronic physics." Spec

Reviewed by J. G. Crowther
Manchester Guardian p3 Ja 6 '43 250w

"To do justice to such an eminence in science we need the literary skill of a Strachey in delineating character as well as a profound knowledge of physics. Lord Rayleigh is no Strachey. He writes clearly and, on Thomson's experimental investigations, authoritatively. Because he has drawn heavily on Thomson's correspondence and on the tales of Cavendish research students he manages to present a flesh-and-blood portrait. Apart from the evaluation of Thomson's scientific work, his biography suggests a plum-pudding stuffed with anecdotes and letters. . . Yet despite a manifest effort to reach the general public, the appraisal of Thomson as a scientist is not easy reading for those who are unfamiliar with the new era in physics." Waldemar Kaempffert

+ — N Y Times p41 O 31 '43 1100w

Reviewed by J. G. Crowther
Spec 170:36 Ja 8 '43 700w

"The life of 'J.J.' has been admirably done by Lord Rayleigh, himself a noted scientific worker and the son of a great discoverer."

+ Times [London] Lit Sup p30 Ja 16 '43 2300w

RAYMOND, LOUISE. Child's story of the nativity; il. by Marsha. [36p] $1.50 Random house

232.9 Jesus Christ—Birth 43-15818

Simply told story of the nativity, illustrated in color. For children four to eight.

"Told tenderly and with dignity, this Bible story will impress children of all ages. Beautifully illustrated."

+ Churchman 157:14 N 15 '43 20w

"There exists a Catholic as well as a Protestant edition of this book, which will please most parents and children. The illustrations are a little sentimental for my taste, but good of their kind."

Commonweal 39:122 N 19 '43 30w

"The pictures are many and sumptuous, in beautiful color with countless attractive details, but they are over-sentimental at times." A. M. Jordan

Horn Bk 19:326 S '43 50w

"Artist has departed somewhat from conventional characterization in making Mary very young and the shepherds children. Although a modern text is used, it is reverent and fitting. Petersham's The Christ Child remains the best book in the field, but this is a worthy addition to shelf of religious books for children." M. A. Herr

+ Library J 68:728 S 15 '43 80w

"A dignified book in simple unbiblical wording. The pictures are many and beautiful in color and attractive in detail." E. S. Littlefield

+ Library J 68:819 O 15 '43 30w

"In 'A Child's Story of the Nativity' Louise Raymond has retold the Bible story with simplicity and dignity, keeping close to the words of the original. Masha's illustrations in delicate colors gleam with soft touches of gold and are full of the details which children enjoy." A. T. Eaton

+ N Y Times p53 D 5 '43 80w

"The New Testament wording is not followed, but the retelling of the story is done with taste and simplicity to make a fitting vehicle for the beautifully drawn, delicately colored illustrations."

+ New Yorker 19:132 D 4 '43 50w

Reviewed by M. L. Becker

Weekly Book Review p6 D 19 '43 60w

RAYNER, ROBERT MACEY. Twenty years' truce, 1919-1939; with maps by J. M. Kupfer. 248p $3 (12s 6d) Longmans

940.51 Europe—History. World politics A43-3596

Straightforward narrative of events in the fields of European politics and international affairs between the two Great wars. Contents: Versailles; The rest of the settlement; New nations for old; Launching the League; Security and reparation; Growing-pains in the British Empire; Can Europe insure against war? A financial nemesis; The rise of National Socialism; Dictators—plain and coloured; The end of disarmament; The end of collective security; An acid-test for democracy; 'If you have tears. . . ' Books. Index.

"Some oversimplifications were almost unavoidable in such a brief volume. They appear, more than anywhere else, in the introduction dealing with the Great War 1914-18 and its causes. Here and in the following chapter on 'Versailles' the discussion of President Wilson's role is highly questionable, and the ironical comments on some of the Fourteen Points produce an almost shocking impression." Oskar Halecki

Ann Am Acad 231:166 Ja '44 400w

"Mr. Rayner's book is a good book to put into the hands of an inquiring schoolboy, but hardly more; its style is pedestrian, its choice of events obvious, its narrative accurate so far as it goes—but it does not go far. It is a summary of newspaper headlines, not contemporary history." A. J. P. Taylor

Manchester Guardian p3 S 3 '43 200w

"A habit of rather banal reflection will irritate the sophisticated, but this book is written for a much larger class, who will benefit by being reminded of what went on in Europe between 1919 and 1939; it is a public service to remind the man in the street that history did not begin in 1939 or, as some think, on June 22nd, 1941."

+ — Spec 171:248 S 10 '43 200w

Times [London] Lit Sup p366 Jl 31 '43 1000w

RAYNER, WILLIAM HORACE. Elementary surveying. 2d ed v 1 419p il $3 Van Nostrand

526.9 Surveying 43-13756

"A revision and expansion of the 1937 edition. The chapter on Land Surveying has been entirely rewritten to include the United States Public lands rectangular system. Other new material includes calculation of missing parts of a traverse, and of areas by the method of double meridian distances." (N Y New Tech Bks) Index.

Library J 68:961 N 15 '43 20w

N Y New Tech Bks 28:52 Jl '43

REA, MARGARET LUCILE PAINE. Blackout at rehearsal. 178p $2 Doubleday

43-14561

Detective story.

"This is a well-plotted crime puzzle with good characterization to back it up." Isaac Anderson

+ N Y Times p10 S 26 '43 100w

"A rather slim tale, but good."

New Yorker 19:96 S 18 '43 50w

REA, MARGARET LUCILE PAINE. Death of an angel. 266p $2 Doubleday

43-5896

Detective story.

Reviewed by Elizabeth Bullock

Book Week p10 Ap 11 '43 150w

Booklist 39:389 Je 1 '43

"Emotional and financial complications enough to bewilder the reader as well as the investigator. Suspense maintained up to the very last chapter." Isaac Anderson

N Y Times p12 Ap 4 '43 160w

"Agreeable."

+ Sat R of Lit 26:19 Mr 27 '43 40w

"Grade B." Will Cuppy

Weekly Book Review p18 Mr 21 '43 100w

READERS CLUB, NEW YORK. Three readers. 457p il $3 The club

808.8 Literature—Collections 43-11333

"An omnibus of novels, stories, essays and poems selected with comments by the editorial committee of the Readers Club." (Subtitle) "Actually, the book contains nothing but the unashamed preferences of the three presiding genii of the Readers Club—Clifton Fadiman, Sinclair Lewis and Carl Van Doren. Here you will find the prose and poetry that has stuck in their minds through all their long safaris in the literary jungle. Clifton Fadiman's section of the book roams from bat-hunting to Flaubert. . . Sinclair Lewis offers only two favorites: Ruth Suckow's well-known 'Country People,' and Eleanor Green's 'The Hill.' . . Carl Van Doren's selections, as might be expected, range through the whole rich field of Americana which he knows so intimately." (N Y Times)

" 'Arbitrary' and 'limited' are words always applicable to anthologies; but of this one must say that it contains something interesting for almost everybody."

Cath World 157:669 S '43 70w

"A confirmed anthology reader may be taken aback by this collection, for he will find no Hemingway here, no Faulkner, and not even a soupçon of Saroyan. To say that these selections are off the beaten track is putting it mildly. Perhaps that is another reason why most of them are so stimulating." William Du Bois

+ N Y Times p4 Jl 11 '43 550w

" 'The Three Readers' is about as near '190,000 words of literary delight' as we are apt to come upon these days; and if certain bits are not quite up to the high standard of the majority, be properly grateful for so much pleasure in one generous volume." E. M. B.

+ Springf'd Republican p7e Jl 18 '43 390w

RECHNITZER, FERDINAND EDSTED. War correspondent; the story of Quentin Reynolds. 214p il $2.50 Messner

B or 92 Reynolds, Quentin James 43-11471

Story of Quentin Reynolds' adventures as a war correspondent in France, England and Russia. For junior and senior high schools. Index.

Reviewed by Paul Bontemps

Book Week p11 N 28 '43 180w

Booklist 40:20 S '43

"Incidents told with such journalistic fervor that young readers who have not dipped into this type of war literature probably will be impelled to read more of similar nature. Author strips correspondent's life of most of romance and glory but shows it an active one, filled with stimulation, danger, heroism, and much discomfort." E. A. Groves

+ Library J 68:628 Ag '43 80w

RECK, FRANKLIN MERING. Radio from start to finish. 160p il $2 Crowell

621.384 Radio 43-51020

Account of the radio industry, from its beginning in 1895 to the present, with a brief glimpse into the future. Includes information on broadcasting, work of local stations, television, frequency modulation, radio in war. Junior and senior high schools. Index.

RECK, F. M.—Continued

"Refreshing and distinctive—a book written primarily for the layman to summarize the interesting developments in the history of radio and television and to present the story of radio today. In only 155 well-illustrated pages, Reck covers the fascinating story from Marconi, Maxwell and Hertz to frequency modulation and television." J. E. Hobson

+ Book Week p8 Ap 11 '43 150w

Booklist 39:257 F 15 '43

"Here is authoritative information about the business of broadcasting as carried on by the four great networks and about radio in war and aviation. The book is lavishly illustrated with authentic photographs." A. M. Jordan

+ Horn Bk 19:106 Mr '43 60w

"Written in clear, simple language, book is intended for the beginner. Recommended for high school students." E. P. Nichols

+ Library J 68:131 F 1 '43 70w

"The author has succeeded admirably in telling the whole story in clear, straightforward fashion. Not only the budding scientist, but other readers will enjoy this account, in nontechnical language, of the history of radio and the vital part it plays in modern life." A. T. Eaton

+ N Y Times p11 Ap 18 '43 250w

Springf'd Republican p7e Ap 18 '43 160w

Wis Lib Bul 39:51 Ap '43

RECKLESS, WALTER CADE. Etiology of delinquent and criminal behavior; a planning report for research. 169p pa $1.50 Social science research council

364 Crime and criminals

"The purpose of this monograph is to provide suggestions and better planning for future research in the etiology of delinquent and criminal behavior, particularly with a view to a more integrated research effort. As Professor E. W. Burgess points out in the Foreword, it is an attempt to co-ordinate the work of the representatives of various disciplines—such as anthropology, psychiatry, psychology, and sociology—who are engaged in the study of the causes of criminal behavior but who often remain unaware of what has been or is being done by others in the field." Am J Soc

"An always pertinent question is: For whose benefit, exactly, is the book written? Did Reckless have in mind the beginner or the graduate student? Or was he writing for a full-grown criminologist interested and possibly directing research? The needs of the first two are well taken care of, but the whole setting of the monograph implies that it is the last group to whom the writing is primarily addressed. And yet the monograph has surveyed too many specific topics in too small a space to reach the level of discussion on which the author would have the full opportunity to help the advance of vanguard criminological thought. As it stands now, the book is a collection of brief suggestions for the future and an encyclopedic survey of the researches done to date—well systematized, to be sure, but on the whole somewhat repetitious of the respective chapters of any good text on criminology, e.g., Reckless' own Criminal Behavior." P. P. Lejins

+ — Am J Soc 49:101 Jl '43 750w

Reviewed by J. P. Shalloo

Am Soc R 8:493 Ag '43 850w

RECORD, SAMUEL JAMES, and HESS, ROBERT WILLIAM. Timbers of the New World. 640p pl maps $10 Yale univ. press

634.98 Timbers. Trees A43-1037

"Veritably essential encyclopedia, covering trees and larger shrubs of entire Western hemisphere, exclusive of Pacific Islands. Special lists show use of substitute woods. Maps, photographs, and seventy-five photo-micrographs. Based entirely on material in Yale collection." (Library J) The volume is a successor to Timbers of Tropical America (Book Review Digest, 1925).

Booklist 39:383 Je 1 '43

Library J 68:130 F 1 '43 30w

N Y New Tech Bks 28:52 Jl '43

REDDICK, HARRY WILFRED. Differential equations. 245p $2.50 Wiley

517.38 Differential equations 43-2969

Textbook on ordinary differential equations, containing some 600 problems, and practical examples. Presupposes a knowledge of elementary calculus. Index.

Book Week p10 My 2 '43 10w

Library J 68:478 Je 1 '43 20w

N Y New Tech Bks 28:47 Jl '43

"The book furnishes over 600 painstakingly chosen problems and answers to all of them are given in a little section at the end. A student of the subject will make no mistake in adopting Reddick's book as his guide in acquiring some skill in the handling of simple differential equations." M. A. Rosanoff

+ N Y Times p28 Je 6 '43 600w

"A good knowledge of elementary calculus is a prerequisite, but those so equipped will find the book an excellent introduction to this important branch, with clarity of text." James Stokley

+ Weekly Book Review p17 Mr 14 '43 40w

REDDING, JOHN M., and LEYSHON, HAROLD I. Skyways to Berlin; with the American flyers in England; with foreword by Ira C. Eaker. 290p il $2.75 Bobbs

940.544 World war, 1939—Aerial operations. World war, 1939—Personal narratives, American 43-13874

Two former newspaper men spent several months in the Air Force headquarters press relations office in Washington and then took off for England in October, 1942. In England they were assigned as press-relations officers of the Eighth Air force, and while working there they wrote this story of the American air force in England.

Reviewed by W. F. Morse

Book Week p4 S 26 '43 250w

Booklist 40:91 N 15 '43

Cleveland Open Shelf p19 O '43

New Repub 109:497 O 11 '43 120w

"From time to time the authors tend to gild the lily. But when 'Skyways to Berlin' lets the men tell their own stories, without public relations syrup, it is a stirrring and heart-warming book." Philip Hamburger

+ — N Y Times p1 S 12 '43 1200w

"Newspaper men who can submerge their own personalities long enough to tell somebody else's story are rarities these days. Former newsmen Major Redding and Captain Leyshon hottest spots of Hitler's fortress. 'Skyways to But if it is not an 'I Was There' book, it certainly is a 'We Were There,' being a superb collection of anecdotes and air history." James Farber

+ Sat R of Lit 26:5 S 25 '43 700w

Springf'd Republican p6 S 27 '43 600w

"These are some samples of the adventures young Americans meet 'upstairs' over the hottest spots of Hitler's fortress. 'Skyways to Berlin' is good reading, whether it tells about the flak over Berlin or the monotonous canned meat in the mess halls, the softball games on London commons or the time Dixie Tighe, only woman reporter with the 8th Air Force, tumbled a leather-clad pilot into the cold North Sea by mistake." R. B. Cochrane

+ Weekly Book Review p22 O 24 '43 950w

REDMOND, JUANITA. I served on Bataan. 167p $1.75 Lippincott

940.547673 World war, 1939—Philippine islands. World war, 1939—Personal narratives, American 43-3958

Personal narrative of a young American nurse's experiences in Manila, on Bataan peninsula, and on Corregidor during the first few months of the war in the Pacific.

"Juanita Redmond has told her own story, simply and well, in 'I Served on Bataan' and that very simplicity makes this story all the more powerful and moving. I closed her book with a sense of shame that my share in this war, which every intelligent person must know by now is everybody's war, had been so small. . . I shall remember 'I Served on Bataan' and I shall feel a certain pride in being a woman when there are women in this world like Juanita Redmond." Flora Campbell

+ Book Week p2 Mr 14 '43 600w

Booklist 39:317 Ap 1 '43

Bookmark 4:5 My '43

Cleveland Open Shelf p5 Ap '43

Reviewed by E. H. Crowell
Library J 68:209 Mr 1 '43 50w

"A forthright and honest story, told as simply as Juanita Redmond herself might have told it among her fellow-nurses on Bataan. . . It is the simplicity of her telling that hurts—it hurts to remember that American and Filipino nurses endured what this girl lived through. . . Her book is important because it is the woman's story of Bataan and Corregidor. It is lived out in the interior of the jungle, in the tunnel, in bombed hospitals. It is life fighting death, and it is death itself." C. P. Romulo

+ N Y Times p6 Ap 11 '43 750w

"Her quiet, plain recital of the events she took part in is at times almost unbearably moving."

+ New Yorker 19:80 Mr 13 '43 50w

Reviewed by L. T. Mowrer
Sat R of Lit 26:20 Ap 3 '43 850w

"In this unassuming, straightforward account of nursing in an improvised jungle hospital and in tunneled wards below the solid rock roof of Corregidor, you see that Lieutenant Juanita Redmond had what it took. . . She tells the story in this little book, straight from the shoulder, with no false heroics. It is always interesting reading, and as little harrowing as an honest story could be. Its effect should be what doubtless would please the author most—to share with them her conviction that it is time for everybody to get on with the work." Mary Ross

+ Weekly Book Review p3 Mr 14 '43 1050w

Wis Lib Bul 39:85 Je '43

REDPATH, PETER H., and COBURN, JAMES M. Air transport navigation; for pilots and navigators; il. by Edward J. Schuett. 612p il maps $5 Pitman

629.1325 Navigation (aeronautics) 43-8832

"Through generous use of paragraph subheadings—some of them humorous—and a straightforward, occasionally irreverent prose, Mr. Redpath, chief navigator for TWA, and Mr. Coburn of Wright Field have produced a text that will not only thoroughly instruct the private and commercial flier on how to get across country but also make him a pretty fair authority on instrument construction. . . The field covered, however, is limited to the operations necessary to find one's way along the commercial air channels, with perhaps a few side jaunts off the regular radio beams." (N Y Times) Bibliography. Index.

Library J 68:576 Jl '43 30w

N Y New Tech Bks 28:38 Jl '43

Reviewed by Theodore English
N Y Times p20 Ag 15 '43 220w

"A thorough discussion of the special problems involved in flying transport and cargo planes along the airways. . . The method of telling the story is rather informal, and the pictures even more so, which may add to its interest for those who study its pages." James Stokley

+ Weekly Book Review p26 S 19 '43 130w

REED, DOUGLAS. Downfall; a play in three acts. 127p $2 Appleton-Century [5s Cape, J]

822 Hitler, Adolf—Drama [43-6103]

This play in three acts predicts the manner of Hitler's downfall, the way in which the German leaders may try to alleviate the worst aspects of their defeat. The play, Mr. Reed says, is intended "primarily to be read."

"As every child who can read a headline knows, there are factions, wishful thinkers, who would make a deal with German leaders on condition of Hitler's removal. Douglas Reed does not in as many words warn against this, but the inference is plain. Because this point emerges from the play, 'Downfall' is good, 'Downfall' is worth-while, 'Downfall' should be read by Americans who do not want to do it all over again in 1963." Leo Kenndey

+ Book Week p5 My 9 '43 600w

Library J 68:328 Ap 15 '43 60w

Reviewed by E. F. Allen
N Y Times p14 My 2 '43 280w

"The dialogue is lively, the scenes well planned, the character drawing convincing, as we should expect from a man who knows practically all the persons, Germany, and its people, at first hand. It has a curious inevitability which springs from the sense it gives of all the people concerned being in the grip of circumstances that dictate their every action and from which they cannot escape. Apart from its great political interest the play has merits which make the reader wish to see it on the stage."

+ Spec 170:16 Ja 1 '43 250w

Springf'd Republican p7e Jl 25 '43 60w

Times [London] Lit Sup p614 D 19 '42 600w

Reviewed by W. P. Eaton
Weekly Book Review p22 Jl 18 '43 180w

REED, PRENTISS BISHOP. Personal leadership for combat officers; objectives and methods for leaders of tactical elements, combat teams and fire units. (Whittlesey house publication) 116p $1.50 McGraw

355.331 Leadership 43-10842

"This handbook is designed to provide the combat leader with a clear statement of the basic objectives of his position as the head of a unit. Specifically, it explains that which the Army may expect of the commander of a unit and that which his men may expect of him as their leader." Introd.

Booklist 40:40 O 1 '43

"Lieutenant Reed Jr. of the Coast Artillery Corps presents an earnest, conscientious and well-thought-out little guide to leadership. . . If leadership can be learned 'by the book,' then this little volume should do the trick. It could be read with profit by those entrusted or rising to leadership in civilian pursuits." S. F. Williamson

+ N Y Times p20 Ag 22 '43 230w

Weekly Book Review p26 S 19 '43 200w

REED, STEPHEN WINSOR. Making of modern New Guinea; with special reference to culture contact in the mandated territory; issued in co-operation with the Int. secretariat, Inst. of Pacific relations. (Institute of Pacific relations. Int. research ser) 326p il $4 Am. philosophical soc; Inst. of Pacific relations

995 New Guinea (territory). Acculturation 43-7044

"This book attempts to describe the effect upon the neolithic natives of New Guinea of sixty years of German and later Australian control. It is based on a wide study of printed material, together with nine months' residence in the mandate in 1936-37. The book was issued in co-operation with the International Secretariat, Institute of Pacific Relations." Ann Am Acad

Reviewed by E. C. Hughes
Am J Soc 49:268 N '43 400w

REED, S. W.—Continued

"The author presents no particular thesis and passes few judgments upon men and institutions. The result is an objective and scholarly account of social change under conditions which are virtually unique. Under any circumstances, this volume would be an important addition to the literature of anthropology. It is particularly timely because of the probability that Americans for some years to come will have a peculiar interest in the problems and peoples of the Southwest Pacific." H. W. Bradley

+ Am Pol Sci R 37:742 Ag '43 300w

Reviewed by L. A. Mills
Ann Am Acad 229:202 S '43 380w

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert
Foreign Affairs 22:167 O '43 30w

Reviewed by C. M. Zierer
J Pol Econ 51:376 Ag '43 850w

"Although this book is the fullest account of the history of culture contact in mandated New Guinea which has yet been published, the reviewer does not feel that it is encyclopedic enough to be a work of reference, or that it provides a sufficiently systematic or illuminating account of the cultural systems involved to be, in any sense, a contribution to the theory of culture contact." Margaret Mead

Pacific Affairs 16:121 Mr '43 750w

Reviewed by J. L. Christian
Pol Sci Q 58:471 S '43 500w

REEDER, G. ALLEN. Letter writing in wartime; how and what to write about; foreword by John Kieran. 225p il $1.89 Books

808.6 Letter writing. Soldiers, Letters to 43-14055

"Here's a book on how to embrace by mail. Mr. Reeder writes with love in his heart and possibly his tongue in his cheek, telling wives and sweethearts of soldiers what to put in their letters and what to leave out, so that distance will not diminish affection. He also guides the fighting forces in the art of keeping the home fires burning. There are chapters on censorship regulations, V-mail and related topics, but love is the dominant theme." Weekly Book Review

Booklist 40:180 Ja 15 '44

"Mr. Reeder's chapters on censorship have been approved by the proper authorities. The censors do not vouch for the remainder of the book, but if its advice is followed to any wide degree it is probable that even their jaded eyes will be startled by a sudden rise in the temperature of love-making by mail—and perhaps even more by an amazing similarity in terms of endearment. In any case, the censors will approve the author's advice to keep letters short." Beatrice Sherman

N Y Times p14 Ag 29 '43 460w

Springf'd Republican p7e N 28 '43 60w

Weekly Book Review p12 S 19 '43 230w

REES, ROSEMARY FRANCES. Again we dream [Eng title: Mended citadel]. 288p $2 Arcadia [8s 6d Chapman]
44-1289

"For seven years Dale Iverson had lived alone in London and supported herself, haunted by memories of an unhappy childhood and an equally unhappy romance. Then three important things happened to her all at once: she inherited a house in a seacoast village, she learned that her son was still alive and the boy's father—bearing an assumed name and masquerading under another nationality—reappeared." Weekly Book Review

"Miss Rosemary Rees knows how to write a good story, and even if there is nothing very original about her situations in [this novel] they are all of them well handled and woven into a thoroughly readable tale."

+ Times [London] Lit Sup p153 Mr 27 '43 90w

Reviewed by Lisle Bell
Weekly Book Review p22 Ap 11 '43 90w

REESE, JOHN HENRY. Sheehan's mill. 272p $2.50 Doubleday
43-15774

A story of an Irish immigrant in Nebraska in the early 1900s. The wild, rugged man, a lover of horses, champion of the persecuted, given to too much drinking and too many fights, is shown as he appeared to his young son, Michael, who tells the story.

"Not another Farrell or Jim Tully, but a first novel with unexpected approach and fresh personal style. Author will bear watching." M. H. Zipprich

+ Library J 68:726 S 15 '43 70w

"There are a few uncertain spots in this book, but it is fundamentally sound as a study of a man's search for a domination he never recognizes, domination over himself." Mari Sandoz

+ N Y Times p16 O 17 '43 300w

"There is a great deal of skill in the way the novelist has unfolded the character of the hero through Michael's supposed evocation of youthful impressions. 'I will tell you about him a little at a time,' he says—and there could be no better method, bright beads of incident on a stout thread of affection. 'Sheehan's Mill' is an invigorating book." George Conrad

+ Weekly Book Review p12 O 3 '43 400w

REEVE, JAMES J. World of energy; or, Rethinking the Christian religion. 337p $3 Humphries

230 Christianity. Religion and science
43-1707

"A reconsideration of the total scheme of things, of the philosophy of religion and of the place of Christianity in the whole pattern, from an approach by way of a scientific view of the world and an unusually comprehensive concept of 'energy' which is the key to it all. The general curve of the author's thought may be suggested by the terms in which he describes some of its successive phases: 'a proof of all nature being but the infinite work of all the forces in the universe . . . a resumé of the complex of forces in which we live and an attempt to show that man and all his sentiments are but energies in relation . . . that all men's actions are the products of the urges or powers within . . . the doctrine of one God . . . the saving powers of human life which Jesus brought to the world.' " (Christian Century) List of authors consulted.

"It is a thoughtful, though unconventional, book which issues in an argument that Christianity is 'the only religion that can meet all human needs.' "

Christian Century 60:234 F 24 '43 180w

"His conclusions will be startling and shocking to some, but commonplace to others. Though he shows no striking originality of mind or expression, his writing may provoke thought in some readers. However, the cost of the book, which is not attractively printed, is far too high." Gordon Poteat

Crozer Q 20:173 Ap '43 170w

REEVES, FLOYD WESLEY. Education for today and tomorrow. 65p $1 Harvard univ. press [4s 6d Oxford]

370.1 Education A42-938

"This is the Inglis Lecture of 1942 delivered at Harvard University. For several years Dr. Reeves has been dealing with the problems of educating young people to meet their economic, vocational, social, and political responsibilities in a rapidly changing world. He offers recommendations as to the general character of this education for youth living in a 'world bewilderingly different.' " J Home Econ

Reviewed by A. L. Edwards
J Home Econ 35:240 Ap '43 80w

Reviewed by G. W. Donaldson
School & Society 56:133 Ag 15 '42 800w

REEVES, ROBERT. Cellini Smith: detective. 232p $2 Houghton
43-6455

Detective story.

"You'll find this absorbing though grubby reading." Elizabeth Bullock
+ Book Week p11 Ap 18 '43 200w

"Shabbily sordid backgrounds with characters to match; plenty of violence and an unconvincing plot." Isaac Anderson
— N Y Times p8 My 9 '43 120w

"Very good."
+ Sat R of Lit 26:25 Ap 24 '43 40w

"This is synthetic like all hard-boiled mysteries." Will Cuppy
Weekly Book Review p20 My 9 '43 100w

REID, HUGH B. Simplified methods in sheet metal layout. 175p $3 Goodheart-Willcox
671 Sheet metal work 43-2374

"Originating in the Wilbur Wright Vocational High School of Detroit as a series of practical lesson sheets, the present text should also be of use to the beginning shopworker." N Y New Tech Bks

Booklist 40:6 S '43
Library J 68:433 My 15 '43 10w
N Y New Tech Bks 28:17 Ja '43

REID, MARGARET GILPIN. Consumers and the market. 3d ed 617p il $3.85 Crofts
658.8 Marketing. Buying. Retail trade
42-22642

New edition of a college textbook first published in 1938 (Book Review Digest, 1938). "This third edition of Dr. Reid's study follows the pattern of its predecessors, but with considerable revision which incorporates recent market developments and research findings." (Am Econ R) Indexes.

"The essential merit of the book is in no way obscured by its few faults. It is a valuable source of information and a unique guidepost in the midst of the numerous and complex problems of the modern retail market. At present, scarcity, rationing, and restriction of credit have replaced the surpluses which lay behind many of the abuses described by Dr. Reid. For the moment our problems have changed. But the attitudes and market institutions which in the recent past transformed so much of our abundance into waste and 'illth' have not died. When happier days return and college courses in marketing and salesmanship begin to swell once more, Dr. Reid's book will contribute to the strength of the 'corrective forces' which will be required to keep 'the Economic machine in proper balance.'" C. W. Efroymson
+ — Am Econ R 33:451 Je '43 1050w

Reviewed by Day Monroe
J Home Econ 35:519 O '43 220w

Reviewed by Hazel Kyrk
J Pol Econ 51:363 Ag '43 550w

REID, MARGARET GILPIN. Food for people. 653p maps $4 Wiley
338.1 Food. Food supply—U.S. 43-3867

"This book is concerned with food, families, and economy as a whole. The social objective visualized is an abundant food supply for all. . . The book is divided into three main parts. In the first part production is examined. The expansion of commercial production is discussed with special reference to changes in method and their bearing on nutrition and social control. Considerable space is given to food production carried on by families for their own use. In the second part food consumption is discussed, attention being directed mainly to its status and to the factors affecting it, including price, income, and education. Status of nutritional health is examined. In the third section current problems bearing on food are considered, for example, taxes on food, the ever-normal granary, soil conservation, the food stamp plan, advertising, sanitation, grading, restraints of trade. Finally, controls to meet wartime food problems are discussed." (Pref) Indexes.

"All told, this book is an authoritative contribution to a growing body of literature on food trends as related to national nutritional adequacy." Marietta Eichelberger
+ Am J Pub Health 33:1362 N '43 400w

"The final chapter contains an excellent summary for our thinking in fundamental nutrition. The book is well documented, and, as the author suggests in the Preface, the book should be of value to nutritionists who feel the need of visualizing more precisely the status of food habits and factors influencing them and the various programs designed to bring about improvement in dietary habits." C. A. Elvehjem
+ Ann Am Acad 229:226 S '43 470w

Booklist 39:348 My 1 '43

"The book is well annotated with references to original source material and has both an author and subject index. Although it is not always easy reading because of its many statistics, it should be a valuable reference book for research workers, teachers, nutritionists, and others interested in the principles underlying an 'abundant food supply for all.'" Faith Clark
+ — J Home Econ 35:436 S '43 300w

"Those who have a special interest in or knowledge of a particular matter may wish for a more extended discussion or a somewhat greater emphasis on points deemed of special importance, but, on the other hand, they will generally be pleased that so intelligent and informed a treatment in conjunction with related material will come to the attention of those otherwise uninformed. There is a question, however, whether Miss Reid has used her space wisely. Should a hundred pages have been given to family-furnished food and no attempt made to describe the types of farms, farming, and farmers providing food for the market?. . . The reduction of marketing costs, a subject much more complex, is discussed in only one-fourth the space given to this topic. Those parts of the picture that Miss Reid neglects to fill in are those, however, that can be most easily supplied from other sources. Still one would like to see this book more complete and better proportioned." Hazel Kyrk
J Pol Econ 51:364 Ag '43 700w

REISNER, MARY. Shadows on the wall. 258p $2 Dodd
43-12152

Mystery story.

Reviewed by Elizabeth Bullock
Book Week p6 Ag 29 '43 230w

Reviewed by Isaac Anderson
N Y Times p8 Ag 22 '43 100w

"Grade A."
+ Sat R of Lit 26:22 Ag 28 '43 40w
Time 42:103 S 13 '43 70w

"Fans will do well to grab this surprise package by a highly promising newcomer to the mystery counter. Indeed, Miss Reisner deserves much more than faint praise, since she writes civilized English instead of slush, handles character as few of her more experienced rivals can and generally makes up to the carriage trade." Will Cuppy
+ Weekly Book Review p18 Ag 22 '43 400w

REMBRANDT HERMANSZOON VAN RIJN. Selected paintings; 112 pl. in photogravure and in colour, with an introd. and notes by Tancred Borenius. (Phaidon press art bk) 36p $4.50 Oxford [20s Allen, G]
759.9492 Paintings, Dutch 43-51185

Reproductions of some of Rembrandt's most famous paintings, with an introduction showing the artist's relation to the Italian masters Tintoretto and Caravaggio. Includes English translations of the three oldest biographical sketches of Rembrandt, by a Dutchman, an Italian and a German.

REMBRANDT—Continued

Booklist 39:429 Je 1 '43

"Phaidon publications are welcome to anyone who loves fine art. They are plentifully illustrated, and free of the drawbacks of 'de luxe' that make art books prohibitive to many. This latest title, 'Rembrandt Paintings,' contains a valuable essay by Prof. Tancred Borenius, presenting the old master anew. . . The book is profusely illustrated with superb reproductions." D. A.

+ Christian Science Monitor p11 Jl 10 '43 550w

"Rembrandt contains a hundred and five reproductions (eight in colour) of a quality which, if it cannot do full justice to the rich, glowing depths of the originals, has probably not been equalled at the price outside Vienna." D. S.

+ Manchester Guardian p3 Ag 6 '43 100w

"The introduction which Prof. Borenius contributes to this admirable selection of black and white photographs—of the coloured reproductions I prefer to say nothing—is of considerable importance." Clive Bell

+ New Statesman & Nation 26:125 Ag 21 '43 650w

"The reproductions, though well chosen and certainly plentiful, leave a little to be desired in quality."

New Yorker 19:76 My 22 '43 70w

Times [London] Lit Sup p357 Jl 24 '43 300w

"An altogether excellent book." Royal Cortissoz

+ Weekly Book Review p6 Jl 11 '43 1000w

REMICK, ARTHUR EDWARD. Electronic interpretations of organic chemistry. 474p $4.50 Wiley

541.2 Electronics. Chemistry, Organic 43-14943

"Equally adaptable as textbook or as working guide to procedure in using the electron theory as the solution of laboratory problems in pure or applied chemistry." (Library J) Index.

Reviewed by L. A. Eales

Library J 68:771 O 1 '43 30w

N Y New Tech Bks 28:41 Jl '43

REMMERS, HERMANN HENRY, and GAGE, NATHANIEL LEES. Educational measurement and evaluation. 580p $3.25 Harper

371.26 Educational measurements 43-7940

"This book makes no pretense of being a handbook for guidance. It is rather concerned with providing the methods and techniques for obtaining the facts and evaluative data necessary for valid guidance." (Foreword) Indexes.

Cleveland Open Shelf p15 Ag '43

School & Society 57:644 My 29 '43 30w

"The book is well suited to be used as a textbook in an introductory course in evaluation in which statistical considerations are to be given a minimum of attention, major emphasis is to be placed on the construction of achievement examinations, and some orientation is desired in the fields of aptitude, personality, and interest testing." W. W. Cook

+ School R 41:629 D '43 2400w

RENICK, MRS MARION. Champion caddy; with il. by John Fulton. 131p $1.50 Scribner 43-3197

Sport story for boys of nine to eleven. Don Harris learned to caddy in order to help his widowed mother with her expenses. His father had been a golfer, and the game came to mean a great deal to the boy, so that he became a first class player as well as caddy. The book contains considerable information about the game.

"This is more than a good sports story—it is a new kind of vocational book. There are plenty of career books written for older girls and boys, books which deal with lifetime jobs. But here is a story for the boy who would like to earn a few dollars in his spare time without waiting till he is grown up and ready for that big job. . . A fine book for boys approaching caddy age—a lot of girls will like it, too." P. A. Whitney

+ Book Week p9 My 9 '43 200w

"Good character studies. Limited in appeal, however, because younger boys will have only mild interest in golf." R. W. Stewart

+ — Library J 68:366 My 1 '43 80w

Reviewed by M. L. Becker

Weekly Book Review p9 Ap 25 '43 450w

Wis Lib Bul 39:111 Jl '43

RENNER, GEORGE THOMAS. Human geography in the air age. (Air-age educ. ser) 238p il maps 64c Macmillan

910 Aeronautics, Commercial. Geography 42-21930

This textbook for high school students shows how air travel and military aviation have changed our ideas about world geography, particularly in economic and political aspects. Glossary. Index.

Reviewed by Howard Cummings

Social Educ 7:139 Mr '43 130w

"Dr. Renner's book should be read by young and old to give them the authentic picture of our world." James Stokley

+ Weekly Book Review p20 F 21 '43 250w

REPPY, NELL. Little builders' A B C. [56p] il spir $1 Simon & Schuster 43-15784

An alphabet book in which pictures and short verse describes the making of each letter. In an envelope at the back of the book are red cardboard sheets with all the pieces needed to form the letters of the alphabet ready to be punched out.

Reviewed by P. A. Whitney

Book Week p12 N 14 '43 50w

Reviewed by L. M. Palmer

N Y Times p18 N 14 '43 40w

"A new kind of alphabet book which intrigues the children and provides a welcome change for parents weary of the usual type which invariably starts out with 'A is for apple so round and so red.' " W. H. H.

+ Springf'd Republican p7e O 24 '43 110w

RETINGER, JOSEPH HIERONIM. Conrad and his contemporaries; souvenirs. 183p il $2.50 Roy pubs. [5s Minerva pub. co]

B or 92 Conrad, Joseph 43-4018

"Casual, pleasant sidelights on the character of the great Anglo-Polish novelist, by a fellow-Pole who knew him well in the period just before the first World War." New Yorker

"Retinger is that most aggravating of witnesses—the man who insists on explaining when you want him to describe. This unfortunate trait robs 'Conrad and his Contemporaries' of a great part of the value it should have had. If Retinger had been just a little less the sober, rather stodgy Polish gentleman . . . he might have given us a swell book. . . All this is too bad but not altogether useless. If the picture of Conrad is rather blurred, it is amusing to watch Retinger, with a kind of mystical carelessness, develop a pretty solid picture of himself as a kind of mute, inglorious Boswell. . . Feliks Topolski's admirable pen-and-ink sketches add considerably to the attractiveness of the volume." Fred Brandeis

+ — Book Week p7 Mr 28 '43 550w

Booklist 39:332 Ap 15 '43

"Nothing in these gossipy souvenirs that adds to Conrad's stature. As a matter of fact, title might well have been 'Retinger and His Contemporaries.' There may be incidents recorded, relating to Conrad, that are not to be found in the books by Richard Curle, Megroz, Ford Madox Ford, Jessie Conrad, Cunninghame Graham, and many others, but the incidents are not significant." K. T. Willis

— Library J 68:171 F 15 '43 70w

"It is a real contribution to the understanding of Conrad as a man and writer."
+ Nation 156:499 Ap 3 '43 60w

"To our final understanding of Conrad, Mr. Retinger has an important contribution to make. He knew Conrad well. He is a Pole, whose experiences have, in important respects, paralleled Conrad's own. He is much less puzzled than many commentators have been as to why Conrad left Poland, and just what it was in England's glamour that drew him to her. He knew Conrad's French milieu also, and he builds it up with references to many distinguished contemporaries. . . Mr. Retinger knows that there are inconsistencies between his book and the reports of other friends of Conrad's, and he reminds us that Conrad himself was inconsistent. This is true, but there are times when Mr. Retinger himself seems to take him too literally. But where I really quarrel with Mr. Retinger is at the point where he tries to make us believe that Conrad was interested only in technique, for that is, in effect, to deny him a place among great writers altogether." Edward Wagenknecht
+ — N Y Times p30 Ap 4 '43 1150w

New Yorker 19:67 F 27 '43 30w

Reviewed by Edna Lerner
Sat R of Lit 26:8 My 8 '43 500w

Reviewed by R. J. Conklin
Springf'd Republican p8 Ap 14 '43 900w

Time 41:80 Mr 8 '43 1000w

Reviewed by G. F. Whicher
Weekly Book Review p5 Je 20 '43 700w

REWALD, JOHN. Georges Seurat [tr. by Lionel Abel]. 125p il pl $6 Wittenborn & co, 38 E. 57th st, N.Y. 22

B or 92 Seurat, George Pierre 43-14405

"This book presents the chief facts that are known about the career of this short-lived but tremendously important nineteenth-century French painter. Ninety-seven halftone illustrations." New Yorker

"The objectivity, coolness, and carefulness of research in Mr. Rewald's monograph show how facts about art should be presented. I think it unfortunate, however, that he limited his intention so strictly. 'This study,' he writes, 'is limited to an account of Seurat's life, of the process by which his ideals—and paralleling them, his works—developed, and of the reception accorded them. . . . It is for others to study Seurat's place in the history of art or to analyze his paintings.' This disclaimer does not excuse a certain sketchiness, even as to the facts." Clement Greenberg
+ — Nation 157:764 D 25 '43 1050w

New Yorker 19:114 N 13 '43 30w

REY, HANS AUGUSTO (UNCLE GUS, pseud). Tommy helps, too. unp il $1 Houghton

In pictures and brief text the book shows the various things a small boy can do to help win the war. On the page opposite the text there is a picture of some form of army or navy activity; a flap is pulled out and a tank, blimp, or jeep comes into view. For ages five to six.

"There is no fighting in this, and it has a realistic connection with the child's own world." P. A. Whitney
+ Book Week p8 Je 20 '43 130w

Reviewed by A. T. Eaton
N Y Times p10 Jl 18 '43 440w

Reviewed by M. L. Becker
Weekly Book Review p8 Je 6 '43 120w

REY, HANS AUGUSTO (UNCLE GUS, pseud). Where's my baby? il. by the author. [24p] pa $1 Houghton
43-17320

Picture book for the very young. Each page has a picture of an animal mother who has misplaced her offspring. When the flap is turned back the baby appears. A four line verse accompanies each picture.

Reviewed by Lena Barksdale
Nation 157:591 N 20 '43 20w

"Highly amusing pictures and text." L. M. Palmer
+ N Y Times p18 N 14 '43 10w

REYNOLDS, ERNEST EDWIN. Baden-Powell; a biography of Lord Baden-Powell of Gilwell. 283p $2.75 (12s 6d) Oxford

B or 92 Baden-Powell of Gilwell, Robert Stephenson Smyth Baden-Powell, 1st baron
43-4133

This "official" biography of Lord Baden-Powell is in two parts—the first dealing with his early life and army career (to 1910); the second with his work as founder and leader of the boy-scout movement (from 1907 to 1941). Index.

Reviewed by A. M. Jordan
Horn Bk 19:176 My '43 100w

Library J 68:249 Mr 15 '43 20w

"Besides presenting a readable and interesting biography, Mr. Reynolds contributes a great deal toward an understanding of that intangible quality which Dr. Fretwell calls the genius of Scouting; that quality which will make a boy travel miles to find some one to give him an examination so that he can achieve a Merit Badge, a phenomenon that does not occur in any of our formal systems of education." Irving Crump
+ N Y Times p14 Je 20 '43 500w

Sat R of Lit 26:30 My 15 '43 30w

Reviewed by L. K. Hall
Springf'd Republican p6 S 4 '43 550w

Times [London] Lit Sup p10 Ja 2 '43 1200w

"Definitely a work of reference, this will certainly remain the standard biography of one who 'founded well and truly and his work lives after him.' . . There is an excellent index, which will be consulted for years to come; this is a source book for more than the life of a youth hero."
+ Weekly Book Review p14 Jl 18 '43 550w

REYNOLDS, QUENTIN JAMES. Dress rehearsal; the story of Dieppe. 278p $2 Random house

940.542 Dieppe raid, 1942. World war, 1939— Personal narratives, American 43-51059

An eye-witness account of the raid on Dieppe, written by an American correspondent, who went with the commandos on a British battleship. It is a combination of personal anecdotes, most of them amusing, and straight narrative of this dress rehearsal for the invasion of a continent.

Booklist 39:289 Mr 15 '43

"The book is full of easy, exciting reading, intended for these days, rather than for posterity. It neither needs nor deserves extended apologies."
+ Christian Science Monitor p12 Ap 24 '43 230w

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert
Foreign Affairs 21:8 Jl '43 20w

"Suitable for all general libraries." H. G. Kelley
+ Library J 68:127 F 1 '43 70w

Reviewed by Marcus Duffield
Nation 156:351 Mr 6 '43 440w

"Quentin Reynolds writes, as always, emotionally, but this story is best told emotionally. He presents it in the glorious dress of breaking day, in the tenseness and suspense of the waiting hours before attack, when the ships moved through the minefields under the stars." Meyer Berger
+ N Y Times p3 Mr 14 '43 850w

"Mr. Reynolds makes no claim to being a historian, a political analyst, or a military expert. But he is a top-flight human-interest reporter." Clifton Fadiman
+ New Yorker 19:66 Mr 6 '43 160w

REYNOLDS, Q. J.—Continued

"A cocktail of fun and tragedy, as all other books of Mr. Reynolds, this is as thrilling and breathtaking as any adventure or detective story, colorful, lively, and packed with interest. Mr. Reynolds did not succeed in landing at Dieppe but he succeeded in giving us a brilliant piece of reporting, a vivid picture of commando fighting, and many heartening anecdotes one is not likely to forget." H. B. Kranz

+ Sat R of Lit 26:7 F 27 '43 430w

" 'Dress Rehearsal' is vivid, and it is fun." John Hersey

+ Weekly Book Review p4 Mr 7 '43 550w

REYNOLDS, THOMAS HARRISON, ed. Progress of Pan Americanism. 420p $3 Am. council on public affairs

980 American republics. U.S.—Relations (general) with Latin America. Latin America—Relations (general) with the U.S.
43-17022

"This is a compilation of articles by various authors in publications largely in South American countries, bearing on the subject of pan-Americanism. . . Part I of the book is devoted to Latin-American questions, while part II deals with pan-Americanism and the world conflict. A good deal of space is devoted to Mexican and Canadian questions. Part III, covering economic aspects of pan-Americanism, embraces the long discussions regarding the oil companies in Mexico, the necessity for trade union with Britain and other thoughts on economic and military cooperation between American nations." Current Hist

"Unfortunately, there is neither a table of contents nor an index. The organization of the book into parts, chapters, and sections of chapters is not as systematic as it might be. One item appears at two different places (pp. 188 and 233). More information about a number of the sources would have been helpful. Despite these inadequacies, students of inter-American relations will find the volume useful and much of the material interesting." W. H. Smith

+ — Am Pol Sci R 37:1136 D '43 220w

"After much laborious scrutiny of this 400-page volume—which contains neither index, nor table of contents, nor even a list of headings—the persevering reader will discover a good many documents of interest and some of real value. . . . Why the book was put out with so little consideration for the reader will, however, still remain a mystery."

+ — Cath World 158:509 F '44 70w

Current Hist 5:80 S '43 160w

"For those interested in the Good Neighbor Policy 'The Progress of Pan-Americanism' is an invaluable thesaurus of the viewpoints and opinions of leading statesmen, scientists, educators, journalists and economists on problems that touch intercontinental understanding." E. L. Tinker

+ N Y Times p22 N 7 '43 460w

RHODE, JOHN, pseud. See Street, C. J. C.

RHODES, ANTHONY. Sword of bone. 278p $2.50 Harcourt [8s 6d Faber]

940.548142 World war, 1939—Personal narratives, English
44-277

Account of the author's experiences as an Engineer stores officer in the B.E.F. in Brittany and around Lille, from about the beginning of the war to Dunkirk.

Atlantic 172:131 N '43 120w

"Not often do you stumble upon the work of a newcomer that is sheer delight from the first to the last page. The Fates surely must have liked little Anthony as they stood beside his cradle somewhere in Albion; they showered him with all those coveted gifts which make a good writer: a discerning eye, the ability to tell a story without effort, and, most precious of all, an abundance of humor." Gustave Bernard

+ Book Week p9 O 3 '43 500w

Christian Century 60:1168 O 13 '43 160w

"The description of Dunkirk is about the best we have read. It is a magnificent account. It stands up magnificently because it is now in 1943 that we read it. It stands up because there is time before it—the time of Rhodes's (occasionally vulgar) memories of the uncertain months of waiting which led to it—and time after it—the time that we know and to which it stood as a gateway."

Commonweal 38:588 O 1 '43 650w

"This familiar story is so well told that public library readers will find much excitement, humor, and personal philosophy in it. Recommended." Rice Estes

+ Library J 68:724 S 15 '43 70w

"This kaleidoscopic record of men and places, of the 'Maginot mentality' of static warfare and waiting for 'Messieurs les assassins' to commence, as seen through the eyes of a young R.E. officer of the intelligentsia type, has historical as well as social value." G. P.

+ Manchester Guardian p3 D 16 '42 150w

"No world-shaking revelations are in this book; from a news point of view it is an old story. Yet it is a wholly fresh story because it is the mental history of a man who loathed war, who loved life in a highly civilized way, and who still was a good soldier and kept his head in the midst of unimaginable terror. People say England always wins the last battle; men like Captain Rhodes are the reason why. People might add that it is a pleasure to live in the world with England after the last battle is over. Again, men like Captain Rhodes are the reason why. Certainly this soldier-author is a pleasure to read." Marcus Duffield

+ Nation 157:385 O 2 '43 300w

New Repub 109:498 O 11 '43 90w

"Mr. Rhodes's [book] is best judged as autobiography, and his invention is his weakest quality. . . As an engineer officer he has a lot to tell about the belated continuation of the Maginot Line along the Belgian frontier; he has a lot to tell, too, about the genuine efficiency of the Maginot Line proper. In this and in many other things he is an intelligent and expert reporter. As a humorous philosopher he is less successful. Sometimes his comments are funny, but more often whimsical or facetious."

+ — New Statesman & Nation 25:45 Ja 16 '43 160w

"Reading these chapters on the 'phony' war, one hangs in space. The book has a vague timelessness, like a half-remembered dream. Its world is the world of Mottram's 'The Spanish Farm'—even the locale is unchanged. The whole character of 'Sword of Bone' is that of a left-over episode from 1918, waiting in the wings for twenty-odd years to play its part and then leave the stage forever." Catherine Maher

N Y Times p31 O 17 '43 1200w

" 'Sword of Bone,' a memoir by a young British Engineer Stores officer who participated in the so-called 'phony' war, is not literature, but it is not reporting either. It possesses certain qualities of imagination and wit that establish the author as a genuine personality rather than as a mere seeing eye. His maturity of mind offers a refreshing contrast to the Private Hargrove type of best-seller, which gives one the uneasy feeling that our Army is made up entirely of jolly and attractive children." Clifton Fadiman

+ New Yorker 19:94 O 9 '43 600w

"Mr. Rhodes is somebody whose reactions we can understand and share, a civilised man who in arms has lost neither entity nor sense of values. Quite evidently, he isn't the type that finds oblivion and release in war. . . The publishers claim for Mr. Rhodes powers 'which show promise of rivalling Evelyn Waugh.' But there is nothing in him of Mr. Waugh's splenetic frenzy. Rather would I say that he is naturally equipped with that elegantly humorous outlook which your fashionable amateur explorer so doggedly strove to affect in the recent days of peace." Simon Harcourt-Smith

+ Spec 169:536 D 4 '42 600w

" 'Sword of Bone' is excellently written. It has character, and the author, although quite obviously an individualist, is also a young man widely tolerant and cognizant of the other man's point of view. . . His description of the beaches of Dunkirk is admirable and should become a page of history. Either deliberately or by nature Mr. Rhodes finds no place in his narrative for tenderness and no exercise for pathos, for he is no Peter Pan and is fully grown even beyond his years, intellectually and emotionally."

+ Times [London] Lit Sup p2 Ja 2 '43 480w

"This record of the first months of the war, as told by a young English lieutenant serving the British Army in France, contains no factual surprises. Whatever is noteworthy in the book springs from the personality of the author and from his own attitude toward the experiences which he describes." Virgilia Sapieha
+ Weekly Book Review p4 O 10 '43 900w

RICE, CALE YOUNG. A new approach to philosophy. 169p $2 Cumberland univ. press, Lebanon, Tenn.
100 Philosophy 43-8738

"The author of this posthumous book, a sometime student of James, Royce, and Santayana, defends a form of (rather speculative) naturalism which he calls 'quadric realism'. Reality comprises four metaphysical ultimates: space, time, matter, mind. These interpenetrate, such that given a portion of any one of them, you have some of the other three; 'the universe is a space-time-mind-matter "Continuum"'. With this basic notion as a kind of cure-all, the ills arising from extremism in its usual forms are treated and resolved." J Philos

Christian Century 60:800 Jl 7 '43 100w

"The interpretations of science, especially recent developments are the most questionable parts of the book, but on the whole it remains a worthwhile 'new approach to philosophy.'" V. C. A.
+ — J Philos 40:476 Ag 19 '43 210w

RICE, CRAIG (MRS LAWRENCE LIPTON) (DAPHNE SANDERS, MICHAEL VENNING, pseuds). Having wonderful crime. 314p $2 Simon & Schuster
43-5778

Detective story.

Reviewed by Elizabeth Bullock
Book Week p11 Ap 18 '43 180w
Booklist 39:427 Je 15 '43

"As wacky a yarn as you'll find in a month of Sundays—alcoholic, ribald and so funny that the mystery is of minor importance." Isaac Anderson
+ N Y Times p12 Ap 18 '43 180w

"Miss Rice at her best, writing about her three favorite characters against a delirious New York background."
+ New Yorker 19:76 My 1 '43 70w

"Capital."
+ Sat R of Lit 26:54 Ap 17 '43 40w

"A fast-paced introduction of the hard-boiled, hard-drinking sort." M. L.
Springf'd Republican p7e My 2 '43 110w

"This struck us as one of the best of the Jake Justus stories, maybe because Miss Rice has gone to more pains with the puzzle, which makes excellent sense in the midst of her comedy effects. Detection by the Chicago trio is first-rate." Will Cuppy
+ Weekly Book Review p20 Ap 18 '43 340w

RICE, CRAIG (MRS LAWRENCE LIPTON) (DAPHNE SANDERS, MICHAEL VENNING, pseuds). Murder through the looking glass. 257p $2 Coward-McCann
43-2710

Detective story.

Booklist 39:334 Ap 15 '43

"Best of the week."
+ Boston Globe p19 F 10 '43 30w

"The action of the story is frequently interrupted by mental soliloquies by the various characters, and these may at times appear to be utterly irrelevant and a bit boring. They are not irrelevant, however, for they fit neatly into the final solution of this extremely intricate puzzle. Keep your eye on Michael Venning. He has something on the ball." Isaac Anderson
+ N Y Times p19 F 7 '43 240w

"Interesting venture in field of split personality. Writing is high-tensioned, detecting unobtrusive—and whole thing slightly unconvincing. Puzzling."
Sat R of Lit 26:19 F 13 '43 40w

"Although the author regards his hero as a supremely likable and altogether admirable young man at least some of his readers will put him down as an unlicked cub with several unprepossessing traits. Moreover, the trick of holding up the story to supply a flash-back of each new character's earlier memories does not help the suspense. Despite these drawbacks the plot is both unusual and original, and the ending is quite unexpected. The final impression therefore is favorable." R. J. C.
+ — Springf'd Republican p7e Ja 31 '43 140w

Reviewed by Will Cuppy
Weekly Book Review p18 F 14 '43 130w

RICE, CRAIG (MRS LAWRENCE LIPTON) (DAPHNE SANDERS, MICHAEL VENNING, pseuds). The Thursday turkey murders. 313p $2 Simon & Schuster
43-17232

Detective story.

Reviewed by Elizabeth Bullock
Book Week p8 N 28 '43 200w
Booklist 40:166 Ja 1 '44

Reviewed by Isaac Anderson
N Y Times p18 D 12 '43 120w

"Golden hoard cached by dead bank robber at bottom of plot that is wild-eyed, frequently funny, and regrettably confusing. Dizzy."
Sat R of Lit 26:20 N 27 '43 40w

"Just about the cream of the fall crop of whodunits." M. H. B.
+ Springf'd Republican p7e N 21 '43 170w

"No deductive masterpiece but well stocked with action, odd characters and merriment."
+ — Time 42:104 D 6 '43 50w

"This Bingo-Handsome tale should more than satisfy any reasonable customer, whether his search is for comedy of the better sort, tightly contrived puzzlement, hidden treasure or general light entertainment. It's another natural by the sapient and versatile Miss Rice. There are no spies in sight. Hooray again." Will Cuppy
+ Weekly Book Review p32 N 21 '43 350w

RICE, CRAIG (MRS LAWRENCE LIPTON) (DAPHNE SANDERS, MICHAEL VENNING, pseuds). To catch a thief. 288p $2 Dial press
43-7382

Detective story.

"An unbelievable, enjoyable yarn." Elizabeth Bullock
+ Book Week p11 My 2 '43 180w

"A wildly improbable yarn not too skillfully told." Isaac Anderson
— N Y Times p8 My 9 '43 100

"Bosh!"
— Sat R of Lit 26:35 My 15 '43 40w

RICE, JENNINGS. Windmill circle. 293p $2.50 Harper
43-7553

Novel of life in a typical American small town. The mysterious Dr Angus, a newcomer to Guilford, observes the old families of the town, their feuds and rivalries, and is amused.

RICE, JENNINGS—Continued
But when the feuds end in murder, and when the lake mysteriously drains away, the Drews, the Webbs, and the Adamses are no longer amused.

"It is nicely and objectively done, with sympathy and unobtrusive humor. The book is peopled with characters rather than types, who charm with their follies and disarm with their genuineness." Leo Kennedy

+ Book Week p6 Je 27 '43 340w

Booklist 39:465 Jl 15 '43

"The lake mystery and a minor mystery concerning antique furniture are both solved at one stunning stroke. There is a welcome murder, a sort of by-product of the lake mystery, and there is a touch of boy-and-girl romance, refreshingly different, which has nothing to do with the main events. Altogether it is a full story, delightfully told." Charlotte Dean

+ N Y Times p12 My 23 '43 600w

"Mr. Rice draws his characters vividly, and moves them about with the precision of a master. Ladies bent upon establishing social prestige are not an edifying spectacle, especially when seen under a searchlight as powerful as Mr. Rice's. He is a pitiless satirist and one shivers a trifle upon reaching the end of his story, though many chuckles are provided in the telling." Marion Surges-Jones

+ Weekly Book Review p6 Je 13 '43 550w

Wis Lib Bul 39:110 Jl '43

RICE, MERTON STACHER. My Father's world. 103p il $1.75 Abingdon-Cokesbury

215 Nature. God 43-16168

Collection of short sermons based on different aspects of nature—the rocks, trees, skies and seas, birds, fish, bees, clouds, etc. Illustrated with photographs.

Christian Century 60:1169 O 13 '43 50w

"Not over sentimentalized and should be a source of refreshment to many readers. Light weight, easy to hold, would be a good book to send out to shut-ins or to add to a hospital collection."

+ Wis Lib Bul 39:141 N '43

RICE, WILLIAM; OWENS, ALBERT ALEXANDER, and SLINGLUFF, BEN F. Fundamentals of electric welding. 138p il $2 Winston

671 Electric welding 43-2837

"In Part I of this concise manual for the student who wishes to become a welder, a review of essential knowledge will be found. Part II offers thirty-one lessons illustrating the points covered in the earlier chapters." (N Y New Tech Bks) Index.

Book Week p10 My 9 '43 40w

Library J 68:626 Ag '43 40w

N Y New Tech Bks 28:18 Ja '43

Reviewed by J. M. Juran
N Y Times p20 Ag 15 '43 80w

Reviewed by James Stokley
Weekly Book Review p18 Jl 25 '43 120w

RICHARDS, IVOR ARMSTRONG. Basic English and its uses. 143p $2 Norton

428.25 Basic English 43-11468

The author has had several objectives in writing this book. First, assuming that a universal language is much needed, he attempts to show that a simplified form of English would be most practicable. Secondly he explains how Basic English was devised and its relationship to unlimited English. Thirdly he discusses the teaching of Basic English thru various media, and finally he points out how a knowledge of Basic English would enrich the understanding of our own literature. Index.

Booklist 40:4 S '43

Christian Science Monitor p10 Ag 28 '43 500w

"It is highly to the credit of Mr. Richards that he recognizes the need of an international, or supra-national, language. No panacea, of course: there are wars among people of the same speech, and they are the bitterest of all. No world organization, however—justice, police or trade—will be working without a convenient medium. But there are two possible solutions: to select a national language, or to adopt a neutral one. Mr. Richards prefers the first, and 'Basic English' is his answer. It seems to me that he overlooks several decisive factors. First of all, he willfully ignores the possibilities of a neutral language. . . On the other hand, Mr. Richards betrays, or rather displays, the magnificent insularity which is the pride of the Anglo-Saxon mind." Albert Guerard

New Repub 109:400 S 20 '43 800w

"Those who believe, or are willing to believe, that Basic English is the irresistible force which will never meet with an immovable object will find in 'Basic English and Its Uses' all the arguments they need. Those who would rather not be convinced had better not read it." Ivy Litvinoff

+ N Y Times p18 Ag 22 '43 900w

RICHARDS, JAMES MAUDE, ed. Bombed buildings of Britain; a record of architectural casualties: 1940-41; with notes by John Summerson. 140p il. $4.50 Oxford [15s Architectural press]

940.5442 World war, 1939—Aerial operations. World war, 1939—Great Britain. Architecture—England A43-1573

"The public-spirited and enterprising editor of the Architectural Review has compiled this photographic 'record of architectural casualties, 1940-41' and Mr. Summerson contributes historical notes that reveal not only erudition but a discriminating taste." New Statesman & Nation

---

"The photographs of damage have usually been taken soon after the attack, before their tragic picturesqueness had been diminished by tidying. Some of the buildings are shown also, in photographs or prints, as they were before the Germans came; and the record, I suggest, would have been twice as valuable if this had been done in every case where the damage was serious. . . In all other respects the book is exemplary." Raymond Mortimer

+ — New Statesman & Nation 24:113 Ag 15 '42 1000w

"This collection is admirable both for its objectivity and restraint as well as its perspective." Raymond Daniell

+ N Y Times p5 D 26 '43 550w

"Graphic pictures and text make this an outstanding pictorial record of what Britain endured during the days of the Luftwaffe's power. Some of these wrecked structures can be restored; others are gone forever. And still others will carry their marks of Nazi fury and destruction for all time. In coming years another generation, contemplating these pictures, may well ask: 'How did the British ever live through such concentrated devastation?' " H. C. Wolfe

+ Sat R of Lit 26:14 D 11 '43 1800w

"The photographs are accompanied by excellent notes, and in some cases small engravings are printed with them, giving an elevation or view of the particular building before it was damaged. There is probably material of sufficient interest, including the damage in the two recent 'Baedeker' raids, to warrant a second volume on similar lines. The present one is a valuable contribution to the records of contemporary history."

+ Times [London] Lit Sup p431 Ag 29 '42 330w

"These pictures were made before wreckage was removed; they are thus of high interest to architects and students of construction methods and materials. To London visitors looking for familiar places they provide a record of unique value."

+ Weekly Book Review p14 Ja 2 '44 240w

RICHBERG, DONALD RANDALL. Government and business tomorrow; a public relations program. 194p $2.50 Harper

338.973 Industry and state 43-9864

"An 'appeal for careful thinking' to reach agreement on principles and methods of protecting common interests of owners, managers, and workers, and of preserving freedom of private enterprise for all to have individual opportunity to work toward individual ambitions. Full study of road traversed and statement of underlying principles for building future American system in which all groups, as well as all public and private managers, will realize full responsibilities for share in general welfare." (Library J) Index.

Reviewed by C. N. Callender
Ann Am Acad 230:230 N '43 500w

Reviewed by H. H. Allen
Book Week p6 Ag 15 '43 200w

Booklist 40:40 O 1 '43

Reviewed by A. B. Lindsay
Library J 68:475 Je 1 '43 110w

Reviewed by B. B. Seligman
New Repub 109:402 S 20 '43 150w

Reviewed by John Storck
N Y Times p14 Ag 8 '43 380w

"The book is written in a fluent style, easily understandable and is couched in lofty tones. However, a wide variety of subjects is covered; each has a far-flung influence whose basic relationships are interwoven with other powerful forces that constitute our democracy. There is therefore a constant rehearsal of principles and illustrations which might be compressed for the sake of clarity." Saul Cohn
+ Sat R of Lit 26:10 Ag 14 '43 550w

"Mr. Richberg has given us an excellent public relations program. This is a 'must' book for those who want to know what we are fighting for now, and the kind of America we hope to make at the end of the war." G. W. Alger
+ Survey G 32:458 N '43 160w

Wis Lib Bul 40:6 Ja '44

RICHMOND, BERNICE. Winter harbor; decorations by John O'Hara Cosgrave II. 211p $2.50 Holt

917.41 Maine—Description and travel 43-12864

In 1938 the author and her husband bought a four-acre island off the coast of Maine. There was a strongly built house, a light house, two cisterns, several outhouses, rhubarb, berry bushes, and wild strawberries for a beginning. Since 1939 the Richmonds have been summer residents there, and the account of their experiences and their neighbors is told in a somewhat disjointed manner.

"Winter Harbor is a pleasant book, unpretentious, and comfortingly sincere."
+ Atlantic 172:129 O '43 100w

"'Winter Harbor'—the book, not the place—is splendid reading. Miss Richmond has captured in its pages the true feeling and excitement and joy of her unique experiment in living." Dorsey McCarthy
+ Book Week p4 Ag 29 '43 450w

Booklist 40:45 O 1 '43

Christian Science Monitor p13 S 4 '43 550w

"Delightful story of living close to nature in storm and sunshine with hard work, fun and happiness. Our older girls will take the same pleasure in this book that adults have in Marjorie Rawlings' Cross Creek and Louise Rich's We Took to the Woods." Marian Webb
+ Library J 68:848 O 15 '43 70w

"The reading is enjoyable and refreshing—a combination of the landlubberly and seagoing. . . Mrs. Richmond writes of their lighthouse with delight, charm and bubbling enthusiasm, salted with common sense and a gay humor." Beatrice Sherman
+ N Y Times p5 S 5 '43 700w

"It is written so joyously and warmly that the author and her guests become friends and kinspirits, and the reader shares every minute completely." E. M. B.
+ Springf'd Republican p7e S 5 '43 500w

"The chief fault of this interesting and friendly book lies in the author's method of telling her story. She employs a running, disconnected narrative with no incidents highlighted and no hours of storm or fog or sun given their due; in short, one day emerges into another in such a casual manner that nothing stands out as it should. . . One wishes for a more tidy arrangement, especially in a book about so tidy a place as a lighthouse. . . And yet, in spite of its undistinguished writing and its evasive form (or formlessness), the book has the charm of surprise, liveliness and enthusiasm." M. E. Chase
+ — Weekly Book Review p5 Ag 29 '43 750w

Wis Lib Bul 39:122 O '43

RICHMOND, MRS REBECCA (LANGWORTHY). Chautauqua; an American place. 180p il $2.50 Duell

374.9747 Chautauqua, New York 43-51180

"History of Chautauqua, New York, from its beginning in 1874 to 1942. Adequate and sympathetic presentation of the spirit of Chautauqua Institution, as well as record of events. Apparently written after careful study of contemporary newspaper files and Chautauqua publications." Library J

Booklist 39:420 Je 15 '43

Christian Science Monitor p11 Jl 3 '43 140w

Reviewed by Emily Garnett
+ Library J 68:429 My 15 '43 70w

"Mrs. Richmond writes of Chautauqua as one who loves the place and the ideas for which it stands. . . Illustrations picturing scenes at Chautauqua add to the beauty of the volume and help to make it an appropriate keepsake for old Chautauquans." I. A.
N Y Times p18 Je 27 '43 240w

"Sympathetic, as such a book should be, simply told without the blight or high hat so often falling upon descriptions of efforts at self-improvement."
+ Weekly Book Review p13 S 5 '43 150w

RICHTER, CONRAD. Free man. 147p $1.75 Knopf

43-11545

This novelette tells the story of a German immigrant boy who arrived in Philadelphia a few years before the outbreak of the Revolution. Sold as an indentured servant he escaped and fled to the Pennsylvania Dutch country, joined in the fight against the British, married his former mistress, and lived out a long and successful life as a "free" man.

Reviewed by Edward Weeks
Atlantic 172:121 N '43 600w

Reviewed by Elizabeth Van Deusen
Book Week p4 Ag 22 '43 700w

Booklist 40:14 S '43

"The author has full control of his medium; the scholarship is accurate, but so integrated as to become the story itself, and the characterization is full and authentic. One wonders why the author used the Pennsylvania Dutch idiom in editorial comments; otherwise the novel has every quality to make it endure." N. E. Monroe
+ — Cath World 158:108 O '43 270w

Cleveland Open Shelf p16 Ag '43

"Recommended for all libraries; good for young adult collections." Emily Garnett
+ Library J 68:573 Jl '43 100w

"Mr. Richter has sometimes let his wealth of research obscure his characters. Some of his pages read like notes for a brilliant but unorganized history of an era. The book is too fragmentary to give more than a vignette of the country, and the people, that he will surely explore at greater length some day.

RICHTER, CONRAD—Continued
But for all that, 'The Free Man' belongs on the same shelf with the author's 'The Trees' and 'The Sea of Grass.' Even the scamped portions are so good that the reader is sure to yearn for more." William Du Bois
+ — N Y Times p6 Ag 8 '43 1050w

"Mediocre stuff, hardly worthy of the author of 'The Trees.' "
— New Yorker 19:70 Ag 14 '43 30w

"This is another one of those tales that starts extremely well and ends up as a Hollywood costume piece." Bess Jones
+ — Sat R of Lit 26:10 S 11 '43 290w

"This isn't the best story Conrad Richter has done, yet it has the charm and the careful technique he gives to everything he writes. It is so much better than the usual padded historical romance that it deserves to be read. I only wish that Richter had told the story with no other thought than the telling; it would have made its own point." Howard Fast
+ — Weekly Book Review p2 Ag 22 '43 750w

RICHTER, GISELA MARIE AUGUSTA, and RICHTER, IRMA ANNE. Kouroi, a study of the development of the Greek kouros from the late seventh to the early fifth century B.C; 208 phot. by Gerard M. Young [and other illustrations]. 428p $15 (84s) Oxford

733.3 Sculpture, Greek. Human figure in art 42-52158

"The kouroi to which this study is devoted are the nude male standing statues of the archaic period of Greek sculpture. They represented in some cases a god or hero and in others a victorious athlete. Some served as dedications in sanctuaries while others were sepulchral monuments. The author of the book, whose competence in Greek sculpture is everywhere recognized, presents a detailed analysis of these statues as an aid to a more intimate appreciation of them and of their development toward naturalism." Am Hist R

Reviewed by G. W. Elderkin
Am Hist R 48:764 Jl '43 420w

"Scholars will use this book for years. Laymen who are interested in the great milestones of scholarship and more particularly in a fundamental work on art will also wish to own it." C. A. Robinson, Jr.
+ Sat R of Lit 26:12 D 11 '43 410w
Times [London] Lit Sup p23 Ja 8 '44 180w

"This book is a brilliant triumph of analysis and organization. It relates to that dawning period in Greek art which foreshadows the spirit of subsequent masterpieces, and it clarifies a recondite subject. Miss Richter, the curator of the classical department at the Metropolitan Museum, who is also well remembered for her work on 'The Sculptors and Sculpture of the Greeks,' carries her learning as lightly as a flower, and she is as readable as she is erudite." Royal Cortissoz
+ Weekly Book Review p26 O 17 '43 850w

RICKENBACKER, EDWARD VERNON. Seven came through; Rickenbacker's full story; with an introd. by W. L. White. 118p il $1.50 Doubleday

940.548 World war, 1939—Personal narratives, American. Pacific ocean. Aeronautics—Accidents 43-51079

An account of the author's rescue from the waters of the Pacific with his six companions. He tells, besides this, of the special mission that was the purpose of the fateful flight and of his resulting conclusions as to the future of American aviation.

"An expert journalist may have polished Rickenbacker's prose, but through it you still hear his rough tongue, you still feel the blazing vitality of a born fighter."
+ Atlantic 171:121 My '43 420w

Reviewed by Ralph Peterson
— Book Week p3 Ap 4 '43 900w
Booklist 39:330 Ap 15 '43
Cleveland Open Shelf p5 Ap '43

Reviewed by Harry Sylvester
Commonweal 37:593 Ap 2 '43 1000w

Reviewed by R. H. Rovere
New Repub 108:453 Ap 5 '43 480w

"This is really the story of the personality of a strong man, strong in disaster, a fighter for what he believes in and what he intensely feels, whoever may disagree. He towers over the scene, a Conradian figure, although he talks much more of his companions than of himself, of their suffering and stoicism and bravery in the face of black despair." Russell Owen
+ N Y Times p1 Mr 21 '43 1100w

"Captain Rickenbacker's account of his twenty-one days adrift on a rubber raft in the Pacific, smoothly and effectively written, plus his 'Message to America' on air power. Includes three or four pages of the author's curious political and social opinions, which you must figure out for yourself."
New Yorker 19:72 Mr 27 '43 50w

"Everyone in America knows the story of Eddie Rickenbacker. . . He tells his story—I have no way of knowing whether he had any journalistic assistance—with straightforwardness and modesty. If I had not read a similar story of men adrift in rubber rafts, called 'The Raft,' some time ago, I might be more thrilled by this saga. . . 'The Raft' was the first of such books, and still, to me, remains the best of them." W. R. Benét
Sat R of Lit 26:24 Mr 27 '43 1050w
Springf'd Republican p7e Mr 21 '43 550w

"The gist of this epic adventure was given in Washington, when Rickenbacker, in the presence of Secretary Stimson and a large group of newspaper men, gave his first connected recital of just what had happened—a recital so simple and moving that those who heard it say they can never forget it. In his book Rickenbacker amplifies his earlier version somewhat, but not too much, and he adds various other observations which are of tremendous interest. . . His forthrightness and his sincerity are implicit in every passage, although the last thing Rickenbacker pretends to be is a hero or a superman." Stanley Walker
+ Weekly Book Review p1 Mr 21 '43 700w
Wis Lib Bul 39:73 My '43

Reviewed by J. D. Adams
Yale R n s 32:791 summer '43 90w

RICKETT, HAROLD WILLIAM. Green earth; an invitation to botany. 353p il $3.50 Cattell

580 Botany 43-6046

"Characterized as 'an invitation to botany,' this book is concerned with the principles that shape our relations with plants. Illustrated by drawings 'designed not only to assist in the exposition of detail but to offer a glimpse into the beauties of science,' it presents life—the total activity of living protoplasm—in terms of physical and chemical processes. It demonstrates, too, that all life actually comes from the earth." Scientific Bk Club R

Booklist 39:422 Je 15 '43
Cleveland Open Shelf p15 Ag '43

"Mr. Rickett, a former teacher of botany, much more appropriately called 'plant science,' is with the New York Botanical Garden. His book is full of useful information, both historical and contemporary. When so many will be planting gardens against the scarcity of next winter, there may be some intellectually curious enough to desire the background of scientific knowledge found in 'The Green Earth.' "
+ Scientific Bk Club R 14:4 My '43 210w

Reviewed by C. B. Moore
Springf'd Republican p6 Jl 26 '43 500w

RIDER, PAUL REECE, and HUTCHINSON, CHARLES ANGEVINE. Navigational trigonometry. 232p $2 Macmillan

527 Navigation. Trigonometry, Spherical 43-14177

"A revision and expansion of Rider's Plane and Spherical Trigonometry, with problems emphasizing navigational principles. A five-place table of natural and logarithmic haversines is included to serve the needs of the beginner who may not have access to Bowditch. The authors are: Professor of Mathematics, Washington University; and Professor of Engineering Mathematics, University of Colorado." N Y New Tech Bks

Library J 68:961 N 15 '43 30w
N Y New Tech Bks 28:47 Jl '43

RIDGWAY, MARION V. First steps; pictures by Hildegard L. Hopkins. 24p pa $1 Howell, Soskin 43-17318

"[This] toy book not only tells a very little child how mother animals teach their babies to walk, but shows how their first steps are taken." Weekly Book Review

"Seems none too durable and the verses are pretty thin." L. M. Palmer
— N Y Times p18 N 14 '43 30w

"There are 24 pictures in full color, all of them charming, and pleasant little jingles accompany each."
+ Springf'd Republican p7e D 5 '43 60w

Reviewed by M. L. Becker
+ Weekly Book Review p28 N 14 '43 150w

RIEGEL, EMIL RAYMOND. Industrial chemistry; an elementary treatise for the student and general reader; with the support of a large number of collaborators. 4th ed 861p il $5.50 Reinhold
660 Chemistry, Technical 42-21260

"The Professor of Industrial Chemistry, University of Buffalo, offers a fourth edition of a book first published in 1928. Some chapters have been completely rewritten and brought up to date, especially the subject of rubber with the new developments in synthetic manufacture." (N Y New Tech Bks) For first edition see Book Review Digest, 1928. Index.

Reviewed by James Stokley
Books p20 Ja 24 '43 170w

"Besides its use as a textbook in colleges, this work is almost an indispensable reference in industrial plants and laboratories. technical libraries, and especially for executives, engineers and chemists who need ready access to outstanding developments in the broad chemical fields." J. R. Callaham
+ Chem & Met Eng 49:183 O '42 330w
N Y New Tech Bks 27:38 Jl '42

Reviewed by Roland Ward
N Y Times p27 Ap 4 '43 380w

RIEGEL, JOHN WALLACE. Management, labor and technological change. 187p $2.50 Univ. of Mich.
658.3 Machinery in industry. Employment management. Factory management 42-37347

"In this book, Dr. Riegel presents the results of a field study of the experience of management and labor with the administration of technological change. The study was begun in 1939 by the Bureau of Industrial Relations at the University of Michigan. Fifty progressively managed companies in twenty-five industries were surveyed during the following two years. In addition, three conferences, each attended by twenty business executives, were held at the University of Michigan and information about employee attitudes was obtained from interviews with 105 employees and union leaders in homes and union halls." Am Econ R

Reviewed by Morrison Handsaker
Am Econ R 33:705 S '43 800w

"This little volume embodies a timely piece of research. In these days of emphasis upon the need for maximum production, management and organized labor should welcome so helpful a compendium and guide. It presents an intelligent program for an escape from the perplexing dilemma which invariably is faced in the introduction of improved methods of production." G. S. Watkins
+ Ann Am Acad 226:191 Mr '43 550w

Reviewed by Walter Hausdorfer
Library J 67:681 Ag '42 140w

RIENOW, ROBERT. Calling all citizens; with the editorial assistance of Howard R. Anderson. 725p il $1.96 Houghton
300 Social sciences 43-7374

Textbook on citizenship emphasizing problems in democracy. Each chapter has a section called Now It's Up to You, containing questions to think over, further reading, things to do, etc. Index.

School & Society 57:644 My 29 '43 30w

"The general tone of the book is chatty, anecdotal, and breezy—a style designed to arouse the reader's interest. Pictures, charts, and diagrams are suited to the stimulating style. This publication should be an excellent textbook for those teachers who endeavor to cultivate informed opinion and humane attitudes in the minds of their pupils and who bring to their teaching an understanding of the great social issues of the day." J. M. O'Rourke
+ School R 51:633 D '43 1650w

"Discussion of specific problems must be painfully compressed, and the time spent by the author in the preparation of activities and discussion materials necessarily detracts from adequate attention to content and the implications of content. For more thorough treatment of problems that will arise in a group of active and curious young people, recourse will have to be had to more substantial materials. If the book, however, inspires young people to be constructive citizens, it will have performed a useful service in the schools." R. V. Sires
+ — Social Educ 7:329 N '43 750w

"A modern and highly useful civics text." E. B. Fincher
+ Social Studies 34:377 D '43 850w

RIESENFELD, STEFAN ALBRECHT. Protection of coastal fisheries under international law. (Carnegie endowment for int. peace. Division of int. law. Monograph ser, no5) 296p $2 Columbia univ. press
639.2 Fishery law and legislation. Territorial waters 42-24351

"This investigation was originally undertaken to aid Professor Joseph W. Bingham in the preparation of his report on the legal status of the North Pacific fisheries—a report due to the initiative of the Institute of Pacific Relations. Dr. Riesenfeld was invited to help in collecting the material, and the task was considered to make requisite an examination of the question of coastal fisheries under international law in general. . . The author divides his study into three parts devoted to the 'three main sources: the works of legal scholars, state practice, and international adjudications.' " Am Pol Sci R

"The result of this investigation does not, the author modestly states, 'pretend to be more than an annotated digest and bibliography.' Notwithstanding this disclaimer, the work may well serve as a model for students of international relations in the pursuit of their investigations and the formulation of their results." E. C. Stowell
+ Am Pol Sci R 36:1177 D '42 1100w

Reviewed by W. E. Masterson
Columbia Law R 43:957 S '43 390w

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert
Foreign Affairs 21:364 Ja '43 10w

Reviewed by E. W. Allen
Yale Law J 52:196 N '42 950w

RIESS, CURT. Invasion of Germany. 206p maps $2.50 Putnam

940.53 World war, 1939—. World war, 1939—Germany. Strategy 43-13792

The thesis of this book by an emigré German, is that Germany can only be defeated by a large-scale invasion of Germany itself—that the Allies cannot count on surrender of German armies outside Germany, on internal revolution, or on air offensive. The book, finished in early June 1943, concludes that successful invasion will probably come from the South.

Reviewed by Ernest von Hartz
Book Week p4 O 10 '43 380w
Booklist 40:112 D 1 '43
Cleveland Open Shelf p18 O '43

"The reader will find the first ridiculous falsification of historical truth on page 1 of Mr. Riess's book. This may save him the trouble of turning to page 2 and ff." Joseph Bornstein
— Nation 157:504 O 30 '43 300w
New Repub 109:466 O 4 '43 120w

"The book is crammed with pertinent fact and apposite quotation and provides evidence of a wide acquaintanceship with military literature. From this point of view its value for the student of the art of war is undeniable. Trained staff officers will find much to disagree with but will profit all the same by its reading. . . Though discursive on occasion, Mr. Riess is always thought-provoking. If he appears to wander from the point into unrelated fields, we bear him no ill-will, because it helps to give us a clear picture of the political strategy, which plays as real a part in the winning of a war as military action." Murray Harris
+ N Y Times p34 O 17 '43 600w
Reviewed by Clifton Fadiman
New Yorker 19:78 S 25 '43 450w
Reviewed by Frederick Gruin
Sat R of Lit 26:10 O 9 '43 1150w

RIFKIN, LILLIAN. When I grow up, I'll be a flyer; with technical assistance from David C. Cooke. 40p il $1.25 Lothrop

629.13 Aeronautics—Juvenile literature 43-1062

"The 'flyer' book begins with a few tests in balancing and clear eyesight by which the little boy learns some of the physical requirements. With full-page photographs and succinct statements studies in an aviation school are outlined, the pilot gets his certificate, a parachute drop takes place, Army and Navy training is briefly indicated and the story ends with the assurance to a small boy already air-minded that 'You will be a flyer when you grow up.'" Books

Booklist 39:257 F 15 '43
Reviewed by M. L. Becker
Books p8 Ja 24 '43 200w
Reviewed by Maude Adams
Library J 68:84 Ja 15 '43 50w

"The book should prove of great help to harried parents who don't know all the answers, and it leaves us with a rosy glimpse of a future in which airplanes will be so common that we will all be fliers."
+ N Y Times p10 Ja 10 '43 160w
Springf'd Republican p7e Ja 3 '43 60w

RIFKIN, LILLIAN. When I grow up, I'll be a nurse. 39p il $1.25 Lothrop

610.73 Nurses and nursing—Juvenile literature 42-21145

Outline of the requirements for nurses' training, and the duties of the profession. For children from seven to ten.

Reviewed by M. L. Becker
Books p8 Ja 24 '43 80w

"Told in clear, concise language that children will understand. Full-page photographs illustrate progress from probationer to full-fledged nurse. Timely information that will be most useful." D. M. MacDonald
+ Library J 67:847 O 1 '42 40w
Wis Lib Bul 39:31 F '43

RILKE, RAINER MARIA. Poems; tr. by Jessie Lemont. 185p $3 Columbia univ. press

831 43-4568

"Rilke (1875-1926), Austrian poet and exponent of internationalism, with almost unprecedented ability to express abstractions in concrete form, has well-established place in world literature. Translations are by Jessie Lemont, American poet, who met Rilke in Paris, 1908, when he was secretary to Rodin, and who made first translation of his poems to appear in America, 1918. She has chosen from seven books poems to show Rilke's full versatility. To the translating, which Henry H. Wells heartily commends in critical foreword, she has devoted as many years as were spent in the writing of the poems." Library J

"That Rilke's fame has been rising steadily in English-speaking countries since his death in 1926 is due partly to the fact that in Miss Lemont he has found a more faithful translator than most poets can hope for. She published a volume of translations from him some time ago, but this new volume will serve equally well to give readers an idea of Rilke's range and of the exquisite skill and delicate perception which made him the master poet of one small wing of the German and Austrian neo-romantic school. Rilke's appeal is not to the healthy-minded. His magic potion is for frustrated and despairing souls who are content with the peace of a realm beyond life and beyond reason."
Christian Century 60:428 Ap 7 '43 90w
Reviewed by Pearl Strachan
Christian Science Monitor p10 My 15 '43 180w
"Recommended." Catherine Van Dyne
+ Library J 68:171 F 15 '43 100w

"Miss Lemont is also a poet. She knew Rilke, too, in Paris, followed his development, and has immersed herself in his work for years. . . Certainly her renderings of Rilke are the best we have read. They stand on their own legs as poetry and they re-create closely the original." H. I'A Fausset
+ Manchester Guardian p3 D 1 '43 70w
Reviewed by C. M. Bowra
New Statesman & Nation 26:222 O 2 '43 170w
New Yorker 19:80 Je 12 '43 20w
Reviewed by Edwin Honig
Poetry 63:169 D '43 500w
Times [London] Lit Sup p404 Ag 21 '43 950w

"Some of the translations are very felicitous, as well as intimately close to the original; but to my taste there are frequent stiffnesses not to be found in the German. I am inclined to think that Rilke has been somewhat overpraised in English."
Weekly Book Review p22 Je 20 '43 100w

RIMINGTON, CRITCHELL. Fighting fleets; with numerous contributed articles. 1943 ed 312p il $4.50 Dodd

359 Warships. U.S.—Army

"A new feature has been added in the form of a naval annual in which several authorities summarize the highlights of naval activity since the publication of the previous edition [Book Review Digest, 1942]. Surface craft are covered as fully as is possible in wartime, and various types of submarines are pictured. Naval war losses are given by country." Booklist

Reviewed by A. C. Spectorsky
Book Week p4 Je 6 '43 50w
Booklist 39:431 Je 15 '43
Library J 68:626 Ag '43 20w

"Here is an excellent handbook of reference for the layman who wants a reasonably comprehensive and brief survey of the navies of the world. The separate chapters on each type of ship are supplemented with 340 photographs, line drawings and diagrams of ships, their structures and their weapons. The appendix chapters include checklists of principal combatant ships and of naval war losses to Jan. 15, 1943. . . Mr. Rimington has nicely integrated facts, statistics, history and opinion." Lawrence Thompson

+ N Y Times p17 Je 20 '43 300w

Springf'd Republican p7e Jl 11 '43 1150w

RINDE, CHARLES ANDERSON. Electricity and its application to civilian and military life. 466p il $2.50; text ed $1.96 Harcourt

621.3 Electricity. Electric engineering 43-15085

"Conforms mainly to War Department's outline PIT-101. Central theme unifies the book: the control of electrons. Self-teaching course in the fundamentals of electricity for students with no previous knowledge of the subject. . . List of references and glossary of terms." (Library J) Index.

"Very clear text, 375 illustrations."

+ Library J 68:961 N 15 '43 40w

"Would be a good book for further study. . . Though 'organized around' the War Department's pre-induction training outline, it does not follow it slavishly, and the result is a text that has more originality than many of those which were based on that outline. It will also be more interesting to the reader. Not requiring any previous technical knowledge, this is a good book for home study, for it will give the good acquaintance with electrical fundamentals needed in many occupations, in and out of the armed forces." James Stokley

+ Weekly Book Review p8 Ja 9 '44 130w

RIPLEY, SIDNEY DILLON. Trail of the money bird; 30,000 miles of adventure with a naturalist. 306p il $3.50 Harper

598.2 Birds. New Guinea—Description and travel 42-25018

For descriptive note see Annual for 1942.

"This book comes to me like an answer to prayer. I have been reading books on New Guinea ever since my first glimpse of that naturalist's paradise—no one else's, however—in 1908. . . Dillon Ripley tells me just exactly what I want to know with simplicity and humor. I know too that here is a record which is absolutely accurate. This is an exact picture by a scientist, told with extreme charm. He had no 'adventures': he traveled too well-prepared and too intelligently." Thomas Barbour

+ Atlantic 171:152 Mr '43 250w

Booklist 39:247 F 15 '43

Bookmark 5:7 Ja '43

"The author, obviously an expert ornithologist, has the fortunate faculty of writing of birds in a way that can be fully appreciated by the layman; while his book as a whole is one of the most enthralling tales of adventure we have read." T. L. L.

+ Christian Science Monitor p10 F 20 '43 450w

Nation 156:355 Mr 6 '43 180w

Wis Lib Bul 39:54 Ap '43

RIPPERGER, MRS HENRIETTA (SPERRY). 112 Elm street. 250p $2.50 Putnam 43-6808

An American family, going thru the difficult days of 1940 and after, is described in this story. The narrator is the mother of the family, and she tells of the reactions of the oldest son when he has to go to training camp, of the father when his toy factory is turned into a munitions works, of sixteen-year-old Babs and her many suitors, and the trials and tribulations of the small son of the family and the little English lad who comes for the duration.

Booklist 39:447 Jl 1 '43

Cleveland Open Shelf p12 Jl '43

"Obviously, '112 Elm Street' is a homely, unpretentious, simple little novel which certainly, at times, is somewhat sentimental, and which is directed just as certainly to a big popular audience. There is, however, something likable about it, and I feel that Mrs. Ripperger has caught some essence of America at war which has escaped more intellectual novelists. Merely as light comedy, moreover, her book is gay, warm, spirited and very amusing. . . All in all, '112 Elm Street' is a very nice book. I doubt if any one will remember it ten years from now, but at the moment it is timely and appealing." E. H. Walton

+ N Y Times p14 My 23 '43 600w

"The simplicity of the book is appealing, but its chief value is as a record for future generations who would like to know how people lived, thought and acted in grandmother's day." M. D.

+ Springf'd Republican p7e My 30 '43 280w

"Although '112 Elm Street' is somewhat on the sentimental side, it has a solid foundation of humor and sincerity." George Conrad

+ — Weekly Book Review p12 My 16 '43 350w

RISTER, CARL COKE. Land hunger; David L. Payne and the Oklahoma boomers. 260p il $2.75 Univ. of Okla. press

976.6 Oklahoma—History. Payne, David Lewis 43-1028

A history of the conflict which raged for many years between the leaders of certain Indian tribes, the American government, and cattle men on the one side and a group of "land hungry" white settlers on the other, over the latter's right to settle on the "unassigned lands" which now form the state of Oklahoma. The leader of the settlers was one David L. Payne and much of this book is devoted to him.

"Land hunger is well planned and well written. David L. Payne is an unforgettable character, and around his life Dr. Rister has woven with great skill the larger story of the Boomers. Brevity and direct approach are outstanding characteristics of the book. There is not a tedious page in it, and nothing seems to be superfluous." R. N. Richardson

+ Am Hist R 48:825 Jl '43 440w

"Land Hunger is a worth-while contribution to frontier literature and should be of permanent value in its field." J. P. Pritchett

+ Ann Am Acad 226:180 Mr '43 360w

Booklist 39:352 My 1 '43

"Payne has become an Oklahoma folk hero, and the center of a good many legends. Here are the facts about him, in a well-documented book, the last word on a character and a period unique in history." K. C. K.

+ Christian Science Monitor p18 D 29 '42 480w

"Payne is necessarily regarded with mixed feelings by the people of the Southwest. But his wild career was well worthy of a book, and in this careful and interesting volume Dr. Rister has made him more than a striking individual figure—he has made him the type and representative of a large and important group." A. N.

Sat R of Lit 26:22 Ja 9 '43 340w

"A well-named and judicious historical study." E. G. E.

+ Springf'd Republican p8 D 30 '42 390w

"Carl Rister, one of the ablest and best-grounded of all historians of the southwest, has done an enormous amount of research and has written a scholarly book." Stanley Walker

+ Weekly Book Review p12 F 14 '43 480w

RIVER, WALTER LESLIE. Malta story. See Coffin, H. M.

RIVERS, THOMAS MILTON, and others. Virus diseases. See Rockefeller institute for medical research, New York. Virus diseases

RIVES, FERN. Friday, thank God! 307p $2.50 Putnam
43-3841

Story of life in a city high school during one week—Friday to Friday. The chief character is Allison Bourdet, young and attractive, who at first fancies herself in love with the principal. However, before the events of that week pass into history, Allison has found a better way to happiness.

"I wish rather sadly, that someone would some day write a story about a teacher that was neither sentimentalized nor romanticized. 'Friday, Thank God!' is not it." J. T. F.
Book Week p6 Ap 4 '43 160w

Booklist 39:321 Ap 1 '43

Reviewed by Isabel Douglas
Library J 68:248 Mr 15 '43 70w

"With a little more passion, a little more perception, a little more patience, a little less delusion, a little better prose style, Miss Rives might effect a great improvement if she were willing to try again." Rolfe Humphries
+ — Nation 157:134 Jl 31 '43 480w

"Although Miss Rives's classroom atmosphere is accurate and good, I am afraid that 'Friday, Thank God!' is a rather flimsy tale and one that fails to carry much conviction. Prettily romantic it unquestionably is, but as a picture of what goes on in an average public school it is impossible to take it very seriously." E. H. W.
— N Y Times p18 Ap 4 '43 320w

"If Miss Rives's plot is a bit hackneyed and amateurish, she has done an excellent job with her secondary characters and with her school atmosphere. The various teachers are most of them life-size, the boys and girls ring true, and the dialogue is fresh and spirited. Her book does bring alive the high school as it is and clearly suggests that Miss Rives has the storyteller's talent to an appreciable degree. It will be interesting to watch its development." M. S. Ulrich
+ Sat R of Lit 26:20 My 1 '43 270w

School & Society 57:364 Mr 27 '43 20w

"'Friday, Thank God!' is gracefully written and is a thoroughly agreeable book to read. It does not, however, pretend to touch upon the many problems of the harrassed 'average school-teacher,' who gets none of the breaks afforded the amazing Miss Bourdet." Marion Sturges-Jones
Weekly Book Review p10 Ap 4 '43 600w

RIVETT, EDITH CAROLINE (E. C. R. LORAC, pseud). Death came softly. 256p $2 Arcadia [7s 6d Collins]

Detective story.

"The author is adept in presenting the situation so that the reader shares Macdonald's discomfiture at bringing the law into the beautiful setting, and Eve's painful acceptance of the necessity. And if the ending appears somewhat contrived, you won't mind too much, since you will already have received your money's worth." Elizabeth Bullock
+ Book Week p8 O 3 '43 200w

Reviewed by Ralph Partridge
New Statesman & Nation 25:211 Mr 27 '43 80w

"Inspector Macdonald seeks to find out how, why and by whom the professor was murdered, and he brings to his task all the skill of a trained investigator. Good characterization and well-sustained suspense are the outstanding features of this expertly planned mystery." Isaac Anderson
+ N Y Times p8 S 19 '43 120w

"Fanciers of solid, intensive British detection better not overlook this narrative." Will Cuppy
Weekly Book Review p30 O 3 '43 230w

RIZK, SALOM. Syrian Yankee. 317p $2.75 Doubleday
B or 92 Syrians in the U.S. 43-51004

The Syrian Yankee was born in a tiny town in Syria, between Beirut and Damascus. He was fourteen before he discovered that his mother, who died when he was born, had been an American citizen. After that it took him five more years to convince the authorities of his identity. When he reached the United States he met with more set-backs, for he had to go to school with quite young children in order to learn English. His struggle for an education was finally rewarded and the Readers' Digest enabled him to become a lecturer and writer. This is his story of his experiences, first in Syria and then in America.

Booklist 39:222 F 1 '43

Bookmark 4:17 Mr '43

"Salom Rizk's message to America is not unfamiliar, but it is told with biblical earnestness, and one can easily understand why the public response has been so gratifying. 'They were not applauding me,' Mr. Rizk was quick to detect. 'They were applauding America, the land where something like this could happen to anybody. I knew that I was living proof to them of what America was and what America could be.'" Arna Bontemps
+ Books p4 Ja 24 '43 1000w

"A splendid antidote for the cyncism and defeatism that think democracy won't work."
+ Christian Century 59:1562 D 16 '42 100w

"His experiences are funny (inviting spontaneous laughter) and tragic and beautiful. But his appreciation of America lifts book above first-rate biography to essential reading in every library." Thelma Brackett
+ Library J 68:34 Ja 1 '43 110w

"A book profoundly worth reading. In one sense it is quite accurate to classify 'Syrian Yankee' as just another personal record of Americanization; and a very good sense that is. . . But 'Syrian Yankee' is a rare and extraordinary chronicle for all that: first and most obviously in the specific variety and interest of its incident, and second in the clarity, earnestness and candor with which it narrates one individual's experiences of hope, disillusionment, effort and final satisfaction, and the development of one individual's 'American dream.'" Katherine Woods
+ N Y Times p8 Ja 10 '43 1050w

"This story is a moving spiritual account of the life of a poor immigrant and not a 'success story.' It is told with simplicity, with tenderness, with modesty. It contains a message to all people who do not see the blessings of the American democratic way of life." H. B. Wreath
+ Sat R of Lit 26:11 Mr 6 '43 400w

Springf'd Republican p7e F 7 '43 460w

Wis Lib Bul 39:41 Mr '43

ROARK, RAYMOND JEFFERSON. Formulas for stress and strain. 2d ed 366p $4 McGraw
624.17 Strains and stresses 43-10996

"This book was written for the purpose of making available a compact, adequate summary of the formulas, facts, and principles pertaining to strength of materials. It is intended primarily as a reference book and represents an attempt to meet what is believed to be a present need of the designing engineer." (Pref. to the first ed) This second edition adds about forty pages to the first edition. Index.

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 68:771 O 1 '43 50w

N Y New Tech Bks 28:52 Jl '43

ROBACKER, EARL FRANCIS. Pennsylvania German literature; changing trends from 1683 to 1942. 217p $2.50 Univ. of Pa. press

810.9 Pennsylvania German literature 43-15260

Scholarly study of the place of Pennsylvania German literature in American literary history. The period covered is from 1683 when a small group of Germans under the leadership of Pastorius came to this country, to 1942. Partial contents: Historical status of the problem; The period of greatest religious significance, 1683 to 1800; The period of transition, 1800 to 1861; The language-conscious period, 1861 to 1902; The local color period, 1902 to 1928; The folk-conscious period, 1928-; The scene as a whole. Bibliography. Index.

Reviewed by Roderick Peattie
Am J Soc 49:285 N '43 150w

"Dr. Robacker's book is the first thoroughgoing attempt to describe the literary activities of the Pennsylvania Germans. It is the result of years of painstaking research and undoubtedly represents an important contribution to the literature of the field. . . Errors in the history after 1800 are insignificant. The author knows his material well and presents it aptly. The reviewer, however, disagrees with Robacker's definition of Hohman's Long Lost Friend as 'a book of practical witchcraft.' . . I also disagree with Robacker's conclusion that 'the Pennsylvania Germans always have been, as they are now, a misunderstood people.' They are not misunderstood more than any other group. However, none of these errors are basic from the point of view of literary history. Dr. Robacker's book is a valuable contribution to the field of Americana Germanica; the clearness of his language and the conciseness and correctness of his literary judgments are a model for similar investigations." Felix Reichmann
+ — Library Q 14:66 Ja '44 1100w

ROBBINS, MRS ANN BROKAW (ROE). 100 meat-saving recipes. 106p spir pa $1 Crowell

641.5 Cookery 43-5586

Explicit directions for one hundred meat stretching or meat substitute dishes. Most of the dishes can be quickly prepared. Index.

"One of the best things about this fine cook book is that Miss Roe has chosen dishes which, while eye and appetite appealing, are still easily and quickly prepared. Busy women looking for time savers will find '100 Meat-saving Recipes' a boon." K. M.
+ Book Week p4 Ap 25 '43 230w
Bookmark 4:8 Mr '43
Cleveland Open Shelf p7 Ap '43

Reviewed by L. M. Palmer
N Y Times p12 S 5 '43 180w

"The recipes are carefully worked out and simply presented and offer a great number of 'meat-stretchers' as well as meat-substitutes. The author is interested first of all in giving practical assistance, but her keen interest in well-flavored and out-of-the-run dishes means that a wide variety is offered for which the reader will be grateful."
+ Springf'd Republican p7e Ap 25 '43 130w

ROBBINS, HOWARD CHANDLER, and MACNAUGHT, GEORGE K. Dr Rudolf Bolling Teusler; an adventure in Christianity; pref. by Joseph C. Grew. 236p il $2 Scribner

B or 92 Teusler, Rudolf Bolling 43-1227

"Dr. Teusler was a missionary doctor in Japan, under the Protestant Episcopal Church, from 1900 until his death in 1934. His great achievement was the building up of St. Luke's hospital in Tokyo and its development into the large and important St. Luke's International Medical Center. Great as was this achievement, it did not occupy all his energies, for he was active in many other welfare enterprises in and for Japan." Christian Century

Christian Century 60:20 Ja 6 '43 130w

Reviewed by W. L. Caswell
Churchman 157:16 F 1 '43 180w

"Books dealing with Japan are today among the best sellers, and here is one we can ill afford to miss. It is more than the biography of an individual; it is, as its subtitle states, 'An Adventure of Christianity,' an American venture among the people of Japan." Sister Just, M.A.
+ Commonweal 37:548 Mr 19 '43 450w

"There is in this book the material of a great human story, but the authors have failed to do it justice, perhaps principally because they did not know Dr. Teusler personally and could not therefore paint the glowing personality that made this pioneering epic possible." Wilfrid Fleisher
Weekly Book Review p21 Mr 21 '43 850w

ROBBINS, JAMES JACOB. Government of labor relations in Sweden. 367p $3.50 Am.-Scandinavian foundation; Univ. of N.C. press [16s Oxford]

331.19485 Arbitration, Industrial. Labor contract. Labor laws and legislation—Sweden 42-13984

For descriptive note see Annual for 1942.

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert
Foreign Affairs 21:372 Ja '43 10w

"Dean Robbins is to be thanked for this careful and understanding study of how labor relations are governed in a country whose democracy has been so vital that it still survives in spite of the totalitarianism and belligerence which surround it. There is in the book a good basis for comparing the strengths and weaknesses of our way and Sweden's way of dealing with labor problems." J. W. Madden
+ Harvard Law R 56:1030 My '43 2100w

"Mr. Robbins' study is . . . so far as I know the best that has been done in labor relations in that much publicized country of 'the middle way,' Sweden. Mr. Robbins modestly says in his Preface that someone, sometime, will perhaps make 'a more thorough exploration and aid us in a better understanding of the underlying forces at work'; but, until that someone comes along, Mr. Robbins, in my opinion, should be well content with his achievement." C. R. Daugherty
+ J Pol Econ 51:88 F '43 1150w

ROBERTS, DAVID EVERETT, and VAN DUSEN, HENRY PITNEY, eds. Liberal theology; an appraisal; essays in honor of Eugene William Lyman, by John C. Bennett [and others]. 285p $2.50 Scribner

204 Liberalism (religion). Theology. Lyman, Eugene William 43-850

Contents: Pt I, Eugene W. Lyman: liberal Christian thinker. Pt II, The history of liberal theology: The meaning of liberalism: an essay in definition, by W. E. Hocking; Liberalism in the Old Testament, by J. A. Bewer; The liberal spirit in the New Testament, by M. E. Lyman; Liberalism and Catholic thought in England, 1860-1940, by E. R. Hardy, jr.; Protestant liberalism, by A. C. McGiffert, jr.; Liberalism in the mystical tradition, by R. M. Jones; The liberal attitude toward other religions, by L. V. L. Cady. Pt III, The foundations of liberal theology: Two creeds for every church; a prolegomenon to any liberal religion, by W. P. Montague; Religious knowledge and revelation, by J. M. Moore; Philosophical theism, by D. E. Roberts; The Christian conception of man, by J. C. Bennett; The significance of Jesus Christ, by H. P. Van Dusen; The Scriptures, by H. S. Coffin; Eternal life, by D. C. Macintosh; The church, by W. A. Brown; The writings of Eugene William Lyman.

"As representative of the best in American religious liberalism, the book deserves to be widely read." F. J. Moore
+ Churchman 157:16 F 1 '43 550w

"Extremely illuminating volume. Dr. Horton's chapter on Dr. E. W. Lyman, which reveals a great Christian mind, is itself worth the price of the book." Joseph Haroutunian
+ J Religion 23:146 Ap '43 1600w

ROBERTS, DOROTHY JAMES. Man of Malice Landing. 288p $2.50 Macmillan

43-11850

"Marius left Malice Landing, a moribund little town on the banks of the Ohio, to see and perhaps to conquer the world... After a season or two of bumming he landed a hotel publicity job in Pittsburgh and wound up with a partnership in a flourishing magazine publishing business. Then fate, in the uncomfortable guise of his own conscience, dragged him back to Malice Landing. Snubbed by the town... Marius begins the process of self-examination which leads to the painful and partial conquest of his own spirit." N Y Times

"There are big things right and wrong about this first novel by Dorothy James Roberts. It would be easy to overlook its virtues by concentrating on its faults and vice versa. But the chances are better than good that it will hold your interest all the way through its curiously uneven sections; and it does all that can be asked of all but a very few first novels; it shows that Miss Roberts can tell a story and it proves that she can write." Arnold Gingrich

+ — Book Week p4 Ag 22 '43 360w

"Interesting, readable, but neither story nor characters seem important or vital." G. W. Hill

+ — Library J 68:363 My 1 '43 60w

Reviewed by Diana Trilling

Nation 157:220 Ag 21 '43 240w

"'A Man of Malice Landing' is a first novel not particularly original in theme but quite unusual in style and flavor. Miss Roberts has forged herself a thoroughly 'modern' prose, stripped, colloquial, deliberately limited in vocabulary, and lacking in apparent affectation... In spite of this, her style proves to be an amazingly flexible medium of expression, with room in its lean frame for thought and action, sentiment and wit, emotion and even—if only it were a little less intelligible—philosophy." Margaret Wallace

+ — N Y Times p6 Jl 4 '43 420w

Springf'd Republican p7e Ag 22 '43 390w

"Miss Roberts tells her story with a fine flair for combining the profound with the ordinary and the humorous. She dives into deep waters with a sure stroke and comes up smiling each time. Her writing has a unique and refreshing quality of gayety." Rose Feld

+ Weekly Book Review p8 Ag 8 '43 750w

Wis Lib Bul 39:146 N '43

ROBERTS, KATHARINE. Private report. 326p $2.50 Doubleday

43-11849

Novel of espionage, sabotage, and the underground movement in occupied Belgium. It begins three hours before Belgium's capitulation, and closes as the first blow for freedom is struck, as a prelude to the invasion of the Allies. The hero is Paul Denyn, an officer in the engineers' corps.

Reviewed by Dorsey McCarthy

Book Week p4 Ag 8 '43 430w

Booklist 40:14 S '43

"Up-to-date incidents. Full of suspense. Will be popular. Recommended." E. H. Crowell

+ Library J 68:573 Jl '43 20w

"Katharine Roberts in a carefully documented and sensitively conceived novel has most effectively portrayed the promethean will of a free people resisting oppression. Based on facts, 'Private Report' makes absorbing reading." Nona Balakian

+ N Y Times p6 Ag 8 '43 700w

"A serious, informative novel about the underground movement in Belgium. . . In spite of its concern with violence and intrigue, the story is oddly muted and a trifle slow."

New Yorker 19:63 Jl 31 '43 50w

"The novel is as fascinating as a giant jigsaw puzzle as it reveals the plottings and the plannings of the suppressed people and the daring with which they carry out their aims in the face of certain death, and at the same time strike back at Belgians who collaborate with the Nazis. It is an amazing book in the wealth of knowledge displayed, and undoubtedly Miss Roberts possesses ample sources from which to draw her stories of the underground. . . 'Private Report' is not fun to read in the sense that a spy or adventure story is entertaining for Miss Roberts is dealing with human qualities of heroism against terrific odds. It is memorable rather than exciting." L. S. Munn

+ Springf'd Republican p7e Ag 1 '43 500w

"There is excellent material in this swift-moving story. . . Miss Roberts knows Belgium. She has a feeling for its landscape, its language, and its people. What is more, she has a thoroughly concrete idea of how the underground is working, how its people are risking their lives daily in order to hamper the Nazi war effort, and how they are all expendable to a terrifying degree. . . Yet, despite all this, her novel, 'Private Report' remains unsatisfactory. . . It is not that 'Private Report' lacks action and intrigue. It has plenty of both, but they don't amount to a tight plot; the story rambles along and seems to run in a circle. As background material, however, as a picture of an occupied European country under the Nazi yoke, the book is most valuable." R. R. Plant

+ — Sat R of Lit 26:10 Ag 28 '43 400w

"Although 'Private Report' is not as pulse-quickening as some recent narratives dealing with similar material, it is probably closer to the realities." Lisle Bell

Weekly Book Review p17 Jl 25 '43 430w

ROBERTS, THOMAS ANDREW, and ROBERTS, RUTH ANDERSON. Accurate home estimating; a text and reference for students of home building and homemaking, contractors, draftsmen, material dealers, journeymen, and apprentices. 285p il $3 Bruce pub.

692.5 Building—Estimates 42-15468

"A practical, well-illustrated manual which includes material on blueprints, specifications, and rough carpenter work in addition to the standard methods of estimating, both approximate and detailed. Glossary of work terms and many tables." (Booklist) Index.

Booklist 38:422 Jl 1 '42

N Y New Tech Bks 27:53 O '42

N Y New Tech Bks 28:5 Ja '43

ROBERTS, WILLIAM HENRY. Psychology you can use; diagrams by James Macdonald. 246p $2 Harcourt

150 Psychology, Physiological 43-5887

Simply written explanations of the psychology of seeing, hearing, feeling, thinking, remembering, etc. Written for the layman, the book contains many simple experiments with which to test the truth of statements made.

Booklist 39:363 My 15 '43

Springf'd Republican p7e Je 27 '43 110w

Wis Lib Bul 39:70 My '43

ROBERTSON, FRANK CHESTER (FRANK CHESTER FIELD, pseud). Grizzly meadows. 256p $2 Dutton

43-7358

Western story.

Booklist 40:48 O 1 '43

"A fast, lively, stirring tale in Frank C. Robertson's best vein, and perhaps the best written and most skillful in characterization of all the novels he has published thus far." G. W. Harris

+ N Y Times p16 Je 20 '43 220w

"This one is OK if it's excitement you want and who that reads Western doesn't? Not your correspondent for one." Baron Ireland

+ Springf'd Republican p7e Je 13 '43 220w

Reviewed by Will Cuppy

Weekly Book Review p16 Jl 11 '43 130w

ROBERTSON, WILLARD. South from yesterday. 309p $2.50 Lippincott

43-4859

A young Nova Scotian ship's radio man, very much down on his luck, arrives at a Virginia lighthouse in time to save the life of the lighthouse keeper. As a result he finds himself in charge of the lighthouse and a neighboring island for four months. During that time he marries a girl from the mainland, and after a period of mutual misunderstanding, they decide to go—together.

"'South from Yesterday' has a certain dreamy quality reminiscent of the motion picture made from Robertson's previous novel, 'Moon Tide.' However, its pseudo-realism will probably depress the average reader." J. D. Lawrence

Book Week p7 My 2 '43 230w

Booklist 39:369 My 15 '43

"If you like your fiction fast this is one for the list." Meyer Berger

N Y Times p7 Ap 18 '43 600w

Reviewed by Phil Stong

Sat R of Lit 26:16 Ap 24 '43 360w

"Mr. Robertson is a past master at depicting the sordid, the shabby, the furtive and the broken-down. . . In 'Moon Tide,' he displayed these talents, plus the ability to weave a moving romance more than adequately. But 'South From Yesterday' does not come off quite as well. The realism is here and the drama, but the suspense, the headlong rush of event upon event is missing. Milo is a fugitive, but the reader is permitted to forget this for long periods. 'South From Yesterday' does flare into sudden and breath-taking drama, but readers who want their action stories packed with blood and suspense will be disappointed." Leo Lerman

+ — Weekly Book Review p10 My 2 '43 750w

ROBERTSON, WILLIAM SPENCE. History of the Latin-American nations. 3d ed 560p maps $4 Appleton-Century

980 Latin America—History 43-9171

"This is the third edition of a well-known, widely used history of our neighbors to the south. It has been brought up-to-date, is well fortified with excellent maps, and contains an extensive bibliography and a fine index." (Social Studies) For first edition see Book Review Digest, 1922; for the second, Book Review Digest, 1932.

Christian Century 60:871 Jl 28 '43 30w

+ Social Studies 34:288 O '43 40w

ROBINSON, ARMIN L., ed. Ten commandments; pref. by Herman Rauschning. 488p $3 Simon & Schuster

43-51355

"Ten short novels of Hitler's war against the moral code." (Subtitle) Contents: Thou shalt have no other gods before me, by Thomas Mann; Thou shalt not make any graven image, by Rebecca West; Thou shalt not take the name of the Lord thy God in vain, by Franz Werfel; Remember the sabbath day, to keep it holy, by John Erskine; Honor thy father and thy mother, by Bruno Frank; Thou shalt not kill, by Jules Romains; Thou shalt not commit adultery, by André Maurois; Thou shalt not steal, by Sigrid Undset; Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbor, by Hendrik Willem Van Loon; Thou shalt not covet, by Louis Bromfield.

Reviewed by Sterling North

Book Week p3 Ja 2 '44 850w

Booklist 40:166 Ja 1 '44

"If we needed proof that propaganda is the death of art, we could certainly find it here. . . In spite of the distinction of style in some of these stories we can only conclude that it has been pretty badly wasted on this effort." N. E. Monroe

— + Cath World 158:503 F '44 230w

"Though the book is uneven in quality, it is based on a highly imaginative idea. . . Such a volume as 'The Ten Commandments' would be interesting at any time; today it seems almost imperative. For there is no longer much doubt that the Nazi New Order set out not only to acquire lebensraum but to uproot and obliterate the zeitgeist of western culture. We are confronted with an impressive appearance of Anti-Christ in full dress. . . [Despite] editorial and artistic imperfections, 'The Ten commandments' is still a notable book as it interprets our present moral crisis through the creative imagination. And as a final triumph of the collective civilized mind which is thinking here, I should point out that these exiles, émigrés and anti-fascists actually understand the Nazi mentality—something that not even the Nazis have claimed for themselves." Maxwell Geismar

+ — N Y Times p1 D 19 '43 1000w

"A collection of ten long, very long, short stories by well-known contemporary writers (some of them first-rate), proving that the Nazis have broken every command of the Decalogue. Unfortunately, they prove just as conclusively that moral indignation doesn't necessarily make good fiction."

New Yorker 19:67 Ja 1 '44 180w

"There is one commandment against which no anthologist should ever sin, namely: thou shalt not start out with an abstract idea for an anthology and then go and get a number of famous writers to supply the flesh and blood so to say 'to order.' . . Mr. Armin L. Robinson has sinned against this commandment, and therefore . . . in spite of banding together ten world-famous authors . . . the result of his editorial efforts has been a synthetic book in the unhappy sense of this word. The only strong link holding his anthology together seems to be the pair of solid cloth book covers, and not even they prevented this reviewer from getting the impression that the whole book was falling apart because of the utter heterogeneousness of the ten stories it is composed of. This does not mean that these stories are altogether bad or meaningless. Two are even brilliant. There is, first, Thomas Mann's portrait of Moses. . . Then there is Sigrid Undset's picture of the brutish, obscene, sadistic, and yet ridiculous Nazi invaders in Norway." F. C. Weiskopf

— + Sat R of Lit 26:12 D 18 '43 600w

"Summing up the individual evaluations of the contributions, they seem to add up to an impressive book. But for full appreciation of the book as a whole, the suggestion is made that the stories be read in separate sittings." Rose Feld

Weekly Book Review p5 Ja 2 '44 950w

ROBINSON, CLARK SHOVE. Thermodynamics of firearms. 175p $2.50 McGraw

623.53 Ballistics. Firearms 43-10841

"First book in English to place [interior] ballistics on theoretical basis by means of thermodynamics. Behavior of propellant explosives explained for beginning students, not for experts. Chapters on basic principles, heat of explosion, heat capacity of powder gases, ignition of propellant powders, rate of explosion, loading density, recoil, flash and smoke, etc." (Library J) Index.

"For the person with scientific background, this book will be excellent reading or reference material." L. E. Grinter

+ Book Week p10 S 19 '43 70w

"In presenting a clear development of the fundamentals of this subject the book fills an important need since, as stated by the author, there is no equivalent work in the English language. The ballistic data utilized have been available generally for some years." H. B. Alexander

+ Chem & Eng N 21:1648 O 10 '43 280w

"Highly recommended as an introductory text, and as a clear cut exposition of fundamentals." G. F. Kinney

+ Chem & Met Eng 50:215 N '43 280w

Library J 68:576 Jl '43 40w

N Y New Tech Bks 28:44 Jl '43

ROBINSON, MRS DOROTHY (ATKINSON). See Blake, D. pseud.

ROBINSON, GERTRUDE. Peter Snow, surgeon; decorations by Woodi Ishmael. 215p $2 Dutton
43-7871

Peter Snow, son of the English surgeon James Snow, arrived in Maine in 1664. His father was fleeing from England because he had helped a wounded Puritan. In the Maine Wilderness Peter had a perilous time until he was taken in charge by John Eliot, the apostle to the Indians. The later half of the book describes life at Harvard college in the 1660's. For older boys.

Reviewed by David Blowney
Book Week p11 O 3 '43 90w

Booklist 39:469 Jl 15 '43

Reviewed by Gertrude Andrus
Library J 68:628 Ag '43 110w

"Miss Robinson, as her earlier books have proved, is a past master at painting the brave New World of the seventeenth century. We see in this one significant figures and currents of thought which reveal the age, but the book as a whole lacks unity. The first half is so chock-full of exciting incidents that the second half, though an interesting picture of early college days, is an anticlimactic let-down from the mood of high adventure." A. T. Eaton
+ — N Y Times p10 Jl 18 '43 300w

New Yorker 19:124 D 4 '43 70w

"This is good reading for 12 to 14-year-old boys who will enjoy both the story and its historical setting."
+ Springf'd Republican p7e Ag 22 '43 100w

Reviewed by M. L. Becker
Weekly Book Review p8 Je 13 '43 400w

ROBINSON, HENRY MORTON. Fantastic interim. 341p $3.50 Harcourt

973.91 U.S.—History—20th century. U.S.—Civilization 43-5367

Outspoken record of American manners, morals, and business between the years 1919 and 1941. "Mr. Robinson's book is quite frankly an indictment of a shameless era, as well as a lively picture of the fads and follies in which we indulged, he thinks, in order to blind ourselves to the realities of the epoch of Harding and Coolidge." (New Yorker) Index.

"For persons who relish selected sociological data served sizzling hot off the fire of passionate criticism, this is the offering of the year to enjoy and remember." M. R. Beard
+ Am Soc R 8:359 Je '43 650w

Reviewed by C. H. Grattan
Ann Am Acad 230:220 N '43 450w

Christian Century 60:578 My 12 '43 230w

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert
Foreign Affairs 22:155 O '43 30w

"Recommended for public libraries." J. E. Cross
+ Library J 68:288 Ap 1 '43 90w

"Mr. Robinson is an exponent of private enterprise who has been busy revaluating our 'fantastic interim'; and all things considered, he has not done badly. For here we have the author of 'Private Virtue—Public Gain' approving the cause of the bonus marchers and hailing the New Deal for having come to grips with the economic crisis—at one point he even takes exception to the President for having failed to go far enough! . . It is interesting to have so earnest a business moralist as the author concerned with the possibilities of another postwar cycle of 'normalcy,' prosperity, and depression, and to read his anxious recommendations for sound education, economic security for the masses, and private industry run on social lines. Is Mr. Robinson's book symptomatic of a new attitude developing in the circles of formerly rugged individualists? One would like to think so." Louis Filler
Nation 156:608 Ap 24 '43 750w

"The alliterative subtitle indicates the tone as well as the content of this work in which Mr. Robinson uncovers the sore spots of our recent history and then abruptly substitutes colorful rhetoric for precise analysis of the basic social and economic factors of the period. His recapitulation of the era is marred by the fact that he pulls no punches except the main one."
New Repub 108:574 Ap 26 '43 100w

" 'Fantastic Interim' is lively, highly colored, vehement and indignant. It might be described as a sustained and disapproving Bronx cheer at the Nineteen Twenties and Thirties emitted by a Jeremiah. . . But Mr. Robinson's extreme severity is the defect of a fiercely sincere purpose to bring home to us a fact which I do not believe can be denied. . . His book is energetic, vivid, disturbing and stimulating. It ought to be useful—and let us hope it will be—in making less likely a decline, after this war, into another irresponsible 'normalsy.' " F. L. Allen
+ — N Y Times p2 Ap 4 '43 900w

"Mr. Robinson [is] a Jeremiah with a sense of humor. . . [The book] might make rather doleful reading were it not that Mr. Robinson commands an extremely pungent vocabulary and lays about him with an epithetical vigor that recalls Mencken in his earlier days. There is nothing new in 'Fantastic Interim,' but Mr. Robinson says it very well." Clifton Fadiman
+ New Yorker 19:76 Ap 3 '43 230w

" 'Fantastic Interim' is not a full picture. It is limited by its focus. Mr. Robinson sets out to develop a thesis and does so. It is a mental pick-me-up which has great value. But the deep underlying trends of America are missing here." Paul Wellman
+ — Sat R of Lit 26:31 Ap 17 '43 900w

"The chief value of this book lies in its retrospective emphasis and its intriguing metamorphic style. It moves apace, and at no time is the reader bored, even though some may be enraged. While it is not a profound treatise it yet points up the weaknesses and glaring inconsistencies of what we have come to term, all too uncritically, the American way of life." C. S. Johnson
+ Social Studies 34:330 N '43 750w

"Mr. Robinson frequently forgets that nations as well as individuals learn by trial and error, and although the author has strong faith in the future, the reader should be granted a little immediate skepticism. Mr. Robinson has written a violent castigation containing enough truth to make it uncomfortable reading." L. S. Munn
Springf'd Republican p10 My 7 '43 650w

Reviewed by L. M. Hacker
Weekly Book Review p20 Ap 25 '43 2050w

ROBINSON, HENRY WHEELER. Redemption and revelation; in the actuality of history. (Lib. of constructive theology) 320p $3 Harper [12s 6d Nisbet]

234.3 Redemption. Revelation 42-23294

"Principal Robinson of Regent's Park College, Oxford, is already known to readers of British theology as the author of The Christian Doctrine of Man and The Christian Experience of the Holy Spirit. The present volume deals with a familiar theme but from a fresh point of view. The thesis of this book is that God redeems men by overcoming for them the evils that threaten their lives and by releasing them from the guilt they bear because they have wilfully repudiated the divine purpose. In revealing this redemption, God produces a change of attitude and conduct in men, and this transformation is itself a part of the redemption process." (J Religion) Index.

"Professor Robinson's way of interpreting the Christian gospel and its truth in terms of psychology has led him, I fear, to reduce it to a humanistic subjectivism. To be sure, he wants to avoid such an outcome of his interpretative work. But, as far as I can tell, he has not really succeeded in doing so. If my impression of this work is right, it represents the product of a psychological-philosophical method of theology which in recent theological scholarship (liberal as well as Barthian) has been corrected." Wilhelm Pauck

Christian Century 60:543 My 5 '43 1650w

"Uneven and often difficult in its style, heavy in its scholarship at times, the book rises at climactic points to great heights of eloquence and religious devotion. So, for example, at the conclusion of Part II, the memorable meditation on 'Gibbet Hill.' Altogether, this concluding volume of Robinson's trilogy . . . enables us to understand better than any of his previous works why this Baptist scholar holds such a leading place among Free Church theologians in England." W. M. Horton
+ — Crozer Q 20:251 Jl '43 650w

"Throughout this book we find that open-mindedness which is characteristic of contemporary scholarship at its best. . . To one reader at least the most interesting parts of the book were those where Dr Wheeler Robinson brings his great knowledge of the Old Testament and Hebrew psychology to bear, and shows the significance of the three elements in the thought of Paul on the Atonement—ransom, sacrifice, and judicial acquittal." L. A. Garrard
+ Hibbert J 41:190 Ja '43 1150w

"The great strength of the book lies, in my opinion, in its firm rootage in history. Dr. Robinson is willing to embrace the doctrine of divine passibility rather than sacrifice historical reality at the Cross, though he protects his doctrine of God by the familiar theory of divine self-limitation. The human record is taken seriously, as a part of the divine purposive and redemptive activity. It is a provocative and thoroughgoing piece of work." E. E. Aubrey
+ J Religion 23:137 Ap '43 1100w
Times [London] Lit Sup p304 Je 20 '42 480w

ROBINSON, JACOB, and others. Were the minorities treaties a failure? 349p $2 Inst. of Jewish affairs of the Am. Jewish congress & the World Jewish congress, 330 W. 42d st, N.Y.

323.1 Minorities. League of nations 43-16500

"This study is a thoroughly documented examination of the whole process by which the minorities treaties of the Versailles period were brought into existence, the issues which rose under them, and the diplomatic and political backgrounds of these issues and of the efforts either to meet or to shelve them. The authors are Jacob Robinson, Oscar Karbach, Max Laserson, Nehemiah Robinson and Marc Vichniak. All have given years of experience and research to these problems. A bibliography, notes, texts of treaties and memoranda, statistical tables and charts, and an index constitute the apparatus." Christian Century

Christian Century 60:1406 D 1 '43 330w

"This scholarly tratise is furnished with a valuable bibliography."
+ New Repub 109:862 D 13 '43 210w

ROBINSON, OLIVER. Triumvirate. 288p $2.50 Humphries
43-13676

The time is 1914 and the years following, the place, an Indiana town called Gouverneur. The triumvirate of the title is composed of Philip Haverly and Silvia Oliver, descendants of the town's first settlers, and Keith Winston who grew up with them. The book is a study in adolescent psychology as embodied in these three youngsters.

"At a guess, it would seem that Mr. Robinson has drawn his novel from a community he knows very well, and, having decided to put his friends into a book, has also decided not to hurt their feelings by being too honest about them. But the town itself is well done and there is much to be admired in the simple, straight-forward handling of the whole theme. When Mr. Robinson decides to be a little less polite and a little less guarded about the emotions of his characters, he will be a fine writer." Rosemary Dawson
+ — Sat R of Lit 26:46 O 16 '43 400w

"The four spinster custodians of Philip's upbringing are gems of portraiture, and all the minor figures in the story are skillfully drawn. 'Triumvirate' is richly entertaining." Lisle Bell
+ Weekly Book Review p20 S 19 '43 450w

ROBINSON, PAT. Fight for New Guinea; General Douglas MacArthur's first offensive. 183p $2 Random house

940.542 World war, 1939—New Guinea. World war, 1939—Aerial operations
43-11064

The report of an International News service man on the battle for New Guinea. He takes up the story where it left off at the end of We Were Expendable, and describes MacArthur's brave fight to hold the Japanese from Australia, until reinforcements arrived. The author was in the midst of the jungle fighting on the Kokoda Trail and in other parts of the battle for New Guinea. Index.

Booklist 40:44 O 1 '43

"The book is perfectly timed. To read it is to have a clear understanding of the newest action in the Pacific." Meyer Berger
+ N Y Times p3 Jl 18 '43 550w

"Robinson is a competent reporter. He is also a worshipper of heroes, ranging from MacArthur down to the mechanics at the Seven-Mile Airfield near Port Moresby. He names them all, three and four and a half dozen to a page, complete with addresses and physical characteristics. . . But the book also suffers from serious shortcomings. For twenty years, Pat Robinson has covered sports, and the technique of covering baseball and boxing has become a part of him, until he cannot depart from it even in writing a book on strategy, war, and men's violent death. Primarily a collection of short newspaper reports on hundreds of men, the book is shapeless. It has no continuity, no discernible chronological or thematic order, no suspense." M. J. Gayn
+ — Sat R of Lit 26:12 Ag 7 '43 850w

"Mr. Robinson sets it all down in a personal, intimate, realistic sort of history that will delight every reader. A more complete and detailed account of the campaign, precisely written, may appear later, but of a certainty it cannot surpass in intensity the story so vividly told in 'The Fight for New Guinea.'" P. J. Searles
+ Weekly Book Review p4 Jl 18 '43 1550w

ROBINSON, PEARLE THURBER, and others. Before you fly; essentials of aeronautics. [new ed] 624p il maps $2.75 Holt

629.13 Aeronautics 43-2497

"To prepare secondary-school boys and girls to understand the whole of aviation—pleasure and commercial as well as military—the authors have presented, first, the opportunities in aviation and their requirements; then the story of aircraft; the basic laws of physics and the forces which affect flight; the construction of airplanes; the operation of engines and propellers; a fundamental knowledge of meteorology; the use of instruments in flying; and the art of avigation." (School & Society) Index.

Book Week p8 Ap 11 '43 60w
Booklist 39:336 Ap 15 '43
Bookmark 4:8 Mr '43
Library J 68:36 Ja 1 '43 20w
N Y New Tech Bks 28:3 Ja '43

"The treatment is simple and cut to the bone, almost too sketchy for its intended readers and hardly nourishing to any one with more than a nodding acquaintance with these subjects. However, this brevity, together with a glossary of aeronautical terms, bibliography and index, make the book handy for reference." Theodore English
N Y Times p10 My 16 '43 100w

ROBINSON, P. T.—Continued

"The text is clear, but a better job of technical writing could have been done. In short, the book, because of its compactness, does not give a sufficient explanation of many technical terms. A good glossary in the back of the book helps somewhat. The text is probably most useful in the classroom, rather than for self-study." J. I. G.

+ — Sat R of Lit 26:33 Ag 21 '43 110w

School & Society 57:112 Ja 23 '43 90w

"Though written by high-school teachers mainly for students there is no condescension in the author's style, and older persons too will be able to read it with interest and profit." James Stokley

+ Weekly Book Review p20 My 16 '43 100w

Wis Lib Bul 39:51 Ap '43

ROBINSON, PERCY HARRY. Aircrews' book of practical mathematics; general ed: W. J. D. Allan. 149p $1.50 Chemical pub. co. [pa 4s 6d Allen, G]

510 Mathematics. Aeronautics 43-5609

Small manual of essential mathematical knowledge required in aeronautics.

N Y New Tech Bks 27:58 O '42

Reviewed by M. A. Rossnoff
N Y Times p31 Ap 18 '43 140w

ROBINSON, THOMAS PENDLETON. In and out; verses; pictures by Marguerite De Angeli. 140p $2.50 Viking

811 Children's poetry 43-13707

Dainty little poems, many of them about birds, written for a little three-year-old who lives on a Western ranch. Illustrated in color and in black and white. Index.

"Marguerite De Angeli has done the delicately beautiful illustrations in her own inimitable manner. A rich and lovely book to own." Phyllis Whitney

+ Book Week p11 S 19 '43 90w

Booklist 40:64 O 15 '43

"An altogether enchanting book of fresh and spontaneous verse with pictures that are exactly right, not too many and not too big. . . Fortunate the grown-up who can recapture these dreams and set them down in such graceful, childlike fashion. And fortunate, too, the children to whom the verses are read." A. M. Jordan

+ Horn Bk 19:327 S '43 80w

Reviewed by Margaret Abildgaard
Library J 68:728 S 15 '43 60w

Reviewed by E. S. Littlefield
Library J 68:821 O 15 '43 50w

"Verses and pictures speak to a child in a way that he perfectly comprehends, while to the adult they present a portrait of childhood which from his own memories he will recognize as authentic. Parents and teachers will enjoy the sharing of these rhymes with little children." A. T. Eaton

+ N Y Times p6 O 10 '43 280w

Reviewed by M. G. Davis
Sat R of Lit 26:19 S 25 '43 250w

"No volume of recent verse for children, even De La Mare's, has had so pretty a setting of pictures and typography as these little poems, inspired by love of a small girl and illuminated by colored studies of Elizabeth Ann, her playmates and the flowers and pets around her. Some of Mrs. De Angeli's most sympathetic pictures are in this affectionate book." M. L. Becker

+ Weekly Book Review p7 S 19 '43 250w

ROBINSON, THOMAS PENDLETON. Mr Red Squirrel [il. by] Kurt Wiese. [32p] $1.50 Viking

43-13572

Picture story book about a little girl, a red squirrel, and the tea party for two which they had one summer afternoon. For grades one to three.

Booklist 40:64 O 15 '43

Reviewed by F. B. Sloan
+ Christian Science Monitor p6 O 25 '43 70w

"The sympathetic restraint with which the little girl treats her red animal friend is an object lesson to anyone who wants to tame a wild creature. Mr. Wiese's bright pictures show a warmly congenial spirit." A. M. Jordan

+ Horn Bk 19:418 N '43 70w

"The scampering and darting about of the wild squirrel makes this different from the usual squirrel story, and Mr. Red Squirrel will be a favorite with young children." Olive Brain

+ Library J 68:894 N 1 '43 50w

"With a touch as light and as unerring as a squirrel journey up to the top of a pine tree and down again, Mr. Robinson tells of a friendship between a little girl and a wild squirrel of the woods. . . There is genuine knowledge of animals in the book and the story shows a child how wild creatures are tamed." A. T. Eaton

+ N Y Times p22 N 28 '43 180w

Wis Lib Bul 39:148 N '43

ROBINSON, THOMAS PORTER. Radio networks and the federal government. 278p $3.50 Columbia univ. press

621.384193 Radio broadcasting. Radio—Laws and regulation 43-8904

"In its more particular aspects, this book is the story of the relationship between the Federal Communications Commission and the National Broadcasting Company. From the broader standpoint, however, it is the story of the relationship between the Federal government and the network industry. And implicit within this relationship are all of the past mistakes and accomplishments, the present problems, and the future potentialities of radio broadcasting. The controversy merely serves to mirror the basic questions inherent in a role of public service for this dynamic science." (p. 4) Bibliography. Index.

Reviewed by C. B. Swisher
Am Pol Sci R 37:929 O '43 650w

Reviewed by J. L. Fly
Ann Am Acad 230:231 N '43 500w

Reviewed by Graham McInnes
Canadian Forum 23:142 S '43 700w

"Heavy reading but enlightening to anyone desirous of understanding intricacies of radio set-up in America, the problems involved and basis for their future solution. Carefully documented." Thelma Brackett

+ Library J 68:475 Je 1 '43 70w

Reviewed by Jack Gould
N Y Times p20 Ag 15 '43 440w

"This failure to concern himself with the work of others leads Mr. Robinson to traverse familiar ground inexpertly. . . And his discussion of censorship and free speech could have gained greatly in depth and perspective had he troubled to explore the farther reaches of these problems with the help of such a classic as Chafee's 'Freedom of Speech.' In spite of these shortcomings, the present volume is an important and valuable piece of work." C. J. Friedrich

+ — Sat R of Lit 26:8 Jl 10 '43 900w

Reviewed by W. H. Hartley
Social Educ 8:95 F '44 700w

Reviewed by F. L. Schumann
Yale Law J 52:938 S '43 1250w

ROBISON, SOPHIA (MOSES) (MRS SYLVAN ROBISON), and STARR, JOSHUA, eds. Jewish population studies. 189p maps $3.50 Conf. on Jewish relations, inc, 1841 Broadway, N.Y.

312.9 Jews in the U.S. U.S.—Population 43-4954

"The primary purpose of this volume is to describe various techniques which have been used to secure Jewish population data. A certain amount of demographic and social information concerning the Jewish population in 10 cities is presented as illustrative of the kind of material that has been obtained by use of the different methods." Am Soc R

Reviewed by H. F. Dorn
Am Soc R 8:365 Je '43 400w

"This is an interesting study as showing how one group of recent immigrants has adapted itself to certain aspects of American life. As the editor says, however, it is far from adequate, and suggests more questions, by far, than it answers. It tells almost nothing about the more fundamental problems of the adjustment of the mental attitudes of the Jews to American life." W. S. Thompson
Ann Am Acad 228:146 Jl '43 480w

ROCKEFELLER INSTITUTE FOR MEDICAL RESEARCH, NEW YORK. Virus diseases, by members of the Institute: Thomas M. Rivers [and others]. 170p il $2 Cornell univ. press [9s Oxford]

616.9 Virus diseases 43-3801

"This book in its original form consisted of six lectures which the authors delivered at Cornell university in the spring term of 1942." p.[v]. Contents: Virus diseases with particular reference to vaccinia, by T. M. Rivers; Chemical structure and the mutation of viruses, by W. M. Stanley; New hosts as a key to progress in plant virus disease research, by L. O. Kunkel; Swine influenza, by R. E. Shope; Human influenza, by F. L. Horsfall, Jr; Viruses and tumors, by Peyton Rous.

"The material which is presented is concise and clear-cut. Although dealing with only a small portion of the complicated virus field, the data have been well digested and to some extent may prove more valuable to workers interested in virology than some of the larger more comprehensive volumes in the same field, which are entirely lacking in critical analysis and offer unselected masses of facts." Murray Sanders
+ Am J Pub Health 33:448 Ap '43 290w

Reviewed by H. M. Parshley
Weekly Book Review p14 Ag 15 '43 400w

RODELL, MRS MARIE (FREID) (MARION RANDOLPH, pseud). Mystery fiction; theory and technique [with an introd. by John W. Vandercook]. 230p $2 Duell

808.3 Detective stories. Fiction—Technique. Authorship 43-51146

Discussion of the detective novel, the horror novel, the mystery-adventure and the mystery novel, from the writers' point of view. The author illustrates her points with examples from specific novels already published. Short bibliography.

Booklist 39:366 My 15 '43

"Mrs. Rodell has been an editor for many years; she has published three successful whodunits under a nom de plume; when she offers us a crisply written manual on mystery craftsmanship, it is obvious she knows whereof she speaks. Though it is aimed at beginners, this book can be consulted with profit by any literary carpenter who suffers from rusty logic." William Du Bois
+ N Y Times p10 Jl 11 '43 360w

"Taking for granted that mystery fiction is commercial fiction, 'merchandise as opposed to literature,' she shows people with logical minds, who enjoy reading such stories and mean to write them, certain short cuts to technical problems in their construction. Other manuals have done this, but Mrs. Rodell's turns out to be more than a manual, so interweaving special advice with general principles of fiction writing, and so illustrating it with references to contemporary writers that it is interesting to one who goes no further with mysteries than reading them."
+ Weekly Book Review p22 My 2 '43 280w

RODGERS, CLEVELAND. New York plans for the future. 293p pl $3 Harper

711.097471 City planning. New York (city)—Public works. New York (city)—Politics and government 43-1533

"Author, member of Planning Commission of New York, N. Y., for five years, had made an intensive study of local governmental problems, and now he summarizes his thinking in broad terms. Broad, over-all view of New York in proper setting, against background of economic and political history and within view of future possibilities; yet with consideration of national and international developments." (Library J) Index.

Reviewed by Phillips Bradley
Am Pol Sci R 37:730 Ag '43 280w

"The reader is impressed with the author's sound understanding of the effect of the development of the city upon its present condition, the frailty of human nature, and the interests that human beings have had in the past and have in the present time. . . It is not only interesting reading but is stimulating to anyone concerned with big city problems or with the betterment of conditions within his own community. It is well illustrated with photographs." H. W. Green
+ Am Soc R 8:369 Je '43 320w

Reviewed by C. S. Ascher
Ann Am Acad 227:186 My '43 700w

Booklist 39:351 My 1 '43

Christian Science Monitor p12 F 23 '43 360w

"Mr. Rodgers' background of newspaper work gives him a breadth of understanding of social and economic problems facing the city that is exceptional. This, coupled with ability to write well, makes his book well worth reading by anyone interested in the future of our large cities."
+ Eng N 130:128 Mr 11 '43 120w

"Displays remarkable realism in approach to complex economic and political problems in this metropolis. Many specific difficulties are thoroughly analyzed and practical solutions advanced. Recommended, not only to New Yorker who takes pride in his city, to business man and real estate owner who have stake in success of the municipality, but to all city planners and to general reader." R. B. Rankin
+ Library J 68:34 Ja 1 '43 120w

Reviewed by H. S. Churchill
Nation 156:782 My 29 '43 1000w

"This book is recommended reading for New Yorkers. . . Mr. Rodgers's story is not always light reading, but it is of first-hand importance. . . There is much brilliant and eloquent material in this book. There is some material whose very nature it is to be tedious until one realizes its implications for human living. Taking it as a whole, this is a volume that no New Yorker who really wishes to understand his city can afford to neglect." R. L. Duffus
+ N Y Times p7 F 7 '43 1350w

Reviewed by F. L. Ackerman
Sat R of Lit 26:26 Mr 27 '43 750w

ROGERS, BRUCE. Paragraphs on printing; elicited from [the author] in talks with James Hendrickson on the functions of the book designer. 186p il on rag pa $10 Rudge

655.25 Books. Printing, Practical 43-13369

"The plan of the new Bruce Rogers book is an interesting one. There are several sections at the beginning in which Mr. Rogers writes in general terms of the art of printing, but by far the greater part of the volume is taken up with reproductions of title pages and pages of text of BR productions with a commentary upon them and a discussion of the specific problems met and solved by their creator. Running along with these lucid explanations is a second commentary by James Hendrickson enlarging or, occasionally, making specific, particular elements of the main text." Weekly Book Review

Book Week p6 Ag 22 '43 200w

ROGERS, BRUCE—Continued

"One opens the book in some trepidation, knowing the pitfalls of dogmatism and conceit which so many writers have fallen into. Here one finds captivating simplicity and sanity, a decent common sense of observation and suggestion. Both sanity and simplicity are deceptive, however, for they are the result of that infinite capacity for taking pains which is ascribed to genius. These paragraphs may have started out as 'conversations,' but they have been decanted and refined into the smoothest of elixirs. The very jug which holds it, in short the book itself, is most fittingly contrived." C. P. Rollins

+ Sat R of Lit 26:21 Ag 14 '43 600w

"These 'informal observations on typographical problems' are so quiet in manner, so unassuming that one hardly realizes at first how packed they are with wisdom, how fully expressive of the great tradition of the printing art." L. C. Wroth

+ Weekly Book Review p22 Jl 25 '43 1050w

ROGERS, FRANCES, and BEARD, ALICE. Paul Revere, patriot on horseback; drawings by Frances Rogers. 215p $2 Stokes

B or 92 Revere, Paul—Juvenile literature 43-13007

Interesting biography of Paul Revere for grades seven to nine. Gives an account of all sides of his career. Copy of an old print of Boston on end papers. Index.

Booklist 40:83 N 1 '43

"Conscientiously written and in no sense fictionized, book can be read for story, but teachers will find it useful as much for an account of Boston in the Revolution as of Boston's famous citizen." Marian Cumming

+ Library J 68:730 S 15 '43 80w

New Yorker 19:136 D 4 '43 50w

Wis Lib Bul 39:162 D '43

ROGERS, KERK, pseud. See Knowlton, E. R.

ROGERS, STANLEY REGINALD HARRY. Enemy in sight! 250p $2.75 Crowell

940.545942 World war, 1939—Naval operations. Merchant marine—Great Britain 43-7739

Accounts of some of the exploits of the British navy and the merchant marine. Partial contents: The destruction of Bismarck; The immortal story of Illustrious; The remarkable capture of a U-boat; War in the Mediterranean; The merchant navy; Escape from France; Escape from Norway; Convoy actions. Index.

Booklist 39:423 Je 15 '43

N Y Times p26 My 16 '43 240w

"The author, now living in London following an American boyhood, is a professional artist who has also developed a specialty for writing and illustrating books about the sea and ships, with which he has been on familiar terms most of his life. In this volume he brings together the high spots of Britain's naval and merchant marine war. . . Many of the tales have been told elsewhere, and to this criticism must be added the fact that Mr Rogers writes with extreme detachment which, though this may be effective in some cases, becomes not only monotonous at times, but unfair to the subject at hand." G. W. B.

+ — Springf'd Republican p10 My 18 '43 600w

"'Enemy In Sight' is a vivid, realistic account of the hard-fought and not yet won battle for command of the seas."

+ Weekly Book Review p25 Je 6 '43 320w

ROGERS, WALTER PINGREY. Andrew D. White and the modern university. 259p $2.50 Cornell univ. press [11s 6d Oxford]

378 White, Andrew Dickson. Cornell university 42-19360

"This book is not a biography of Andrew D. White nor is it merely a chronological account of the development of Cornell University. It is a fascinating story of the creative activities of Cornell's first president and his skillful leadership in developing a modern university. The account of the deep friendship which grew between Ezra Cornell, the philanthropist, and Andrew D. White, the educator and statesman, though not new, is most interesting." School & Society

Am Hist R 48:751 Jl '43 700w

"The most readable and comprehensive story of the emergence of the modern American college and university now available, and far more interesting to a reader without a specific institutional interest than, for instance, Henry James's story of Eliot." H. D. Gideonse

+ Am J Soc 48:778 My '43 600w

Reviewed by D. A. Weaver

+ School & Society 57:479 Ap 24 '43 450w

ROHMER, SAX, pseud. (ARTHUR SARSFIELD WADE). Seven sins. 328p $2.50 McBride 43-14777

London during the present war is the scene. The chief characters are Gaston Max, French detective temporarily in England; Lord Marcus Amberdale, adept in Egyptian occultism; Chief Inspector Firth of Scotland Yard; and a beautiful proprietress of a secret roulette wheel. A ring of clever Nazi agents, smuggling news out of England, start the action off.

"Although some of the mystery may seem a little too mysterious, some of the glamour a little too glamorous and some of the cleverness a little too ostentatiously clever the plot moves along at a nice clip." Elizabeth Bullock

+ — Book Week p5 O 17 '43 70w

"Like the other Sax Rohmer tales, this one is wildly improbable—and eminently readable." Isaac Anderson

N Y Times p10 O 3 '43 120w

Springf'd Republican p7e N 7 '43 170w

"Fu Manchu regulars should read this for an attack of their favorite brand of shivers." Will Cuppy

Weekly Book Review p22 O 10 '43 180w

ROMAN CATHOLIC CHURCH. Pope. Principles for peace; selections from papal documents, Leo XIII to Pius XII; ed. for the Bishops' com. on the Pope's peace points by Harry C. Koenig; with a pref. by Samuel A. Stritch. 894p $7.50 Nat. Catholic welfare conf.

261 Peace. Sociology, Christian 43-9841

"A collection of Papal pronouncements from Leo XIII to Pius XII on the establishment of a just and Christian peace founded upon the dignity of man and the moral law. The Most Reverend Samuel A. Stritch, Archbishop of Chicago, states in the Preface that the Pope's Peace Plan supports the peace aims of the United States, and that, while defending the 'independence' of a state, it does not enter the domain of politics, but pleads for the brotherhood of man and the sovereignty of God." School & Society

"This volume is truly a completely integrated and authoritative program of political, social and economic principles based on the natural law and Christian revelation so vitally basic to the cause of international peace." Fr. Albert Durant

+ Book Week p6 Jl 25 '43 550w

Cath World 157:665 S '43 270w

Commonweal 38:497 S 3 '43 100w

School & Society 58:16 Jl 3 '43 80w

ROMULO, CARLOS PENA. Mother America; a living story of democracy. 234p $2.50 Doubleday

990 Eastern question (Far East). Philippine Islands—Politics and government 43-16445

"A history of the Filipino people, since their beloved islands were wrested from the agents of an effete Spanish monarchial system, to the hour of the Japanese conquest. It is not so much a history of persons and dates as one of ideas and the Filipinos' strivings for the freedom that Americans introduced to a gaping Europe in '76. And because its conclusions are flattering to American government and the American over-all attitude toward the people of the Philippines, there is an attendant dynamite for postwar white rule in the East implicit in the comparisons which it draws." Book Week

---

Reviewed by Leo Kennedy
+ Book Week p1 N 7 '43 800w
Booklist 40:112 D 1 '43

"Although sometimes too exuberant in his praises and too sweeping in his condemnations, the author of this book writes instructively and impressively of the contrast between the United States and other nations in their colonial policies."
+ — Cath World 158:413 Ja '44 130w

Reviewed by J. N. Moody
Commonweal 39:257 D 24 '43 600w

Reviewed by Nathaniel Peffer
N Y Times p3 N 14 '43 1050w

" 'Mother America,' though on occasion a bit over-idealistic, contains the only true prescription for peace in the Orient. That prescription is extremely simple: Orientals are human beings and must be treated as such. If we cannot learn the lesson of human equality, we may as well start breeding sons for slaughter in the next war." Clifton Fadiman
New Yorker 19:104 N 6 '43 320w

"A stirring, stinging, uncomfortable, eloquent, and compelling book; that gives you more of a head start on the future than any new work we can think of." N. C.
+ Sat R of Lit 26:14 N 6 '43 600w

" 'Mother America' has some defects—it makes little distinction among British, French and Dutch colonial policies—but it is full of ideas, information and infectious optimism. Widely read, it can make a definite contribution to the peacemaking process." Emanuel Slotnick
+ — Springf'd Republican p7e N 21 '43 600w

"Colonel Romulo does not pull his punches. And they are clean punches, straight to the point and not all of them are directed at British, Dutch and French imperial policy which he hates with all his being. We get our share. . . 'Mother America' is a profound, important, enlightening book. I cannot urge strongly enough that it be widely read in Washington and throughout the United States." Louis Adamic
+ Weekly Book Review p3 N 14 '43 1300w
Wis Lib Bul 40:9 Ja '44

ROOS, ANN. Man of Molokai; the life of Father Damien; il. by Raymond Lufkin. 254p $2 Lippincott

B or 92 Damien de Veuster, Joseph (Father Damien)—Juvenile literature 43-5672

Biography of the heroic priest, Father Damien, who spent many years on the lonely Pacific island of Molokai, improving the condition of the members of the leper colony, before he himself died of leprosy. For young readers. Bibliography.

"Miss Roos' book should appeal to everyone interested in the work of missionaries, and to children who are taught to see the good rewarded. It carries throughout the flavor and fervor of the Catholic faith." G. H. Freitag
+ Book Week p4 My 2 '43 440w
Booklist 39:374 My 15 '43
+ Cath World 157:333 Je '43 90w
Christian Century 60:548 My 5 '43 20w

Reviewed by A. M. Jordan
Horn Bk 19:177 My '43 80w

"Inspiring account of life of uncouth Belgian priest who, through courage, self-sacrifice and devotion, brought hope, courage, and dignity into wretched lives of hundreds of lepers exiled to lonely Molokai. . . Recommended for children twelve and older." Laura Wang
+ Library J 68:578 Jl '43 80w

"Author of this biography for young people has tried earnestly to recreate Father Damien's personality, but book is lifeless. . . The biography that will bring out Father Damien's extraordinary achievements and singleness of purpose has yet to be written for young people." Dorotha Dawson
— Library J 68:578 Jl '43 60w

"Father Damien, who gave his life for the lepers of the Hawaiian Islands, makes a dramatic and inspiring subject for juvenile biography. His story is here told with feeling and in well-written prose."
+ New Yorker 19:70 My 29 '43 90w
Sat R of Lit 26:30 My 15 '43 10w
Wis Lib Bul 39:112 Jl '43

ROOSEVELT, FRANKLIN DELANO. See United States. President, 1933- (F. D. Roosevelt)

ROSE, DONALD FRANK. Mr Wicker's war. 250p $2 Macrae Smith co.

43-15483

After the first World war John Wicker came home to Ohio determined to mix in no more European wars; let the Europeans stew in their own juice in future. When the second World war began John had a prosperous business, a large family, and was reasonably content. Presently he found himself involved like every other American householder, with two sons in the service, and his daughters busy keeping up the morale of the fighting forces. And Mr Wicker played his part, and did it well, tho grudgingly.

"If a middle-aged American wants to get a reasonable idea of how he's doing on World War II's civilian front, this book is a good mirror for him. It won't excite the jitterbug and jive readers, it won't send hot flushes up and down the spines of mystery-story addicts and it won't appeal to snobbish intellectuals. It's easy-chair stuff, pleasant reading for a limited number of readers. There are some light chuckles in it, but no belly-laughs." Meyer Berger
+ N Y Times p4 N 7 '43 400w

"Mr. Rose writes with humor and a keen sense of suburban domesticity. The Wickers have a war garden, rationing problems and the heartache of parting with their sons. Like millions of others, they have adjusted their lives for the duration." Lisle Bell
+ Weekly Book Review p30 N. 21 '43 230w

ROSENBERG, HAROLD. Trance above the streets [verse]. autog ed 80p $2.75 Gotham bkmart

811 43-18299

"Harold Rosenberg belongs to the generation of poets who reached maturity just after the renaissance of the twenties, a generation which carried on the tradition of the more important imagists, those imagists who transcended their movement and laid the foundation of an American style. . . Rosenberg is a skillful practitioner of the method. He is an eclectic, stemming largely from Stevens and William Carlos Williams with the enlargement of surrealist relaxation. His preoccupations, however, are somewhat different from those of his masters, for the socio-political atmosphere of the thirties and forties have left their mark upon his writing." Poetry

---

"This is brittle and jerky verse, often technically deficient because of the author's inability to master the rise and fall of the stanza.

ROSENBERG, HAROLD—Continued
There is an originality of perception here, and a concrete personal imagery that is sometimes highly effective, but too many of the poems read like exercises—'études' instead of 'pieces.' " David Daiches
— + New Repub 109:149 Ag 2 '43 90w

"Mr. Rosenberg is already a mature artist but, fortunately, not a finished one. In a certain unevenness there is promise of more development. He has no use for the mournful mysticism of the Eliot school or the metaphysical whines of the later Audenites. . . His own poetry is neither sad nor glad. We can hope from him a little less studied intellectuality, a more spontaneous challenge to the angel. He has written a good book. Now he is ready for something bigger." H. R. Hays
+ — Poetry 62:342 S '43 800w

ROSENFARB, JOSEPH. Highway to Tokyo. 117p $1.25 Little

940.5352 World war, 1939—Japan 43-12869

The author surveys the military situation in the Pacific war and discusses the feasibility of attack on Japan by various routes, concluding that attack from the South Pacific stands the best chance.

Reviewed by J. I. Greene
Book Week p8 S 26 '43 180w
Booklist 40:57 O 15 '43
Christian Science Monitor p11 O 9 '43 550w

" 'Highway to Tokyo,' though not a long book, is a thorough and balanced estimate of the Pacific situation by a layman for the general student of the war news." J. I. Greene
+ N Y Times p6 S 12 '43 1050w

"An all-too-brief, clumsily written, but notably suggestive book." Clifton Fadiman
+ — New Yorker 19:83 S 11 '43 700w
Springf'd Republican p7e O 10 '43 800w

"Mr. Joseph Rosenfarb is one writer on the war in the Far East who claims no intimate knowledge of the countries or armies involved. Neither is he a professor of the science of war. He is a lawyer attached to the legal staff of the National Labor Relations Board and was born and had his academic education in Russia and his legal training in this country. It would appear that he has applied a very incisive and precise mind to the problem of getting at Japan and beating her on her home soil." Rodney Gilbert
+ Weekly Book Review p22 S 19 '43 600w

ROSS, EARLE DUDLEY. History of the Iowa state college of agriculture and mechanic arts. 451p il $3 Iowa state college press

630.7 Iowa state college of agriculture and mechanic arts, Ames 43-4484

"Dr. Ross has portrayed in vivid and scholarly lines the growth and progress of the Iowa State College, its origin, its early struggles, its place in the state and in the intellectual world." School & Society

"It may be said at once that this volume is a highly creditable and workmanlike contribution to the history of higher education in America. The author has told his story adequately and as the sources revealed it. . . The treatment of disturbing incidents is forthright yet restrained, and the steady educational progress is revealed undiluted by any idle boasting." G. S. F.
+ Am Hist R 48:672 Ap '43 180w
School & Society 56:644 D 26 '42 30w

ROSS, MARY STEELE. American women in uniform; il. by Brandford. 71p $1 Garden City pub. co.

940.5315396 World war, 1939—Women's work 43-7069

Describes 27 American women's war organizations and illustrates each, with uniform, insignia and rank in full color. Lists duties, qualifications, and requirements for individual members.

"For the woman who anticipates entering a civilian service or who wants to know more about the services before making up her mind, this is an invaluable book. Because of the intelligent manner of compilation, the information that interests you most is easily found without a reading of the entire text." A. G.
+ Book Week p5 Ap 25 '43 110w

Reviewed by Lucy Greenbaum
N Y Times p18 Je 6 '43 180w
Springf'd Republican p7e Je 13 '43 170w

ROSS, MRS NANCY WILSON. WAVES; the story of the girls in blue. 214p il $2.50 Holt

359.34 U.S. Naval reserve. Women's reserve 43-14827

A sober account, not without its touches of humor, of the training and organization of the women's branch of the United States Naval Reserve, "Women Accepted for Voluntary Emergency Service." Index.

" 'The Waves' may be used as a reference book for more technical questions about women in the Navy. It is a good source for general information about requirements for enlisting, possible assignments, and is excellent for the more personal queries such as: 'What shall I take with me when I leave for training?,' and other questions in the minds of American women, from whose ranks all Waves have been recruited." M. L. Ransburg
+ Book Week p4 N 21 '43 230w
Booklist 40:108 D 1 '43

"The women in blue have pitched in to do a corking job subbing for men and 'The Waves,' which describes their duties and achievements, does them justice. It hits new heights in the annals of women's military history, for here the feminine acts of war are related both to the broader branch of service to which they belong and to the individuals themselves." Lucy Greenbaum
+ N Y Times p18 O 17 '43 550w

"From the first day of 'Boot camp' to the first assignment including all phases of the life of a WAVE are described with accuracy. A prospective recruit will find much valuable information in 'The WAVES' and the citizen, who knows there are WAVES but has never been able to learn exactly what they do, will also be enlightened." E. R. Mallette
+ Springf'd Republican p7e D 5 '43 170w

Reviewed by Rachel Meisenhelder
Weekly Book Review p20 N 7 '43 650w

ROSS, PETER V. Bible in brief; a digest of the King James version. 427p maps $1 Prentice-Hall

220.95 Bible. Whole—History of biblical events 42-25394

"It's size [is] 3½ inches by 5⅝ inches, and the print is surprisingly good. . . The Old Testament and the New of the authorized version are condensed and edited with a running commentary." Springf'd Republican

School & Society 56:560 D 5 '42 10w

Reviewed by Lois Boyle
+ Springf'd Republican p7e F 28 '43 110w

ROSSELL, MRS BEATRICE (SAWYER). Public libraries in the life of the nation. 105p il $1.50 A.L.A.

020 Libraries 43-51216

"An introduction to public-library service written for young people of college age. It is intended to give some idea of the variety of opportunities open to them in urban, rural, school, and special libraries, and some vision of the work they may do if they fit themselves to be library executives. The book should be useful not only to those who are considering public-library service as a career, but to library-school students who have already made their decision, and to all who want a brief but comprehensive view of public libraries and their significance in American life." (School & Society) Illustrated. Bibliography.

Booklist 39:455 Jl 15 '43

Reviewed by Maude Adams
Library J 68:663 S 1 '43 290w
School & Society 59:32 Jl 10 '43 100w

ROSTEN, NORMAN. Fourth decade, and other poems. 142p $2 Farrar

811 43-15413

Poems concerned with "the external world and its action," about Europe and America in the '30s and about Bataan and Sevastapol in the '40s.

"These poems have qualities of fire and ice. They are written in a cold rage and a heroic shout: they celebrate the knavery and cowardice of the big men who necessarily started the war, and the courage and strength of the little men who as necessarily will finish it." Leo Kennedy
+ Book Week p12 N 21 '43 430w

"If Holmes tends to sacrifice his poetic license to his experience, Norman Rosten yields it up voluntarily to the 'external world and its action' which, he informs us, he is most concerned with in his poetry. Why Stalingrad should be regarded as more 'external' than a flower is difficult to see. Primarily Rosten tries to write for a wide, popular audience . . . and succeeds by writing for them in the language, spirit and mood of a rhapsodic newspaper editorial, with Marxist implications and gleanings of the more threadbare rhetorical devices from a type of poetry he deplores and disclaims." William Poster
New Repub 109:890 D 20 '43 120w

"Norman Rosten, except for line separation, writes not poetry but a very bare prose, rising occasionally to the excitement of names and exclamations. . . It is not clear to me what he gives us—except for greater selectivity—that we do not get from newspaper accounts." R. G. Davis
N Y Times p42 N 21 '43 160w

"Young spirits awake we have in our own land. Norman Rosten's is one. He writes of today in powerful measure. . . It is good to have a book like this, alive to great issues. . . Rosten knows what price this age is paying that the spirit of man may go on. This is a good book, like an automatic, compact and hard." W. R. Benét
+ Sat R of Lit 26:22 D 4 '43 250w

ROTHERY, AGNES EDWARDS (MRS H. R. PRATT). Ports of British Columbia. (Seaport ser) 279p il $3 Doubleday

917.11 Vancouver, British Columbia. Victoria, British Columbia 43-51207

Description and history of Vancouver and Victoria, chief seaports of British Columbia. Photographs. Map on end papers. Index.

Booklist 39:462 Jl 15 '43

"Miss Rothery writes of the ports of British Columbia as an outside observer, but as a gifted and sympathetic one who sees and interprets what the actual visitor would most like to see and know. This is more than a geographical and descriptive work; as books of this kind should be (and seldom are) it is also a guide book to the spirit of the region and its inhabitants." Archie Binns
+ N Y Times p24 Jl 25 '43 440w

"This volume depicts Vancouver and Victoria quite fairly, as they would appear to a thoughtful and observant visitor. The several photographs are disappointing and do justice to none of the subjects they attempt to portray." Stewart Holbrook
+ — Weekly Book Review p5 Ag 15 '43 1050w
Wis Lib Bul 39:108 Jl '43

ROTHMAN, MICHAEL. Build it yourself! a hundred good ideas for making your home more comfortable. 140p il $1.75 Greenberg

684 Woodwork. Carpentry 43-3479

Instructions for the amateur carpenter on how to construct modern furniture, the use of tools, the choice of woods, painting, refinishing and upholstering. Many diagrams and a few photographs.

Booklist 39:383 Je 1 '43

Reviewed by J. M. Juran
N Y Times p40 N 7 '43 180w

"Will be a distinct addition to the average home workshop."
+ Springf'd Republican p7e My 16 '43 140w
Weekly Book Review p27 Mr 7 '43 100w

ROTHSCHILD, LINCOLN. Sculpture through the ages; foreword by Paul Manship. (Whittlesey house publication) 279p il $5 McGraw

730 Sculpture 42-52156

For descriptive note see Annual for 1942.

"An artist who can tell how he makes a work of art is so uncommon that Mr. Rothschild's book takes on a special interest. For he is a sculptor, and, by implication, he admits us into his studio and lets us see him at work while he explains his aims. In essentials this happens because he allows us to share his thoughts about fellow sculptors of today and yesterday."
+ Christian Science Monitor p11 Mr 27 '43 290w

"Mr. Rothschild has a vigorous, almost physical, enthusiasm for his subject, has steeped himself in its liveliest appeals, sketches boldly and skilfully, often dramatizes his facts with striking effect and emphasis, and writes, though without style, with zest and honesty. Whether he popularizes intelligently or not is another question." M. D. Zabel
+ — Nation 156:242 F 13 '43 1750w

" 'Sculpture Through the Ages' is a contribution of real moment. It deserves wide circulation and should prove of peculiar value to thousands of readers interested in the subject dealt with." E. A. Jewell
+ N Y Times p10 Ap 18 '43 490w

ROUGHEAD, WILLIAM. Art of murder; with a foreword by Joseph Henry Jackson. 309p $2.75 Sheridan

343 Murder. Crime and criminals. Trials 43-7570

Stories of eight true crimes rewritten by a famous Scotch barrister. Contents: The frightfulness of Mr Williams; Lucretia carries on; Constance Kent's conscience; The luck of Adelaide Bartlett; Wicked Madam Branch; The Duchess of Praslin; The secret of Ireland's eye; A case for De Quincey.

"Here are eight true crimes, crimes as dire and sanguine and diabolic as any of the imaginations of fiction writers have been able to concoct. Told in the highly mannered archaic language of William Roughead, the intellectuals' equivalent of the true detective pulp writer, they make absorbing and grisly, if not rapid, reading." Elizabeth Bullock
+ Book Week p10 Ap 11 '43 230w
New Repub 108:806 Je 14 '43 50w

"Mr. Roughead deals with eight cases, all fascinating, all presented with sparkling clarity and, in spots, with restrained irony and reserved Scottish humor. Mr. Roughead's treatment is too polished to offend." Meyer Berger
+ N Y Times p12 Ap 25 '43 950w

"A superb collection."
+ New Yorker 19:84 Ap 17 '43 110w
Springf'd Republican p7e Ap 18 '43 800w
Time 41:102 My 3 '43 100w

"Here are classic crimes. All of them are, for whether or not they were classic before Roughead wrote about them, he has made them so." M. L. Becker
+ Weekly Book Review p17 My 2 '43 600w

ROUNDS, GLEN. Whitey's Sunday horse; il. by the author. (Story parade picture bk) [28p] 50c Grosset
43-8181

"This book which consists of several chapters taken from the author's longer story 'The Blind Colt,' is a genuine, spirited little tale of a boy who wants what he calls 'the purtiest colt on the ranch' for a 'Sunday' horse. Pretty and 'smart' though the colt is, he proves to be blind and it requires some effort on Whitey's part to persuade Uncle Towal not to shoot the colt. . . Whitey, in trying to think out a way of saving the colt, decides on secret training sessions, in which he teaches the little horse." N Y Times

"An appealing little story of a horse and a boy that children from 7 to 10 and their elders will enjoy. The drawings are full of life and action." A. T. Eaton

+ N Y Times p9 Je 6 '43 240w

Wis Lib Bul 39:125 O '43

ROWE, CLYDE EUGENE. The writing of infrequently used words in shorthand. 90p $1.60 Teachers college

653.1 Shorthand 43-13367

"A study of the problems and techniques of shorthand that paves the way for further investigation of difficulties in the teaching of the subject. A Ph.D. dissertation." (School & Society) Bibliography.

School & Society 57:708 Je 26 '43 30w

"The study would have been more valuable if it had been possible to distinguish between the records of students who were trained in a method which emphasized rules and the records of students who were trained in the more recently used method of presenting word groups without stressing rules. The report is worth reading for the information and conclusions presented, but it is more valuable as a stimulus for further investigations." H. C. Richardson

+ — School R 51:631 D '43 850w

RUCH, GILES MURRELL; KNIGHT, FREDERIC BUTTERFIELD, and STUDEBAKER, JOHN WARD. Arithmetic for the emergency. 176p il pa 64c Scott

511 Arithmetic

"The first half is devoted to the four fundamental operations applied to whole numbers and to common and decimal fractions. Next comes a consideration of angles and simple geometric figures, whereupon the student is taught how to read electric and gas meters, how to interpret graphs, how to calculate percentages, to familiarize himself with elementary business arithmetic and the metric system. To learn something substantial the student will have to work the many practical problems presented." N Y Times

Book Week p8 Jl 4 '43 40w

Reviewed by M. A. Rosanoff

N Y Times p30 My 23 '43 100w

Reviewed by James Stokley

Weekly Book Review p17 Je 20 '43 60w

RUE, ELOISE, comp. Subject index to books for primary grades. 236p $2.50 A.L.A.

016.3724 Readers—Indexes 43-2505

"A revision and expansion of the compiler's Subject Index to Readers (Book Review Digest, 1938) indexes 300 readers, many of them new, and 250 books of nonreader type, covering picture books, song books, handicraft books, easy stories, collections of stories, and a few grammars and arithmetics. Material indexed is for use of the child and teacher, grades 1-3 and preschool. Titles are again starred for first and second purchase. The earlier volume is still valuable since it indexes material in use that has been omitted from the new index in favor of new editions and titles." Booklist

Booklist 39:296 Mr 15 '43

"Although it is designed primarily to facilitate location of subject matter, the index will serve as a guide in selecting and cataloguing books for children. In order to function fully, it should be made a part of the classroom equipment so that teachers may refer to it whenever occasion demands and become thoroughly familiar with the contents. The inclusion of more trade editions might have enhanced the value of this book for third-grade teachers, but, if it is supplemented by other available indexes to subject matter, it will become an invaluable aid to all teachers of primary grades." Evangeline Colburn

+ El School J 43:622 Je '43 500w

"The value of the work cannot be challenged. Anyone who has been an elementary-school librarian in times past and can recall her homemade and inadequate attempts at indexing the unexplored curricular treasures in the series of readers in her storeroom will give feeling testimony of this fact. However, the reviewer, now somewhat removed from the practical field and wishing the reaction of both the librarian and the elementary teacher, asked two of her students engaged in those fields to do a little experimenting over a two-week period with the book. Both returned enthusiastic as to its usefulness." A. B. Mooney

+ Library Q 13:355 O '43 700w

School & Society 57:196 F 13 '43 40w

RUGG, HAROLD ORDWAY. Now is the moment. 269p $2.50 Duell

973.91 U.S.—Civilization. Reconstruction (1939-)—U.S. 43-51147

"A book which briefly and dramatically surveys the American scene, its promise of things to come, and its positive, reassuring achievements." (School & Society) Index.

"Harold Rugg's book froths with exuberance and good cheer. In particularly enthusiastic moments, he actually bursts into impassioned free verse. And he musters all this excitement in the face of his own chilling prophecy that another Ice Age will be upon us unless we change our ways now, this instant. Before all this was put into a book, it was apparently set down in the form of letters to fellow educators, President Roosevelt and other correspondents. Not much seems to have been changed for publication, and the tone in most places is cryptic and impatient, as letters, even to famous personages, generally are." R. H. Rovere

Book Week p2 My 23 '43 290w

Booklist 39:366 My 15 '43

"Earnest, even impassioned, plea that educators assume their rightful leadership in helping establish a decent postwar world." G. O. Kelley

+ Library J 68:209 Mr 1 '43 90w

"Here is a trumpet summoning Americans to their great opportunity, the consummation of all their pioneering and past preparation. . . Professor Rugg is at his best in organizing and describing concrete proposals, as in the section on how America might help design a world order." John Storck

+ N Y Times p20 My 16 '43 700w

School & Society 57:484 Ap 24 '43 20w

RUKEYSER, MURIEL. Willard Gibbs. 465p il $3.50 Doubleday

B or 92 Gibbs, Josiah Willard
42-36387

For descriptive note see Annual for 1942.

Reviewed by R. H. Gabriel

Am Hist R 48:750 Jl '43 850w

"A poet writing about a scientist is bound to produce no ordinary biography. Available material was apparently scarce. Gibbs himself is only sketched, but the outline is interwoven with a rich pattern of comparisons, with the Adamses and the Jameses, with Melville and Whitman, with the life of his century. The result makes stimulating, though in spots difficult, reading. But was it the right sort of biography to write? Gibbs lived within himself, contented with his work and his sister's companionship. Instead of hearing of the background of American life from which he so largely withdrew himself, might it not have been more interesting to have learned more of what goes on in the mind of a lonely and thoughtful man, what causes him to follow singleheartedly after an idea, and to achieve serenity and happiness in doing it? Surely a poet could tell us that." J. C. S.

+ — Atlantic 171:150 Mr '43 250w

"I took up this book with a good deal of curiosity because it was written by one who, having written modern verse, had presumably been led to write about Gibbs by what she had heard of the power of his imagination even though it was exercised in a field in which she was unversed. But on reading it I was disappointed, though not altogether surprised, to find many passages—even many pages—which bear little obvious relation to Gibbs and his achievements. . . Nevertheless, the book does bring together in one place substantially all that is known, or is likely to be known, about Gibbs, with a bibliography and considerable material copied, or quoted, from what has been written about his work and its bearing on the progress of science and industry." John Johnston

+ — Chem & Eng N 21:342 Mr 10 '43 650w

"Despite [its] not inconsiderable merits, the book as a whole must be regarded as unsatisfactory. The biographer's respect for her subject seems to inspire in her a kind of cosmic emotions which tempts her to strain language beyond the ordinary limits of expository prose. The effect aimed at would have been described in an earlier age as sublimity—and sublimity has always been notoriously dangerous. If one can value the enthusiasm and determination to see things whole which Miss Rukeyser brings to her writing, one is impelled on the other hand to question her apparent assumption that obscurity of style is the appropriate vehicle for intense emotion." H. N. Smith

+ — New Eng Q 16:525 S '43 600w

"Miss Rukeyser had done a lot of hard study, a lot of hard thinking, and a lot of good writing in this book. It is an excellent account of the processes of our civilization during a large part of the past century. It gives us a good picture of the intellectual and cultural background of Willard Gibbs and his contemporaries, largely by citing the thought and deeds of some of these who are better known to the reading public—John Quincy Adams and his distinguished grandson Henry, the James family, Herman Melville, Walt Whitman." B. C. Gruenberg

+ Survey G 32:106 Mr '43 900w

"Muriel Rukeyser has written a brilliant and significant biography of the great American scientist, Willard Gibbs, wisely placing the emphasis on his intellectual and scientific achievements." J. G. Kirkwood

+ Yale R n s 32:579 spring '43 700w

RUML, BEARDSLEY. Government, business and values. 52p $1 Harper

338.91 Industry and state 43-9862

This volume contains lectures delivered at the University of Omaha, March, 1943, by the author of the Ruml "pay-as-you-go" tax plan.

Reviewed by H. H. Allen
Book Week p6 Ag 15 '43 200w

Reviewed by A. B. Lindsay
Library J 68:475 Je 1 '43 120w

Reviewed by B. B. Seligman
New Repub 109:402 S 20 '43 150w

Reviewed by John Storck
N Y Times p14 Ag 8 '43 380w

"In Dr. Ruml's slender volume he presents clearly the way for unity in the purposes and practices of government and free enterprise. In the last decade we have seen a great deal in writing prompted by an overweening admiration for business and government, or a bitter criticism of either or both. Dr. Ruml refreshingly takes the role of philosopher and affable arbiter and limits himself to the marking out of guide-posts." Saul Cohn

+ Sat R of Lit 26:10 Ag 14 '43 550w

Reviewed by John Magee, Jr.
Springf'd Republican p6 Ag 23 '43 600w

"The book needs to be read slowly and reflectively. It deals in highly condensed form with basic principles, clearly stated, but without illustrations of their application. These the reader must both supply and test from his own experience. The reader who thinks as he reads will find these two addresses stimulating and helpful." G. W. Alger

+ Survey G 32:458 N '43 330w

RUNES, DAGOBERT DAVID, ed. Twentieth century philosophy; living schools of thought. 571p $5 Philosophical lib.

190 Philosophy, Modern 43-15977

"A well organized symposium covering the ground indicated by the title. Part I consists of nine essays on the various fields of philosophy—ethics, metaphysics, esthetics, philosophy of history, philosophy of science, theology, etc. Part II contains thirteen expositions of as many schools of thought: Kantianism, Hegelianism, Thomism, transcendental absolutism, personalism, logical empiricism, American realism, pragmatism, and others. Among the contributing authors are Tufts, Whitehead, Bertrand Russell, Maritain, Santayana, Montague and John Dewey. Six of the twenty-two papers have been previously published; the others seem to have been prepared espcially for this volume." Christian Century

---

"Although not a book for the lay reader, professionals and laymen accustomed to the occupational vocabulary of the philosopher will find in this book a conspectus of the philosophic scene in terms of twenty-two condensed, clear and distinct perspectives, each drawn by a notable exponent of that particular vision of the world, of man, and of the human enterprise." H. M. Kallen

+ Ann Am Acad 231:195 Ja '44 270w

"This is a good book for the reader who is prepared to give the careful attention that philosophical books demand and whose mind is mature enough to withstand the shock of meeting so many different systems of thought within the covers of one book. . . Catholics will be glad to know that Maritain's piece is truly representative. In an essay of less than twenty pages he succeeds in giving a fine statement of his Aquinas-inspired humanism." J. F. Coffey

+ Cath World 158:105 O '43 310w

Christian Century 60:846 Jl 21 '43 130w

"The work, which is generously sprinkled with misprints, betrays a lack of editorial care, and, as a serious publication in philosophy, lacks the diligence, judgment, and knowledge so essential to true philosophical scholarship." H. A. Taylor

Crozer Q 21:72 Ja '44 600w

"This pretentious hodgepodge is difficult to characterize in a way that will do justice both to the merits of some of its constituent essays and to the incoherence and lack of principle or proportion in the volume in which they are here incongruously united. . . As they say in Hollywood of superproductions designed to satisfy all tastes but the discriminating, this volume 'has got everything'; and it is only seriatim that its curious mélange of reprinted stellar performances, competent surveys of contemporary fields of thought, and fervid special pleadings for assorted gospels can soberly be assessed." A. E. Murphy

— + Ethics 54:153 Ja '44 1350w

"A good deal of useful information, factual and otherwise, resides in this collection. On the whole, it is an effective exhibition of philosophic diversity. It is much less illuminating as a conspectus of basic directions in this century, or as an explanation of influences and crosscurrents." J. B.

+ J Philos 40:642 N 11 '43 900w

Reviewed by Merle Curti
Social Educ 7:383 D '43 150w

RUNES, D. D.—Continued
Reviewed by L. O. Kattsoff
Social Forces 22:238 D '43 270w
Special Libraries 34:385 S '43

RUPP, GEORGE HOOVER. Wavering friendship: Russia and Austria, 1876-1878. 599p il $5 Harvard univ. press [21s Oxford]

949.6 Russia—Foreign relations—Austria. Austria—Foreign relations—Russia. Eastern question (Balkan) A42-192

"As the title indicates, the work concentrates on the relations of Russia and Austria during the critical years, 1876-78. The author emphasizes that the crisis of 1875 was the product of both Russian Panslavism and a military group in Austria, that the Russian diplomatic agents had conflicting objectives, and that the policies of the two governments developed slowly after due consideration of the policies of other powers and the course of events. The author naturally stresses the Reichstadt meeting, the mission of Sumarokov-Elston, the rôle of Bismarck, the Budapest Convention, Ignatiev's tour, the war, and the breakdown of the Reichstadt agreement." Am Pol Sci R

"The book contains a mine of vivid, synoptic information on the personnel engaged in Dreikaiserbund and Balkan diplomacy. It has good contemporary illustrations of the leading characters, appendixes, a well-prepared index, and a selected bibliography which evaluates the materials consulted. Dr. Rupp's volume excels other studies in its field and merits the highest praise." W. G. Wirthwein
+ Am Hist R 48:334 Ja '43 650w

"The book is written in a clear, but not distinguished, style." C. P. Higby
Am Pol Sci R 36:595 Je '42 230w

RUSK, ROGERS D. Forward with science. 312p pl $3.50 Knopf

530 Physics. Atoms 43-4501

"Popular essays on several scientific matters which are still essentially novelties, such as the neutron, the electron microscope, radioactivity, atom-smashing, atomic energy, and cosmic rays." (New Yorker) Index.

Reviewed by L. E. Grinter
Book Week p10 O 10 '43 90w
Booklist 39:365 My 15 '43
Bookmark 4:7 My '43

"For nontechnical reader curious about complexities of modern science, its philosophy, and its place in present topsy-turvy world." J. C. Shipman
Library J 68:288 Ap 1 '43 120w
N Y New Tech Bks 28:34 Ap '43

"Into this book Dr. Rusk has put his modern knowledge, his philosophic questions and his challenge to society. The result is not altogether happy. It is actually two books, not directly related and written on different intellectual levels." Gerald Wendt
+ — N Y Times p31 O 17 '43 380w

"Dr. Rusk is at his best as expositor, at his weakest as abstract thinker."
New Yorker 19:83 Ap 17 '43 60w

"In this book the chairman of the physics department of Mt. Holyoke College has made a commendable attempt to give a rapid survey of the progress of physics in the last decade or two in a form suitable for the general reader. Physicists may safely recommend it to their friends in other professions. It will also probably find use as collateral reading in general survey courses in modern science." E. U. Condon
+ R of Scientific Instruments 14:298 O '43 700w

"The best that can be done for the ordinary reader is to present the results of experimental investigation and to explain the meaning of the results. This Professor Rusk does as skilfully as simple words permit. And so he discusses relativity, the structure of the atom, the cosmic rays, the constitution of the stars, radioactivity, atomic energy, and other matters in a way that will make its appeal to readers who want their information in palatable doses." Waldemar Kaempffert
+ Sat R of Lit 26:25 Ap 24 '43 450w
Springf'd Republican p8 My 20 '43 300w

Reviewed by James Stokley
Weekly Book Review p20 Jl 18 '43 750w
Wis Lib Bul 39:140 N '43

RUSSELL, FRANK ALDEN (TED MALONE, pseud), ed. Yankee doodles; a book of American verse. (Whittlesey house publication) 246p il $2 McGraw

811.08 American poetry—Collections 43-12272

Anthology of familiar poetry, selected for its typical American quality. Index of titles.

Booklist 40:56 O 15 '43

"It's a good selection, consisting largely of the familiar—which isn't always easy to find, by the way—but also salted with good songs and poems that have not had the currency they deserve." Hal Borland
+ N Y Times p22 S 26 '43 120w

RYAN, RICHARD N. Spin in, dumbwhacks. 153p $1.75 Lippincott

358.4 U.S.—Army—Air corps 43-10382

Account of the training days of an American army flier, by one who has experienced them.

Reviewed by S. E. Hyman
Book Week p8 Ag 15 '43 600w
Booklist 40:4 S '43
Cleveland Open Shelf p14 Ag '43

"The observations made by Lieutenant Ryan are terse, frequently dramatic, and always informative. Particularly refreshing is the composite impression of his buddies which he labels Elmer Cadet." Benson Inge
+ N Y Times p10 Ag 8 '43 250w

"Entertaining, instructive, and neatly summed up in the author's heartfelt comment, 'Birds is lucky.' "
+ New Yorker 19:64 Jl 31 '43 60w

RYERSON, FLORENCE, and CLEMENTS, COLIN CAMPBELL. Harriet; a play in three acts. 212p $2 Scribner

812 Stowe, Mrs Harriet Elizabeth (Beecher) —Drama 43-12057

Play based on the life of "the little woman who made a great war," Harriet Beecher Stowe.

Booklist 40:56 O 15 '43
Library J 68:727 S 15 '43 40w

"On the historicity of the character as here written and interpreted I cannot pretend to know enough to pronounce. From what little I do know, however, I am inclined to suspect that Harriet has been idealized pretty well up to the permissible limit and that the version here presented of her mind and character is, shall we say, defensible without being exactly inevitable." J. W. Krutch
Nation 156:426 Mr 20 '43 1100w (Dramatic criticism)

Dramatic criticism by Stark Young
New Repub 108:381 Mr 22 '43 1250w

S

S. M. C. See C., S. M.

SAARINEN, ELIEL. The city: its growth, its decay, its future. 380p il $3.50 Reinhold

711.6 Cities and towns. City planning 43-9034

"As an architect, Eliel Saarinen has had a long and honorable career in Finland and in America. But, like all true architects, he does not think of the individual building as a separate work of art. Whatever the function of the building may be, it has to be integrated into the function of the city. Mr. Saarinen's ideal is 'the designing of such community environments as could make of the community and of the dwelling alike a culturally healthy place in which to live.' City-planning, or rather city-building, as he understands it, must be a war against slums and urban decay." Weekly Book Review

Reviewed by Phillips Bradley
Am Pol Sci R 37:729 Ag '43 450w

"Saarinen is a practical idealist, giving full and reasonable attention to all the material problems that must be solved. He is at the same time steadfast in holding the only view of the city that makes sense: That the city is made for men, not men for the city." J. T. Frederick
+ Book Week p2 Jl 25 '43 850w
Booklist 39:460 Jl 15 '43
Bookmark 4:10 My '43
Christian Science Monitor p10 Jl 31 '43 650w

"One cannot help wishing that at least everyone connected with city planning will read this treatise; one might wish that many others would read it too, but that is probably too much to hope for, since the book is written in a truly horrible English and since the publishers have done nothing to help it by graceful presentation. Bold-face type is sprinkled throughout for a purpose which the reader cannot fathom, presumably for some mysterious sort of emphasis. All it does is to distract. And certainly it is a shame that someone was not employed to go over Saarinen's text and translate it from the Finnish. A good hundred pages could have been cut to advantage. Nevertheless the ideas in this work are so important that one is inclined to forgive a great deal. . . It is doubtful whether anyone concerned with this subject can read Mr. Saarinen without finding that his own thought has been affected one way or another, and that is as high a tribute as one can pay to any book."
+ — Commonweal 38:444 Ag 20 '43 490w

Reviewed by Albert Guérard
Nation 156:606 Ap 24 '43 1250w

"There is no architecture in this architect's book, no mention even, of Louis Sullivan, of Frank Lloyd Wright. The architecture must wait, Mr. Saarinen seems to think, until the social foundation has been built. In this line of thought he has a kinship with Lewis Mumford. The thought does not produce easy or dramatic writing in his case, but it will have its influence. Mr. Saarinen raises questions that cannot be ignored." R. L. Duffus
+ N Y Times p27 My 16 '43 850w

"It is a sign of progress that 'The City' has not been received with either neglect or derision, as it would have been when Mr. Saarinen first came to this country after the Tribune Tower Competition. It is too bad that it is not written more concisely and incisively; it is repetitious and difficult. Nevertheless, it should be read and pondered. The architects and town-planners most of all, can learn much from it." H. C. Churchill
+ — Survey G 32:406 O '43 330w

"Do not believe that the book is entirely filled with general considerations. The author is a technician, and his work will appeal to the specialist. But it should appeal also to all those who dwell and stifle and yearn in our cities. It is a solid contribution to our indispensable policy of post-war reconstruction." Albert Guerard
+ Weekly Book Review p16 My 16 '43 1100w

SACHS, CURT. Rise of music in the ancient world, East and West. 324p il $5 Norton

781.8 Music—History and criticism. Music, Primitive 43-16820

"From his rich store of knowledge, one of the greatest living musicologists presents the first comprehensive study in any language of oriental musical systems and their relation to the music of the West. The book sums up the best results of modern research in many of the most difficult areas of music history, and is a unique and definitive contribution to the literature." Library J

"This is a work of great interest and value to the musicologist, but not likely to be easy reading for the uninitiated amateur. Dr. Sachs has long been known as one of the principal musical authorities in Germany, particularly in the field of musical instruments, and his expert knowledge of their use and history has been of service to him in the composition of this book." Felix Borowsky
+ Book Week p6 Ja 2 '44 380w
Booklist 40:161 Ja 1 '44
Christian Century 61:114 Ja 26 '44 260w

"Since in many passages the vocabulary is necessarily technical, the book is addressed to the serious reader. It should be in every well-developed music collection." R. S. Angell
+ Library J 68:958 N 15 '43 80w

"Anything written by that excellent and seasoned scholar Dr. Curt Sachs is certain to be received with respect and enthusiasm. One respects Dr. Sachs' conclusions even when they collide with one's most cherished notions. His vivid and often intransigent manner of presenting facts and decisions, the thoroughness of his study and the scope of his interests are qualities that inspire in his readers a warm glow of admiration. 'The Rise of Music in the Ancient World, East and West' does not disappoint the expectations Professor Sachs' earlier work has established." R. D. Welch
+ N Y Times p8 D 19 '43 750w

"Professor Sachs' book represents a heroic and also daring accomplishment. It brings into an organized scheme a great diversity of materials that are scattered, uneven, incomplete; it offers ingenious solutions for old controversies. . . It goes without saying that such a broad and sweeping picture, stimulating and provocative all along, required occasional oversimplification and cutting of corners. Else, in the present state of our knowledge, the book could not have been written. The more credit to its author for having taken the risks in his stride." George Herzog
+ Sat R of Lit 27:41 Ja 22 '44 650w

SACHS, HANNS. Creative unconscious; studies in the psychoanalysis of art. 240p $2.75 Sci-art pubs.

131.3462 Creation (literary, artistic, etc.) Esthetics. Psychoanalysis 42-16900

"The trouble with most psychoanalytic discussions of the origin and nature of art is that their authors know much more about psychoanalysis than about art. Dr. Sachs suffers from no such limitation. Whatever quarrel the literary critic may have with certain of the arguments, he will concede that Dr. Sachs shows not only a thorough familiarity with literature and art but a capacity for appreciation and enjoyment which those who are more concerned with explanation than with evaluation rarely seem to possess." Am J Soc

"On particular works Dr. Sachs is often convincing and always illuminating. When he tries to account for the creative process in general, however, he suffers from the all too common desire to include a number of diverse activities under a single formula. . . These limitations do not prevent these essays from being both stimulating and informative. Intelligent, tolerant, and widely read, Dr. Sachs might well stand as a model for imitation by his lesser brethren." David Daiches + — Am J Soc 48:620 Mr '43 900w

"Dr. Sachs, editor of the American Imago, belongs to the group of those faithful ones who never swerved from the path of psychoanalytic orthodoxy and who do not scruple to set down even the later metaphysical ventures of Freud as 'discoveries.' So we find in his book little that is new to the student of psychoanalysis. . . But the author may be credited with retelling the old story with good grace and an open mind for certain esthetic values." Helmut Kuhn
J Philos 39:473 Ag 13 '42 700w

SACKETT, BERT. Sponger's jinx; il. by Clayton Knight. 210p $2 Random house
43-15770

This story for boys tells of the men who dive for sponges off the Florida Keys.

Booklist 40:152 D 15 '43
Reviewed by S. J. Johnson
+ Library J 68:1009 D 1 '43 50w
N Y Times p22 N 14 '43 200w
Reviewed by M. L. Becker
Weekly Book Review p22 N 14 '43 300w

SAHAG, LEON MARR. Engineering drawing. 394p il $2.75 Ronald
744.4 Mechanical drawing 42-50576

Textbook in three parts. "In the first, and elementary, section, lettering, use of drawing instruments, differences between projections and other essentials are considered. The second section deals with technical sketching, piping, working drawings, steel structural drawings, etc.; while the third, or advanced, part has chapters on perspective projection, charts and graphs, patent drawing, for example. The numerous photographs and drawings show approved practice and examples, and make the book as good for home study as for classroom use." (Books) Index.

Booklist 39:384 Je 1 '43
Reviewed by James Stokley
Books p17 Ja 31 '43 110w
Eng N 130:112 Ap 8 '43 100w

"The merit of this text lies in the selection and arrangement of the explanatory and problem material to provide a basic training in engineering drawing and to introduce the student to its more advanced applications." J. E. Englund
+ N Y Times p22 Ja 31 '43 800w

SAINT EXUPERY, ANTOINE DE. Airman's odyssey. 3v in 1 437p il $3 Reynal
848 Aeronautics—Flights 43-51284

Omnibus volume containing: Wind, Sand and Stars, Night Flight, and Flight to Arras.

Booklist 40:62 O 15 '43
Wis Lib Bul 39:142 N '43

SAINT EXUPERY, ANTOINE DE. Little prince; tr. from the French by Katherine Woods. 93p $2 Reynal
43-51110

Charming, fantastic story of the little prince from Asteroid B-612, who appeared to the author when his airplane was forced down in the African desert. For days the little prince related his experiences on other planets to his fascinated audience, and then he disappeared. There is also an edition in French.

"You've seen a spangled cob-web flung between bushes in early morning sunlight and you know if you touch that gossamer magic it will fall to ruin and be lost forever. This book is like that. Its charm is fragile as gossamer and every reader must discover its delight for himself. It must not be handled by clumsy fingers, or poked and analyzed and probed. There will be as many meanings to each reader. But it will be to each an unforgettable reading experience." P. A. Garner
+ Book Week p9 My 2 '43 600w
Booklist 39:354 My 1 '43
Bookmark 4:19 My '43
Reviewed by Katherine Brégy
Cath World 157:326 Je '43 400w
Reviewed by F. B. Sloan
Christian Science Monitor p8 Ag 30 '43 200w

"There is no use trying to tell the story of the little prince even when one is extremely anxious to tell enough of it so that people will want to read it. There is even less use telling people how beautiful this story is because no one cares to read even a pretty list of adjectives. . . There is an edition in English and one with the text in French. Katherine Woods has written the text in English and she has written it very well. We intend to keep both editions, and in no place where they might be mislaid. For no matter how certain we are that we will never forget the little prince, a story, as we have said before, exists in the telling; the little prince lives most brightly in the words to which he owes his existence, and we shall wish, certainly, to read these words again."
+ Commonweal 37:644 Ap 16 '43 650w
Commonweal 39:120 N 19 '43 140w

"I look upon it as a book so fresh and different, so original yet so infused with wisdom as to take a new place among books in general. I predict that the children who like it will like it very much for its magical quality and the direct approach of the Little Prince to 'matters of consequence.' Children who have never held communication with the stars, with flowers, with desert foxes or with a stranded aviator may find it perplexing. The same holds good for adult readers who look upon philosophy as a subject for scholars rather than an experience of childhood. Those in whom the flower of imagination was never nourished and tended will probably wonder what it is all about when 'reality' should be our first concern at this time." A. C. Moore
+ Horn Bk 19:164 My '43 1000w

"Exquisite, tender, attuned to the ear of the spirit, Saint-Exupéry's elusive fairy tale will give lasting pleasure to many older readers who can discern its hidden truths." A. M. Jordan
+ Horn Bk 19:170 My '43 70w
Reviewed by A. C. Moore
Horn Bk 19:422 N '43 70w

"A slight book, illustrated by author. But a delightful book of value to old and young. BUY IT." K. T. Willis
+ Library J 68:248 Mr 15 '43 100w

"St. Exupery's new book is a very different one from his 'Night Flight,' 'Wind, Sand and Stars,' or 'Flight to Arras.' And yet it has the same fine, clear, rarefied quality of the high lonely spaces where a man's mind has the range to ponder and question and wonder about the meanings of things. 'The Little Prince' is a parable for grown people in the guise of a simple story for children—a fable with delightful, delicate pictures of the little Prince on his adventurings. It is a lovely story in itself which covers a poetic, yearning philosophy—not the sort of fable that can be tacked down neatly at its four corners but rather reflections on what are real matters of consequence." Beatrice Sherman
+ N Y Times p9 Ap 11 '43 700w

" 'The Little Prince' unquestionably has its moments of charm and point and its naïve drawings have occasional humor and grace, but as a fairy tale, whether for adults or children, it seems to me to lack the simplicity and clarity all fairy tales must have in order to create their magic, and too often its charm turns into coyness and its point is lost in cloudy and boring elaboration. The jury will now retire to a locked hotel room for the night while the arguments continue."
+ — New Yorker 19:65 My 29 '43 400w

"It is announced as a book for adults, but children will eventually make it theirs as they have done all the great fairy tales. They will understand it even though its allegory may not be clear to them, because they will approach it and accept its possibilities with the simplicity with which they meet all eternal things." Maria Cimino
+ Sat R of Lit 26:50 Ap 17 '43 150w

"A poetic allegory for adults which some children will accept as a fairy tale of a little prince in the great African desert. Beautiful and moving."
+ Sat R of Lit 26:29 My 15 '43 30w

"All children won't care for 'The Little Prince.' But we know a lot of 'slightly out-of-step' youngsters who will treasure it now and always. It will speak for their silences. The author's delightful illustrations will picture for them a world as familiar as their own bedroom, for they will immediately identify themselves with the brave and loyal little boy in the story. For those very special little boys—and girls, 'The Little Prince' will prove to be a beloved companion. The translation, very simple and direct, was done by Katherine Woods." E. M. B.

+ Springf'd Republican p7e Ap 25 '43 390w

Time 41:100 Ap 26 '43 550w

"The gentle allegory is compressed into a few clear, colored pages. A short book, but long enough to remind us that we are all involved in its meaning. We, too, like the fox, have need to be tamed by love; we, too, must return to the desert to find our lonely princes. All fairy tales are portents, and life continually renews them in us. We have no need to mourn for the Brothers Grimm when fairy tales like 'The Little Prince' may still be heard from the lips of airmen and all who steer by the stars." P. L. Travers

+ Weekly Book Review p5 Ap 11 '43 1350w

Wis Lib Bul 39:88 Je '43

ST GEORGE, THOMAS R. C/o Postmaster. 194p il $2 Crowell

355.12 U.S.—Army—Military life 43-15336

The experiences of the author in boarding a transport, exploring Australia in the interests of the United States army, and finally on the takeoff for the jungles of New Guinea.

Reviewed by Sterling North
Book Week p2 S 19 '43 400w

Reviewed by Clip Boutell
Book Week p10 S 26 '43 210w

Booklist 40:76 N 1 '43

Cath World 158:222 N '43 60w

"By any test Corporal St. George's book is light reading, but it will enable many a person at home to understand much more fully what the American soldier overseas is living through." Edward Skillin, Jr.

Commonweal 38:616 O 8 '43 420w

"By now there should be nothing particularly exciting about another training camp reminiscence. There have been far too many of them, and they have been entirely too much of a pattern, with every publisher bringing out his own slight variant. However, Corporal St. George's 'C/o Postmaster' differs from the rest in a number of particulars, and those differences serve to make it important. For one thing, its scene is outside the United States, in Australia, and thus it deals with material as yet fresh. For another, it is one of the best and funniest soldier books yet written." Stanley Hyman

+ N Y Times p4 S 19 '43 850w

"Amusing, original way of writing, and evidently real G. I. stuff rather than the sort of clever corn we've been getting. The author's wash drawings have an authentic, daffy, scrambled quality about them."

+ New Yorker 19:94 S 18 '43 70w

"Corporal St. George has achieved a kind of compromise between plain funniness and being serious which has resulted in a definitely compelling style of writing. He does it sometimes by understatement, sometimes by exaggeration, sometimes by just being funny in one place and serious in another. A good example is his description of his last moments in America." P. R. Knauth

+ Sat R of Lit 26:56 O 16 '43 700w

Springf'd Republican p7e My 23 '43 50w

"Better go and hunt up this book, it's a natural." R. F. H.

+ Springf'd Republican p7e O 3 '43 330w

"The laughter in 'C/o Postmaster,' for all its iconoclasm and for all its stress on noncoms' stupidity, officers' tendencies to become either stuffed shirts or pouter pigeons, on bad mutton stew and cold sleeping quarters, on unpleasant smells and sights and sounds, is peculiarly lovable. . . The laughter is free, the kind you cannot find in many armies or nations these days, and the book, in its artless, innocent fashion, suggests the spectacle of a laughing, joking, kidding army of democracy fighting its way into other nations so that the peoples of the world may laugh with them." William Soskin

+ Weekly Book Review p4 S 19 '43 1050w

ST JOHN, ANCEL, and ISENBURGER, HERBERT R. Industrial radiology; X-rays and gamma rays. 2d ed 298p il $4 Wiley

537.53 Radiography. Industrial research 43-3028

"Intended for students, laymen, and engineers, the present revision brings up to date selected theories in radiography and fluoroscopy. A bibliography of over 1,300 titles is a feature of the work." (N Y New Tech Bks) For earlier edition, with title Industrial Radiography, see Book Review Digest, 1934. Bibliography. Index.

"A masterly book. . . Except for a few pages, it is readable by anyone. And it certainly brings home the importance of this new tool to industry and, therefore, to all of us. The scientific thoroughness of the authors is attested by the bibliography of 1,314 references to scientific articles. . . This book's unique index gives references not only to the text but to the bibliography as well. It is, therefore, a reference handbook of great value to scientists and engineers." L. E. Grinter

+ Book Week p8 Ap 11 '43 160w

"The book is not written in the traditional textbook style which experience shows is of advantage in classroom teaching, so that the college professor who may have survived the first 42 pages will still hesitate to use the book as a required textbook in his classes, but he will want to buy a copy for himself as a source of lecture material." W. P. Davey

+ — Chem & Eng N 21:724 My 10 '43 550w

"Clear and practical, not a scientific text."

+ Library J 68:433 My 15 '43 30w

N Y New Tech Bks 28:16 Ja '43

Reviewed by H. M. Davis
N Y Times p51 N 14 '43 260w

"From the point of view of an applied physicist this book has much of interest, especially if he is an industrial x-ray physicist or intending to develop into one. If he is of this latter class, which is now growing rapidly, he would find the book a valuable introduction to his subject. The book is written largely for the plant engineer who must suddenly become interested in the radiography of his products in order that they meet certain specifications. . . Practically everyone would be interested in the particular examples of industrial radiography taken from the experience of the authors. A chapter entitled, Some interesting examples, should have much popular appeal." Benedict Cassen

+ R of Scientific Instruments 14:320 O '43 600w

"No single book could cover the entire field nor record all the specialized techniques, but this book provides an understandable background of principles upon which the student can build, and which will enable the technician to avoid pitfalls." James Stokley

+ Weekly Book Review p19 Jl 11 '43 150w

ST JOHN, MRS BETTY (UTLEY). Excess baggage; or, Letters of an army wife. 157p il $2 Hastings house

355.12 U.S.—Army—Military life 43-5362

Letters addressed to home folks by a newlywed army wife during the months the young husband was in training in Texas and California.

"About all their experiences, Mrs. St. John writes in a curious style, half ridiculous, half sublime. And although the text is at times wordy, her own sketches are hilarious creations which enliven the whole book." K. M.

+ Book Week p6 My 23 '43 140w

"Not essential but recommended for light reading." M. P. McKay

Library J 68:328 Ap 15 '43 70w

ST JOHN, BETTY—Continued

"The author's real avocation outside her wifely duties is drawing, and she has filled her book with entertaining and spontaneous sketches depicting their various predicaments. They provide lively punctuation to her story and are a clever addition. A great many letter writers will envy her her gift." Peggy Capron

+ N Y Times p18 Je 6 '43 400w

"Mrs St John disclaims any intention of writing to instruct other green young brides, since the letters were intended to be amusing rather than educational. The result is mildly entertaining, the kind of light reading that is generally recommended for hot weather." C. E.

Springf'd Republican p7e Jl 11 '43 160w

"The appeal of this book is that it is typical of the experience of thousands of young couples in these times. It is chatty and informal, and the unpretentious drawings are just the right accompaniment." Lisle Bell

+ Weekly Book Review p30 Ap 25 '43 250w

SALE, ELIZABETH. Recitation from memory. 298p $2.50 Dodd

43-15070

Set against the background of the young city of Tacoma in the eighteen nineties, this is the story of Fenella Rand from her ninth year to her fourteenth, and also the story of Grandmother who required so much attention, of Papa and Mamma, of tiny, unselfish Aunt Jinny, and pretty, spoiled Aunt Fan, and of Johnny, Fenella's brother and Lolly, her sister.

"The novel ends with Fenella at the age of 14, but there are frequent foreshadowings of her adult life, foreshadowings that leave the reader with the uneasy feeling that it might have been a better story if it had begun at the end and gone on. Fenella gives indications that she would have been a very interesting woman indeed." Patricia Smith

+ — Book Week p3 S 19 '43 180w

"Despite tantalizing references to her older life, the story is about Fenella from her tenth to fourteenth year. Sounds dull? It isn't! That great American institution, childhood, is covered, from camping trips to Fourth of Julys, school flunkings, fights with the family. It is written as an older person might look back on growing up, with happenings first presented with the importance given them by myopic childhood, and then put in their place in life." Joyce Garn

+ N Y Times p18 S 26 '43 360w

"What with picnics, holidays, feuds with her teachers and frequent family fireworks, there is never a dull moment in Fenella's life. Nor will there be any for readers of her history." Lisle Bell

+ Weekly Book Review p8 S 19 '43 350w

SALTER, CEDRIC. Try-out in Spain. 291p $2.50 Harper

946.08 Spain—History—Civil war, 1936-1939 43-5065

Author is an English journalist who spent most of the period from 1936 to 1939 in Barcelona, Spain. His book is a personal narrative of his experiences and observations.

Booklist 39:366 My 15 '43

"The author has told his story well, but one must protest the pornographic portions, such as today mar so much of the writing of this kind. It is never essential to the narrative—it is plain dirt." Clifton Macon

+ — Churchman 157:20 Ap 15 '43 270w

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert

Foreign Affairs 22:163 O '43 40w

Reviewed by F. S. Adams

N Y Times p28 Ap 18 '43 850w

"Extremely readable book, full of vivid eyewitness stuff, amusingly presented, which adds up to a powerful denunciation of the error committed by the European democracies." E. A. Mowrer

+ Weekly Book Review p7 My 2 '43 1250w

SALVEMINI, GAETANO, and LA PIANA, GEORGE. What to do with Italy. 301p $2.75 Duell

945.09 Italy—Politics and government. Reconstruction (1939-)—Italy 43-51267

The authors of this work, two Italian-born professors at Harvard university, discuss the rise of Fascism and its standing in international affairs before the outbreak of war, and also what they suspect will be the attitude toward Fascism by the foreign offices of the United Nations after Italy's defeat. The book was written before Mussolini's downfall. Index.

Atlantic 172:131 N '43 150w

"The recapitulation of events leading up to Italy's plight is important, but the real value in this book is that it does offer a blueprint for the future of Italy. It is no mere ideal. It is based on the supreme concept that democracy given half a chance can remake Italy. Salvemini and La Piana, both professors at Harvard, are passionate democrats and scholars. Their voices should be heard by every diplomat and expert who will have a say in the world that is in the making." Ernest von Hartz

+ Book Week p1 S 19 '43 400w

Booklist 40:44 O 1 '43

Canadian Forum 23:235 Ja '44 240w

Reviewed by Joseph McSorley

Cath World 158:103 O '43 310w

"In the course of their argument the authors deal extensively, and critically with the British foreign office, the American state department and the pope. Many readers who sympathize with their general position will think that some of their specific criticisms are not well founded, but a narrow fringe of doubtful opinions cannot reduce the impact of the solid body of historical facts which they marshal." W. E. Garrison

+ Christian Century 60:1074 S 22 '43 950w

Churchman 157:5 O 1 '43 600w

Cleveland Open Shelf p18 O '43

Reviewed by H. S. Taylor

Library J 68:624 Ag '43 120w

"Professor Salvemini, one of the most courageous and unflinching of all Mussolini's enemies, has collaboratd with Professor La Piana of Harvard in this carefully reasoned and documented study of the issues on which may be decided the fate of tomorrow's Italy, and in a measure of tomorrow's Europe. The book is no flaming appeal to faith and action, but rather a worldly-wise and cynical examination of the policies and motives which may be, and perhaps actually are, seeking to shape the destiny of Italy without asking leave of the Italian people. You will finish this book perhaps a sadder but certainly a wiser man." Hiram Motherwell

+ Nation 157:504 O 30 '43 950w

"Here is a bold and candid book on matters of great urgency and one that is at the same time wise and illuminating." Jay Allen

+ New Repub 109:430 S 27 '43 1750w

"The villains of the whole Italian scene in this book are the Anglo-Americans, the House of Savoy and the Vatican. If you can accept them as such, the book is convincing. Even if you are not the kind of person who is always wanting a scapegoat, the book is full of earnest and vigorous pleading and has some very useful plans for the future." Sylvia Sprigge

+ — New Statesman & Nation 27:29 Ja 8 '44 700w

"Hard-hitting, bitter and sometimes intemperate volume. . . None can say that the charges they make are not grave ones or that their apprehensions are not shared by many of the liberal minded here and elsewhere in the United Nations. But their indictment is not commended by their habit of citing their suspicions as proofs, by the extremity of some of their language, and by the extravagance of some of their accusations." John MacCormac

+ — N Y Times p5 S 12 '43 850w

"A valuable book, intelligent, thoroughgoing, and not without acidulous comment on certain tendencies in the Vatican, the British Foreign Office, and our own State Department."
+ New Yorker 19:86 S 11 '43 100w

Reviewed by Stephen Naft
Sat R of Lit 26:9 O 23 '43 800w

" 'What to Do With Italy' is a book which should be read by responsible Americans, not judged from a review. It is a serious, important book about which they should make up their own minds." D. C. Fisher
+ Survey G 32:510 D '43 1050w

"Gaetano Salvemini, the U.S. citizen who was recently rumored to be a United Nations choice to form a post-invasion Italian Government, has published his views on the future of Italy in a book guaranteed to exasperate practically everybody who reads it."
Time 42:101 S 13 '43 900w

"It must be admitted that we still know very little about Sicily or AMG and virtually nothing about the real purposes of Washington or London, concerning which the public has been so carefully kept in ignorance. Until enlightenment is vouchsafed to us, this thoroughgoing examination of the problem retains a great deal of the utmost value." Walter Millis
Weekly Book Review p3 S 12 '43 1600w

SAMPSON, RICHARD HENRY (RICHARD HULL, pseud). And death came too. 255p $2 Messner 42-22692

Detective story.

Reviewed by Will Cuppy
Books p22 O 18 '42 100w

"Richard Hull is one of the clever ones. If he has never done anything quite so good as 'The Murder of My Aunt,' he is, nevertheless, always sure to be uncommonly good reading for a public that wants real intelligence to be served up in its mystery fare." Kay Irvin
+ N Y Times p25 O 11 '42 220w

SAMUEL, MAURICE. World of Sholom Aleichem. 331p $3 Knopf

892.493 Rabinowitz, Shalom (Shalom Aleichem, pseud). Jews in Russia 43-3345

A picture of life in the Jewish Pale in Southern Russia during the late nineteenth century, based on the writings, autobiographical and fictional, of Shalom Rabinowitz writing under the pen-name "Shalom Aleichem."

" 'The World of Sholom Aleichem' by Maurice Samuel is more than a book; it is a delight. . . 'The World of Sholom Aleichem' is more, much more, than a book about a great humorist. It is the inner story of Jewry since the earliest days of the Diaspora. It is a constructive analysis (I say analysis and not anatomy; because anatomy presupposes death) of a people and as such shows its qualities and its shortcomings, its beauties and its ugliness." Konrad Bercovici
+ Book Week p5 Ap 4 '43 1000w
Booklist 39:328 Ap 15 '43
Commonweal 37:544 Mr 19 '43 700w

"Interesting, informative, yet not ponderous. Might be read with profit by anyone who has genuine interest in racial traits, religious customs, or the problems of anti-Semitism." J. S. Cleavinger
+ Library J 68:209 Mr 1 '43 110w

Reviewed by Clement Greenberg
Nation 157:450 O 16 '43 1700w

Reviewed by Saul Bellow
New Repub 108:836 Je 21 '43 1100w

"There is a small, teeming world of which the larger world knows next to nothing, a world whose people are infinitely poor but are sustained by a faith and a piety incredible in our time. . . Mr. Maurice Samuel's book, a distinguished piece of writing, is, to all intents and purposes, a memorial to that world, for generations injured and humiliated and now in the process of extinction." J. C.
+ N Y Times p12 Ap 4 '43 550w
Springf'd Republican p7e Mr 28 '43 70w

"It is significant that the fabric of the volume is so smooth that it is never possible to tell what part is Maurice Samuel and what part is Sholom Aleichem. The two have merged so completely that the seams never show. It is quite evident that the author has devoted years of gestation to a genius who has earned his passionate devotion. In the result, when the reader finishes the volume, he knows better not only the lovable characters whom Sholom Aleichem created, but the folk lore and the memories that created Sholom Aleichem. And therefore that created Maurice Samuel and his generation of Jews." A. L. Sachar
+ Weekly Book Review p6 My 16 '43 1500w

SAMUELS, MAURICE MENDEL. Power unleashed; the story of electricity and power; introd. by William E. Mosher. 300p $3.50 Dorset house, inc, 55 W. 42d st, N.Y.

621.31 Electric power 43-17623

Popular work on the nature, development and use of electric power. Contents: Power; Energy; Sources of energy; Electro-magnetic energy; Energy at wholesale and retail; Energy bound and energy boundless; Lightning and short circuit; We visit a water power station; Fire or water; We visit a steam plant; The engineers of power; Power of the future: electronics, etc.

"For a good, straightforward account of electric energy in daily life and the operation of central stations there is no better book than this. Even the executives of utility companies and first-year students can profit by reading Samuels, though his appeal is to a public that does not know the difference between a volt and an ampère." Waldemar Kaempffert
+ Sat R of Lit 26:22 D 25 '43 300w

"The author is internationally known as an authority on design and construction of power systems and the generation and transmission of electric power. At present he is Chief of the Technical Standards Division of the Rural Electrification Administration in the U. S. Department of Agriculture. He is thoroughly at home with electrical theory as well as with electrical apparatus of all sorts. He writes both intelligently and intelligibly."
+ Scientific Bk Club R 14:3 N '43 330w
Springf'd Republican p10 D 30 '43 190w

" 'Power Unleashed' tells the story behind the power which we all utilize, whether directly or indirectly, and tells it in a manner both thrilling and informative. Having read it once, many persons, especially those more directly concerned with it, will probably want to keep the book handy for its clear explanations (e.g., of a concept such as 'power factor,' which is most puzzling to the layman), but apparently the publishers do not expect that any reader might want to refer to it a second time. If they had, there would surely have been an index." James Stokley
+ Weekly Book Review p8 Ja 9 '44 400w

SANDBURG, CARL. Home front memo. 310p il $3 Harcourt

818 World war, 1939—U.S. 43-51258

"An assortment of the author's pamphlets, speeches, broadcasts, columns, poems, and such, written during the last three years, all on the subject of the war or colored by thoughts of the war. . . The book includes a collection of pertinent photographs by Commander Edward Steichen, U. S. N. R., with text by the author." New Yorker

SANDBURG, CARL—Continued

"It is a melange of material, certainly, but such a melange as the man on the street can turn to with understanding, certain that Sandburg will have put into simple, direct and memorable prose what he himself has been thinking but has not been able to articulate. It is an important contribution to the war effort, by any standards, and it is more than that in that it contains, for all its sometime unevenness, some of the most memorable work Sandburg has done." August Derleth

+ Book Week p4 S 26 '43 950w

Booklist 40:42 O 1 '43

Christian Century 60:1169 O 13 '43 200w

Christian Science Monitor p11 O 16 '43 450w

Churchman 157:14 D 1 '43 90w

"Highly recommended." L. I. Poste

+ Library J 68:724 S 15 '43 50w

Reviewed by R. H. Rovere

New Repub 109:725 N 22 '43 450w

"This is a good book to pick up, a good reminder of what our poets have been doing and saying while the fires of hate were sweeping the world. Sandburg was wise to include everything he did. It makes a readable record, a complete and eloquent one, of which any American can be proud." Hal Borland

+ N Y Times p9 S 26 '43 500w

"Many of these pieces are warm and moving, others appear to be blighted by a self-consciously bad syntax that threatens to become Mr. Sandburg's worst mannerism."

New Yorker 19:85 S 25 '43 90w

Sat R of Lit 26:12 O 9 '43 850w

"For all the ramblings and unevenness of this sheaf of Sandburg, through it runs the curious unity of a great American who, like Daniel Boone, is never 'lost' though sometimes 'bewildered.'" Marshall Bragdon

+ Springf'd Republican p6 O 2 '43 550w

"The book, 'Home Front Memo,' is the proof that America's chief poet is not too proud of his reputation to risk it in controversy, not so careful of his artistic independence as to stay in an ivory tower when his beloved democracy is endangered. He likes the feel of the tabloid journalism wherein he has his Chicago voice, nowadays, and he is in this war for democracy, singing and swinging." Lloyd Lewis

+ Weekly Book Review p5 O 17 '43 1150w

Wis Lib Bul 39:143 N '43

SANDERS, CHARLES RICHARD. Coleridge and the Broad church movement; studies in S. T. Coleridge, Dr Arnold of Rugby, J. C. Hare, Thomas Carlyle and F. D. Maurice. 307p $3.50 Duke univ. [21s Cambridge]

821 Coleridge, Samuel Taylor. Liberalism (religion) 42-18356

"This volume offers an analysis of the essentials of Coleridge's philosophy, an evaluation of the type of liberalism which he championed, and a clear presentation of the goals which he defined for a unified, tolerant, and comprehensive church. The influence of Coleridge on later English thought is presented in brief discussions of the impact of his ideas on Arnold of Rugby, J. C. Hare, and Thomas Carlyle. More detailed consideration is given to F. D. Maurice, who is described as the one Englishman who labored most earnestly to translate the theories of Coleridge into actual practice in English life." (J Religion) Bibliography. Index.

"Scholarly and well documented study."

+ Christian Century 60:362 Mr 24 '43 350w

"This is a valuable and timely contribution toward the understanding of the rise of the Broad Church movement within the Church of England. It is an inspiring record of earnest men seeking to find the meaning of true freedom and unity." J. M. Batten

+ J Religion 23:151 Ap '43 300w

"Professor Sanders is one of those rare and doughty students who are willing to plunge into clusters of tough formulas and strange derivative words—Ipseities, Altereities, Communeities and such infelicities—tied up in sentences tangled with reservations, explanations, refinements and parentheses; and he emerges from the adventure with a good case for the effect that the 'subtle-soul'd psychologist' had in shaping the minds of so many thinkers who possessed—used perhaps is a better word—gifts of clearer exposition than their master."

+ Times [London] Lit Sup p42 Ja 23 '43 2250w

SANDERS, DAPHNE, pseud. See Rice, C.

SANDERS, GERALD DEWITT, and NELSON, JOHN HERBERT, eds. Chief modern poets of England and America. 3d ed 1009p $4.50; text ed $3 Macmillan

821.08 English poetry—Collections. American poetry—Collections 43-1667

Brief biographical sketches and selections from the poems of English, Irish, and American poets. The anthology was first published in 1929 (Book Review Digest, 1929). Among the new poets included are: Gerard Manley Hopkins; Rudyard Kipling; C. Day Lewis; W. H. Auden; Louis MacNeice; Stephen Spender; Elinor Wylie; John Crowe Ransom; E. E. Cummings; Horace Gregory; Hart Crane; and Kenneth Fearing. Index of titles and first lines.

"Perhaps difficulties of copyright will account for some of the oddities of choice, but they cannot explain them all. Nor can that be the explanation of the prosy biographical sketches that introduce each poet. We are told that the aim of the book is to enable students to come to know and like the poets represented: it is difficult to see how a knowledge of the five honorary degrees awarded to Hardy or of the names of Amy Lowell's ancestors can help the student to appreciate the modern poets. Critical introductions instead of laborious 'Who's Who' entries would have been much more useful." D. D.

Book Week p6 My 16 '43 400w

"The volume is heavy enough. We should not wish to add to its pages, and on the whole we approve of the names included. Perhaps using fewer examples would have furnished the space necessary to present also selections the additions of which would have made the title more justifiable." Pearl Strachan

Christian Science Monitor p10 My 15 '43 200w

SANDERS, JOSEPH NEWBOULD. Fourth gospel in the early church; its origin and influence on Christian theology up to Irenaeus. 92p $1.75 Macmillan [7s 6d Cambridge]

226.5 Bible. New Testament—St John [43-13436]

"This book was awarded the Kaye Prize by the University of Cambridge in 1939. It advances evidence to show that the Fourth Gospel was written, not by John the son of Zebedee, but by somebody who was closely acquainted with Christian teaching, who had access to valuable traditions about the life of Christ, and who was also familiar with Rabbinic lore and with the kind of speculation which later crystallized into the Gnostic systems of the second and later centuries. . . Mr. Sanders claims that Ephesus, the traditional place of origin for this Gospel, must be abandoned. He is tempted to regard Alexandria as a very possible substitute, though he realizes that this hypothesis is not without difficulties." Times [London] Lit Sup

---

"A fine product of British New Testament scholarship."

+ Christian Century 60:991 S 1 '43 70w

"It is with some diffidence that Mr. Sanders has advanced this thesis. Some of his conclusions will certainly come as a surprise not only to him but also to those who read them. Nevertheless he has done his best to be impartial and is to be commended for the painstaking way in which he has marshalled his evidence. The reader can admire if he cannot always agree."

+ Times [London] Lit Sup p298 Je 19 '43 420w

SANDERS, MARION K., and EDELSTEIN, MORTIMER S. Bride laughed once. 281p $2 Farrar

43-10175

Detective story.

Booklist 40:60 O 15 '43

"The crime is ingeniously planned, but an unexpected factor makes its solution possible. The Sanders-Edelstein writing team is off to a good start and will doubtless be heard from again." Isaac Anderson

+ N Y Times p8 Ag 8 '43 80w

"Pretty good."

+ — Sat R of Lit 26:21 Ag 14 '43 40w

"The writers are better at detecting than at English composition." Will Cuppy

Weekly Book Review p10 Ag 8 '43 550w

SANDRETTO, P. C. Principles of aeronautical radio engineering. 414p il $3.50 McGraw

621.384 Radio in aeronautics 42-52187

The superintendent of the communications laboratory of the United States air lines transport corporation is the author of this technical discussion of problems of radio engineering in aeronautics. For commercial airplane operators, but some information can be applied to military flying. Index.

Booklist 39:314 Ap 1 '43

Library J 67:953 N 1 '42 50w

N Y New Tech Bks 28:16 Ja '43

Reviewed by F. E. Canavaciol

N Y Times p19 Jl 11 '43 280w

"This excellent book, the best that has appeared on the subject, is not for the beginner, though a person with good general knowledge of radio could follow it without difficulty. The author, now lieutenant colonel in the Air Corps, was formerly superintendent of the Communication Laboratory of United Air Lines and writes with the best of authority. In addition, each chapter has been checked by an expert in the particular field." James Stokley

+ Weekly Book Review p14 My 2 '43 280w

SANFORD, JOHN B. People from heaven. 232p $2.50 Harcourt

43-15956

An unconventional novel told partly in case histories, partly in verse, partly in straight narrative. The scene is a small American village; the action involves the struggle of good and evil forces over the issue of race tolerance.

"It is clear that Mr. Sanford thought hard about this book and wrote it the hard-thinking way. His technique is arresting and every page has a savor and quality of its own. He might have revised strenuously here and there. . . And it might be added that if Mr. Sanford falls short of his high purpose in this book, it is because he has elected to end it in a way so melodramatic as to be out of keeping with the subdued tone of the rest." J. H. Preston

+ — New Repub 109:859 D 13 '43 700w

"This short novel, ambitious in style and structure, serious in theme is patently unsuccessful as fiction. . . One's impulse, in the midst of an increasing national smugness, is to say that the more books which expose the bigotries and the brutalities of American life the better, and the more angrily and uncompromisingly they make the exposure the better still; yet we are reminded here of the actuality, that when a novel fails as art it also fails as anger." Mark Schorer

— + N Y Times p12 O 31 '43 850w

"Mr. Sanford's challenging accusation would be more effective if his vehemence were a shade less self-conscious."

New Yorker 19:93 O 30 '43 160w

"The writing of both the prose and the free verse is uneven, varying widely in its effectiveness, but the story is nevertheless kept moving forward to its inevitable climax when the long-persecuted Negress takes matters into her own hands. Grotesque at times, and not always clear, this novel possesses great power." P. V. Stern

+ — Sat R of Lit 26:15 N 13 '43 400w

"All is of a piece: careful thought and a deliberate structure of words lie behind the making of the book. It horrifies, but the intention is clear, wrathful and admonitory. The nice-minded might be wise to steer clear of it, but 'The People From Heaven' is nevertheless passionate and challenging. Whether it shows exact truth or exaggerates it, the fact that it succeeds in provoking an examination of national conscience as well as of personal attitude also suggests its worth." Iris Barry

Weekly Book Review p8 Ja 2 '44 600w

SANGSTER, WILLIAM EDWIN. Path to perfection; an examination and restatement of John Wesley's Doctrine of Christian perfection. 214p $2 Abingdon-Cokesbury [7s 6d Hodder]

287.1 Perfection. Wesley, John

"It cannot be said that the doctrine of Christian Perfection has always attracted the attention that it merits. In the case of John Wesley, however, the doctrine was fundamental to his message. . . Dr. Sangster has therefore rendered a very useful service not only to the followers of John Wesley but also to the members of other religious communions by giving us his carefully-balanced statement of what the doctrine of Christian Perfection meant for Wesley himself and what, shorn of certain spurious characteristics, it may still mean for men and women to-day." Times [London] Lit Sup

"W. E. Sangster has written a masterly work here. Students of perfectionism will not be able to ignore it. Sympathetic enough to be understanding, the author is also critical enough to expose the flaws of Wesley's teaching. Sangster's preference for the terminology 'perfect love,' rather than 'Christian perfection,' is a bit surprising in the light of his insights in the chapter, 'A Perfect Life in an Imperfect World?' Is it possible that the author, like Charles Wesley, has already seen beyond the imperfections of even a modified perfectionism?" F. R. Hellegers

+ — Christian Century 60:1404 D 1 '43 490w

Times [London] Lit Sup p274 Je 5 '43 420w

SAPPINGTON, CLARENCE OLDS. Essentials of industrial health. 626p il $6.50 Lippincott

613.6 Hygiene, Industrial 43-8345

"This book according to the author represents the application of preventive medicine and public health to industry following closely a recently proposed course for the undergraduate medical student. A wide range of topics is covered in three parts carrying the following titles: Industrial Health Administration, Industrial Hygiene and Toxicology, and Industrial Medicine and Traumatic Surgery." Am J Pub Health

Reviewed by J. G. Townsend

Am J Pub Health 33:1132 S '43 850w

Chem & Met Eng 50:211 N '43 200w

Library J 68:626 Ag '43 20w

"The personnel executive will find this book a practical guide to action in the organization of a medical and health service and also a source of pertinent information on mental and physical hygiene, occupational diseases, industrial accidents, workmen's compensation, and related phases of industrial health promotion. Sixty-three illustrations enhance the text."

+ Management R 33:30 Ja '44 40w

SAPPINGTON, C. O.—Continued

"Dr. Sappington's book is very timely and has been compiled to answer as many questions as possible relating to the health of the industrial worker. It would de difficult, in fact, to find a topic in this field which is not mentioned. . . For lay groups, such as industrial management, personnel workers and safety directors, it should prove very informative." A. R. Smith, M.D.

+ Survey 79:319 N '43 480w

SARBACHER, ROBERT IRVING, and EDSON, WILLIAM ALDEN. Hyper and ultrahigh frequency engineering. 644p $5.50 Wiley

621.3841524 Radio engineering. Electric waves 43-14905

"Of special interest to schools offering thorough ESMWT courses in communication engineering. All phases of hyper-frequency engineering are discussed in detail, including generator, transmission, and reception of these quasi-optical waves. For advanced students." (Library J) Bibliographies. Index.

"The book requires of the reader a mathematical background through calculus and differential equations and a thorough understanding of physics."

Book Week p11 Ja 23 '44 90w

Booklist 40:179 Ja 15 '44

Library J 68:433 My 15 '43 40w

Library J 68:961 N 15 '43 30w

N Y New Tech Bks 28:43 Jl '43

Reviewed by James Stokley

Weekly Book Review p30 O 17 '43 30w

SARGENT, PORTER EDWARD. War and education. 506p $4 Sargent

370.973 Education. War—Influence and results 43-8382

"Attempts to appraise realistically what education has been, is, and may be in the future." School & Society

"More than half of the volume is composed of quotations, from hundreds of works, which analyze, fairly or unfairly, the social evils of Western society. These bibliographical notes and suggestions are excellent. Teachers and educational administrators frankly admit the existence, to one degree or another, of all the evils of which the author complains. But they have daily, grinding experience with trying to educate human materials—good, bad and indifferent—under democratic conditions, and they could wish that Mr. Sargent had given some concrete, helpful suggestions as to the way out. Such suggestions are almost entirely lacking." B. C. Randolph

+ — Am Pol Sci R 37:1137 D '43 260w

"The nearly 1000 citations and Mr. Sargent's running comments of pungency and punch make this a most stimulating book for all who have any professional interest in education. Educational administrators are the ones who should ponder it most seriously, but, by and large, they are so emmeshed in tape and burdened with trivia that few of them will read it and still fewer will heed it; the few that heed it will be helpless to do anything constructive about it. Sargent reads biological, social, and physical scientists widely and understands all of them better than most of them understand each other."

+ Am Soc R 8:495 Ag '43 400w

Booklist 40:88 N 15 '43

Reviewed by K. I. Brown

Christian Century 60:1269 N 3 '43 850w

"Everyone concerned with America's largest industry, education, will find here the proverbial food for thought. Every guild needs its gadfly, and none more than the teaching profession. The encyclopediac approach, moreover, offers a fine overall view of current educational practice and theory." W. S. Lynch

+ — Sat R of Lit 26:15 S 18 '43 750w

School & Society 58:240 S 25 '43 20w

SAROYAN, WILLIAM. Human comedy; il. by Don Freeman. 291p $2.75 Harcourt

43-51036

"The setting is the California town of Ithaca, the time the present and the cast of characters dominated by the Macauley family depicted by the author with loving and meticulous care. The father, Matthew, has died before the story begins, leaving a gracious and understanding wife to watch over four children; Marcus, off in the Army; Bess, just turned eighteen and ready for love; Homer (Saroyan himself), messenger for the local Postal Telegraph office; and four-year-old Ulysses." Books

Atlantic 171:127 My '43 300w

Booklist 39:275 Mr 1 '43

Bookmark 4:20 Mr '43

"Simple and reticent when at his best, he at other times talks too much and too unintelligibly. No sane small-town mother ever spoke to her son as Mrs. Macauley does. Nor will the author's ventures into philosophy, theology, and occult lore make a favorable impression on any mature and balanced mind. Too bad that this book was not subjected to the attention of an editorial surgeon! Yet perhaps the law of compensation requires that Saroyan must set down whatever comes into his head and think it great." Joseph McSorley

+ — Cath World 157:213 My '43 400w

Reviewed by W. E. Garrison

Christian Century 60:427 Ap 7 '43 400w

+ Christian Science Monitor p10 Ap 17 '43 500w

"The Human Comedy is not the Saroyan that gives off sparks. . . It is Saroyan the philosopher, the gentle soul, the under-surface lecturer." Mel Heimer

Churchman 157:16 Mr 15 '43 240w

" 'The Human Comedy' is a very moving book. It is a book you can read, and will want to read, in an evening, and when you have read it you will be the better for having read it. The story is typically Saroyan and depends upon devices which are not by any means original, but which are always effective when well handled. The principal device is the creation of a number of thoroughly good characters, good in a sense far exceeding the usual senses, good in a way that human nature never is good. Their every thought, action, word is kindly and wise and unselfish."

+ Commonweal 37:474 F 26 '43 600w

"The Human Comedy seems to me a book which answers all questions of childhood in terms of beauty and wisdom and so I give it a place on my shelf." A. C. Moore

+ Horn Bk 19:114 Mr '43 70w

Reviewed by Wilfrid Gibson

Manchester Guardian p3 O 8 '43 100w

"A rather puerile performance, compounded of infantile day-dreams and adult homilies. The importance of the novel, it seems to me, is chiefly as a symptom of the cult of innocence—the roots of which, to be sure, reach far back into American writing—that has lately absorbed so many of our competent, second-rate practitioners of fiction. . . The world of 'The Human Comedy' is rather like an enormous five-and-ten seen through the eyes of a child." William Phillips

Nation 156:318 F 27 '43 700w

Reviewed by Alfred Kazin

New Repub 108:289 Mr 1 '43 1500w

Reviewed by Philip Toynbee

New Statesman & Nation 26:254 O 16 '43 190w

"Mr. Saroyan is a complete romantic. His fancifulness, his ecstatic love and admiration for children and even half-wits, his enthusiasm, his delight, his wonder at everything and anything, his faith in the promptings of the heart over those of the head . . . his conviction that good always drives out sickness and evil and that love conquers all, make him difficult to argue with. One can only disagree." Wallace Stegner

N Y Times p7 F 28 '43 1100w

"The form of Mr. Saroyan's anecdotes is still cut along the Olsen-and-Johnson pattern, but the sentiment—and after all it's the sentiment that counts—is Epworth League with a strong admixture of swami. With this book he passes beyond mere authorship and becomes an influence, a potential West Coast Father Divine." Clifton Fadiman

— New Yorker 19:63 F 27 '43 950w

"Some of these sketches are amusing, though none as funny as the big high-jumping sketch in 'My Name Is Aram,' and most of them have the tenderness that is characteristic of all the author's writing, but he has worked his 'Good-will to men' prop some way beyond the grounds of reality or even credibility." Phil Stong
+ — Sat R of Lit 26:11 F 27 '43 360w

Reviewed by Maria Cimino
Sat R of Lit 26:50 Ap 17 '43 110w

"There is too much simplicity and not nearly enough severity. Indeed, if severity means restraint or selectiveness, then it is almost wholly lacking in these records of Ulysses and Homer Macauley, their mental processes, their reactions to people and to environment, their meals, their play and their work." Kate O'Brien
— Spec 171:368 O 15 '43 260w

"Some readers may feel that 'not much happens' in the 'Human Comedy.' Well, birth, love, death, heartbreak and joy happen, and they all take on meaning through the patient and believing eyes of Ma Macauley. . . If one expects smartness or sophistication from this little book, he will be disappointed. The Hollywood touch is conspicuously absent. If the book were not so honest and tender, there are times when it would approach mawkishness. Somehow one believes in Ma Macauley, and so does Mr Saroyan, one is convinced. And one needs, increasingly, to accept the quiet truths presented so disarmingly here." E. M. B.
+ Springf'd Republican p7e F 28 '43 280w

"Saroyan's essential limitation—which is also his cardinal virtue—is perhaps incurable. That is his chronic ecstasy, his almost Franciscan loving kindness and optimism. It clearly transfigures the world for him and, for a time, is bound to transfigure any sympathetic reader Saroyan is one of the few contemporary writers who can articulate, in terms of common life, the indispensable text, Blessed are the pure in heart; for they shall see God. The pity of it is that they are seldom able to see, very clearly, the devil and the man caught in the middle."
+ — Time 41:83 Mr 1 '43 480w

"Alas! interested though one is in the attempt, it remains to say that the result is not very happy. The odd thing is that it does not seems to be merely the form of a full-length piece of fiction which has defeated Mr. Saroyan, for although he has been content to string together a sequence of small incidents to much the same casual purpose he exhibits in his volumes of short stories, on this occasion there is scarcely a trace of his characteristic charm of manner, and indeed his air of inspired artlessness now falls extremely flat. This, in short, is an excessively simple and very, very sentimental little concoction."
— Times [London] Lit Sup p485 O 9 '43 390w

"A glowing, original and heart-warming story. George Jean Nathan was right, after all: If there is anybody remotely resembling a genius in American letters today his name is Saroyan." Bennett Cerf
+ Weekly Book Review p1 F 28 '43 950w
Wis Lib Bul 39:42 Mr '43

"The Human Comedy is episodes strung on a slender, dancing thread—like gaily colored irrelevant laundry hung out in a high bright wind—from the life of a Postal Telegraph messenger boy, and his small brother, and his mother and sister, in a California town. What happens is unimportant; what feelings the events give the characters—including Saroyan himself, who always seems to be present—is all-important. The wonderful thing is how often one shares those feelings." Robert Littell
+ Yale R n s 32:viii spring '43 400w

SASSE, MRS ALMA BENECKE. Terry Carvel's theater caravan. 238p $2 Doubleday
43-15759

Story of how a young girl found her vocation in directing the plays of amateur groups in a college town in the far West. "This book is written for all those eager, dramatically minded young people whose Caravan of Dreams is, in some way, connected with the stage. In the story of Terry Carvel and how, finally, she achieved her goal of a Little Theater it is hoped they will find new incentive and encouragement to press on." (Foreword)

"Excellent for ambitious over-twelves."
+ Churchman 157:14 N 15 '43 30w

"Recommended." Maude Adams
+ Library J 68:964 N 15 '43 70w

"A career story that will be read largely for the light it throws on amateur chances for professional success, its interest is in Terry's work rather than in her personality, and the talk of the characters is often stilted, but the book moves straight on because it is written by one who understands the ways in which dramatics can make part of life in a civilized community." M. L. Becker
+ Weekly Book Review p7 O 17 '43 400w

SATURDAY EVENING POST (periodical). Post scripts; a collection of humor; ed. by Marione R. Derrickson. (Whittlesey house publication) 232p il $2 McGraw
817.08 Humor 43-16494

A collection of humor, in verse and prose, culled from the pages of the Saturday Evening Post of the last decade or so. Index.

"If the reader is willing to admit frankly that he'd like a little escapist reading these turbulent days, 'Post Scripts' will satisfy the need, without going into all sorts of supernatural fantasies." P. J. R.
+ Springf'd Republican p7e D 19 '43 220w

"Mrs. Derrickson, the editor, was absent from her desk for a while, becoming a wife and mother, but it is impossible to discover any before-and-after variations in her appraisal of humor. She admits that practical jokes and what she terms the 'moron' joke leave her cold, but that still gives her a wide field. No doubt her choices are largely determined by the obligation to amuse the whole family, and so the emphasis is on home and office, husband and wife, the children and the neighbors."
Weekly Book Review p28 N 21 '43 200w

SAUER, JULIA LINA. Fog magic. 107p $2 Viking
43-14784

Delicately beautiful story of a little Nova Scotian girl, whose love of the fog brought her happy adventures in a village lost for a hundred years. On her twelfth birthday, Greta made her last visit to Blue Cove and brought back her one tangible evidence of her dream village—a grey kitten.

"This is not a book for every child, but to the right child it will bring beauty, magic, tenderness and a brave philosophy of living. . . 'Fog Magic' is perfect for imaginative little girls from 9 up, and I think their mothers will love it too." P. A. Whitney
+ Book Week p16 N 21 '43 270w
Booklist 40:83 N 1 '43

"Lovely in format and in content."
+ Cath World 158:316 D '43 50w

"An exquisite book, one that has great rewards for the imaginative reader." F. B. Sloan
+ Christian Science Monitor p6 N 15 '43 110w

"Julia Sauer has written a choice story, bringing the past into the present imagination, inspired by love of place. It is a beautiful book, too, with decorations by Lynd Ward." A. M. Jordan
+ Horn Bk 19:405 N '43 90w

"Julia Sauer has achieved that rare fusion of two worlds in which a child may live in warm human relations with the past as well as the present. Lynd Ward's completely satisfying picture of Greta, the end papers and cover design of sea gulls have been given a production that seems a miracle in this year 1943. There have been other fine achievements and the end of them is not yet in sight." A. C. Moore
+ Horn Bk 19:422 N '43 200w

SAUER, J. L.—Continued

"A lovely, delicate thing which comes close to the heart. This ethereal and yet natural story of a little girl's visits to a fog village which exists only for her is a beautiful tribute to the land of Nova Scotia. Lynd Ward's drawings are in perfect harmony with the story." R. W. Stewart
+ Library J 68:822 O 15 '43 70w

Reviewed by Margaret Gray
+ Library J 68:963 N 15 '43 80w

Reviewed by Lena Barksdale
Nation 157:592 N 20 '43 10w

"There are an exquisite perfection and balance about 'Fog Magic' which places it high in that fascinating group of imaginative stories which deal with both the real and the unreal—the 'betwixt and between' stories. Never does the author, in fitting the parts of her tale together, alter the perspective, never does one world intrude upon the other. . . There is a lovely sense of surprise and mystery in the story. What imaginative child will not thrill to the thought of a house where no house stood, or to the surrey that came by, driven by a woman in plum-colored silk that rustled 'like a three-master coming up in the wind.' " A. T. Eaton
+ N Y Times p20 O 24 '43 440w

"Sometimes a book comes along that creates a sort of nostalgia in adults; a longing to go back to a time when it would have had free entry into their mind and imagination. Such a book is 'Fog Magic.' . . There is nothing about this book that is 'creepy' or unhealthy. Miss Sauer's feeling for Nova Scotia and its people gives the past as well as the present warmth and humor and reality." M. G. D.
+ Sat R of Lit 26:32 N 13 '43 320w

"It is a quiet book—but thrilling. For many children it will not strike fire, but to the relatively few for whom it is written nothing in the literature of unreality will be more dear. It has the dislocation of time that takes place whenever eternity asserts itself; such dislocation gives the strange and lasting charm to 'Berkeley Square.' " M. L. Becker
+ Weekly Book Review p6 Ja 23 '44 350w
Wis Lib Bul 40:12 Ja '44

SAULNIER, RAYMOND JOSEPH, and JACOBY, NEIL HERMAN. Accounts receivable financing. 157p $2 Nat. bur. of economic research

332.7 Credit 43-969

"A complete description of a type of financing widely used by American business to satisfy its short-term credit needs. The authors trace the growth of receivables financing, discussing the credit standards and credit appraisal techniques, the types of business financed, and the cost of funds acquired on this basis. The different financing agencies are dealt with separately." Management R

Reviewed by F. A. Bradford
Am Econ R 33:686 S '43 600w
Library J 68:478 Je 1 '43 40w
Management R 32:83 F '43 60w

SAUNDERS, FREDERICK ALBERT. Survey of physics for college students. 3d ed 724p il $4 Holt

530 Physics 43-6040

"This new edition of an established text [first published 1930] contains extensive revisions, including a new set of problems." (N Y New Tech Bks) Index.

Library J 68:478 Je 1 '43 10w
N Y New Tech Bks 28:32 Ap '43

Reviewed by L. S. Marks
N Y Times p21 Je 27 '43 340w

SAVAGE, ERNEST ALBERT. Librarian and his committee. 254p 12s 6d Grafton & co [English publication]

023.3 Library administration A43-1178

The author is a past president of the Library association of Great Britain and was librarian of the Edinburgh public libraries for twenty years. This study of trustee work is written for British librarians, but will prove useful to American librarians also. Partial contents: Constitution of the committee; The chairman; A librarian's relations with the committee; Some details of procedure; Reports, special and periodical; Economics of book selection; The book-list; The staff. Index.

"The Librarian and His Committee can be heartily recommended to all American library trustees and librarians. One can read with profit of successful methods developed in a country which was old in experience when America was born." W. E. Marcus
+ Library J 67:1102 D 15 '42 950w

"This recent book on library administration . . . is both timely and readable. . . The average library assistant in North America will not find that details of routines parallel those with which he is familiar, but the administrative librarian and the member of the library committee may well read, with enjoyment and profit, this clear and well-arranged account of how the things that they do here are done 'over there.' For Mr. Savage, in spite of his instances (often amusing), never loses sight of principles or high professional aims." G. R. Lomer
+ Library Q 13:266 Jl '43 1500w

SAVELLE, MAX. Foundations of American civilization; a history of colonial America. 773p maps $5; text ed $3.90 Holt

973.2 U.S.—History—Colonial period 42-18305

"A new history of the colonial period in America with more emphasis than most other texts give on the diplomatic aspects of early American history and on the relation of the continental colonies to the British West Indies." (New Eng Q) Index.

"Whatever its limitations, this book will undoubtedly prove a splendid teaching text, and while it does not supersede other standard surveys of our colonial heritage, if used in conjunction with them or even alone, it is sure to be invaluable to the student, and it is sufficiently attractive in style and presentation to appeal to the general reader as well." S. I. Pomerantz
+ — Ann Am Acad 229:195 S '43 700w

"The work justifies itself by virtue of its scholarship, its skillful arrangement of a vast amount of material, and its clear and competent style." Alvin Adey
+ Current Hist 3:73 S '42 460w
New Eng Q 16:150 Mr '43 40w

SAVERY, CONSTANCE. Enemy brothers; decorations by Henry C. Pitz. 313p $2.50 Longmans

43-51243

An English boy, stolen in babyhood and brought up as the son of Nazi parents, finds himself in England, much against his will. The time is the present. The boy's older brother finds him, and thru forebearance and loving understanding, wins the determined "little Hitler" back to his English heritage.

Reviewed by P. A. Whitney
Book Week p11 S 26 '43 50w
Booklist 40:20 S '43
Christian Century 60:991 S 1 '43 60w

"So natural and normal is the tempo, so compelling the theme, so convincing is the story that we lived through Dym's ordeal, Tony's 'nine lives,' and felt very close to that loveable family group. We hope young people of all ages will read 'Enemy Brothers.' " F. B. Sloan
+ Christian Science Monitor p10 S 23 '43 250w
Churchman 157:14 N 15 '43 40w
Commonweal 39:122 N 19 '43 30w

"From England comes an unusually arresting story with a theme that is both timely and important." A. M. Jordan
+ Horn Bk 19:322 S '43 120w

"Excellent picture of wartime England. Worth-while addition to stories of present war. Physical make-up satisfactory. For readers from twelve to sixteen, but their elders will not be bored." A. M. Wetherell
+ Library J 68:673 S 1 '43 110w

Reviewed by R. W. Stewart
Library J 68:825 O 15 '43 80w

Reviewed by Beatrice Sherman
N Y Times p19 S 12 '43 380w

School & Society 58:128 Ag 21 '43 10w

"This book is possibly intended for young people since it narrates the experiences of Max, a twelve year old boy. . . However, adults, particularly those interested in the problems of re-education of Nazi youth, will find it profitable and thought-provoking, as well as interesting reading, since it points up the importance of a clear understanding, interpretation, and motivation of the psychology and the sociology of the folk, in any program of postwar planning." K. J.
+ Social Forces 22:245 D '43 80w

Reviewed by G. F. Gray
Social Studies 34:376 D '43 360w

"One detects in 'Enemy Brothers' a certain smugness that is irritating; the rather superior attitude the children of the household adopt toward the children who are billeted with them. But one has to admit with young James that having to share one's home willy-nilly with one's own countrymen is not an easy task for children or grownups. It is the 'willy-nilliness' that would wear one down. Perhaps Miss Savery wanted children to read this book in order that they might understand how divergent the ideals of German children are from English children so that they will not be too discouraged about the problems that will so soon confront the growing generation at the war's conclusion." E. Y. M.
Springf'd Republican p7e S 5 '43 500w

"The English family is almost unbearably charming, and their good-natured friendliness and infinite patience seem almost too good to be true. One could almost wish for a little more straight, human exasperation oftener from them all. . . But perhaps such criticism is unfair because certainly every story about German parachutists and the inevitable cup of tea with which they were presented bears out that lack of hatred toward the enemy." Diana Forbes-Robertson
Weekly Book Review p12 Ag 22 '43 500w

SAXTON, ALEXANDER PLAISTED. Grand Crossing. 410p $2.50 Harper
43-11956

Story of a young man, of social position and wealth, who becomes dissatisfied with what life in his own class offers him. In his search for better things he transfers from Harvard to the University of Chicago, and in the latter institution chooses his friend from the working classes.

"Mr. Saxton has an excellent dramatic sense and with a group of more believable characters he will one day write a powerful novel."
+ — Atlantic 172:131 O '43 120w

"There lies over the entire novel a kind of superficiality—not falseness by any means, since Saxton's vision is clear enough as far as it goes—but the feeling that he has kept himself rigidly to the surface. Despite the intensity of Saxton's writing, his Michael Reed has neither depth nor meaning, but only the promise of meaning that must come when he has outgrown his adolescence." August Derleth
+ — Book Week p5 Jl 18 '43 500w

"Mr. Saxton has poetic feelings for many things, for wind and shore and water, lights along the railroad track, the sweeping spaces of the West, crowds of people at the World's Fair. His pace is swift. His solution is both vague and over-exacting, but he gives a convincing picture of the type of unbelievers or half-believers who challenge Christians by their dedication to the well-being of their fellow men."
Commonweal 38:467 Ag 27 '43 750w

"This first novel, rather sophomoric in tone, will appeal to college age, but its prewar setting seems dated, and its realism a bit tedious. Suitable for large public libraries, but librarians of smaller institutions will prefer to read before buying." Rice Estes
Library J 68:625 Ag '43 60w

"Mr. Saxton has a pretty good idea of what life is all about, thank you, but his next time out we hope that he'll tell us about it with fewer and better words."
New Repub 109:346 S 6 '43 80w

"Alexander Saxton writes only of the things he knows and has experienced—Harvard, the University of Chicago, the hop fields of the Northwest and the railroad yards of Chicago —but he does so with an authentic talent, a sure feeling for people and places, a sharp eye for symbolic details, and a style which is devoid of any individuality except the individuality of first-rate prose." Thomas Sugrue
+ N Y Times p4 Ag 22 '43 600w

"A competently written first novel by a young man who recently went to Harvard and still seems sore about it. . . Mr. Saxton has more to learn about life than about writing."
New Yorker 19:66 Ag 21 '43 140w

"Mr. Saxton grows as he writes. You can see it in the development of a character like Ben Baum, who is a little incredible at first, a little too consciously created, yet shapes up as the strongest character in the book. You can see it in the sure development of Michael himself, and in the fine choice of details and characters, the sharp memory of spoken words and mental climates. Mr. Saxton isn't going to like being called promising, yet that's just it, and what is wrong with that?" N. L. Rothman
+ Sat R of Lit 26:44 O 16 '43 500w

"Told with originality, 'Grand Crossing' is slightly remindful of Saroyan but is certainly not imitative. This author is a promising newcomer. In time he'll probably learn how to suggest the rotten and obscene side of life without using quite so many four-letter words. He has too much to offer to need to use them for attention-getting effect."
+ — Springf'd Republican p7e S 5 '43 280w

"There is plenty of action in this book and a love story that is psychologically and dramatically sound. What raises it high above the level of other youth novels, is its maturity of presentation and characterization, its awareness of the world we live in in terms of people as well as concepts. If, as Mr. Saxton intimates, the postwar world will have to deal with the kind of leadership that Michael Reed represents, it is a hopeful promise." Rose Feld
+ Weekly Book Review p3 Ag 29 '43 1200w

Wis Lib Bul 39:146 N '43

SAXTON, MARK. Year of August; a novel of intrigue. 299p $2.50 Farrar
43-1888

A spy story of present-day New York city. The theme of the book is the unscrupulous machinations of the "haves" to insure that, irrespective of the outcome of the war, they shall continue to "have."

"The author takes considerable care to provide the story with appropriate motivation throughout, and most all of the observations about Roosevelt haters and other brands of the Fascist Americanus are sound and true, but read like too obvious moral-pointing. Likely enough, the Fascist conspiracy is intended primarily as a timely, if sketchy, back-drop for a rattling good yarn of peril and escape. If Saxton intended nothing more ambitious, he has succeeded admirably. And there is, after all, a message behind it." Jack Conroy
+ Book Week p4 Mr 14 '43 700w

Booklist 39:293 Mr 15 '43

" 'The Year of August' is tops."
+ Boston Globe p15 F 17 '43 60w

Reviewed by Diana Trilling
Nation 156:321 F 27 '43 120w

Reviewed by Drake De Kay
N Y Times p25 F 21 '43 440w

SAXTON, MARK—Continued

"Some improbabilities, but also some tense moments, and a good deal of insight into what the war is about."
+ New Yorker 18:71 F 13 '43 80w

"'The Year of August' is a constructively disturbing book designed to rouse the minds of Americans who believe that the winning of the war by the United Nations will insure the survival of democracy. Whatever its shortcomings in plot structure this note remains clear." Rose Feld
+ — Weekly Book Review p8 F 14 '43 900w

SCHAAF, WILLIAM LEONARD. Mathematics for everyday use. 363p 69c Garden City pub. co.

510 Mathematics 42-21489

"Informal practical guide with everyday mathematical problems fully worked out." N Y New Tech Bks

"Average person will find this a fascinating review of mathematics in language he can understand. Author is associate professor of education, Brooklyn College."
+ Library J 67:953 N 1 '42 20w
N Y New Tech Bks 28:12 Ja '43

SCHAAF, WILLIAM LEONARD. Mathematics for mechanics. 298p il $2 Garden City pub. co.

510 Mathematics. Machine shop practice 42-50123

"The Assistant Professor of Education, Brooklyn College, offers a practical introductory course in the fundamentals of arithmetic, the elements of algebra, geometry, and shop trigonometry." N Y New Tech Bks

Library J 68:36 Ja 1 '43 20w
N Y New Tech Bks 28:12 Ja '43

SCHAAF, WILLIAM LEONARD, ed. Practical outline of mechanical trades for home study. de luxe ed 954p il $3.95 Garden City pub. co.

600 Industrial arts. Science 42-52186

"After an explanation of practical mathematics from arithmetic to trigonometry, such technical subjects as mechanical drawing, physics, chemistry and materials of trade and industry are reviewed. Chapters on machine-shop practice, woodworking, patternmaking, metal trades and electrical trades make up the concluding section of the book. Each subject, started at the beginning, is adapted to the needs of the beginner." Books

"I suspect that many a person who has been over much of it before will keep this book handy for reference. It is written clearly and simply. The numerous illustrations and tables, and the glossary, add to the reader's understanding." James Stokley
+ Books p17 Ja 31 '43 150w
Library J 68:212 Mr 1 '43 10w
N Y New Tech Bks 28:11 Ja '43

"A highly useful addition to the swelling ranks of technical books designed to aid the student of mechanics and the war worker." N. S. Kazin
+ Springf'd Republican p8 Ja 1 '43 410w

SCHACHNER, NATHAN. The sun shines west. 509p $3 Appleton-Century

43-14560

Novel of "bleeding Kansas" in the years 1854 to 1861. It is the story of Delia, an aristocratic Boston girl; her husband Jonathan, a scholarly Abolitionist; and Susan Bowen, a Vermont girl who came to mean more to Jonathan than Delia ever did, even before the latter broke under the strain of pioneer living.

"'The Sun Shines West' is an absorbing—if somewhat conventional—historical novel. . Delia and Susan are superbly realized, and the contemporary allusions to which the author refers in his foreword are not too far-fetched. Schachner is a careful and conscientious craftsman, and he knows how to vivify historical episodes." Jack Conroy
+ Book Week p14 N 21 '43 550w
Booklist 40:114 D 1 '43

"Reasonably satisfactory historical romance, written by practiced hand. . . Interest of historical background exceeds that of the somewhat artificially contrived love triangle." H. A. Wooster
Library J 68:726 S 15 '43 70w

Reviewed by Jenny Ballou
N Y Times p16 O 24 '43 400w
Springf'd Republican p7e N 14 '43 190w

"So broad and diversified is the historical development that it necessitates frequent interruption of the personal drama and tends for long periods to overshadow it. Jonathan and Delia become less real than the events that are shaping them. None the less the final tragic climax of their story carries with it the full impact of truth, for it has stemmed directly from the conflict engendered by their clashing personalities." Jennings Rice
+ — Weekly Book Review p3 O 17 '43 800w

SCHAEFER, VERNON G. Job instruction; prepared under the direction of the Division of central extension, the Pa. state college. (Pa. state college. Industrial ser) 316p $2.50 McGraw

658.5 Employees, Training of 43-52657

The purpose of the book is "to provide the fundamentals of successful instruction for those who must be effective teachers of jobs in occupations and in industry." It is based on Dr Schaefer's experience as instructor of industrial classes in Pennsylvania State college. For industrial foremen and job trainers. Index.

"The book is rather dry reading except for the cases that are introduced for illustrating techniques. The case system has merit in this type of instruction. In fact, the whole thing can be only common sense illuminated by individual experience."
+ Book Week p11 Ap 25 '43 90w
Library J 68:130 F 1 '43 30w

Reviewed by Carl Heyel
Management R 32:275 Jl '43 480w

"The author knows his subject well. A serious reading of the book must yield this conclusion. Likewise, he has logically organized the subject-matter, both in his introduction and in the subsequent chapters. . . Notwithstanding the high nourishment content of the book, it is not prepared in palatable form. The reader must read with determination rather than with interest." J. M. Juran
+ — N Y Times p27 My 9 '43 320w

SCHARFSTEIN, BEN-AMI. Roots of Bergson's philosophy. 156p $1.75 Columbia univ. press

194.9 Bergson, Henri Louis 43-7252

"The author's thesis is that Bergson was not a great innovator, but that his philosophy is the final result of a convergence of ideas. The ideas which converged were some meta-scientific speculations concerning time, various theories based upon 'depth psychology,' evolutionism and vitalism, and certain sociological interpretations of morality and religion. Scharfstein shows that Bergson's most famous sentences are quite similar to the opinions expressed by many nineteenth century philosophers." (Christian Century) Bibliography. Index.

Am Soc R 8:623 O '43 50w

Reviewed by W. A. R. Leys
Christian Century 60:1139 O 6 '43 550w

"This small volume is an interesting disclosure of the roots of the thinking of one of our most vivid contemporary philosophers. It discloses the dependence of even the great thinker upon the world about him and the thoughts of his past and present. Surely it reveals the requirement that every philosopher seek to understand the cultural milieu of his world before he sets down his conclusions about life and human destiny." G. W. Davis

+ Crozer Q 20:348 O '43 600w

Reviewed by U. B. Sait
J Philos 40:472 Ag 19 '43 550w

SCHAUFFLER, ROBERT HAVEN. Fiddler's folly and encores; il. by Fritz Eichenberg. 156p $2 Holt

780.4 Music—Anecdotes, facetiae, satire, etc. 43-115

Memories of the author's experience as an amateur performer of chamber music, both in this country and abroad.

"The best story of the lot is the first, about a despised, black old cello he bought in Venice years ago, which turns out to be the very first cello made by Gaspara de Salo in 1564. One hopes the yarn might be true, because it is fascinating. If it were not for Mr. Schauffler's prissy style of writing, the remainder of the book might be almost as absorbing. As it stands, the volume is full of genteel quotations and ponderously polite humor." C. W. Durgin
+ — Boston Globe p19 F 10 '43 100w

"A book of mellow whimsy that may not be an important part of any one's musical education but that any one who likes music will read with vastly more pleasure than he can extract from many more impressive, and more important, but duller works." G. W. Johnson
+ Weekly Book Review p27 Mr 7 '43 280w
Wis Lib Bul 39:12 Ja '43

SCHELKUNOFF, SERGEI ALEXANDER. Electromagnetic waves. 530p $7.50 Van Nostrand

537.5 Electric waves 43-7024

"A text for advanced students and a reference book for practicing engineers. Chapter headings are: Vectors and coordinate systems; Mathematics of oscillations and waves; Bessel and Legendre functions; Fundamental electromagnetic equations; Impedors, transducers, networks; About waves in general; Transmission theory; Waves, wave guides and resonators; Radiation and diffraction; Antenna theory; The impedance concept. The author is a member of the technical staff of Bell Telephone Laboratories." (N Y New Tech Bks) Bibliographical note. Index.

Library J 67:1067 D 1 '42 30w
N Y New Tech Bks 28:26 Ap '43

"The level of the book would seem to be appropriate to graduate work or perhaps to undergraduate work of honors caliber. Some previous acquaintance with the theory of functions of a complex variable would seem to be desirable, though perhaps not absolutely necessary. To the reviewer, the general picture is that of a stimulating presentation and a thought-provoking selection of material which should find real usefulness." S. N. Van Voorhis
+ R of Scientific Instruments 14:310 O '43 850w

SCHEU, FREDERICK JOSEPH. British labor and the Beveridge plan. 128p $2; pa $1 Island workshop

331.2544 Great Britain. Interdepartmental committee on social insurance and allied services. Labor and laboring classes—Great Britain 43-10376

"Not as limited in scope as title suggests. Really a comprehensive, popular account of the Beveridge Plan; background and motivation, description and analysis. There are also arguments pro and con on whole plan and its separate parts and the reactions to it by British parties and individuals since it was presented. Dr. Scheu, foreign editor of News Review, London, was London Daily Herald correspondent in Austria and succession states until 1938. He left Vienna twenty-four hours before Hitler's advent." Library J

"Evidently favorable to Beveridge Plan but objective and fair in his treatment. Useful with or without text of plan. Recommended." G. W. Hill
+ Library J 68:475 Je 1 '43 100w

"Any one who wants to follow the progress of the Beveridge plan—and, for that matter of similar programs in the United States—will have a much clearer understanding for reading this little book." Mark Duffield
+ Weekly Book Review p10 Je 27 '43 500w

SCHILDER, PAUL. Mind: perception and thought in their constructive aspects. 432p il $5 Columbia univ. press [25s Oxford]

152.7 Perception. Thought and thinking. Psychology, Pathological 42-20874

Second in a series of posthumously published volumes by a Austro-American psychologist who died in 1940. For earlier volume see Book Review Digest, 1942. "The general position taken in this [volume] is that the most primitive human experience contains all the different aspects—sensory, perceptual, affective, emotional, motor, intellectual—of more developed experience, although these aspects of primitive experience are not to be mistaken for the 'elements' of introspective psychologists. Early sense experience is shown to be decidedly synesthesic." (New Repub) Bibliography. Index.

"It should be noted that this volume highly technical in character, is suited for the mature psychiatrist rather than the novice in mental investigation. The whole is increased in value by the extensive bibliography contained at the end of the volume." G. W. Davis
+ Crozer Q 20:265 Jl '43 230w

"Badly written, confusedly organized but nevertheless important book. . . Though the book is sturdily scientific, there is an undertone of criticism of physical science. There is a bibliography of more than four hundred titles, all of which appear to have been used in the text. The book has philosophical as well as psychological significance."
+ — New Repub 108:158 F 1 '43 180w

SCHILLER, ZOE LUND. Mexican time. 311p $2.50 Macmillan

43-16586

The romance of a sophisticated San Francisco business woman and a fine type of Mexican ranch owner.

"Slight plot centering in emotional conflict of leading character, but with excellent descriptions of scenery, natives, and customs of Baja California. Tropical storm with which story closes is particularly vivid. Useful for libraries needing locale fiction." M. J. Messler
+ Library J 68:726 S 15 '43 70w

"This is a novel for the not-too-particular escapist reader, who won't mind that the author has failed to learn the value of simplicity and sincerity, both in her choice of material and her delineation of it." Andrea Parke
N Y Times p24 Ja 9 '44 360w

"[The author's] psychological probings are tortuous but superficial, somewhat like her Spanish which is lavishly but often inaccurately used. It takes a master such as Hemingway successfully to weave the popular phrases into conversation and leave no sense of either strain or falsity. . . As a story, 'Mexican Time' has tension, action, and interest and as a first novel, it is an above-the-average performance. One hopes that in her next book Mrs. Schiller will apply to her natural vigor some of the charm of simplification." Betty Kirk
— + Sat R of Lit 27:27 Ja 29 '44 300w

"All this doesn't add up to a good novel. Much of the time the author writes downright awkwardly; her Spanish throughout is fantastically inaccurate, a wild burlesque of the language; she has not yet learned the values of the novelist's trade—selection, emphasis, economy." J. H. Jackson
— Weekly Book Review p30 D 5 '43 600w

SCHILPP, PAUL ARTHUR, ed. Philosophy of G. E. Moore. (Library of living philosophers) 717p $4 Northwestern univ.

192.9 Moore, George Edward 43-1038

"Nineteen British and American philosophers interpret and criticize the writings of Professor G. E. Moore, who recently came to this country after teaching for twenty-eight years at Trinity College, Cambridge. Professor Moore has written an autobiographical statement and a 142-page reply to his critics. There is also a bibliography of Mr. Moore's books and articles." Christian Century

---

Reviewed by W. A. R. Leys
Christian Century 60:426 Ap 7 '43 1050w

"This volume is one which the serious student of philosophy can not afford to be without. For bringing to publication at an exceptionally difficult time a work of such outstanding interest, conforming to the highest standards of scholarship, the learned world owes Mr. Schilpp, the publishers, and the contributors to this volume a hearty vote of thanks." Max Black
+ J Philos 40:682 D 9 '43 5400w

"This, the most technical of the volumes so far published in the series, is primarily for professional philosophers. . . The autobiographical pages in this volume, which will be the only ones intelligible to the general reader, are an unexpected delight. They portray, in a simple but graceful style, a single-minded devotion to philosophical activity that borders on saintliness."
+ Nation 156:391 Mr 13 '43 160w

Reviewed by Paul Weiss
New Repub 109:114 Jl 26 '43 1300w

"I am quite certain that this book in its entirety will be a treat and a delight to those who are interested in a professional way in pure epistemology and abstract ethical theory. I have no good reason for not believing, furthermore, that this book, like its predecessors in the series, is an exceptionally new contribution to contemporary philosophy. I am almost certainly convinced, on the other hand, that those who do not possess these interests will run away from the book whether they 'see' it or not and that such unfortunate people will continue to regard philosophy, at least in some of its aspects, as 'the systematic misuse of a terminology specifically invented for that purpose.'" Robert Bierstedt
+ — Sat R of Lit 26:38 Je 5 '43 800w
School & Society 57:168 F 6 '43 50w
Times [London] Lit Sup p392 Ag 14 '43 600w

SCHIMBERG, ALBERT PAUL. Larks of Umbria. 237p il $2.75 Bruce pub.

B or 92 Francis of Assisi, Saint 43-51030

"Here is a biography of Saint Francis of Assisi which will appeal to the less scholarly reader. The author is familiar with the source material and handles it well. Written in a popular style, it conveys the spirit of Francis and his early followers, Brothers Leo, Juniper and Bernard. The conflicts and opposition which tried and tested the idealism of Saint Francis and his devotees, the rule and its interpretation under Minister General Elias, the plans which Cardinal Ugolino the diplomat worked out for the new foundation are all set forth with simplicity and clarity. There is also a very interesting chapter on the beginning of the Third Order." Commonweal

---

Cath World 157:332 Je '43 220w
Reviewed by J. P. Ascherl
+ Commonweal 37:594 Ap 2 '43 140w

"Would be useful in general collection of any public library. Presented from Catholic point of view but could be recommended to anyone wishing a first book on St. Francis." A. H. Campbell
+ Library J 68:171 F 15 '43 80w

SCHLIEMANN, HEINRICH. Schliemann's first visit to America, 1850-1851; ed. by Shirley H. Weber. 111p $2.50 Harvard univ. press

917.3 U.S.—Description and travel A42-2383

"In 1850-51 Henry Schliemann, at that time an energetic young businessman living in St. Petersburg, made his first trip to America. He recorded his experiences and impressions in a diary written, for practice, in English (a few pages are in Spanish). Most of the diary was composed during the journey, but, as an Introduction, Schliemann added, after his return to Russia, a brief sketch of his life up to 1850. . . Dr. Weber has included a short Preface discussing the diary, Schliemann's American citizenship . . . and Emil Ludwig's use of this diary in his biography of Schliemann. An index listing the proper names mentioned in the text is added." Class Philol

---

"On every page, the latent archaeologist may be glimpsed in the diarist's insatiable curiosity about the habits and customs of the people he was meeting and about their mechanical, political, and social contrivance. This quality of mind adds zest to his remarks on a levee of President Fillmore's, on Pennsylvania penology, on the Gorgona-Panama trail, and on the excellent rabbit and quail hunting within the city limits of Sacramento. On life in gold-rush California his comments are illuminating; his account of voyaging by the Panama route is one of the most circumstantial extant." J. W. Caughey
+ Am Hist R 48:657 Ap '43 190w

"The diary is worthy of attention for its very readable account of the conditions of traveling and of life in California in the fifties and for the light it throws on Schliemann's own character. It shows him enthusiastic to the point of exaggeration, energetic, with a mind firmly set on its goal, but laboriously retentive of such trivia as the numbers of hotel-rooms, the prices of meals, the exact times of departure and arrival, as well as keenly observant of the scenes of a new country." Carl Roebuck
Class Philol 38:272 O '43 700w

SCHMECKEBIER, LAURENCE ELI. John Steuart Curry's pageant of America. 363p pl $5 Am. artists

759.13 Curry, John Steuart 43-16938

A study of the life and works of a modern American painter. "In possession of all the data, including the artist's own accounts of the genesis of his paintings, Professor Schmeckebier has omitted nothing of importance. His book is divided into two parts: the first a biographical study, the second an elaborate analysis of the artist's works and the conditions under which they were produced. . . In addition the book is completely illustrated with hundreds of reproductions ranging from the painter's juvenilia and first professional efforts, which were done for magazines, to the tremendous conceptions of his maturity." (Weekly Book Review)

Reviewed by Katharine Kuh
Book Week p20 N 14 '43 450w

"If Mr. Schmekebier seems sometimes to exaggerate the merits of his subject, it is the result of an enthusiasm which a biographer is likely to develop when absorbed in his task. Short of seeing all the original works of Curry, there is no better way to become acquainted with him than by reading and studying the illustrations of Mr. Schmeckebier's book." D. A.
+ Christian Science Monitor p9 F 5 '44 500w

Reviewed by Marianne Moore
Nation 157:708 D 11 '43 950w

Reviewed by Christopher Lazare
N Y Times p7 Ja 23 '44 230w

"Professor Schmeckebier has many qualifications for the job. He is essentially a delver and fact-finder, with an eye for details and an abhorrence of inaccuracies; he has patience and scholarship, and best of all, as a former member of the art staff of the University of Wisconsin, he was intimately associated with Curry, who, since 1936, has been attached to the university as artist in residence." Thomas Craven

+ Weekly Book Review p5 N 21 '43 1350w

SCHMIDT, MRS SARAH (LINDSAY). Hurricane mystery. 243p il $2 Random house 43-15783

"A 'makeshift' summer job investigating activities near Old Hurricane Mine was the only one offered Victoria Tyrrell, honor graduate of Colorado College of Mines. How job helped bring solution of mystery discovered earlier by Vic and Eric, and Vic's location and staking of claim to rich tungsten vein make exciting tale of love, mystery and adventure in the West. . . For girls twelve to sixteen." Library J

"Not an essential book." E. M. Gordon
Library J 68:1009 D 1 '43 70w

"Mysteries for girls, long the weakest spot in literature for young folks, have lately developed strength enough sometimes to form a bridge between juvenile and adult fiction. Such is this timely story whose mystery involves war-time search for strategic metals in Colorado." M. L. Becker

+ Weekly Book Review p34 N 14 '43 350w

SCHNEIDER, HERBERT WALLACE, and LAWTON, GEORGE. Prophet and a pilgrim. 589p il $5 Columbia univ. press

B or 92 Harris, Thomas Lake. Oliphant, Laurence. Brotherhood of the New Life 43-1537

"This is 'the incredible history of Thomas Lake Harris and Laurence Oliphant; their sexual mysticisms and Utopian communities amply documented to confound the skeptic.' If you think Father Divine is strange and Aimee McPherson's success unparalleled, the story of this community near Santa Rosa, California, is sure to clear up such misunderstanding." (Churchman) Bibliography. Index.

Reviewed by J. E. Hulett, Jr.
Am Soc R 8:745 D '43 900w

Reviewed by W. E. Garrison
Christian Century 60:295 Mr 10 '43 1150w

"The reader will be puzzled, because the authors have been content to present the facts without prejudice, telling a grand story and letting the reader judge how much of it is worth believing. At the close, certain charges against the community are presented, along with refutations by others both within and outside the community, and the reader will still be puzzled. But he will have enjoyed a well told story, based on sound scholarship, and he may suspect that many of the religious trappings of all sects are the invention of slightly unbalanced and yet strangely sincere minds." R. C. Miller

+ Churchman 157:20 Ap 15 '43 180w

"'Incredible history,' a phrase of the subtitle of this work, is an accurate choice of words. Yet while the material itself is incredible and ephemeral, the research of the authors is convincing and solid." J. B. Pritchard

+ Crozer Q 20:350 O '43 700w

Reviewed by S. E. Mead
J Religion 23:295 O '43 1000w

Reviewed by D. W. Brogan
Manchester Guardian p3 Je 16 '43 350w

Reviewed by E. R. Groves
Social Forces 21:491 My '43 400w

SCHNITTKIND, HENRY THOMAS (HENRY THOMAS, pseud), and SCHNITTKIND, DANA ARNOLD (DANA LEE THOMAS, pseud). Living biographies. 6v fabrikoid $15 c1940-41 Doubleday

920

"The subscription set of Living Biographies contains the following: Living Biographies of Great Painters, . . . Great Philosophers, . . . Great Scientists, . . . Great Composers, . . . Great Poets, and . . . Famous Rulers. Each volume, of slightly more than three hundred pages, includes twenty biographies. A portrait of the subject by Gordon Ross precedes each sketch. The page facing the portrait lists the outstanding contributions of the biographee in his field. Each volume has a brief introduction. The introduction to Great Composers states: 'There are two types of biography. The first type is the story of a man's mortal life. The second is the picture of his immortal personality. . . This book, like other books in the present series, is intended to be a collection of personality portraits.' No one of the introductions sets forth clearly the reasons for selection of the subjects though the authors have indicated the tone of each volume." Subscription Bks Bul

"The volumes in the series, though having a common authorship, vary in quality. Living Biographies of Great Painters is a successful presentation of personality portraits. Great Scientists is written in a readable style with a nice balance between biographical detail and outline of scientific contributions. This high level of writing is not maintained throughout the series. The sketches are inspirational in type and will be of interest to the layman rather than to the scholar. None of the volumes in the series will be of value to libraries for reference purposes because of the lack of emphasis on biographical detail. The biographical facts in each of the lives may be obtained more readily and completely from an encyclopedic article. The volumes on the poets, famous rulers, and philosophers are inferior in editorial workmanship. . . Since the quality of workmanship in the series varies, purchase of the set is not recommended for home, schools or libraries. However certain titles may prove useful as individual purchases for school and public libraries and will furnish pleasant additions to the home browsing shelf."

+ — Subscription Bks Bul 14:12 Ja '43 420w

SCHOENGOLD, MORRIS D., ed. Encyclopedia of substitutes and synthetics. 382p $10 Philosophical lib.

660.3 Chemistry, Technical. Synthetic products
43-14902

"Mainly a dictionary of substances of current importance as substitutes, although some materials for which substitutes are sought, for example, rubber, are also listed. The types of data given for each material or product vary widely, but the fuller entries include the name, a brief description, properties, uses, and substitutes. A useful feature is the inclusion of about three hundred products, such as 'Ameripol,' known chiefly by their trade names. The information given for many of these is scanty indeed, but the names of the manufacturers are given from whom more data can be obtained." N Y New Tech Bks

"Your reviewer estimates that by suitable choice of type and spacing, about half the paper in the book could have been saved. Apart from this woeful waste, about one third of the type is taken up by multiple listings, which might space is taken up by multiple listings, which might have easily been handled in the Index. . . Your reviewer cannot recommend that anyone pay $10, or even any lesser sum, for this book." Jerome Alexander

— Chem & Met Eng 50:196 O '43 850w

Library J 68:961 N 15 '43 40w

N Y New Tech Bks 28:52 Jl '43

"Will fill a great need." James Stokley

+ Weekly Book Review p14 F 6 '44 100w

SCHRADE, LEO. Beethoven in France; the growth of an idea. 271p $3 Yale univ. press [14s Oxford]

780.81 Beethoven, Ludwig van. Music—France
A42-3661

Altho Beethoven never entered France during his lifetime, his music had a great effect upon French thought, not during his life, but after his death. This study traces the history of the influence from its beginnings in the adula-

SCHRADE, LEO—Continued
tion of Beethoven by Berlioz, to and thru its continuation by Lamartine and Hugo. "Thanks to these men, the French were taught to appraise Beethoven in poetic, imaginative language. The French are prone to esteem poetry more highly than music. Therefore, after Berlioz spoke of Beethoven not as musician, but as poet and poet-musician, Beethoven became a figure to conjure with. The romantics read into Beethoven a poetic content expressive of their own outlook upon life. This gave rise to the great tradition that Beethoven belonged to France, the only country in which he could be appreciated, much less understood; the only country which suffered as Beethoven suffered for the cause of humanity." (Books). Index.

Reviewed by W. D. Allen
Books p14 Ag 9 '42 480w
Times [London] Lit Sup p333 Jl 10 '43 120w

SCHRAG, OTTO. The locusts; tr. from the German by Richard Winston. 565p $3 Farrar
43-16041

Long tragic story about Mormons, Mennonites, mining towns, and the locust plague which nearly destroyed the fertility of the state of Kansas in the 1870's. The author is a German refugee, who has a consuming interest in the American farmer.

"I wish that I might say that this is a great historical novel. It is a major attempt by a distinguished refugee who deserves a break. But for me this story of Kansas pioneers fighting swarms of locusts is a chaos of unorganized raw material which in more skillful hands might have been quite effective. It lacks perception and sensitivity. It also lacks complete mastery of American idiom. And it most certainly lacks knowledge of narrative technique." Sterling North
— + Book Week p2 O 31 '43 180w

"Lengthy, somber novel. . . Interest is limited to those with special interest in subject or in the literary style." H. A. Wooster
Library J 68:846 O 15 '43 80w

"To this reader, who believes that any novel of importance must do at least one of two things vividly and convincingly—portray either a particular truth or a universal one, 'The Locusts' seems an important book. It is also a strange book. . . Hundreds of writers have used similar material. The strangeness of the book lies in the author's purpose and treatment. . . The story is told with little concern for the speech or thought patterns of Americans. While this is annoying at first, the unreality works into a curiously Kafka-like effect, with the Kansas settlers suggesting many other peoples. The background, too, is curiously ambiguous and unreal." Mari Sandoz
N Y Times p16 O 31 '43 600w

"Mr. Schrag's fanatical men of God, dour farmers, and frustrated virgins all have a doughy quality and an inflexible, humorless attitude toward existence that hark back to the author's Teutonic origins, but his locusts are simply wonderful. The description of their breeding habits, their life cycle, their technique of destruction, their flights, their death, and the methods used to combat the plague makes a fascinating story, on which is superimposed a large number of much less fascinating human beings. By occasionally skipping and by concentrating on Mr. Schrag's insects, I managed to get considerable enjoyment out of this rather ponderous affair." Clifton Fadiman
+ — New Yorker 19:92 O 30 '43 230w

"This is a peculiar novel. Its first peculiarity is that the author writes about settlers in Kansas when his first-hand acquaintance with America is limited to a tour of the country in 1935 and a few years spent here since his escape from a Nazi prison. But what is most surprising about the book is that with its many faults it is able to hold the reader's interest as well as it does. There is too much description of the life processes of the locusts; and the reader, who migrates with the insects, is likely to tire of the accounts of their effect upon people who meet them for the first time. Yet the locusts survive this excessively detailed treatment and impress the reader with their ruthlessness both as literal and symbolic scourges of mankind." Carvel Collins
+ — Sat R of Lit 26:58 D 4 '43 500w

"It is an extraordinary story. The characters are all drawn somewhat larger than life. The setting itself is larger than life. . . Both the religious groups and the individual characters are presented vividly and convincingly, and when the story ends each of the main characters has changed in some way as a result of his experience. The first part of the book moves slowly; too much emphasis seems to be given to the locusts. . . But gradually, as the stories of each of the separate groups get you—and they do get you—and as the whole vast pattern begins to emerge, you realize that the details which bothered you were in a measure at least necessary, and you are carried along with a rush in the full current of the narrative." Jennings Rice
+ Weekly Book Review p5 N 7 '43 650w

SCHRIFTGIESSER, KARL. Oscar of the Waldorf. 248p il $3.50 Dutton
B or 92 Tschirky, Oscar. Waldorf-Astoria hotel, New York 43-15665

The life-story of the famous maitre d'hotel, Oscar of the Waldorf-Astoria. Coming here from Switzerland as a boy, he became a citizen of the United States as soon as it was possible. For the last fifty years he has greeted the celebrities at the Waldorf, until he has become a celebrity himself. Index.

"How a Swiss immigrant boy who loved to compete in bicycle races became one of the world's most famous hosts is told with a moderate degree of skill in this anecdote-packed volume." Sterling North
+ Book Week p2 N 28 '43 230w

"Easy and pleasant reading which should delight New Yorkers, hotel men, students of American social history, and lovers of anecdote." G. W. Wakefield
+ Library J 68:891 N 1 '43 110w

"Mr Schriftgiesser tells the story in a way that suggests a hotel press agent's gusto. But as he tells it Oscar emerges as something more than Oscar of the Waldorf—though he is all of that—a man of parts who has earned his place in the legend of which he is in a sense the central figure." H. I. Brock
+ N Y Times p12 N 21 '43 1100w
New Yorker 19:114 N 13 '43 20w
Springf'd Republican p7e N 21 '43 600w

"The book is by Mr. Schriftgiesser, a neat hand at biography, but for all that it is Oscar's book. Indeed, the bulk of it, quite properly, is made up of direct quotations from Oscar himself. He remembers everything or nearly everything. Perhaps the book would have been better if Oscar had allowed himself to spill the beans in many places, but he is discreet. Even allowing for these understandable silences, the record as presented gives the story of an extraordinary man who has had glimpses—and sometimes a good deal more than glimpses—of most of the important people of more than half a century." Stanley Walker
+ Weekly Book Review p24 D 12 '43 1200w

SCHUCHERT, CHARLES. Stratigraphy of the eastern and central United States. (Historical geology of North America, v2) 1013p pl maps $15 Wiley
557 Geology—North America 43-2462

"The main object of the treatise on the Historical Geology of North America, of which the present book is Volume II, is to set forth the data upon which are built a series of maps depicting the ancient geographies. . . The study is based upon digests begun in 1904 and made from hundreds of geological books and papers; upon notes taken in the course of field work in 33 states of the American Union, in the Maritime Provinces and elsewhere in Canada, and in central-western Greenland; and upon a further intensive search into the more recent publications describing the stratigraphy of the various United States and the provinces of Canada. The first volume, appearing in 1935, [Book Review Digest, 1936] dealt with the historical geology of the Antillean-Caribbean region. . . It was decided to limit this second volume to the eastern and central United States. . . For the 30 states included in the present volume, the stratigraphy discussed is in the main of the Paleozoic formations, but along the Atlantic Coastal Plain considerable of the well known Mesozoic and Cenozoic marine history is also presented." (Pref) Index.

Booklist 39:314 Ap 1 '43
Library J 68:433 My 15 '43 70w
N Y New Tech Bks 28:10 Ja '43
Reviewed by P. E. Kerr
N Y Times p28 Je 6 '43 200w

SCHULMAN, SAMUEL. Where's Sammy? ed. by Robert Considine. 234p il $2.50 Random house

B or 92 Photographers. Journalists—Correspondence, reminiscences, etc. 43-16532

Autobiography of an ace press photographer, who has contrived to be present at a surprising lot of important events during the last twenty years. He photographed the coronation of Pope Pius XII, the wedding of Prince Humbert and Princess Maria, the attempted assassination of President Roosevelt when Mayor Cermak was shot, the Cuban revolution of 1933, and the Casablanca meeting.

"In many ways 'Where's Sammy?' is an amazing narrative. And while it might be considered trivial by the doubledomes of the literati, it will be duck soup for the avid newspaper reader who gets his current history from the public prints." Sid Mautner
+ Book Week p4 N 7 '43 650w
Booklist 40:113 D 1 '43
Reviewed by E. D. Canham
+ Christian Science Monitor p14 D 3 '43 420w

"Keen reporting of high spots of American history in the making." A. B. Lindsay
+ Library J 68:891 N 1 '43 90w

"This story of Sammy—from Brooklyn to Europe and back in a never-ending shuttle—races with the speed of one of his cameras, clicking along with high good humor, action and information, and being altogether quite wonderful." Lewis Nichols
+ N Y Times p7 O 31 '43 900w

"Amusing, rapid-fire stuff, plus some of Sammy's best pictures."
+ New Yorker 19:107 N 6 '43 70w

"A grand, swift-moving, unpretentious book." Jonathan Daniels
+ Sat R of Lit 26:40 D 11 '43 550w

"This is slam-bang stuff, fast moving and fast reading, about Sammy Schulman, the International News staff photographer, whose name and grinning Brooklyn face are known wherever there is a good photograph to be taken. Bob Considine, who did such a fine job with Captain Ted Lawson's 'Thirty Seconds Over Tokio' has taken Sammy's copy in hand and turned out a book full of excitement, pathos and laughs at such a speedy pace that only the films will be able to catch up with it." R. F. Crandell
+ Weekly Book Review p3 N 7 '43 650w

SCHULTZ, RICHARD SAMUEL. Wartime supervision of workers; the human factors in production, for executives and foremen. 206p il $2.25 Harper

658.5 Employment management. Foremen 43-1078

"A method of supervision based on use of 100 statements or standard principles relating to vital human factors in production is described. The statements are phrased to read either true or false and the explanation or discussion of each is the result of a sampling of the thinking, attitudes, and working methods of supervisory and executive personnel in all parts of the United States. Qualifications and selection of supervisors also treated briefly." (Booklist) Index.

Reviewed by V. S. Karabasz
Ann Am Acad 229:225 S '43 300w
Booklist 39:271 Mr 1 '43

"The bulk of the book, following the introductory chapters, is devoted to a discussion of a hundred human problems which are considered as most affecting good morale and management. . . Careful study and application of these principles should be a great help to the newly-created supervisor in showing him at least some of the principal pitfalls to be avoided in his relations with those under him." James Stokley
+ Books p25 Mr 28 '43 350w
Cleveland Open Shelf p4 Ja '43

"All in all, the book represents a forward step in the establishment of standard practices in handling human relations. It is worth the serious consideration of every executive and foreman, since it clarifies the reasons underlying the procedures developed by progressive personnel men over the years." G. B. Arthur
+ Management R 32:194 My '43 650w

"Up-to-date and timely handbook." R. L.
+ Springf'd Republican p8 F 10 '43 350w
Weekly Book Review p18 Mr 21 '43 250w

SCHULTZ, THEODORE WILLIAM. Redirecting farm policy. 75p $1 Macmillan

338.1 Agricultural administration—U.S. Prices 43-3998

"As is indicated by the title, Professor Schultz thinks our current farm policy is defective and must be reshaped if it is to meet our war and post-war problems. The basic difficulty he believes is that prices, which are essentially means of directing economic activity and production, have become ends of government policy with unfortunate results for food output and the distribution of incomes in agriculture." (Am Pol Sci R) Index.

"Those concerned with this field have long known that Professor T. W. Schultz is one of our most discerning students and critics of agricultural policy. He reinforces this view with his succinct but meaty Redirecting Farm Policy." Harry Schwartz
+ Am Pol Sci R 58:307 Je '43 450w
Reviewed by J. D. Black
J Pol Econ 51:361 Ag '43 750w

SCHULZ, ELMER HARRY, and ANDERSON, LE ROY THOBURN. Experiments in electronics and communication engineering; covering basic circuit theory, electronics, communication networks, radio and ultra-high-frequency techniques. 381p il $3 Harper

621.38 Electric communication. Electronics 43-12237

"This text has been prepared to serve as a guide for laboratory work in the Electronics and Ultra-High-Frequencies Training Schools operated by the Illinois Institute of Technology for the Signal Corps of the United States Army. . . The trainees spend almost one-third of their training period in the laboratory. Mimeographed notes, on which this text is based, were found to be very useful and necessary for such an intensive schedule. For our use in the Signal Corps Training Schools, in our regular undergraduate courses in electrical engineering, and for use in the extensive series of evening courses in electronics and radio engineering under the Engineering, Science, and Management War Training Program sponsorship, the notes have been reviewed and revised for more permanent form. It is believed that other institutions sponsoring similar training programs will find this tested material useful." (Foreword) Index.

"Much of the material is basic to an understanding of all electrical circuit problems, although the objective is to advance the trainees' knowledge in the field of radio. The student, after passing through this study phase, continues into the study of Radar."

SCHULZ, E. H.—Continued
Book Week p11 S 12 '43 80w

Library J 68:670 S 1 '43 50w

N Y New Tech Bks 28:43 Jl '43

"Although designed primarily for use in connection with laboratory experiments, the book is readable as a general survey. The numerous offset reproductions of circuit diagrams, graphs and photographs should make it of value to students who may not have access to all the laboratory equipment specified for the experiments." H. M. Davis
+ N Y Times p33 O 17 '43 240w

Special Libraries 34:386 S '43

Reviewed by James Stokley
Weekly Book Review p30 O 17 '43 100w

SCHUMPETER, JOSEPH ALOIS. Capitalism, socialism, and democracy. 381p $3.50 Harper
335 Socialism. Capitalism. Democracy
42-25743

A re-examination of the ideas of society promulgated by Marx, followed by a discussion of how the war will affect capitalism and socialism and what kind of a society may be possible in the future. Index.

"This is a provocative book written in a style which is likely to repel American readers. This is unfortunate, because its involved sentences of Germanic scholarship contain many ideas which people in the United States would do well to ponder." W. S. Carpenter
Am Pol Sci R 37:523 Je '43 750w

"The book may be somewhat difficult for the general reader, but individuals with adequate background in the general field will find that it is charmingly written, that its arguments and analyses are developed in thorough and intensely interesting fashion, and that Professor Schumpeter's outstanding scholarship is evidenced on every page. The literature in this important field has been enriched by the publication of this book." R. H. Blodgett
+ Ann Am Acad 228:126 Jl '43 1050w

Booklist 39:194 Ja 15 '43

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert
Foreign Affairs 21:577 Ap '43 50w

Manchester Guardian p3 D 1 '43 320w

"On the whole, this is a 'must' book." A. B. Wolfe
+ Pol Sci Q 58:265 Je '43 800w

"It is enlightening to follow Professor Schumpeter's thought through the mazes of society and to find many neglected corners illuminated by his clear scholarship. It is somewhat unfortunate, perhaps, that he has cast his thinking so definitely into a pattern of semaphore words like capitalism, socialism, and democracy, for the total effect of his thinking is to indicate that none of these words represents a stable and inflexible condition, but that social dynamics working within a society dominantly capitalistic will produce socialistic tendencies, and that a society dominantly democratic will have tendencies toward socialistic ways which, as they fulfill themselves, will threaten democracy itself. This preoccupation with fixed symbols also produces a somewhat pedantic style of thought which registers sometimes in pedantic writing." Frank Kingdon
+ — Sat R of Lit 25:21 N 28 '42 700w

Reviewed by D. W. Brogan
Spec 171:412 O 29 '43 1050w

"This excellent book, whether or not one accepts its outlook, is presented with ability and clearness."
+ Times [London] Lit Sup p501 O 16 '43 850w

"On the whole, Professor Schumpeter's critical faculties seem to have been most usefully stimulated when dealing analytically with the real advantages of capitalism and their short-sighted critics. It is surprising, therefore, that when turning to his blue-print of socialism, there is little awareness of the problems which students of every ideological tendency—I think it fair to say—have long considered basic." C. R. Walker
+ — Yale R n s 32:597 spring '43 700w

SCHWARCZ, LEONARD. Sanitary products; their manufacture, testing and use. 305p il $5 McNair-Dorland co, inc, 254 W. 31st st, N.Y. 1
668 Disinfection and disinfectants. Soap. Insecticides
43-8230

"First work on manufacture and use of sanitary products, disinfectants, oil and liquid soaps, soap dispensers, floor waxes, insecticides, moth preparations, deodorants, etc. Various Federal acts and NAIDM specifications. Statistics." Library J

"The author's method of presenting the subject emphasizes its importance to human beings and to their economy, and produces a desire on the part of the reader to become more familiar with these combating agents. The book is written in such a manner as to be of interest to laymen as well as to those engaged professionally in this work." A. P. Miller
+ Am J Pub Health 34:80 Ja '44 180w

Library J 68:670 S 1 '43 30w

N Y New Tech Bks 28:50 Jl '43

SCHWARTZ, DELMORE. Genesis. bk 1 208p $3 New directions
811
(43-8710)

"This poem may well be characterized in Eliot's words for Pound's 'Hugh Selwyn Mauberley': 'a positive document of sensibility.' . . The time is this century, the place New York, the agonist a third-generation American of Russian-Jewish 'extraction.' We are introduced to him some time after he has fought his way through a New York childhood, memories of which are keeping him from sleep. . . As the youth recalls episode after episode in his and his parents' lives, they are interpreted both by his own growing intelligence and by a chorus of listening and commenting 'ghosts.'" Nation

"The whole scheme is worked out with considerable intelligence and power, the writing is competent and much of what the chorus says is strikingly acute and profound. The trouble is that the story is commonplace, even squalid, and while this was the poet's deliberate intention, there is no distinction in the telling of it to make up for the fact that it has been told hundreds of times before." Northrop Frye
Canadian Forum 23:69 Je '43 380w

"The focus of this comedy—in the Dantean sense—of good and evil is not society, or heroism, or adolescence in our time, as with most Bildungsromane—an exception being 'The Magic Mountain,' to which Schwartz's poem is in many ways spiritually akin—but one human individual, presented and considered in all the categories of relation. . . Despite occasional garrulous aridity, it suggests as a whole a genuinely tragic view of life, which needs stating more than ever against the prevalent falsettos uttering or claiming to dispel premature indifference and despair." Frank Jones
+ Nation 157:186 Ag 14 '43 950w

Reviewed by W. R. Benet
Sat R of Lit 26:24 O 16 '43 90w

SCHWARZ, LEO WALDER, ed. Memoirs of my people through a thousand years. 597p $3.75 Farrar
296 Jews—Biography
43-1769

Anthology of autobiographical excerpts from Jewish poets, soldiers, merchants, etc., from the days of Maimonides to the present. Includes introductory statements for each excerpt. Many of the selections were not available before in English. "Sources and literature." Index.

Am Soc R 8:624 O '43 80w

Booklist 39:269 Mr 1 '43

"Policy of selection fairly good, but chapter introductions are inadequate and contain factual errors. Designed for popular reading; should be useful in public libraries." F. E. Hirsch

+ — Library J 68:34 Ja 1 '43 100w

"A fascinating anthology."

+ New Yorker 18:63 Ja 30 '43 50w

"The anthology is a rarity, a curiosity, and a most wonderful collection of tales." Howard Fast

+ Sat R of Lit 26:8 F 20 '43 500w

"It is quite impossible in a brief review to indicate the color, the pathos, the humor, the romance, the profundity, the passion, the littlenesses and the greatnesses these many memoirs set forth. They will be, doubtless, of most intimate interest to Jews themselves. But there is enjoyment here for whatsoever readers." G. S. Hellman

+ Weekly Book Review p14 Mr 14 '43 700w

SCHWARZ, PAUL. This man Ribbentrop, his life and times. 303p il $3 Messner

B or 92 Ribbentrop, Joachim von. Germany —Foreign relations 43-12194

Biography and character study of Hitler's right hand man in foreign affairs. "For twenty years Dr. Schwarz was in the diplomatic service of the Reich before serving in New York as Consul from 1929 to 1933, when he resigned as a matter of principle after the Nazis came into power. He later became a citizen and he is regarded as a prime authority on foreign affairs, on politics and economics." (Publisher's note) Index.

Reviewed by Ernest von Hartz
Book Week p6 Ag 22 '43 850w

Booklist 40:144 D 15 '43

"Dr. Paul Schwarz has written an entertaining account of Ribbentrop's progress from poverty to wealth, from obscurity to renown. Anecdotes, photographs of Ribbentrop in his new uniforms, gossip—the book is an amusing one, superficially amusing. Dr. Schwarz detests this upstart. He does this from a special point of view, that of the professionally trained German Foreign Office functionary. Dr. Schwarz reflects the feeling of the professional, who follows rules, for the amateur who does not even know that they exist. Justifiably Dr. Schwarz is sarcastic about Ribbentrop and contemptuous."

Commonweal 38:614 O 8 '43 650w

"Written simply and soberly, from obviously reliable sources; no sensational revelations, but an interesting account of Ribbentrop's rise from wine merchant to foreign minister. Recommended for public and college libraries, especially as there has been little published on one of the leading figures in present world struggle." H. H. A. Bernt

+ Library J 68:624 Ag '43 70w

Reviewed by Eleanor Kittredge
N Y Times p14 S 26 '43 750w

"This is the inside report of a professional diplomat of the good old German school on the doings of the unprofessional Nazi-diplomat of the new evil German school. In this fact are implicit all the merits and all the shortcomings of this biography." R. R. Plant

+ — Sat R of Lit 26:8 S 4 '43 1100w

Times [London] Lit Sup p482 O 9 '43 800w

Reviewed by Paul Hagen
Weekly Book Review p14 S 19 '43 800w

SCHWARZTRAUBER, ERNEST EDWARD. Workers' education, a Wisconsin experiment. 182p il pa $1 Univ. of Wis. press

374.8775 Wisconsin. University. School for workers. Labor and laboring classes—Education 42-37593

"Mr. Schwarztrauber, who has been director of the Wisconsin School for Workers since 1937 and associated with workers' education in the state since 1930, has written an . . . account of this educational experiment." J Pol Econ

"A readable, thought-provoking little book." Hazel Kyrk

+ J Pol Econ 51:468 O '43 850w

School & Society 56:476 N 14 '42 10w

"I heartily recommend this study to all concerned with aim and method in postwar education at the adult level. Its realism is a corrective to educational wishfulness." Ordway Tead

+ Survey G 32:300 Jl '43 420w

SCHWENDENER, NORMA. History of physical education in the United States. 237p il $2 Barnes, A.S.

796.09 Physical education and training 42-15795

"The text is developed within periods of American history relative to the cultural, social, political and economic aspects of life." (School & Society) Index.

Am Hist R 48:418 Ja '43 20w

School & Society 55:652 Je 6 '42 20w

Reviewed by H. D. Meyer
Social Forces 22:118 O '43 220w

Reviewed by H. M. Sedgwick
Springf'd Republican p7e F 28 '43 1550w

SCOTT, CYRIL KAY-, pseud. See Wellman, F. C.

SCOTT, ERNEST FINDLAY. Varieties of New Testament religion. 310p $2.75 Scribner

225.6 Bible. New Testament. Theology 43-17388

Study of the doctrinal contradictions found in the New Testament. It is Dr Scott's view that these contradictions are good, rather than bad, since they have allowed Christianity to develop, unhampered by a rigid doctrinal system. Index.

"A valuable book for ministers and teachers." J. M. Yard

+ Book Week p2 Ja 2 '44 320w

Booklist 40:157 Ja 1 '44

Reviewed by A. N. Wilder
Christian Century 61:145 F 2 '44 700w

New Repub 110:61 Ja 10 '44 120w

Wis Lib Bul 40:5 Ja '44

SCOTT, HUGH. In the high Yemen; with over a hundred phot. by the author and Everard B. Britton. 260p $5.40 Transatlantic [18s Murray, J]

915.33 Yemen, Arabia [A42-4973]

Account of the author's experiences on the British museum (Natural history) expedition to south-west Arabia.

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert
Foreign Affairs 21:587 Ap '43 20w

Geog R 33:172 Ja '43 900w

"Dr. Scott includes a certain but not a boring account of entomology and botany, but much more about the country generally. He notices the really interesting things. . . . The photographs show grimly fine mountain scenery and beautiful cities, mosques and houses. They are superb, and by themselves would make the book worth buying." Freda White

+ New Statesman & Nation 24:145 Ag 29 '42 330w

"The non-technical account which Dr. Scott has written, decked out with abundant photographs, is informative, though the author does not belong to that select band of English Arabians whose pens have been moved to imperishable prose through contact with the fascinating Arab race and its stimulating environment. In particular, the relationship of southwest Arabia to East Africa—a highly interesting though still controversial subject—is most sanely treated in this book." Kenneth Williams

+ Spec 169:198 Ag 28 '42 550w

Times [London] Lit Sup p430 Ag 29 '42 1150w

SCOTT, JOHN. Behind the Urals; an American worker in Russia's city of steel. 279p $2.75 Houghton [7s 6d Secker & Warburg]

330.947 Magnitogorsk, Russia. Steel industry and trade. Russia—Economic conditions 42-16792

For descriptive note see Annual for 1942.

"A lucid report, packed with verified statistics, that makes clear to an England at war much that formerly seemed strange and confusing in a land that never thought itself at peace." D. S.

+ Manchester Guardian p3 F 12 '43 150w

"Mr. John Scott, an American, has given a vivid personal record of five years as a worker at Magnitogorsk, in which the Plan is the background for each individual. To have been present at the birth on the barren Magnetic Mountain of the great city where the intermingled races of the Soviet Union have forged the Red Army's steel is a rare experience; to communicate it as excitingly as Mr. Scott, while at the same time disclosing its sober purpose is an unusual contribution to the literature of Anglo-Soviet understanding." Maurice Edelman

+ New Statesman & Nation 25:130 F 20 '43 500w

"This is an impartial and interesting book and a useful addition to the literature of Soviet Russia." Leon Kiril

+ Spec 170:80 Ja 22 '43 600w

Times [London] Lit Sup p38 Ja 23 '43 800w

SCOTT, ROBERT LEE. God is my co-pilot; with a foreword by C. L. Chennault. 277p $2.50 Scribner

940.544973 World war, 1939—Personal narratives, American. World war, 1939—Aerial operations 43-10655

Personal narrative of an American army pilot. Tho the author tells the story of his early life, his education, and experience as an army pilot before 1941, the chief interest in his book lies in his record of flying against the Japs over Burma and his service under Chennault in China.

"Life magazine calls Scott the 'greatest of all pursuit men.' And critics will call his book the best writing to come from any flier with the exception of St. Exupery." Sterling North

+ Book Week p3 Ag 8 '43 600w

Reviewed by Clip Boutell

Book Week p4 S 5 '43 210w

Booklist 40:10 S '43

Cleveland Open Shelf p14 Ag '43

"Splendid tale of heroism for older boys, with the shining thread expressed in the title that an Unseen Co-pilot flies along." Marian Webb

+ Library J 68:848 O 15 '43 80w

"Colonel Scott pecked out his 277-page book with two fingers on a portable typewriter when he returned to the United States, and he did an excellent job of it. The reader gets all the thrills of flying and fighting, with none of the hazards. Why Scott chose the title, 'God Is My Co-Pilot,' is a mystery known only to him, but it shouldn't put anyone off from reading his exciting tale." Marcus Duffield

+ Nation 157:187 Ag 14 '43 450w

New Repub 109:294 Ag 30 '43 120w

"Colonel Scott has woven a good deal of information about air tactics in particular and the course of the war in the Far East in general into his book. But it is primarily to be recommended to those who like stories of adventure, resourcefulness, raw courage and sudden death." F. S. Adams

+ N Y Times p3 Jl 25 '43 950w

"Despite the faintly megalomaniac title, this is a humdinger. . . The author is a very rare sort of fellow, a man of action who is also a man of imagination."

+ New Yorker 19:71 Ag 14 '43 110w

"'God is My Co-Pilot' is an intensely personal story, probably one of the most exciting stories to come out of this war. I am not sure whether God was Scott's co-pilot or Hate. But I am sure that men like Scott are going to win this war." H. B. Kranz

+ Sat R of Lit 26:11 Ag 7 '43 650w

Springf'd Republican p7e Ag 1 '43 850w

Time 42:98 Ag 9 '43 1050w

"Colonel Scott is at present in this country, teaching latest fighter tactics to Army pilots. Perhaps his book has been flavored by that work. At any rate, it is wonderfully direct—he talks to you as if your bag were packed to go to China and do the same thing yourself. You would just naturally want to know certain things; and he just naturally tells you. Thus he avoids the main pitfall of all writing about the air: Pussy-footing on the technicalities." Wolfgang Langewiesche

+ Weekly Book Review p1 Ag 1 '43 2300w

Wis Lib Bul 39:145 N '43

SCOTT, SALLY. Molly and the tool shed; il. by Ellen Segner. 41p $1.50 Harcourt 43-15769

Molly was a stubborn lamb who started out as a bottle-fed baby. When she got too big to stay in the house she was relegated to the tool shed, and even when she had children and grandchildren of her own Molly led them all to the same told tool shed, which eventually had to be enlarged for Molly's family. For second grade.

Reviewed by F. B. Sloan

Christian Science Monitor p6 O 25 '43 90w

"While expensive for content, this forty-one-page book in twenty-four-point type will serve a variety of uses: with sight-saving groups; over-age readers, since story is not too childish; average second graders; and as picture story." M. M. Clark

+ Library J 68:672 S 1 '43 70w

Reviewed by A. T. Eaton

N Y Times p25 N 7 '43 260w

Springf'd Republican p7e S 12 '43 80w

"As both author and illustrator know all about the ways of cossets, the story is a refreshing variation on the usual pet-lamb poem or tale. Molly never followed anybody to school: leading was her line. The book's alternate pages of pictures and twenty-four-point type encourages beginning readers." M. L. Becker

+ Weekly Book Review p8 O 24 '43 300w

Wis Lib Bul 39:125 O '43

SCOVILLE, JOHN, and SARGENT, NOEL, comps. Fact and fancy in the T.N.E.C. monographs. 812p $3 for sale by Wilson, H.W.

330.973 U.S. Temporary national economic committee. U.S.—Economic conditions

"This volume consists of a compilation of reviews of the 43 monographs which were published by the Temporary National Economic Committee on the general subject of concentration of economic power in the American economy. The reviews were compiled and edited, under the sponsorship of the National Association of Manufacturers, by John Scoville, Chief Statistician of the Chrysler Corporation, and Noel Sargent, Secretary of the National Association of Manufacturers." Am Pol Sci R

"This series of reviews of the T.N.E.C. monographs should be helpful to all students of business and the economic system who desire to make an appraisal of the factual data and opinions contained in such monographs." T. J. Anderson, Jr.

Am Pol Sci R 58:302 Je '43 850w

Reviewed by Ervin Hexner

Ann Am Acad 230:226 N '43 1000w

SCULL, JOHN E. Ship wiring; a primer of cable and fixture installation. 227p $2 Cornell maritime

623.85 Electricity on ships. Electric wiring 43-13773

"First handbook on laying and installation of cable and equipment, written as primer for trainees with little experience in the shipyard. With background of general practice in marine electrical work and as teacher of new workers in shipyards, author presents in concise fashion a work on blueprint reading, all types of fixture and installation to final layoff and cabling of job." Library J

Booklist 40:74 N 1 '43

Eng N 131:116 N 4 '43 10w

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 68:771 O 1 '43 60w

N Y New Tech Bks 28:51 Jl '43

Reviewed by James Stokley
Weekly Book Review p25 Ja 23 '44 60w

SEAGER, ALLAN. Equinox. 408p $2.75 Simon & Schuster

43-10497

"Richard Miles, a tired, successful foreign correspondent, finds his unacknowledged dreams suddenly realized by his lovely 17-year-old daughter. She, worshipping her ideal of a father to be served with selfless devotion, leaves her convent to make a home for him. Into this innocent concurrence of dreams come stupid or malicious hints, warning Miles that her devotion is somewhat extrafilial. This unnatural label, 'incest' pinned on a complex human reality, precipitates tragedy." N Y Times

"This is perhaps the most unpleasant piece of American fiction since 'Kings Row.'" Sterling North
— Book Week p3 Ag 22 '43 600w

"This is an interesting book for anyone who fancies the variety of life, and isn't looking for sweetness and light. It isn't dull; at the same time, it isn't pleasant." Dorothy Hillyer
Boston Globe p17 S 1 '43 280w

"This first novel is clever, almost smart; main theme is delicately handled, while lesser situations are frankly described. Not recommended." H. G. Kelley
— + Library J 68:625 Ag '43 70w

"A mad, bad, and dangerous book." Diana Trilling
— Nation 157:330 S 18 '43 450w

Reviewed by George Mayberry
New Repub 109:290 Ag 3 '43 500w

"Mr. Seager's book would be valuable if it were only half as good as it is. Exposing the incorrigible moralism of our culture (in its latest disguise) he has seen how we use psychiatric definitions to hide moral judgments. The Puritans branded their victims knowingly with scarlet letters. But we, in our incomplete transition from sin to science, impale them thoughtlessly on Freudian pins." Marjorie Farber
+ N Y Times p5 Ag 22 '43 600w

"'Equinox' doesn't quite hold together as a novel and runs about a third too long, but it is full of set pieces of undeniable coruscation and has a bitter-aloes flavor quite unlike anything you're apt to have encountered in fiction of late. Better try it." Clifton Fadiman
+ — New Yorker 19:65 Ag 21 '43 320w

"The novel, particularly in the early sections, is curiously disjointed. It is studded with short stories, interesting in themselves, but often only tenuously related to the story proper. . . The novel sprawls in the modern fashion, and affords us much delightful ironic observation by the way; but a unifying and tightening and a more rigorous selectivity would have increased the impact of the book, which already has considerable power." R. A. Cordell
Sat R of Lit 26:10 Ag 28 '43 500w

"The first full-length novel of an author already well known for his short stories. It is an interesting and well-written piece of work, marked by a sensitive and imaginative handling of what the publishers are pleased to advertise as 'shocking' material." W. H. H.
Springf'd Republican p7e Ag 22 '43 500w

Time 42:104 S 20 '43 130w

"'Equinox' is a remarkable novel in candor, depth, and richness. The situation of Mary and her father is drawn with both dignity and delicacy; it has the spaciousness of true tragedy, the tragedy of persons whose very integrity and strength enmesh them in a coil from which there is no outcome but disaster." Mary Ross
+ Weekly Book Review p6 Ag 22 '43 950w

"It sounds fantastic and it is (and phoney too and cheaply vulgar also); but Mr. Seager writes with such élan, such verve, power, and gusto, and creates such tense drama and such wonderful minor characters that Equinox is impressive and astonishing stuff." Orville Prescott
— + Yale R n s 33:xii autumn '43 100w

SEAGRAVE, GORDON STIFLER. Burma surgeon. 295p il $3 Norton

B or 92 Surgeons—Correspondence, reminiscences, etc. World war, 1939—Burma. World war, 1939—Medical and sanitary affairs. Missions, Medical 43-11542

The American medical missionary who accompanied General Stilwell on his retreat from Burma to India here gives a terse but humorous account of his twenty years in Burma, and of the famous retreat.

Atlantic 172:131 O '43 130w

Reviewed by Edward Weeks
Atlantic 172:129 D '43 390w

"It is safe to predict that when the history of the Burma campaign will be written, the chapters devoted to it in this book will not be overlooked. While there is much in the book of special interest to physicians, its appeal is much deeper and it deserves to be read widely." Israel Davidsohn
+ Book Week p3 Ag 15 '43 400w

"Seagrave is not a polished writer, but he has qualities many smoother stylists lack. He can make you see, smell and feel the jungle; he can dramatize the building of a great road, the horror of war, and the agony of retreat. And it will be an unimaginably callous reader who does not weep when the bombs fall upon that beloved hospital in Namkham. This is more than literature; it is a slice of life cut from the steaming flank of the Burmese jungle. You will not forget Dr. Seagrave and his little nurses if you live to be 90. He gives the word 'courage' a new and deeper meaning." Sterling North
+ Book Week p3 Ag 15 '43 700w

Booklist 40:12 S '43

"It is one of the grandest and most stimulating narratives from the pen of a surgeon these last 10 years. . . If anyone wants to read a story showing what a man can do when he really sets his mind to it, 'Burma Surgeon' should be on his book list. Told in the first person, it is a tale through which shines one of the noblest spirits of our day." J. H. Powers
+ Boston Globe p15 Ag 4 '43 360w

"Men who have been in Burma find this volume true to life. Others who are deeply interested in a behind-the-lines story—that is to say, virtually all of us—will find it both novel and exciting."
+ Cath World 158:221 N '43 110w

Christian Century 60:943 Ag 18 '43 200w

Reviewed by Clifton Macon
Churchman 157:18 N 1 '43 270w

Cleveland Open Shelf p14 Ag '43

"A story of loyalties, endless devoted work, cheerfulness and song." E. L. Keyes
+ Commonweal 38:375 Jl 30 '43 230w

"Dr. Seagrave wrote 'Burma Surgeon' himself, simply, informally, with humor. It is good that no ghost-writer intervened, because in these pages one meets, face to face, a great man." Marcus Duffield
+ Nation 157:160 Ag 7 '43 600w

"'Burma Surgeon' is a compelling story of adventure in peace and war. It leaves one with a sense of shame that, in comparison with the author, one can do so little both for humanity and the war effort. Here is a working manual of the Americanism to which we all give lip-service. Dr. Seagrave describes how

SEAGRAVE, G. S.—Continued
he presented it as a living merciful thing to an alien people." John Goette
+ N Y Times p1 Ag 8 '43 1600w

"Dr. Seagrave tells his story of twenty years of non-Park Avenue practice with rough humor, an entire absence of art, and an easy-going simplicity of outlook. 'Burma Surgeon' perhaps doesn't compare with Heiser's book, but it has an appealing quality just the same. I daresay it will be widely read." Clifton Fadiman
New Yorker 19:61 Ag 7 '43 400w

"Seagrave is not a good writer. On a few occasions, he is not even a very literate one. But this very artlessness lends to the book an enchantment which might have been ruined by a more skilled literary practitioner. 'Burma Surgeon' is a lusty, honest, exciting book about a good man. It blends war reportage, autobiography and pure adventure in equal shares, and the brew is rich enough to satisfy any reader." Mary Gayn
+ Sat R of Lit 26:13 Ag 28 '43 800w

"A book that will stir the enthusiasm, emotion and imagination of every reader. A combination of loving domesticity, friendships, surgery, medicine and war, full of graphic and often amusing anecdotes and excellent photographs, it epitomizes a life of extreme service, a life in which religion became a practical demonstration of efficiency and devotion." A. H. Compton & others
+ Scientific Bk Club R 14:1 Ag '43 1450w
Springf'd Republican p7e Ag 22 '43 750w

"The Dr. Seagrave who came out of Burma with General Stilwell has published a book. He is no writer. But he is a man of such heart and energy and action that his 295-page book, jammed with adventure and medical science, is intensely affecting."
+ Time 42:98 Ag 16 '43 1700w

"There are innumerable reasons for reading Dr. Seagrave's book, but to me the most important is that it gives you an engaging personal glimpse of an authentic American hero." Richard Watts, Jr.
+ Weekly Book Review p1 Ag 8 '43 1300w
Wis Lib Bul 39:119 O '43

SEASHORE, CARL EMIL. Pioneering in psychology. 232p $2.50 Univ. of Iowa

150.72 Iowa. University. Psychological laboratory. Psychology, Physiological 42-36488

"Professor Carl E. Seashore began his work as a member of the faculty of the University of Iowa in 1897, and for a period of forty years he was a leading figure in the development of laboratory research in psychology. After a brief period of retirement following the year 1937, he has again been called to administrative duties at the University of Iowa. . . . In [this] book Professor Seashore has, in a series of twelve chapters, given an exceptionally readable account of the development of the psychological laboratory and its relation to interdepartmental integration as well as a description of some of the major laboratory instruments which have been his particular contribution to scientific techniques." El School J

"The book will be of pronounced interest to every teacher of educational psychology and to university administrators. Students preparing for a lifetime of work in education should find it of equal interest and, while trying to project plans for their own professional lives, should profit from the retrospect of an accomplished scientist and scholar." G. T. Buswell
+ El School J 43:493 Ap '43 750w
School & Society 56:532 N 28 '42 60w

SEELEY, MRS MABEL. Eleven came back. 270p $2 Doubleday 43-4864

Detective story.

"Descriptions of Wyoming's terrain and climate are superb. Characterizations are less smoothly handled. And the principal clue, which I recognized and wanted to examine carefully early in the book, was unfairly kept out of my reach until the closing chapters. Without this handicap, I could have wound up the case half way through the book, thereby saving many of the people involved considerable discomfort." Elizabeth Bullock
+ — Book Week p10 Mr 21 '43 270w
Booklist 39:334 Ap 15 '43
Bookmark 4:20 Mr '43

"Eleven Came Back is so overlaid with pretentiousness that it is hard to disentangle the plot from the fine writing and local colour. . . There are glimpses of character and moments of excitement, to remind us of Miss Seeley's undoubted talent, but the over-writing is continuous from start to spectacular finish." Ralph Partridge
— + New Statesman & Nation 26:358 N 27 '43 90w

"From a real world haunted by dictators and sudden death, Mrs. Seeley has drawn background for a novel which advances her to the front ranks of the writers of crime fiction. . . In 'Eleven Came Back' she has proven her ability in every way. This is a story of real people dominated by familiar human passions and the violent events in which they become involved appear natural and inevitable, no matter how far those events may range outside the experience of the average reader." Inez Shook
+ N Y Times p17 Mr 28 '43 480w

"The locale is a ranch near the Grand Tetons of Wyoming, a superb background for Miss Seeley's best mystery since 'The Listening House.'"
+ New Yorker 19:72 Mr 20 '43 50w

"Very good indeed."
+ Sat R of Lit 26:18 Mr 13 '43 40w
Springf'd Republican p7e Mr 28 '43 170w
Times [London] Lit Sup p443 S 11 '43 150w

"Whatever the future may bring, Mabel Seeley is right in there fighting for 1943 mystery honors. . . She may have a slight tendency to overwrite in every direction, but that should be velvet for lots and lots of fans. This looks like Mabel Seeley's best story." Will Cuppy
+ Weekly Book Review p28 Mr 7 '43 280w

SEGER, GERHART HEINRICH, and MARCK, SIEGFRIED K. Germany: to be or not to be? introd. by Dr. George N. Shuster. 190p $2 Rand school

940.531443 Reconstruction (1939-)—Germany. World war, 1939—Germany. Germany—Politics and government 43-17703

"In this little book a former Social-Democratic Reichstag Deputy and a one-time Professor of Breslau University—exiles both because of opposition to Hitler—discuss the fate of Germany in the hour of her anticipated defeat. With considerable suggestiveness they examine the difficult problems of territorial partition; disarmament; occupation and military government; re-education and rehabilitation; the nature of the armistice and the peace; the place of Germany in post-war Europe. . . At the same time, the authors intend their work as an answer to the movement which in England has come to be called Vansittartism—the indictment of the entire German people for the crimes of nazism." N Y Times

Reviewed by H. L. Reich
Book Week p3 D 26 '43 500w
Christian Science Monitor p8 F 5 '44 650w

"Messrs. Seger and Marck have done a ground-breaking job in this country and made a valuable contribution to the discussion of the ever more pressing problems of the peace and post-war world. The first work by Lord Vansittart has just appeared in America. Other German exiles here are already at work on other rejoinders. The book of Seger and Marck has opened a discussion which should soon be going full blast." B. D. Wolfe
+ — N Y Times p3 Ja 2 '44 650w

SEIDLIN, OSKAR, and RYPINS, MRS SENTA (JONES). Green wagons; il. by Barbara Cooney. 131p $2 Houghton

43-6806

Mystery story for the middle age group. The setting is Waldau in Switzerland, and begins with the arrival of a troupe of traveling players. The town will have nothing to do with them, because it is suspected that the last group of players in Waldau had stolen the town treasure. The children of the troupe and of the town solve the mystery.

"No one could possibly be bored by this story. It has all the ingredients of unusual plot and interesting action to hold the reader fascinated straight through, but it has a lot more than that. Its characters are as endearing and believable a group as I have lately met in fiction, and when they champion the cause of the Pedronis, a misjudged theatrical troupe traveling through Switzerland, they go about it in a way to turn their little town upside down and bring about a shattering of bigotism and a rebirth of kindliness." P. A. Whitney

+ Book Week p10 My 16 '43 360w

Booklist 39:391 Je 1 '43

Reviewed by F. B. Sloan

Christian Science Monitor p10 S 27 '43 200w

"Well-drawn characters and a nice sense of locality give flavor to the swiftly flowing action." A. M. Jordan

+ Horn Bk 19:103 Mr '43 130w

"Recommended for children nine to twelve." D. M. MacDonald

+ Library J 68:531 Je 15 '43 100w

Reviewed by E. S. Littlefield

Library J 68:821 O 15 '43 50w

Reviewed by A. T. Eaton

N Y Times p10 Jl 4 '43 320w

"A fresh and springlike story. . . A gay, attractive dress adds charm to the tale of old peacetime ways in a typical Swiss village." A. M. Jordan

+ Sat R of Lit 26:27 My 15 '43 90w

"Here is a lively, well-sustained, unusually colorful 'mystery' for younger readers, that in rapid pace and foreign setting calls to mind that earlier addition to this literature, 'Emil and the Detectives.'" M. L. Becker

+ Weekly Book Review p9 My 23 '43 500w

Wis Lib Bul 39:125 O '43

SEIDMAN, JOEL ISAAC. Union rights and union duties. 238p $2.50 Harcourt

331.88 Trade unions 43-14062

Analysis of the rights and duties of trade unions. "Mr. Seidman is concerned primarily with setting up a proper standard of conduct for unions in the light of admitted abuses, and he is not afraid to deal with specific cases. Equally, he is concerned to place union shortcomings in their proper setting by dealing frankly with shortcomings in the field of labor relations on the part of management and government officials. Various remedies are reviewed and evaluated. The final chapter proposes desirable changes in the law of labor relations and suggests other changes which management and labor should make voluntarily." (Publisher's note) Index.

"The volume is obviously the work of a man who has thought long and hard about one of the pressing issues of the day, and he has not hesitated to have his say. His say is a splendid and succinct discussion of the topic announced in the title." C. B. Hagan

+ Am Pol Sci R 37:1141 D '43 450w

"In the final chapter, 'Toward More Responsible Trade Unionism,' Seidman offers a number of well-reasoned and moderate suggestions. He believes that the unions have been more sinned against than sinning, and it will be hard for reactionary labor-haters to refute his conclusions." Jack Conroy

Book Week p8 S 12 '43 400w

Booklist 40:54 O 15 '43

"Mr. Seidman has written a very useful book packed with illustrative incident and references to famous labor cases, scholarly, impartial and still interesting. At first we thought 'oh, just another academic book on labor,' but we were wrong. If you want to be up to date on the labor question 'Union Rights and Union Duties' is for you."

+ Commonweal 38:541 S 17 '43 750w

Commonweal 39:40 O 29 '43 10w

"Mr. Seidman has written a lucid and common sense book on the rights and duties of trade unions from the viewpoint of one whose hope is for the functioning of all unions on a democratic basis, fulfilling their responsibilities to their members, to industry and the public. His Magna Charta of trade union reforms, however, despite the urgency of some proposals, will evoke the bitter and unreasoning opposition of vested union officials." Louis Stark

+ N Y Times p28 S 26 '43 1350w

Social Studies 34:335 N '43 30w

"There is a great deal in the book to recommend it to students of labor relations as well as to union leaders and employers. (It should be required reading for Westbrook Pegler, Representative Howard Smith, Senator Connally, and several others.) Mr. Seidman knows his field well, from his experience as a union officer in the International Ladies' Garment Workers Union, and as a field examiner for the National Labor Relations Board. But the very completeness of his presentation militates against the total effectiveness of the book." J. R. Walsh

+ — Survey G 32:511 D '43 500w

Reviewed by E. M. Herrick

Weekly Book Review p31 N 7 '43 1500w

SEIFERT, ELIZABETH (MRS JOHN GASPAROTTI). A certain Doctor French. 302p $2.50 Dodd

43-3410

Story of strange doings in a small town which begins with an interrupted wedding, and the advent of a woman of mystery, and ends with a wedding carried thru and the solution of the mystery.

"Weak though it may be in some spots, still you must give this book credit for a certain amount of suspense. Not that it's a mystery novel—it isn't; but it does contain several good riddles that do keep you guessing." E. J. C.

Book Week p6 Ap 4 '43 180w

"Elizabeth Seifert must know that in this she has written her best book to date, and the long list of admirers she has rolled up since 'Young Doctor Galahad' will be pleased to know it too. There is less concern here with the problems of doctors, medical, ethical and social, and more good straight story telling." Charlotte Dean

+ N Y Times p14 Ap 11 '43 320w

"'A Certain Doctor French' is more melodramatic than most of Miss Seifert's novels, but she will not lose readers on that account. Quite the contrary." Lisle Bell

Weekly Book Review p16 Mr 14 '43 330w

SEIFERT, SHIRLEY. Those who go against the current. 612p $3 Lippincott

Lisa, Manuel—Fiction 43-14822

Historical novel based on the life of Manuel Lisa, a Spanish American who became one of the leaders in the drive to open up the Missouri river to the whites.

"It is a magnificent odyssey which Miss Seifert has re-created for us, opening a vista of American history which ranks high in its excitement and inspiration. . . On such a vast stage as Miss Seifert has set—let us say roughly upward of 2,000,000 square miles—are bound to appear myriads of characters. It is to her great credit that literally scores of these emerge as fascinating individuals." Edith Roberts

+ Book Week p6 O 31 '43 550w

Booklist 40:166 Ja 1 '44

SEIFERT, SHIRLEY—Continued

"Interesting, well-written historical novel." S. E. Sherman

+ Library J 68:726 S 15 '43 70w

Reviewed by Margaret Wallace

N Y Times p20 O 31 '43 360w

Reviewed by R. A. Cordell

Sat R of Lit 26:20 N 6 '43 500w

"In 600 tight-packed pages, Miss Seifert recreates the land and the times in which Manuel Lisa lived. In all these pages there is very little space for his inner life, the delicate adjustments of the emotions that drive a man. History presses too hard on him. It is none the less a dramatic story, detailed, told with breadth and movement." Page Cooper

+ Weekly Book Review p10 O 17 '43 750w

Wis Lib Bul 39:160 D '43

SEITZ, FREDERICK. Physics of metals. 330p $4 McGraw

620.18 Metals 43-12641

Study of the development of physics of metals during the last ten years; intended for graduate students, especially practicing physicists and engineers. Treatment is non-mathematical. Based on lectures at the University of Pennsylvania. Indexes.

Reviewed by L. A. Eales

Library J 68:771 O 1 '43 20w

N Y New Tech Bks 28:48 Jl '43

SELBY, JOHN. Starbuck. 370p $2.75 Farrar 43-7552

Portrait of an American genius of the piano, Brant Starbuck. His career as a prodigy is traced from boyhood, thru his years of study in Europe, marriage, and service in the war, to the beginning of a new career, after an injury to his hands. Continuation of Island in the Corn (Book Review Digest, 1941).

"The story is swift and readable."

+ Atlantic 172:123 Ag '43 120w

"Had Brant Starbuck been the conventional sort of temperamental artist, the rest of the characters would have walked out of the book and left him flat. As it was, they stay with him and make John Selby's book about him—and them—an enjoyable and fascinating novel of a strange life." John Storm

+ Book Week p5 Jl 18 '43 480w

Booklist 39:465 Jl 15 '43

"Sensitive and skilful treatment, especially in crises: boy's discovery of his illegitimate birth, recognition of how a talented musician may serve his country in war, problems of marriage, and realization that a loved vocation is ended. Recommended for adults." Isabel Douglas

+ Library J 68:573 Jl '43 80w

"John Selby writes with a grave sympathy and fine sensitiveness of the boyhood, youth and manhood of Brant Starbuck. . . 'Starbuck' is a fine novel in the old school of literature, which is to say it has plot and characters woven together in an absorbing pattern." Rose Feld

+ N Y Times p6 Jl 18 '43 500w

Reviewed by L. N. Robertson

Sat R of Lit 26:10 S 4 '43 280w

"Most novels about musicians, especially about virtuoso musicians, have their heroes drawing inspiration from the thin, blue esthetic air, or from their mistresses. . . John Selby's novel about a musician is refreshingly free of such hackneyed material. He gives us the career of a fairly normal, healthy, short-haired pianist who attained world fame before he had grown out of his adolescence. He is torn between the instincts to live normally, to like people, to drink beer and to love women, and the demands of his professional destiny." William Soskin

+ Weekly Book Review p5 Jl 11 '43 1000w

Wis Lib Bul 39:146 N '43

SELDES, GEORGE. The facts are; a guide to falsehood and propaganda in the press and radio. 127p il pa $1 In fact, inc, 19 University pl, N.Y.

301.1523 Press—U.S. Propaganda. Radio broadcasting 42-19143

"Mr. Seldes has long carried on a polemical crusade against those newspaper publishers who, he feels, are betraying the public trust. In this tract he returns to the attack, quoting much chapter and verse." Foreign Affairs

"The slant of the present volume, as of the publication which sponsors it, is so violently pro-labor (and in a less degree pro-Soviet) that the wary reader will read it with the same reservations that the author suggests for application to the press and radio. The general point of view is suggested by the statement that 'the commercial press is an employer and therefore an enemy of labor.'"

Christian Century 60:201 F 17 '43 160w

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert

Foreign Affairs 21:11 Jl '43 40w

SELETZ, JEANETTE. Hope deferred. 536p $2.75 Macmillan

43-6459

Long first novel describing in detail the medical course of a fine and earnest young doctor from his first day in medical school, until another day, years later, when he goes west to practice his specialty—brain surgery.

Reviewed by Edith Roberts

Book Week p5 Je 13 '43 600w

"This first novel creaks in construction and its characters are stock, but subject matter is fascinating. . . Medical background, authentic or not, holds interest even when grim. Recommended where subject appeals." L. M. Kinloch

+ — Library J 68:248 Mr 15 '43 70w

"As a writer, Jeanette Seletz is a 'natural.' Her faults are trivial ones which time and discipline can mend. The gifts she displays so lavishly here—including the priceless and indefinable ability to make her reader believe and share in the emotions of her characters—are the sort aspiring novelists should arrange to be born with. No amount of intelligent application can produce even a reasonable facsimile of vitality like this. The sheer warmth and conviction distilled in her occasionally clumsy sentences might be, and possibly will be, the despair of a whole academy of stylists." M. W.

+ — N Y Times p7 My 23 '43 550w

SELF, MRS MARGARET CABELL. Horses; their selection, care and handling. 170p il $3 Barnes, A.S.

636.1 Horses 43-16699

In this book the founder of the New Canaan mounted troops, a branch of the Junior cavalry of America discusses the care and handling of horses. She has "gone into the feeding, grooming and general care of the horse, also the cost in hours and money so that a person planning to own a horse or pony for the first time will be able to judge what this entails. I have discussed common stable vices and how to handle them as well as other vices. The chapter on riding is not intended to be more than a brief summary of the modern ideas of horsemanship. I hope the chapter on teaching children will be useful to parents when they decide to introduce their offspring to the science of equitation." (Pref) Index.

Booklist 40:160 Ja 1 '44

"It is a very sound book, indeed, and is intended especially for people who themselves take care of their horses—a thing more and more horse owners will have to do if they are to continue to be horse owners." H. I. Brock

+ N Y Times p21 Ja 16 '44 160w

Wis Lib Bul 40:7 Ja '44

SELSAM, HOWARD. Socialism and ethics. 223p $2.50; pop ed $1.90 Int. pubs.

335.4 Socialism. Ethics 43-8724

"An orthodox restatement of the Marxist position particularly in the light of the present phase of world history. . . Selsam, who is thoroughly Marxist and who also has a better than average familiarity with the history of ethical thought, attempts the task of restating the Marxist approach to the basic problems of ethics—what is the good life and why and what do we do about it?" Springf'd Republican

Reviewed by E. R. Sikes
Ann Am Acad 230:226 N '43 400w

Reviewed by Edwin Garlan
J Philos 40:523 S 16 '43 1100w

"To do his task, [the author] has to summarize and reexplain most of the basic tenets of the entire Marxist weltanschauung and he does this both succinctly and ably. In fact this part of the book is so well done that this reviewer would have no hesitation in recommending 'Socialism and Ethics' to anyone who wanted a clear recapitulation of the fundamentals of Marxism. . . In spite of the refreshing vigor with which a Marxist attacks most current problems, most Marxists tend to portray a 'fundamentalism' toward Marx and his great disciples—Engels, Kautsky and Lenin—rather analogous to the attitude of a Tennessee Bible-belt preacher. The result is that Veblen's criticism becomes more pertinent than perhaps Veblen realized. Selsam is no exception here." C. D. Kean
+ — Springf'd Republican p7e Jl 25 '43 1000w

SENDER, RAMON JOSE. Dark wedding; tr. from the Spanish by Eleanor Clark. 305p $2.50 Doubleday

43-6640

A symbolic novel in a melodramatic setting. Black Trinidad, director of an island penal colony in the Caribbean, is shot and killed on his wedding night by an unknown convict. Strife breaks out at once among the convicts fighting for power and possession of the virgin bride. The girl after a series of adventures is rescued by an idealistic young school teacher and together they set out for the mainland.

Reviewed by Leo Kennedy
Book Week p3 Ap 11 '43 600w

"Sender, in so far as he succeeds, uses Shakespeare's method of terrible, fantastic pressure. But eventually Sender does not succeed. The pressure turns out to be insufficient. The symbols cease to work, the language becomes false—and Sender can write remarkably well, and Eleanor Clark has made one of the best modern translations I know—because eventually Sender's moral sensibility does not support them. His moral sensibility is modern: like all of us, he wants to hope, and since hope is hard to come by these days, he descends to facile optimism. Throughout the book, I had the uncomfortable awareness that even a gifted modern man cannot discourse about 'love' without making it seem disconcertingly squashy." Lionel Trilling
Nation 156:603 Ap 24 '43 650w

"Sender's novel, for all its depth of understanding, has this disability—the idea he presents is more dramatic, even more visible, than the scenes and characters that project it. Though he is a far more human and less desperate writer than they, he is like the Surrealists, and shares their aridity, to this extent: what he gives us is more the idea of the fantasy than its concreteness. There is a curious numbness, an inordinate slowness and remoteness in his book, that come only from his failure, or his disinclination, to develop each element in his story as richly as a less symbolic novelist would develop his characters." Alfred Kazin
New Repub 108:451 Ap 5 '43 1500w

"Señor Sender has handled his theme in a bold and often stark manner and there are moments when it rises to a plane of moving poetry. The influence of Indian imagery and Indian mysticism is strong throughout the book but they never obscure the hard reality of the degraded settlement where so many monsters move like men. And move in men." Herbert Gorman
+ N Y Times p10 Mr 28 '43 650w

"An interesting story of beauty not too distressed among the crazed Calibans of a penal colony on a Caribbean island. . . Innocence and young love triumph. The whole thing is sicklied o'er with the pale cast of thought, which seems to suggest that this, maybe, is life."
New Yorker 19:71 Mr 27 '43 110w

"The satisfaction that a reader will derive from this latest work of one of Spain's best younger novelists must depend on the extent of his sympathy for a symbolical, as compared with a direct, interpretation of life. But that any reader could be bored by the vigorous, imaginative, infinitely ingenious, and often horrifying writing of 'Dark Wedding' is highly improbable." B. R. Redman
+ Sat R of Lit 26:13 My 15 '43 750w

"This novelist rarely makes concessions to his readers. While he writes with intense feeling and with great economy, he is also given to cryptic statement and to an obscurity of meaning that characterize many Spanish novelists. The style is one of alternate passion and reticence, of elaborate psychological analysis and then of underplayed, merely implied and never clearly stated, meaning. In the original form, these Spanish novelists probably attain a vernacular significance that they lose in translation. This is clearly, however, a matter of difference in form and not the fault of the translator. Indeed, Eleanor Clark's translation of 'Dark Wedding' seems to be an extraordinarily sensitive one." William Soskin
Weekly Book Review p4 Mr 28 '43 950w

Reviewed by Mark Schorer
Yale R n s 32:vi summer '43 180w

SEREDY, KATE. Open gate; il. by [the author]. 280p $2.50 Viking

43-51325

What happened to the Preston family from New York city when their father lost his job, and Gran led them all into a profitable life on a farm. For children nine to fourteen.

Booklist 40:117 D 1 '43
Cath World 158:316 D '43 30w

"It is full of the love of the earth and the animals and crops that grow on it, and is permeated with sympathy for people of diverse backgrounds. Kate Seredy's fine drawings add beauty to the book." A. M. Jordan
+ Horn Bk 20:40 Ja '44 70w

"Liveliness, charm, good characterization, and amusing incident distinguish this story of an American city family which inadvertently acquires a farm." Lena Barksdale
+ Nation 157:592 N 20 '43 20w

Reviewed by A. T. Eaton
N Y Times p18 F 6 '44 280w

"The author has expressed here, as in 'The Good Master' and 'The Singing Tree,' her deep love for the country and for all living things. The illustrations in black and white have the same warmth and humor as the story." B. W. Shaffer
+ Sat R of Lit 27:32 Ja 29 '44 250w

"For all its strictly American scene the book reminds one of 'The Good Master' because it, too, is warm, happy and glowing." M. L. Becker
+ Weekly Book Review p8 N 21 '43 360w
Wis Lib Bul 40:12 Ja '44

SERIAL map service [monthly] v. 1—Sept. 1939- Letchworth, Herts, Serial map service [Proprietors: The Phoenix book co., ltd., Letchworth, Herts and 10-13 Bedford St., London. Canadian agent: William Dawson subscription service, ltd., 70 King St. E., Toronto] illus. maps [partly fold.] with looseleaf binder $7.75 annually in Canada; 32s 6d in Great Britain. Current American price information not available; approximate price $5 Phoenix bk. co.

912 Maps

"This monthly service of letterpress and newsmaps is designed to illustrate current

SERIAL map service—Continued
world events. Issues generally include about four maps and a textual commentary descriptive of the mapped area. The commentaries are signed and authoritative; these articles have bibliographies appended for use in further research. A note printed below each bibliography reads: 'Any books mentioned in this bibliography can be supplied by Serial map service at published prices. Books mentioned in previous bibliographies are not usually referred to again.' The bibliographical entries are arranged as follows: title, author, publisher, date of imprint and price in English currency, except for some foreign publications where price is not given, for example, texts with Berlin and Paris imprints. A chronological war digest is included on the last page of each monthly commentary. Some of the commentaries also include black-and-white illustrations in the text." Subscription Bks Bul

"The reading lists and the chronology are valuable. Although this information is available in current publications, there is a value in having all these items together. For small public and school libraries on a limited budget who have not already subscribed to the service its purchase would not be recommended at this time since many of the maps are obtainable elsewhere. University libraries would probably possess large foreign atlases in sufficient detail not to warrant this purchase. Individuals interested in the progress of the war since 1939 would find the set of value. For all large public libraries with adequate funds, the Serial map service will be a time saver. It is of particular value to Canadian public libraries because of the emphasis on localities where British Commonwealth troops are in service."
Subscription Bks Bul 14:50 O '43 800w

SERIAL map service atlas; based on Philip's international atlas; ed. by George Philip and George Goodall, interim edition. Serial map service [Proprietors: The Phoenix book co, ltd., Letchworth, Herts and 10-13 Bedford St., London] and George Philip & son, The London geographical institute [Canadian agent: William Dawson subscription service, ltd., 70 King St, E., Toronto] [vi, 99p] col. plates, col. maps $17.50 in Canada; to subscribers to the Serial Map Service, $10 in the United States, $11 in Canada, 40s in Great Britain 1940 Phoenix bk. co.

912 Maps

"A series of 160 pages of coloured maps and plans forming a complete geographical survey of the international relationships of the new era, its territorial changes and commercial communications, with an index of over 65,000 names." (Subtitle) "The place of this atlas in the Serial Map Service scheme is to provide a background to the monthly service reviewed above, and to enable the subscriber to consider further the questions raised and the conclusions reached in the monthly letterpress and newsmaps." Subscription Bks Bul

"The chief value of the atlas appears to be its political rather than its economic features. More plates on South America, Oceania, Alaska and the northern areas of Canada would be most acceptable in the next edition. . . Because of its up-to-dateness, medium price and general excellence and inclusiveness, the Serial map service atlas is recommended."
+ Subscription Bks Bul 14:51 O '43 600w

SEROFF, VICTOR ILYITCH, and SHOHAT, NADEJDA (GALLI). Dmitri Shostakovich; the life and background of a Soviet composer. 267p il $3 Knopf

B or 92 Shostakovich, Dmitriĭ Dmitrievich 43-11937

The first full-length biography of the Soviet composer. The author is a young Russian pianist, who wrote in collaboration with Shostakovich's aunt. "The story comes distinctly: how an education of the highest technical finish was secured, how a reputation as a pianist was earned, and how fame as a composer was acquired. From the writing of the opera, 'Lady Macbeth,' down through the symphonies, development is traced." (Christian Science Monitor) List of composer's works. Index.

"When, years hence, a biography of Dmitri Shostakovich is written, the present work by Victor Seroff will be of no small assistance to the biographer. Seroff has been very fortunate to be able to draw upon the detailed memory of the composer's aunt, Nadejda Galli-Shohat, for the bulk of his material. . . What Mrs. Galli-Shohat has not been able to bring to the book, unfortunately, is something of a portrait of Dmitri Shostakovich—the man or the musician. . . In fact, the bald truth about the book is that it is much more a biography of Sonya Shostakovich, the mother of Dmitri, than it is a life of her son." Hugh Wilde
+ — Book Week p5 Ag 22 '43 320w
Booklist 40:46 O 1 '43

"For intimacy and frank, unrestrained revelation, nothing could surpass the biography of that Russian man of music, Shostakovitch. . . The book, comparatively small even as a study of a career only fairly begun, gives an impression of fullness and thoroughness from the remarkable familiarity of its disclosures."
+ Christian Science Monitor p11 S 11 '43 400w
Cleveland Open Shelf p15 Ag '43

"It is not always well written and has the fault of such a collection that it hangs together loosely. But the picture of family life which one gets from the letters of Dmitri's mother is of absorbing interest. It is the account of a talented and intelligent family which had to undergo unbelievable misfortune, poverty and sickness and yet managed to keep alive the spiritual and artistic values which made life reasonable." M. M. Byard
+ — Commonweal 38:470 Ag 27 '43 550w

"Recommended." H. A. Carpenter
+ Library J 68:624 Ag '43 110w

"Mr. Seroff has provided an incomplete account of a success which is incontestable. Also incontestable are Shostakovitch's creative gift, his musician's nature, his technical facility and the sense of the dramatic in the scores he has made singularly adaptable to public emotion." Olin Downes
N Y Times p5 Ag 29 '43 950w

"Like most first biographies, this one by Victor Seroff dealing with the Soviet Union's extra-ordinarily gifted composer, Dmitri Shostakovich, is hardly definitive. Yet its value as a rich source of material for future critics and biographers can scarcely be under-estimated. . . After carefully explaining the role of the creative artist in the U.S.S.R. [the author] proceeds to give a completely plausible explanation of the composer's temporary eclipse and subsequent recovery of prestige in his own country. Here perhaps lies the most enduring value of this initial biography of Shostakovich. It gives not only the immediate family background of the man himself and a vivid world picture of the composer's early years, it also gives us an objective appraisal of the historical and social forces at work on the creative artists of modern Russia." David Hall
+ Sat R of Lit 26:27 O 2 '43 800w

Reviewed by John Scott
Weekly Book Review p12 S 26 '43 1100w

SETON-WATSON, ROBERT WILLIAM. Masaryk in England. 206p il $2.75 Macmillan [7s 6d Cambridge]

B or 92 Masaryk, Tomáš Garrigue 43-10042

"The reader will soon realize that [the] book is not so much an account of Masaryk's life and experiences in England as a record of the correspondence and memoranda which passed between the future President of Czechoslovakia and the author between September, 1914, and 1919. . . The exchange of letters here published gives an insight into the manner in which Masaryk, Mr. Wickham Steed, Prof. Ernest Denis, Dr. (now President) Edouard Beneš and Professor Seton-Watson each made his separate but important contribution to the Czechoslovak cause. The accompanying Memoranda, written at various intervals, leave no doubt as to Masaryk's grasp of the many political and military problems then confronting the Allies." Christian Science Monitor

---

Reviewed by J. A. Neprash
Am Soc R 8:607 O '43 450w

"Professor Seton-Watson's brief and unvarnished chronicle of Masaryk's years in exile is both a record of the past and a pledge for the future." J. E. Williams
+ Christian Science Monitor p11 My 15 '43 750w

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert
Foreign Affairs 22:163 O '43 50w

Manchester Guardian p3 Mr 3 '43 330w

Reviewed by Rustem Vambery
Nation 157:217 Ag 21 '43 600w

"With his unpretentious volume, 'Masaryk in England,' R. W. Seton-Watson has again planted a little innocuous looking dynamite under the feet of the world-planners who envisage the future without taking into account the stubborn facts of what Masaryk, in 1915, called 'The Problem of Small Nations in the European Crisis.' " Eleanor Kittredge
+ N Y Times p21 Jl 25 '43 750w

Reviewed by S. G. Duff
Spec 170:298 Mr 26 '43 600w

"An important and timely volume."
+ Times [London] Lit Sup p98 F 27 '43 850w

Reviewed by Alfred Werner
Weekly Book Review p14 Ag 29 '43 700w

SEYMOUR, BEATRICE KEAN (STAPLETON) (MRS W. K. SEYMOUR). Return journey. 372p $2.75 Macmillan [9s 6d Heinemann]
43-1379

Psychological study of a young English woman, who considered herself morally responsible for her husband's death, and even though her husband had been a rotter could not shake off her resultant apathy for years. At length, thru her writing, and later her war work, she began to live once more in the world of reality, instead of in a world of fantasy.

"The whole thing is, as Damon Runyon would say, 'extremely dead.' It just fails to focus, either on an emotion or on any character. Besides, it is rather crammed with political second-guessing. And I don't like that. It's a bit too easy and too much like guessing the football results on Sunday morning." E. J. C.
— Book Week p10 Mr 14 '43 200w

Booklist 39:293 Mr 15 '43

"The glimpses backward into Claudia's past, the recollections of the man who ruined her life are better than the development of events which brought her into the sunlight. The descriptions of her industry in writing book after book about ancients and ghosts become a little dull in repetition. Nor is the experience at Thebes completely convincing or clear. Similarly, Celia's last message to Claudia has the sound but not the feel of predestination. And Claudia's gift of blood to save the life of the man she loves is pure Hollywood. For all of its shortcomings, 'Return Journey' makes good reading primarily because the writing is so expert and fluid." Rose Feld
— + Books p8 F 7 '43 900w

Christian Century 60:268 Mr 3 '43 70w

"A tender story, psychologically sound, excellently invented, admirably written." E. L. Keyes
+ Commonweal 37:525 Mr 12 '43 80w

"Mrs. Seymour gives us a varied picture of life; and her characters are freshly conceived. . . Not the crime itself, but its psychological consequences on the personalities involved, is the theme of her novel, and though, like Mr. Phillpotts's 'Pilgrims of the Night,' set in wartime her characters are by no means exclusively conditioned by contemporary circumstances." Wilfrid Gibson
+ Manchester Guardian p3 Ag 28 '42 130w

"A closely knit, finely integrated novel. . . Despite the seriousness of its main thesis the novel has lots of gayety and no end of charm. The children, whether East End Londoners or 'County,' are a real joy. If there are no angels in the book there is only one villain and he, fortunately, is dead. Because nobody is tiresomely perfect there are tiresome people here and there, but they are made to help the fun along." J. S. Southron
+ N Y Times p6 F 7 '43 700w

"Mrs. Seymour writes with her usual intelligence and feeling, but in this case something seems to happen to the cool, poised style of her opening chapters, and the novel comes to a quiet end bogged down in prosy dialogue."
— + New Yorker 18:63 F 6 '43 90w

Reviewed by Kate O'Brien
Spec 169:222 S 4 '42 380w

"One reads the book with pleasure, with a real feeling that he has been taken into English homes and is sharing with them the hazards of war." M. D.
+ Springf'd Republican p7e F 21 '43 350w

"The book is pleasant to read in spite of some tragic episodes, and as usual in Mrs. Kean Seymour's novels, there are some enchanting children. It is her grappling with three little evacuees from Poplar that starts the process of healing in Claudia's spirit. The story gives a picture of England with some ugly sidelights, but for the most part presenting serious, intelligent and altruistic people—whose seriousness in no way detracts from their charm."
+ Times [London] Lit Sup p413 Ag 22 '42 210w

SHACKELFORD, LYNE THROCKMORTON. As I see it; story drawings of life in the army. 96p il $1.50 Knopf

940.5496 World war, 1939—Humor, caricatures, etc. 43-16545

A former member of the staff of the Disney studio shows in pencil drawings his impressions of the army trainee from rookie days until he finishes his basic training.

Booklist 40:196 F 1 '44

Cleveland Open Shelf p18 O '43

Reviewed by Lisle Bell
Weekly Book Review p6 D 12 '43 230w

SHAFTEL, GEORGE ARMIN. Golden shore; a novel of the conquest of California. 370p $2.75 Coward-McCann
43-8948

Historical novel based on the conquest of California. It begins in 1840 when Spanish authorities rounded up American and English non-citizens and sent them to prison in Mexico. Two Americans escaped, a valiant Yankee innocent of conspiracy, and a lieutenant of marines. Red-haired Mary Marquand is loved and married by both men, but eventually the tangles in Mary's life, as well as in California politics, are straightened out.

Reviewed by Dorsey McCarthy
Book Week p7 Je 27 '43 50w

Booklist 39:465 Jl 15 '43

"Mr. Shaftel has not always digested his research completely. But the book has an obvious sincerity that atones for its lack of form. We can even forgive the author his suffix-trouble and his occasional lapses into composition-book bathos. 'Golden Shore' is not always a professional writing job, but it is a rewarding slice of Americana, for all that." William Du Bois
+ — N Y Times p7 My 30 '43 900w

" 'Golden Shore,' while it is a lively, colorful tale and includes some memorable scenes and bits of action, misses being a genuinely important California novel in exactly the degree that the author allows his flair for adventure and romance to lead him away from the ideas that lie so closely below the surface during those extraordinarily significant California years." J. H. Jackson

SHAFTEL, G. A.—Continued
Weekly Book Review p10 Je 13 '43 950w
Wis Lib Bul 39:110 Jl '43

SHALETT, SIDNEY. Old Nameless; the epic of a U. S. battlewagon. 177p $2 Appleton-Century
940.545 World war, 1939—Naval operations
43-8235

Chronicle of an American battleship, her commander, and the exploits which they performed at Santa Cruz and Guadalcanal. Ship and crew were magnificent in this story by a Washington correspondent for the Times.

"All in all, Old Nameless has thrown dismay into the ranks of those amateur strategists who had counted the battleship out as an effective weapon of modern war. Thanks to her, the debate as to the relative merits of air vs. sea power must be reopened. Sidney Shalett's report of her exploits is concise and matter of fact, rather than inspired, but the facts themselves speak excitingly and eloquently." Arna Bontemps
+ Book Week p6 Jl 4 '43 600w
Booklist 39:444 Jl 1 '43
Christian Century 60:719 Je 16 '43 100w
Christian Science Monitor p11 Jl 24 '43 400w
Reviewed by G. E. Shipler, Jr.
Churchman 157:16 S 1 '43 60w

"Mr. Shalett is a gusty writer, full of excitement that is occasionally communicated to the reader. He somewhat oversimplifies the duties of the commander of a first-class battleship, but his enthusiasm carries him through to a triumphant conclusion. His reconstruction of the action from the official reports and from interviewing members of the crew is a good bit of reporting, not to be confused with the works of technical eyewitnesses who may give us their views later." William McFee
+ N Y Times p17 Je 20 '43 800w

"A chronicle that deserves to be ranked up close to 'Queen of the Flat-Tops.' Occasionally sentimental, though, and not especially distinguished writing."
+ — New Yorker 19:86 Je 5 '43 70w

"A vivid and well-organized narrative."
+ Springf'd Republican p7e Je 13 '43 600w
Reviewed by P. J. Searles
Weekly Book Review p14 Je 27 '43 800w

SHANAS, ETHEL, and DUNNING, CATHERINE E. Recreation and delinquency; a study of five sel. Chicago communities; made for the Chicago recreation comm. under the supervision of its Com. on recreation and juvenile delinquency, Ernest W. Burgess, chairman. 284p il $1.50 Chicago recreation comm, 160 N. La Salle st, Chicago
364.255 Juvenile delinquency. Recreation

"Three broad purposes underlie the investigation that is reported in this volume: (1) to ascertain the recreational interests and activities of Chicago boys and girls; (2) to study comparatively the recreational activities of delinquents and nondelinquents; and (3) to ascertain what relationships, if any, exist between participation in organized recreation and delinquent behavior. In conducting the study, recreation-participation records were secured for 15,000 boys and 8,000 girls, ten to seventeen years old, in four communities of high delinquency and one community of low delinquency." Am J Soc

"The findings of the investigation are of importance to sociologist, recreation administrators, and community planners alike. . . Although the investigation appears in the main to have been soundly conceived and conducted, social scientists are likely to consider it vulnerable at two points. First, the procedure for determining 'unofficial' delinquents is rather precarious. . . Second, the conclusion that 'participation in supervised recreation reduces juvenile delinquency' (p.x) is wide open to question in the light of the evidence presented." H. S. Dimock
+ — Am J Soc 49:102 Jl '43 850w
Reviewed by Read Bain
Am Soc R 8:615 O '43 330w
Reviewed by F. M. Thrasher
Ann Am Acad 226:203 Mr '43 550w

SHANE, SUSANNAH. Lady in a million. 234p $2 Dodd
43-10686

Detective story.

Booklist 40:48 O 1 '43
Reviewed by Isaac Anderson
N Y Times p10 Jl 25 '43 100w
"Good grade."
+ Sat R of Lit 26:24 Jl 24 '43 30w
Reviewed by Will Cuppy
Weekly Book Review p6 Ag 1 '43 200w

SHANE, SUSANNAH. Lady in a wedding dress. 264p $2 Dodd
43-979

Detective story.

Booklist 39:321 Ap 1 '43
"Good."
+ Boston Globe p19 F 10 '43 40w

"Love and mystery run neck and neck to the end of the last chapter." Isaac Anderson
N Y Times p18 Ja 31 '43 160w

SHAPIRO, IRWIN. Steamboat Bill and the captain's top hat: pictures by Donald McKay. [48p] $1.50 Messner
43-16228

Lively story of steam-boating on the Mississippi river in the days of Mark Twain. It is a story full of squabbles and races, and a pilot and a steamboat captain who were friends but could not refrain from quarreling. For ages nine to twelve.

Booklist 40:184 Ja 15 '44
Reviewed by A. M. Jordan
Horn Bk 19:410 N '43 80w
Reviewed by A. M. Anderson
Library J 68:1051 D 15 '43 80w

"A lively piece of legend, written in a lusty, exaggerated style that children, especially boys, from six to eight should enjoy. The rambunctious pen-and-ink drawings are right in the spirit of the text."
+ New Yorker 19:120 D 4 '43 70w

"Who said the tall tale was past history? Here it is in full bloom, with wiry, energetic pictures to match." M. L. Becker
+ Weekly Book Review p8 N 21 '43 220w

SHAPLEY, HARLOW; RAPPORT, SAMUEL, and WRIGHT, HELEN, eds. Treasury of science; with an introd. by Harlow Shapley. 716p $3.95 Harper
504 Science
43-15638

"The eminent astronomer, Harlow Shapley, assisted by Samuel Rapport and Helen Wright, has built up a volume by levying toll on some seventy-odd scientists and popularizers, from Hippocrates to Oliver La Farge. Most of the essays are drawn from material published during the last few decades (Eddington, Pavlov, Jeans, Hogben, Eric T. Bell, C. C. Furnas, Eve Curie, Kaempffert, de Kruif, Haldane, Peattie, Ditmars, Eckstein, Julian Huxley, Hooton, Heiser, and Kirtley F. Mather), but fine selections from Copernicus, Galileo, Hugh Miller, Sir Archibald Geike, Newton, Franklin, T. H. Huxley, Darwin, and Jenner illuminate the vast, backward-reaching perspectives of scientific thought and correct what might otherwise have a tendency toward secondary or tertiary exposition." New Yorker

"If you are as cynical as Earnest Hooton or H. L. Mencken about the future of mankind, read this book (including the Hooton chapter), and contemplate how far we have come since the sun threw off a molten and gaseous mass later to become the earth we know. Geologically speaking, the current retrogression in Europe is one-half second of time in the quaternary. What most of us need, and what this book gives, is a sense of perspective." Sterling North

+ Book Week p2 O 31 '43 450w
Booklist 40:109 D 1 '43

"A thrilling volume. . . Jacket blurb writers are not a modest species, but whatever they may say about this volume could only be an understatement, and very few readers will close the book without saying 'Thank you, Dr. Shapley.'" Otto Zausmer

+ Boston Globe p17 O 27 '43 380w

"This volume, which is a real 'treasury,' gives the layman his best chance of making direct contact with the best scientific minds of our time, speaking in terms they can understand about things they ought to know."

+ Christian Century 61:82 Ja 19 '44 360w
Cleveland Open Shelf p18 O '43

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 68:1007 D 1 '43 40w

"One of the best of its kind; no one will need to do this job again for a long time. Every anthology gives an effect of sketchiness; but this one is better than most, in that the editors made a pattern for themselves and selected the material under each heading with excellent taste and obviously very wide reading." B. B.

+ New Repub 109:829 D 6 '43 600w

"That so distinguished a scholar as Dr. Shapley, director of the Harvard College Observatory, should be willing to undertake this editorial task is at once an indication of its need, and a guarantee of its excellence. Here is a superb treasury of scientific writings for the scientist and general reader." H. N. Alyea

+ N Y Times p4 O 31 '43 950w

"A brilliant compilation of fascinating reading, but it is not a coherent or logically organized course in science and should not pretend to be. It is merely a first-rate collection of interesting and, in most cases, very competently written expository essays on half a hundred topics. . . Great fun." Clifford Fadiman

+ New Yorker 19:89 O 30 '43 340w

"Professor Shapley demonstrates in his own contribution the exhilaration that will be the reaction of every intelligent reader of this treasure-house. He exemplifies also, the charm, ease, and clarity of expression of the various articles found here. He sits in no astronomical ivory tower, but encourages his fellow scientists to acquaintance with other fields than their own disciplines. Whether as reference book or as a volume for either random or consistent reading 'A Treasury of Science' promises to be the sustaining background for all who may 'like the taste and go further into the vast stores of available writings on all phases of science.'"

+ Scientific Bk Club R 14:2 N '43 370w

"An anthology of scientific literature can be just as fascinating as a collection of best short stories. This thesis is demonstrated by the appearance of 'A Treasury of Science.' . . Mr Shapley is the well-known director of Harvard's observatory and an astronomer of distinction. The wide interests of his keen and restless mind are thoroughly reflected in this collection, only one section of which is devoted to astronomy." H. M. Davis

+ Springf'd Republican p7e N 14 '43 700w

"A book that the general reader will enjoy. For that matter, so will the scientist." James Stokley

+ Weekly Book Review p4 N 7 '43 900w

SHARP, HOWARD OAKLEY. Geodetic control surveys. 2d ed 132p il $3.50 Wiley

526 Geodesy. Surveying 43-8617

"This book, which first appeared in 1940 in lithoprint form, is intended for the engineer who is called upon to make control surveys and state plane coordinate systems. It presents the basic theories, methods and applications of geodetic surveying. One chapter describes the various types of map projection and the selection of the type most suited to meet a particular need." (N Y New Tech Bks) Index.

"Sharp's 'Geodetic Control Surveys' is an important and timely contribution to surveying literature that ought to be in the library of all organizations and individuals interested in precise surveying." P. P. Rice

+ Eng N 131:112 Ag 12 '43 200w
Library J 68:576 Jl '43 20w
N Y New Tech Bks 28:35 Ap '43

SHARP, HOWARD OAKLEY. Photogrammetry. 3d ed 129p il $3.50 Wiley

526.91 Photographic surveying. Photography, Aerial. Cartography 43-3475

"A twofold aim governed the writing of this book. It presents (1) an exposition of the fundamental principles involved in both terrestrial and aerial photographic surveying; (2) a discussion of the application of these fundamental principles to map making. The book was originally written to serve as a textbook for engineering students, but the use of the aerial photograph has increased so tremendously during the past few years that many engineers in the field are required to familiarize themselves with the principles of photogrammetry. The author has therefore endeavored to make the book one which may be used for office reference as well as for classroom instruction. The first edition of Photogrammetry was published in 1936; the second in 1940. These two editions were lithoprinted and used extensively for classroom instruction. . . The author includes in this book a description of the cameras, instruments, and methods which have proved satisfactory in practice. There are chapters on the analytical solution of photogrammetric problems and the use of the photograph in land surveying, and special chapters on the use of photographs in accident investigations, and the making of tax maps." (Pref) Index.

"Prof. Sharp's text must not be classed with the elementary books with similar titles that have come from the presses to supply a hurry-up demand of our Army and Navy instructors. It is not a book on map reading. It is well recommended for the student of photogrammetry and somewhat less so for the general reader." J. C. Penn

+ Book Week p11 Je 20 '43 400w

"The important point is that at last a text book has been produced which can be used to advantage in presenting to surveying classes in engineering schools the fundamental principles of photogrammetry. This book points the way to teachers who may be somewhat unfamiliar with this comparatively new subject, and at the same time presents the subject in a manner that adapts the book well to student use. Professor Sharp is indeed a pioneer in this field and deserves much credit for his work." Earl Church

+ Eng N 130:127 My 6 '43 650w
Library J 68:130 F 1 '43 30w
N Y New Tech Bks 28:35 Ap '43

"Army engineers will find it of particular value. At the same time engineers in civil life, who received their training before these methods came into use, will also use it widely." James Stokley

+ Weekly Book Review p29 Mr 7 '43 60w

SHAW, ARTHUR MARVIN. William Preston Johnston; a transitional figure of the Confederacy. 299p il $3 La. state univ. press

B or 92 Johnston, William Preston
43-7943

"The subject of this biography is the eldest son of the Confederate general Albert Sidney Johnston and the biographer of his father. He fought in the Confederate army and after the war was professor under Lee at Lexington,

SHAW, A. M.—Continued
Virginia, president of Louisiana State University, and first president of Tulane University." (Nation) Bibliography. Index.

Reviewed by Ernestine Rose
Library J 68:475 Je 1 '43 70w

"Mr. Shaw's book is written in a scholarly manner and fully documented from published and unpublished sources."
Nation 157:191 Ag 14 '43 80w

SHAW, CLIFFORD ROBE, and MCKAY, HENRY DONALD. Juvenile delinquency and urban areas; a study of rates of delinquents in relation to differential characteristics of local communities in American cities; with chapters by Norman S. Hayner [and others]. 451p maps $4.50 Univ. of Chicago press

364 Juvenile delinquency 42-21850

"In a bemapped and betabled study of the ecology of delinquency in 21 American cities, with special emphasis upon Chicago, this book attempts to establish once again the high correlation between the characteristics of deterioration—among which is juvenile delinquency—and the division of cities into definite areas as a result of more or less universal processes." (Harvard Law R) Index.

Reviewed by E. H. Sutherland
Am J Soc 49:100 Jl '43 700w

Reviewed by M. R. Davie
Ann Am Acad 226:202 Mr '43 800w

Harvard Law R 56:681 Ja '43 380w

Reviewed by W. B. Sanders
Social Forces 21:487 My '43 430w

"The attention to detail and the insight into geographical, racial, economic and cultural subtleties make this book a masterpiece. Just as Dr. Healy's great work on the 'Individual Delinquent' focused our attention on the inner needs of the individual child involved in crime, so should Shaw and McKay's studies serve as our guide in an attack upon the external factors that fail to meet those needs." G. E Gardner
+ Survey 79:157 My '43 130w

SHEA, MRS NANCY BRINTON. Waacs; with a foreword by Oveta Culp Hobby. 243p il $2.50 Harper

355.34 U.S. Army. Women's army corps 43-7974

The author of the books of post etiquet and information for army and navy wives has written this book on details of life in the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps. She begins with her own experience in Hawaii on December 7, 1941, then describes induction in the WAACS, and takes a typical applicant thru all the steps, follows her thru her training, and discusses customs and conduct. Glossary of slang. Index.

Reviewed by Ida Margolis
Book Week p2 Je 27 '43 290w

Booklist 39:440 Jl 1 '43

"The book informs, describes and analyzes, all in fast fashion. It will be read with equal enjoyment by the woman who has lived through its story, by the woman who hopes to experience it and by interested souls who wonder just what this woman's army is all about." Lucy Greenbaum
+ N Y Times p15 My 30 '43 500w

" 'The WAACs' is a book which should be read by those in and out of the service; for, it is an account of the first year of accomplishment, and the history of the first of the women's services." Jeanne Sisson
+ Springf'd Republican p7e Je 13 '43 410w

Reviewed by L. M. Hacker
Weekly Book Review p12 My 30 '43 180w

Wis Lib Bul 39:104 Jl '43

SHEA, WILLIAM CONNORS. Pre-service course in electricity; prepared at the request of the War dept. and the U.S. Office of educ. in conformance with the official pre-induction training course outline no. PIT 101. 276p il $2; school ed $1.52 Wiley

537 Electricity. Electric engineering 43-3268

Intended for pre-induction training courses in the elements of electricity. The author is an instructor in applied science at Straubenmüller Textile high school, New York city. Index.

Book Week p10 Ap 18 '43 10w

Booklist 39:430 Je 15 '43

N Y New Tech Bks 28:8 Ja '43

SHEARING, JOSEPH, pseud. See Long, G. M. V. C.

SHEEAN, VINCENT. Between the thunder and the sun. 428p $3 Random house

B or 92 Journalists—Correspondence, reminiscences, etc. World war, 1939—Personal narratives, American 43-51070

"More 'personal history' by the first and best known of the foreign-correspondent-turned-authors. Concerned at first with summer music festival at Salzburg and conversations with famous persons, family connections and friends of his wife (daughter of Sir Johnston Forbes-Robertson); later, develops into more serious commentary on mind and temper of the French people before occupation of Paris, of the British during big air raids, the Americans in 1940-41, and, finally, the Chinese and inhabitants of Pacific islands along clipper route just before Pearl Harbor." (Library J) Name index.

Atlantic 171:127 My '43 90w

"The thing that made 'Personal History' one of the supremely honest books of our time, the insistence on writing only what he saw and experienced has been given up in favor of reporting what he picks up in cocktail chitchat . . . and the thing that made 'Personal History' one of the memorable books of our time, its guiding insight, has been discarded in favor of French boudoir reportage." S. E. Hyman
— Book Week p3 Ap 11 '43 800w

Booklist 39:318 Ap 1 '43

"Vincent Sheean's 'Personal History' established him as a vivid personality, an astute interpreter, a liberal mind. This new book, 'Between the Thunder and the Sun,' is in the same tradition. . . He knew the complex political struggles behind the battle fronts. His book is a record for the future, a behind-the-scenes view of the present. It is full of exciting personalities and startling facts." Dorothy Hillyer
+ Boston Globe p15 Mr 31 '43 450w

"Between The Thunder and The Sun is an account of world events and of Vincent Sheean's own experiences in the days between 1935 and 1942, and is told with the same candor and vividness which characterized his earlier volumes. He has a delightful faculty for being at the right place at the right moment, and for relating events one to another in a satisfyingly global way." Catherine Baker-Carr
+ Canadian Forum 23:70 Je '43 650w

Cath World 157:335 Je '43 130w

Christian Science Monitor p14 Mr 29 '43 600w

Cleveland Open Shelf p6 Ap '43

"Once again Mr. Sheean tells of his travels and once again his book is important. . . His views on China, his description of England during the year in which England fought alone, his analysis of American public opinion and its relationship to public policy—all these chapters in his book are important for an understanding of our times. His account of French politics before the war is not particularly good. Occasionally there is a certain incursion of simple chit-chat. Yet, undeniably and constantly we remain interested in Mr. Sheean. Why? Because in all he writes there is the pathetic quality and vision of a man who sees the tragedy and splendor of these cruel years."

+ Commonweal 37:591 Ap 2 '43 550w

"Mr Sheean's perceptions are, as usual, sensitive and egocentric, and his interpretations often illuminating." R. G. Woolbert
+ Foreign Affairs 22:154 O '43 80w

Reviewed by Margaret Owen
Library J 68:82 Ja 15 '43 80w

Manchester Guardian p3 D 8 '43 250w

"James Vincent Sheean's 'Personal History' was a fine book. It became the cultural Baedeker of a generation of Americans. This is its pale sequel. 'Between the Thunder and the Sun' is extremely well written, very interesting in parts, but quite unimportant. It describes Mr. Sheean's travels and experiences between 1935 and Pearl Harbor. The history has been written many times before, and the personal is not very significant." Louis Fischer
Nation 156:566 Ap 17 '43 900w

"Several things have happened to Vincent Sheean, as a writer and a person, during the eight years since he published his 'Personal History.' In the first place his style, which was always good, has greatly improved in his new book, 'Between the Thunder and the Sun.' The first chapter is a splendid piece of writing, and it is splendid, too, as an evocation of Cannes and Salzburg before the war. . . But, in the second place, he has fallen into the habit of talking about himself in the wrong contexts. He talked about himself in 'Personal History' too, but that was a somewhat different matter, for Vincent Sheean was the subject of the book. . . Now his real subject is the death in war of a great civilization, so that the sad reflections and brilliant acquaintanceships of Vincent Sheean seem a little dragged in by the heels." Malcolm Cowley
+ — New Repub 108:450 Ap 5 '43 1100w

"The distinguishing mark of Mr. Sheean's report on the recent and current stream of world history is his ability to wrap himself around the people and the events he writes about. Characters who are great, or wise, or merely bizarre move about within the bracket-like enclosure of the upright pronoun. With Mr. Sheean the generous use of the first person singular does not become oppressive, as it easily would in less skillful hands. Instead it becomes the badge of a sensitive reporter trotting a troubled globe with a special set of passes." Craig Thompson
N Y Times p4 Mr 28 '43 1500w

"When Mr. Sheean is offering comments on the world scene, he is, as always, fresh, vigorous, and superbly intelligent. Unfortunately, not all of the book is on this level. A great deal of it might have been written by Elsa Maxwell. Mr. Sheean, of course, has a perfect right to choose his own associates, but I do not believe that he has a right to bore people with long anecdotes about the picturesque and wealthy nonentities who infested the Riviera up to the outbreak of the war. Mr. Sheean's affection for the wellborn and famous is candid. I don't think, however, that the record of his affection, or rather fascination, belongs in a book as serious as 'Between the Thunder and the Sun.'" Clifton Fadiman
+ — New Yorker 19:76 Ap 3 '43 450w

"Mr. Sheean's account of this era has something the atmosphere of a volume of Palace Memoirs. . . His portrayal of events as seen by a world of manners and polish, in which it is bad form to reveal particular depths of emotions, lends to Mr. Sheean's book a curiously emotionless character. Certainly Mr. Sheean's own emotions must have been stirred far more deeply than he allows us to feel. He seems far more concerned that we judge him by the soundness of his forecast that a great and total war was brewing, and by what he obviously feels is a unique oneness with the very great." Paul Schubert
Sat R of Lit 26:16 Mr 27 '43 900w

Springf'd Republican p7e Ap 4 '43 800w

Time 41:98 My 3 '43 1800w

Times [London] Lit Sup p505 O 23 '43 1250w

"Sheean has the power of organizing his seemingly random, rather egocentric and always very personal recollections into a pattern that makes a deeper sense, that has much more than a merely casual or personal significance. He is neither a chatterer nor a gossip; he is using his specialized medium, often with considerable artistic subtlety, as a means of stating something about his times. Inevitably this book is a study in decay, in dissolution and downfall. . . But it is a study done with discernment rather than rage. . . It is, of course, the story of all of us; the story we have all lived through, watched or read, even when we had not Sheean's peculiar opportunities for first-hand observation; the story—in its personal rather than its historical aspect—of the great crisis of our times, of decay and the beginnings of regeneration." Walter Millis
+ Weekly Book Review p1 Mr 28 '43 1550w

Reviewed by J. D. Adams
Yale R n s 32:789 summer '43 170w

SHEED, FRANCIS JOSEPH, comp. Poetry and life; an anthology of English Catholic poetry. 187p $1; pa 75c Sheed

821.08 English poetry—Collections. Roman Catholic poetry—Collections 42-14564

"This is an anthology of poetry by English writers, not of poems written in English. There are some excellent translations from the earliest of all English poets, Caedmon and Cynewulf, preserving the original verse form, and interesting comments on the reading of poetry in the editor's introduction. Chaucer, Dryden, Coventry Patmore, Alice Meynell, Francis Thompson and Gerard Manley Hopkins are among the poets represented." (Wis Lib Bul) Index of first lines and biographical index.

Booklist 39:249 F 15 '43

"There are exquisite pieces from the too little known 'The Dream of the Rood'; Chaucer and Gerard Manley Hopkins, Crashaw and Francis Thompson, Patmore and Dryden are second, third and fourth in numbers of poems to Langland, and there are choice things from Southwell, Lionel Johnson, Habington, and others. A collection of distinction, beauty and strength, well suited to the ulterior motive in this whole series, the formation of a Catholic mind."
+ Cath World 155:635 Ag '42 320w

"The poems themselves are for the most part sufficiently established to require no critical appraisal. Mr Sheed seems to have exercised care and judgment in fitting them into classifications to show the view English Catholic poets have expressed on life over 12 centuries. In addition, he presents an excellent and readable foreword addressed to the 'non-reader of poetry,' suggesting procedures to aid in appreciation of this form of writing."
+ Springf'd Republican p6 Ja 27 '43 220w

Wis Lib Bul 39:12 Ja '43

SHEEN, FULTON JOHN. Philosophies at war. 200p $2 Scribner

321.8 Democracy. Sociology, Christian. Totalitarianism. World war, 1939- —Causes 43-16182

"Monsignor Sheen, author of many books and popular radio preacher, dedicates this book to the thesis that the war is being conducted against an 'evil ideology' which can most effectively be described as a doctrine of hostility to Christianity. The Nazi code seems to him a distillate from an assortment of erroneous modern philosophies which together have produced what Professor Sorokin terms a 'sensate culture.' On the other hand we, who have been called to the crusade against Nazism, have much to regret. Bad habits of thought and action have robbed us of inner certainty and outward stability. We haven't solved our most important problems, and we have placed a higher value on the fleshpots than on the eternal verities. Monsignor Sheen believes that if 'morality' were to become our primary concern, all else would be well. His book is in part an attempt to expand what that morality might desirably be." Sat R of Lit

SHEEN, F. J.—Continued

Christian Century 60:1407 D 1 '43 90w
Cleveland Open Shelf p19 O '43
Reviewed by G. N. Shuster
Sat R of Lit 26:65 D 4 '43 480w
Reviewed by Jacques Ducharme
Springf'd Republican p6 Ja 3 '44 440w

SHELDON, WILMON HENRY. America's progressive philosophy. 232p $3 Yale univ. press

191 Philosophy, American A 42-5622

This volume contains lectures delivered by the author at Indiana University under the Mahlon Powell foundation. " 'The process-philosophy,' says Professor Sheldon, 'may fairly be dubbed America's distinctive contribution to the history of thought.' He sets out in this book to underscore its merits and shortcomings, and to try to clear the road for its discovery of new truths." (Publisher's note)

"'The difficulty with Professor Sheldon's theory is that it proves too much. His solvent is so universal that it dissolves the vessel he has constructed to hold it. A world in which nothing is permanent, nothing is self-evident and nothing is necessary is a world in which no philosophic system can make a meaningful appeal for validity. The problem for process philosophers is properly to set their foreground of change against a background of unchanging universal structure." Alexander Winston
Christian Century 60:168 F 10 '43 800w

"This book is only for the metaphysically-minded, those who are familiar with the terminology and problems of the philosopher and interested in solving them." W. L. C.
Churchman 157:16 F 1 '43 120w

"Judged for what it in fact is, viz., an examination of the process philosophy in the light of Mr. Sheldon's theory of the strife of systems, the book has merit and may be considered as a restatement in part of the thesis of his earlier work, Strife of Systems and Productive Duality. . . It seems to me [however] that Mr. Sheldon's attempt to defend his own particular version of the philosophy of creative process ultimately fails." D. F. Bowers
+ — J Philos 40:106 F 18 '43 1400w
Reviewed by B. M. Loomer
J Religion 24:66 Ja '44 550w
Reviewed by Robert Bierstedt
Sat R of Lit 26:33 My 22 '43 380w

SHEPARD, BIRSA. Cat next door; pictures by Pelagie Doane. 64p $1.50 Oxford 43-11748

Charming story for seven-year-olds about a small girl whose genuine love for cats brought good fortune to her whole family.

Reviewd by P. A. Whitney
Book Week p2 N 14 '43 70w
Reviewed by F. B. Sloan
Christian Science Monitor p6 O 25 '43 90w

"Suspense and characterization are unusually good for a young child's book. The bank situation is psychologically well planned, because Mollie does not consciously solve her father's problem. . . Recommended for libraries and for translation into foreign languages." B. W. Bell
+ Library J 68:728 S 15 '43 140w

"Here is a book for 6 to 10-year-olds, a book simple enough for the not too experienced reader, which has that rare thing in a story for the younger children, a skillfully handled plot. . . The characterization in the book is unusually good and the charming cat drawings by Pelagie Doane make 'Mother Janie's' family so lovable that the reader finds himself feeling as strongly as Mollie did that the kittens must be saved." A. T. Eaton
+ N Y Times p6 O 10 '43 320w

"Told with many sympathetic pictures of kittens and nice little girls, with the gallant and successful series of rescues holding tragedy at bay and the mother cat's return disposing of it altogether, the story is safe even for a sensitive six-year-old." M. L. Becker
+ Weekly Book Review p7 O 17 '43 300w

SHEPPERSON, ARCHIBALD BOLLING. John Paradise and Lucy Ludwell of London and Williamsburg. 501p il $4 Colonial Williamsburg

B or 92 Paradise, John. Paradise, Lucy (Ludwell) 43-1770

"This is the story of John Paradise, an Englishman with a Near East background, and Lucy Ludwell, a woman whose early life and ancestry goes back to colonial Virginia. The author gives us intimate and vivid pictures of these wedded, but strangely contrasting persons. John Paradise, a scholar and linguist, was affable, likable, sincere, but timid, impractical, and unbusiness-like. . . Lucy, pretty and winning, but ignorant, vain, extravagant, and willful. . . Much of the book is devoted to the quarrels of this pair, who separated several times only to be reunited. . . Not so exciting but of more historical value is the glimpse which we gain of Dr. Samuel Johnson's distinguished circle to which the Paradises were admitted." Sat R of Lit

Reviewed by Emily Garnett
Library J 67:1065 D 1 '42 110w

"Patient scholarly research has seldom brought to light a couple so aptly fitted for the leading figures in a costume farce. How two such zanies got themselves intimately entangled with the great literary figures of eighteenth-century London and the great political figures of America makes their story. One wonders how Jefferson, Franklin, Wythe, Jay, and Adamses, and the Lees could spare the time from trying to straighten out the Paradises to get on with the business of founding this nation." Grace Adams
Nation 156:496 Ap 3 '43 550w

" 'John Paradise and Lucy Ludwell of London and Williamsburg,' more of a British Who's Who of the period than a biography, is nevertheless a most interesting and historically correct account of English intellectual society of the time and of the gradual adjustment of the British to the idea that the American colonies were free." E. L. Tinker
+ N Y Times p22 F 7 '43 650w

"The book touches Virginia only indirectly, yet the colony is continually in the background. It gives evidence of much searching through the Lee manuscripts, the Shippen manuscripts, the Jefferson manuscripts, the Ludwell manuscripts, and other source materials, and skill in assembling the material. The style is excellent and the historical judgments on the whole sound." T. J. Wertenbaker
+ Sat R of Lit 26:27 Ja 23 '43 650w
Times [London] Lit Sup p177 Ap 10 '43 750w

SHERMAN, FANNY JESSOP (MRS FREDERICK CARL SHERMAN). Admiral Wags; il. by Paul Brown. 84p $2.25 Dodd

Dogs—Legends and stories 43-7706

The wife of Rear Admiral Sherman tells the story of her husband's sea-going cocker spaniel, Admiral Wags. For years Wags went with his master on his sea voyages and was with him on the carrier Lexington when it was sunk in the battle of the Coral Sea. Wags was rescued with the other sailors and now is spending his declining years at Point Loma.

"The account of various rescues and the final reunion of Wags and his master is told with a sympathy and humor which removes any element of horror and makes it good reading for any age." P. A. Whitney
+ Book Week p8 Jl 4 '43 230w

"Will prove a good war-time story for younger children." A. M. Jordan
+ Horn Bk 19:238 Jl '43 50w

"Paul Brown's illustrations are plentiful and good, of course, but a woman coming aboard the 'Lexington' for formal dinner would hardly be wearing sport skirt and oxfords." Miriam Snow

+ — Library J 68:531 Je 15 '43 130w

"There is good material in 'Admiral Wags,' but it has been used awkwardly and without much imagination... It is too bad that better planning and a better use of timely material did not make this a really good narrative." A. T. Eaton

+ — N Y Times p8 Ag 1 '43 280w

"[Wags'] story will give a special boost to the morale of little chaps who own cockers, but any seven-year-old boy, and many older ones, will thrill over it. For it has an inside story of a thrilling event." M. L. Becker

+ Weekly Book Review p23 My 23 '43 280w

SHERMAN, HENRY CLAPP. Science of nutrition. 253p $2.75 Columbia univ. press

612.39 Nutrition 43-9853

"The first part of the book tells the story of the science, its experiments and its results, and summarizes the actual nutritional knowledge which is now at our command. The second part discusses means of making this knowledge more effective, means which include educational programs, governmental action, and economic measures." (Publisher's note) The author is Mitchill professor of chemistry, Columbia university. Selected bibliography. Index.

Reviewed by C. A. Elvehjem

Ann Am Acad 230:234 N '43 550w

Booklist 40:6 S '43

"The Science of Nutrition is written in [the author's] usual clear and readable style. He also has the gift of turning phrases neatly and sometimes even humorously, which is relatively rare in American writers on biological subjects. Anyone not well acquainted with the field of nutrition will probably find the first half of this book somewhat technical and therefore rather difficult reading." E. C. R.

+ Canadian Forum 23:262 F '44 300w

"Anyone who helps formulate postwar policies in food and agriculture could with profit read this book and be guided by its broad understanding and deep insight into problems of nutrition as they affect the health and well-being of the peoples of the world." Elda Robb

+ J Home Econ 36:40 Ja '44 200w

N Y New Tech Bks 28:48 Jl '43

Scientific Bk Club R 14:3 Jl '43 240w

Springf'd Republican p10 Jl 23 '43 360w

SHERMAN, HENRY CLAPP, and LANFORD, MRS CAROLINE (SHERMAN). Essentials of nutrition. 2d ed 442p il $3.50 Macmillan

612.39 Nutrition 43-1221

"Some rewriting, revision, and new material, particularly on the national nutrition program, distinguish this edition of a book first entered [in 1940]." (Booklist) For first edition see Book Review Digest, 1940.

"This excellent small and up-to-date volume can be recommended unreservedly for the use of public health personnel. The reviewer has frequently recommended it to non-medical friends who ask that they be directed to an informative book on nutrition that will stick to facts and not go all out on the propaganda side. Such a reader would find this book stimulating, though possibly difficult or dull in some places." D. F. Milam

+ — Am J Pub Health 33:899 Jl '43 400w

Booklist 39:336 Ap 15 '43

"The science of nutrition is told in a straightforward, simple, but accurate style so that the book becomes an interesting source of information to both the nutrition and dietetic student and to the teacher... At the end of each chapter is a bibliography which provides an impetus to those who may be interested in more extensive reading. The appendixes not only serve as a source of more detailed information but also open up possibilities for advanced study in nutrition and dietetics." N. C. Esselbaugh

+ J Home Econ 35:370 Je '43 150w

SHERRILL, HENRY KNOX, bp. William Lawrence; later years of a happy life. 179p il $2 Harvard univ. press

B or 92 Lawrence, William, bp. A43-853

"Doubtless a 'Life' of Bishop Lawrence will never be written. His autobiography, 'Memories of a Happy Life,' (1926) is almost too good. . . There being much in this assertion the reader of the 'Memories' may feel that he knows the bishop fairly well up to the time of his retirement in 1927. But unless the 'Later Years of a Happy Life' had been written the story of the last 15 years of the well-nigh 92 years would remain untold. . . Bishop Sherrill, fully aware of the uniqueness of the autobiography and only too willing to let the bishop finish his own story in his own way has used for his sources the bishop's concise diaries and brief and pungent addresses and has given him freedom to speak for himself." Springf'd Republican

Christian Century 60:331 Mr 17 '43 70w

Reviewed by W. L. Caswell

Churchman 157:20 Ap 15 '43 550w

"The degree of interest in this volume will vary in accordance with the reader's acquaintance with Bishop Lawrence and his interest in the things with which the Bishop was most concerned. Surely those who knew him will be agreed upon at least one feature of the book, namely, that his heirs made the happiest possible choice in their selection of his successor, Dr. Sherrill, the present Bishop of Massachusetts, as biographer." G. M. Day

+ New Eng Q 16:518 S '43 600w

Reviewed by H. B. Washburn

Springf'd Republican p7e Mr 7 '43 650w

SHIBER, MRS ETTA. Paris-underground; in collaboration with Anne and Paul Dupre. 392p $2.50 Scribner

940.548173 World war, 1939—Personal narratives, American. World war, 1939—Prisoners and prisons, German. World war, 1939—France 43-14344

Mrs Shiber is an American woman who, when war broke out, was living in Paris with a somewhat younger friend, an Englishwoman who had married a Frenchman. Almost by accident they became associated with an underground group who helped British soldiers to escape after Dunkirk. Eventually discovered and arrested, they were brought to trial, Mme Beaurepos was condemned to death, Mrs Shiber to three years' imprisonment. In May 1942 Mrs Shiber was exchanged for the German spy, Johanna Hoffmann. Back in this country she has written the story of her experiences in this book.

Atlantic 172:135 N '43 120w

Reviewed by H. L. Reich

Book Week p6 S 26 '43 600w

Booklist 40:57 O 15 '43

"Well written, widely advertised and loudly welcomed by reviewers. . . Fantastic as the story is, no one can challenge its truth in these days when so much that is improbable becomes reality."

+ Cath World 158:221 N '43 200w

"Mrs. Shiber says she is simply reporting facts. Certainly, the story she tells needs no underlining, expostulation, or fictional device: the events themselves speak with sufficient eloquence." M. W. S.

+ Christian Science Monitor p12 O 23 '43 550w

Reviewed by Frances Ferney

Commonweal 38:615 O 8 '43 600w

Reviewed by William Poster

New Repub 109:530 O 18 '43 360w

"The story Mrs. Shiber has to tell has all the ingredients of the most exciting thriller—but no author of fiction would dare to foist upon a sophisticated public such a tale of chance, coincidence, improvisations and simple ruses. These belong to life itself, as it is lived in occupied Europe today, in the tortured lands where the Gestapo once thought it held all the cards. Mrs. Shiber tells her story with the greatest modesty." H. S. Saunders

SHIBER, ETTA—Continued
+ N Y Times p1 S 19 '43 1850w

"A remarkable story, simply told, perhaps at too great length."
+ New Yorker 19:85 S 25 '43 70w

"Here is Mrs. Shiber's story. It is a thriller better than any spy fiction because it is true. It is authentic; probably the best picture we have yet had of France under the occupation. And it is a book which should make every American feel proud: that in such a situation an American woman, despite her misgivings, despite her age and her previously sheltered life, could rise to the occasion and help save over 150 English lives for the Allied cause." P. R. Knauth
+ Sat R of Lit 26:7 S 25 '43 1100w

Reviewed by Eleanor Marindin
Springf'd Republican p7e S 26 '43 550w
Time 42:98 S 27 '43 650w

"Whether or not Kitty Beaurepos has gone to her magnificently earned rest, or is still paying bitter penance in the black limbo of Germany, Mrs. Shiber does not know. In any case, for the author of this book, there should be deep satisfaction in her share of the coming victory. For the readers of her story there should come an invigorated impulse toward the kind of personal sacrifice which these two women so quietly offered to the common cause." Virgilia Sapieha
+ Weekly Book Review p3 S 19 '43 950w
Wis Lib Bul 39:158 D '43

SHINN, ALIDA VISSCHER. Sigurdur in Iceland; a photographic picture book. 39p 50c McKay
42-25184

Photographic picture book, describing Sigurdur's trip to Iceland to visit his grandfather and grandmother. For grades four to six.

Reviewed by P. A. Whitney
Book Week p9 My 9 '43 70w
Booklist 39:257 F 15 '43

"Informative and timely. Recommended." M. N. Miller
+ Library J 68:38 Ja 1 '43 70w

SHIPLEY, JOSEPH TWADELL, ed. Dictionary of world literature; criticism—forms—technique. 633p $7.50 Philosophical lib.
803 Literature—Dictionaries, indexes, etc. 43-9901

In alphabetical order this volume "presents a consideration of critics and criticism, of literary schools, movements, forms, and techniques—including drama and the theatre—in eastern and western lands from the earliest times; of literary and critical terms and ideas; with other material that may provide background of understanding to all who, as creator, critic, or receptor, approach a literary or theatrical work." (Pref)

Canadian Forum 23:263 F '44 360w
Cath World 157:669 S '43 140w

"Handy tool for small library which will answer most reference questions in field. Short bibliographies for each principal entry, such as: Aesthetics, Art impulse, Chinese drama, Dialogue, Literature and society, Novel, Theatre and screen. Highly recommended." George Freedley
+ Library J 68:327 Ap 15 '43 90w
School & Society 57:708 Je 26 '43 30w

"Shipley's Dictionary of World Literature presents in compact, alphabetical arrangement material useful to authors, critics, and students of literary criticism. It is recommended as a reference purchase to large public libraries and college libraries."
+ Subscription Bks Bul 14:40 O '43 950w

Theatre Arts 27:694 N '43 250w
Times [London] Lit Sup p612 D 18 '43 120w

SHIRRAS, GEORGE FINDLAY, and ROSTAS, LASZLO. Burden of British taxation. 240p $3 Macmillan [15s Cambridge]
336.2 Taxation—Great Britain 43-2386

"This study of the burden of British taxes on incomes of various size follows the technique of previous British studies of this nature and the technique of the Newcomer study published in the Twentieth Century Fund volume 'Facing the Tax Problem.' It estimates the total tax burden on families of different size having different incomes by directly estimating the amount of the various taxes which these particular units pay. No attempt is made to reconcile the burden thus set forth with the aggregate revenues by applying these burdens to some distribution of the population among the various income classes." (Nation) Index.

Reviewed by Mabel Newcomer
Am Econ R 33:408 Je '43 1350w
Reviewed by A. G. Buehler
Ann Am Acad 231:185 Ja '44 400w
Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert
Foreign Affairs 22:164 O '43 20w
Reviewed by J. K. Butters
Harvard Law R 56:1344 Jl '43 2100w
Nation 156:391 Mr 13 '43 420w
Reviewed by R. M. Haig
N Y Times p7 Mr 14 '43 1500w

"Excellent survey."
+ Times [London] Lit Sup p131 Mr 13 '43 240w

SHOEMAKER, FRANCIS. Aesthetic experience and the humanities; modern ideas of aesthetic experience in the reading of world literature. 339p $3.50 Columbia univ. press
378 Esthetics. Literature—Study and teaching 43-11105

"Review of issues considered paramount in revival of humanities as evidenced by teaching of world literature and similar cultural courses in colleges and universities. (1) Provides samples from modern writers in several fields, primarily philosophy, psychology, and anthropology, to show their concern with the humanities. (2) Examines statements of representative teacher groups and individuals speaking for the values of modern humanities courses. (3) Surveys teaching of such courses. (4) Exemplifies 'modern' approach by one literary sample." (Library J) Bibliography. Index.

Canadian Forum 23:239 Ja '44 180w
Reviewed by R. E. Keighton
Crozer Q 21:83 Ja '44 850w

"The book has little in it that will interest philosophical readers; but considered purely as a descriptive bibliography, for those who are unacquainted with the literature on esthetics, it may serve a modest purpose." C. L. S.
J Philos 40:586 O 14 '43 330w
Reviewed by Rudolph Hirsch
Library J 68:529 Je 15 '43 110w
School & Society 58:128 Ag 21 '43 50w

"Despite a lack of unity and a dissertation-like ponderosity of approach, 'Aesthetic Experience and the Humanities' merits thorough study by those professionally interested in its problems." G. L. Joughin
Springf'd Republican p6 Jl 28 '43 750w

SHORE, MAXINE, and OBLINGER, M. M. Knight of the wilderness; the story of Alexander Mackenzie; il. by Kreigh Collins. 253p $2 Dodd
Mackenzie, Sir Alexander—Juvenile literature 43-5351

Alexander Mackenzie, a young Montreal fur trader, set out to explore the Northwest, twelve years before the Lewis and Clark expedition. This story biography of the daring explorer is for children from twelve to sixteen.

Booklist 39:391 Je 1 '43

"An unfamiliar link in the opening up of North America is here made thrilling and memorable. It calls for a better map than the publishers have supplied." A. M. Jordan
+ Horn Bk 19:177 My '43 130w

"Record is authentic, exciting, and valuable in introducing one of the world's least-known but greatest explorers. First-rate biography and vigorous history. Writing has color and zest to match subject. Good format. Recommended for high-school age." M. N. Miller
+ Library J 68:366 My 1 '43 90w

"The somewhat sentimental handling of Mackenzie's friendship with his cousin, Roderick Mackenzie, softens a little the rugged outlines of his impressive figure, and a more comprehensive, detailed map is badly needed; but as a whole the book is a vigorous addition to juvenile Americana." E. L. Buell
+ — N Y Times p9 Je 13 '43 380w

"Includes fresh material."
+ Sat R of Lit 26:30 My 15 '43 20w

Reviewed by M. L. Becker
Weekly Book Review p8 My 30 '43 420w

Wis Lib Bul 39:112 Jl '43

SHORT, LUKE, pseud. See Glidden, F. D.

SHOWALTER, HAZEL F. Small creations for your tools. 214p il $2.75 Bruce pub.

684 Handicraft. Woodwork. Toys 43-2373

"Collection of designs for handmade novelties to be tooled from scraps of wood or inexpensive materials. Seventy-eight plates show patterns for toys, small household articles, desk gadgets, and small objects of artistic design to appeal to beginner." Library J

"Might be useful with groups, such as cub scouts, or with young enthusiast in home workshop. Fine binding and paper. Recommended but expensive." Emily Hutson
Library J 68:330 Ap 15 '43 70w

N Y New Tech Bks 28:10 Ja '43

SHRIBER, MRS IONE (SANDBERG). Invitation to murder. 278p $2 Farrar 43-15957

Detective story.

"To the author's credit, let it be said that if you stay with it through the early chapters you'll continue to the end—only to be presented with a solution that, even if you are able to swallow it, won't stay down." Elizabeth Bullock
Book Week p15 N 21 '43 90w

Booklist 40:115 D 1 '43

"With such a detective and such an author one expects something extra special in the way of puzzlement, and that is precisely what one gets in this book." Isaac Anderson
+ N Y Times p16 N 7 '43 120w

"Mrs. Schriber employs tried and true mystery gambits with aplomb, occasioning repeated stares of surprise among the characters, most of whom are tony persons with smart accessories and enigmatic ways. Recommended to lady fans and all others who relish a bit of agony with their bafflement." Will Cuppy
+ Weekly Book Review p28 O 31 '43 300w

SHRIDHARANI, KRISHNALAL JETHALAL. Warning to the West. 274p $2.50 Duell

950 Eastern question (Far East). Asia—Politics. World war, 1939—East (Far East) 42-36422

For descriptive note see Annual for 1942.

"No student of international relations can afford to miss reading this thought-provoking book, which lays special emphasis on the psychological factor determining the trend of the East towards the West. To be sure, it will not be palatable to many Western readers—political scientists, historians, and so-called experts on Oriental affairs, advocating the status quo—who still complacently cherish the conviction that continued if not eternal ascendancy of the West, especially the Anglo-Saxons, cannot be challenged under any circumstances. The work will be of value to laymen as well as scholars. It is not pedantic; it is written in simple but forceful style." Taraknath Das
+ Ann Am Acad 226:165 Mr '43 600w

Cath World 156:765 Mr '43 290w

Christian Century 61:20 Ja 5 '44 390w

"The author builds up his case like a lawyer, with all the evidence piled on one side, although a more dispassionate exposition would not have weakened it." H. J. S.
Christian Science Monitor p10 Mr 6 '43 400w

Cleveland Open Shelf p2 Ja '43

Reviewed by Max Fischer
Commonweal 38:448 Ag 20 '43 230w

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert
Foreign Affairs 21:587 Ap '43 20w

" 'Warning to the West' suffers from many of the faults of sensational writing. It is a shrill, highly emotional diatribe rather than a balanced well reasoned argument. The author's sweeping generalities, many of which would not survive critical analysis, his loose and often superficial interpretation of history, and his failure to offer any concrete suggestions as to how to solve the problem he poses, all detract seriously from the intellectual merit of the book. None the less, it deserves careful study for the attitude it reflects—an attitude which undoubtedly constitutes an important element in the current thinking of many Asiatic peoples. The book's most serious weakness arises from the falseness of the author's initial premise—his thesis that the central problem in the world today is the psychological one of racial antagonism." K. L. Mitchell
— + New Repub 108:258 F 22 '43 1450w

Pratt p13 F '43

Wis Lib Bul 39:13 Ja '43

SHULMAN, MAX. Barefoot boy with cheek; pictures by Will Crawford. 207p $2 Doubleday 43-6576

Ribald burlesque of modern American college life, by an ex-editor of the University of Minnesota humorous magazine.

"William Crawford is moderately successful in striving manfully to match with drawings the astounding ramifications of the text. Let's recognize the superhuman nature of his assignment, and call him the poor man's Dali. As for myself, I am impelled to fling caution to the tempests, and cry out loud and bold that a new satiric genius has come swimming into my ken. The publishers, with untypical understatement, venture to label 'Barefoot Boy with Cheek' as 'a "Low Man on a Totem Pole" of college life.' Fie, gentlemen! Someone ought to tell you that you have in your net not a goodly-sized carp, but a whale whose dimensions ought to grow as the years pass by." Jack Conroy
+ Book Week p4 My 23 '43 450w

" 'Barefoot Boy With Cheek' might easily become a best seller. It is the first work of a 23-year-old cadet in the Army Air Corps; it has some very amusing drawings, and it is written with that particular brand of American humor which relishes the ridicule of trifles." Nona Balakian
+ N Y Times p32 My 23 '43 650w

"Much of it is green corn, but Mr. Shulman shows signs of being a comer."
New Yorker 19:80 Ap 24 '43 50w

Reviewed by Lee Varley
Springf'd Republican p7e Je 13 '43 240w

"Broad and slightly bawdy. The wit is along undergraduate lines, and the illustrations are in the same groove."
Weekly Book Review p16 Ap 25 '43 100w

SHUMAN, JOHN THEODORE, and others. Fundamental shop training, for those preparing for war service. 327p il $2 Am. tech. soc.

621.75 Machine shop practice 43-4623

"Non-technical and well-illustrated text for the high school student and layman on the tools and methods of repairing military equipment." (N Y New Tech Bks) Index.

Book Week p11 Ap 25 '43 40w

Booklist 39:430 Je 15 '43

Library J 68:212 Mr 1 '43 30w

N Y New Tech Bks 28:11 Ja '43

Reviewed by J. M. Juran
N Y Times p20 Ag 15 '43 80w

SIEBENS, MRS CAROLINE RUST (PULSIFER), and BARTLETT, WARREN L. The librarian and the teacher of science. (Experimenting together) 71p pa 75c A.L.A.

027.82 School libraries (high school) 42-19222

Reports the results of a project conducted in the Brookline, Massachusetts, high school, by the librarian and the teacher of science. The aim of the project was to give the children the idea of doing outside reading in connection with the course in biology. An extensive list of headings were prepared, and one class period each month was given to a trip to the library to choose a book from the list. The book describes the working out of the plan. The list of books is included.

"This list is certain to be helpful to all biology teachers, even if they cannot or do not wish to carry on a project of the kind described. Teachers of the physical sciences will hope for a similar list of books in their fields." B. M. Parker
+ Library Q 13:80 Ja '43 500w

School & Society 56:88 Jl 25 '42 30w

SIEGMEISTER, ELIE, ed. Music lover's handbook. 817p $4 Morrow

780 Music—Analysis, interpretation, appreciation 43-15247

Compilation of over 150 contributions on various phases of music, written by 52 outstanding musical figures. The articles are arranged under seven main headings: Fiddle strings and ballads; How music is made; In the concert hall; High C's and pirouettes; Meet the composers; In our time; Music of America. Contains very short notes on the contributors to the volume. Index.

Booklist 40:75 N 1 '43

Christian Science Monitor p6 O 2 '43 550w

Cleveland Open Shelf p18 O '43

"Probably the best general volume yet written and compiled for the man described on the jacket as a music lover: anyone who likes to sing or play an instrument; who stays home Saturday afternoon to listen to the opera broadcast; who spends a summer evening listening to a symphony orchestra or band; or who wrangles with his friends over the comparative merits of Louis Armstrong or Benny Goodman." J. T. Howard
+ Commonweal 38:616 O 8 '43 280w

"Mr. Siegmeister has obviously searched hard for material that is popular, anecdotal, informative and 'readable.' He has found a considerable amount. But when he writes that 'another editor might prepare just as valuable a volume with quite different contents,' one can only agree most heartily. Since this is, in the editor's words, a very large book designed to include 'many sorts of writing—scholarly, gay, intimate, casual, passionate,' quite a few writers come to mind who were not invited to attend Mr. Siegmeister's free-for-all." Weldon Kees
N Y Times p28 O 17 '43 600w

Reviewed by W. J. Mitchell
— Sat R of Lit 27:36 Ja 22 '44 550w

Theatre Arts 27:758 D '43 150w

Wis Lib Bul 39:156 D '43

SIKORSKI, WLADYSLAW. Modern warfare; with a note by George C. Marshall. 288p $3.50 Roy pubs. [8s 6d Hutchinson]

355.43 Strategy. War 43-18534

A treatise on modern warfare by the late General Sikorski, who was at the time of his death in July, 1943, Polish Prime Minister and Commander-in-Chief. The work was originally published in Poland in 1934, at the beginning of Hitler's rise to power.

Reviewed by J. I. Greene
Book Week p2 Ja 9 '44 110w

Booklist 40:178 Ja 15 '44

Manchester Guardian p3 F 26 '43 180w

"All things considered, 'Modern Warfare' is a more complete study and a more accurate prophecy than General DeGaulle's much better known 'The Army of the Future,' written at about the same time. I think the book has no particular political bearing; its chief value is that it shows a keen military mind facing in a practical manner the overwhelming problems that military men faced everywhere as new and potentially conquering armies began to form once more in Europe. Any nation or group of nations will be the safer through the clear expression of such military thought." J. I. Greene
+ Sat R of Lit 27:22 F 5 '44 450w

Scientific Bk Club R 15:3 Ja '44 300w

Reviewed by S. H. F. Johnston
Spec 170:176 F 19 '43 170w

"Originally published in Warsaw in 1934, this work by General Sikorski was very well worth publication here before now. It combines an analysis of the world pattern of power politics at the time from the military angle with a discussion of the technical possibilities and problems of a total style of warfare, and in both respects it is a clear, searching and cogent piece of work."
+ Times [London] Lit Sup p62 F 6 '43 850w

SILBER, FREDERICK. Geography. (Self-education quiz bk. no. 1) 340p maps 69c Garden City pub. co.

910 Geography 43-6745

"All geography is divided into three parts—physical, political and economic—in this handy manual of fact and compendium of quiz. The facts occupy two-thirds of the space, and the remaining third is devoted to the questions, with page reference to the right answer." Books

"Among quiz books, the 'Self-Education Quiz Book' on geography is definitely superior. The questions are on the whole difficult, and the mentally lazy will probably turn first to the answer section rather than the quiz part. The answers are written in textbook style and are exceptionally clear and concise." M. N.
+ Book Week p6 Ap 25 '43 70w

"Mr. Silber has managed to assemble a wide range of information into compact form, and the quizzes are well designed for a mental check-up."
+ Weekly Book Review p14 Ap 25 '43 130w

SILBERLING, NORMAN JOHN. Dynamics of business; an analysis of trends, cycles, and time relationships in American economic activity since 1700 and their bearing upon governmental and business policy. 759p $5 McGraw

338.54 Business cycles. U.S.—Economic conditions. Economics 43-6816

"[In this volume] the late Dr. Silberling presents an analysis of the long-term trends of American production, price levels, and income, based upon new measurements, followed by a systematic and graphically illustrated discussion of cyclical movements in agriculture, building, production, trade, finance, and wages, leading to theoretical and practical conclusions for both business and governmental policy. . . The title, 'The Dynamics of Business,' was selected to emphasize the fact that attention is given in this volume to the trends and relationships of economic factors as well as business-cycle phenomena as such. The book aims to reach effectively the general reader, the business and financial executive, the governmental administrator, the legislator, and the more advanced students (college juniors and up) in the fields of economics, government, history, sociology, law, engineering, and agriculture." (Pref) Author was professor of business research, Graduate school of business, Stanford university. Index.

"It is unfortunate that the style of the book is heavy, for it is a genuine contribution to the science of economics, and deserves wide and careful reading." D. L. Kemmerer

+ — Ann Am Acad 228:128 Jl '43 500w

Management R 32:195 My '43 70w

SILLER, VAN. Echo of a bomb. 280p $2 Doubleday

43-4270

Detective story.

Booklist 39:355 My 1 '43

"If you crave plenty of passion in a tricky and well managed plot, grab 'Echo of a Bomb.'" Will Cuppy

Books p22 Ja 24 '43 300w

"Very good."

+ Boston Globe p19 F 10 '43 40w

"This is a first novel, and it shows that the author is a person capable of weaving together an intricate plot and making it hang together." Isaac Anderson

+ N Y Times p20 Ja 24 '43 240w

"Romance of tragic young bride and amateur sleuth (very well handled) overshadows mystery, which has its points. Emotional thriller."

Sat R of Lit 26:19 F 13 '43 40w

SILLER, VAN. Good night, ladies. 220p $2 Doubleday

43-13682

Detective story.

Reviewed by Elizabeth Bullock

Book Week p11 S 12 '43 140w

"It is true that the number of suspects is limited, but there are still enough of them to make things exceedingly difficult for Sergeant Gale of the police. The story moves rapidly—perhaps a little too rapidly, when it comes to the explanation of what has happened." Isaac Anderson

+ — N Y Times p8 Ag 29 '43 100w

"Mr. Siller's plot goes fantastic at times, but don't get the idea that he is merely fooling around. It all hangs together somehow and you'll be surprised who was running amuck with murderous weapons. Here's speed, fun, amour and a puzzle you can take without tears." Will Cuppy

+ — Weekly Book Review p18 Ag 29 '43 180w

SILVER, MRS FERN, and RYAN, MRS MILDRED (GRAVES). Foundations for living. 615p il $2.12 Appleton-Century

640 Home economics 43-7315

"A comprehensive textbook for senior-high-school home-economics courses that provides instruction and guidance in establishing a foundation for intelligent, socially useful, and happy living." (School & Society) Chapter bibliographies. Index.

Reviewed by R. D. Morley

J Home Econ 35:590 N '43 180w

School & Society 57:580 My 15 '43 50w

"As a point of departure for further study, the book serves its purpose well: to orient young people both to the world in which they find themselves and to the world immediately ahead of them." F. F. Mauck

+ School R 51:438 S '43 1050w

SILVERS, EARL REED. Editor accepts; how to write short stories that magazines buy; with an introd. by Earl Schenck Miers. 292p $2.50 Rutgers univ. press

808.3 Short story 43-52728

A successful writer of short stories and books for boys and girls, attempts to pass on to others "what are the factors which influence him, and what are the basic rules of story writing." Includes several of his stories, which have been published, and one unsuccessful one which is criticized.

Reviewed by Margaret Owen

Library J 68:128 F 1 '43 110w

"This is among the most readable of guides to commercial story writing; it does start with the practical purpose of discovering what stories magazines buy, and how such stories may be written if you can do it, but it drifts often enough into honest dreams to muffle the clang of the cash register. Dr. Silvers speaks from experience; he has published more than a thousand stories."

+ Weekly Book Review p14 Mr 28 '43 200w

SIM, GEORGES. See Simenon, G. pseud.

SIMENON, GEORGES, pseud. (GEORGES SIM). Havoc by accident; tr. from the French by Stuart Gilbert. 312p $2 Harcourt [8s Routledge]

43-13577

Two novels, Talatala, and The Breton Sisters. The first is about a French coffee planter living in the Belgian Congo, and describes the almost disastrous results of a plane crash on his plantation. The second story is of a cowardly Breton from Concarneau, whose life is dominated by his sisters.

Reviewed by Charles Marriott

Manchester Guardian p3 F 5 '43 280w

"The latest addition to Simenon's American works is 'Havoc by Accident,' a volume of two short novels which are not whodunits, but which are designed for the same trade. One of them is pretty good and the other will knock your teeth out." Jane Cobb

+ — N Y Times p6 Jl 4 '43 480w

"Tense, realistic novels by an author who writes of mental rather than physical violence."

New Yorker 19:71 Je 26 '43 90w

"M. Simenon handles the idiosyncrasies of his English characters most brilliantly. The second story shows the author at his best. Here he is at work on the more familiar Breton background. . . M. Simenon, unlike most prolific writers, never seems to waste a word; in spite of this effective economy, the stories (and he is a natural storyteller) carry us into depths beyond realism. The translation is vividly made by Stuart Gilbert." John Hampson

+ Spec 170:250 Mr 12 '43 450w

Springf'd Republican p7e Jl 4 '43 220w

Times [London] Lit Sup p65 F 6 '43 160w

"In 'Havoc by accident' Georges Simenon again shows his superb talent as a novelist. Like 'Tropic Moon,' his preceding book, this volume of two short novels is concerned not with a murder mystery but in the exploration of the mystery of human being under stress of unique circumstances. . . Neither of these tales could have been written by an American. Only a Frenchman with his peculiar philosophy and mature morality would develop them, as Simenon does, on the psychological level which goes beyond a sense of personal sin." Rose Feld

Weekly Book Review p4 Jl 4 '43 950w

SIMENON, GEORGES, pseud. (GEORGES SIM). Tropic moon; tr. from the French by Stuart Gilbert. 218p $2 Harcourt

43-8276

The setting of this psychological story of a crime and the trial which followed, is equatorial French Africa. The tale is told largely as it appeared to the eyes of a young Frenchman, only recently come out from the home country.

SIMENON, GEORGES, pseud.—Continued

"Simenon gets his magnificent effects in the cohesion between his characters and their background. Against the maze and heat and the primitive life of the jungle, the swiftness and extravagance of action in a tempo of tropic inaction is real and understandable. His art lies in depicting dark horror with the simplicity and gentleness of a nun telling her beads." Ross Feld
+ Books p4 Ja 24 '43 800w

"Good."
+ Boston Globe p19 Ja 13 '43 50w

Christian Century 60:82 Ja 20 '43 60w

"This is material, certainly, for a better novel than Simenon has written, but what he has written is swift and clever, rather more complex, psychologically than Somerset Maugham's colonial stories yet in much the same manner. The main fault of 'Tropic Moon' seems to be an excess of the virtue of objectivity; by keeping himself too much out of his novel, the author leaves the picture a little bare. At the end of the story, for instance, the exposition is so sparse that we are left with some of the hero's own confusion." Diana Trilling
+ — Nation 156:172 Ja 30 '43 180w

"Never once does the author explain or even comment on Timar, or any other of the characters. He tells us how those people appeared to Timar, tells what he thought of them and of himself, how he felt and how he acted, but with never a word of praise or blame. This very aloofness makes his indictment the more severe, gives added sharpness to his description of a state of affairs devoid of either pity or kindliness or justice. . . It is all handled with restraint. . . Words are used most economically; the descriptions are brief, but so vivid we can see the little settlement." L. M. Field
+ N Y Times p14 Ja 10 '43 900w

New Yorker 18:51 Ja 9 '43 80w

"Stark to the point of unpleasantness yet creating a compelling interest in the reader, 'Tropic Moon' reveals the well-known French mystery writer, Georges Simenon, in a mood and style which will be somewhat unfamiliar to those who have enjoyed translations of his other works."
Springf'd Republican p7e Ja 17 '43 270w

"This book is called by its publishers the first 'mature' novel by France's most famed detective-story writer, the creator of Inspector Maigret. Hot melodrama would be a better term for it."
Time 41:100 Ja 18 '43 700w

"It is as horrid and vivid and unsparing a narrative of disintegration in the tropics as you will find, with two very remarkable, if far from pleasant, characters. It suggests that W. Somerset Maugham has hardly scratched the surface of the green mold that grows over white men's souls when they have been too long in hot countries. Strongly recommended as an antidote for a surfeit of novels in the boy-meets-girl classification." Robert Littell
+ Yale R n s 32:xii spring '43 140w

SIMMONS, MARGARET IRWIN. Sally wins her wings. 258p $2 Crowell
43-5436

Sally Barnes was an American girl with a purpose: she wanted to be a flyer. She struggled for years to achieve her ambition, she found jobs and lost them, due to her urge to pile up flying hours. Then she met a girl who helped her get a job which brought her just the work she needed. Sally at last attained the distinction of becoming a member of the Air transport auxiliary of the Royal Air Force in England.

"Sally is a real character rather than a vocational substitute. Her adventures held my interest from start to finish, as I think they will hold that of girls who are air-minded." A. C. Moore
+ Horn Bk 19:115 Mr '43 40w

"Acceptable story. . . For high school age." Maude Adams
Library J 68:330 Ap 15 '43 60w

Reviewed by E. M. Morrow
N Y Times p10 My 9 '43 60w

"Overdrawn."
Sat R of Lit 26:28 My 15 '43 30w

Reviewed by M. L. Becker
Weekly Book Review p8 Mr 21 '43 400w

SIMMONS, WALTER. Joe Foss, flying marine. See Foss, J.

SIMMS, HENRY HARRISON. Decade of sectional controversy, 1851-1861. 284p $3.50 Univ. of N.C. press

973.66 U.S.—Politics and government—1783-1865. U.S.—History—Civil war—Causes. Slavery in the U.S. 42-51250

Review of the conditions in the southern United States in the years just prior to the Civil war. The author is professor of history at Ohio State university. Bibliography. Index.

Reviewed by C. H. Ambler
Am Hist R 48:816 Jl '43 420w

"In a few cases the author plays up Northern extremists with a subtle suggestion of their being typical, whereas he once refers to the role of a Southern fire-eater with the comment, 'but he was an exception' (p. 153). In general, however, one just cannot get excited over the author's judgments—or the lack of them. The author has made a judicious use of recent biographies, monographs and monographic articles, although an occasional reference cites Rhodes without any apparently good reason. The list of newspapers in the bibliography is impressive but short shrift had to be made of their contents in a text of such brief scope." A. C. Cole
Am Pol Sci R 58:306 Je '43 450w

"Dr. Simms's able and painstaking volume seems to me to contain many of the virtues and all the faults of professional historic writing today. This reserves its highest devotion —nor do I find fault with this—for firsthand research. But the idolatry is carried too far. . . The author tells soberly and ploddingly, against a sound factual background, the grim story of that decade which ensured a Civil War. He is at his best when the documents he has so competently assembled, all by themselves, make plain the passion and vehemence of the events which brought them into being. . . Would that it were possible more often to graft some of the intellectual daring and verbal felicity of Philip Guedalla or Carl Sandburg onto the sturdy trunk of American scholarship. It might really go somewhere then." A. B. Miller
+ — Ann Am Acad 228:142 Jl '43 430w

SIMNETT, WILLIAM EDWARD. British colonial empire. 254p $3 Norton [8s 6d Allen, G]

325.342 Great Britain—Colonies. Imperial federation [A42-2467]

For descriptive note see Annual for 1942.

Reviewed by L. E. Lawrence
Am Hist R 48:853 Jl '43 220w

"Done in so sketchy a fashion that a good atlas, together with a book like A. B. Keith's The Governments of the British Empire, would provide more information on most points. Although the author claims to be an impartial critic, the book's plain tendency is to whitewash British colonial administration." Morley Ayearst
Am Pol Sci R 37:177 F '43 360w

"The accounts are necessarily short, but a remarkable amount of accurate information is compressed into a brief compass. . . There is a good bibliography of recent books on the British tropical colonies and on the colonies of other European powers. The great difficulty in so vast a subject is to strike the happy medium between writing too little and writing too much. Mr. Simnett's method was to produce a brief account and to follow it by an excellent bibliography for those who wish to inquire further. He has written a book which should prove very useful to anyone who wants a reliable, short account of the British tropics." L. A. Mills

+ Ann Am Acad 226:155 Mr '43 380w

Christian Science Monitor p10 Ja 9 '43 60w

"A comprehensive well-informed and up-to-date survey." R. G. Woolbert

+ Foreign Affairs 21:373 Ja '43 30w

"Mr. Simnett's volume, of which an English and an American edition have appeared, is a convenient concise introduction to this important subject, necessarily somewhat superficial and oversimplified, but equipped with an excellent select bibliography for those who may wish to make a serious study of the Colonial Empire." R. L. Schuyler

+ Pol Sci Q 58:127 Mr '43 500w

SIMON, CHARLIE MAY (HOGUE) (MRS JOHN GOULD FLETCHER). Lays of the new land; stories of some American poets and their work; il. by James MacDonald. 254p $3 Dutton

811.09 American poetry—History and criticism 43-3827

Seventeen American poets are represented in the book, with a few pages describing something of the life of each, and a few poems from the works of each. Those included are: William Cullen Bryant, Ralph Waldo Emerson, Edgar Allan Poe, Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, John Greenleaf Whittier, Walt Whitman, Emily Dickinson, Sidney Lanier, Edwin Arlington Robinson, Edgar Lee Masters, Robert Frost, Amy Lowell, Carl Sandburg, Vachel Lindsay, John Gould Fletcher, Edna St Vincent Millay, Stephen Vincent Benet.

Reviewed by Pearl Strachan

Christian Science Monitor p11 My 29 '43 100w

"Undoubtedly, the middle school grades will find this a useful book." A. M. Jordan

+ Horn Bk 19:172 My '43 60w

"Great personal warmth about the whole, which should be particularly appealing to sensitive teen-age reader with any liking for poetry at all." M. B. Snow

+ Library J 68:330 Ap 15 '43 70w

"Miss Simon's chapters are full of personal detail and anecdote and, given an initial interest in poetry, boys and girls of junior high school age will be likely to think her book pleasant reading. Teachers will find 'Lays of the New Land' helpful in introducing American poetry to their classes." A. T. Eaton

+ N Y Times p9 Jl 25 '43 300w

"The poems are aptly chosen to interest young readers and none are included just because children ought to know them. Half the volume is devoted to poets who have written since 1900, which has the happy effect of making poets and poetry seem near at hand and understandable."

+ New Yorker 19:71 My 29 '43 90w

"'Lays of a New Land' is a delightfully informative book for the home or for the student of high school age and slightly younger. Here Emerson, Poe, Emily Dickinson, and all the 'accepted' names in the field of American poetry are given life again, while the ones still writing are made to seem real and human and important. True, their poems are interpreted, with suitable excerpts for illustration, but the stories are largely family affairs as it were, bringing the writers into perspective in the light of their home and everyday life. James MacDonald is the talented artist who catches the spirit of the book." A. M. Jakeman

+ Springf'd Republican p7e Mr 14 '43 270w

"The book is serenely beautiful in appearance, the drawings really illustrate, and the poems have room on large pages." M. L. Becker

+ Weekly Book Review p16 My 23 '43 380w

Wis Lib Bul 39:71 My '43

SIMON, CHARLIE MAY (HOGUE) (MRS JOHN GOULD FLETCHER). Song of tomorrow; il. by Howard Simon. 195p $2 Dutton

43-15167

Novel for older girls. It is the story of a lovely mountain girl with a talent for the violin, who went to a nearby college to learn to play according to the book. Caroline is faced with the problem of joining the sophisticates or of sticking to her own fine, but poor, family, and she chose wisely.

Reviewed by P. A. Whitney

Book Week p4 N 14 '43 150w

"Author in a new vein, writes more confidently for older girls, with great sensitivity to music and the beauties of earth; dropping the Ozark country vernacular, tells naturally and intimately of common people, whose simple integrity, and not heroics or eccentricity, distinguishes them. Reader not amused at provincialism, feels identified with it." Maude Adams

+ Library J 68:965 N 15 '43 110w

"Plausible and absorbing, this fine novel brings a message of hope for tomorrow to Caroline and her contemporaries." M. E. S.

+ Springf'd Republican p7e N 28 '43 130w

SIMON, YVES. March to liberation; tr. from the French by Victor M. Hamm. 102p $2 Tower press, 631 N. 50th st, Milwaukee

940.5344 World war, 1939—France. France—Politics and government 42-50885

"A Catholic philosopher's interpretation of the present 'international civil war'." Foreign Affairs

---

Reviewed by D. M. Close

Cath World 157:216 My '43 380w

"There are a number of remarkable things about this little book; it contrives to be at once eloquent and lucid in thought, passionate and yet moderate in expression. Even those whom Professor Simon sees to be the worst betrayers of the good are explained rather than denounced. He combines the exaltation of the prophet with the calm of the philosopher; what he has written deserves to be widely read." Theodore Maynard

+ Commonweal 37:305 Ja 8 '43 270w

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert

Foreign Affairs 21:4 Jl '43 10w

SIMON, YVES. Road to Vichy, 1918-1938; tr. by James A. Corbett and George J. McMorrow. 207p $2.25 Sheed

944 France—Politics and government 42-22677

"A thoughtful analysis of the social decay which preceded the military defeat [of France]. Dr. Simon claims that France was beaten before the war started, and in his short book he attempts to say why." New Repub

---

Reviewed by Louis Marlio

Am Hist R 48:857 Jl '43 210w

"As a Catholic teaching at a Catholic university, [the author] is perhaps inclined to attach more importance to the Catholic influence in French life than it deserves, but it is good to see him confessing that the Church was wrong in its attitude toward the Spanish civil war. From that time on, Dr. Simon says, an exaggerated fear of communism blinded many Frenchmen to a much greater and more imminent peril, that of Nazi Germany, and in the pursuit of what they imagined to be the interests of their class, many Frenchmen neglected the interests of the nation, with the result that in the end all classes alike were at the mercy of a brutal conqueror." Varian Fry

New Repub 109:83 Jl 19 '43 150w

SIMONDS, HERBERT RUMSEY, and ELLIS, CARLETON. Handbook of plastics; assisted by M. H. Bigelow. 1082p $10 Van Nostrand

668 Plastics 43-10995

"The book is designed to present exhaustively and yet with proper selection the fundamental basis and technology of the plastics industry. It contains nine major sections. . . The authors intend that these sections should cover fully the present state of the industry, the physical and chemical properties of plastics, their production, manufacture and finishing, and all of the useful information which anyone working with plastics in any part of the industry or anyone desiring full and complete information on plastics should find in a well organized and thorough treatment of the subject." (Pref) Contains a chemical glossary; a glossary of plastics trade-marks and trade names; a bibliography; and indexes.

"While most handbooks are a compilation of tables and the like, this one is for the most part a collection of information about plastics and equipment for their manufacture and molding. It is unfortunate that the authors had to depend upon the manufacturers as their sources of information. As a result they were able to present only that information which the manufacturers were willing to have published. While this fact necessarily limits the usefulness of the book it is undoubtedly one of the best books dealing with plastics that has been made available to the engineer and is certainly worth adding to his book-shelf." J. A. Lee

+ Chem & Met Eng 50:197 Ag '43 600w

Library J 68:670 S 1 '43 60w

N Y New Tech Bks 28:49 Jl '43

SIMONDS, WILLIAM ADAMS. Henry Ford; his life, his work, his genius. 365p il $3.50 Bobbs

B or 92 Ford, Henry 43-2700

A full account of the " 'Arabian Nights' tale of the Michigan farm boy who rose to high esteem." The author has gathered his material from his personal knowledge of Henry Ford, from printed sources, and from the testimony of those who have known him well. Bibliography. Index.

"William A. Simonds has been associated with Mr. Ford for over twenty years; one could scarcely expect his book to be critical. Yet this does not mean that it is useless. For it assembles within two covers a lot of facts and material with which Americans should be more widely acquainted. It is written in an easy if somewhat florid style, and it is probably not too far off in its major judgments, excepting for those judgments where friendship for Ford obviously would not lead to objectivity. Mr. Simonds, for instance, has nothing to say about the speed-up or the turnover of labor in Ford's plants, about the iniquities wrought by mass production in these factories, the inhuman indignities, although he has a great deal to say about the high wages consistently paid by the company, about its fine policy of employing Negroes, and the remarkable things it has done with the employment of blind and crippled men. Ford's anti-Semitism is blankly denied."

Commonweal 37:647 Ap 16 '43 800w

"Personally I am an admirer of Mr. Ford. He has his kinks, his quirks, and his shortcomings like all the rest of us. It is his frailties in combination with his genius which make him the man that he is. Above all else he is intensely human. In writing his book Mr. Simonds has apparently forgotten this fact." S. J. Woolf

Sat R of Lit 26:47 Ap 17 '43 850w

Springf'd Republican p7e Je 6 '43 650w

Reviewed by L. M. Hacker

Weekly Book Review p12 My 30 '43 550w

SIMONOV, KONSTANTIN. No quarter. 231p il $2.75 Fischer, L.B.

940.542 World war, 1939—Personal narratives, Russian 43-17853

"It is easy to forget the vast difference between waging war in remote enemy lands and fighting a barbaric invader in one's own villages. The latter kind of war strikes deeper into men's souls, rouses more profound fury. This is the sort of war Mr. Simonov tells about. As a correspondent for 'Red Star,' he roamed up and down the 2,000-mile Russian battlefront from the Arctic to the Crimea, writing not about the strategy or the politics or economics of war, but about how human beings in Russia thought and behaved in the midst of war. His book is a series of disconnected vignettes having no superficial unity and yet bound together by the thread of man's fury." Weekly Book Review

Reviewed by S. E. Hyman

Book Week p3 D 26 '43 360w

Booklist 40:181 Ja 15 '44

Reviewed by W. H. Chamberlin

N Y Times p7 Ja 2 '44 500w

"Though not without their value as propaganda, these pieces are written with a sensibility and penetration that suggest both a more vigorous Bunin and a far more subtle Babel. . . One of the pieces, at least, a powerfully developed story called 'The Only Son,' belongs in the grand tradition of Russian literature. Rendered into English—and very good English, too—by an unnamed translater."

+ New Yorker 19:96 D 18 '43 110w

" 'No Quarter on Russia's Fighting Lines' lives up to its title. It is tense, packed, vivid, and often brutal. It races along at the tempo of machine-gun fire. Thirty-two photographs illustrates the savagery and the heroism that mark the Nazi-Soviet combat." H. C. Wolfe

+ Sat R of Lit 27:5 Ja 1 '44 700w

"For sheer wartime drama, it would be hard to find a counterpart of the exploits recounted in 'No Quarter.' But Simonov's book goes deeper than the details of military action. For him, the Russian bravery stems from an abiding love of Russian land, of Russian traditions and from a profound belief in Russia's future. And it stems from an intense hatred of an enemy who has proven himself more bestial than wild beasts." M. R. B.

+ Springf'd Republican p7e D 19 '43 400w

"Mr. Simonov writes neither as a Communist —he seldom refers to Communism—nor as a propagandist. He is a Slav, hell-bent on driving the Hun from his homeland, even as did his ancestors before him. His hatred for the enemy is genuine, convincing—and contagious." Marcus Duffield

+ Weekly Book Review p6 D 12 '43 1100w

SIMONSON, LEE. Part of a lifetime; drawings and designs, 1919-1940. 100p 80pl $5 Duell

B or 92 Theater—Stage settings and scenery 43-18089

Autobiographical study of one of America's foremost artists, who has designed sets for many of our best theatrical productions from 1915 to the present. Includes eighty pages of photographs of sets he has designed and some details of them.

Reviewed by Miriam Maloney

Book Week p5 D 19 '43 400w

Booklist 40:182 Ja 15 '44

Reviewed by Kappo Phelan

Commonweal 39:378 Ja 28 '44 1100w

" 'Part of a Lifetime' makes excellent reading. It is difficult to share the author's pessimism as to his future; it is impossible to believe that 'Atque Vale' is a suitable chapter heading for an account of Simonson's career in the theatre." John Gassner

+ N Y Times p5 D 12 '43 1250w

"Theatre Arts has, over the years, made so nearly complete a record of Mr. Simonson's work as designer that it seems unnecessary to review it here although it is a pleasure to see so much of it again, reproduced page after page in the illustrations. It contains many of the most successful and delightful settings of our time. And this is natural because Simonson understands plays and their presentation, understands the art of direction and knows that it is the business of the designer not only to mark the locale of a play but to illumine the director's point of view toward the script he is producing."

+ Theatre Arts 28:61 Ja '44 650w

"'Part of a Lifetime' is valuable as a handsomely illustrated statement of many of his thoughts and accomplishments in the field of stage design and theater management; but it is more valuable and even more interesting as a record of people and things that he came in contact with during his first fifty years." Kenneth MacGowan

+ Weekly Book Review p3 N 28 '43 1550w

SIMPSON, WILLIAM. One of our pilots is safe. 226p $2.50 Harper [7s 6d Hamilton, H]

940.548142 World war, 1939—Personal narratives, English. World war, 1939—France
43-10982

Personal narrative of a young British airman who was shot down in France in May, 1940. Badly burned he spent the next two years in French hospitals before finally being returned to England. His book is not only an account of his personal experiences but also a record of his growing knowledge of French character.

"'One of Our Pilots Is Safe' is a story of suffering, both for the man in the foreground and France in travail in the background. It is told simply and well, and its circumstances evoke powerful drama. Though only a few pages are given over to combat, the book teems with tales of courage, plain accounts of the bravery of the common man and woman. Of self-pity there is none." W. F. Morse

+ Book Week p7 Ag 15 '43 270w

Reviewed by F. L. D. Goodrich

Library J 68:572 Jl '43 70w

"This is first-rate stuff though not for the squeamish reader." W. H. C.

+ Manchester Guardian p3 D 23 '42 100w

"It is a gripping and terrible story: readers with queasy stomachs should avoid it."

New Repub 109:346 S 6 '43 90w

"The passage of time has somewhat outdated Squadron Leader Simpson's observations, although not, it is to be hoped, his judgment that most Frenchmen are fervently hoping for the day when they could rise and fight side by side with rescuing British and American armies. His book is chiefly valuable now as a reminder of the awful price in human agony that must be paid for victory." F. S. Adams

N Y Times p4 Ag 1 '43 800w

"A moving story, told with grave simplicity."

+ New Yorker 19:63 Jl 31 '43 50w

"Many books of personal experience in this war have come into my hands, but this is certainly the most interesting and even enjoyable —if one can apply such a term to the Odyssey of an airman who was brought down, and badly burnt and disfigured in the ensuing crash. It is the philosophic asides, the descriptive talent of the author, and particularly his penetrating analysis of the devious workings of the French mind under defeat, from Pétain to the lowliest peasant, which make this book so intriguing and valuable. H. G. Wells said of it, 'I have read it with extraordinary interest and admiration.' The American public will certainly endorse this view." Murray Harris

+ Sat R of Lit 26:11 Ag 7 '43 750w

"The writer's own development of mind is illustrated (almost unconsciously) in the course of the book. The rather captious young man who didn't think much of the town of Nantes in the early days of the war (Nantes possesses some of the glories of French architecture) is a very different young man from the sensitive and intellectually alive young man who is the writer of the book's last pages. And he, having obviously very little training in professional writing, has fallen back on the method of simplicity, truthfulness, and reliance on observed impressions. As a result, the style is flawless." H. G.

+ Spec 169:604 D 25 '42 550w

Springf'd Republican p6 Ag 12 '43 850w

"The pilot's personal story of heroic bearing of pain and of courageous determination to overcome handicaps which would have made many people give up the struggle is the more touching since it is told without the slightest trace of self-pity; this alone makes the book well worth reading. But there is a wider aspect of the story, for Flight Lieutenant Simpson's long convalescence in the then unoccupied zone enables him to give a vivid first-hand account of conditions under Vichy since the Pétain surrender. It is a pitiful story, but through all the suffering and misery, the semi-starvation and serfdom, shines a ray of hope for the future of the French nation."

+ Times [London] Lit Sup p628 D 26 '42 950w

"'One of Our Pilots Is Safe' is written with the quiet authority of a man who has been through an ordeal of fire, in every sense of that word, and is at peace with himself and at home in the world. He need not fear to use the first person nor to tell you what happened to himself, for it is a small part of a larger story he knows to be worth telling—his conviction that peoples and men, though indescribably battered and torn, can remain whole in spirit." Mary Ross

+ Weekly Book Review p12 S 19 '43 1050w

Wis Lib Bul 39:145 N '43

SINCLAIR, JOHN L. In time of harvest. 226p $2.50 Macmillan

43-12124

"Mr. Sinclair has written a very simple regional novel about the McClung family who come from Oklahoma to New Mexico to become bean-farming homesteaders. There is Tod, his wife Faybelle, grandfather Piddle and six children. Two of the children turn out well, one dies of heart failure, one becomes a whore, one goes to jail, etc. Their farm is moderately prosperous, though undergoing the usual vicissitudes." New Repub

---

"A continuous vein of rich and earthly folklore runs through the book and more than compensates for minor faults. Some of the characters are more shadow than substance, and there is a touch and go approach to the deeper problems of agricultural economy. Nevertheless, 'In Time of Harvest' is consistently diverting and in places searching enough to be called wise rather than merely clever." Jack Conroy

+ — Book Week p5 Ag 29 '43 550w

Booklist 40:115 D 1 '43

"Style and characterization are excellent. Language and occasional scenes may be too strong for some." M. P. McKay

Library J 68:625 Ag '43 70w

New Repub 109:294 Ag 30 '43 90w

Reviewed by Mari Sandoz

N Y Times p6 Ag 29 '43 500w

"A not very penetrating novel. . . Hard-boiled yet sentimental."

New Yorker 19:66 Ag 28 '43 70w

"'In Time of Harvest' gives a picture of the Southwestern dirt farmer that is as sincere and as forthright as Steinbeck's portrayal of the Oakies. It lacks the drama and the epic quality that came from the ever-continuing sense of movement as the Joads doggedly headed West. . . It is written in a minor key; and it is far less tragic in its implications than 'The Grapes of Wrath.' Yet it completes another part of the canvas that is gradually recording the various aspects of American life as it was lived in our time." P. V. Stern

+ Sat R of Lit 26:19 O 23 '43 500w

"A good earthy novel of the soul and the soil." F. H. Bullock

+ Weekly Book Review p2 S 5 '43 950w

SINCLAIR, MRS KATHLEEN HENRIETTA (NASH-WEBBER) (BRIGID KNIGHT, pseud). Covenant. 297p $2.50 Crowell
43-13938

Historical novel of South Africa and the Boer war. The chief characters are members of an English colonial family whose intense love for their home, Ingarsby, plays a part in their destinies.

"'The Covenant' adequately fills that prime requisite of a good novel—it tells a good story. And it adds a poignant bit of evidence to the ever-augmenting mass attesting the senselessness of war." Edith Roberts
+ Book Week p6 S 5 '43 550w
Booklist 40:60 O 15 '43

"Splendid characterization and very interesting reading. Heartily recommended." Lena Ruppert
+ Library J 68:625 Ag '43 80w

"The action is exciting, even though at times its explanation is not adequate. It is a thrilling tale if one does not try to probe too deeply into Stephen's behavior. His extravagant emotions make breathless reading, but add up to little understanding of him as a personality. . . Scenes change quickly, characters speed from one crisis to another. As a romance this is good reading. And it is one of the best means of gaining a vivid picture of the Dutch-English factions that set off the Boer War." Lucy Greenbaum
+ N Y Times p16 S 12 '43 450w

"Intelligently written and rather pleasantly old-fashioned."
+ New Yorker 19:77 S 4 '43 90w
Springf'd Republican p7e S 19 '43 170w

"Brigid Knight has written her book quietly, a treatment more suitable to her covenant theme than to the sections on war and family conflict. Quietness befits the book's most outstanding character, Chris, who is painted as a pillar of strength. The portrait of the Boer farm woman gives the book its inspiration. It is soothing to meet such a woman as Chris in times like these." Ray Heckert
+ Weekly Book Review p10 S 12 '43 650w

SINCLAIR, UPTON BEALL. Wide is the gate. 751p $3 Viking
43-162

The fourth in the author's series of novels about the American expatriate Lanny Budd. It describes Lanny's anti-Nazi activities during the beginning of the Popular Front thru part of the Spanish civil war.

Booklist 39:253 F 15 '43

"This continuing novel of Upton Sinclair's has been winning new readers volume by volume as it has gone along. It will continue to win them progressively as it goes its way. Any reader may pick up any one of the four thus far and become immersed in the story without benefit of the others. Those who have not seen any of the others may as well start on this one." F. T. Marsh
Books p2 Ja 3 '43 1300w

"Sinclair is a good novelist and an extremely capable and worth-while craftsman. As a social prophet and campaigner his merits are open to controversy. It is when he begins to editorialize about the rich and make occasionally obvious commentaries on the financial barons that the reader looks again at the last page to see how many more there are. . . Taken as an adventure story with a war spy plot, the novel, clipped of its editorial comment and social philosophy, could stand as a best seller. Taken 'straight,' it is a stirring and controversial novel, and at its best is a vital record of our way of living." E. W. Watts
+ Boston Globe p15 Ja 6 '43 400w
Canadian Forum 23:191 N '43 490w

Reviewed by Joseph McSorley
— Cath World 156:754 Mr '43 500w

Reviewed by K. M. Chworowsky
Christian Century 60:666 Je 2 '43 650w

"If Upton Sinclair were more of a litterateur, the task he set for himself of pouring the history of the past thirty years into a long novel would be more distinguished. Even so, the author's work is probably the best panorama of the period yet to be produced. Generally accurate, Sinclair's wise selection of material avoids the complexities of a world in upheaval that makes for easy reading and a popular appeal." G. E. Shipler, Jr.
+ — Churchman 157:16 Mr 15 '43 270w
Commonweal 37:428 F 12 '43 30w

"Not only a most interesting account of intrigue and quick thinking, but also a memorable record of those fateful days as they affected Europe." Lena Ruppert
+ Library J 68:35 Ja 1 '43 70w

"If you can swallow Mr. Sinclair's non-dimensional characterizations and not be too much thrown off by the naivete with which he describes the world of wealth and power—in his innocent way he really leers, like a socialist small boy watching a capitalist strip-tease—'Wide Is the Gate' is an easy way to refresh your knowledge of events not very distant from memory." Diana Trilling
Nation 156:138 Ja 23 '43 140w

Reviewed by Malcolm Cowley
New Repub 108:58 Ja 11 '43 1100w

"Mr. Sinclair has produced another book which is easy to read for its sheer interest, which is shot through with earnestness, which has some good moments of quiet humor and which does make one realize the terrible tragedy of the modern world. The machinery creaks. . . But one tends to forget the machinery and the inventions for the simple reason that Mr. Sinclair is a story-teller, and that he tells his story, as he sees it, for the good of humanity. This last attribute doesn't make a novelist but it does turn a good plotsmith into a writer one dare not ignore." R. L. Duffus
+ — N Y Times p2 Ja 10 '43 1350w

"Mr. Sinclair's fictional history of contemporary events is at the grave disadvantage of competing with the news stories which appeared in the daily press and came to us without his inept editorializing and unpruned style."
New Yorker 18:51 Ja 9 '43 110w

"It must be said, that Upton Sinclair is no master of the erotic, and his love scenes are as dry as leaves in a spinster's memory book. The bulk of the book, however, has to do with the history of our time, and here the old Upton Sinclair comes through with flying colors." R. R. Plant
+ — Sat R of Lit 26:8 Mr 6 '43 700w

"In this latest, as in his other books, a stumblingblock to the fastidious is Mr Sinclair's style, which abounds in colloquialisms, slang, cliches, and tag ends of quotations. The result is a commonplace, undignified, and meretricious type of writing which cannot but make the judicious grieve. Mr. Sinclair would doubtless retort that he is not writing for the fastidious, but to inform and enlighten the great mass of common people everywhere. . . 'Wide Is the Gate' is, then an 'Only Yesterday' of the era of appeasement. Those still interested in that period may find it interesting; others will not." R. J. Conklin
— + Springf'd Republican p7e Ja 24 '43 950w
Time 41:94 F 15 '43 350w
Wis Lib Bul 39:30 F '43

SINGER, FERDINAND LEON. Engineering mechanics. 482p $4 Harper
620.1 Mechanics, Applied 43-11880

"Textbook for basic course in mechanics useful for Army and Navy training program and also as a general text. Major emphasis placed upon understanding of physics of basic operations rather than on routine rules. Problems and answers. 670 line cuts." (Library J) Index.

"A workmanlike job of presentation and better than average printing. . . A good book for home study, as well as classroom use." L. E. Grinter

+ Book Week p10 O 3 '43 50w
Library J 68:670 S 1 '43 40w
N Y New Tech Bks 28:44 Jl '43

SINGER, MRS JEANNE FLORENCE (GOODSTEIN). This festive season. 237p $2.50 Harcourt
43-16081

Describes one day in the lives of three young people, each with a problem to solve. It is the day of the Seder when Richard Sturtevant comes to New York bringing the news to his friend, Robert Silver, that the latter has been turned down as professor by a New England college because he is a Jew. After the celebration of the Seder at the home of Robert's wealthy parents, the two young men escort the lovely refugee governess, Lise, to a bar, and it is Lise's heartbroken weeping at Robert's news which resolves the situation.

"Throughout the whole book is a quality of quiet gentleness. There is little action, and this fact is emphasized by rather too much meditation and explanation by the author. Despite the instance of injustice that is the heart of the story, 'This Festive Season' discloses an attitude of optimism and confidence in the ultimate triumph of American justice. The book should help in the understanding that this ought to be—that this is—a great and generous country for all Americans." J. H. Wallis

+ Book Week p8 O 31 '43 320w
Booklist 40:147 D 15 '43

"On its merits as fiction, this novel is mature and artistic. . . Because it is done with so much insight and restraint it is, though not propaganda, a forceful influence on the side of fundamental decency and fair play where racial and religious differences are involved."

+ Christian Century 60:1305 N 10 '43 130w

Reviewed by Francis Downing
Commonweal 39:212 D 10 '43 500w

Reviewed by Harvey Breit
New Repub 109:723 N 23 '43 180w

"With a restraint seldom found in a first novel, Jeanne Singer broaches the problem of anti-Semitism in a manner which will leave her readers applying the specific incident involving her central characters to the infinitely broader aspects of all religious intolerance. This has been done before; but by writing in a lucid, almost poetic style, confining the story to the events of a single day, the author succeeds in giving fresh color and significance to the theme." M. J. Rossant

+ N Y Times p40 N 14 '43 500w

"A first novel, which, while it doesn't go very deep, is developed with considerable charm, humor, and imagination."

+ New Yorker 19:94 O 30 '43 90w

"Miss Singer does a notably honest job of dissection and analysis. The quiet reserve of her writing, the reticence of her characterization, add intensity and depth to the problem she presents. The love which grows between Robert and Lise is tenderly integrated with her major theme." Rose Feld

+ Weekly Book Review p22 N 28 43 750w
Wis Lib Bul 40:10 Ja '44

SINGER, KURT D. Duel for the Northland; the war of enemy agents in Scandinavia. 212p $2.75 McBride

940.548743 World war, 1939—Secret service. World war, 1939—Scandinavia
43-51206

A former Vienna editor, now living in the United States, discloses the inside story of the spies, saboteurs, patriots, and underground groups in Scandinavia and Iceland before the war. The data were obtained from police records, minutes of court proceedings, investigations, and personal knowledge.

Booklist 39:461 Jl 15 '43

"Makes one wonder to what extent espionage agents have intrenched themselves in the United States. Recommended." J. A. Sohon

+ Library J 68:475 Je 1 '43 70w
New Repub 109:118 Jl 26 '43 90w

Reviewed by Kurt Bernheim
N Y Times p20 Jl 25 '43 360w

"For sheer thrilling reading 'Duel for the Northland' will be hard to beat. . . For an understanding of past and possibly momentous future events in that area it is invaluable." R. S. Scott

+ Springf'd Republican p7e Jl 4 '43 1300w

" 'Duel for the Northland' is sometimes disconcerting in spite of everything. Singer reports details which one would have supposed were available only to the Recording Angel, for example. Nor is it reassuring to find Franz von Papen, of all people, and Colonel Nicolai linked by the author as the two 'Old Masters of German espionage.' " W. R. Deuel

+ — Weekly Book Review p18 Jl 25 '43 650w

SINGH, J. A. L., and ZINGG, ROBERT MOWRY. Wolf-children and Feral man. 379p il $4 Harper

136.764 Kamala, the wolf girl. Hauser, Kaspar. Children, Wild. Children, Abnormal and backward
42-50813

This book is in two parts. Part one contains the diary and notes of the Indian Christian missionary who discovered the two wolf-children of Midnapore and who tried and in part succeeded in re-educating the older girl in human ways of living. Part two contains excerpts from accounts of other "wild" children with comments by an American anthropologist, Dr Zingg of the University of Denver. Bibliography.

"Let me say that having read this volume very critically, I find that despite certain difficulties, Mr Singh's account of his discovery and observations has an impressive tone of authenticity. The writer impresses me as a naïve but honest person who records his observations frankly, while even those which seem to belong to the realm of folklore rather than to that of sober fact read quite as convincingly as those which do not seem to be either a little east or a little west of the truth. But when all this has been said, it must regretfully be added that this account of the 'wolf-children' cannot be accepted as true." M. F. A. Montagu

Am Anthropol 45:468 Jl '43 2500w

"Whether the reader will accept or reject the evidence concerning Kamala, or will tenaciously suspend judgment depends—on the reader! The reviewer, for his part, has analyzed the evidence in considerable detail; and has had correspondence with the Reverend Singh and Mrs. Singh. He has found no solid reason for doubting the basic truthfulness of the diary record." Arnold Gesell

+ Sat R of Lit 26:14 Ja 9 '43 1200w

Reviewed by H. E. Jensen
Social Forces 21:373 Mr '43 700w

SINGTON, DERRICK, and WEIDENFELD, ARTHUR. Goebbels experiment; a study of the Nazi propaganda machine. 274p il $3 Yale univ. press [7s 6d Murray, J]

940.5488743 Propaganda, German. World war, 1939—Propaganda
43-14881

"Meticulous account of intricate Nazi propaganda machine, giving in detail its inception and development in all departments. Emphasizes organization rather than psychological results. Sources of information include 'German radio, German press from 1933 to 1942, and German publications of many kinds which have reached England up to June, 1942.' Table of contents and bibliography, divided by chapters, add to value." (Library J) Bibliography. Index.

"The volume will be a welcome addition to libraries or syllabi of publicists and teachers who have been interested in Nazi propaganda and may have wondered where they could easily secure a systematic account of the promotional activities of the Nazi propagandists. Such material is not easily assembled or described dispassionately. The serious reader will be bothered by the fact that the authors have presented frequent quotations, but with very little of exact citation such as could facilitate check or subsequent systematic inquiry." H. C. Beyle

SINGTON, DERRICK—Continued
+ — Am Pol Sci R 37:735 Ag '43 650w

Reviewed by H. L. Childs
Ann Am Acad 230:210 N '43 340w

"The more we know about the German propaganda machine, the better equipped we are to resist its aims in regard to us. Hence a book like 'The Goebbels Experiment' can be a genuine contribution to the war effort if enough of us read it. . . In the interest of making their description of the propaganda machine as complete and detailed as possible, the authors have occasionally sacrificed the drama of the story inherent in the propaganda war. The average reader may therefore find the book a little on the dull side occasionally, but for those interested in the facts of Nazi propaganda organization it is an excellent reference source." Harold Ettlinger
+ — Book Week p3 Je 6 '43 360w
Christian Science Monitor p10 Ap 10 '43 360w

Reviewed by W. C. Kernan
Churchman 157:16 S 1 '43 300w

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert
Foreign Affairs 22:162 O '43 20w

"Libraries wishing such studies for research purposes should have; but book is not suitable for general reader, who will be swamped by detail." Thelma Brackett
Library J 68:288 Ap 1 '43 80w

"A promising candidate for a prize for the most unnecessary book of the year, the opus of Messrs. Sington and Weidenfeld deserves serious consideration on two other accounts. It is published by a house whose name stands for scholarly thoroughness and intellectual achievement. It exposes, unwillingly, the utter helplessness, the pathetic embarrassment of the Western World in the face of that new black magic—totalitarian propaganda." W. S. Schlamm
N Y Times p22 Je 27 '43 1100w

"Fact by fact, document by document, date after date, original source after original source, these backed whenever necessary by direct quotation, the authors of this masterly study of the Nazi mind where it has to do with propaganda, domestic and foreign, build up the picture of the monstrous machine designed to destroy thought." Struthers Burt
+ Sat R of Lit 26:19 Jl 3 '43 1400w

"The book as a whole, though almost too comprehensive, will repay study, not least because of the judiciousness and restraint of the incidental comment."
+ Times [London] Lit Sup p59 Ja 30 '43 180w

"This book is a valuable addition to the study of Nazi methods. It does not examine very thoroughly the character of Goebbels, nor does it fully show how he has perverted American advertising technique for his revolutionary purposes. Perhaps we are too close to the phenomenon to have any perspective on it yet." R. G. Spivack
+ — Weekly Book Review p14 Je 13 '43 850w

Reviewed by Sigmund Neumann
Yale R n s 33:187 autumn '43 900w

SIODMAK, KURT. Donovan's brain. 234p $2 Knopf
43-1291

Dr Patrick Cory, pursuing his researches in an isolated desert village, is called to the scene of an airplane accident. He attempts to save the life of one of the victims, but when the man, a notorious millionaire, dies, Dr Cory steals the brain for his own purposes. What those purposes are and what success Dr Cory has, compose the substance of this horror story.

"This is not the story of an Arrowsmith sired by Sinclair Lewis and Paul de Kruif. Mr. Siodmak's aim is to give his readers the cold chills, and he does." Sally Benson
+ N Y Times p7 F 21 '43 600w

"A masterpiece of horror."
+ New Yorker 19:60 F 20 '43 70w

"Whether from pure ignorance about the brain or confusion in regard to the aim of the story, we did not respond to the shocks as perhaps we should have done. Others may be more fortunate." Will Cuppy
Weekly Book Review p21 F 28 '43 200w

SIOUSSAT, HELEN J. Mikes don't bite; with an introd. by Elmer Davis; il. by Jack Hoins. 303p $2.50 Fischer, L.B.
621.384 Radio broadcasting 43-51046

Combined guide to radio broadcasting, and anecdotes of the reactions of famous people to their first performance over a microphone. The author is director of the department of radio talks for the Columbia broadcasting system.

Booklist 39:287 Mr 15 '43

"For all its informative and entertaining aspects, 'Mikes Don't Bite' as a whole is strangely unsatisfying. The book is handicapped by an almost complete lack of organization of material, frequently confusing rather than enlightening the reader. Miss Sioussat considers so many facets of radio at practically one and the same time that she leaves herself open to the probably undeserved charge of superficiality." Jack Gould
— + N Y Times p6 F 21 '43 420w

"All in all, Miss Sioussat's varied and intensive experiences in radio make entertaining reading in spite of a determined archness of style."
+ — Springf'd Republican p10 F 26 '43 300w

Reviewed by Lisle Bell
Weekly Book Review p25 F 21 '43 550w

SIRICH, JOHN BLACK. Revolutionary committees in the departments of France, 1793-1794. 238p $2.50 Harvard univ. press
944.04 France—History—Revolution A43-648

"This is a companion study to Brinton's Jacobins and Greer's Incidence of the Terror. . . The problem set for study was the degree of influence exercised on the Terror by the Revolutionary committees in the departments. Did Paris call the tune and the departments dance in rhythm? . . In short, how did the machinery of the Terror operate outside Paris?" Am Hist R

"The reviewer rises from the perusal of the book with great admiration for the author's craftsmanship. He has put together a mosaic which gives a fairly clear picture of the machinery of the Terror as it operated in the departments, and he brings out in high color the impossibility of writing a well-balanced account of the institutions of the Terror, or indeed of the Revolution as a whole, from the laws passed at Paris. More than this the author does not claim to show." M. B. Garrett
+ Am Hist R 48:782 Jl '43 550w

"Like its companion volumes, the book is admirably planned and written. During a period necessarily void of French Revolutionary studies, Sirich has added a significant chapter to the history of local law enforcement and of departmental machinery of the Terror." B. F. Hyslop
+ Am Pol Sci R 58:308 Je '43 500w

SITWELL, EDITH. Street songs. 34p $1.75 (3s 6d) Macmillan
821 42-9862

For descriptive note see Annual for 1942.

"Her work has been a contribution to the intellectual life of the times; she has not been like so many contemporary versifiers, 'the idle singer of an empty day.'" M. M. Colum
+ N Y Times p22 My 23 '43 750w

"At her best she is one of the subtlest of technicians. The curious thing is that a woman with her appreciation of tone-color and cadence should permit herself the awkwardnesses that jut out of these pages. The second Tattered Serenade: Beggar to Shadow offends particularly in respect to rhythm. It is written in rhymed couplets of three anapaestic feet. The lilt quarrels with the feeling of the piece, but not sufficiently to produce an ironic effect and the rhythm is not seldom ill-managed. . . Indeed, it is only in an occasional image, some lines of the grim Lullaby, which just fails of being the piercingly terrible poem the author intended, and in one or two complete lyrics, that Miss Sitwell's gifts may be recognized. They are those of the pure lyricist, for although she is evidently concerned to speak of the problems that beset mankind, she is convincing only when she sings. There are snatches here that are suggestive of a graceful melody for flutes and strings, lyrics that one could imagine translated into a tone-poem by Ravel. Most Lovely Shade and the lyric entitled The Swans have this exquisite and haunting charm." Babette Deutsch

+ — Poetry 61:684 Mr '43 650w

"Edith Sitwell's volume is surprising for the development and deepening of her poetic vision. . . The verse has an extraordinary purity of tone, and variety of effect. It can be powerful or tender, mysterious or simple, but it is uniformly perfect in its formal beauty." Elizabeth Drew

+ Weekly Book Review p24 My 16 '43 400w

SKEMP, JOSEPH BRIGHT. Theory of motion in Plato's later dialogues. 123p $2 Macmillan [8s 6d Cambridge]

116 Motion. Plato [A42-4945]

"The main thesis with which Mr. Skemp concerns himself is to follow Cornford in contradistinction to Taylor in treating the Timaeus as a cosmological synthesis revealing Plato's own mature view and devoid of any appreciable element of 'pastiche.' His second task, which may be viewed as a corollary but which gives his essay its fundamental unity, is to examine the Timaeus in the context alike of the dialogues and of pre-Socratic thought, eschewing so far as may be any matter which does not bear directly on the question of 'motion' and the 'prime mover' and of the relationship of these conceptions to the earlier yet parallel metaphysic of the Forms." Times [London] Lit Sup

---

J Philos 40:220 Ap 15 '43 500w

"The argument is sustained forcefully and competently; and if one has to come down definitely on one side or the other of the vexed question whether or not the Timaeus reveals the essential Plato (and it is perhaps dangerous where Plato is concerned to be very definite about anything) then Mr. Skemp has built up a case for the affirmative view which merits serious attention."

+ Times [London] Lit Sup p436 S 5 '42 700w

SLADE, MRS CAROLINE (BEACH). Lilly Crackell. 609p $3 Vanguard

43-8184

Character study of a good "bad" girl, whose penchant for motherhood led her into many and strange paths. Lilly was only fourteen when she first became pregnant; for more than twenty years—from 1918 to 1941—the course of Lilly's life is traced as she produces babies, in and out of marriage, and fights the welfare workers for the right to keep her children.

"Mrs. Slade writes with strength and simplicity and compensates for any lack of style by her ability to make real people out of her characters. As in The Triumph of Willie Pond she has provided a solution for Lilly's problem by which a kind of security is given with one hand while something much more important is taken away with the other. For those who wish to draw one from the book, the moral is only too plain." E. R. G.

Canadian Forum 23:142 S '43 210w

"Characters are credible and hold reader's interest and, for the most part, sympathy. Details will antagonize many readers. Suitable only for libraries with extremely liberal policy, but valuable social history novelized—perhaps as significant in its way as Grapes of Wrath." Thelma Brackett

Library J 68:328 Ap 15 '43 80w

"A social-work novel, despite the fact that it is unsparing in its criticism of that profession, Caroline Slade's 'Lilly Crackell' is the most estimable novel I have read this week. . . Mrs. Slade has not written an exciting novel, or even a novel which is very creative in a fictional sense. 'Lilly Crackell' is a painstaking sociological report on certain aspects of democracy which we prefer to ignore for the duration. It is a salutary corrective to the fashionable assumption that because we are at war against fascism abroad, we have the right—perhaps even the duty—to close our eyes to the poverty and injustice within our own land. . . I have no particular fondness for fiction as reform, and there were even moments when I found 'Lilly Crackell' tedious. But in the current flood of propaganda novels compounded of Hollywood-Life sentimentalized generalities, a book like Mrs. Slade's shines out for its old-fashioned zeal for decency." Diana Trilling

+ Nation 156:842 Je 12 '43 420w

"This long episodic novel, Dickensian both in its sympathy with all forms of suffering and in its unashamed melodrama, is a staggering account of the underside of American life. Compared with the miseries of the Crackells, the existence of the Joad family was idyllic, their grim odyssey a pleasant family outing. But 'The Grapes of Wrath' remains a more terrifying and moving book because the reader eventually becomes insensitive to the deformities of body and mind and the tortured deaths that heap up in the pages of 'Lilly Crackell.' This is due to Mrs. Slade's failure to employ a rigid economy of means as well as to her flat projection of character and rudimentary sense of pace. But in spite of its weaknesses it is worth a dozen of the shapely, shrewd and at bottom sterile novels that the more fluent writers annually deposit." George Mayberry

+ — New Repub 108:773 Je 7 '43 380w

"Caroline Slade's history of the helpless manages to hold the reader's interest all the way. She has taken the lid off a world that is unknown to most of us. Perhaps she has loaded the dice a little. Time and again it seems as though Lilly should be able to break away from Sand Hill, but she does this only once briefly. Nobody in the town was surprised at any of her disasters, even the murder trial, for after all she was a Crackell. It is clear that Mrs. Slade knows social work and has passed judgment upon it; but back of social work is society—Mrs. Slade manages to raise by implication some pretty troubling questions about the kind of world that tolerates Sand Hill and social workers." Lorine Pruette

N Y Times p6 My 30 '43 900w

"Mrs. Slade has the talent, rare in these days, of combining warmth and compassion with intelligence, and she writes movingly, often humorously, and with sturdy common sense. Rewarding reading."

+ New Yorker 19:78 Je 12 '43 130w

Reviewed by P. V. Stern

Sat R of Lit 26:10 S 4 '43 480w

"Mrs. Slade hasn't missed anything. In the story of Lilly Crackell she bares every stupidity and futility, every meaningless gesture and careless cruelty that has dogged the slow crabwise progress of organized social service. She has no patience with good intentions that do not get anywhere. . . Mrs. Slade has grown in stature as a novelist. In 'Lily Crackell' she has done her most ambitious and far and away her most effective work. Not only does she shake the social complacence of the reader but she compels his interest from beginning to end." Gertrude Springer

+ — Survey 79:223 Ag '43 600w

SLADE, CAROLINE—Continued

"The book is over-long as a novel; the social service picture is too highly detailed, but the problem Mrs. Slade plumbs goes to the heart of our social and economic structure." Rose Feld

Weekly Book Review p4 Je 6 '43 1000w

SLAUGHTER, FRANK GILL. Air surgeon. 306p $2.50 Doubleday

43-7754

Comparative character studies of two brothers, one a thoroughly disciplined army surgeon, the other a volatile young hedonist. The two are stationed in the same army camp, where the younger brother is a flying instructor. The situation becomes tense when the young instructor offends his charming bride, with whom the older man is in love. There are graphic descriptions of several dangerous operations.

"This is hardly a book to give to a friend in the hospital. Dr. Frank G. Slaughter is not only one of the best of the medical novelists now at work, he is incomparably the most graphic and detailed. . . Accordingly 'Air Surgeon' is not for the excessively tender-minded. The reader who likes to know what goes on behind the scenes in medicine . . . should be urged not to miss it. . . 'Air Surgeon' has plenty of plot. Most of it is rather melodramatic in hue and could be translated to the screen with a minimum of effort on the part of the scenarists. . . But the real meat of 'Air Surgeon' is the story of up-to-the minute flight surgery. Frank G. Slaughter is the old master of this kind of description with none of his rivals even close." Margaret Wallace

+ N Y Times p8 Jl 11 '43 460w

Springf'd Republican p7e Jl 11 '43 190w

Reviewed by Robert Shaplen

Weekly Book Review p11 My 9 '43 650w

SLAVSON, SAMUEL RICHARD. Introduction to group therapy. 352p $2 Commonwealth fund

616.8 Psychotherapy 43-8032

"This treatise is based on the case records of 750 children who have been treated, by the methods described, by the Jewish Board of Guardians in New York city. The method involves the practice of group therapy following individual psychiatric and psychological diagnosis. Failures as well as successes are recorded. It is an essential of the procedure that, while utilizing association and group activity for the cure of conditions which might lead or have led to delinquency, it is in no sense a mass process but includes careful adaptation to the needs of each individual." (Christian Century) Index.

"The volume might be described as a clearly written case-history of an experiment of the greatest significance to any one who deals with the development of the personality." J. S. Plant, M.D.

+ Am Soc R 8:736 D '43 380w

Christian Century 60:694 Je 9 '43 70w

"Slavson's book is a worth-while addition to the other experiments in group methods, and its real value can probably best be perceived as one gains an understanding of where the conceptual framework underlying this approach differs from other attempts to use group methods. . . There are, however, a number of cautions which should be noted before unrestricted use is made of the procedures and techniques described in this volume. (1) Since this work was done with Jewish children, the factors involved in this selection might have influenced both the determination of techniques and the nature of the results obtained. (2) The principles and the basic assumptions underlying group therapy as well as group work of all kinds are in the process of formulation and validation. This book is presented in terms of a progress report to persons interested in continuing the study of the problem. (3) Applying to school practice the suggestions growing out of reading this book is fraught with dangers. The school is essentially authoritarian, and few teachers have the courage, the time, and the opportunity to work out permissive opportunities within the structure of their school day." V. E. Herrick

+ — El School J 44:308 Ja '44 1050w

SLOANE, ERIC. Camouflage simplified. 62p il $2.50 Devin-Adair

355.43 Camouflage (military science) 43-398

Pictorial and prose explanation of the art of camouflage as developed in modern warfare. The author stresses the fact that poor camouflage is worse than none, often changing an object into a target. Does not include details of materials or application. Bibliography.

Booklist 39:218 F 1 '43

Library J 68:130 F 1 '43 10w

N Y New Tech Bks 27:53 O '42

SMEDLEY, AGNES. Battle hymn of China. 544p il $3.50 Knopf

951 China—History 43-12192

"A diary of a participant and of a partisan. It covers the turbulent years—1929 to 1941—of a China struggling in her revolutionary transition and fighting for existence in her war against Japan. But chiefly it is a book about the 'common men'—in whose resurgence of power Miss Agnes Smedley sees the only salvation of China. . . 'The Battle Hymn of China' is a collection of folk tales of China at war and revolution. They are heroic sagas of guerrilla generals; epics of men, even boys, who met death gladly with faith in their cause, and of that ragged band of armies that shivered in winter like the soldiers of George Washington at Valley Forge." (N Y Times) Index.

"No stylist, Miss Smedley writes as she has lived, rapidly, almost in a hurtling manner, packing the page with incidents and anecdotes and people, hurriedly telling of this historic crisis that she observed, then dashing on pell-mell to describe the next. . . It really is a fine book, one that will stir you to rage and compassion." Leo Kennedy

+ Book Week p2 S 12 '43 600w

Booklist 40:44 O 1 '43

"Stimulating, provocative autobiography. . . Outspoken in its criticism, sympathetic in its praise. Recommended for all readers." M. P. McKay

+ Library J 68:624 Ag '43 90w

"Italy has just surrendered, and like everyone else I want to go out and celebrate joyfully. Yet the force of this book keeps my imagination in China. And that is the function of a book. How rare are those which fulfil their functions one tenth as well as 'Battle Hymn of China.' " Ralph Bates

+ Nation 157:383 O 2 '43 1700w

Reviewed by Malcolm Cowley

New Repub 109:366 S 13 '43 1200w

"The book is no cold, critical reporting job; it is a violent piece of partisan story-telling. And Miss Smedley makes no pretense of being an objective observer. She writes what she believes—and she writes with much tender sympathy for the Reds and as much hostile feeling against those who are not Red. She spares no word to vilify some high government officials who are opposed to communism in China. But for all its fault of intolerance, the book is alive and quickening. The author has a remarkable capacity for details and she can bring life to print. One may not agree with some of her conclusions, but one cannot fail to find this a stimulating book." Chen Yih

+ — N Y Times p3 S 5 '43 550w

"Her book is not pleasant. It is full of horrors, tortures, betrayals, and poverty, poverty, poverty. The China she portrays (1928-1941) is a feudal country engaged in a revolutionary war. What is happening there is not pretty, and I imagine that if it were, the grim Miss Smedley would not care to tell us about it. Her tone is harsh and sometimes raucous. I think, however, that for all her violences and prejudices, she is worth listening to." Clifton Fadiman

New Yorker 19:84 S 11 '43 320w

"Agnes Smedley is not a skilled writer, and much of her writing is pedestrian. Her prejudices are vast, and her judgments are often naive. A partisan, she can see only two colors, white and black, and those who are not with her are black indeed. And yet, all these things are unimportant, for 'Battle Hymn of China' is rich and moving and intrinsically good. Miss Smedley may be intemperate and intolerant, but she is honest, and this honesty underscores every line. And the indignation aflame within her produces many a page as touching as anything yet written on China. This is an earthy, honest, powerful book by a good woman." Mark Gayn

+ Sat R of Lit 26:22 S 18 '43 650w

Springf'd Republican p7e O 10 '43 800w

"This book constitutes an important contribution to the material on current Chinese history. In it the blood and sweat and tears of the author merge with those of the people of whom she writes. We who read are her debtors, and theirs, for from the realism and courage and invincible determination portrayed here mirrored the reader draws fresh hope for the future of civilization." E. F. Carlson

+ Weekly Book Review p1 S 5 '43 1500w

Wis Lib Bul 39:145 N '43

SMITH, ARTHUR JAMES MARSHALL, ed. Book of Canadian poetry; a critical and historical anthology; with an introd. and notes. 452p $3.50; text ed $2.75 Univ. of Chicago press

811.08 Canadian poetry—Collections A43-2728

A selection of poems written in English by Canadians, from the beginning of the nineteenth century to the present. Includes 250 poems by 76 authors. Bibliography. Indexes.

Reviewed by Leo Kennedy

Book Week p7 N 7 '43 270w

Booklist 40:110 D 1 '43

"This volume contains a good deal of writing which is mediocre, but it is of considerable girth, and hides within its pages some material of genuine quality, worthy at least to take its place by the noted minor poets of the past." Pearl Strachan

+ Christian Science Monitor p12 O 30 '43 750w

Manchester Guardian p3 N 17 '43 150w

"Mr. Smith, who knows Canadian poetry both as a scholar and as a leader of the recent Toronto-Montreal poetic revival, has edited what appears to be the most intelligent and representative collection of poetry by Canadians."

+ New Repub 109:498 O 11 '43 120w

New Yorker 19:87 S 25 '43 40w

SMITH, BERNARD, ed. Democratic spirit. 2d ed rev 928p $3.75 Knopf

810.8 American literature—Collections. Democracy 43-51285

"A collection of American writings from the earliest times to the present day." The first edition (Book Review Digest, 1941) contained no references after the 1930's: the present volume omits some selections on the crisis of the '30's, and adds others inspired by the war. Index.

Booklist 40:62 O 15 '43

Weekly Book Review p25 S 26 '43 800w

SMITH, BETTY. Tree grows in Brooklyn. 443p $2.75 Harper

43-12149

Poetically written novel about life in a slum section of Brooklyn—Williamsburg—during the first years of the twentieth century. It is a study of the childhood and youth of Francie Nolan, of her family and friends, and of all the pain and beauty and mystery of a way of life as it appears to an exceptionally keen young girl.

Atlantic 172:131 O '43 150w

"Betty Smith has managed ably to avoid nearly all the pitfalls that engulf new writers; more than that, she has achieved, in the story of Francie, one of the outstanding fiction works of the year—perhaps of many years. And if, at the end, life for the Nolans turns surprisingly into a bed of clover, it is, after all, no less than you could wish for Francie and for her gallant mother." America Chapel

+ Book Week p5 Ag 22 '43 550w

Booklist 40:14 S '43

"Miss Smith is no stylist, but as literary genre the book is interesting. The progress of the family from rags to riches could stand considerable blue pencilling."

Commonweal 38:543 S 17 '43 140w

"Beauty, wholesome philosophy, and honesty intermingled with stark realism, poverty, and continued struggle. Of special interest to readers acquainted with Brooklyn, but the Nolans, their neighbors and friends could be found in tenement district of any large city. Characterization good; plot well developed. Certain incidents may be too realistic for some readers. Not needed in most small libraries." Margaret Winning

+ — Library J 68:363 My 1 '43 70w

"I am a little bewildered by so much response to so conventional a little book. . . I have seen 'A Tree Grows in Brooklyn' compared to the novels of James Farrell, and all to the credit of Miss Smith's novel. This makes me very sad both for the condition of fiction reviewing and for Mr. Farrell, whatever his faults as a novelist of stature. Of course Francie Nolan's story is more cheerful than Danny O'Neill's and a more popular commodity, but surely popular taste should be allowed to find its emotional level without being encouraged to believe that a 'heart-warming' experience is a serious literary experience." Diana Trilling

Nation 157:274 S 4 '43 390w

New Repub 109:346 S 6 '43 150w

"The publishers choose to call the book a novel, yet it is hardly that. There is little story, or plot, as the reader encounters it in the average novel. This is rather a stringing together of memory's beads and the workmanship is extraordinarily good. This is autobiography. Above all, it is a faithful picture of a part of Brooklyn that was mostly slums and misery. The picture is softened by almost poetic handling." Meyer Berger

+ N Y Times p4 Ag 22 '43 800w

"A remarkably good first novel. . . The author sees the misery, squalor, and cruelty of slum life but sees them with understanding, pity, and sometimes with hilarious humor. A welcome relief from the latter-day fashion of writing about slum folk as if they were all brutalized morons."

+ New Yorker 19:66 Ag 21 '43 110w

"As long as the book moves with the rhythm of life in Williamsburg and remains true to that setting it is a beautiful and moving piece of work. But toward the end of the novel the rhythm is broken. As soon as Francie is out in the world, getting a job and finding the first love of her life, the novel takes on more the mechanics of the usual popular piece of fiction and becomes less real. This is due in the most part to the sudden crowding of events in the last third of the story." Rosemary Dawson

+ — Sat R of Lit 26:9 S 11 '43 500w

Reviewed by Katharine Jocher

Social Forces 22:240 D '43 500w

"Betty Smith has written her book out of a deep nostalgia which colors every page. She knew Johnny and Katie Nolan well, and Francie must be a character she loved to create. Writing like this is rare. It establishes an intimacy between reader and book which is to be cherished for many a day." E. M. B.

+ Springf'd Republican p7e Ag 29 '43 550w

Time 42:100 S 6 '43 550w

SMITH, BETTY—Continued

"If ever a sensitive, expressive young woman offered you a fragment from the very heart and fabric of her being it is Betty Smith writing 'A Tree Grows in Brooklyn.' . . Miss Smith writes flexibly, manifests so great a capacity for recording the significant detail of the period of which she writes that her novel could stand on its not-so-long-ago-not-so-far-away materials if there were not so much else in it that is more solidly important. You will enjoy, I believe, seeing how beautifully a human 'Tree Grows in Brooklyn.'" F. H. Bullock

+ Weekly Book Review p5 Ag 22 '43 1100w

Wis Lib Bul 39:123 O '43

"Here is a first novel of uncommon skill, an almost uncontrollable vitality and zest for life, the work of a fresh, original and highly gifted talent. . . A Tree Grows in Brooklyn is a warm, sunny, engaging book as well as a grim one. It is also a rich and rare example of regional, local-color writing, filled to the scuppers with Brooklynese, Brooklyn folk ways, Brooklyn atmosphere. I shouldn't be surprised if Miss Smith had written the best novel of the year. Certainly it is the best so far." Orville Prescott

+ Yale R n s 33:viii autumn '43 350w

SMITH, BETTY, comp. 20 prize-winning non-royalty one-act plays; with a foreword by Henry T. Netherton. 377p $2.50 Greenberg

812.08 American drama—Collections

43-15412

Contents: According to law, by Noel Houston; Western night, by Robert Finch and Betty Smith; Give us time to sing, by David Hanig; Franklin and the king, by Paul Green; To the lovely Margaret, by Pearl and Thatcher Allred; These doggone elections, by Fred Koch, Jr.; The feast of Ortolans, by Maxwell Anderson; Comin' for to carry, by Walter Carroll; The ring of General Macías, by Josephina Niggli; Exclusive model, by William McQuade; Shirttail boy, by W. P. Covington III; Mañana bandits, by Betty Smith and Chase Webb; Ring once for central, by Carl Allensworth; There's a nation, by Alfred Kreymborg; Fires at Valley Forge, by B. H. Clark; Her husband's consent, by E. S. Leonard; Danbury fair, by Albert Carrière; Casualty south of Manila, by C. R. Sumner; Pot luck, by Katherine Arthur; The Levite, by A. I. Smith.

"Selection is amazingly fine, and quality of the work included makes it the best value for the money in entire one-act anthology field."

+ Library J 68:727 S 15 '43 70w

"'The Levite' a poetic tragedy by Agnes Irene Smith, won the Maxwell Anderson award at Stanford university. This is a play which your reviewer would like very much to see done by some of our local groups, as a vehicle for the study of sustained emotion and the practice of voice control. With the exception of 'Shirt-tail Boy' and 'According-to-Law,' this volume of one-act plays is one which all who enjoy play-acting will want to place in their libraries." A. K. Gary

+ Springf'd Republican p7e N 21 '43 390w

SMITH, BRADFORD. Arms are fair. 237p $2.50 Bobbs

43-11948

Story of a young Japanese soldier. Forced to serve against his will, the acts of the Japanese army in China so sicken him that he kills his commanding officer and flees to the Chinese, among whom he finds good friends.

"A rewarding, illuminative story."

+ Atlantic 172:131 S '43 90w

Reviewed by Edith Roberts

Book Week p2 Ag 22 '43 550w

Booklist 40:60 O 15 '43

Reviewed by Chen Yi

N Y Times p20 Ag 29 '43 380w

"Well done and no more improbable than a thousand true stories of this improbable war."

+ New Yorker 19:66 Ag 21 '43 140w

"The story moves simply, quickly through many events. The battle scenes are treated with an imaginative skill, rather than with detail, and give a greater sense of horror than many first-hand accounts would." Lee Varley

+ Springf'd Republican p7e S 5 '43 650w

"Mr. Smith writes smoothly and convincingly. His scenes among the Chinese are particularly good." R. B. Cochrane

Weekly Book Review p8 Ag 22 '43 700w

SMITH, CHARD POWERS. Turn of the dial. 199p $2 Scribner

43-3203

Story of a local radio broadcasting station which becomes the battleground between the idealistic editor and commentator who wants to see America get into the fight against Hitler, and the forces of commercialism and greed which strive to use the radio for their own purposes. The scene is a small city in the Middle West; the time from 1938 to 1942.

"You will make a mistake if you read this as a novel. True, it has a story and characters, but these are always subordinated to Smith's thesis. This realization may make a bit more palatable the occasional preachments." E. J. C.

+ — Book Week p6 Mr 21 '43 250w

Booklist 39:321 Ap 1 '43

"Chard Smith is a poet. For years he devoted himself to the writing of poetry and the study of its nature. He has since turned to fiction but is still the poet both in his condensed style and in the larger rhythm of his prophetic moments, especially in the conclusion of this novel. There is much in it, fairly brief though it is, to provoke discussion and enlarge thinking." W. K. R.

+ Christian Science Monitor p14 F 13 '43 500w

Reviewed by Diana Trilling

Nation 156:320 F 27 '43 60w

N Y Times p16 Ap 18 '43 800w

New Yorker 18:71 F 13 '43 90w

"The editor pitches out the preacher and announcer and goes coöperative. The dutiful love interest, rather carelessly infused, is so slight as to be negligible. No, this is a series of lectures by Mr. Smith on radio commercials, democracy, Russia, dictatorship, Americanism, slightly sugar-coated as fiction, without much that is fresh or moving about it." Paul Stringer

Sat R of Lit 26:14 F 27 '43 400w

Springf'd Republican p7e Ap 4 '43 180w

"'Turn of the Dial' is the product of an intense and fine passion for justice and a burning hatred of the hypocrisy and greed which have resulted in the world's present crisis. It is a little book, but large minded, a work of propaganda for the best possible cause." William Soskin

+ — Weekly Book Review p8 F 14 '43 1150w

SMITH, CHARLES EDWARD. Tiberius and the Roman empire. 281p $3 La. state univ. press

937.07 Rome—History—Empire. Tiberius, emperor of Rome

42-23574

"This volume reviews in eleven chapters the course of the reign of the Emperor Tiberius. The first seven chapters follow the chronological order in the natural divisions imposed by the sources: the accession of Tiberius, the mutinies, the German campaigns, Germanicus in the East, the trial of Piso, the rise of Sejanus, the emperor's retirement to Capri with the fall of Sejanus, and the events of the last years. These are followed by four general chapters on the prosecutions for maiestas, war and peace in the provinces, the emperor's attitude to the senate and the administration of Italy, and the economic conditions that prevailed during his reign." Am Hist R

"The book as a whole is written with some charm and gives at first reading the impression of a balanced though not particularly profound treatment of the reign and a fair and just picture of Tiberius himself. It does not stand closer scrutiny successfully, nor will it be particularly useful to critical students of the period." T. R. S. Broughton

+ — Am Hist R 48:769 Jl '43 450w

"There is abundant evidence, in the fourteen pages of Bibliography and the many and extensive footnotes, that the writer has made himself familiar with the voluminous literature of his subject. Indeed, probably the greatest value of the book will be for less advanced students of Tiberius, who will use it as an introduction to the literature. But scholars in the field will at least have to consult Smith's opinion on this and that point. There is an adequate index." C. H. Oldfather
+ — Class Philol 38:276 O '43 480w

SMITH, DE COST. Indian experiences; il. with drawings and phot. by the author. 387p $4 Caxton printers

970.4 Indians of North America. West—Description and travel 43-4764

As a young man, in 1884, the author went to Wyoming, Nebraska, Idaho, and the Dakotas to paint the Indians, and learned to understand them as few observers ever have. His book covers many aspects of Indian life and beliefs, among them Indian picture writing, magic, mystery, and witchcraft. No index.

Booklist 39:423 Je 15 '43

"The present reviewer, who passed years among the Sioux during the same period and knew many of the same individuals, can testify to the general accuracy of the artist's observations. His book is a worthy addition to the literature of the Old West." E. G. Eastman
+ N Y Times p21 Ap 11 '43 500w

"A noteworthy contribution to accurate knowledge and understanding of a unique part of our American heritage. . . It is extremely readable and by no means directed exclusively to learned specialists in this type of Americana." E. G. Eastman
+ Springf'd Republican p6 Ap 1 '43 600w

"DeCost Smith long ago won a national reputation for his Indian paintings and sketches. The dust-wrapper carries the dramatic portrayal of 'The Grandfathers,' the masked medicine men of the Onondaga whose ceremonies he described years ago, and, although this illustration was executed in 1934, it is typical of his best period. One concludes that convincing illustration presupposes familiarity with the culture involved. However, it is regretted that in this instance the printer's halftones are somewhat thin." W. N. Fenton
+ — Weekly Book Review p17 My 2 '43 1000w

Wis Lib Bul 39:85 Je '43

SMITH, EDWARD STAPLES; SALKOVER, MEYER, and JUSTICE, HOWARD KENNETH. Analytic geometry. 298p $2.50 Wiley

516 Geometry, Analytic 43-3438

"Lucid explanations and unusually clear diagrams distinguish this text. Of particular note is the admirable presentation of the spatial relationship of the conic to the cone." N Y New Tech Bks

+ N Y New Tech Bks 28:47 Jl '43

"Though the text is quite evidently written by experienced teachers, there is perhaps a tendency to over-conciseness." James Stokley
+ — Weekly Book Review p36 N 28 '43 50w

SMITH, LADY ELEANOR FURNEAUX. Caravan. 276p $2.50 Doubleday [8s 6d Hutchinson]

43-13006

Romantic story of the life of a Victorian novelist, somewhat reminiscent of George Borrow in his adventures and literary output.

Booklist 40:60 O 15 '43

"Will be read by those who enjoyed author's other novels. Not for the Sunday school library but recommended for general collections." E. H. Crowell
+ Library J 68:625 Ag '43 30w

"The book is one of romantic action, and Lady Eleanor keeps it alive and moving with a sufficiently well drawn character always in the forefront to hold our interest." J. D. Beresford
Manchester Guardian p3 Je 4 '43 200w

Reviewed by J. S. Southron
N Y Times p14 Ag 22 '43 320w

Reviewed by John Hampson
Spec 170:576 Je 18 '43 140w

"Lady Eleanor Smith shows an understanding of the temperament of the gypsies and their violent life and a knowledge of Spain. She has a gift for colorful portrayal and vivid description that finds its best expression in the romantic type of novel which she is accustomed to writing." E. S. P.
+ Springf'd Republican p7e Ag 29 '43 330w

"Lady Eleanor Smith writes in a free and practised way, but the rich splendours and excitements of her tale are all on the naive side."
Times [London] Lit Sup p257 My 29 '43 360w

"If there breathe home bodies with soul so circumscribed that they have never been stirred by the tales, or possibly even the sight, of gypsy caravans, this romantic novel is not for them. For the peripatetic urge in most of us, now further trammeled by lack of gasoline, Lady Eleanor Smith's bright and vigorous story gives a welcome chance for vicarious adventure." Mary Ross
+ Weekly Book Review p8 Ag 15 '43 1500w

SMITH, HAL HORACE. On the gathering of a library. 250p $3.75 The author, Ford bldg, Detroit

010 Books and reading. Book collecting 43-51175

"A lover of books and a discriminating reader has set down in essay-like chapters his thoughts on a private library in which the humanities dominate, a library of books to be read and enjoyed." Booklist

Reviewed by Marion Neville
Book Week p5 My 30 '43 120w

"Readers' advisers can use this book and many general readers will enjoy it. A good browsing room addition. Attractive format."
+ Booklist 39:419 Je 15 '43

"There are few chapters in this book which the expert and experienced librarian will find useful, but young library-school students may discover that it has a pragmatic value not foreseen by the author. . . For those who have foresight but little book knowledge, and yet have an awareness of the role books may play in life 'when the more active delights have vanished,' the book will be not only profitable reading but pleasurable as well, since the author very definitely underrates his literary craftsmanship. He writes with ease and with an old-fashioned but delightful pedantry reminiscent of Charles Lamb and some of the essayists of the late eighteenth and nineteenth centuries whose literary expression he so much admires." A. C. Hansen
+ — Library Q 14:89 Ja '44 1500w

SMITH, HAROLD THEODORE UHR. Aerial photographs and their applications. 372p il maps $3.75 Appleton-Century

526.91 Photographic surveying. Photography, Aerial. Cartography 43-10306

"Practical book on methods of map making from aerial photographs and the interpretation and use of these maps. Beautiful reproductions of aerial photographs from U. S. Agriculture files not before published. Geologic and physiographic aspects of subject. Good chapter bibliographies." (Library J) Index.

Booklist 40:74 N 1 '43

SMITH, H. T. U.—Continued

Library J 68:670 S 1 '43 50w

N Y New Tech Bks 28:39 Jl '43

"Mastery of this technique, as outlined here, presupposes an elementary knowledge of algebra and trigonometry and some vision of the image several acres of land cast on ordinary maps. How the same area appears from the air—the peculiar characteristics of aerial photographs and their final reduction into maps—Professor Smith explains in thorough, straightforward language, diagrams and illustrations resulting in an exposition sufficiently detailed for both academic record and practical application." Theodore English

+ N Y Times p23 S 12 '43 240w

SMITH, HARRY ALLEN. Life in a putty knife factory. 296p $2 Doubleday

B or 92 Journalists—Correspondence, reminiscences, etc. 43-51103

The author of Low Man on a Totem Pole (Book Review Digest, 1941) records some further recollections of mild eccentrics he has known.

"This book is as funny as Smith's best selling 'Low Man on a Totem Pole' of last season—maybe funnier—and that means it's jam-packed with a thousand dollars' worth of laughs. . . If you want some escapist literature for a change, this book is your meat." M. M. Marberry

+ Book Week p5 Mr 14 '43 750w

Booklist 39:332 Ap 15 '43

"Until the publication last year of 'Low Man on a Totem Pole,' Allen Smith was known only to the readers of the New York World-Telegram, but his book gave the rest of the reading public a chance to enjoy him, and enjoy him they did, because 'Low Man' leaped high on the national best-seller list and stayed there. Now he has written a new book, and it can be reported that this volume is every bit as amusing as his first." George Joel

+ Nation 156:570 Ap 17 '43 370w

New Yorker 19:80 Mr 13 '43 20w

Springf'd Republican p7e Mr 28 '43 240w

"Smith's new book . . . like Totem Pole consists of the sort of talk that might be had, by the hour, from any boozy, bawdy, abundant newspaperman. Such talk is dull in spots, complacently boorish in others, childish in some of its conclusions."

— Time 41:74 Mr 22 '43 300w

"As wielded by Mr. Smith, the putty knife is not a blunt instrument. It has a cutting edge, and he is not averse to using it as a scalpel. The success of his earlier collection of interviews and acid portraits led to certain experiences in Hollywood and in radio, and some of them irked him. His book tells you why." Lisle Bell

+ Weekly Book Review p20 Mr 14 '43 480w

SMITH, LAURENCE DWIGHT. Cryptography; the science of secret writing. 164p il $2.50 Norton

652 Cryptography (W) 43-6666

This book on a science of renewed importance at this time covers very briefly the history of cryptography and then proceeds to a systematic presentation of the basic principles of various types of ciphers illustrating them with examples. There is a section devoted to problems and answers. Bibliography. Index.

Booklist 39:383 Je 1 '43

Reviewed by J. G. Forrest

N Y Times p12 My 16 '43 600w

"Because the science of hidden writing is so vital to the war effort, and many colleges now include courses in cryptanalysis in their curricula, this book will be well received by any really interested in the subject."

+ Scientific Bk Club R 14:4 My '43 120w

Springf'd Republican p7e Jl 11 '43 140w

"Not only will this work be of use in various colleges which give courses in cryptography; its clear and entertaining style will make it enjoyable to people who like puzzles—and want something above and more useful than the common variety." James Stokley

+ Weekly Book Review p14 My 30 '43 100w

SMITH, LEWIS RAYMOND. Applied mechanics and heat; prepared at the request of the War dept. and the U.S. Office of educ. in conformance with official pre-induction training course outline no. PIT 102. 326p il $2 McGraw

531 Heat. Mechanics, Applied 43-5769

"Author has combined in one volume his elementary texts, Mechanics [published in 1922] and Heat [published in 1924]. Revised for preinduction course in fundamentals of machines." (Library J) Index.

Book Week p10 My 23 '43 110w

Library J 68:433 My 15 '43 20w

N Y New Tech Bks 28:30 Ap '43

Reviewed by L. S. Marks

N Y Times p21 Je 27 '43 60w

SMITH, LEWIS RAYMOND. Elementary applied electricity; prepared at the request of the War dept. and the U.S. Office of educ. in conformance with official pre-induction training course outline no. PIT 101. 3d ed 311p il $2 McGraw

621.3 Electric currents 43-8631

Third edition of a work first published in 1929 with the title: Direct-current Electricity, and in 1933 under the title: Elementary Industrial Electricity. "In this, the third edition, the scope of the subject matter has been broadened once more by the addition of chapters on static electricity, electric lighting, and rectification of current. In its present form the material covers the topics in the outline prepared by the War Department for use in pre-induction courses in Fundamentals of Electricity. . . Answers to the problems contained in this book are included in a separate pamphlet, which is available for distribution to teachers." (Pref)

"This book is well balanced and is supplied with many problems for home work. It is not directed toward radio but is restricted to the electric power field in its simplest applications."

+ Book Week p10 N 28 '43 50w

Reviewed by George Barrett

N Y Times p48 N 21 '43 220w

"It is unfortunate that the fact that these [new] chapters are inserted at the end makes the presentation of the electron theory something of an afterthought. It would be much better for the student to get this at the beginning of his studies. Then, as he learns more and more about electricity, he realizes that he is dealing with a flow of electrons. However, the book does give a practical idea of the operating principles of electrical equipment, and this will be of value to the older reader as well as the pre-induction student." James Stokley

+ — Weekly Book Review p18 Jl 25 '43 230w

SMITH, MAURICE MERLE; STANDLEY, LYMAN LE ROY, and HUGHES, CECIL LEONARD. Junior high school education; its principles and procedures. 470p il $3.50 McGraw

373 Junior high schools 42-21696

"The book opens with a chapter reviewing the historical background of the junior high school and describing its present status. Following this introduction, the authors have divided their discussion into four major parts. The first part describes the physical, mental, and social characteristics of junior high school pupils. The second part deals with various aspects of guidance and provision for individual differences. The last two parts, which are longer than the first two, treat the program of studies and administration." (School R) Index.

School & Society 56:364 O 17 '42 30w

"The book as a whole meets very well the requirements of a volume presented at this stage of the history of the junior high school. The authors have used the foundation laid down by previous writers and have gone on, in every part of the book, to take advantage of recent developments in theory and in practice. . . If the book has a fault, it is that the effort to cover a great deal of ground has resulted in some blurring of the clarity and emphasis." D. H. Cooper

+ — School R 51:247 Ap '43 850w

"The book, throughout, is excellently organized and written in language which is, in the main, free from the complexities, specialized vocabulary, and preoccupation with non-essentials which characterize much material written for teachers. . . The chapters on 'Teacher Planning' and 'Appraising and Reporting Pupil Progress' are not up to the standard set by the rest of the book." D. S. Ward

+ — Social Educ 7:143 Mr '43 550w

SMITH, MORTIMER BREWSTER. Life of Ole Bull. 234p il $3 Princeton univ. press

B or 92 Bull, Ole Bornemann 43-51341

"Sympathetic but unbiased account of one of most brilliant violinists, not only of nineteenth century, but of all time. But besides being a wizard on the violin, Ole Bull (1810-80) was an unusual and fantastic character." Library J

Reviewed by Felix Borowski
Book Week p17 N 21 '43 350w

Booklist 40:144 D 15 '43

Reviewed by B. L. Conway
Cath World 158:506 F '44 230w

"Mr. Smith is chiefly interested in Bull's personality. The painting of this, especially in its American setting and against the background of Bull's wide circle of acquaintance, furnishes a good character study and a sound piece of social history."

+ Christian Century 60:1304 N 10 '43 420w

Christian Science Monitor p8 D 18 '43 600w

Reviewed by E. V. R. Wyatt
Commonweal 39:235 D 17 '43 600w

"Well written; story interestingly, at times fascinatingly, told. Recommended." Helen Bush

+ Library J 68:624 Ag '43 90w

Reviewed by E. C. Richards
N Y Times p45 N 21 '43 700w

"The Norwegian violinist is more fortunate than some greater men in that he has come under the scrutiny of a competent biographer, one who is content to advance for him only such claims as can be well substantiated and who is not unwilling to admit his subject's failings. The result is that Ole Bull is made to stand out, not merely as an extraordinarily interesting human being, but also as a figure of significance in the history of his art and in that of two countries, his native Norway and the United States, which was really his country in the end." G. W. Johnson

+ Weekly Book Review p20 O 31 '43 1050w

Wis Lib Bul 39:159 D '43

SMITH, PAUL IGNATIUS. Glue and gelatine. 145p il $3.75 Chemical pub. co.

668.3 Glue. Gelatin 43-9121

"A summary of the processes used in the manufacture of glues and gelatines, with a description of their varied uses. The book is written primarily from a practical point of view and offers little original material of interest to the research chemist." (N Y New Tech Bks) Index.

Library J 68:576 Jl '43 30w
N Y New Tech Bks 28:38 Jl '43

SMITH, PAUL IGNATIUS. Principles and processes of light leather manufacture. 408p il $6.50 Chemical pub. co.

675 Leather. Tanning 42-25176

"Over a period of some five to six years Mr. Smith published a series of articles in Hide and Leather. These were subsequently assembled into the present text in the same form. The entire book is based upon English tanning processes." (Chem & Met Eng) Partial contents: Synethetic tanning materials; Scientific control of tannery processes; Health hazards in the tannery; The manufacture of chamois leather; Dressing reptile skins; Dressing hogskins. Index but no bibliography.

"The author, while covering very superficially every phase of light leather manufacture, evidences, a great lack of knowledge of scientific facts. This is especially noticeable in most references to microbiological applications. References are given in most chapters, but in most instances, the more authoritative works are ignored." Fred O'Flaherty

— + Chem & Met Eng 50:198 O '43 170w
N Y New Tech Bks 28:28 Ap '43

SMITH, PAUL IGNATIUS. Synthetic adhesives. 125p il $3 Chemical pub. co.

668.3 Adhesives 43-9120

"This volume should be considered as a primer or practical introduction to the subject rather than as an exhaustive catalogue of industrial adhesives. The author makes no claim of including all the synthetic cements and glues known to modern industry, but he has aimed at an adequate description of the main types of synthetic adhesives with due emphasis on their peculiar properties and main applications." (Pref) Index.

"Simple yet adequate." L. E. Grinter
+ Book Week p11 O 31 '43 70w
Library J 68:626 Ag '43 40w

SMITH, ROBERT MILLER. Hotel on the lake. 298p $2.50 Farrar

43-17317

First novel, depicting life at a summer hotel on a Maine lake, during the depression years. The people collected there—kindly or mean, good or bad, normal or abnormal—are shown in their daily life by a knowing young bellhop.

"A fast-paced, absorbing and very penetrating picture of several Americans, some good, some thoroughly bad. . . You will want to read this long and exciting novel for its fine story; you will remember it for its picture of native, ingrown, accustomed Fascism—the Restricted Clientele kind, the Whites Only kind, the kind that grinds the help and toadies to the guests and hates democracy without realizing it." A. C. Spectorsky

+ Book Week p3 D 19 '43 220w

"This is perceptive and realistic fiction and Mr. Smith definitely has something to say. But, unlike James Farrell in the Lonergan trilogy, where the author keeps completely objective and lets the gutter talk speak for itself and for him, Mr. Smith doesn't seem to be trying to establish the mental poverty of his people through their speech. . . It seems too bad that none of the people who stayed at the Maine hotel seemed to be likeable. Life as Mr. Smith sees it seems to be a dreary business."

Boston Globe p19 D 15 '43 150w

"This is a better-than-average first novel. Fundamentally, it is in the tough-boy tradition of American fiction between World Wars I and II. Smith is not afraid of using exact anatomical

SMITH, R. M.—Continued
terms of description and he doesn't shy away from delicate subjects like anti-Semitism and homosexuality. Such frankness certainly is all to the good. Unfortunately for him, the liberation of literature was begun a long time ago, and subject-matter in itself, no matter how unconventional is not enough now to make a really striking novel. . . Smith was at one time in charge of a correspondence school for writers. His chief trouble seems to be that he knows a lot about the craft of writing, and not enough about the purpose." Milton Hindus
— + N Y Times p8 D 26 '43 300w

"Mr. Smith has a wide knowledge of how tough, bewildered people act, which makes up in some degree for the story's almost total lack of characterization. Hardly a successful first novel, but one which indicates that its author may do better later on."
New Yorker 19:96 D 18 '43 140w

"A bitter and unhappy story, told clearly and with great literary vitality. Mr. Smith is likely to turn into a first-class writer." N. L. Rothman
Sat R of Lit 27:19 Ja 8 '44 300w

"There is practically no one in the story whose character is admirable and the difficulties in which they become involved evoke little sympathy. Mr. Smith takes you behind the scenes and paints the picture for what it is worth. It adds up to some clandestine affairs, a few brawls, a baseball game and much too much profanity."
Weekly Book Review p8 Ja 16 '44 160w

SMITH, ROBERT PAUL. Journey. 157p $2 Holt
43-13009

Psychological novel dealing with the travels, both emotional and physical, of a young American writer in search of himself and the true meanings of life.

Reviewed by Leo Kennedy
+ Book Week p8 Ag 29 '43 450w

"Like its predecessor [So It Doesn't whistle, Book Review Digest, 1941] it is full of mis- or undirected talent, and cleverness in a vacuum. . . Stripped of its literary lardings, what remains from 'The Journey,' and its best part, is a travel diary, and although the ability to see and record what you see may not be enough to make a novelist, it is a far sounder literary taking-off place than the desire to make literature. Mr. Smith doesn't trust this talent; he fancies it up, giving to performance the energies that might better be devoted to such modest necessities of fiction as character and plot." Diana Trilling
Nation 157:330 S 18 '43 550w

Reviewed by George Mayberry
New Repub 109:290 Ag 30 '43 500w

"It is a strange, lonely little tale of a tired body, a tortured mind, a haunted soul—the story of millions of young men in the world today. Robert Paul Smith pours it out like a mountain stream, swiftly, in clear, icy prose that sometimes warms in the sun and sings with a biblical rhythm. This is a young man's book, and it tells a great deal about what young men are thinking, what they want of life. They aren't quite definite in their desire as yet, but one fact is certain: it isn't something that can be legislated." Thomas Sugrue
+ N Y Times p6 Ag 29 '43 500w

"Baldly summarized, this material doesn't sound too promising. It may not add up to very much, and neither may Paul Marrane, but each separate experience he has seems to mean something, if only because Mr. Smith projects it with such clarity and intensity. I feel that he doesn't yet know quite what he wants to say but that whatever he says he says in a voice that is fresh and arresting." Clifton Fadiman
New Yorker 19:64 Ag 28 '43 320w

"Mr. Smith feels that artists are the best people and the only ones who matter very much, and he exhibits, therefore, a slighting disregard for all other kinds. . . Ideas suffer equally at his hands. . . He is enthusiastic about the artistic gesture—the way a player of pelota moves his arm, the way a flamenco singer performs, the way a piece of wood is sculpted. The book is fragmented with bits of good and perceptive writing—about what? About how wonderful it is to be an artist. All right, now be one." N. L. Rothman
Sat R of Lit 26:10 S 4 '43 400w

"This novel is not a dull one, nor is it merely imitative, but it is of a limited kind. Though it's brilliant and colorful, it is essentially casual." Lee Varley
+ — Springf'd Republican p7e Ag 22 '43 500w

Reviewed by Milton Hindus
Weekly Book Review p2 Ag 29 '43 800w

SMITH, RUTH P., ed. Tree of life; sel. from the lit. of the world's religions; with an introd. by Robert O. Ballou, and fourteen drawings by Boris Artzybasheff. 496p $3.50 Viking
290.8 Religious literature—Collections
42-50181

Selections from the religious writings of the world. The translations are in both prose and verse, and each section has an introduction by the editor. The selections are from the American Indian, Norse, Hindu, Buddhist, Confucianist, Taoist, Egyptian, Babylonian, Greek, Zoroastrian, Hebrew, Christian, and Mohammedan religions. Sources are listed; glossary; index.

"For high school students with good vocabularies and a fair amount of history, and for adults, of course, 'The Tree of Life' is a wonderful book to own and read from time to time. It is the kind of book that is a good addition to your library and is always on call, waiting to be picked up and read over and over. The drawings by Boris Artzybasheff are distinctive." Jack Lucal
+ Book Week p7 Mr 14 '43 310w
Booklist 39:217 F 1 '43

"The chief quality of such an undertaking is that it permits young people to sample, as it were, the sacred literature of the world, and presumably to place in it their own sacred literature for comparison with others. The chief question it raises is whether an adequate idea of any religion can be obtained from samples of which each is of necessity so small. At an age even younger than that to which this book is addressed, Arnold's 'Light of Asia' had such an effect on me that I went from it straight to Freeman Clarke's 'Ten Great Religions,' reading with fervid interest and to my lifelong benefit. Whether such interest will be aroused and sustained by bits and pieces, however beautiful each bit may be by itself, is a matter for individual experiment to decide." M. L. Becker
Books p6 F 7 '43 470w

"Miss Smith has performed a real service in setting forth in convenient and readable form some of the legends and teachings of the non-Christian religions, and by studying her book, the reader can gain not only a deeper appreciation of these religions, but also a renewed sense of gratitude for the breadth and fullness of Christianity." T. L. L.
+ Christian Science Monitor p10 Mr 6 '43 700w
Churchman 157:17 S 15 '43 90w

"A beautiful and distinguished book."
+ Horn Bk 19:31 Ja '43 100w

Reviewed by A. C. Moore
Horn Bk 19:114 Mr '43 30w

Reviewed by John Knox
J Religion 23:300 O '43 70w

Reviewed by M. C. Scoggin
Library J 67:893 O 15 '42 30w

"Readers will be exceptional young people from fourteen upward and adults. Worth while for libraries that can afford it." Eleanor Kidder
+ Library J 68:84 Ja 15 '43 110w

"It is a volume which will both stimulate and satisfy intellectual curiosity and one which will make its readers aware of new treasures of wisdom and beauty. Even those who only dip into the volume will profit by the experience, but many will undoubtedly be led now or later to wider reading along these lines." A. T. Eaton

+ N Y Times p6 Mr 21 '43 360w

"An excellent addition to the books on comparative religion."

+ Wis Lib Bul 39:10 Ja '43

SMITH, SAMUEL; CRESSMAN, GEORGE RIGHTER, and SPEER, ROBERT KENNETH. Education and society; an introduction to education for a democracy. 428p il $2.40 Dryden

370.193 Education 42-17340

"In this volume the authors analyze the various social and professional problems of the American system of education. In Part I, they picture the social scene as a whole and indicate the chief educational responsibilities of various institutions. The aims, programs, and policies of education are discussed in Part II. Part III deals with education from the standpoint of the individual child. Part IV summarizes the opportunities, qualifications, duties, rights, and status of the teacher. . . The purposes of the volume are to define problems and stimulate thought, rather than to convince and convert." (Introd) Index.

"No doubt the authors are sincere when they say at the close of the introduction to the text that they aim 'to define problems and stimulate thought, rather than to convince and convert.' However, the text is so saturated with the romantic naturalism of Rousseau, the moral autonomy of Kantian rationalistic humanism, the instrumentalistic-pragmatism of John Dewey, and the utilitarian and hedonistic pleasure-pain theory of modern educational psychology that conflicting philosophies hardly get a hearing." Cornelius Jaarsma

School & Society 56:612 D 19 '42 550w

Reviewed by L. A. Cook

Social Educ 7:142 Mr '43 200w

SMITH, THOMAS VERNOR. The philosophic way of life in America. 2d ed 258p $2.50 Crofts

110 Life. Philosophy 43-51042

"An expanded version, with more social philosophy included." (Booklist) For first edition see Book Review Digest, 1930.

Booklist 39:336 Ap 15 '43

"The nature and limits of compromise and the meaning of the legislative process are set forth briefly but discerningly. Smith's capacity for really compelling expression often makes one wish that he would become free of excessive rhetorical and epigrammatic tendencies, outward afflictions that only conceal his subtler poetic insight." J. B.

J Philos 40:503 S 2 '43 300w

SMITH, THORNE. Thorne Smith three-bagger; il. by Herbert Roese. 685p $2.50 Doubleday

43-8704

Omnibus volume containing: The Glorious Pool; Skin and Bones; and Topper.

"There is of course, little that a reviewer can say about a book such as this because, if you don't know Thorne Smith, you will wish to form your own opinion; and if you do know him, there is little any reviewer can say to change your mind. But as for me—well, I can take Thorne Smith or leave him alone—preferably the latter. I know—he's gay and hilarious and ribald and all that; but, at the same time, he is frightfully tiresome, to me at least." E. J. C.

Book Week p6 Ap 4 '43 180w

"Admirers of Thorne Smith, and they are many in number, will be delighted with the recently published 'Thorne Smith Three Bagger.' . . These collected novels would make a diverting gift for men in the services who don't already know all of Thorne Smith by heart." Joan Kahn

+ N Y Times p14 Mr 28 '43 440w

" 'Topper,' the best of the three, is the truly funny story of an ordinary citizen who gets mixed up with some hard-drinking spooks. The other two, it must be mournfully admitted, are only moderately funny." R. F. H.

Springf'd Republican p7e Mr 28 '43 350w

SMITH, WINSTON OLIVER. Sharps rifle; its history, development and operation. 138p il $3 Morrow

623.442 Rifles 43-16112

"The author has collected much material hitherto unpublished on this military and sporting carbine. Invented by Christian Sharps in 1848, it was the first successful breech-loading rifle, and became an important weapon in the Civil War and a favorite of the hunter on the Great Plains. Of particular interest to collectors are the discussion and charts on the identification of models." (N Y New Tech Bks) Bibliography. Index.

"Will interest gun collectors, military men, and historians."

+ Library J 68:670 S 1 '43 20w

N Y New Tech Bks 28:44 Jl '43

SNEED, MAYCE CANNON, and MAYNARD, JULIUS LEWIS. General inorganic chemistry. 1166p il $4.50 Van Nostrand

546 Chemistry, Inorganic 42-21984

"A volume by two University of Minnesota professors. Order of presentation of the subject matter in its 1,166 pages follows the usual standard for the elements and their compounds. The treatment, however, is a little more extended than in the average elementary text. Physical chemistry is stressed throughout and organic chemistry receives considerable attention. The book will probably become required reading for many prospective chemical engineers in their first year at college." Chem & Met Eng

"Any teacher who wants a thoroughly up-to-date book and one which has an abundance of material from which to choose, and one which gives an excellent treatment of the standard facts and generalizations of chemistry as well as historical developments and modern economic conditions and industrial processes, will find great satisfaction in this book. On the other hand, up-to-dateness has drawbacks. Undigested and still foggy theories certainly cause bewilderment and perhaps unwarranted discouragement. . . Mere acquaintance with the new words introduced during the last twenty years does not promote an understanding of chemistry. It may give one an ability to impress an uninformed audience, but it does inculcate slipshod habits of thinking." A. A. Blanchard

+ — Am Chem Soc J 65:741 Ap '43 1000w

+ Chem & Met Eng 50:167 Ja '43 100w

SNELL, CORNELIA (TYLER) (MRS FOSTER DEE SNELL), and SNELL, FOSTER DEE. Chemistry made easy. 4v il ea $2.25; set $7.95 Van Nostrand

540 Chemistry 43-13782

"Designed to meet needs of man who must master chemistry without teacher or laboratory. Explains every step in plain English, with aids you need: questions and problems, with answers; diagrams and final examinations, with answers." (Library J) Index in each volume. Volume 4 is a revised reprint of Chemicals of Commerce first published in 1939 (Book Review Digest, 1939).

Reviewed by L. A. Eales

Library J 68:771 O 1 '43 30w

"Written in a simple style that will do much to justify its title. . . The set will make it possible for the reader who studies its pages with care to acquire practically the same material that he would get in an elementary college course." James Stokley

+ Weekly Book Review p6 D 26 '43 180w

SNOW, ALICE (NORTHROP) (MRS CHARLES HENRY SNOW), and SNOW, HENRY NICHOLAS. Story of Helen Gould; daughter of Jay Gould, great American. 340p il $3.75 Revell

B or 92 Shepard, Mrs Helen Miller (Gould). Gould family 43-8915

Story of the Gould family, with special attention given to Jay Gould and his daughter Helen. Mrs Snow is a daughter of Jay Gould's sister, and as a child and young woman was a frequent visitor in the Gould family.

Christian Century 60:770 Je 30 '43 100w

"This is a well-written story. . . And the record is inspired and inspiring." T. F. Opie

+ Churchman 157:16 S 15 '43 90w

"Some day when the life of Jay Gould is written, when the revolution he effected in finance capitalism is at last scrutinized, his biographer will be obliged to write dozens of paragraphs to thank Alice Northrop Snow. Mrs. Snow, the niece of the great business man, has given us in 'The Story of Helen Gould, Daughter of Jay Gould, Great American,' an invaluable compilation of family anecdotes." Wayne Andrews

+ Commonweal 39:259 D 24 '43 350w

SNOW, CHARLES HORACE. Rebel of Ronde valley. 256p $2 Macrae-Smith co. 43-12687

Western story.

"A better-than-average tale of the old Wild West of the Eighteen Eighties. Charles H. Snow is a veteran in this field who always writes well, but he has never written better than in this action-filled and interest-compelling tale." G. W. Harris

+ N Y Times p18 N 7 '43 200w

Reviewed by Will Cuppy

Weekly Book Review p18 S 12 '43 80w

SOARES, THEODORE GERALD. Growing concept of God in the Bible. 96p pa 50c Pilgrim press

231 God

"An analysis of the biblical concepts of the idea of God. It is a brief suggestive guide for young people or adults for individual or group study. Each of the thirteen chapters deals with the development of a particular concept, such as 'The God of the Nomads,' 'The Universal God,' 'God as Mystery,' 'God as Growth,' and 'God Incarnate.' The reader is invited to consider the historical record in formulating his own working concept, and a stimulating set of questions is placed at the end of each section." J Religion

+ Christian Century 60:694 Je 9 '43 70w

"Excellent." E. J. Chave

+ J Religion 23:300 O '43 80w

SOMMERS, HOBART H.; DRELL, HARRY, and WALLSCHLAEGER, T. W. Slide rule and its use; a text-work book [incl. 5 place log tables and slide rule attached]. 208p $2.98 Grosset

510.78 Slide rule

"[This book] is accompanied by a simple slide rule, contained in a cardboard case inside the cover. . . The text begins with the general characteristics of the various scales of the rule and the methods, so puzzling to a beginner, of finding on them a desired number. From multiplication and division the student is advanced to trigonometric and logarithmic problems. . . These are numerous problems, with answers in the appendix." Weekly Book Review

N Y New Tech Bks 27:58 O '42

"A good book for home study." James Stokley

+ Weekly Book Review p17 Je 20 '43 200w

SONNICHSEN, CHARLES LELAND. Roy Bean; law west of the Pecos. 207p il $2.50 Macmillan

B or 92 Bean, Roy 43-4009

Portrait of a famous character of the American West. After a wild and adventurous youth Roy Bean settled in Texas in 1882. Here he attempted to keep order in the little town of Langtry, and altho he was almost illiterate he managed, with clever acumen, to conceal the fact, and to dispense justice of a kind. Over his shack was a sign "Judge Roy Bean, Justice of the Peace. Law west of the Pecos. Ice cold beer."

Booklist 39:353 My 1 '43

"Sonnichsen's contention that Roy Bean deserves a niche beside Paul Bunyan, Davy Crockett and other fabulous Americans is well fortified by his hilarious chronicle of the Judge's exploits, both authenticated and apocryphal." Jack Conroy

+ Book Week p7 Ap 4 '43 700w

"Mr. Sonnichsen, while writing in a free and easy style befitting his subject, has put a very solid piece of historical research under his account. Obituaries are never notoriously accurate in their estimate of character, but it would be hard to cite a wider departure from reality than the San Antonio Express' post mortem eulogy of Bean as 'a man of strict integrity and honesty.' He has his merits, but not these." W. E. Garrison

+ — Christian Century 60:393 Mr 31 '43 500w

"Loosely knit tale, fitting well, however, the vague and wandering life of this hardy pioneer. Important book because it is the most comprehensive on subject." L. R. Etzkorn

+ Library J 68:82 Ja 15 '43 70w

Reviewed by Hal Borland

N Y Times p21 Ap 11 '43 700w

Springf'd Republican p7e Mr 14 '43 900w

"Mr. Sonnichsen has done a good job. He debunks Bean in many respects, he traces down many of the old stories about him and proves them to be lies, but he has also unearthed much charming detail. Fortunately, Mr. Sonnichsen writes with admirable restraint for the most part. He sees Roy Bean for the sly old coyote that he was and is not fooled for a minute, but at the same time he comes to have a certain amount of respect for Bean." Stanley Walker

+ Weekly Book Review p14 Mr 14 '43 1050w

Wis Lib Bul 39:52 Ap '43

SOPER, EDMUND DAVISON. Philosophy of the Christian world mission. 314p $2.50 Abingdon-Cokesbury

266 Missions 43-4205

" 'Up to the present moment the Christian mission has been a success. It has accredited itself in the sight of man; it has given sufficient evidence that it is the will and purpose of God. It now remains for us to carry on the enterprise' (p. 126). This is the thesis of this Religious Book Club selection. But the world is changing, and the post-war world will need a new missionary philosophy, and it is the author's wise conclusion that this will be a synthesis of the views of Hocking on the one hand and Kraemer on the other, keeping the uniqueness of Christianity without sacrificing continuity with other religions." (Churchman) Bibliography. Index.

Reviewed by C. H. Hamilton

+ Christian Century 60:797 Jl 7 '43 700w

Reviewed by R. C. Miller

Churchman 157:17 Je 1 '43 210w

SOROKIN, PITIRIM ALEKSANDROVICH. Man and society in calamity. 352p $3 Dutton

301.15 Disasters. Social psychology. Social conditions 42-21607

For descriptive note see Annual for 1942.

Reviewed by F. N. House

Am J Soc 49:85 Jl '43 450w

"This is not Sorokin at his best but it is much better than his recent Call to Repentance entitled The Crisis of Our Age... Although Calamity uses the frame of reference of the Dynamics, it is a systematic and objective analysis of the impact of war, revolution, famine, and pestilence upon social life. It fails to be convincing mainly when it is tied up to the trendless-flux, sensate-ideational dichotomy, and the clarion call to return to the Kingdom of God. . . If, however, one overlooks Theodicy and the implication that Calamity is additional proof of the central theses of his Dynamics, Sorokin has done a good job of pointing out some causes and effects of calamity. . . Calamity is a good book in spite of being somewhat on the side of elaborating the obvious." Read Bain

+ — Am Soc R 8:91 F '43 2100w

"Like a general planning a campaign, the sociologist deals with hints, clues, probabilities; and it is surmise rather than evidence which inspires his forecast. Accepting these limitations as inevitable, one may well welcome the present work in which an honest, highly gifted and well-seasoned investigator studies the history of human calamities and, on the basis of his findings, suggests a preventive against the recurrence of these things in the future." Joseph McSorley

Cath World 156:761 Mr '43 420w

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert

Foreign Affairs 21:6 Jl '43 30w

"It must be admitted that, while Dr. Sorokin has a profound truth to impart, it is hard for a mere human being to reconcile one's self to the thought of the hundreds of hulks of ships and thousands of human skeletons futilely dissolving under the chemical action of salt water. Yet this book is lucid and thought-provoking and altogether stimulating." John Cournos

+ N Y Times p4 F 7 '43 1000w

"Professor Sorokin's effort to support his already well known theses about human society through a study of famine, pestilence, war and revolution fails to carry conviction. . . His principle of classification is one of the worst he could have chosen. It makes little sense to dichotomize the qualities of any culture save that of today as either sensate or ideational; and in our culture these two are not opposite but Siamese twins. Each presupposes and implies the other. They are like the two ends of a stick." John Storck

Weekly Book Review p17 My 9 '43 380w

SOUSA, JOHN PHILIP, 1913-. My family right or wrong; il. by Shermund. 216p $2 Doubleday

817 43-51292

Hilarious account of life in the Sousa family during the eight years they lived "temporarily" in southern California. Mother was a wizard with stocks and bonds but her housekeeping resulted in chaos, father collected guns and helped out the fire and police departments, big sister Susan tried to introduce genteel ways into the household and little sister Nancy had sadistic tendencies. As the author modestly points out he was the only normal member of the clan.

Booklist 40:75 N 1 '43

Reviewed by William Du Bois

N Y Times p3 O 10 '43 600w

"It seems likely, assuming that there is a limit to human endurance, that life with the Sousas was not quite as hectic as it is pictured. There are signs of overstatement, and some hints of sheer invention, but even with some of the more insane episodes removed it is evident that even ordinary times in the Sousa household were fairly rampant." R. F. H.

Springf'd Republican p7e O 17 '43 280w

Time 42:101 O 25 '43 1000w

"For those who can stand the repetition of incidents designed to prove the point that a certain family had harum-scarum tendencies in the worst way, this fast-moving little book should be perfect." Stanley Walker

Weekly Book Review p16 O 17 '43 500w

SOWDEN, LEWIS. Union of South Africa. 271p il $3 Doubleday

968 South Africa. World war, 1939—South Africa 43-51205

History of South Africa from the time of the Portuguese explorers to the present, including one chapter on the possible future of the province. South Africa as a way station on the convoy route between the north Atlantic and Egypt is considered, as well as General Smuts' influence in the development of the Union. No index.

Reviewed by Ernest von Hartz

Book Week p4 Jl 18 '43 110w

Booklist 39:461 Jl 15 '43

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert

Foreign Affairs 22:166 O '43 30w

"Heartily recommended. A timely work." E. McE. Olcott

+ Library J 68:475 Je 1 '43 90w

Reviewed by C. H. Grattan

Nation 157:133 Jl 31 '43 700w

" 'The Union of South Africa' is not a book for every one. It will not excite the interest of those who are not interested in South Africa. But to the others who are, and those who will want to do business there and wish to understand the country, it is probably the best thing of its kind yet published." Stuart Cloete

+ — N Y Times p15 Je 20 '43 1050w

"Up-to-date information, but rather listless writing."

+ — New Yorker 19:80 Je 19 '43 70w

Scientific Bk Club R 14:4 Jl '43 300w

Springf'd Republican p10 O 19 '43 330w

"In the opinion of this reviewer, Lewis Sowden's 'Union of South Africa' is not only a factual, forthright and authentic work, it is more than that. It is the best book on the subject that has to date appeared on this side of the Atlantic, and as such is warmly recommended to all who desire an impartial picture of one of the most important and picturesque outposts of Britain's far-flung commonwealth." E. C. Van Wyk

+ Weekly Book Review p6 Je 27 '43 1450w

Reviewed by C. H. Driver

Yale R n s 33:159 autumn '43 390w

SPAIN, JOHN, pseud. See Adams, C. F.

SPAIN, RICHARD LEON. Rock and cumulus [poems] il. by the author. 49p $1.50 League to support poetry, 327 W. 18th st, N.Y.

811 43-2240

"A little book of lyrics. . . The workmanship is painstaking, the result pleasing. No particular effort is demanded of the reader, and for relaxation the poems can be recommended." Christian Science Monitor

Reviewed by Pearl Strachan

Christian Science Monitor p11 Ap 3 '43 160w

"In Richard Leon Spain's poetry we find a good phrase occasionally. So it is when he speaks of 'the day's green labyrinth of light.' But the poems as a whole are informed with no vision unless with one borrowed from the early nineteenth century English romantics." Milton Hindus

— Poetry 61:696 Mr '43 280w

SPALDING, ALBERT. Rise to follow. 328p $3.50 Holt

B or 92 Musicians—Correspondence, reminiscences, etc. 43-16821

Autobiography of one of America's leading violinists. Beginning with the delightful household in which he grew up, he describes his early musical training, his concerts, his study and concerts abroad, the many people he met here and on his concert tours, and ends with an account of a concert in pre-war Hungary. Index.

SPALDING, ALBERT—Continued

"Rise to Follow is written with great honesty, discernment, gayety, and charm. It is fascinating, moreover, for the intimate, detailed picture it gives of an artist's life. This is a book for amateur musicians and laymen. It is also a book for all those interested in people and good books." Edward Weeks

+ Atlantic 173:123 Ja '44 180w

"It is scarcely necessary to point out that Albert Spalding is our outstanding American-born violinist. As such, his autobiography would be of value to historians, no matter what its merit, but the author has written with so much charm of style that the book is well worth reading for its own sake alone." Felix Borowski

+ Book Week p5 D 19 '43 340w

Booklist 40:145 D 15 '43

Reviewed by B. L. Conway
Cath World 158:504 F '44 340w

Reviewed by E. V. R. Wyatt
Commonweal 39:256 D 24 '43 550w

"Very readable and entertaining book. . . [It] is written in a prose that at its best is vivid and witty, at its worst, determinedly picturesque. And many of the conversations that he records suffer from an elegant verbosity that gives them the appearance of an interchange of miniature essays." Stephen Somervell

+ — N Y Times p5 D 12 '43 900w

Reviewed by Chalmers Clifton
Sat R of Lit 27:35 Ja 22 '44 750w

"It is well to have in detail so complete a record of virtuoso tours in the Europe which is now changing; for that reason we can have no quarrel with Mr. Spalding for omitting from this volume other aspects of his full and significant life. But now he must give us volume two, with an account equally complete of his concerts in the Western Hemisphere, of his fine work as a teacher in the Juilliard School and in private, of his composing, of his radio performances, and of his miscellaneous activities on behalf of the usual profession. He is in his prime. He will accomplish more than can be set down in several volumes." John Erskine

+ Weekly Book Review p5 N 28 '43 900w

Wis Lib Bul 40:9 Ja '44

SPALDING, CHARLES F., and CARNEY, OTIS. Love at first flight; il. by Carl Rose. 160p $2 Houghton

817 43-10954

Hilarious account of the training days of one Lester Dowd, naval aviator.

"At first glance this book is merely another amusing collection of cracks—some wise, some otherwise—taking a hunt-club boy from a snobbish Chicago suburb over the humps of a tough flying course. On second thought there is much between the lines which is neither funny nor entertaining, but which is highly significant and very informative." Sterling North

+ Book Week p3 Ag 1 '43 270w

Booklist 40:7 S '43

Reviewed by Benson Inge
N Y Times p10 Ag 8 '43 150w

Reviewed by B. R. Redman
Sat R of Lit 26:9 S 25 '43 50w

"No more hilariously funny book has been published in recent months than the sparkling creation 'Love at First Flight.' "

+ Springf'd Republican p7e Jl 11 '43 300w

" 'Love At First Flight' is a thoroughly entertaining tale—albeit one that will probably cause no stampede of volunteers to the aviation cadet selection boards." Whitelaw Reid

+ Weekly Book Review p2 Jl 25 '43 1200w

SPEARS, MRS RUTH WYETH. Better dressmaking. 256p il $3 Barrows

646.4 Dressmaking 43-4956

Fully illustrated manual for the home dressmaker. Includes instructions on use and altering of patterns, cutting and fitting, kinds of stitches, details of plackets, collars and sleeves, button-holes and fasteners, etc. There are also sections devoted to remodeling, repairing and caring for clothing. Index.

Book Week p5 Ap 25 '43 140w

Booklist 39:350 My 1 '43

Cleveland Open Shelf p7 Ap '43

" 'Better Dressmaking .' . . devotes especial care to the beginner; its large, clear drawings pick up each instruction, whether for equipping a sewing room . . . or the care of clothes. The author has for years conducted a syndicate feature along these lines, and the advice is adapted to a wide American range."

+ Weekly Book Review p22 My 9 '43 100w

SPELLMAN, FRANCIS JOSEPH, abp. Action this day; letters from the fighting fronts. 256p $2.75 Scribner

940.548173 World war, 1939—Personal narratives, American 43-17114

This volume contains the letters written to his father by Archbishop Spellman on his trip abroad, February to August, 1943.

Booklist 40:163 Ja 1 '44

Cath World 158:509 F '44 200w

"Those parts of Archbishop Spellman's letters to his father which were published in Collier's elicited considerable comment. . . Much of the narrative is similar to the report of any tourist to friends at home, and much of it tells of the details of his travels, the people he met, the work of the chaplains whom he visited or who visited him, and the religious services he conducted. In the section on Spain, the text of the letters as previously published has been judiciously altered at a few crucial spots."

Christian Century 60:1473 D 15 '43 450w

Reviewed by C. G. Paulding
Commonweal 39:377 Ja 28 '44 950w

"Friendly and readable volume." P. W. Wilson

+ N Y Times p9 D 12 '43 1050w

"The Archbishop, a capable observer, writes in a brisk style."

+ New Yorker 19:97 D 18 '43 50w

Springf'd Republican p8 F 1 '44 300w

Reviewed by G. N. Shuster
Weekly Book Review p4 N 28 '43 1100w

SPENCER, CORNELIA. Made in China; the story of China's expression; foreword by Lin Yutang; il. by Kurt Wiese [and 8 col. plates]. 258p $3 Knopf

915.1 China—Civilization 43-15210

"Here we see how China, out of its richness and its poverty, has influenced the whole world. Here are the stories of silk, jade, lacquer, pottery, and in them we come to know the infinite sensitivity of their creators. . . There are illuminating chapters on the music which is so puzzling to Western ears, on the drama, and on the novel to which the people have clung affectionately in spite of scholars' scorn. Nor are the lesser arts neglected: calligraphy, once considered of more importance than painting; China's luscious cooking (praised at the rather unnecessary expense of Occidental tastes and foods); printing, the mysteries of medicine." N Y Times

"The book follows no set pattern—which makes for adventurous reading. Now and then it pauses to tell some of the old legends, to speak of the philosophers who have so greatly contributed to the literature of China, to describe the culture of silkworms and the uses of bamboo. It is a book which will be read with equal interest by 12-year-olds or college students, and should be sold in the adult sections of bookstores as well as in those for young people." P. A. Whitney

+ Book Week p4 N 14 '43 180w

Booklist 40:100 N 15 '43

Reviewed by M. K. McElderry
Christian Science Monitor p10 N 18 '43 50w

Reviewed by A. M. Jordan
Horn Bk 19:415 N '43 80w

"With sympathy and understanding, author presents China's contributions to culture of world from earliest times to present. . . Highly recommended." R. O. Bostwick
+ Library J 68:965 N 15 '43 90w

Reviewed by Lena Barksdale
Nation 157:593 N 20 '43 10w

"It is an interpretation and a description of China's immense contributions to civilization, and as such it is a valuable and stimulating contribution in itself. . . The illustrations are disappointing. With all due respect to that engaging illustrator, Mr. Wiese, who has supplied many decorations and pictures, it is hard to understand why, in a book which celebrates China's arts, those arts were not allowed to speak more fully for themselves than the eight color plates allow." E. L. B.
+ — N Y Times p14 N 14 '43 360w

"By intrinsic value of subject and spirited manner of conveying spiritual insight, this picture of China's contribution to the world's culture draws away from the useful and competent series of which it is, nominally at least, a part and creates a category. Older children can understand every word of it, but its simplicity of diction lights for their elders wide fields of thought." M. L. Becker
+ Weekly Book Review p12 N 14 '43 430w
Wis Lib Bul 39:162 D '43

SPENCER, GWLADYS. Chicago public library; origins and backgrounds. (Studies in lib. science) 473p il maps $4.50 Univ. of Chicago press [27s Cambridge]
027.4773 Chicago. Public library A43-1583

"This book endeavors to give a history of a representative public library, gathered from municipal and state records, newspaper files, correspondence, and other sources; to analyze the data so obtained; and to relate the story of the Chicago Public Library to 'the American library movement as a whole.'" (School & Society) Bibliography. Index.

"The author has done us all a service. The record is clear and the chronicle develops in orderly sequence. It is scholarly in its approach, free from glamour and sententious phrases. The treatment is that of adult order, and practices successfully the art of well-bred objectivity." Adam Strohm
+ Ann Am Acad 229:233 S '43 900w
Booklist 40:139 D 15 '43

"Miss Spencer has utilized all the mechanical devices of scholarship—section headings, chapter summaries, charts and tables, and an amplitude of footnotes—and these do not make for easy reading. Nevertheless, she writes workmanlike prose, and her book has that further appeal which comes from the full mastery of a subject." P. M. Angle
Library Q 13:345 O '43 700w
School & Society 57:644 My 29 '43 50w

SPENCER, THEODORE. Shakespeare and the nature of man. 233p $2.75 Macmillan
822.33 Shakespeare, William 42-51528
For descriptive note see Annual for 1942.

"In style the book is admirable. The argument is lucid and explicit and the background a tapestry of wide and rich association." Ellery Sedgwick
+ Atlantic 171:150 Ap '43 550w

Reviewed by E. G. Clark
Cath World 157:435 Jl '43 1350w

"Shakespeare's vision of human life transcends anything given him by his time, but one cannot attempt to comprehend that vision without an understanding of the thought of the English Renaissance concerning the nature of man. To expound that thought and to relate it to Shakespeare's plays is the purpose of Mr. Spencer's book—a book that is as admirably written as it is planned."
+ Christian Science Monitor p12 F 27 '43 650w
Cleveland Open Shelf p18 O '43

"Mr. Spencer's is the most up-to-date work on Shakespeare in every sense of the word—in its method of approach, in its synthesis of all the best recent work on the subject, and in its implications." William Troy
+ New Repub 108:324 Mr 8 '43 1000w

"The grave danger in reviewing 'Shakespeare and the Nature of Man' is oversimplification of the subject. Any book scrutinizing man's nature is expressed in such broad terms that to attempt to telescope its meaning is to leave unmentioned much related material. Mr. Spencer has made a thoughtful study of the traditional beliefs of Shakespeare's era. In addition, he has carried his subject to a study of the nature of man in general." H. L.
Springf'd Republican p8 F 9 '43 450w

"It is an impressive undertaking and the results are challenging, bringing Mediaeval and Renaissance philosophy and Elizabethan drama into focus in the flame of Shakespeare's genius."
+ Theatre Arts 27:387 Je '43 180w

"Shakespeare and the Nature of Man is written with high intelligence and clarity."
+ Time 41:92 F 15 '43 800w

"The book may well be the best of its now rapidly increasing class; the clearest, perhaps, in its method, and the most pleasing in its style. Such learning is not wasted; humble gleaners will be upon it, to garnish texts and classroom lectures, but speaking of the Metaphor-Phoroi (or Metaphor Boys) as a class, their efforts, laudatory and definitely exegetic as they always are in intention, seem to me in effect rather to bury Shakespeare than to praise him." Tucker Brooke
+ — Yale R n s 32:581 spring '43 1050w

SPENGLER, JOSEPH JOHN. French predecessors of Malthus; a study in eighteenth-century wage and population theory. 398p $4.50 Duke univ. [27s Cambridge]
312.01 Population. Economics. Wages 42-12359

"Professor Spengler has written a book which deals with the history of economic ideas. The central problem of his study is an investigation of the leading doctrines of certain writers concerning population, the determinants of population growth and decline, the means of influencing population size, the level of real wages, and the laws of returns. He has chosen, as his material, the unusually rich literature which appeared in French social and economic thought mainly between 1600 and 1800. This is a field of great importance, and one that has lain virtually unexplored by the few practitioners of the history of economic thought in England and the United States." (Am Econ R) The author is professor of economics at Duke university. Indexes.

"French Predecessors of Malthus does not directly tackle the power problem, although the material reviewed is rich in implications. It does, however, represent a diligent study which will take its place as a significant contribution to the history of economic doctrine. It brings to light many fundamental ideas, and it avoids the vice of that erudite kind of antiquarianism which is unable to discriminate between important and unimportant material. The treatment would have been helped, however, if as much attention had been explicitly paid to the historical order of appearance of certain ideas as was devoted to purely logical classification. . . One senses occasionally that he is reading a kind of classified inventory of doctrinal details (whose presentation is marred here and there by an irritating phraseology and an excessive use of compound words). . . This is not to deprecate the value of highly specific monographic studies, but only to contend that they can be strengthened if reinforced with a relevant setting, which an awareness of idea-systems will provide. The present work goes some distance in achieving this, but it might have gone further." G. H. Hildebrand, Jr.

SPENGLER, J. J.—Continued
+ — Am Econ R 33:196 Mr '43 3900w

"The work is well done, so well done, in fact, that it will hardly be necessary for anyone to read the originals in order to get a fairly accurate idea of opinion on this subject. The value of the book is enhanced by its discussion of labor and wage theories in relation to population that were current in eighteenth century France." J. S. Schapiro
+ Am Hist R 48:556 Ap '43 700w

"This is an interesting and stimulating book well done." W. S. Thompson
+ Am Soc R 8:94 F '43 550w

Reviewed by E. B. Reuter
J Pol Econ 51:274 Je '43 420w

"A valuable contribution to the history of French economic and social thought of the eighteenth century... The book is recommended not only to the student of population, but also to the historian of social thought, and to the historian." V. W. Bladen
+ Pol Sci Q 58:150 Mr '43 330w

"The scope of the work is much broader than the title might indicate. Not only is much included that will interest the general social theorist, but the economist in particular may find much here that is likely to broaden his understanding of the development of economic thinking." M. S. Heath
+ Social Forces 21:366 Mr '43 240w

SPERRY, WILLARD LEAROYD, ed. Prayers for private devotions in war-time. 64p $1; pa 75c Harper

264.1 Prayers 43-7259

"This brief book was prepared in the first instance for the use of the congregation at the Sunday and daily services of The Memorial Church in Harvard University. Copies have also been printed for distribution to each of the successive groups of chaplains going through the United States Army Chaplain School at Harvard. . . The book is now being republished in this form in the hope that it may find a wider welcome from a more general public." Prefatory note

"This reviewer has already said of at least one book of prayers for wartime that it is the best. This one is the best. The materials are drawn from many sources, from the sixth century to the twentieth. The prayers are short, many in the form of the collect, most of them as well adapted for public as for private use, more of them dealing with universal human needs than with the specific conditions of war."
+ Christian Century 60:519 Ap 28 '43 70w

"A brief, practical, and excellent anthology." J. S. Dauerty
+ Crozer Q 20:262 Jl '43 300w

SPITZ, ARMAND N. Start in meteorology; an introduction to the science of the weather; il. with sketches by the author. 95p $1.50 Henley

551.5 Meteorology 43-2463

Simple treatment of meteorology which attempts to prove that it "requires no scientific or mathematical knowledge to get an elementary knowledge of what weather is and how it is caused." The author is a member of the staff of the Franklin Institute in Philadelphia, in charge of the meteorological department. Illustrated with informal drawings. Contains questions and answers. Index.

"A Start In Meteorology is wisely limited to the essentials of the subject which can be presented with the very simplest mathematics. Spitz succeeds in producing a most interesting and useful book. . . At the end of the book is a question-and-answer section in which all the questions from the various chapters are restated, each followed by its answer in simple phrases. This is excellent educational psychology, yet I believe that this is the first book on meteorology to make use of this technique." M. A. Countryman
+ Book Week p9 Ag 15 '43 200w

"It is intended for young people, especially those interested in aviation as a possible profession, and for this group it should be successful. . . The book is fully illustrated with the author's own drawings. Their sketchiness, in contrast to finished diagrams such as those in Mr. Kraght's book, may lend an air of informality which will make them convincing." James Stokley
+ Books p22 D 13 '42 200w
Library J 68:290 Ap 1 '43 20w
N Y New Tech Bks 28:14 Ja '43

"The student who wants his elementary meteorology in words of two syllables will read Spitz with delight, but he also will wish that the smaller drawings were a little clearer and that some of the larger ones had not been cluttered with so many legends." Waldemar Kaempffert
+ — N Y Times p24 F 28 '43 120w

SPRAGUE, JESSE RAINSFORD. Romance of credit. 253p $2 Appleton-Century

332.7 Credit 43-3317

Popularly written treatise on the place of credit—in the history of civilization and in our everyday life. Partial contents: Credit built an empire; Good and bad financing; The credit profession; Dun and Bradstreet, Inc; Instalment credit; Credit crooks. Index.

"Some may be confused by the title of this book and may wonder why the author has used such a word as 'romance' to describe credit, which to the average person may mean only 'to charge to one's account.' I can, however, assure the reader of this book that there is a genuine romance to credit and it is ably set forth by the author." Courtenay Barber
+ Book Week p8 Ap 4 '43 700w
Springf'd Republican p8 Jl 14 '43 220w

SPRAGUE, MARSHALL. The business of getting well. 143p il $1.75 Crowell

362.1 Sick, The. Convalescence 43-51326

Chronicles the author's experiences in learning the strenuous business of lying in bed over a period of months. He colors his record with philosophy, humor, common sense, and a brief account of famous people who have "enjoyed" poor health.

Booklist 40:109 D 1 '43
Springf'd Republican p7e S 19 '43 60w

"There is a lot of good fun in Mr Sprague's essays and the book is replete with homilies on getting the most out of your illness and your convalescence. . . 'The Business of Getting Well' should strike a responsive chord in the minds and hearts of all graduate patients, and it is just the book for the hospital freshman." L. S. M.
+ Springf'd Republican p10 O 8 '43 330w

"Lively as it is—so lively that scarcely a page does not jolt at least one laugh out of a reader—the most striking feature of this guide to getting over a long illness is its undeniable common sense. It works. Whatever it says can be put at once into practice, and as some of the difficulties of getting well in a hospital are not unlike those of keeping sane in a business office, invalids will not be the only gainers by the book."
+ Weekly Book Review p16 S 26 '43 250w
Wis Lib Bul 40:7 Ja '44

SPRIEGEL, WILLIAM R., and SCHULZ, EDWARD. Elements of supervision. 273p $2.25 Wiley

658.3 Employment management. Efficiency, Industrial 42-24657

Twenty chapters on the fundamentals for handling human relations problems. Partial contents: The supervisor and his organization; Essentials of organization; Types of organizations; Interpreting company policies; Planning the work of the department; Techniques and methods of discovering and adjusting grievances; Individual differences; group attitudes, and group morale; The supervisor as an instructor; Introducing the new employee to his job; Wage administration and merit rating; Transfers, promotions, and discharges; Promoting cooperation between men and between departments; Reducing absenteeism and tardiness; Waste control; Maintaining discipline; The supervisor and labor relations. Bibliography. Index.

Cleveland Open Shelf p4 Ja '43

Reviewed by James Stokley
Weekly Book Review p25 Mr 28 '43 80w

SPRINGBOARD to Berlin, by John A. Parris, jr. and Ned Russell, in collaboration with Leo Disher and Phil Ault. 401p maps $3 Crowell

940.542 World war, 1939—Africa, North. World war, 1939—Personal narratives, American 43-14550

"Four American correspondents, all of whom saw lots of fighting, take turns at giving us a chronological account of American operations in the Mediterranean from the preparations for the North African invasion to the landings in Sicily." (New Yorker) Index.

Reviewed by J. I. Greene
Book Week p8 S 26 '43 140w
Booklist 40:91 N 15 '43
Cleveland Open Shelf p17 O '43

"'Springboard to Berlin' is most notable for its frank description of some of the mistakes made by our armies during the campaign. Not that the authors emphasize mistakes, but what they say about the lessons we learned in Africa is sound, constructive material." Philip Hamburger
+ N Y Times p34 S 26 '43 280w

"Some overlapping, and the writing may seem coked up at times. Nevertheless, this is a dramatic, full-scale, and by no means uncritical job."
+ — New Yorker 19:94 S 18 '43 90w

"If anything, it is perhaps too lively, too imaginative in some spots. A fault of the book which cannot escape critical readers is its attempt to picture things which none of the reporters could possibly have seen. . . But ignore that and you have a thrilling, well-told tale. The four men of the UP have done a good, well-coordinated job. All of them saw plenty of action, all of them have stories of great heroism full of the compelling flavor of war. They don't touch on the less romantic, less exciting, more miserable aspects of it. But it is good, red-blooded stuff." P. R. Knauth
+ — Sat R of Lit 26:13 O 2 '43 1000w
Springf'd Republican p7e S 19 '43 750w

STAEBLER, WARREN I. Liberal mind of John Morley [pub] for Univ. of Cincinnati. 221p $3.50 Princeton univ. press [23s 6d Oxford]

B or 92 Morley of Blackburn, John Morley, 1st viscount 43-17433

"The author of this compact volume of 221 pages has not restricted himself to John Morley's mind but has placed that eminent Victorian liberal under the sharpest of microscopes and thrown into bold relief not merely Morley's mental reactions but the whole course of his spiritual and intellectual development. Indeed, when one lays Mr. Staebler's study down it is with the feeling that he has so completely dissected his subject as to leave nothing for any future biographer save to present a fuller picture of Morley's remarkable personality." Weekly Book Review

"One lays down the book having learned much, very entertainingly told, about John Morley, his mind and his work, but with the feeling that a great opportunity has been missed, the opportunity, namely, to present, through the mind of one of its illustrious exponents, a systematic analysis and synthesis of nineteenth-century liberalism, and of its essential relationship to the twentieth-century philosophy of positive democracy." E. D. Ellis
+ — Am Pol Sci R 37:1142 D '43 340w

"Clear-headed and informative study." Cuthbert Wright
+ Commonweal 38:590 O 1 '43 480w
N Y Times p36 S 19 '43 500w

Reviewed by R. J. Conklin
Springf'd Republican p6 O 11 '43 750w

Reviewed by O. G. Villard
+ Weekly Book Review p18 O 10 '43 950w

STAFFORD, GEORGE THOMAS, and DUNCAN, RAY OSCAR. Physical conditioning; exercises for sports and healthful living. (Barnes dollar sports lib) 110p il $1 Barnes, A.S.

796.41 Physical education and training. Athletics 42-23692

A series of exercises for keeping fit with some additional remarks on the need and uses of exercises, particularly under present conditions. The exercises are developed under three headings: Sports conditioning, exercise program for men, exercise program for women. Index.

Springf'd Republican p8 N 17 '42 390w
Wis Lib Bul 39:26 F '43

STAFFORD, MURIEL. X marks the dot. 245p il $2 Duell
43-16940

Detective story.

"Recommended." Elizabeth Bullock
+ Book Week p23 N 14 '43 180w

Reviewed by Isaac Anderson
N Y Times p16 N 7 '43 100w

"Good."
+ Sat R of Lit 26:20 N 20 '43 30w

"'X Marks the Dot' is noteworthy for its authentic newspaper background as well as for the opportunity afforded the reader to look over a working graphologist's shoulder. Miss Stafford, however, permits the action to bog down in the business of analysis." M. L. H.
+ — Springf'd Republican p7e O 24 '43 220w

"Smart, easy to read and generally agreeable thriller." Will Cuppy
+ Weekly Book Review p46 N 14 '43 250w

STAFFORD, THOMAS ALBERT. Christian symbolism in the Evangelical churches; with definitions of church terms and usages; with an introd. by Ernest Fremont Tittle; il. by the author. 176p $2 Abingdon-Cokesbury

246 Christian art and symbolism 42-36418

"A fairly comprehensive survey of the varieties of symbolism that have been employed throughout the history of the church, omitting from consideration such as are manifestly repugnant to Protestant ideas and practice (e.g., incense, holy water, and symbols related to the cult of saints), but including many which appeal chiefly to antiquarian interest and which he would not recommend for use in evangelical churches." (Christian Century) Illustrated with many drawings. Bibliography. Definitions of church terms and usages. Index.

Booklist 39:193 Ja 15 '43
Christian Century 60:139 F 3 '43 290w

"An Anglo-Catholic expert on church symbolism recommends this book as one of the best handbooks on church symbolism for anyone—Catholic or evangelical. . . It is a valuable book." W. L. Caswell
+ Churchman 157:15 F 15 '43 240w

"Whatever may be the shortcomings of this little book, and they are few indeed, they will be completely overlooked in the light of its many excellent features. In Dr. Stafford's book, we have for the first time a work on symbolism which is written from the standpoint of evangelical Christianity. . . Dr. Stafford's Christian Symbolism will fill a long-felt need in its field. It will prove of inestimable value in the hands of the minister

STAFFORD, T. A.—Continued
who is striving to build more deeply devotional services, and in the hands of the teacher, either minister or layman, who is striving to impart a deeper knowledge of church history and of Christian belief to his class. In the opinion of this reviewer, there is a real place for this book in the library of every evangelical church." M. M. Parvis
+ Crozer Q 20:167 Ap '43 600w

STAGGE, JONATHAN, pseud. See Webb, R. W., and Wheeler, H. C.

STAMM, FREDERICK KELLER. Seeing the multitudes. 129p $1.50 Harper
226.2 Beatitudes. Jesus Christ—Teaching
43-4539

"Dr. Stamm gives ten homiletical essays on the Beatitudes. He has avoided detailed and formal exegesis and develops an interpretation of the meaning of the Beatitudes in terms of their spiritual and social application to contemporary life." J Religion

+ Christian Century 60:459 Ap 14 '43 40w
Reviewed by W. F. Thompson
Churchman 157:17 S 15 '43 150w

"The use of vivid illustration and pertinent quotation is illuminating and generous. The book might easily be classified as devotional reading; at the same time it abounds in provocative homiletic suggestion and should prove useful to those who read it with either purpose." James Stifler
+ J Religion 23:228 Jl '43 80w

STANDEN, ANTHONY. Insect invaders. 228p il $3.50 Houghton
632.7 Insects, Injurious and beneficial
43-51043

Study of economic entomology by a member of the staff of the New Hampshire state agricultural experiment station. Partial contents: What is an insect; How insects live and multiply; Insects that harm man and animals; Insects eat our food, and other things; Good insects; Insects out of place; Insects kept in place; Chemicals; Set a bug to catch a bug; Stamp on that bug. Index.

"The Standen indictment, crediting insects with the transmission of everything from diarrhea to bubonic plague, is well documented and excitingly written, combining a malevolent humor with a kind of biblical fervor. In view of the author's unflattering portrayals of many insects, however, and the excellent and frightening photographs with which he implements these, I feel that in all fairness he might have devoted more than a sentence or two to the more photogenic lepidoptera." G. T. Hellman
Book Week p2 Mr 28 '43 700w
Booklist 39:287 Mr 15 '43
Bookmark 4:7 My '43
Cleveland Open Shelf p7 Ap '43

"It is seldom that the reader is introduced to an entomologist with a sense of humor. The author of 'Insect Invaders' combines a nice wit with the gift for dramatic reporting. And at the same time he retains a high tension horror for the creatures which it has been his lifework to destroy... This is the most recent of a number of books on the same subject all couched in terms which the amateur can understand. But it would be difficult to find in the group another work so authoritative and exhaustive and yet so readable." F. F. Rockwell
+ N Y Times p22 Ap 4 '43 650w

"All the various methods of combatting the insect invaders are gone into with the author's characteristic thoroughness so if you want to know how to beat the little pests to your own cherished victory garden you can get some advice here, but if you take up the book for information you will inevitably be held by enjoyment." Gladys Graham
+ Sat R of Lit 26:25 F 27 '43 700w
Scientific Bk Club R 14:3 Mr '43 330w

"A serviceable, well-rounded and readable work. . . 'Insect Invaders' is profusely illustrated and the reproductions are clear and excellent. It is unfortunate that a bibliography was omitted." C. B. Moore
+ Springf'd Republican p8 F 17 '43 850w

"Throughout the volume, Mr. Standen writes with a sense of humor and an eye for an interesting fact. His book, illustrated with numerous photographs, presents in a lively way the case for the prosecution against the insects. The result is the most readable and interesting book of its kind since Leland O. Howard's 'The Insect Menace.'" E. W. Teale
+ Weekly Book Review p14 F 28 '43 950w
Wis Lib Bul 39:51 Ap '43

STANFORD, ALFRED BOLLER. Pleasures of sailing. 187p $2 Simon & Schuster
797.124 Sailing 43-4494

The commodore of the Cruising Club of America writes of the satisfaction to be gained in pleasure sailing, and discusses some of the technique required. He argues for the small boat, and adds some instructions on how to train a wife for her part in the sailing.

Reviewed by John Metzenberg
Book Week p3 Je 27 '43 600w
Booklist 39:328 Ap 15 '43

"The most delightful thing this reviewer has come across in the way of a philosophical essay on yachting is 'The Pleasures of Sailing.'" G. W. B.
+ Springf'd Republican p7e Ap 25 '43 700w

STANFORD UNIVERSITY. School of education. Education in wartime and after. 465p $3 Appleton-Century
370 Education—U.S. War

"In this timely book a group of specialists in various fields of education consider the impact of World War II on American education and point out ways in which our schools can contribute to the war effort and to post-war reconstruction. . . The index is detailed." Social Studies

Reviewed by R. E. Kirk
Chem & Eng N 21:1840 N 10 '43 1000w
Christian Century 60:943 Ag 18 '43 100w

"This book gives a clear picture of the problems facing education at the present time and offers solutions that are sound and practical. One of the strong features of the publication is the role assigned to the school in preserving the democratic way of life in the post-war period. The Bibliography is extensive and contains the most recent references." B. R. Miller
+ El School J 44:118 O '43 650w

"Admirable in style, impartial in judicious opinion, thorough in research, 'Education in Wartime and After' is a credit to Grayson N. Kefauver, dean of the School of Education, the editor, and his collaborators. It is a book of real distinction." J. S. Roucek
+ School & Society 58:378 N 6 '43 650w

"A provocative, cooperative study which will stimulate and challenge all educators."
+ Social Studies 34:286 O '43 60w

STANSBURY, JEAN. Bars on her shoulders; a story of a Waac; phot. and direction by Jackie Martin. 276p $2 Dodd
43-9194

Fictionized account of the training of the first group of officers to be trained for the WAACs. It purports to be the story of a career girl who gave up her work to join, and carries her thru the whole training period.

Reviewed by Eleanor Kidder
Library J 68:628 Ag '43 90w

"The book's rather thinly disguised advice and its answers to some Waac prejudices reveal the author's purpose—not simply to tell a story, but to recruit more Waacs. Its appeal in that direction may not be as strong as a more sophisticated, eye-witness journal such as Auxiliary Pollock's 'Yes, Ma'am!' Nevertheless, 'Bars on Her Shoulders' cannot fail to convey to some potential recruits the emotional thrill the Waacs derive from taps and parades and their very genuine pride at being in uniform." Rachel Meisenhelder

Weekly Book Review p26 Je 27 '43 430w

STARR, RICHARD B., ed. Foremanship training; foreword by John I. Yellott. 191p il $2.65; to schools $2 Prentice-Hall

658.3 Foremen. Employees, Training of 43-10308

"A study guide and handbook, with charts and questionnaires for industrial foremen. Explains the function, performance, problems, and principles of training for foremen and the nature of the labor problems they have to contend with." (Sat R of Lit) Index.

"Not a very complete study, but easily read."

Book Week p11 S 12 '43 30w

Booklist 40:55 O 15 '43

Library J 68:626 Ag '43 10w

"As a handbook for the foreman this book makes very little departure from the realm of platitude. This may arise from the fact that the space devoted to text material is all too small relative to the field the book endeavors to cover. In marked contrast the case histories for discussion purposes are remarkably well chosen. Given an able discussion leader, a group of foremen could learn much from discussion of these case histories." J. M. Juran

+ — N Y Times p35 S 19 '43 120w

"Well thought out but schoolteacherish and sometimes labored. Not for the man with an imaginative sense of human relations." Raymond Holden

Sat R of Lit 26:35 Ag 21 '43 60w

STARR, VICTOR P. Basic principles of weather forecasting. 299p maps $3 Harper

551.5 Weather forecasting 42-51976

"Written to meet the needs of the University of Chicago's very active Institute of Meteorology. The importance of training officers in the many branches of meteorology made it necessary for Dr. Starr to approach his subject largely from the standpoint of the man who must forecast the weather on the basis of data from a single station. The war has made it more and more difficult to rely on whole chains of observatories. Hence his book departs from the conventional meteorological text. The forecasting principles which are now coming into use are described together with systematic procedures; prognosis charts are advocated; and checking devices are recommended to insure consistency in daily forecasts. It is assumed that the reader is familiar with analytic weather maps and the usual meteorologic procedures." (N Y Times) Index.

Reviewed by M. A. Countryman

Book Week p9 Ag 15 '43 180w

Booklist 39:328 Ap 15 '43

N Y New Tech Bks 28:14 Ja '43

Reviewed by Waldemar Kaempffert

N Y Times p24 F 28 '43 160w

"This is especially valuable for a meteorologist in some isolated military outpost." James Stokley

+ Weekly Book Review p22 F 28 '43 180w

Wis Lib Bul 39:51 Ap '43

STARRETT, VINCENT. Autolycus in limbo; introd. by William Rose Benét. [192p] $2 Dutton

811 43-5154

Collection of light verse on a variety of subjects, from the galley slave to the Duchess, the latter of "Hell, said the Duchess" fame.

"If you like poetry that has rhyme and meter and recognizable meaning (no offense intended to other sorts), and you like clever thrusts neatly and sharply delivered and naughty observations delicately suggested, with bits of hedonistic philosophy delightfully interpolated, you will most certainly enjoy this book. Critics, of course, must be careful in their judgments, and sometimes pompous and not too charitable, but, as a reviewer, I'll miss my guess if some of the poems in this book are not also read a few years hence, in much the same way we read certain of the livelier poems of Herrick and Donne and Lovelace." Walter Hendricks

+ Book Week p2 Je 13 '43 650w

Booklist 39:366 My 15 '43

Bookmark 4:11 My '43

Reviewed by Pearl Strachan

Christian Science Monitor p10 My 8 '43 200w

"Short verse with humor more mellow than the Dorothy Parker variety, but it will appeal to her readers, as well as to more serious ones. Delightful rhythm and rhyme; some well-turned thoughts and phrases. . . Recommended for all libraries where light verse is read." Emily Garnett

+ Library J 68:288 Ap 1 '43 110w

Reviewed by David Daiches

New Repub 109:150 Ag 2 '43 20w

Reviewed by John Holmes

Poetry 62:350 S '43 550w

"Subtly hilarious, unconventionally carefree and cleverly phrased are the verses in 'Autolycus in Limbo.'" A. M. Jakeman

+ Springf'd Republican p8 Ap 9 '43 500w

"In the introduction to this book of verse, William Rose Benet claims for Mr. Starrett that he is humorist rather than wit. He is both, but it is true that in contrast to the popular light verse of today, such as that of Ogden Nash, for example, which depends for its effect on the attitude of pure irony, and the use of an unexpected vocabulary, Mr. Starrett expresses richer and mellower attitudes and a personality more in the round." Elizabeth Drew

+ Weekly Book Review p15 My 16 '43 600w

STEAD, WILLIAM HENRY. Democracy against unemployment; an analysis of the major problem of postwar planning. 280p $3 Harper

331.37 Unemployment. Economic policy 42-50117

"Practical discussion of the problem of unemployment and of the sensible ways of meeting it. The author, now dean of the School of Business and Public Administration of Washington University, has had unusual first-hand experience in dealing with unemployment in the United States Employment Service and the Labor Supply Division of the WPB. He thus brings to the book a knowledge of the factors which help to cause unemployment, of the ways of attacking recurrent unemployment, and of the long-time adjustment necessary to solve this major problem of our industrial society. Dean Stead describes unemployment as the greatest enemy of democracy, and provides an analysis of it both in quantitative and qualitative terms." (Management R) Index.

"On the whole the student of unemployment and its problems will find little new in this book. His interest, however, will be aroused by the point of view and opinions expressed by a man who has studied the problem for many years especially in connection with the work of the Employment Service. Now that he has made his contribution to the enlightenment of the general reader, it is to be hoped that Dean Stead will find time to do a more intensive and thorough analysis of the past performance and future rôle of a public employment service in promoting a more intelligent and less wasteful use of our labor supply." L. P. Adams

+ — Am Econ R 33:459 Je '43 1150w

Reviewed by Rita Davidson

Am Pol Sci R 37:763 Ag '43 320w

STEAD, W. H.—Continued

"Whatever the merits of the author's theory of unemployment, the facts of unemployment and its significance are well stated." Nathan Reich

+ Ann Am Acad 227:180 My '43 470w

"The book is addressed to the general reader rather than to the student of economics, and it will be welcomed by all who want to plan constructively now, for the eventual transition from wartime to peacetime employment."

+ Management R 32:41 Ja '43 220w

"Dean Stead's book shows the New Deal type of administrator at his best, but also at his worst. It is probably the best factual study of unemployment during the last decade which has been made so far: non-technical, clear, objective, and fair-minded as well as comprehensive. No attempt has been made to oversimplify a complicated problem or to find scapegoats. Nobody who is interested in understanding the central problem of the New Deal should fail to read this book. And as an analysis of administrative techniques as developed during the last ten years, the study is in a class of its own. But the book is far less satisfactory as a program for the future. For it avoids political questions." P. F. Drucker

+ — Sat R of Lit 26:6 Ja 30 '43 700w

STEBBINS, ANNA ELIZABETH. Small flags waving; il. by Myna Lockwood. 223p $2 Dutton

43-9680

A courageous widow brings her two teen-aged daughters to New York, rather than accept a comfortable living from a brother-in-law whose money comes largely from graft. The little family endures months of bitter poverty, before the mother gets a good position, and one of the daughters wins a scholarship to a ballet school. For teen-age girls.

"Will be enjoyed by career enthusiasts and balletomanes from twelve up." Marian Cumming

+ Library J 68:731 S 15 '43 100w

"There is an overuse of coincidence, and plot seems untrue to life situations; however, the struggle for existence is done more convincingly. Details of Jane's efforts to become member of an accredited ballet school are disappointing in their meagerness. Not an essential item." E. A. Groves

— + Library J 68:731 S 15 '43 80w

"This is a gay, high-hearted yarn, filled with highly credible young people and it is recommended to young dreamers, feminine, who seek careers in the great city."

+ Springf'd Republican p7e Ag 22 '43 110w

Reviewed by M. L. Becker

Weekly Book Review p6 Ag 22 '43 350w

STEEL, KURT, pseud. See Kagey, R.

STEELE, EVELYN M. Careers for girls in science and engineering. 189p $2.50 Dutton

396.55 Woman—Occupations. Profession, Choice of 43-16731

"The effort throughout has been to present vocational divisions in science and engineering for the young woman interested in finding a career in these fields. . . It is hoped that the over-all picture presented will be helpful to the potential scientist or engineer." (Foreword) Illustrated with photographs. Index.

Booklist 40:191 F 1 '44

"While written with the wartime emergency in mind, the emphasis on a thorough foundation in the sciences should prove valuable at any time. . . Should be valuable to teachers of science as well as vocational directors. For girls of high school age." Marian Cumming

+ Library J 68:1009 D 1 '43 70w

Springf'd Republican p6 N 26 '43 110w

STEELE, EVELYN M. Wartime opportunities for women. 181p il $2.50 Dutton

940.5315396 World war, 1939—Women's work. Woman—Occupations 43-11152

Partial contents: Work with the WAAC; WAVES, SPARS and Marines; Women in aviation; Industrial jobs; Nurses needed; Opportunities in medicine; Jobs for food experts; Wanted: Scientists and engineers; Transportation—a new field for women; The Volunteer services. Selected bibliography. Index.

"This compact little guide is just what a lot of women must have been looking for—to find the answers to their multitudinous questions about their places in the scheme of war. In one handy volume Evelyn Steele, who specializes in vocational surveys, has collected just about all the information a woman could possibly want regarding such wartime service as the Wac and Waves, nurses, scientists, engineers, warplant workers, and a lot you probably never thought of." I. G.

+ Book Week p9 S 19 '43 130w

Cleveland Open Shelf p14 Ag '43

Library J 68:478 Je 1 '43 20w

Reviewed by Catherine Redmond

Sat R of Lit 26:36 Ag 21 '43 230w

Wis Lib Bul 39:120 O '43

STEFANSSON, EVELYN (MRS VILHJALMUR STEFANSSON). Here is Alaska; with a foreword by Vilhjalmur Stefansson; with phot. by Frederick Machetanz and others. 157p $2.50 Scribner

917.98 Alaska—Description and travel. Photographic books 43-336

A simply written description of life in Alaska by the wife of a famous Arctic explorer. The book is illustrated with many fine photographs, a large proportion of them taken by Frederick Machetanz who was to have been the author of the book but was called into service with the armed forces. Index.

"I believe this book is a good one for both young people and adults to read, for it gives one a very clear picture of a country which, because of its vital location, is becoming more important each day." Richard Williams

+ Book Week p7 Mr 14 '43 250w

Booklist 39:297 Mr 15 '43

"In the same series as Helen Follett's 'Ocean Outposts,' it has the same audience of young folks and their elders; even small children are brought in by large photographs from family life, such as the one showing grandmother and baby affectionately rubbing noses, while the bearing of the book on the daily newspaper attracts the whole family." M. L. Becker

+ Books p8 Ja 31 '43 500w

Reviewed by F. B. Sloan

Christian Science Monitor p10 My 27 '43 190w

Reviewed by E. C. Thompson

Churchman 157:16 S 15 '43 180w

Cleveland Open Shelf p10 Jl '43

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert

Foreign Affairs 21:11 Jl '43 20w

Reviewed by A. C. Moore

Horn Bk 19:114 Mr '43 40w

"A beautiful and widely informative book." A. M. Jordon

+ Horn Bk 19:100 Mr '43 100w

"Would be very useful with boys and girls from thirteen to sixteen in libraries where complete information on Alaska is in demand. Fine photographs by Frederick Machetanz and others." E. W. Turpin

+ Library J 68:131 F 1 '43 70w

"Views of the sea and mountain give the reader glimpses of arresting beauty and the pictures of men, women and children busy with their daily tasks and occupations, suggest a friendly, sturdy and industrious people. The style is so clear and direct that boys and girls from 10 on will find 'Here Is Alaska' absorbing reading, while grown-ups as well will be glad to inform themselves from its pages." A. T. Eaton

+ N Y Times p10 F 28 '43 440w

"Mrs. Stefansson's facts, many of them new, all authoritative and interesting, are presented in a slightly dry and textbook manner. Recommended, nevertheless, for readers of high-school age."

+ New Yorker 19:70 My 29 '43 50w

Reviewed by Maria Cimino

Sat R of Lit 26:50 Ap 17 '43 50w

"Important. Thrilling."

Sat R of Lit 26:30 My 15 '43 20w

"Coming at a time when our eyes are focussed on Alaska, the book satisfies an actual need. But it goes beyond mere factual information. Its arrangement, its informality, its clarity, its veracity, will entrance both young and old."

+ Scientific Bk Club R 14:3 F '43 360w

Springf'd Republican p7e Ja 24 '43 500w

Wis Lib Bul 39:109 Jl '43

STEFANSSON, VILHJALMUR. Friendly Arctic; the story of five years in polar regions; new ed. with new material. 812p il maps $5 Macmillan

919.8 Arctic regions. Eskimos 43-5284

"After twenty-one years there is still a demand for Dr. Stefansson's book describing his third polar expedition of 1913 to 1918. Hence a new edition appears with a preface that contains an account of the organization of the expedition and a final chapter, 'The Friendly Arctic Twenty-One Years After.' In the latter a resumé is given of the material and scientific progress during the two decades... Dr. Stefansson comments on mining and agricultural activities and petroleum possibilities, and observes that while there has been a marked increase in knowledge among specialists, there has not been a corresponding awareness on the part of the public concerning northern conditions." (Scientific Bk Club R) For first edition see Book Review Digest, 1921.

Geog R 33:689 O '43 180w

Reviewed by E. L. Tinker

N Y Times p24 Jl 18 '43 300w

Scientific Bk Club R 14:4 My '43 150w

STEGNER, WALLACE. Big Rock Candy mountain. 515p $3 Duell

43-51281

"This intriguing novel is quite lengthy, but you will not be willing to skip a single paragraph. Story begins about 1906 and ends in 1942. Scene is in far western states and Alaska. Principal characters are Bo Mason, his wife Elsa, and their two boys. Life is an almost continuous moving day because the next town, county, or state persistently beckons to Bo as the place where he will make his fortune. Illegal sale of liquor seems to pay better than all the other things he tries." Library J

"The novel is unhurried, it is never sensational, it has only a decent minimum of sex. . . The many makeshift dwellings in which Bo and Elsa lived are authentic to the last detail—but there are too many details, and too little emphasis, to relay our interest from point to point. What keeps me reading is the integrity of the writing, the freshness of the Americana, and the ever deepening sympathy which I feel for the man and wife." Edward Weeks

+ — Atlantic 172:128 N '43 700w

" 'The Big Rock Candy Mountain' is twice as long and twice as good as anything Wallace Stegner has written before." Ralph Peterson

+ Book Week p1 O 3 '43 430w

Booklist 40:60 O 15 '43

Reviewed by Eleanor McNaught

Canadian Forum 23:215 D '43 600w

Cleveland Open Shelf p20 O '43

"Young people, men and women will thoroughly enjoy." Lena Ruppert

+ Library J 68:726 S 15 '43 80w

Reviewed by Diana Trilling

Nation 157:506 O 30 '43 210w

Reviewed by D. T. Bazelon

New Repub 109:659 N 8 '43 350w

"Best justice is done to the homesteading venture in the lonely wheat fields of Canada. Here the author makes of the influenza epidemic of 1918 . . . one of the most powerful episodes in this harrowing saga. . . Mr. Stegner has felt the spell of mountain and prairie, of drought, flood and blizzard; he can write of moving accidents and hairbreadth escapes which give us the feel of frontier life better than phrases about the stars and seasons. Perhaps the most intensely interesting passages are those which describe the rum-running drives of Bo Mason through treacherous back roads in peril from weather, law, and hijackers." J. W. Beach

+ N Y Times p4 S 26 '43 1050w

"A well-written study of a footloose family. . . The life of the household is a misery of continual cruelty and often crushing poverty, alternating with occasional scenes of simple family happiness which stand out beautifully and unforgettably."

+ New Yorker 19:86 O 2 '43 90w

"In a lean year this is a major novel. It would be a major novel even in a rich year, and the reasons lie in the quality of vitality, of generous strength, of something pressed down and running over in the new book by Wallace Stegner, that takes it completely out of the realm of intellectualism into the kingdom of fiction." H. M. Jones

+ Sat R of Lit 26:11 O 2 '43 900w

Reviewed by Lee Varley

Springf'd Republican p7e N 7 '43 650w

"Bo Mason's career is a fictional footnote to the era that saw the end of the American dream. It may be said that Mr. Stegner does not quite do justice to the larger social implications of Bo's failure to make his way or of his being forced into anti-social pursuits, or even that there is a little too much dramatizing of Bo's violence and ruthlessness. Yet who Bo Mason was and what he did and how he lived Wallace Stegner conveys to us with a vividness and a fullness hardly less than that with which we know our own fathers." Milton Rugoff

+ — Weekly Book Review p3 O 3 '43 1100w

"This is a sound, solid, intelligent, interesting novel, a good story and an excellent interpretation of an important phase of American life. It is prosaically written; it is excessively long; it is overfurnished with the dull details of realism. But it is a considerable achievement just the same." Orville Prescott

+ Yale R n s 33:xx winter '44 500w

STEIG, WILLIAM. Lonely ones [foreword by Wolcott Gibbs]. 102p il $1 Duell

741.5 Humor, Pictorial. Caricatures and cartoons 42-52159

"There are forty-six drawings, each of a simple figure which one could call human only by stretching the term. They are quite absurd and horribly revealing. Here, with or without the grace of God, are all of us X-rayed, to catch, as not even the sincerest self-criticism can catch, those moods of egotism, vain dejection and insane conceit that surge at times across every one." Books

"As Wolcott Gibbs explains in his pleasant preface, Steig has momentarily sketched here 'impressions of people . . . set off from the rest of the world by certain private obsessions.' They are certainly 'fantastic but recognizable,' as any one will agree who glances up from them to look round at the occupants of a subway car or of the office where he works. That is why they are so cruel and so frightening and so funny." Iris Barry

+ Books p12 Ja 17 '43 480w

"Aside from the humor, the specific virtue of Steig's drawing is the directness with which he communicates his ideas to paper and our eyes. There is little pause between the impulse and its expression. But just because the shorthand is so quick and so efficient, it is not quite art." Clement Greenberg

STEIG, WILLIAM—Continued
+ — Nation 156:102 Ja 16 '43 550w

"Mr. Steig's vision of mankind is awesome and awful; certainly to one reviewer this latest work of a humorist is anything but funny. But it isn't singular, except in degree. You need only have ridden with your eyes open in a New York subway during rush hour to recognize many of Mr. Steig's obsessed types." Diana Trilling
New Repub 108:124 Ja 25 '43 900w

Reviewed by Thomas Sugrue
Sat R of Lit 26:21 F 13 '43 400w

STEIN, AARON MARC. Case of the absent-minded professor. 275p $2 Doubleday
43-3873

Detective story.

Booklist 39:334 Ap 15 '43

"Thrilling and lively opus with considerable campus scandal, well-drawn college characters, whiff of archaeology, and hard-to-guess solution. Good."
+ Sat R of Lit 26:21 Mr 6 '43 40w

"There's a thick streak of comedy in this story and you can take the solution as part of the fun if you choose." Will Cuppy
Weekly Book Review p18 F 21 '43 230w

STEIN, CHARLES W. Third-term tradition; its rise and collapse in American politics. 382p il $3.75 Columbia univ. press
353.03 Presidents (U.S.)—Terms of office. U.S.—Politics and government 43-8264

"This work attempts to discuss at some length the role of the anti-third term tradition in American politics. . . The writer has undertaken first a critical analysis of the development of the third-term question from its earliest stage . . . in the Constitutional Convention of 1787 to its gradual establishment as a purposeful precedent in the early years of the Republic. The second part of the work comprises a detailed account of those situations in which certain of our presidents were confronted with the opportunity to challenge the tradition. . . The third and final section is devoted to a discussion of the circumstances under which in 1940 the precedent was at last shattered." (Pref) Bibliography. Index.

"At last we have a much-needed book which adequately covers the field of a historical and political discussion of the third-term tradition in American government and politics. And its appearance is none too soon, since there is little doubt that the problem of the extent of executive powers in term and use in the United States is going to arise in the near future after the war to test the best ability of the American people in its proper solution." W. S. Myers
+ Ann Am Acad 229:207 S '43 600w

"An intensely interesting and historically sound study in American political history." W. E. Garrison
+ Christian Century 60:870 Jl 28 '43 900w

"Some may consider this as merely a 'timely' book, dealing with the controversial matter of presidential tenure. Actually, it is possibly one of the best books of the year in American history." Paul Kiniery
+ Commonweal 38:352 Jl 23 '43 110w

Reviewed by F. L. D. Goodrich
Library J 68:362 My 1 '43 110w

Manchester Guardian p3 O 29 '43 100w

"The author of this lucid and timely book, it should be remarked, dislikes having the same President for more than eight years, and concludes with a reasoned defense of the Third Term tradition as a sort of spiritual Maginot Line safeguarding democracy. . . Yet before giving these parting words of warning he provides us with a quantity of hard facts concerning the whole question of presidential eligibility, by which the reader may form his own conclusions." Matthew Josephson
+ N Y Times p16 Ag 15 '43 1250w

"The scholarly, always lucid, and frequently eloquent work of Mr. Stein is a contribution to American political history that commands admiration whether one chooses to put first the style of the writer, the diligence of the investigator, or the objectivity of the historian. . . And yet while this author's competence as a writer and an investigator is beyond question, and while he approaches his problem in the spirit that befits a historian, one is left with the impression that as a logician he fell into the error of failing to scrutinize his original premise with sufficient care." G. W. Johnson
+ — Sat R of Lit 26:9 Ag 21 '43 700w

STEIN, RALPH, il. See Brown, H. It's a cinch, Private Finch

STEINBECK, JOHN. Steinbeck; sel. by Pascal Covici. (Viking portable lib) 568p $2 Viking 43-11292

"The Red Pony and Of Mice and Men are given in full, with chapters from several of Steinbeck's other works, in a compact pocket-size volume." Booklist

Booklist 40:14 S '43

"The choices which Mr. Covici has made seem to be well considered and to give us the characteristic stories and the characteristic episodes from the longer works." R. P. Warren
+ N Y Times p6 Ag 22 '43 1100w

STEINBERG, MAX JACOB, and SMITH, THEODORE HUNTER. Economy loading of power plants and electric systems. 203p $3.50 Wiley
621.312 Electric plants 43-4536

"Fundamental theory of incremental rate and its application in solution of loading division problems encountered in production and transmission of electric energy." (Library J) Bibliography. Index.

Book Week p10 Ap 18 '43 20w
Cleveland Open Shelf p11 Jl '43
Library J 68:37 Ja 1 '43 20w
N Y New Tech Bks 28:15 Ja '43

STEINCROHN, PETER JOSEPH. Heart disease is curable. 193p $1.98 Doubleday
616.12 Heart—Diseases 43-5852

Common sense rules and regulations for the heart patient, including suggestions on symptoms of heart diseases of various types, frequent check-ups with the doctor, following the doctor's orders, and treatment.

"The author is not an alarmist, but an experienced, thinking physician who has the rare ability to write simply without over-simplifying." Israel Davidsohn
+ Book Week p4 My 16 '43 340w
Booklist 39:383 Je 1 '43

STEINER, MRS CHARLOTTE. Kiki and Muffy; il. by [the author]. [26p] $1.25 Doubleday
43-15295

Picture-story book about a very small girl who went to the country for the summer, where she saw a live cat for the first time, and learned to take care of kittens so well that she was given one for her own.

Reviewed by P. A. Whitney
Book Week p8 O 31 '43 140w
Booklist 40:83 N 1 '43
Churchman 157:14 N 15 '43 30w

Reviewed by E. S. Littlefield
Library J 68:318 O 15 '43 50w

"A perfect picture story for three- to five-year-olds. Libraries with preschool book collections will want to add it." E. G. Mullan
+ Library J 68:963 N 15 '43 80w

"Charlotte Steiner adds another wholly endearing child to her gallery of Lulu and Peter. Kiki has a delightful adventure and she and her kitten are as nice a pair of young things as one could wish to know." Lois Palmer
+ N Y Times p22 N 28 '43 40w

STEINER, MRS CHARLOTTE, and BURLINGHAM, MARY. Climbing book [il. in color by Charlotte Steiner]. 20p $1 Vanguard
43-16230

Picture-story book which unfolds to show what Bobby found as he climbed up to the top of his Christmas tree, then is reversed to show his adventures as he climbed down again. For four-year-olds.

"Here is a Christmas novelty book which will delight younger children." P. A. Whitney
+ Book Week p8 N 14 '43 90w

"It is wholly delightful—a new idea, sweet pictures, pleasant text and all the things children love, including a live puppy for a Christmas present." L. M. Palmer
+ N Y Times p18 N 14 '43 40w

"This brightly colored unfolding book will be as fascinating as a toy to the very little child." M. E. S.
+ Springf'd Republican p7e O 24 '43 80w

Reviewed by M. L. Becker
Weekly Book Review p8 N 21 '43 100w

STEINER, JESSE FREDERICK. Behind the Japanese mask. 159p $2 Macmillan
915.2 Japan—Social life and customs. National characteristics, Japanese
43-636

An attempt to explain the basic traits and characteristics of the Japanese people. The author is an American who taught English at North Japan college in Sendai for seven years, from 1905 to 1912. Index.

"Professor Steiner's book is a worthwhile contribution to the education of the American people with respect to the Far East. Drawing upon his own first-hand knowledge of Japan and the Japanese . . . he undertakes to dispel some of the clouds of mystery which, until the very eve of Pearl Harbor, kept us from understanding the character and the purposes of the totalitarian militarism against which we are now at war." G. N. Steiger
+ Am Pol Sci R 37:542 Je '43 370w

Reviewed by R. T. LaPiere
Am Soc R 8:356 Je '43 800w

"Behind the Japanese Mask is an excellent job of rewriting quickly done to catch a transient market." H. E. Wildes
Ann Am Acad 228:112 Jl '43 500w

Booklist 39:250 F 15 '43

"There are virtues as well as faults in this little book. The virtues abide principally in the glimpse of the Japanese character which Mr. Steiner draws and which remains basically the same." Wilfrid Fleisher
+ — Books p10 F 7 '43 1150w

Christian Science Monitor p14 Ja 28 '43 550w

Commonweal 37:378 Ja 29 '43 650w

"Although about ten years too late, Dr. Steiner and others similarly qualified to speak are getting behind the Japanese mask at last. Although presented without sparkle or imagination, Dr. Steiner's account is sound and concise, and is most useful for its description of the main aspects of contemporary Japanese life—its male-centered society, its uncomplaining acceptance of grinding mass poverty, its regimentation, and its fanatical nationalism." J. S. G.
+ Current Hist 4:84 Mr '43 240w

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert
Foreign Affairs 21:16 Jl '43 20w

"This small book will be useful to general reader and may find place in any public library." G. E. Brown
+ Library J 67:1105 D 15 '42 110w

Reviewed by W. L. Holland
Nation 156:532 Ap 10 '43 130w

"This book contains important information not generally known about social conditions in Japan." J. B. Powell
+ New Repub 108:323 Mr 8 '43 260w

"All in all, Mr. Steiner has written a compendium of information about Japanese national traits that will be useful and informative to the average American, although the rather dry, abstract style of the book leaves little place for the color and flesh-and-blood aspects of Japan and the Japanese." W. H. Chamberlin
+ — N Y Times p24 Ja 31 '43 900w

"An intelligent job in the main, but much of the material is scarcely new."
New Yorker 18:60 Ja 23 '43 70w

"Despite its rather foolish title this is a serious and creditable attempt 'to present the basic traits and characteristics of the Japanese people.' There is no more difficult task than the interpretation of character, whether individual or national, and it is extremely doubtful whether a plain descriptive treatment can ever entirely succeed. I read through Professor Steiner's book carefully; I found a great number of statements which seemed to me clear and exact, and very few single opinions with which I should wish to differ. Yet at the end I found myself asking whether there was any real life in the portrait,—whether, had I not already known something of the Japanese people myself, I should have gathered a true and vivid impression of their nature from Mr. Steiner's book. He is not to be blamed for this. His facts are substantially correct, his judgment is sound, and his method objective, a rare combination of merits in a book about Japan. But there is something missing. I suppose the answer is that you cannot make a direct laboratory description of a living, growing, organic, capricious, contradictory thing like national character. You must resort to impressionistic methods." G. B. Sansom
+ — Pacific Affairs 16:364 S '43 490w

"This little volume is a timely and readable analysis of the characteristics of the Japanese people. Professor Steiner is well qualified to write about Japan, for he lived there for seven years (1905-1912), revisited the country in 1935, and reads and speaks the Japanese language." G. B. Johnson
+ Social Forces 21:481 My '43 650w

Springf'd Republican p6 Ja 20 '43 470w

STEPHENSON, GENEVA. Melody in darkness. 497p $2.75 Macmillan
43-4315

Romantic tale of eighteenth century England. Will Jory, a musician who had been blinded at Falkirk, sets out for London, ostensibly to consult oculists. With him as guide goes the hunted Jacobite, Margaret Fletcher. The two go thru perils and adventures galore; they meet Handel in London; listen to the mad musician, Clegg, playing in Bedlam; and see much of the underworld life before the culmination of their romance.

"A book with a dual personality, if ever there was one, and either aspect fascinating, and both together something rather tremendous—that is 'Melody in Darkness.' " Edith Roberts
+ Book Week p3 My 2 '43 1400w

Booklist 39:369 My 15 '43

"Perhaps the writer has tried to get too much into the book, which could, conceivably, have benefited by treatment somewhat more selective. In any case the life stories, told in monologue, have the effect of being superimposed on a narrative otherwise essentially dramatic. That said there can be nothing but praise for a very beautiful and very tender love story worked out along lines exceptionally original." J. S. Southron
+ — N Y Times p12 Mr 28 '43 500w

STEPHENSON, GENEVA—Continued
"It's a fine, lusty novel which anybody can enjoy and which musicians, thanks to Jory's inimitable allusions and interpretations, will love." C. D. Abbott
+ Sat R of Lit 26:20 My 1 '43 360w

"Miss Stephenson's style is in harmony with her fluent imagination and there are embellishments of song and topical verse." George Conrad
Weekly Book Review p10 Ap 11 '43 400w
Wis Lib Bul 39:86 Je '43

STEPHENSON, HERBERT JOHN, comp. Abbrevs. 126p $1.75 Macmillan
421.8 Abbreviations 43-14696

"Useful dictionary of abbreviations; general, scientific, military and naval, technical, legal and business." Library J

Booklist 40:73 N 1 '43

"Recommended."
+ Library J 68:290 Ap 1 '43 20w

"Within the limits set the work has been well done, but it is not exhaustive." E. F. Allen
+ N Y Times p30 N 7 '43 440w

"Without laughing off the obvious value of 'Abbrevs,' to chaps who are thrown for a loss by the other man's shop talk and verbal short cuts, any reviewer should certainly recommend it also for rainy-day reading. There's very little plot, of course. But that deficiency is apt to show itself even in fiction these days."
+ Springf'd Republican p10 S 9 '43 450w

STERLING, STEWART, pseud. See Winchell, P.

STERN, MRS EDITH (MENDEL), and HAMILTON, SAMUEL WARREN. Mental illness: a guide for the family. 134p $1 Commonwealth fund
616.8 Mental diseases. Insane—Care and treatment 42-50638

A simply worded book of advice for the family when one of its members becomes mentally ill. Covers such topics as hospital versus home care, private versus public hospitalization, routine of admission and care, visiting, and recovery or permanent institutionalization. Glossary.

"Doctors and nurses who have responsibility for the recognition and care of mental illness will welcome this volume with its practical information and guidance for the family. This very readable book has been prepared under the best auspices and can be recommended as reflecting a wholesome and modern viewpoint." R. M. Atwater
+ Am J Pub Health 33:295 Mr '43 50w

"Simply written and reassuring."
+ Booklist 39:196 Ja 15 '43
Christian Century 59:1596 D 23 '42 50w

Reviewed by F. M. Dwyer
J Home Econ 35:304 My '43 200w

"It is a simple, readable, and authoritative guide book for those who are puzzled by the psychopathic behavior of their relatives or friends, and who only know about hospitals created in Hollywood." N. J. Demerath
+ Social Forces 21:363 Mr '43 200w

"It is a book that has been much needed and one that should prove very useful to those for whom it is written." E. R. Groves
+ Social Forces 22:227 D '43 100w

STERN, PHILIP VAN DOREN (PETER STORME, pseud), ed. Moonlight traveler; great tales of fantasy and imagination; with an introduction. 488p $3 Doubleday
Short stories—Collections (W) 43-51158

Contents: The celestial omnibus, by E. M. Forster; Desire, by James Stephens; Enoch Soames, by Max Beerbohm; The man who could work miracles, by H. G. Wells; The bottle imp, by R. L. Stevenson; Adam and Eve and Pinch Me, by A. E. Coppard; Lord Mountdrago, by W. S. Maugham; All hallows, by Walter de la Mare; Our distant cousins, by Lord Dunsany; Cobbler, cobbler, mend my shoe, by Jan Struther; The man who missed the bus, by Stella Benson; Sam Small's better half, by Eric Knight; Mr Arcularis, by Conrad Aiken; The diamond as big as the Ritz, by F. S. Fitzgerald; William Wilson, by Edgar Allan Poe; The curfew tolls, by S. V. Benét; The most maddening story in the world, by Ralph Straus; Phantas, by Oliver Onions; Roads of destiny, by O. Henry; 'Wireless,' by Rudyard Kipling; The music on the hill, by 'Saki' (H. H. Munro).

"While no lover of the fantastic will quarrel with selections like E. M. Forster's 'The Celestial Omnibus' and Walter de la Mare's 'All Hallows,' he will miss in this collection Thomas Burke, H. P. Lovecraft, Mary Wilkins-Freeman, Arthur Machen, E. F. Benson, M. P. Shiel, M. R. James, H. R. Wakefield, Algernon Blackwood, John Collier, and many another." August Derleth
Book Week p3 Je 6 '43 500w
Booklist 39:389 Je 1 '43

"O. Henry's 'Roads of Destiny,' lacks both cohesion and inevitability. 'The Most Maddening Story in the World,' by Ralph Straus, is equally hollow. And I am quite at a loss to know what claim Stephen Vincent Benét's completely unfantastic story about what Napoleon might have been like had he died in 1789 has to be included. With these exceptions, it is difficult to find fault with Mr. Stern's inclusions in this delightful volume. . . He might have found a good deal of fine material in such late Victorians as George MacDonald and Mrs. Oliphant. And it is too bad he overlooked Forrest Reid. But enough! No editor can stand being confronted by a list of the excellent pieces he failed to include." Edward Wagenknecht
+ — N Y Times p7 My 16 '43 900w
Springf'd Republican p7e Je 27 '43 550w

STERNE, MRS EMMA (GELDERS). Incident in Yorkville. 209p $1.75 Farrar
43-13637

Erich Braun, born in America, is sent to Germany to study. Five years later the boy comes back to America, a thoroly indoctrinated Nazi. This story for readers of nine to twelve, shows the gradual repatriation of Erich, from the boy who believed in Germany to the frightened lad who "did not want to die for Hitler." The scene is the Yorkville section of New York city.

"I'd like to see [the book] in the hands of every teen-age boy and girl, but there is much here which could be read with profit by their elders as well." P. A. Whitney
+ Book Week p11 S 26 '43 180w
Booklist 40:83 N 1 '43

Reviewed by A. M. Jordan
Horn Bk 19:410 N '43 100w

"Possibly the soundest contribution author makes is dramatic contrast she draws between German and American educational method, but even that is superficial." M. B. Snow
Library J 68:773 O 1 '43 80w

Reviewed by R. W. Stewart
Library J 68:825 O 15 '43 60w

"Not all Germans are going to see the light so quickly, but Erich's story is a provocative one and its portrayal of a neighborhood bound together in the common cause of democracy will help to crystallize for young people the issues for which we are fighting." E. L. Buell
+ — N Y Times p18 O 3 '43 420w
New Yorker 19:124 D 4 '43 70w

Reviewed by M. L. Becker
Weekly Book Review p6 S 26 '43 500w

STERNER, RICHARD MAURITZ EDVARD, and others. Negro's share; a study of income, consumption, housing and public assistance. (Carnegie corporation of N.Y. Negro in Am. life ser) 433p $4.50 Harper

325.26 Negroes—Economic conditions
43-8019

"One of several monographs, resulting from a study of the Negro in America, made under the leadership of Dr. Gunnar Myrdal and under the sponsorship of the Carnegie Corporation of New York." (Foreword) It comprises a study of Negro living conditions and participation in American life. It consists mainly of analysis and interpretation of statistics compiled on the Negro as producer and consumer, on his income and expenditures, and his level of living as determined by these factors. Index.

Reviewed by M. R. Davie
Am J Soc 49:273 N '43 180w

"The report is an extremely useful addition to the books on the economic status of the Negro people; it brings together and summarizes a body of factual material not previously assembled in this elaborate way." E. B. Reuter
+ Ann Am Acad 229:229 S '43 360w
Booklist 40:4 S '43

"Dr. Sterner is chary of drawing conclusions, and rightly so, I believe. Will be very useful to libraries needing factual and source material on the Negro in American life: income, housing, consumption, public assistance, etc. Not suited to popular reading, since it is detailed in matter and dry and precise in style." Ernestine Rose
+ — Library J 67:1105 D 15 '42 110w

Reviewed by E. F. Frazier
Nation 157:357 S 25 '43 1150w

"'The Negro's Share' presents no new findings or radically different interpretations. The statement of the problem and the evaluations are consistently restrained. The book has value, however, in that it brings together in a unified whole many scattered data on the economic status of the Negro. Its value is further enhanced by the inclusion of numerous tables and readable and informative appendices." H. L. Moon
+ — New Repub 109:85 Jl 19 '43 700w

"An intensive scholarly study of income, consumption, housing and public assistance among the Negro group in the United States." S. R. Harlow
+ Springf'd Republican p7e N 14 '43 750w

Reviewed by C. S. Johnson
Survey 79:317 N '43 500w
Wis Lib Bul 39:105 Jl '43

STEVENS, MRS FRANCES MOYER (ROSS) (CHRISTOPHER HALE, pseud). Hangman's tie. 209p $2 Doubleday
43-18119

Detective story.

Reviewed by Elizabeth Bullock
Book Week p5 D 19 '43 220w
Booklist 40:199 F 1 '44

Reviewed by Isaac Anderson
N Y Times p10 D 26 '43 140w

"A neatly solved mystery, particularly restful for readers who are tired of the antics of Axis agents."
+ New Yorker 19:99 D 18 '43 70w

"Satisfactory blend of murder, small-town scandal, humor, and romance with Miss Josephine Picard managing matters very efficiently. Entertaining."
+ Sat R of Lit 26:38 D 11 '43 40w

Reviewed by Will Cuppy
Weekly Book Review p28 D 12 '43 300w

STEVENS, MRS FRANCES MOYER (ROSS) (CHRISTOPHER HALE, pseud). Murder in tow. 276p $2 Doubleday
43-4976

Detective story.

Booklist 39:369 My 15 '43

"Verdict: Puzzling clues, some of which turn out to be red herrings, swift action, lively dialogue, a satisfactory solution, and a rather overlong explanation." I. A.
N Y Times p8 Mr 21 '43 160w

"Tightly constructed plot, good character, especially detective's aunt, and plenitude of action both by land and sea. Agreeable."
+ Sat R of Lit 26:18 Mr 13 '43 30w

Reviewed by Will Cuppy
Weekly Book Review p18 Mr 14 '43 180w

STEVENS, WALLACE. Notes toward a supreme fiction [poems]. ltd ed 45p $3; autog ed $4.50 Cummington press

811
42-24521

"This beautifully designed, hand-set edition of new work by Wallace Stevens consists of a sequence of triple-lined, seven-stanza compositions—musically arranged statements of the poet philosophically noting, in symbol and metaphor, his perceptions of idea not of fact (reality) but as an imagined creative process. Steven's sectional titles on the requirements of this supreme fiction—it must be abstract, it must change, it must give pleasure—add little by way of clarification to his theme. The context of the verses themselves, rich with allusions drawn from mythology, art, music, science, history and references to Stevens's own craft as poet, contribute variously to the total meaning." Weekly Book Review

"This last volume of Stevens' poems is nearly an anachronism. Its wholeness, its lucidity, its exactingness, its sanity, make you marvel that it managed its construction inside the wartime temper and that it somehow found living space between the abortive and the truncated. Its existence corroborates what Lawrence called the Holy Ghost in man. It reaffirms the value of scrupulousness and austerity." Harvey Breit
+ Poetry 62:48 Ap '43 600w

Reviewed by Dudley Fitts
Sat R of Lit 26:8 Ag 28 '43 360w
Weekly Book Review p14 F 28 '43 350w

STEVENS, WILLIAM OLIVER. Drummer boy of Burma; pictures by [the author]. 277p $2 Dodd
43-9191

Realistic story of the Burmese war some fifty years ago, and the part played by a small American boy, whose father was a medical missionary. The boy's father had been a drummer in the American Civil war, and in his desire to emulate his father Tommy learned to beat the drum so well that he was instrumental in stopping a native invasion. Based on the author's own recollections of life in Burma, where he spent his boyhood.

"There is real story-telling magic in 'Drummer Boy of Burma.' The characterization is so excellent, the background so vividly drawn, the values so true from first to last, that I feel it stands a fair chance to become one of today's classics. . . While most of the scenes are laid in Burma, I know of few recent books which give so strong a feeling of American patriotism." P. A. Whitney
+ Book Week p6 Jl 25 '43 380w

Reviewed by H. A. Masten
Christian Science Monitor p8 D 9 '43 140w

"There are reflections of Kipling's India in his references to soldiers and natives, snakes, bazaars and the pagoda at Mandalay. The boy who wanted a drum had a happy childhood in Burma and his story ends with the long voyage to America. It is a past that already begins to seem far away." A. M. Jordan
Horn Bk 19:244 Jl '43 60w

"Black-and-white sketches by author are very good. Recommended." L. E. Cathon
+ Library J 68:577 Jl '43 80w

Reviewed by E. L. Buell
N Y Times p7 Ag 15 '43 240w

"A good story about a country more than a name to us today." M. L. Becker
+ Weekly Book Review p7 Jl 4 '43 500w
Wis Lib Bul 39:125 O '43

STEVENS, WILLIAM OLIVER. Washington: the Cinderella city; il. by the author. 334p $3 Dodd

975.3 Washington, D.C. 43-4410

Informal, anecdotal history of Washington, D.C., from its beginnings as a straggling little village to the busy city of 1943. Partial contents: The first British invasion; The second British invasion: the Literati; Capital life in the first half century: official side; The first half century: social Washington; The Civil War years; Postwar decades; Some old houses and their legends; The old government buildings; Some forgotten first ladies; Older sisters: Georgetown; Older sisters: Alexandria; Washington in wartime. Index.

"As a student of cities, with books already published on Nantucket, Annapolis, Williamsburg, and Charleston, Mr. Stevens makes his most valuable contribution to literature in his chapters about historic houses and other architectural landmarks in and about the capital. He makes old houses live by telling the stories of the people who lived in them long before Cinderella's donning of her new ball gown, as he calls the recent federal building program. The least substantial part of the book is the two final chapters on Washington in Wartime." M. H.

+ — Christian Science Monitor p14 Mr 31 '43 480w

"Recommended for small library purchase." F. A. Boyle

+ Library J 68:210 Mr 1 '43 70w

Reviewed by Mary Poore

N Y Times p22 Ap 25 '43 500w

Springf'd Republican p8 Ap 22 '43 410w

"All in all Mr. Stevens has done well by Cinderella, although his two concluding chapters on war-time Washington did not give this reviewer the pleasure that the other 90 per cent of the book did. They seem to savor too much of a labored and hasty rewrite of newspaper clippings done just to bring Cinderella up to the minute. But readers will differ on that, and the reviewer is willing to settle for the 90 per cent." Bert Andrews

+ — Weekly Book Review p13 Ap 4 '43 700w

STEVENS, WILLIAM OLIVER, and WESTCOTT, ALLAN FERGUSON. History of sea power. new rev ed 467p il maps $6 Doubleday

359 Sea power. Naval history 42-19897

A history of the evolution and influence of sea power from the Phoenician triremes of 1200 B.C. to the present conflict raging in the Mediterranean, the Atlantic and the Pacific. The work of two Annapolis professors, earlier editions of this text have been used for more than two decades in courses in the Naval academy. For first edition see Book Review Digest, 1920.

Reviewed by E. L. Tinker

N Y Times p18 Ja 24 '43 1200w

"In its way, this volume is a contemporary classic—thorough, professorial, adequate. . . It is a little curious, in a work that illustrates almost every type of vessel back to the days of antiquity, to find no illustration of the aircraft-carrier and to find so little stress upon the current revolution in naval practices. But then, those are matters of the present and the future, and this book is really meant to teach the lessons of the past. This it does admirably." Paul Schubert

+ — Sat R of Lit 25:6 S 12 '42 450w

STEVENSON, AUGUSTA. Daniel Boone, boy hunter; il. by Paul Laune. 194p $1.50 Bobbs

B or 92 Boone, Daniel—Juvenile literature 43-13936

Biography for younger readers, which places emphasis on the childhood and youth of Daniel Boone.

"There is no literary value to a book of this kind written in short choppy sentences, but fourth- and fifth-grade children can read the series of fictionized biography. Last two chapters which tell of Boone as older man are out of place in a book designed to give story of his boyhood. Dialogue employed is out of character for Lord Dunmore and other gentlemen. Author assumes extensive historical background in these chapters which average nine- and ten-year-old does not possess. Recommended for easy reading." B. W. Bell

— + Library J 68:963 N 15 '43 110w

"This one is especially well designed to interest boys and could be recommended to those somewhat older than the group for whom it is intended."

+ Wis Lib Bul 39:161 D '43

STEVENSON, DOROTHY EMILY (MRS JAMES REID PEPLOE). Celia's house. 307p $2.50 Farrar [8s 6d Collins]

43-2517

Story of a family estate on the border of Scotland, and the Dunnes who had owned it for generations. It begins in 1905 with Dunnian House in the hands of Miss Celia Dunne, aged ninety; it closes in 1942 with another Celia in charge, a young and beautiful Celia, who loved Dunnian as much as her ancestors did.

"You may like this tale for it is as simple and quiet as a whisper. . . Miss Stevenson's previous book was 'Crooked Adam' a formula spy thriller. This new book is a vast improvement." E. J. C.

+ Book Week p11 My 2 '43 230w

Booklist 39:354 My 1 '43

Cleveland Open Shelf p12 Jl '43

"Because of new vistas opened out, this is an exceptionally intriguing novel. And it has all the old charm—which, in essence, is not unlike that of the Border Country itself." J. S. Southron

+ N Y Times p42 Mr 21 '43 500w

"Miss Stevenson's admirers will not look for any deep reading of character or motive; but they can be assured of a pleasant, comfortable story, written with genuine affection for the Border countryside."

+ Times [London] Lit Sup p65 F 6 '43 270w

Reviewed by Lisle Bell

Weekly Book Review p20 F 28 '43 400w

Wis Lib Bul 39:55 Ap '43

STEVENSON, DOROTHY EMILY (MRS JAMES REID PEPLOE). Two Mrs Abbotts. 282p $2.50 Farrar [8s 6d Collins]

43-18202

Gentle, slightly satirical novel of present day England. The former Miss Buncle, now married to her publisher and the mother of two small children, takes her slightly muddled way thru the daily life of an English country town in wartime. Her husband's niece, also a Mrs Abbott, and also slightly muddled, is the other Mrs Abbott. The two heroines are very good friends and share the difficulties of their bewilderment in problems of rationing, unwanted adorers, and troublesome neighbors.

"A delightful new novel in the Miss Buncle series. . . The whole rambling story keeps the reader continuously interested in the minor incidents of village life and at the same time gives a very English—and mildly satirical—picture of the way the English upper middle class carries on in wartime." Beatrice Sherman

+ N Y Times p5 Ja 9 '44 300w

"This is one of those novels that some readers will like very much while others will toss it aside after a chapter or two in bored wonder that anyone should have the time or desire to write anything so inconsequential and so tranquilly dull. . . There is nothing here to disturb you. To charm you—if it does—is Miss Stevenson's gentle humor. You will find 'The Two Mrs. Abbotts' relaxing bed-reading after a tense, high-blood-pressureish day." M. S. Ulrich

+ — Sat R of Lit 27:10 Ja 15 '44 320w

"Light and attractive entertainment and can be warmly recommended to all who enjoy reading about simple and warm-hearted people in pleasant and homely surroundings."
+ Times [London] Lit Sup p524 O 30 '43 120w

Reviewed by Lisle Bell
Weekly Book Review p16 Ja 16 '44 230w

STEWARD, MRS ANN (SCHIEAR). Take nothing for your journey. 333p $2.50 Macmillan
43-14787

A sequel to the author's Let the Earth Speak (Book Review Digest, 1940) a novel of a Kentucky family. The chief characters in this book are Brent Hayes and his wife Agnes, Agnes' brother Kirtley Hayes, and Brent's half-brother, the poet Drake Parker, and the two women in Drake's life.

"Some subtle quality that suggests Ibsen pervades this novel, though the style is the author's own. The plot and characters carry through from her earlier novel, Let the Earth Speak, but with enough recapitulation to make this complete in itself. In delineation of characters and in substantial structure of plot, this is distinguished fiction."
+ Christian Century 60:1234 O 27 '43 50w

"Like too many novels of today, this appears to have no justification for being published. If library is buying fiction indiscriminately, it would be included, but no library should deem it necessary." G. E. Brown
— Library J 68:726 S 15 '43 70w

"'Take Nothing for Your Journey' is a profound and disturbing book. It has the simplicity of a legendary tale and the complexity of human beings in revolt." Rose Feld
+ N Y Times p10 O 17 '43 500w

"The novel is better written than its predecessor. It is not so poetic and over-elaborate, there are no obvious tricks of style, the imagery and symbolism are less obtrusive. The prose is less mannered, more firm. There is never a hackneyed phrase, or merely a clever phrase, but always sharpness and aptness in observation and wording. The indeterminate ending (a correct and logical ending) points to a further extension of the strange, absorbing saga of the Hayes clan." R. A. Cordell
+ — Sat R of Lit 26:46 O 16 '43 550w

Reviewed by L. S. Munn
Springf'd Republican p7e N 14 '43 500w

"'Take Nothing for Your Journey' is for the reader who likes a somber note and can take a good deal of suffering and involved emotion in his stride." Rosemary Benet
Weekly Book Review p8 O 17 '43 700w

STEWART, H., and others. Aircraft navigation. See Aircraft navigation

STEWART, JOHN INNES MACINTOSH (MICHAEL INNES, pseud). Weight of evidence. 250p $2 Dodd 43-14285

Detective story.

Reviewed by Elizabeth Bullock
Book Week p5 O 17 '43 110w

"The long arm of coincidence will never be the same again after the stretching to which it is subjected in this story, but those—and they are many—who like Michael Innes's narrative style will not want to miss it." Isaac Anderson
N Y Times p10 O 3 '43 100w

"Get out your reference books before you settle down to read this. Recommended for those with a pedantic turn of mind."
New Yorker 19:87 S 25 '43 90w

"First class puzzle, deftly solved. University background interesting and amusing—in scholarly way. Action rather leisurely. For adepts."
+ Sat R of Lit 26:21 S 25 '43 30w

"We have pondered and pondered and we don't see how any person or persons can call 'The Weight of the Evidence' slow, an epithet often applied nowadays to any offering in the pure detective vein, or in its right mind, or both. Grade A plus." Will Cuppy
+ Weekly Book Review p18 S 26 '43 400w

STEWART, KENNETH NORMAN. News is what we make it; a running story of the working press. 340p $3 Houghton

B or 92 Journalists—Correspondence, reminiscences, etc. 43-9581

The inside story of American journalism of the last twenty-five years, told partly as autobiography, partly as history of the press. The author has been reporter on newspapers from California to Atlanta, Paris and New York, as well as an instructor in journalism at Columbia and Stanford universities. He is at present in Washington. Index.

"This is a good, though slightly self-conscious, record of a quarter century of American journalism, by a man who does not hesitate to criticize the policies of the publishers who have so often believed 'News Is What We Make It.'" Sterling North
+ Book Week p3 Jl 18 '43 400w

Booklist 39:455 Jl 15 '43

Commonweal 38:278 Jl 2 '43 350w

"Valuable for any library because of its thoroughly readable yet objective picture of news in the making, as reflected through experiences of one journalist. . . Recommended for immediate purchase." M. C. Manley
+ Library J 68:572 Jl '43 110w

Reviewed by F. L. Mott
New Eng Q 16:678 D '43 550w

"Mr. Stewart can be read with both sympathy and uneasy tingles in the spine. His book's reception, in many newspaper offices where he worked, will not be unanimous. But it should be as useful as it is provocative, for it reflects stirrings now going on in many a city room, at many a copy desk and (although the author may not grant this) in many a front office. I'm sure it will confirm many preconceived notions—notions held ever since newspapers appeared—that the press is going to the dogs. . . But it can't go to the dogs as long as there are books like this." S. T. Williamson
+ N Y Times p12 Jl 18 '43 900w

Reviewed by Jonathan Daniels
Sat R of Lit 26:9 Ag 14 '43 600w

Reviewed by Marshall Bragdon
Springf'd Republican p6 Je 26 '43 700w

Reviewed by Stanley Walker
Weekly Book Review p4 Je 27 '43 1550w

Wis Lib Bul 39:140 N '43

STEWART, MAXWELL SLUTZ. Building for peace at home and abroad. 240p $2.50 Harper

338.9 U.S.—Economic policy. Reconstruction (1939-). International cooperation
43-16638

"Editor of Public Affairs Committee and Associate Editor of Nation presents sober, realistic survey of domestic and international peace problems. Jobs at home, peace abroad are the central themes." Library J

Booklist 40:158 Ja 1 '44

"Simple, understandable language combined with clarity of thought, based on thorough study. Highly recommended for all public libraries and educational institutions." H. H. A. Bernt
+ Library J 68:891 N 1 '43 70w

"The only trouble with this useful little book is a fundamental question which Mr. Stewart himself brings up in his concluding chapter, Will the average American, the 'Jim Hogan'

STEWART, M. S.—Continued
to whom Mr. Stewart speaks, be influenced by post-war primers such as these? Mr. Stewart has his doubts. . . Simple, concise, well-reasoned books like these—books that should but won't be read by the common man—are doomed to insignificant sales, and will be read chiefly by persons who, like this reviewer, are already in essential agreement with their authors. And we need stronger meat." Leigh White

+ Nation 158:102 Ja 22 '44 500w

Reviewed by Albert Guérard
New Repub 109:922 D 27 '43 360w

Reviewed by Norman Angell
Sat R of Lit 26:5 D 11 '43 450w

Reviewed by H. B. Parkes
Weekly Book Review p14 Ja 23 '44 110w

STIERI, EMANUELE. Building model war planes. 90p il $2.50; suppl in envelope $1.50 Duell

629.13 Airplane models 43-6581

The United States armed forces have asked the schools of the country to make 800,000 model airplanes for purposes of instruction in identification and for technical study. This book contains a section of general instructions and then detailed drawings of sixty airplane models representing American, British, Japanese and German aircraft. Glossary.

Book Week p6 Ap 25 '43 170w
Booklist 39:383 Je 1 '43

Reviewed by F. B. Sloan
Christian Science Monitor p12 Ap 22 '43 200w
Library J 68:212 Mr 1 '43 30w
N Y New Tech Bks 28:39 Jl '43
New Yorker 19:72 My 29 '43 40w
Sat R of Lit 26:33 Ag 21 '43 90w

STIGLER, GEORGE JOSEPH. Theory of competitive price. 197p $3 Macmillan

338.5 Prices. Economics 42-18738

"This is a preliminary edition of a textbook in advanced economic theory. By advanced theory [is meant] not that the subject matter is more inclusive than that of elementary courses (for the contrary is of course true) but rather that fundamental concepts are presented with more precision and that there is greater emphasis upon technique. The present volume covers the usual introductory material on methodology and the theory of competition. In the not-too-distant future [the author hopes] to add sections on imperfect competition, multiple products, capital theory, and certain other topics which usually receive attention in advanced theory courses." (Pref) Index.

"Of late, several textbooks have appeared, wholly or mainly on economic theory, which display encouraging improvement in quality. Among them Professor Stigler's Theory of Competitive Price is entitled to a prominent place. His material, though he may feel it to be 'unoriginal,' is certainly not trite. His crisp presentation is sure to hold the interest of the reader and to clear up for the beginner many difficulties which with less efficient teaching he might never overcome at all." J. A. Schumpeter

+ — Am Econ R 32:844 D '42 1750w

"In the class of textbooks in advanced modern theory Professor Stigler's work is without competition. Its nearest substitutes are either less advanced or less textbook or less modern: Boulding, Hicks, or Marshall. If the complete book fulfills what the preliminary edition promises, we shall at last have the textbook for which the profession has long been waiting. . . The organization of the book is sound, though it has, of course, its shortcomings. Many will regard as a serious defect what to Dr. Stigler appears as the chief virtue of his organization: the postponement of the discussion of monopolistic and nonperfect competition for a separate part." Fritz Machlup

+ — J Pol Econ 51:263 Je '43 2550w

STINETORF, LOUISE A. Children of North Africa; il. by Frank Dobias. 190p $2 Lippincott

Children in North Africa 43-8214

Twelve short stories about European children or the people of North Africa, giving considerable attention to native life and customs. For grades four to six. No index.

"Without sacrificing story interest the author has captured the color, the feel, the very sound and smell of North Africa, so that this book should be of particular value to teachers who are anxious to present to their pupils an authentic picture of the country. Louise Stinetorf knows Africa and writes with sympathy, humor and understanding of its people." Phyllis Whitney

+ Book Week p6 Je 6 '43 270w
Booklist 39:432 Je 15 '43

Reviewed by A. M. Jordan
Horn Bk 19:242 Jl '43 110w

"Against strange backgrounds, author has woven fascinating stories that will create further interest in this continent. Pictures by Frank Dobias. For all libraries." D. M. MacDonald

+ Library J 68:531 Je 15 '43 70w

"Today when so many authors are writing for children stories about foreign countries that are full of charm, convincing detail and genuine characterization, Miss Stinetorf's book seems a trifle pedestrian. Boys and girls from 8 to 10, however, have a real liking for tales of distant lands and as there is little in print for children dealing with this part of the world, 'Children of North Africa' may fill a need until something better is available." A. T. Eaton

N Y Times p10 Jl 4 '43 200w
Springf'd Republican p7e O 31 '43 70w

"Nobody doubts the timeliness of a book about children of a part of the world suddenly coming so close to children of the United States. . . But it should be noted with pleasure that even without such aid from events these little tales would have given pleasure." M. L. Becker

+ Weekly Book Review p21 My 23 '43 430w
Wis Lib Bul 39:125 O '43

STOCKER, HARRY ELLIS. Materials handling; principles, equipment and methods. 309p il $5; to schools $3.75 Prentice-Hall

658.281 Material handling 43-4960

"Purpose of author is to analyze handling of materials, with idea in mind to save labor, reduce cost, conserve materials, and speed up handling and transportation of materials for production of war goods." (Library J) Index.

Booklist 39:459 Jl 15 '43
Library J 68:433 My 15 '43 30w
N Y New Tech Bks 28:29 Ap '43

STODDARD, GEORGE DINSMORE. Meaning of intelligence. 504p $4 Macmillan

151 Intellect. Mental tests 43-1851

"Brings into focus various research findings on the broad question of intelligence; it attempts to relate technical issues to certain problems in modern life. While neither a textbook nor a handbook, it may help workers in psychology, education, and related fields who are baffled by the tremendous amount of fragmentary writing and discussion." (School & Society) Indexes.

"The Meaning of Intelligence is, in the main, an interestingly written book. Whether or not one agrees with its data and its social philosophy one should, the reviewer feels, become acquainted with what the progressive educators will in all probability soon accept as another of their gospels." P. R. Farnsworth

+ Am Soc R 8:618 O '43 600w

"The work is, on the whole, an able, well-organized, and in places sparkling exposition of the systematic view of the members of the rebellion in educational psychology. It is a statement that calls for respect, whatever our prejudices on the issues may be, and which deserves to be known as an important work." R. E. L. Faris
+ Am J Soc 49:265 N '43 700w
School & Society 57:168 F 6 '43 50w

STOKOWSKI, LEOPOLD. Music for all of us. 340p $2.50 Simon & Schuster
780 Music—Analysis, interpretation, appreciation 43-15246

"History and range of individual instruments, their probable development, relative position of instruments in orchestra; future improvements in technicalities of broadcasting; discussion of frequency modulation; music and motion pictures as combined in Fantasia; reproduction of recorded and broadcast music—these are some of topics discussed in prophetic book that will increase in importance with the years." (Library J) Index.

Booklist 40:141 D 15 '43
Christian Science Monitor p7 S 25 '43 450w

"As long as Mr. Stokowski talks shop he is extremely interesting and informative. Even when diagrams show air vibrating in a tube, even when he is talking about the mathematical foundations of music, or about scales, harmony, tonality, pitch, key centers, and relativity there is nothing too difficult, nothing that will not add to a layman's comprehension of music—consequently to his enjoyment of music. . . Our quarrel with him is when he becomes mystical: within his first fifty-four pages, music in some way or another is made to reflect the 'Supreme Artist,' the 'Divine Mother'; music 'calls to us from the Ideal'; the 'soul of the Universe' is speaking; it is an important part of 'Reality and Truth.' All the capital letters are Mr. Stokowski's; the punctuation is by dashes. There are passages which read like the English text of Wagner's breathless love poetry. There are also, unfortunately, passages which read like an advertisement for a radio company."
+ — Commonweal 38:637 O 15 '43 600w

"The more knowledge of scientific side of music reader can bring to bear, the more rewarding he will find Dr. Stokowski's excellent treatise. . . Recommended for small library purchase." F. A. Boyle
+ Library J 68:247 Mr 15 '43 90w

"When he gets around to the physical side of music, Mr. Stokowski writes more illuminatingly than most musicians. For his is a bold, far-ranging, searching mind. . . Mr. Stokowski is covering old ground when he writes about the physical elements of music. Many other writers have set down their views. But Mr. Stokowski covers the field with a fresh, broad point of view. He tries to state his position as simply as he can, but he does not write down, as many expositors of music for the layman are inclined to do. He respects not only his art but his audience. . . Since Mr. Stokowski is one of the most eminent conductors in America, readers will turn to his chapters on the orchestra and on conducting with special interest and they will not be disappointed, though they may wish that he had given more space to his ideas and experience." Howard Taubman
+ N Y Times p8 O 3 '43 800w

"While the book contains some interesting remarks relating to the author's own field, conducting, and a fair textbook summary of elementary acoustics, there just is no raison d'être for such an amateurish compilation. . . It is disappointing that the man who dares to call the tune for Bach to dance, the imperious artist who can take any scratch orchestra and make it sound like a first-class ensemble, turns out to be such a sentimental ingénue of an author." P. H. Lang
— Sat R of Lit 26:38 O 16 '43 500w
Theatre Arts 27:693 N '43 550w

"Mr. Stokowski, for all his impatience with people who cling to the obscure simply because it is traditionally correct, has his own lapses, appearing for the most part in idiosyncratic spelling. . . That is, however, a very small flaw in a book written with beautiful clarity and full of curious and often fascinating lore, and in addition to that a book revealing a human being of a strikingly unusual type." G. W. Johnson
+ — Weekly Book Review p14 O 24 '43 950w

STONE, IRVING. They also ran; the story of the men who were defeated for the presidency. 389p il $3.50 Doubleday
920 U.S.—Biography. U.S.—Politics and government 43-8018

"Short biographies of nineteen defeated candidates for the Presidency—Clay, Frémont, Douglas, Bryan, Smith, and Willkie, among others—plus an estimate of what their worth to the nation might have been if they had been elected." New Yorker

"The processes by which these men were selected and the conduct of their candidacies make for lively and profitable reading both for the sociological student and the voter whose interest remains dormant until the quadrennial three-ring circus comes around again. Stone, too, is the boy who can extract a great deal of palatable juice from such materials making his stories lively and of contemporary interest and significance." Jack Conroy
+ Book Week p3 Je 13 '43 900w
Booklist 39:425 Je 15 '43
Christian Science Monitor p10 Jl 31 '43 430w
Commonweal 38:376 Jl 30 '43 140w
Reviewed by George Joel
Nation 157:272 S 4 '43 500w
Reviewed by Eliot Janeway
New Repub 109:52 Jl 12 '43 1050w

" 'They Also Ran' remains rather too close to a reportorial level. But it is high, it is often superb reporting and forms a vivid blow-by-blow account of perhaps the greatest battle in history—the one-hundred-fifty-year struggle of the American people to handle their own destiny." Maxwell Geismar
+ — N Y Times p5 My 30 '43 800w

"Vigorous writing, and some new evaluations."
+ New Yorker 19:87 Je 5 '43 50w

" 'They Also Ran' is a good book worth writing and well worth reading. It is a book over which the contemplative student of American history may well ponder." W. A. White
+ Sat R of Lit 26:10 Jl 3 '43 1800w

"Mr Stone's vivid story is sometimes marred by careless slips. . . For all that, in this imperfect world 'They Also Ran' is worth reading, though not as gospel." Marshall Bragdon
Springf'd Republican p6 Je 12 '43 900w

"It is a book to be recommended strongly, especially to those who look upon American political history as a dreary bore. Here it is the sprightliest sort of drama." G. W. Johnson
+ Weekly Book Review p2 Je 6 '43 1300w

STONER, JOHN EDGAR. S. O. Levinson and the Pact of Paris; a study in the techniques of influence. 368p $4 Univ. of Chicago press [30s Cambridge]
341.6 Pact of Paris, 1928. Levinson, Salmon Oliver. U.S.—Foreign relations 43-1523

"One purpose of this study is to throw light on the American outlawry-of-war movement and its relation to the Treaty for the Renunciation of War, frequently called the Pact of Paris or the Kellogg Peace Pact. The second purpose is to explore the means and techniques whereby ideas and men come to influence. . . In the preparation of this work the correspondence of Salmon O. Levinson and the extensive documentary material which he produced and collected were examined. . . Another source of information was the oral testimony of many persons connected with the outlawry-of-war movement either as participants or as observers." (Pref) Index.

Reviewed by D. F. Fleming
Am Pol Sci R 37:934 O '43 600w

STONER, J. E.—Continued

"The author's use of available public documents and private papers, especially Levinson's, has followed the best traditions of scholarship, and his well-written, straightforward story displays as little bias as one could reasonably expect. When it comes to assessing the value of Levinson's work, the validity of his methods, or the final outcome of his labors, one is in doubt what place to assign him." L. B. Shippee

+ — Ann Am Acad 228:141 Jl '43 550w

"Dr. Stoner's step-by-step account of the development of the outlawry movement might have been a formidably dry historical record. The personal side of the story, as he tells it in much detail, keeps it from being that. The abounding vitality of the central character, the indiscretion of many of his exchanges with associates like Raymond Robins and Harrison Brown, the strong individuality of the men and women whose aid he recruited, the storms which swirled so ceaselessly through the peace camps—all these things are graphically treated." Paul Hutchinson

+ Christian Century 60:424 Ap 7 '43 900w

STONG, PHILIP DUFFIELD. Missouri canary; pictures by Kurt Wiese. 78p $2 Dodd
43-16085

The gay adventures of two Iowa farm boys and their mule, Caruso the Missouri canary, when the army used their father's farm for practice warfare.

"Phil Stong has done a really funny job on this tale. . . Kurt Wiese's illustrations add to the general hilarity." P. A. Whitney

+ Book Week p4 N 14 '43 90w

"This is Phil Stong again not exactly glorifying the American boy but making a mighty hilarious thing out of him." E. L. B.

+ N Y Times p22 N 14 '43 180w

New Yorker 19:120 D 4 '43 70w

"Real boys, real Iowa talk, crackling with unexpected comebacks, among their elders: a real mule—'military jeep, original model'—these are all involved in an adventure that ought to have happened, it is so funny. Boys from seven to eleven, for whom the tale is offered, will gobble it up, pictures and all." M. L. Becker

+ Weekly Book Review p8 N 14 '43 380w

STOUT, WILLIAM BUSHNELL, and RECK, FRANKLIN MERING. Tomorrow we fly. 160p il $2 Crowell

629.13 Aeronautics. Aeronautics, Commercial
44-354

After a brief history of aviation, the authors discuss the future trends in aviation: air freight; helicopters; private ownership of planes; international travel; etc. Mr Stout is the designer of the first metal airplane and the Scarab automobile; Mr Reck is a magazine writer and editor. Index.

Reviewed by W. F. Morse
Book Week p5 Ja 9 '44 750w

Booklist 40:192 F 1 '44

"Nontechnical. Recommended." J. A. Sohon

+ Library J 68:1005 D 1 '43 50w

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 68:1008 D 1 '43 30w

"For every person who is 'air-minded' here is a fascinating little book." G. W. Harris

+ N Y Times p14 Ja 16 '44 500w

STOVALL, FLOYD. American idealism. 235p $2.75 Univ. of Okla. press

810.9 American literature—History and criticism. Idealism in literature 43-4567

"This is a cursory survey of the history of American literature, intended to illustrate a theory of American character and thought. By American idealism the author does not mean a system of philosophy but 'a quality of the mind itself'; similarly its opposite, American materialism, means anything from love of wealth to fatalism. . . The general thesis is that in early American history idealism (roughly associated with religion) and materialism (roughly associated with the forces of nature and the frontier) were both constructive, though antithetical forces, unreconciled but 'active agents in the creation of stability.' Then came rationalism, western expansion, and civil war, and Darwinism, all threatening idealism. Edwards and Franklin illustrate the 'polar opposites' of Calvinism and Deism. The transcendentalism of Emerson was not only a synthesis of those opposites, but a philosophy of polarity itself. In Emerson, therefore, American idealism reached its zenith." (J Philos) Index.

Christian Century 60:428 Ap 7 '43 110w

Reviewed by J. A. Clark
Commonweal 38:231 Je 18 '43 490w

"Most of the historical comment and literary criticism in the volume does not rise above the level of the commonplace, but the sections on Emerson and E. A. Robinson are good analyses. . . In general the American philosophers seem not to fit the author's scheme very well, and, indeed, have apparently had little direct influence on him. His preoccupation with polarities and syntheses likewise appears to be philosophically innocent and to reflect his American rather than an Hegelian idealism." H. W. S.

J Philos 40:222 Ap 15 '43 550w

Reviewed by R. H. Gabriel
New Eng Q 16:667 D '43 950w

" 'American Idealism,' is a provocative book but one that at the same time gives the answer to many questions, for our reactions during the war, and our attitude to the dire problems that must follow, are sure to be conditioned by the national idealism whose development Professor Stovall has so ably recorded. . . [It] renews confidence in the American people, and anchors it to a strong spiritual foundation, while encouraging us to follow Thoreau's inspiring advice: 'If you have built castles in the air, your work need not be lost; that is where they should be. Now put the foundations under them.' " E. L. Tinker

+ N Y Times p8 Ap 18 '43 950w

"This is the kind of book we like to read in these days when the armies of democracy are once more on the march. For a long time we have been harboring doubts about the ideals of democracy and progress. . . Mr. Stovall pounds the table and tells us emphatically that our faith in democratic idealism is not dead. Two excellent chapters on Emerson and Whitman serve to define his thesis and make more comprehensible its principal spokesman. Other less skillful chapters trace the origins and precedents of their thought. In like sweeping and dogmatic fashion Mr. Stovall traces the challenge to this faith by the American version of materialism, the pragmatic and other attempts at compromise, and the triumph of pessimism in Dreiser. . . All this is sound and needs to be pointed out, but the problem is too large for such summary treatment." R. E. Spiller

+ — Sat R of Lit 26:23 My 1 '43 450w

Reviewed by Lee Varley
Springf'd Republican p6 Jl 20 '43 470w

Reviewed by G. F. Whicher
Weekly Book Review p25 Je 6 '43 650w

STRACK, MRS LILIAN (HOLMES). Magnesium; a magic mineral. 54p il $1 Harper

671 Magnesium—Juvenile literature 43-16619

A book for young readers giving an account of the discovery, the methods of processing, and the uses of this "magic mineral."

Booklist 40:118 D 1 '43

Reviewed by Dorotha Dawson
Library J 68:1051 D 15 '43 30w

Wis Lib Bul 40:13 Ja '44

STRAIGHT, MICHAEL WHITNEY. Make this the last war; the future of the United nations. 417p $3 Harcourt

940.531 United Nations, 1942-. International cooperation. U.S.—Foreign relations 43-587

"Mr. Straight deals with the advantages that flow from United Nations collaboration, and cites some piquant facts on the lessons which the several armed services have learned from the combat experience of their allies. He also dissects the shortcomings of United Nations agencies. . . It is in the treatment of peace problems, however, that Mr. Straight makes his biggest contribution. . . Straight wants a federated Europe, pivot of a federated world, but holds that 'unless there is a fundamental change in the social structure of Europe there will be no basis for European federation.' His outline of this social change is sweeping and concrete. Generally speaking, he is a 145 per cent New Dealer who would retain war-time emergency measures long after the war ends. He apparently is not afraid of the bad effect which omnipotent, omnipresent governments usually exercise on human rights and individual freedom." (Nation) Index.

Reviewed by Nicholas Doman
Ann Am Acad 228:108 Jl '43 400w

Booklist 39:273 Mr 1 '43

"All about us are lethargic people who hope that after the war we can relapse into the cushions of the status quo ante—like those who thought Europe could be remade in the Bourbon image after 1815. All about us, too, are gloomy defeatists, who admit that we should remake the sorry scheme of things entire, but do not believe we can. This is a tonic book for both sets. And it is a sternly rebuking book for that third school, the aggressive folk who wish America to claim isolationism and then drive her own war chariot down the path of continental conquest. . . If the book is often overemphatic and even overdrawn, its main theses are sound and are forcibly argued." Allan Nevins

+ — Books p5 Ja 24 '43 2050w

Reviewed by J. L. Adams
Christian Century 60:989 S 1 '43 700w

"The book has the defects of youthful impatience, intolerance and snap-judgment. But it is the first book about the United Nations that reveals clearly what we are fighting for, what we ought to be fighting for, and the chances of gaining our ends if our purposes are clear and our sacrifices ready." Clifton Macon

+ — Churchman 157:16 F 1 '43 240w

Reviewed by J. N. Moody
Commonweal 37:476 F 26 '43 750w

Current Hist 4:82 Mr '43 330w

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert
Foreign Affairs 21:3 Jl '43 60w

"This is a good book about the most important thing in our lives—the war and the peace. Persons who buy Mr. Straight's passionate volume should send it on to friends in the armed services to read when they are through with the funnies. . . The book is obviously the result of hard work, solid thinking, and courage. It probes the problems of peace more profoundly than any other book recently published in America." Louis Fischer

+ Nation 156:96 Ja 16 '43 1100w

"It is a book of mingled exhortation and argument, crammed with facts and statistics over whose interpretation experts will probably quarrel. As I am not an expert, I can only record my impression that it will stand as a solid reply to two sorts of people. The first is the 'realist' who conceives of this war as a kind of enlarged street fight in which we were unfairly attacked. . . The second and more dangerous kind of American (using the word loosely) is the 'realist' who thinks of this war as a new, and not the last, chapter in power politics. . . Straight's book is partly exciting, partly opaque. It will irritate all those who hate the planning mind. It will certainly irritate all those who foam at the mouth when they hear expressed the notion that children should not be permitted to die of malnutrition anywhere on the earth's surface. It will be read with care, I think not by visionaries or utopians but by thousands of plain people who are slowly coming to realize that Ben Franklin was a hundred and fifty years ahead of his time with that little remark about hanging together." Clifton Fadiman

+ New Yorker 18:47 Ja 9 '43 1100w

"Mr. Straight writes in a somewhat hysterical style, but has gathered much significant material which is not easily available elsewhere." H. B. Parkes

Pol Sci Q 58:431 S '43 800w

"'Make This the Last War' is a young man's book. He happens to be an extraordinarily intelligent and well-informed young man, but he writes with passion, faith and sometimes anger. His appeal and his warning deserves the widest reading. Some will utterly oppose his basic premises; others (like this reviewer) may feel that he prescribes too many medicines; but few will read his book without more richly furnishing their own minds for the inescapable tasks of peacetime."

+ Springf'd Republican p7e Ja 3 '43 1000w

"This is a magnificent and courageous book." Leigh White

+ Survey G 32:104 Mr '43 600w

Time 41:90 Ja 25 '43 1000w

Wis Lib Bul 39:109 Jl '43

STRAIN, MRS FRANCES (BRUCE). Your child, his family and friends. 210p il $2 Appleton-Century

649.1 Children—Management. Child study 43-8072

Advice to parents on the upbringing of their children, especially in establishing their relationships with other people, grown-ups and children both. Partial contents: The family circle; Parents as key-noters; Grandparents, servants, guests; Love and affection; Bad habits in good children; The little red schoolhouse; Playground problems; New brothers and sisters; The doctor, the dentist, the barber. Index.

Booklist 39:419 Je 15 '43

Reviewed by Alice Sowers
J Home Econ 35:589 N '43 450w

"Unsentimental, sensible advice. . . Mrs. Strain, who has written several successful books on sex education (e.g., Being Born, 1936), offers solutions for many behavior problems and includes frank, unmoralizing chapter on sex teaching. Useful for public libraries." J. S. Cleavinger

+ Library J 68:288 Ap 1 '43 110w

"On the whole the narrative succeeds admirably in reducing theory and practice of modern child guidance to simple language. This is not a 'what to do when' handbook, but general discussion of such matters as divorce, remarriage and the new baby's arrival are helpfully brought down to the everyday in vivid and concrete examples." Catherine Mackenzie

+ N Y Times p18 Jl 25 '43 280w

Springf'd Republican p7e Ja 16 '44 160w

"Made out of scattered magazine articles, these chapters might have been choppy had not a thread of common purpose run through them all, and through all Mrs. Strain writes about children. She wants them taken seriously, but not too seriously; loved so wisely that they will be well loved; above all, believed in. Grandmothers have their place in the book, and will find enlightenment, but they may not need it so much as anxious young mothers."

+ Weekly Book Review p10 Ag 8 '43 350w

Wis Lib Bul 39:81 Je '43

STRANG, RUTH MAY. Exploration in reading patterns. 172p $2 Univ. of Chicago press

028 Books and reading 42-24652

"A study conducted by individual examination of the reading interests and abilities of 112 persons whose ages covered a range of from 13 to over 50 years, whose economic status varied from the very poor to the wealthy, and who represented each of the major occupational groups except agriculture, extraction of minerals, and public service. The group was definitely heterogeneous with respect to background and reading interests and responses." (School & Society) Index.

STRANG, R. M.—Continued

"The chief values of this study are to be found (1) in the exploration of the testing, case-study method of investigating reading interests and tastes and (2) in the suggestions made concerning the nature of the reading habits, interests, and abilities of adolescents and adults which might profitably be subjected to further investigation. Teachers interested in making a careful and thoughtful analysis of the reading abilities and interests of pupils may find helpful suggestions in the techniques and the materials reported." Helen Crossen

+ El School J 43:434 Mr '43 900w

Reviewed by J. H. Foster
Library Q 13:270 Jl '43 900w

School & Society 56:448 N 7 '42 70w

STRANG, RUTH MAY, and HATCHER, ORIE LATHAM. Child development and guidance in rural schools. 218p $2.50 Harper

371.422 Rural schools. Personnel service in education 43-9668

Manual for rural teachers on the methods for dealing with problems of personal development and behavior. Contains specific advice and material on relations with parents. Suggested reading. Indexes.

Booklist 40:4 S '43

Reviewed by M. J. Patterson
El School J 44:307 Ja '44 700w

School & Society 58:16 Jl 3 '43 20w

Wis Lib Bul 39:120 O '43

STRASSER, OTTO, and STERN, MICHAEL. Flight from terror. 361p $3 McBride

943.086 Germany—Nazi movement 43-2832

"Begins the story of nazism at the end of the First World War and brings it down to 1940, but a great part of it, especially the latter part, is a narrative of Otto Strasser's personal experiences: first as a friendly observer attending meetings and charmed by Hitler's oratory; then as an active member of the nazi party, which he joined immediately after the Munich beerhall putsch fiasco; then, following the murder of his brother Gregor, who had been prominent in the party councils from the start and had incurred the leader's suspicion, as Hitler's hottest hater and as chief saboteur, dynamiter and undercover enemy in Germany." Christian Century

---

Atlantic 171:152 Ap '43 60w

"This is an exciting story and it gives particulars, doubtless authentic, about many acts of nazi ruthlessness and duplicity, but it reveals nothing essentially new. Strasser's own grievance is apparently a personal one. He went along with the party for years when he knew its principles and methods as well as he knows them now." W. E. Garrison

Christian Century 60:265 Mr 3 '43 160w

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert
Foreign Affairs 22:162 O '43 80w

"Book of terror, intrigue, and murder, but important." L. R. Etzkorn

Library J 67:1012 N 15 '42 100w

"The insult this book offers to the American public becomes the greater when we consider that it is but an enlarged and revised version of Strasser's book 'Hitler and I,' published in New York in 1940. . . But this is not just another silly book. It is a disquieting symptom. After the most terrible of all wars, will dyed-in-the-wool fascists be allowed to establish their own neo-fascism as a reward for their successful flight from self-made terror?" H. E. Fried

— Nation 156:458 Mr 27 '43 1250w

"Somewhat lurid and overdrawn, but seasoned with fresh material and interpretation. Those who remember Herr Strasser's earlier book may conclude that once a Nazi, always a Nazi."

New Yorker 18:64 F 6 '43 90w

"There is no doubt as to the scope and the good faith of Mr. Strasser's wrath. But he fails to convince us of the political importance of his one-man fight against Hitlerism, and the activities of his Black Front both within Germany and abroad. . . Be all this as it may, this is a highly interesting volume, and parts of it are splendidly written. It adds much information to what we already have, and casts light on many a hitherto obscure episode of recent German history. But it remains far from solving the focal riddle: the authors hardly touch upon the reasons for the fateful readiness of both the German middle and upper classes to accept Nazism." Robert Pick

+ — Sat R of Lit 26:7 F 20 '43 750w

" 'Flight From Terror' is not only for students of National Socialism. It will also appeal to those addicted to thriller-horror-spy stories regardless of their settings. Strasser's story is, in the nature of things, a lurid and a harrowing one, and he and Stern have chosen to tell it in a lurid and a harrowing style. . . The authors have also undertaken to report supposedly exact words, tones of voice, facial expressions and other precise details throughout their book to an extent ordinarily more feasible in the writing of fiction than in the reporting of fact." W. R. Deuel

Weekly Book Review p10 F 14 '43 1300w

STRAUSS, MRS PATRICIA (O'FLYNN). Cripps: advocate extraordinary [Eng title: Cripps, advocate and rebel]. 433p il $3 Duell [10s 6d Gollancz]

B or 92 Cripps, Sir Stafford 42-36417

For descriptive note see Annual for 1942.

"This study of Sir Stafford Cripps, written by a member of the staff of The Tribune, Cripps' own weekly, bears something of an official stamp. It makes no pretense of being impartial. It is completely uncritical. But it has the advantage of presenting a clear exposition of Sir Stafford's views, which, despite his temporary and partial eclipse, are nevertheless a matter of general interest." H. J. S.

+ Christian Science Monitor p11 Ap 10 '43 600w

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert
Foreign Affairs 21:586 Ap '43 10w

Manchester Guardian p3 Mr 31 '43 300w

"Has Sir Stafford a great political future? We all hope that he has, but on the strength of this book it is to be doubted. He is still a symbol of aspiration, still the only real figure to express the deep and aching hope of the British masses. So much Mrs. Strauss compels one to believe, but he is a man without party in an age where effective action is impossible without party. Mrs. Strauss, whose book constantly illuminates wide areas of British political life in a way that should make her American readers deeply grateful to her, should at once write a long personal appeal to Sir Stafford. She might be able to convince him that he must get back into the party at once. A one-man party, even if millions admire that man, cannot save Britain from the Tories." Ralph Bates

Nation 156:243 F 13 '43 1100w

"This is a pleasant biography, written on a popular level; it contains no 'revelations' about Cripps and aims at no profound analysis. It is sensible, readable and knowledgable. It deals best with Sir Stafford as a lawyer and as a politician during the pre-war period of the United Front and the petition. Mrs. Strauss was in these movements and understands them well."

+ New Statesman & Nation 25:195 Mr 20 '43 220w

"Mrs. Strauss offers political journalism, earnest and exceedingly one-sided. . . [She] writes with the spirit of the partisan who finds it hard to do justice to any act of an opponent."

Times [London] Lit Sup p74 F 13 '43 750w

STRAYER, JOSEPH REESE, ed. Interpretation of history, by Jacques Barzun [and others]. 186p $2.50 Princeton univ. press

901 History—Philosophy A43-1106

"[This] is the latest volume in the series of 'Princeton Books in the Humanities'. In it five scholars—Jacques Barzun, Hajo Holborn, Herbert Heaton, Dumas Malone and George La Piana—attack the problem of the writing of history from several different angles, and the editor, Joseph R. Strayer, contributes an introduction. . . Each contributor is concerned with a different aspect of historiography, but there is a fundamental agreement among them as to what history is and what it should do." Springf'd Republican

Reviewed by Carl Wittke

Ann Am Acad 229:200 S '43 480w

Reviewed by R. H. Rovere

Book Week p2 Ap 18 '43 270w

Reviewed by Justus Buchler

J Philos 40:468 Ag 19 '43 1800w

Reviewed by Sidney Hook

New Repub 108:604 My 3 '43 1600w

Reviewed by E. C. Richards

N Y Times p33 My 23 '43 1100w

Reviewed by John Corbin

Sat R of Lit 26:28 Je 5 '43 750w

"It is a fascinating book, as amusing as it is challenging—proof, if any were needed, that wit and scholarship are not incompatible and that a collection of essays can be as exciting as a novel." W. H.

+ Springf'd Republican p10 Mr 12 '43 700w

STRECKER, EDWARD ADAM. Fundamentals of psychiatry. 201p $3 Lippincott

616.8 Psychology, Pathological 42-24822

"The purpose of this book is to bring psychiatry in a 'usable form to the medical student and practitioner.' Its compact form 'will enable the reader to obtain with a minimum of time, a workable picture of the field of psychiatry—knowledge which constantly can be interwoven with his work.' These statements from the preface are well borne out by the organization of the text, which deals briefly with all parts of the subject under consideration, from historical backgrounds to present-day problems engendered by war activities." Am J Pub Health

"The book should prove to be a sound, useful source of information for all workers interested in the subject. The text is illustrated by graphs and has been adequately indexed." N. D. C. Lewis

+ Am J Pub Health 33:181 F '43 360w

Reviewed by G. S. Stevenson, M.D.

Survey 79:254 S '43 500w

STRECKER, EDWARD ADAM; APPEL, KENNETH ELLMAKER, and APPEL, JOHN WILBERFORCE. Discovering ourselves; a view of the human mind and how it works. 2d ed 434p $3 Macmillan

131 Mental hygiene. Psychology. Psychology, Pathological 43-6340

"This is the second edition of a work which appeared in 1931 [Book Review Digest, 1931]. Its treatment centers around emotional life and the way in which feelings influence thinking and judgment. It is popularly written. The Appendix includes a series of questions designed to aid the reader in securing the full appreciation of the points dealt with in the book." Am J Soc

Reviewed by John Romano

Am J Pub Health 33:1288 O '43 270w

Am J Soc 49:198 S '43 60w

"Because of its absence of technical terms and its interesting style, the book would make a good textbook for beginning courses in mental hygiene. It will be of value to many people, including counselors and others who are trying to help people face reality." Jennie Williams

+ J Home Econ 36:107 F '44 300w

School & Society 57:548 My 8 '43 70w

Reviewed by E. R. Groves

Social Forces 22:227 D '43 80w

"This is a revised edition of a popular book which first appeared about a decade ago. It is simply and clearly written, replete with practical examples of each principle it explains, and written with a minimum number of technical terms so that even those with a minimum amount of psychological training can read it with benefit. . . [It] is to be highly recommended to teachers who need help in understanding the behavior of their pupils, particularly that which deviates from the expected." R. H. McF.

+ Social Studies 35:42 Ja '44 300w

STREET, CECIL JOHN CHARLES (JOHN RHODE, pseud). Dead on the track. 272p $2 Dodd [8s 6d Collins]

43-6452

Detective story.

"Crimes so cleverly planned and executed that Hanslet's careful spade work would have gone for naught but for Priestley's armchair deductions. This is Priestley at his best." Isaac Anderson

+ N Y Times p12 Ap 25 '43 160w

"May prove tedious to youngsters, but it's sound reading for those slightly gray about the temples."

+ New Yorker 19:84 Ap 17 '43 70w

Times [London] Lit Sup p185 Ap 17 '43 120w

"Here's joy for fans who like the real thing in British detective stories better than pseudo-sleuthing, gooseflesh at any price or just twaddle. It's an offering in the grand old tradition, handsomely done." Will Cuppy

+ Weekly Book Review p16 My 2 '43 450w

STROBEL, MARION (MRS J. H. MITCHELL). Ice before killing. 213p $2 Scribner

43-14778

Mystery story.

Reviewed by Elizabeth Bullock

Book Week p9 O 10 '43 130w

Booklist 40:115 D 1 '43

"There is no lack of mystery in this story, but the detecting is far below par, so much so that this cannot properly be called a detective novel." Isaac Anderson

N Y Times p8 O 10 '43 140w

Springf'd Republican p7e N 21 '43 110w

"Miss Strobel adorns her tale with quantities of icy atmosphere and what may be genuine junior miss lingo. The net result is middling." Will Cuppy

Weekly Book Review p8 D 19 '43 130w

STRODACH, PAUL ZELLER. Were you there? 291p $1.50 United Lutheran pub.

232.96 Jesus Christ—Passion 42-7871

A series of meditations on the Passion of Our Lord and the people who witnessed it. The title of the volume is taken from an old Negro spiritual: Were you there when they crucified my Lord? Each chapter is supplemented by Bible quotations and prayers.

"Some who were in the wings rather than on the stage in that great drama . . . as well as the more important characters, are treated with insight and without overstraining for homiletical effect."

+ Christian Century 60:111 Ja 27 '43 70w

"There is no attempt to be original or learned, and it is a book for the layman, perhaps, rather than for the clergyman, but while the truths it presents are obvious, they are the fundamental truths we all need to hear." W. L. C.

+ Churchman 157:31 My 1 '43 120w

STRODE, JOSEPHINE, and STRODE, PAULINE R. Social skills in case work. 195p $2.50 Harper

361.8 Social work. Psychology, Applied
42-50115

This book was written to show the need among social workers for special social skills and education. The skills are enumerated and analyzed, and suggestions for cultivating them are outlined. Josephine Strode is instructor in social case work at Cornell university; her sister and co-author is counselor in James Monroe high school, New York city. Selected bibliography. Index.

"[The book] should be a boon to those social workers in out of the way places, who singly or in groups, are struggling against odds for the professional development that will give reach to their jobs and length, breadth, and thickness to their performance." Gertrude Springer
+ Survey 79:60 F '43 500w
Wis Lib Bul 39:70 My '43

STRONG, ANNA LOUISE (MRS JOEL SHUBIN). Wild River. (Atlantic monthly press bk) 327p $2.50 Little 43-15971

"Orphans of Russian Revolution are chief characters; building Dnieper dam and developing a collective farm, background; struggle to make communism work, theme. Story centers about a petty thief and a peasant girl who grow up with the Soviet becoming leaders in the community. Story ends with the destroying of the dam." Library J

"This book is more than propaganda. It is a realistic portrayal of the heroic efforts of the Russians in war and peace. It helps the reader to understand the miracle of Russian resistance and it helps to take the taste of Ilka Chase and Emily Kimbrough from the sated palate." Sterling North
Book Week p3 N 21 '43 270w
Booklist 40:147 D 15 '43

"Not a great novel. Author has spent many years in Russia. Recommended as picture of Soviet young people." M. P. McKay
Library J 68:892 N 1 '43 70w

"This is not a great novel about Russia but it is a rapidly paced story which holds the interest of the reader."
New Repub 109:893 D 20 '43 100w

"Though 'Wild River' is not interesting for what it tells us of Soviet life or of human life in general, it is interesting as a document of psychological self-revelation. And that interest is further enlarged by the fact that the author may well serve as a symbol of a whole generation of worshipful pilgrims—whose 'reports' tell more of their will-to-believe than of what they saw in Moscow." B. D. Wolfe
N Y Times p30 N 21 '43 850w

"There is tragedy in the ultimate futility of the effort and sacrifice that created the dam, but Miss Strong fails to convey it because she never achieves reality. She writes in the humorless clichés of propaganda and her characters are the stereotypes of Soviet inspirational fiction."
— New Yorker 19:112 N 13 '43 110w

Reviewed by N. L. Rothman
Sat R of Lit 26:56 D 4 '43 500w

"This noble story is woven of the strands of living contemporary history and of the most vital social experiments of our day. It is told simply and with human understanding; its characters are real and noble with dignity of creative labor. 'Wild River' is a book you will not easily forget." Sarah Schiff
+ Springf'd Republican p7e D 5 '43 500w

"The writing of 'Wild River' is not particularly distinguished but its lack of polish and bare simplicity contribute, somehow, to the strength of the story." Rose Feld
+ Weekly Book Review p23 N 21 '43 850w

STRONG, LEONARD ALFRED GEORGE, comp. English domestic life during the last 200 years; an anthology sel. from the novelists. (Lib. of English thought and life) 250p $2.50 Norton [7s 6d Allen, G]

English fiction—Collections A42-3420

Anthology composed of chapters from English fiction from the time of Samuel Richardson, selected to show the changes in English domestic life during the last two hundred years.

Booklist 39:424 Je 15 '43
Manchester Guardian p3 Ap 10 '42 80w

Reviewed by Raymond Mortimer
New Statesman & Nation 23:227 Ap 4 '42 1750w

"Aside from its avowed purpose, the greatest value of the book lies in its stimulation to further reading. Many a selection will impel the reader to fill holes in his reading by seeking the source." C. D.
+ N Y Times p10 Je 27 '43 480w

Reviewed by Rose Macaulay
Spec 168:372 Ap 17 '42 1550w

"The subject chosen by Mr. Strong must be one of the most difficult for the anthologist, since English literature is so peculiarly domestic in spirit. Mr. Strong has made a success of his task because he has, as he says, been ruthless in setting himself definite limits. . . Those who feel agony and grief that much English beauty of brick and mortar has disappeared, partly through bombing and just as effectively through ill-advised 'development' before the war, will be consoled by this book with its pictures of something enduringly and unalterably English."
+ Times [London] Lit Sup p237 My 9 '42 120w

STRZETELSKI, STANISLAW. Where the storm broke. 257p $2.50 Roy pubs

940.542 World war, 1939—Poland. Poland—History—German occupation, 1939-
42-50525

"This is a relatively brief account of international events leading to World War II as they affected Poland, of war in Poland with aftermath of German occupation. Author, a journalist, writes from personal knowledge and from diaries, letters, official documents. Last two chapters present his social philosophy and look ahead to possible peace for Europe, with unifying body an international court, not a league." Library J

Booklist 39:222 F 1 '43

"The most useful thing about 'Where The Storm Broke' is that it restates a Polish point of view of the history of the long armistice. The author's style is uninspired, some of the points he makes have been made before at least equally well, and some of this philosophizing about life in general and politics and economics in particular is neither altogether convincing nor even altogether relevant. But it is important that we realize that the view of most Poles as to what was really happening during the two decades between wars, and as to what the lessons of this era are for the future, differ notably from the views of most Americans and Britons on these points. And 'Where The Storm Broke' is a valuable introduction to Polish views." W. R. Deuel
+ — Books p12 D 13 '42 700w

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert
Foreign Affairs 21:7 Jl '43 40w

Reviewed by F. L. D. Goodrich
Library J 67:1065 D 1 '42 110w

"This voice from Poland commands respect. It would be echoed by multitudes of Americans. But it is perhaps harder for a Pole to say such things, for Poland has suffered as America has not." R. L. Duffus
+ N Y Times p9 F 14 '43 1150w

Reviewed by H. C. Wolfe
Sat R of Lit 26:7 Ja 2 '43 600w

STUART, MRS FLORENCE (PARTELLO). The pledge of Piang; il. by Robbie. 253p $2.25 Appleton-Century
43-16003

Tale of a young Moro chieftain and two American boys lost in the Philippine jungle, not long before Pearl Harbor. The boys save the life of Piang, and he retaliates in kind, swearing blood brothership with the boys. When the Japanese attack, the Moros fight with the Americans.

"Heroes more impudent than admirable; other characters stereotyped. With little value beyond timeliness, book has sensational appeal for boys around twelve. May be wanted in collections already having other titles about Piang." Maude Adams
Library J 69:73 Ja 15 '44 140w

"The story is a rattling good one, as those who have met Piang earlier can easily believe." E. L. B.
+ N Y Times p20 N 14 '43 260w

Springf'd Republican p7e D 26 '43 50w

Reviewed by M. L. Becker
Weekly Book Review p34 N 14 '43 400w

STUART, JESSE. Taps for Private Tussie; il. by Thomas Benton. 303p $2.75 Dutton
43-17838

A family of Southern poor whites lose one of their number in the war, and collect the $10,000 government insurance. They are five when they move into the best house in town; their number has increased to forty-six thru innundations of relatives by the time they have spent all the money and wrecked the house, and family and hangers on are evicted. The story of their reactions to their windfall is supposedly told by a young Tussie.

"As regional writing, 'Taps for Private Tussie' is authentic and, like all the work of Jesse Stuart, it is impressive for the way in which he manages to convey the flavor of his Kentucky people and his native earth without falling victim to the purely superficial aspects of regionalism. As a novel, 'Taps for Private Tussie' is superior to Stuart's first; there is less obvious region here, and more of a rousing comic and sometimes pathetic narrative of simple folk whose encounter with wealth is both high comedy and a social commentary the implications of which reach beyond Jesse Stuart's fine story." August Derleth
+ Book Week p3 N 28 '43 550w

Booklist 40:183 Ja 15 '44

Reviewed by Francis Downing
Commonweal 39:236 D 17 '43 490w

"Humor and pathos are mingled in this well-constructed situation seen through eyes and told in idiom of a 'teen age boy. Ironic naturalness tempers certain preposterous details, converting them into acceptable parts of a solid whole. Although plot suffers somewhat from triteness and prejudices of author, it is a refreshing addition of our folk literature." Rice Estes
+ — Library J 68:767 O 1 '43 80w

Reviewed by Diana Trilling
Nation 158:105 Ja 22 '44 150w

"'Taps for Private Tussie,' in the last analysis, does not fulfill the talent that shines on every page. The novel is not an exacting medium, but it does need a beginning, a middle and an end. Jesse Stuart's book would like to be a novel, but he has not supplied the essential bony structure to make it one." William Du Bois
N Y Times p1 N 28 '43 1500w

"There is a good deal of grotesque humor in the 'Tobacco Road' vein, some of it dull."
New Yorker 19:106 N 27 '43 30w

"'Taps for Private Tussie' is a very American sort of book, as deeply rooted in our soil as 'Huckleberry Finn' or 'The Hoosier Schoolmaster,' yet, like those books, it has a universal appeal that transcends nationality. It is warm-hearted, vigorous, and honest; its characters are lusty and genuine; and its dialogue is a delight to read. The author never condescends toward his characters: he presents the ever-squabbling Tussies as they are, but his unselfconscious sympathy for his underprivileged mountaineers makes them seem like men rather than case histories." P. V. Stern
+ Sat R of Lit 26:6 N 27 '43 650w

"There will probably be a mixed reaction to 'Taps for Private Tussie' but the majority opinion is likely to be enthusiastically favorable. One reader connected with this department dismissed it as 'thin, rambling and repulsive' though the present reviewer enjoyed it heartily (with some reservations). The dissenting reader explained his attitude by asserting that 'the cult of primitive fiction can be overdone' and is overdone in this book."
Springf'd Republican p7e D 5 '43 400w

Time 42:98 D 13 '43 650w

"'Taps for Private Tussie' is a novel but its spirit is that of balladry. The tale of the Tussies is unfolded with the unconscious art of an articulate kinsman of nature and simple souls, of people full to the brim with a delight in living. Conventional themes and patterns are as meaningless to him as to a skylark winging its way in song across the skies. . . An outline of the story cannot possibly convey the flavor of this unique book. Its power and its charm lie in the manner of its telling, in the poetic quality of its joyous life by a man who knows its heartbeat and its song." Rose Feld
+ Weekly Book Review p1 N 28 '43 1150w

Wis Lib Bul 40:10 Ja '44

"Mr. Stuart has written a very funny book, filled with laughter and japes and jokes of a crude, hill-billy variety, but he hasn't bothered to attempt a sustained work of fiction. Beneath its farcical surface there are gleams of deeper understanding in Taps for Private Tussie, but they are subordinate to the mockery." Orville Prescott
Yale R n s 33:xvi winter '44 200w

STURE-VASA, MRS MARY (ALSOP) (MARY O'HARA, pseud). Thunderhead. (Story press bk) 320p $2.75 Lippincott
43-9419

Continues the story begun in My Friend Flicka (Book Review Digest, 1941). Thunderhead is one of Flicka's colts and is a throwback to his albino grandfather. Ken cherishes an idea that his horse will one day make a good racer. But Thunderhead takes things on himself and becomes leader of a bunch of wild mares. After some disillusioning episodes, Ken takes a firm hold on himself and puts Thunderhead where he can no longer bring trouble to the ranch.

Reviewed by Leo Kennedy
Book Week p1 O 10 '43 900w

Booklist 40:48 O 1 '43

"It is rare indeed that we find an author writing a first novel that is at once an artistic and a financial success, and even more rare to find him repeating both triumphs in a second novel of the same type. But that is precisely what Mary O'Hara has done in Thunderhead." N. E. Monroe
+ Cath World 158:313 D '43 140w

"Mrs O'Hara has an unusual knowledge of horses and a love for them, so that she writes about them unforgettably, affectionately, yet realistically. She firmly believes that the peculiar combination of instinct with intelligence in a horse puts him, whether wild or domesticated, in a category quite alone."
+ Christian Science Monitor p12 O 30 '43 600w

Reviewed by J. C. Cort
Commonweal 39:47 O 29 '43 550w

"Librarians will want to purchase freely for children, young people, and adults." E. P. Nichols
+ Library J 68:725 S 15 '43 60w

"No one could have expected Mary O'Hara to continue the story of the McLaughlin family with the same freshness and intensity, but in 'Thunderhead' she has very nearly done

STURE-VASA, M. A.—Continued
just that. . . Mary O'Hara, like her Nell McLaughlin, has a luminous knowledge of humans, especially young boys who hurt themselves by the very force of their desire. But it is her animals that one remembers longest." E. L. Buell
+ N Y Times p4 O 10 '43 700w

"There are more humans in this second tale and you will probably have to be at least slightly interested in the problems involved in the breeding of horses to find the book satisfying."
New Yorker 19:98 O 9 '43 50w

"The people in the book are all real; they are brusque, with the sharp corners left on, falling into anger and discouragement convincingly and fighting out again with no tinge of Pollyannaism. So often the human beings in animal stories come out a sorry second, but the McLaughlins meet the test." G. G Bates
+ Sat R of Lit 26:21 O 9 '43 600w
Springf'd Republican p7e N 21 '43 250w

"While Miss O'Hara is magnificent in her portrayal of horses and excellent in her handling of a boy, her hand weakens when it comes to adult characterization. It is Thunderhead's progress from a lumpish, awkward white colt to his command of the wild horses of the Wyoming mountains which give the book its vitality and excitement." Rose Feld
+ — Weekly Book Review p3 O 10 '43 850w

"Not so good a novel as My Friend Flicka, for the interest is too diffuse, and much less a book to recommend for young people's reading. On the adult shelves should be popular."
+ — Wis Lib Bul 39:123 O '43

"Mary O'Hara is an honest, sure, and gifted writer. She has the courage to be sentimental —not too much so, but just enough to be endearing." Orville Prescott
+ Yale R n s 33:xx winter '44 350w

STURMTHAL, ADOLF FOX. Tragedy of European labor, 1918-1939. 389p $3.50 Columbia univ. press

331 Labor and laboring classes—Europe. Europe—Politics 43-4516

"The thesis of Dr. Sturmthal's volume on the downfall of European labor is that, in the struggle culminating with 1938, labor was not farsighted enough to accept political responsibility for the social and democratic program to which it was committed. . . The author's qualifications for passing judgment on this subject include a doctorate of political science from the University of Vienna, authorship, editorial experience from 1925 to 1935 in Zurich, Switzerland; wide acquaintance with European labor leaders and deprivation of Austrian citizenship, expulsion from Italy and debarment from Germany. He is a Socialist in sympathy, a consultant on post-war reconstruction to the Sloan Foundation." (N Y Times) Bibliographical notes. Index.

"It is a pity that Mr. Sturmthal excluded Russia from the scope of his work. Perhaps a treatment of Russian conditions would have brought him to an understanding of the difference between Russia on the one hand and Germany, Italy and Japan on the other hand. . . Mr. Sturmthal gives us fine character sketches of the European labor leaders: he has succeeded in exposing their mediocrity and inability. These biographical notes form the most valuable part of the volume and should be read by every economist and historian. However, the author is at a loss to realize that not men failed, but philosophies, namely, the philosophy of Marxism and that of trade unionism." Ludwig von Mises
+ — Am Econ R 33:702 S '43 1350w

Reviewed by C. H. Pritchett
Am Pol Sci R 37:733 Ag '43 600w

Reviewed by Frieda Wunderlich
Ann Am Acad 230:213 N '43 800w

Reviewed by John Norcross
Book Week p5 My 30 '43 360w

"Dr. Sturmthal's book presents an exciting and invaluable history of the struggles, achievements and defeats of the labor movement in the turbulent period between the two wars. But the book is more than a history. It is also a sharp indictment of trade unions and of labor and Socialist parties for various blunders and inadequacies which not only brought disaster upon them but helped to plunge the world into a long night of fascism and war." E. McN. Burns
+ Christian Century 60:821 Jl 14 '43 750w

"We enjoyed reading Mr. Sturmthal's book. He is definitely anti-Catholic and he almost completely ignores the considerable efforts of the Church and its zealous champions in the Christian trade unions and such other bona fide labor movements as that of the Jocists. Nevertheless, the book stirred us up, made us think and made us sore. And we doubt if there is a more comprehensive, up-to-date work available on this extremely vital chapter of modern history. These are recommendations, and students of labor in particular are urged to consider them."
+ — Commonweal 38:102 My 14 '43 900w

"The book should be required reading by all peace planners." Alvin Adey
+ Current Hist 4:276 Je '43 800w

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert
Foreign Affairs 22:157 O '43 30w

Reviewed by G. W. Hill
Library J 68:288 Ap 1 '43 140w
Management R 32:356 S '43 100w

"This reviewer, who does not accept the Otto Bauer theory of the origin of fascism which the author uses, nevertheless believes this to be the best account of labor history during the great inter-war crisis that has yet appeared. It is less sectarian than John Strachey's books and far more searching than Mr. Laski's extended pamphlets. The excellence of Dr. Sturmthal's surveys alone, apart from his theory, should win for the author the attention of serious men." Ralph Bates
+ — Nation 157:46 Jl 10 '43 1250w

"Sturmthal's excellent conclusions depict the possible conditions under which a European labor movement will have to start anew, and stresses the responsibilities of American labor for its future course. To have recorded the lessons of the past is the merit of this book. But let us beware of an over-simplified formula the rigid adherence to which might cut the very roots of labor's strength." H. W. Ehrmann
+ — New Repub 108:772 Je 7 '43 1000w

"The book is a mine of classified minute detail, but in its present form it is more of a catalogue raisonné than a history. . . Furthermore, it must be said that in style the book is in the worst tradition of scholarship for dullness and ineptness." P. H. Boynton
N Y Times p18 My 9 '43 1100w

"This is the first intellectual—or ideological—history of labor in Europe between two wars to appear in English. The author, a Viennese by birth, a journalist and author by occupation, a European in the broadest sense by travel and acquaintance, is unusually well equipped to write such an account. The American reader will find here a thoroughly documented account of the course of ideas, and of action arising out of those ideas, of the labor movements in most of the countries west of Russia." Phillips Bradley
+ Sat R of Lit 26:22 Je 19 '43 1150w

Reviewed by R. J. Conklin
Springf'd Republican p7e My 30 '43 1000w

Reviewed by S. H. Slichter
Yale R n s 32:814 summer '43 1050w

SUBERCASEAUX, BENJAMIN. Chile; a geographic extravaganza; tr. by Angel Flores. 255p il $3 Macmillan

918.3 Chile—Description and travel 43-51113

Impressionistic interpretation of Chile, its people, its geography, and customs, written by a Chilean author. Maps. No index.

Reviewed by W. R. Crawford
Ann Am Acad 230:242 N '43 450w

Reviewed by B. D. Wolfe
+ Book Week p4 My 30 '43 470w
Booklist 39:353 My 1 '43

"The author writes of his country with sensitivity, from an original viewpoint that is refreshing. The reader who may start in haste is likely to linger." R. H. S.
+ Christian Science Monitor p16 Ap 21 '43 550w

"Subercaseaux has evidently no need to quote from others: he offers plenty of thought-provoking comments of his own. The book is not only delightful and pleasant reading, but most instructive and well worth perusal even by those not directly interested in our relations with Chile." J. R. Lewis
+ Current Hist 4:217 My '43 750w

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert
Foreign Affairs 22:168 O '43 10w

"Author writes with good humor and love of his native land and succeeds admirably in conveying atmosphere and feel of Chile and making reader want to visit there. While other tourist-authors have reported only what they saw, this Chilean is able to get across the soul of each locality, which explains all that it is. Highly recommended." R. S. Alvarez
+ Library J 68:247 Mr 15 '43 70w

"This 'crazy geography' may not be the work of a trained geographer, but it is certainly that of a man who knows every inch of Chile and is remarkably observant. It has plenty of spice in it, and the meat to go with it. The translation is ably done, although it might perhaps be mentioned that kilometers do not make so much sense to a northern eye as miles. It is a pity that somebody did not take a hint from the title of one of the chapters, Wherein a Good Map Is Needed to Find Out Where You Are, for after going through a maze of names of places not mentioned on the highly decorative but quite inadequate map on the first end paper, or indeed in most atlases, the reader is liable to find himself in doubt as to his whereabouts." C. A. Hutchinson
+ — Nation 157:189 Ag 14 '43 700w

"This 'mad geography,' as Subercaseaux titles it in the original Spanish, is actually an intimate journal of its author's feelings about his country. It reads like fiction, is full of suspense and imaginativeness, occasionally approaches poetry in its imagery, and makes even so inanimate a thing as a mountain or a desert breathe with life. A sense of time, as well as space, weaves throughout this 'mad geography.'" Lloyd Mallan
+ N Y Times p18 My 23 '43 650w

"Piquant and sensitive interpretation. . . By a young Chilean who has been to Paris and got a tinge of surrealism in his prose. The translation is good."
+ New Yorker 19:83 Ap 17 '43 50w

Reviewed by Hubert Herring
Sat R of Lit 26:26 Ap 10 '43 750w
Scientific Bk Club R 14:3 Je '43 120w

"Geography and history were themselves guilty of an extravaganza when they created this strange 'accidented' string bean of a land, and Subercaseaux's chief merit is to have discovered this fact and adapted his gay and solemn geographical-historical-sentimental survey to it. Any land would be proud to be so skillfully and appropriately introduced: in Chile Benjamin Subercaseaux's 'Geografia Loca' has been a best-seller since it was published two years ago—it is not too much to say that it has helped to introduce the Chileans to themselves." B. D. Wolfe
+ Weekly Book Review p3 Ap 18 '43 850w

SUBLETTE, CLIFFORD MACCLELLAN, and KROLL, HARRY HARRISON. Perilous journey; a tale of the Mississippi river and the Natchez trace. 418p $2.75 Bobbs
43-4309

Lively historical novel laid in Natchez, New Orleans, and the Mississippi valley in the 1820's. The hero starts down the Mississippi by flatboat, to trade and to locate his father, long missing from his Indiana home. After many adventures with river pirates, camp meetings, and with treacherous so-called friends, Jim returns home with a wife, and his long-lost father.

Atlantic 171:129 My '43 90w

"An authentic picture of a lusty, lurid way of life that added its own tremendous chapter to the building of America." Edith Roberts
+ Book Week p3 My 16 '43 900w
Booklist 39:355 My 1 '43

"Those who imagine that the tales of derringdo, flowing in on us from the battle fronts of the world in the present war, eclipse entirely the resources of historical fiction should spend an hour or two with this book in order to regain a sense of proportion. 'Perilous Journey' will speedily instruct such doubting Thomases as to their error. . . By all means get yourself a copy of 'Perilous Journey' and stalk Spring fever ideally equipped." J. H. Powers
+ Boston Globe p15 Mr 31 '43 230w

"I defy the reader to find one decent person in these four hundred pages, if we except the lawyer's colored coachman. It is a coarse book, replete with scenes of nastiness and crude realism."
— Cath World 157:334 Je '43 200w

"Could be used quite often as suggestion to adult fiction readers wanting escape through robust stories of pioneer American life." M. E. Clark
+ Library J 68:248 Mr 15 '43 40w

Reviewed by Margaret Wallace
N Y Times p12 Mr 28 '43 700w

"The first half of the book, concerned with the hero's trip in a flat-boat from the White River to New Orleans, is an interesting record of the brash, gaudy life of the river towns. The part of the story that describes New Orleans and the journey up the Trace involves a lot of very fancy synthetic adventure, which is, however, full of unimpeachably correct local color."
+ — New Yorker 19:69 Mr 20 '43 90w

"Good reading for the reader who wants a well-told story. Mr Sublette did not live to finish the novel, and it was completed by Mr Kroll, so that the last few chapters have not quite the leisurely quality of the opening ones." Edrie Van Dore
+ Springf'd Republican p7e Mr 28 '43 350w

"In 'Perilous Journey' C. M. Sublette deliberately turned his back on the field of the 'juvenile'; this was intended and is a book for grown-ups. Fortunately for grown-ups, however, the charm of adventure need not die young. In its vigorous picture of the variety and color of frontier life in the valley and its swift action and tall stories lies an evening's entertainment in a world far more remote than the Solomons." Mary Ross
+ Weekly Book Review p6 Mr 28 '43 800w

SUFFERN, MAURICE GRAYLE. Basic radio principles. 271p $3; text ed $2.25 McGraw
621.3841 Radio 43-15128

The author of this book on the military applications of electricity and radio is a captain in the signal corps, and this book is designed as an aid in the training of radio technicians. He aims to give the student "a knowledge of basic radio fundamentals; the ability to identify materials used in radio; the ability to interpret diagrams; and an understanding of the principles involved in the operation of radio equipment." Indexes.

Booklist 40:140 D 15 '43
Library J 68:626 Ag '43 20w

Reviewed by James Stokley
Weekly Book Review p8 Ja 9 '44 250w

SUGRUE, THOMAS. There is a river; the story of Edgar Cayce. 453p $3 Holt
B or 92 Cayce, Edgar. Clairvoyance
42-52163

Edgar Cayce, the subject of this biography, was born in Kentucky some sixty years ago. Early in his childhood he showed some evidence of psychic powers which, tho he ignored

SUGRUE, THOMAS—Continued
them for a while, gradually became all-important in his life. Their principal manifestation is in his ability, while asleep, to diagnose illness and even prescribe treatment, tho when awake he lays no claim to medical knowledge.

"Tom Sugrue has written a frank, unvarnished story of the strangely indecisive man, Edgar Cayce, his family and friends. There has been on attempt made to fit a halo about his head. One who is a student of psychology and philosophy will find much that is baffling and contradictory and even confusing." H. M. Sherman
Book Week p6 Ap 4 '43 700w
Booklist 39:291 Mr 15 '43

"Despite the blurb which tells us that Edgar Cayce is one of the great psychics of all time, and that this biography is absorbing reading, we still remain one of the 'indurated' skeptics who question the evidence presented in these long drawnout pages."
Cath World 107:109 Ap '43 230w

"The biographer will probably be overlooked in the heat of discussion about his subject but Mr. Sugrue has sifted a confusing and confounding amount of material from which he has woven a most readable biography while maintaining his own objectivity." M. H. Bro
+ Christian Century 60:664 Je 2 '43 1150w

Reviewed by T. F. Opie
Churchman 157:17 Je 1 '43 180w

"Author presents many instances of Mr. Cayce's success in diagnosis and is an eloquent pleader. Will be popular with health faddists and devotees of the occult, but is not of sufficient interest to warrant purchase by average library." D. R. Starie
Library J 68:210 Mr 1 '43 70w

"Edgar Cayce like Joan of Arc, had a winged vision in early youth. The result is the amazing and at the same time disappointing story told in this book. Whatever else may be said about the story, one is convinced in reading it that Mr. Cayce is not a charlatan, and that Mr. Sugrue, a New York newspaper man and author, has written what he honestly believes to be the truth." R. L. Duffus
N Y Times p4 Mr 14 '43 1300w

Reviewed by L. S. Munn
Springf'd Republican p7e Mr 21 '43 750w

"Surely no fiction could be stranger than this biography of a living man. No novelist would have dared to delineate an imaginary character such as Thomas Sugrue here describes on the basis of fifteen years' intimate knowledge of Edgar Cayce. . . One cannot doubt the sincerity and integrity of the subject of the book or of its author." Mary Ross
Weekly Book Review p6 Mr 14 '43 900w
Wis Lib Bul 39:50 Ap '43

SUHR, ELMER GEORGE. Two currents in the thought stream of Europe; a history of opposing points of view. 469p $5 Johns Hopkins press [22s 6d Oxford]

901 Philosophy—History. National characteristics 42-22599

"This book seeks to present 'a history of the conflict between human nature and nature at large on the continent of Europe,' and to trace the effects of this conflict on cultural developments from the Greeks to the present day. This 'conflict' is variously described by the author; some of the forms which it assumes are theory vs. feeling, permanence vs. mystery, form vs. values. Man's intellectual and cultural achievements are viewed by the author as attempts to find compromises between these two antagonistic 'forces.' The two types of compromise which the author discovers throughout European history are those of the 'absolutist' and of the 'broad intellectual,' the former represented by Plato and the latter by Aristotle. This typology is then applied to the thought and art of Greece, the medieval period, and the modern period." J Philos

---

"The author's principles of interpretation and composition are as faulty as his use of particular facts, and these two faults destroy both the worth of his piled-up materials and the tenability of his thesis." Jacques Barzun
— Am Hist R 49:80 O '43 700w

"It is clear that the author has a preference for the broad intellectual point of view and that he believes it to have had its finest culmination in the culture of ancient Greece and Rome. It is also clear that the book provides him with an opportunity to discuss and compare the greater figures in the history of culture and historical epochs. Unfortunately, this is done unimaginatively and in a style that is dull and heavy. This book will present little of novelty, originality, or creative scholarship. But it is one man's attempt to make sense of a broad stream of intellectual and cultural history. Who shall deny the right to attempt such an enterprise?" A. W. Levi
— + Ethics 54:71 O '43 410w

"This is a well-written and interesting book from which the first impression that we receive is of the wide and cosmopolitan views of American professors. . . The book before us is full of enthusiasm for the debt of the New World to the Old." F. S. Marvin
+ Hibbert J 42:93 O '43 1150w

"It appears to the present reviewer that this book is almost a caricature of the attempt to apply the typological approach to history. In those fields in which the reviewer is competent to judge this work, the typology adopted either distorts the facts or fails to make them any clearer. As an object-lesson the book is not without interest, but if it is possible to combine typological and historical approaches the book has not done a service to its cause." Maurice Mandelbaum
— + J Philos 40:279 My 13 '43 330w

SULLIVAN, ALAN. Three came to Ville Marie. 329p $2.50 Coward-McCann
43-2269

Historical novel of the French in Canada in the late seventeenth century. The central figures are Paul de Lorimier, a Breton farmer; Jacqueline, the girl he loves; and Jules Vicotte, who wins Jacqueline away from Paul. By various routes these three come together again in New France and the tale of their loves is unravelled against the background of wilderness life and battles with Indian savages.

Booklist 39:275 Mr 1 '43

"A highly readable story." Mary Ross
+ Books p6 Ja 31 '43 650w

"The atmosphere is not too bad, and here is a book worth skimming over if the period interests you."
— + Commonweal 37:379 Ja 29 '43 390w

"A more-than-usually competent historical novel. . . Mr. Sullivan, a Canadian who has written more than thirty novels, knows both his country and the period. The characters, however, are the usual movie types."
+ — New Repub 108:158 F 1 '43 120w

"It is a rousing story, with action that carries you along at swift, blood-stirring pace. Its people move you less from sympathy with them personally than from interest in what was perpetually happening to them in an untamed continent." J. S. Southron
N Y Times p32 Ja 24 '43 600w
Wis Lib Bul 39:42 Mr '43

SULLIVAN, RICHARD. Dark continent. 183p $2 Doubleday

Francis Rafferty, a rather mild young teacher in a girls' college, is on his way to his own wedding when he stumbles into a street excavation, sustains a bad bump on his head, and loses his memory. For the next six hours he wanders around the town where he knows no one and no one knows him. He has a variety of adventures, meets a number of people, friendly and unfriendly. Eventually, when he recovers his memory, he realizes he has found a new philosophy of life as well.

Booklist 40:183 Ja 15 '44

"Some of the incidents are amusing, but the distance between the man Rafferty might have been and the man he was, is too slight for sustained interest."
— + Cath World 158:509 F '44 70w

"Occasionally the creaking puppetry of the novel is relieved by small, colorful, concrete details, but in general this ludicrous story lacks any subtlety of character or of situation." John Pick
— Commonweal 39:283 D 31 '43 280w

"Mr. Sullivan obviously has a solid literary training and a genuine skill in the construction of narrative. He writes with an ease and sparkle that carries the story along at high speed. He is, above all, unusually sensitive to local atmospheres and the nuances of human gesture and movement. It is, then, unfortunate that he has simplified every important character in 'The Dark Continent' to a point of improbability unacceptable even in airy farce or fantasy. Despite this, there is much smooth writing, amusing action, and an occasional jet of real insight into the modern problem of the individual's struggle for vitality against deadly routine." William Poster
+ — N Y Times p16 Ja 2 '44 400w

"If there is a flaw in the book, it is Sullivan's occasionally pausing to make explicit the implications of events. Perhaps this is a sign or a necessity of the times, and it may very well be justified by the manner in which it is done: Rafferty's systematic mind summing up the course, meaning and weight of events as they successively affect him, and realizing the strange and shattering change that is taking place in him. There is, too, a slight resemblance to Saroyan, but Sullivan is a better and more adult writer." Harry Sylvester
+ Weekly Book Review p4 D 26 '43 600w

SULZBACH, WALTER. National consciousness; introd. by Hans Kohn. 168p $3; pa $2.50 Am. council on public affairs
320.15 Nationalism and nationality
43-6094

"Professor Sulzbach, now teaching at Claremont Colleges, California, analyzes the concept of the nation and the consciousness of national unity and interest, with reference to historical backgrounds, race, culture, the fighting impulse, the sense of national honor and the imperialistic urge." Christian Century

---

"Many community leaders will find the book helpful in terms of new insights, new points of view, and new materials. Sulzbach employs sociopolitical language and illustrates his views with a multitude of quotations from statesmen, historians, and psychologists. His book carries the impression of hard work, wide reading, and careful reasoning. Whoever reads it should have a more lively and discerning understanding of contemporary nationalism." Garland Downum
+ Am Pol Sci R 37:756 Ag '43 450w
Am Soc R 8:372 Je '43 160w

Reviewed by Edmund Zawacki
Am Soc R 8:608 O '43 330w
Christian Century 60:298 Mr 10 '43 70w

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert
Foreign Affairs 22:155 O '43 30w

"Professor Sulzbach's book is well written and worth reading, but he seems to underestimate the economic forces behind nationalism. And although nationalism has become 'a secular religion,' in view of recent events we cannot subscribe to the author's statement that 'the Pope's influence is so unimportant in international affairs that modern history can almost ignore it.' The Washington-Madrid-Rome-Axis is not good evidence for this opinion."
+ — Nation 157:275 S 4 '43 240w

Reviewed by Quincy Wright
New Repub 108:739 My 31 '43 1650w
Social Studies 34:192 Ap '43 40w
Springf'd Republican p7e Ag 1 '43 60w

SUMMERS, RICHARD ALDRICH. Battle of the Sierras. 235p $2 Oxford
43-2008

Railroad building across the Sierras is the background. Joshua Pratt, a Connecticut boy with a tendency to run away from hard things, is the hero. As foreman of a gang of Chinese laborers Joshua learned to take hardship. Many of the characters are real people. For boys of twelve to sixteen.

Booklist 39:391 Je 1 '43

Reviewed by M. K. McElderry
Christian Science Monitor p10 N 18 '43 70w

"An exciting bit of authentic railroad history." A. M. Jordan
+ Horn Bk 19:175 My '43 90w

"Not the first story of the building of this road, but an interesting one, with good characterization and authentic background. Recommended for boys twelve to sixteen." S. J. Johnson
+ Library J 68:366 My 1 '43 50w

Reviewed by R. W. Stewart
Library J 68:827 O 15 '43 30w
Sat R of Lit 26:28 My 15 '43 20w
Wis Lib Bul 39:88 Je '43

SUMMERS, ROBERT EDWARD, comp. Wartime censorship of press and radio. (Reference shelf) 297p $1.25 Wilson, H.W.
940.5405 World war, 1939—Censorship. Censorship 42-23181

"This volume is planned to tell the story of the development of censorship in World War II, with reference to its operation, its origin, its problems, and its purpose. . . [It] represents an attempt to bring together materials relating to every phase of censorship of news on the radio and in the press and to present a well-rounded picture of the situation as it exists today. Both sides of the question are presented as fairly and with as little partiality as possible." (Pref) Bibliography.

"A useful volume to have at one's elbow these days. Mr. Summers has succeeded admirably in bringing together essays and articles written by experts on the origin, purpose, operation, and problems of the censorship in this country. The compiler brings the unfinished story through the winter of 1942-43. Some of the most significant trends are now unfolding, and vigilance is required if the present hardening of the censorship does not end in something like autocratic control. Mr. Summers may have to rush out a revision of the volume to keep us abreast of what Roscoe Drummond, of the Christian Science Monitor, has properly called the 'creeping censorship.' " R. D. Casey
+ Am Pol Sci R 37:551 Je '43 700w

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert
Foreign Affairs 21:582 Ap '43 10w

SUMNER, BENEDICT HUMPHREY. A short history of Russia. 469p il maps $3.75 Reynal
947 Russia—History 43-17185

"Concrete, impartial survey of Russia's institutional development from earliest times to present, written by an English scholar. Divided into seven large topics: the frontier, the state, the land, the church, the Slavs, the sea, and the West. Each topic is developed at length and with scientific care by unusual method of first dealing with the present, then working back to the beginnings." Library J

"While Professor Sumner's treatment results in the comparative slighting of the 1917 revolution, and of the internecine struggles within the Bolshevik Party culminating in Stalin's triumph, the value of the book lies in the author's remarkable sense of continuity of Russia past and present." Daniel Bell
+ Atlantic 173:125 F '44 150w

"Appearing on the heels of the Teheran Declaration, this layman's guide to Russian history is singularly well timed. And in view of our enormous national ignorance of our hardest fighting ally, it provides a singularly fine opportunity to catch up on that one sixth of the world of which Alexis Tolstoy observed in November, 1941, 'This land of our fathers has swallowed not a few hordes of invaders striving to conquer it. Our native land grew and strengthened, and nothing can shake it. Our land will swallow the German hordes. Thus it was. Thus it will be.'" Peter Quinn

SUMNER, B. H.—Continued
+ Book Week p3 D 19 '43 250w

Reviewed by Joseph McSorley
Cath World 158:504 F '44 230w

"Original presentation may interest informed student of Russian history, but will only confuse and irritate general reader. This feature, along with exceedingly dull and ponderous style, makes the book of value only to the college or very large public library." G. W. Wakefield
Library J 68:845 O 15 '43 100w

New Repub 110:126 Ja 24 '44 130w

"Mr. Sumner approaches all questions with open-eyed honesty and does not let his warm appreciation of the present heroic fight of the Russian people obscure the clarity of his analyses, nor lead to such special pleading as marred Sir Bernard Pares' otherwise admirable 'Russia.' . . However, Mr. Sumner has succeeded in applying to the raw chaos of events the greatest number of useful interpretative ideas to be found in any one-volume account available in English. His 'Short History of Russia' is really a short history. Eminently readable, it is easily the best single-volume introduction to Russia now available and a must for all who have a longer-range interest in its history." B. D. Wolfe
+ N Y Times p5 D 19 '43 1100w

New Yorker 19:110 N 27 '43 20w

"In such a mass of material condensed within four hundred and odd pages it is natural to find both gaps and flaws. Both, one must say, are few and relatively unimportant. The author should acquaint himself with later sources on the origin of the Russian state, on the pre-Norse period and the role of the Khazars and other southern neighbors (Professor Vernadsky's 'Ancient Russia,' 1931, would prove illuminating). On the whole, the volume is, I repeat, exasperatingly interesting." Alexander Kaun
+ — Sat R of Lit 27:22 F 5 '44 550w

SUNLEY, EMIL MCKEE. Kentucky poor law, 1792-1936. 160p pa $1.50 Univ. of Chicago press [9s Cambridge]

360.9769 Poor laws—Kentucky 43-5515

"The Kentucky Poor Law was made the subject of special study because its enforcement and administration furnish significant information and throw light on the slowness of improvement in the social services. The state adopted the county unit of administration, though on several occasions the state made direct attempts to relieve cases of poverty. Two stages in the history of the poor law are studied, the first closing in 1852 and the second lasting until 1936." Am Econ R

Reviewed by G. B. Mangold
Am Econ R 33:712 S '43 340w

"This is an excellent account of Kentucky Poor Law. . . The study is the product of accurate and diligent research into early legislative provisions. It is unusually thorough in the phases it purports to cover. Its only important flaw is more probably the fault of editing rather than of the author: this is the impression of unsystematic selection of material from the larger study of which this is an excerpt, without any statement as to the scope of the other manuscript." M. H. W.
+ — Social Forces 22:243 D '43 200w

SUPER, DONALD EDWIN. Dynamics of vocational adjustment. 286p $3 Harper

371.425 Profession, Choice of. Occupations 42-21849

"This book considers the total social setting in which vocational adjustments take place, analyzes the individual psychological factors involved, and, on a basis of an understanding of these factors, discusses the function and the necessary procedures of vocational guidance." (School & Society) Index.

School & Society 56:196 S 5 '42 40w

"Very readable volume. . . The fifteen chapters offer many constructive suggestions and should be especially helpful to those engaged in handling problems of guidance and placement. They will be of interest, too, to social workers eager to help young persons find work suited to their capacities." E. T. Burr
+ Survey 79:30 Ja '43 300w

SURETTE, THOMAS WHITNEY, comp. Songs from many lands; il. by Gertrude Herrick Howe; ed. by the Assn. for childhood education. 65p spir pa $2 Houghton

784 Children's songs

"Except for the omission of the 11-page introduction by the author, and narrower margins, this new edition duplicates the earlier one which appeared in [Book Review Digest, 1939]." Booklist

Booklist 39:298 Mr 15 '43

"Its bright illustrations on every page, by Gertrude Howe, its simple piano accompaniments, and excellent selection have long made it one of the most deservedly popular songbooks." J. L. Sauer
+ Library J 68:84 Ja 15 '43 90w

SURGEONER, DAVID HAY. Navigation and meteorology. 108p il $1.25 (3s 6d) Longmans

629.13252 Navigation (aeronautics) 42-21099

"The author has managed to condense a large amount of information into a small number of pages. Among the chapter headings are: Maps and charts; Position fixing; D. R. navigation; Navigation in practice; Instruments; Meteorology." N Y New Tech Bks

N Y New Tech Bks 28:31 Ap '43

Reviewed by Waldemar Kaempffert
N Y Times p35 N 22 '42 60w

"A good presentation, but no better than that to be found in scores of other texts." Waldemar Kaempffert
N Y Times p24 F 28 '43 70w

SUTHERLAND, HALE, and REESE, RAYMOND C. Introduction to reinforced concrete design; with chapters on concrete by Inge Lyse. 2d ed 559p il $5 Wiley

693.5 Concrete, Reinforced. Concrete construction 43-3304

"[This] is the second edition of a book which first appeared in 1926. It has been made necessary, in part, because of the improvements in uniformity of quality of 1943 concrete as compared with that formerly available. This has made it possible to revise design specifications to increase working stresses." (Weekly Book Review) Index.

"If this good book has any faults, the criticism would be that it gives too little attention to the elementary principles of reinforced concrete and more than enough attention to the complexities of analysis and design."
+ — Book Week p8 Ap 11 '43 90w

N Y New Tech Bks 28:24 Ap '43

Reviewed by James Stokley
Weekly Book Review p25 Ap 11 '43 100w

SUTTON, BARRY. Way of a pilot; a personal record; with an introd. and postscript by Lovat Dickson. 117p $1.50 (5s) Macmillan

940.544942 World war, 1939—Personal narratives, English. World war, 1939—Aerial operations [42-22484]

"When Barry Sutton joined the R. A. F. he had no vision in his mind of the war to come. Not that the thought of war would have deterred him. But the primary motive of his joining was that here was a ready means of satisfying his interest in things mechanical and his youthful love of high speeds. He was less than twenty years old and had a job as a reporter on a provincial newspaper. His story, from the account of his training to the battles with German pilots which have already become history, is one that thousands of young Englishmen could repeat in substantial detail." Books

Books p14 Ja 17 '43 280w

Manchester Guardian p3 Je 19 '42 80w

"It is a pity that he allows the typical modesty of the R.A.F. pilot to prevent him from going into more elaborate detail of his own and his famous squadron's achievements, for he has thereby missed a golden opportunity of adding a useful contribution to the layman's understanding of modern air warfare. Perhaps his sufferings and the lapse of time had blunted his memory of all but the most vivid and startling events. Nevertheless the story is well worth reading and his almost studious restraint cannot prevent the reader from finding in Squadron Leader Sutton the virtues which the country has come to admire in an R.A.F. flier."

+ Times [London] Lit Sup p303 Je 20 '42 420w

SVENSEN, CARL LARS. Essentials of drafting. 3d ed 295p il $2.35 Van Nostrand

744.4 Mechanical drawing 43-7576

Third edition of a textbook first published in 1918 (Book Review Digest, 1918). "This edition is a completely new book of adequate scope, based upon proven methods. The entire text has been rewritten and rearranged to bring it in line with the best current practice. New illustrations and new problems have been provided. There is complete conformity with American Standards." (Pref) Index.

Library J 68:576 Jl '43 10w

N Y New Tech Bks 28:25 Ap '43

SVERDRUP, HARALD ULRIK. Oceanography for meteorologists. 246p il maps $4.65 Prentice-Hall

551.46 Ocean 42-13959

"Intended to assist in obtaining information as to findings in which physical oceanography bears upon problems of the atmosphere." (N Y New Tech Bks) Indexes.

"Before this volume appeared, no book existed wherein physical oceanography was discussed as regards its immediate relation to atmospheric problems. Although such a treatment would have been welcome earlier, its appearance could not have been more opportune than at the present time, when hundreds of meteorologists are being trained to fill wartime needs." A. F. Spilhaus

+ Geog R 32:689 O '42 550w

N Y New Tech Bks 27:57 O '42

"Oceanography for Meteorologists turns out to be oceanography stripped of biology and as such the book will claim the interest of a wider class of readers than the group to which it is dedicated. The physicist will find here an excellent introduction to the fundamental principles of physical oceanography as well as an authoritative evaluation of the extent to which the major oceanographic problems have been solved." C. L. Pekeris

+ R of Scientific Instruments 14:319 O '43 420w

SVERDRUP, HARALD ULRIK; JOHNSON, MARTIN WIGGO, and FLEMING, RICHARD HOWELL. Oceans; their physics, chemistry, and general biology. 1087p il maps $10; to schools $8 Prentice-Hall

551.46 Ocean 43-51021

"Authors are all of Scripps Institution of Oceanography. Technical reference textbook integrating all fields of marine science; also a review of modern technique for obtaining data from the sea and in making hydrographic observations." (Library J) Indexes.

Booklist 39:248 F 15 '43

"The volume thus not only is a necessary and eminently practical tool for oceanographers everywhere but will also prove indispensable to both students and scholars in many kindred disciplines." R. C. Murphy

+ Geog R 34:170 Ja '44 1100w

Library J 68:290 Ap 1 '43 40w

N Y New Tech Bks 28:14 Ja '43

"It is not a 'popular' book, and some parts (e.g., the section on the dynamics of ocean currents) bristle with mathematical equations. However, much of it can be read and understood without an extensive scientific background." James Stokley

Weekly Book Review p28 N 21 '43 200w

SWARTHOUT, GLADYS. Come soon, tomorrow; the story of a young singer. 278p $2 Dodd

43-18204

The story of a young American singer from her youth in Missouri, thru her years of struggle and study, until she reaches the Metropolitan opera house in the role of Carmen. For older girls.

"Gladys Swarthout, who would never think of getting up on a stage to sing without having first been thoroughly coached in the fundamentals of her art, has plunged into the equally intricate task of novel writing without conquering her medium. The result is a dull, uninspiring story written with mediocrity of phrase and a total lack of knowledge concerning the mechanics of suspense or the technique of characterization. . . Perhaps there is instruction in these pages for a girl who is contemplating a singing career, though Emmy Norton's road is a fairly smooth one. Certainly there is no inspiration." P. A. Whitney

— + Book Week p10 Ja 23 '44 380w

"Any doting aunts or grandmothers who are looking for 'something nice' to give their young musically talented relatives should find this the perfect answer. The material in the book is vastly more entertaining and fresh than the style in which it is written but the net result should be informative and engrossing for young opera enthusiasts. It is interesting to conjecture how much is autobiographical and how much is fiction."

+ — Boston Globe p19 D 15 '43 120w

Cath World 158:510 F '44 140w

"Cheerful throughout, the book will encourage a young student." M. L. Becker

+ Weekly Book Review p5 Ja 2 '44 350w

SWARTHOUT, GLENDON FRED. Willow Run. 237p $2.50 Crowell

43-9682

"Swarthout tells the story of six workers at Willow Run, the Ford plant, who for purposes of transportation to and from the factory are welded into a unit. The car is owned by Terry; four other men, Jack Oertel, an amiable giant; 'Pig,' a brutal Pole; Dave Weinberg, a college graduate; and Zeeland, a youth just out of high school, make up the male contingent. The last is a girl, Charmaine, a beautiful young thing on the make. . . While developing the incidents which lead up to the dramatic climax of the story Swarthout carries the reader through the various steps of building a bomber." N Y Times

Am J Soc 49:198 S '43 30w

"It would be unjust to say that there is anything deliberately or even too obviously derivative in Swarthout's novel. But it is full of inchoate impressions which somehow fail to jell. Some of the situations, such as the tilt between Jewish Weinberg and a German fellow worker, are represented with insight and force. But the bomber plant as an entity remains nebulous and incomplete to the end." John Norcross

+ — Book Week p10 Je 13 '43 700w

SWARTHOUT, G. F.—Continued

"Mr. Swarthout writes rather well in a self-conscious sort of way; he has honesty, idealism and vitality; he is interested in people and seems to like them. This might appear to be pretty good equipment for a novelist. And yet 'Willow Run' is a very bad novel, full of unreal people who talk all wrong and act like idiot children, and who stop talking and acting for no other apparent reason than that their overworked creator desperately needed a rest."

— + Commonweal 38:229 Je 18 '43 650w

"A first novel, its own patterns and machinery almost too obvious, and overwritten in many places; but it has an interest, timeliness, and gripping quality that will hold reader to the book. Recommended." G. W. Hill

+ — Library J 68:430 My 15 '43 70w

"Swarthout's ear is excellent in catching the locutions of the various workers who move through his scenes. But he is less successful in narrative and in tying up his scenes and episodes. One is left with the impression that he has fine material for a good novel but that he hasn't sufficiently absorbed and developed it." Rose Feld

+ — N Y Times p18 My 30 '43 550w

"The factory scenes and processes, while they are so styled and staccato that they are sometimes exceedingly confusing, are much more interesting than the drama. The lunch hour at 3:20 A.M.; the two dwarfs in the wing; the washroom customs; all of the 'inside' of the operations of the tremendous plant are both topical and graphic, though the syntax is frequently reminiscent of the power plant or machine shop 'music' of some of the Russian moderns. The story, slight enough, is undeveloped even as a slight story." Phil Stong

+ — Sat R of Lit 26:17 Je 12 '43 310w

Springf'd Republican p7e My 30 '43 280w

"'Willow Run' is a good job." F. H. Bullock

+ Weekly Book Review p10 Je 6 '43 900w

SWARTZ, DAVID J.; GUNERMAN, MILTON J., and LAFON, ALPHONSE. Fundamentals of shopwork; a pre-induction course at the foundational level; prepared at the request of the War dept. and the U.S. Office of educ. in conformance with official pre-induction training course outline PIT-103. 474p il $2; text ed $1.60 Holt

621.7 Machine shop work 43-15442

"Useful for classroom or home study. The aim of the book is to develop an understanding of the tools and methods in sheet metal work, carpentry, aircraft instruments, telephone and telegraph maintenance. Processes are clearly explained, supplemented with photographs and line drawings. A glossary and a series of useful tables are included." (N Y New Tech Bks) Index.

Reviewed by L. E. Grinter

Book Week p6 D 26 '43 20w

Booklist 40:96 N 15 '43

Library J 68:961 N 15 '43 40w

N Y New Tech Bks 28:45 Jl '43

School & Society 58:287 O 9 '43 40w

Wis Lib Bul 39:156 D '43

SWEENY, CHARLES. Moment of truth; a realistic examination of our war situation. 305p $2.75 Scribner

940.53 World war, 1939— 43-7950

"A famous American soldier, who commanded the first Eagle Squadron in England, gives us a blunt, hard-boiled summary of each nation's policies and resources in the war, together with some military background. He suggests that the most promising road to victory lies through Siberia, and tells why." (New Yorker) Index.

Reviewed by V. A. O'Rourke

Am Pol Sci R 37:966 O '43 230w

"Col. Sweeny is a professional fighting man, and he loves his work. . . Contemptuous of practically everyone but his military colleagues, he has written a vigorous and hot-headed book about the war. 'Moment of Truth' is accompanied by extravagant praise from Ernest Hemingway, Walter Duranty, Drew Pearson and several other worthies. Perhaps they are right. Anyone who reads the book will be amused, informed and provoked to thought. But I shudder for the fate of the republic in the unlikely event that its lessons are widely absorbed." R. H. Rovere

Book Week p2 Jl 25 '43 550w

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert

Foreign Affairs 22:160 O '43 50w

"The book is smoothly written and no less interesting because it is, at times, provoking. Suggestions which appear preposterous—for instance, that the war can be won only by sending three million troops across the Arctic Ocean to join the Russians in Central Siberia by way of the rivers Yenisei, Ob and Lena —are offered so deftly and backed by so much knowledge that one almost ends by accepting them." Walter Duranty

+ — N Y Times p3 My 16 '43 1300w

"Well worth reading. Good maps."

+ New Yorker 19:75 My 22 '43 70w

Reviewed by Henry Wreath

Sat R of Lit 26:8 Je 5 '43 750w

"No doubt one should be grateful to the author for his insistence on the formidable difficulties still before us and his repeated emphasis on the overwhelming importance of Russia. In his discourses upon strategy, military history and international politics, he makes some sound observations. But quite as often it seems to me that his facts are peculiar, and his views not only fantastic but highly unhelpful to either unity or victory. I feel that both the wisdom and the utility of publishing a book like this at such a moment as the present are a matter for much more serious thought and question than are commonly given to it." Walter Millis

Weekly Book Review p29 My 23 '43 750w

SWIETOSLAWSKI, WOJCIECH. Coke formation process and physico-chemical properties of coals; with a pref. by H. L. Olin. 145p il $3.50 Herald Square press inc, 233 Spring st, N.Y.

662.6 Coal. Coke 43-1278

"Dr. Swietoslawski, formerly of the Institute of Technology of Warsaw, published this book originally in Polish. As an exile from his native Poland, he came to this country and subsequently his work was published in English. . . The scope of the book may be understood by an examination of the chapter headings: Coals as in homogeneous systems, Adsorption and Sorption Phenomena in Coals, Development of Surface by Activation Processes, Ignition Temperature of Solid Fuels, Plasticity of Bituminous Coals, Plasticity Phenomena and Binding Capacity of Coals, Agglutination Capacity of Coals, Swelling Phenomena in Coking Coals, Binary Mixture Method, Permeability of the Plastic Zone, Heat of Carbonization of Coals, Total Amount of Gases and Vapors developed during Carbonization, Physico-Chemical Analyses of the Coke Formation Process, Coke Formation Process in Mixtures of Non-Coking Coals and Pitch, Optimal Conditions for the Coke Formation Process." Chem & Met Eng

"The author presents some interesting new ideas and suggests further physico-chemical researches, but he has not carried his work to any definite conclusions. As stated in the introduction, the monograph is a hasty record of investigations interrupted by the war." R. E. Brewer

Chem & Eng N 21:823 My 25 '43 220w

Reviewed by F. C. Nachod

Chem & Met Eng 50:203 Je '43 250w

N Y New Tech Bks 28:42 Jl '43

SWIFT, ANTHONY, pseud. See Farjeon, J.J.

SWIFT, KAY. Who could ask for anything more? il. by Julian Brazelton. 211p $2 Simon & Schuster

917.95 Ranch life 43-12486

"While the New York World's fair was in full swing one of the stories about it featured in newspapers of the hinterland was that of the marriage of a talented and sophisticated New York woman to an Oregon cowboy who was appearing in the fair's rodeo. There were a good many comments about the unusual romance, and quite a few guesses, mostly pessimistic, as to how it would turn out, and then the newspapers lost interest. As a matter of fact, we learn four years later that the romance turned out to be a rousing success, and one of the proofs of it is an amiable and beguiling book by Kay Swift, the sophisticated New Yorker who went West." Springf'd Republican

---

"At last, a cowboy-meets-sophisticated-city-girl yarn that doesn't gag the reader! And what's more, it's true!" Marguerite Lyon

+ Book Week p4 Ag 29 '43 180w

Booklist 40:57 O 15 '43

"Miss Swift's chronicle is by turns funny and informative and oddly moving, written simply and with no shade of condescension." J. K. Hutchens

+ N Y Times p8 Ag 29 '43 500w

"Briskly written, but with perhaps too many smart clichés."

New Yorker 19:67 Ag 21 '43 80w

+ Springf'd Republican p7e Ag 29 '43 500w

"It would be interesting to take Bret Harte and set a page or two of his text beside the 'wacky' prose in this new and delightful book of Western life. The vocabulary is almost as full of vigor as the people and that in itself is a creation of no mean order. Perhaps only a musician could have caught the color and the sound so faithfully."

+ Theatre Arts 27:758 D '43 350w

"This warm-hearted, heart-warming, revealing, delightful, grand, beguiling, gay, refreshing, amusing, moving, observant, reckless (that's what they are saying) little book is Miss Swift's report to the nation. . . Miss Swift's colleagues of the old days, the days of the speakeasies, the brittle banter, the artificial hurly-burly, etc., have greeted her modest little volume with a wholehearted approbation that the late Dexter Fellows would have reserved for a two-headed bearded lady." Stanley Walker

Weekly Book Review p4 Ag 29 '43 900w

SWING, RAYMOND GRAM. Preview of history. 282p $2; pa $1 Doubleday

940.53 World war, 1939-. World war, 1939—Peace 43-51277

This volume contains a collection of Mr Swing's broadcasts from December 8, 1941 to May 10, 1943. Also his broadcast of October 18, 1938 on the Munich crisis. An introductory essay "Realities of a power peace" deals with post-war problems. The book concludes with eight speeches delivered on various occasions. Index.

Reviewed by Clifton Utley

Book Week p2 S 19 '43 450w

Booklist 40:57 O 15 '43

New Repub 109:757 N 29 '43 120w

"This book would of itself win him a public of no more than a few thousand, not of tens or hundreds of thousands. It is a book which meets every test of intellectuality and style. It is a highbrow book. It does not convey personality anywhere near so well as Mr. Swing's spoken words do. The words have ten times the life in them if you can recall how they sounded over the radio—as sometimes a faithful listener can. . . But this volume has to be reviewed as a book, not as a voice. As a book its value is in reproducing the states of mind of a very well-informed, very intelligent man at intervals during the past five years. Mr. Swing never kidded himself or his listeners. The state of mind he was in on a given date was justified in nine cases out of ten by the evidence available on that date." R. L. Duffus

+ N Y Times p24 O 24 '43 700w

"At his worst, the author can be positively Coolidgean, but this book contains a good percentage of his more acute writings, too."

+ — New Yorker 19:94 S 18 '43 50w

Springf'd Republican p8 O 12 '43 360w

"The book is no dull chronology, but an absorbing panorama of the campaigns, programs, meetings, anniversaries, tragedies, forces, that Mr. Swing believes will be the materials of history. You will find the play of an informed mind over the news vastly exciting, and you will welcome the restoration to memory of the great moments we have lived through, and partly forgotten as crisis piled on crisis."

+ Survey G 32:405 O '43 900w

Reviewed by Walter Millis

Weekly Book Review p6 O 10 '43 700w

SYLVIN, FRANCIS, pseud of SYLVIA SEAMAN and FRANCES SCHWARTZ. Rusty carrousel. 382p $2.75 Dutton

43-14773

"A singularly moving and poignant story of a woman's life—a story of love and disillusionment, of ecstasy and bitter unhappiness." School & Society

---

"There is a certain affinity between the heroine of 'Rusty Carrousel' and the girls whom Nancy Hale portrayed in 'The Prodigal Women.' Like them, Stephanie Camill is a product of the Twenties. Like them, she squanders her talents and emotions in a vain expense of time and lacks either values or stability." E. H. Walton

N Y Times p34 S 19 '43 600w

School & Society 58:240 S 25 '43 20w

"Francis Sylvin has written a disturbing story, often frank to the point of being unpleasant. And while the book is exposing the classrooms in a grim and depressing light, it is equally outspoken about the system of which teachers are the victims: the petty politics and the scramble for preferment, the insecurity of jobs, the type of administration which—to Stephanie Camill's tired spirit—makes the offices of the Board of Education something between a large police station and Tammany Hall. . . 'Rusty Carrousel' would have much sharper impact if the author had a sharper style and were not overfond of words like 'blurred' and 'slurred.'" George Conrad

Weekly Book Review p10 S 26 '43 600w

SYNGE, FRANCIS CHARLES. St Paul's Epistle to the Ephesians; a theological commentary. 76p $1.40 Macmillan [3s 6d S.P.C.K.]

227.5 Bible. New Testament—Ephesians A42-1189

"There is, says Mr. Synge, one majestic theme which runs through the Epistle to the Ephesians. It may be summed up in the word Unity. To show how this theme is set forth and developed is, therefore, the primary purpose of this commentary." Times [London] Lit Sup

---

"Few verse-by-verse commentaries succeed in being as readable and inspiring as this without sacrifice of critical scholarship."

+ Christian Century 60:1042 S 15 '43 60w

"Scholars will probably not accept all the interpretations which the commentary offers, for Mr. Synge is an independent thinker, not afraid to challenge both the Greek Fathers and such modern authorities as Lightfoot and Westcott. But he has his reasons for the views which he holds, and within its limits his book will serve a useful purpose."

+ Times [London] Lit Sup p523 O 18 '41 240w

T

TABER, HARRY PERSONS. Ezra and me; il. by Alison Mason Kingsbury. 180p $2 Coward-McCann

817 43-9055

A collection of half-humorous, half serious essays taking the form of dialogues between the author and Ezra—a ghost or skeleton from the closet, "the phantasmic manifestation of Old Hopes."

"Mr Taber's flair for the whimsical and his quick wit are evident all through the book, but there is a touch of nostalgia about it, a longing for the old times when one was 'raring to go.' There is plenty of sound philosophy between its pages which will appeal to many." M. D.

+ Springf'd Republican p7e Jl 4 '43 190w

"It is a gay book, and nimble as a grasshopper jumping from one subject to another. Mr. Taber reports that he read Carlyle when he was young, became a disciple of William Morris, cherishes memories of the theater in the '80s, and sums up history as 'a record of how women have achieved results through the instrumentality of men.' These pages reflect a tolerant and civilized attitude toward life."

+ Weekly Book Review p19 Ag 22 '43 200w

TAFFRAIL, pseud. See Dorling, H. T.

TAFT, PHILIP. Economics and problems of labor. 994p $4 Stackpole sons

331 Labor and laboring classes 42-50807

"This is a catalogue of data on labor problems, extremely useful as a reference work aside from its qualities as a text, in which it is possible to find information ranging from the date of the first mill in the United States for the production of machine-made cotton to the operations of Jake ('The Bum') Wellner in Brooklyn." J Pol Econ

Reviewed by Clark Kerr

Am Econ R 33:935 D '43 1400w

"The book is particularly valuable in compact references and restatements of labor history and of economic theory bearing on labor problems. Withal, it also has the virtue of being more sympathetic to problems of scientific and personnel management. This compares with the curious attitude of many people whose consideration of the labor problem has chiefly been one of labor's difficulty with employers, and who seem little aware of the modern phases of management's not inconsiderable perplexities in administering labor problems. The book could have been somewhat strengthened even in this particular. In general appraisal, however, in spirit and content, it is the most appealing of textbooks of the problems now available." Herman Feldman

+ Ann Am Acad 228:129 Jl '43 320w

"Although in itself the elaborate and well-organized presentation of the data may provide the student with essential material, Professor Taft's text, like many others, does little either to stimulate the student's interest in labor problems or to develop his analytical abilities. Such stimulation and development are imperative if the student is later to assume responsibility as a citizen. Whether a text should be required to assist the student along these lines is an open question." C. E. Lindblom

J Pol Econ 51:467 O '43 700w

TAGGART, WILLIAM C., and CROSS, CHRISTOPHER. My fighting congregation. 176p $2 Doubleday

940.542 World war, 1939—Personal narratives, American 43-16025

Reminiscences of an American chaplain, who was on board a troop transport when the news of Pearl Harbor broke. Includes a list of American chaplains "who are casualties since Pearl Harbor. Because of the uncertainties of war this list may not be complete."

Booklist 40:112 D 1 '43

"No attempt is made at literary style, and except for arrangement there is evidently as little as possible change of the material from the way Chaplain Taggart himself actually told it to Christopher Cross. If it rambles a bit, it is the more like an ordinary conversational record, even to recreating an appropriate atmosphere of Texas leisureliness in the telling." M. J. T.

+ Christian Science Monitor p12 Ja 8 '44 450w

Reviewed by F. S. Adams

N Y Times p4 Ja 23 '44 440w

Springf'd Republican p7e D 12 '43 360w

Weekly Book Review p26 O 31 '43 130w

TAIT, JOSEPH WILFRID. Some aspects of the effect of the dominant American culture upon children of Italian-born parents. 74p $1.60 Teachers college

136.7 Child study. Italians in the U.S. 43-109

"A Ph.D. dissertation which reports an investigation of the often repeated statement that children of national minority groups in the United States pass through harrowing experiences because of prejudice and rejection. In particular the study investigates the degree of maladjustment of 734 children of Italian origin, 11 to 15 years of age, in five large public schools of varying percentages of foreign enrollment." (School & Society) Bibliography.

"Tait's study is an important contribution to our knowledge of a much discussed but little explored segment of the field of human behavior." E. D. Monachesi

+ Am Soc R 8:232 Ap '43 380w

School & Society 56:448 N 7 '42 60w

TAIYI LIN, pseud. See Lin, Anor

TALBOT, CONSTANCE. Complete book of sewing; dressmaking and sewing for the home made easy. (Halcyon house publication) 319p il $2.95 Blue ribbon bks.

646.4 Sewing. Dressmaking (W) 43-4534

Detailed instructions for making garments, as well as slip covers, curtains, draperies, lampshades, etc. Contains 750 explanatory pictures, with some photographs. Index.

"It's a helpful, informative volume." E. B.

+ Book Week p5 Ap 25 '43 90w

Bookmark 4:8 My '43

Cleveland Open Shelf p15 Ag '43

Reviewed by Ann Stevens

+ N Y Times p16 Jl 11 '43 280w

"In all there are over 2000 items discussed and illustrated. The index makes it a simple matter to look up any problem. It is difficult to imagine any woman who will not be intrigued by this book and who will not want to try her hand at sewing with Mrs Talbot's guidance." H. L.

+ Springf'd Republican p7e Ap 25 '43 300w

"It has an unusually good program for teaching little girls to sew and its photographs include interiors."

+ Weekly Book Review p22 My 9 '43 230w

TALBOT-BOOTH, ERIC CHARLES, ed. See Merchant ships

TAMAGNA, FRANK M. Banking and finance in China; with a pref. by T. V. Soong. 400p $4 Inst. of Pacific relations

332.1 Banks and banking—China. Finance—China 43-4515

"The purpose of this study is an investigation of the organization and development of banking and finance in modern China. The study consists of an Introduction, which sets forth the general scope of the investigation, and three Parts . . . dealing with the native money market, the foreign money market, the modern money market and the relationship between the financial structure and the agricultural, commercial, industrial and public sectors of the Chinese economy." (Author's pref) "[Dr] Tamagna is Foreign Economist, Federal Reserve Bank of New York; author of Italy's Interests and Policies in the Far East (1941). The study has been prepared by Dr. Tamagna in his private capacity, and it does not purport to represent the views of the institution with which he is connected." (Foreword) Selected bibliography. Index.

Reviewed by Ta-Chung Liu
Am Econ R 33:427 Je '43 1000w

"The book will not have wide appeal: its pages are too studded with fact for that, and its style lumbers a bit; but specialists will find it useful. The volume is not lacking in items of general and current interest, however, especially in its treatment of war finance. . . T. V. Soong is no doubt correct when he surmises in his preface to the book that the volume may stand for some time 'as the standard work in its field.'" R. A. Norem
+ Am Pol Sci R 37:374 Ap '43 230w

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert
Foreign Affairs 21:16 Jl '43 40w

"Dr. Tamagna's study is for the most part technical and detailed—probably inevitably so in a study of banking institutions. A greater use, however, of footnotes might have loosened the style and resulted in a more readable book. The most readable and interesting chapter in the book is the one devoted to the problems of banking and credit in 1936-37 in which the author departs from the detailed style of the trained technician to the bolder style of the philosopher and theoretician. . . The lay reader, however, will be considerably aided by the numerous well-done summaries which are to be found throughout the book." I. S. Friedman
+ — Pacific Affairs 16:116 Mr '43 1000w

Reviewed by C. R. Bennett
Pol Sci Q 58:299 Je '43 650w

TAN YUN, pseud. See Lin, A.

TANNEHILL, IVAN RAY. Weather around the world. 200p il maps $2.50 Princeton univ. press

551.5 Weather A43-3353

This book for the layman contains first a general introduction to weather phenomena and then a summary of usual weather conditions in each of the continents in their various parts. Index.

Booklist 40:109 D 1 '43
Library J 68:961 N 15 '43 40w

"At this time when hundreds of thousands of Americans are traveling to far distant places, this book, written for the layman to serve as a general introduction to world weather, is certain to be unusually useful. The author was chief of the Marine Division of the United States Weather Bureau until we entered the war, and is now chief of the Bureau's Division of Synoptic Forecasts and Reports."
+ Scientific Bk Club R 14:3 O '43 330w

"The best parts of this book are the appendices with actual records of climatic conditions at key points in all continents, and the many charts and cloud formation photographs which appear throughout the book. The actual text reads rather like a geography book and contains little that is novel." H. M. Davis
+ Springf'd Republican p10 N 2 '43 330w

Reviewed by James Stokley
Weekly Book Review p45 N 14 '43 330w

TARKINGTON, BOOTH. Kate Fennigate. 359p $2.50 Doubleday

43-51197

Kate Fennigate was a good, but managing, woman, and her chief penchant was managing those she loved. At twelve Kate tried managing her father, but met with little success. Then she turned to the head of Roe Metal Works, and was fairly successful. But "Cousin Ames" was her life work: she loved him from the time she was sixteen, and could not forbear making him do those things she thought were for his own good. Both before and after she married him Kate was Ames' undercover manager, but things came to a crisis when the beautiful Laila tried to wreck the marriage.

Reviewed by Edward Weeks
Atlantic 172:119 Ag '43 330w

"Here is our Tarkington at his best—one might say as he was in 'Alice Adams'—and there is no need to elaborate on that. . . A delightful comedy of manners—for which we are duly grateful at this time—'Kate Fennigate' is absorbing reading and rich food for adult thought." Edith Roberts
+ Book Week p6 Je 27 '43 600w
Booklist 39:447 Jl 1 '43
Cath World 158:218 N '43 180w

"Mr. Tarkington has always shown a remarkable understanding of feminine processes of thinking, from Alice Adams to Kate Fennigate. At the same time he can be guilty of over-simplification in the portrayal of minor characters. Kate's antitype is Laila—the symbol of the predatory woman, the self-seeking charmer. But a symbol is too simple a thing. A real Laila would be more complex. . . . This is not said in mislike. Caricature is a valuable form of social satire. This novel embraces social satire and is subtly humorous." W. K. R.
+ — Christian Science Monitor p16 My 27 '43 650w

Reviewed by O. B. White
Commonweal 38:304 Jl 9 '43 350w

"The blindness of the men in the book will strike some readers as overdone. It might go down in life, but art is not life." Edward Wagenknecht
+ — N Y Times p3 My 23 '43 1550w

"The story is told with the author's usual facility, but you get the impression that for once Mr. Tarkington has been completely taken in by one of his girls and that he doesn't suspect his heroine is an insufferable little prig."
New Yorker 19:86 Je 5 '43 70w

"The contrast and contest between the good Kate and bad Laila Speer is well done. The novel is a finished one in its sustained interest and well developed plot but its theme does not necessitate viewing the novel with alarm as the publishers archly suggest." E. S. P.
+ — Springf'd Republican p7e My 30 '43 300w

"Like all Mr. Tarkington's stories, 'Kate Fennigate' carries the reader quickly and smoothly along its course. It is eminently readable. On one point its upshot leaves me puzzled. Mr. Tarkington very evidently respects Kate. In fact, he remarks that one astute old gentleman in the town was wise enough to suspect that she was a genius. But does he like her?" Mary Ross
+ — Weekly Book Review p2 My 23 '43 950w

TATE, SALLY. Fluffy, the pink bunny; pictures by [the author]. [20p] $1 Cupples

43-8951

"Fluffy is a lovable pink bunny who wants very much to find a playmate for a lonely little boy and girl. But none of the animals Fluffy approaches is willing to become a pet, until finally a big black bear suggests that the little pink bunny himself volunteer. The pink bunny is delighted with the idea and so are his human friends who take him home and give him a playhouse of his very own." Book Week

"In all the pictures Fluffy is really fluffy and really pink—you can see the pink and pat the fluff. Small fingers will delight in stroking the little pink bunny's fur." Phyllis Whitney
+ Book Week p6 Je 6 '43 150w

"There are sixteen fluffy rabbits in the book and every last one will be stroked by every baby that gets the book. They have also been

TATE, SALLY—Continued
stroked by practically everybody who saw it at the Spring Book Festival Show, one of whom said, defiantly, 'I don't care if it's art or not: I think it's cute.'" M. L. Becker
Weekly Book Review p8 Jl 18 '43 150w

TAUBMAN, HYMAN HOWARD. Music on my beat, an intimate volume of shop talk. 267p $2.50 Simon & Schuster

780.883 Music. Musicians 43-17085

"Discussion of most phases of American concert life, obviously gathered by author from personal contacts as music critic. Although the anecdotes about outstanding personalities are seemingly endless, the reader cannot help but be aware that because of them he acquires vivid picture of the state of musical activities as they exist in our country today." Library J

"The reader may be assured that 'Music on My Beat' is an intriguing book." Felix Borowski
+ Book Week p6 Ja 16 '44 280w
Booklist 40:161 Ja 1 '44

"The fluent and informal style makes good reading, while the frank and straightforward opinions expressed by author add much to the value of the book. Recommended." H. E. Bush
+ Library J 68:845 O 15 '43 80w

"A book both informative and highly entertaining. As a member for thirteen years of the music staff of the New York Times, Mr. Taubman has been able to season his exposition with a good deal of inside information and pertinent anecdote. He names names freely and talks candidly and sometimes caustically. Much of the anecdotage has apparently been selected for its entertainment value. In general the stories are good, and their sum total does shed a revealing light on the background of music-making." Stephen Somervell
+ N Y Times p8 D 19 '43 700w

"If there were to be another time capsule for 1943 Howard Taubman's 'Music on My Beat' would be an excellent piece of evidence to deposit. For this 'intimate volume of shop talk' is a fairly complete picture of music in the United States as it exists today. If anything has been left out it is not visible to the naked eye." Douglas Moore
+ Sat R of Lit 27:34 Ja 22 '44 650w

"An extremely readable volume for the casual concert-goer. There is nothing pedantic about his gay quips, his chatty anecdotes (though some of the latter are warmed over), and his earnest passion for music for its own sake." R. B. Cochrane
+ Weekly Book Review p13 Ja 2 '44 650w

TAUSSIG, JOSEPH KNEFLER, and COPE, HARLEY FRANCIS. Our navy, a fighting team. (Whittlesey house publication) 239p il $2.50 McGraw

359 U.S.—Navy. Warships 43-15543

"This book describes each type of United States Navy ship and endeavors to explain exactly how it can be used singly or in cooperation with other types. Each chapter has been written by an officer who is an expert in his branch of the service, with from 25 to 45 years of active service behind him." (Pref) Designed for naval indoctrination courses. Includes stories of action in the present war. No index.

"'Our Navy, a Fighting Team,' is a good addition to the growing list of volumes dedicated to the education of our new naval officers." W. H. Fetridge
+ Book Week p4 N 21 '43 290w
Booklist 40:158 Ja 1 '44

TAVES, ISABELLA. Successful women, and how they attained success. 320p il $2.50 Dutton

920 Woman—Biography (W) 43-2956

Human interest stories about American women who have achieved fame or fortune or both in their chosen professions. Partial contents: Mary Margaret McBride, radio columnist; Margaret Bourke-White, photographer; Helen Hayes, actress; Katharine Cornell, actress; Cornelia Otis Skinner, actress and writer; Mary Roberts Rinehart, writer; Margaret Mitchell, writer; Anne Hummert, radio executive; Valentina, dress designer; Sally Milgrim, dress designer; Dorothy Shaver, retail executive; Gladys Swarthout, singer; Louise Taylor Davis, ad executive; Katherine Grimm, secretary; Judge Dorothy Kenyon, lawyer; Connie Guion, doctor; Major Julia Stimson, registered nurse; Helen Hokinson, artist; Susan Palmer, restaurant owner; Aline Rhonie, flyer.

Booklist 39:292 Mr 15 '43

"Much-needed career book. Offers no slick formula for overnight success but, sanely and entertainingly, reiterates value of integrity, hard work, and awareness of individual and local potentialities in any field. . . Valuable for reference or browsing." Eileen Riols
+ Library J 68:251 Mr 15 '43 70w

Reviewed by E. M. Morrow
N Y Times p14 My 9 '43 100w
Special Libraries 34:174 My '43

"The sketches possess the swift superficial fluidity of magazine interviews and are casually entertaining. It is amusing to observe how many of the women who have secured enviable positions and reputations for themselves come from the South where tradition makes women helplessly feminine. There is very little in 'Successful Women' to help the ambitious girl, except through gleaning the idea that outside of advertising, the radio offers the most fertile field for the woman with the glint of a career in her eye." L. S. Munn
Springf'd Republican p7e F 21 '43 500w
Wis Lib Bul 39:52 Ap '43

TAX INSTITUTE. Wartime problems of state and local finance, by A. E. Buck [and others] symposium conducted by the Institute, Nov. 27-28, 1942, New York city. 267p $2.50 The institute, 135 S. 36th st, Philadelphia

336.73 Finance. World war, 1939—Finance 43-7886

Collection of papers based on a symposium held by the Tax institute on November 27 and 28th, 1942. "The topics discussed are: what the war is doing to state and local costs; what the war is doing to state and local revenues; intergovernmental fiscal problems as accentuated by the war; shaping fiscal policies to aid in postwar adjustments; state and local fiscal responsibilities in winning the war. An appendix presents reports of several regional conferences on state and local wartime fiscal policies. A bibliography and an index are included." (Ann Am Acad)

Reviewed by J. A. Fairlie
Am Pol Sci R 37:748 Ag '43 300w

"While the usual limitations of a symposium prevent a deep probing of the problems, the volume does contribute some worth-while suggestions to state and local fiscal officers for planning and acting now to meet postwar adjustments." J. E. Pate
+ — Am Pol Sci R 37:1124 D '43 500w

"Timely, convenient, and important collection of papers." H. R. Enslow
+ Ann Am Acad 229:218 S '43 850w

TAYLOR, DEEMS; PETERSON, MARCELENE, and HALE, BRYANT. Pictorial history of the movies. 350p il $3.95 Simon & Schuster

791.409 Moving pictures—History 43-18849

Pictorial history of the moving picture industry in America, from an early-nineteenth century attempt to show motion pictorially, dated 1835, to 1942's beautiful picture, Mrs Miniver. The book is arranged chronologically, and is composed of movie stills with paragraphs of text, and a full index.

Reviewed by Schuyler Watts
Atlantic 173:125 F '44 300w

Reviewed by A. C. Spectorsky
Book Week p1 D 26 '43 700w

Booklist 40:179 Ja 15 '44

Commonweal 39:381 Ja 28 '44 350w

Reviewed by William Du Bois
+ N Y Times p3 D 26 '43 550w

"This book is a bazaar of camera magic, with over seven hundred exhibits. The pictures are reproduced with technical excellence: they are colorful, amusing, often exciting, and wide in range. I know of no volume which contains as comprehensive and fascinating a collection of scenes from the gallery of motion pictures." L. C. Rosten
+ Sat R of Lit 27:22 Ja 29 '44 1150w

Springf'd Republican p7e Ja 9 '44 280w

"With any book of this sort each individual reader may quarrel, drawing up his own list of sins of omission and commission. But Deems Taylor knows his movies and what the American family has liked. There should be enough fans with memories and the will to read to give this pageant of the American film a wide audience."
Theatre Arts 28:63 Ja '44 230w

"This generous collection of pictures from movies of the last fifty years will be received with vast enthusiasm. It reproduces hundreds of 'stills.' Some of them are too small, but the book includes practically everything anybody could have desired. There is a wealth of scenes of the most popular stars of several decades, of scenes from the best-remembered films of the past, and (most absorbing of all) numerous pictures of people like Garbo and Gable before they had won fame. The illustrious dead are here—John Barrymore, Jean Harlow, Douglas Fairbanks and many another. So are those, equally famous and very much alive, but no longer seen on the screen, like Mary Pickford." Iris Barry
+ Weekly Book Review p1 D 26 '43 750w

TAYLOR, DEMETRIA M. Complete book of home canning. 164p il $2 Greenberg
641.4 Canning and preserving
43-51193

Clear-cut, simple directions for canning fruits, vegetables, and meats, poultry and fish, as well as for dehydrating, and preparing food for freezing lockers. Index.

Booklist 39:441 Jl 1 '43

"Miss Taylor is a food expert and writer of national reputation. As a member of the staff of the Good Housekeeping Institute and, later as head of the McCall kitchens she has learned all the questions that women ask about canning and she writes the answer with full knowledge of the complications that wartime rationing brings to the problem. . . The enemies of food which are responsible for costly spoilage are discussed and preventive methods are outlined. The timorous housewife will find her fears are allayed and her eagerness encouraged by this brisk and authoritative handbook."
+ Springf'd Republican p7e My 23 '43 250w

TAYLOR, GRIFFITH. See Taylor, T. G.

TAYLOR, HENRY CHARLES, and TAYLOR, MRS ANNE (DEWEES). World trade in agricultural products. 286p maps $3.50 Macmillan
338.14 Produce trade. Agriculture—Economic aspects 43-8073

"A handbook and history of movements of agricultural products in world trade and the national imperial and international control that influence direction of the trade." (Library J) Index.

Reviewed by E. B. Dietrich
Ann Am Acad 231:183 Ja '44 550w

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert
Foreign Affairs 22:157 O '43 30w

Library J 68:291 Ap 1 '43 30w

Reviewed by Genevieve Lamson
N Y Times p12 Jl 4 '43 220w

"The Taylors' publication should go far in promoting a better understanding of the importance and nature of world commerce in agricultural products. It is authoritative. It is readable." Asher Hobson
+ J Pol Econ 51:562 D '43 750w

"This is an authoritative book in the fields of economic geography and agricultural economics, crammed with significant information, but written in just as 'readable' a style as its subject matter permits."
+ Scientific Bk Club R 14:4 S '43 210w

TAYLOR, HENRY JUNIOR. Men in motion. 306p $3 Doubleday
940.548173 World war, 1939—Personal narratives, American 43-8575

An American business man, traveler, and war correspondent discusses his trip by plane from New York to Africa and the Near East. He warns especially against the German attempts to win the peace, and draws his conclusions about the effects of the war upon the future of America. Index.

"A highly interesting and controversial book." H. L. Reich
+ — Book Week p2 Jl 18 '43 700w

Cath World 157:559 Ag '43 230w

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert
Foreign Affairs 22:157 O '43 50w

"Many people who admire Mr. Taylor's writing, who applaud his attempt to make it clear that Germany hopes to win the peace even if she loses the war, and who appreciate the importance of good tactics and practical politics in planning our cooperation with other nations after the war will, I think, hesitate to accept either his conclusions about our past or our future and will regret his insistence on comparing the administration with perfection rather than with the possible alternatives. Many sincere opponents of the New Deal will question his premise that the Roosevelt Administration is at the root of all our present miseries. . . And many casual readers of his book will wonder how it could happen that he should be so full of praise for our military accomplishments, so certain that we are the greatest people on earth, so confident in the Christian ideal and yet so dubious about our ability to do business with Stalin and so pessimistic about our prospects of raising the standard of living of any one but ourselves." J. B. Reston
N Y Times p4 My 30 '43 1250w

"Whatever the shortcomings of his uneven but often incisive book, which, by the way, has plenty of odd information about the secret history of our North African coup, Mr. Taylor deserves a gold medal for adding another cogent demonstration of the thesis that we are fighting Germans, not Nazis." Clifton Fadiman
New Yorker 19:71 My 22 '43 450w

"The chapters on the United Nations' grand strategy in the campaigns of North Africa give us what is probably the most comprehensive and authoritative account yet published. All this is vivid, unforgettable. Yet everything comes back to the question, Where do we go from here?" John Corbin
+ — Sat R of Lit 26:7 Je 5 '43 1600w

"One of the more unusual books by war correspondents is 'Men in Motion,' chiefly because the author is an unusual correspondent. He was first a businessman, then a world traveler who mixed business and pleasure, shrewdly appraising the places and persons he saw. No wonder, then, that war brought him a new role as roving writer for the North American Newspaper alliance, whose dispatches appear in this newspaper. Mr Taylor's new book also reveals him as something of a philosopher, as well as a writer who can turn from handing you a factual near-scoop and do a perceptive and poetic paragraph about the difference between an African tribesman and a mechanized soldier. Henry Taylor has written a book worth even a busy man's reading time." Marshall Bragdon

TAYLOR, H. J.—Continued
+ Springf'd Republican p6 My 29 '43 950w
Time 41:102 Je 21 '43 650w

"Any one who tries to cover as much ground as Mr. Taylor does is liable to trip and stumble from time to time. The author's judgments, opinions, and prejudices are, of course, his own. From the viewpoint of technical proficiency, this book is much better than the author's last one, 'Time Runs Out.' But Mr. Taylor's metaphors and other turns of speech are not always of the happiest, even in 'Men in Motion.' And he treats some subjects with a brevity and in generalizations that can be breath-taking." Wallace Deuel
Weekly Book Review p12 My 30 '43 1500w

TAYLOR, JOHN COLLINS. Backyard poultry keeping; with an introd. by William H. Allen. 147p il $1.50 Rutgers univ. press
636.5 Poultry Agr 43-149

Simple directions on producing eggs and poultry meat for home consumption. Includes one chapter on raising rabbits. For the amateur.

"People who are trying to meet the food shortage by raising poultry on a small scale will find genuine help and dependable guidance in [this new book.]"
+ Book Week p11 Je 27 '43 110w
Booklist 39:459 Jl 15 '43

TAYLOR, LLOYD WILLIAM. Fundamental physics; with the collaboration, in the chapters on modern physics, of Forrest Glenn Tucker. 662p il $4 Houghton
530 Physics 43-10792

"The most considerable change in this book, as compared with Physics: the Pioneer Science [published 1941], is in the section on electricity. . . In the present book [this section has been rewritten] with electrostatics reduced in extent and placed after the more utilitarian aspect of the subject." (Pref) Index.

"The text is correct and incisive; the opening chapter, 'The Place of Mechanics in the Intellectual Enterprise,' is an essay of uncommon depth, beamed at the problem of how the scientist may increase his fire-power in the eternal war for intellectual freedom. It would be well if the scientists of tomorrow could rise to the challenge presented by this thoughtful essay." J. M. Juran
+ N Y Times p49 N 21 '43 120w

"The new book [is] very well adapted to present-day needs, because of its more practical character. Yet, at the same time, Dr. Taylor has retained much of the historical background material which characterized his earlier volume and which is so desirable if the reader is to acquire a proper perspective." James Stokley
+ Weekly Book Review p32 O 3 '43 130w

TAYLOR, MALCOLM. PX; il. by Harvey Kidder. 231p $2 Houghton
43-4645

Mystery story for older boys.

"I enthusiastically recommend this book for boys from 10 to 14." William Falls
+ Book Week p8 My 30 '43 130w
Booklist 39:356 My 1 '43

"The plan is ingenious with an international bearing, not based on a murder and not wholly incredible. Excitement and well-sustained interest will attract older boys, especially." A. M. Jordan
+ Horn Bk 19:104 Mr '43 60w
Sat R of Lit 26:28 My 15 '43 20w

"A redblooded action story, one cannot follow the action without thinking ahead—and 1969 is no farther from today than 1939 was from 1913." M. L. Becker
+ Weekly Book Review p8 Ap 11 '43 500w

TAYLOR, PHOEBE ATWOOD (ALICE TILTON, pseud). File for record. 288p $2 Norton 43-51060

Detective story.

"You get to the place where you don't believe a word of it and don't care if you didn't—because the whole wacky business is pure, clean fun." Elizabeth Bullock
+ Book Week p8 Mr 28 '43 400w
Booklist 39:294 Mr 15 '43

"Lighthearted story of madcap doings of the Dalton smart set."
New Yorker 19:68 F 27 '43 70w

"Something going on every minute in this one, from initial thump on sleuth's cranium to unexpected outcome—also much hilarity. Effervescent."
+ Sat R of Lit 26:18 Mr 13 '43 40w
Springf'd Republican p7e Mr 28 '43 460w

"That Tilton girl is loose again with a powerful farce-comedy-mystery involving Leonidas Witherall, the man who looks like Shakespeare and thinks like Phoebe Atwood Taylor." Will Cuppy
+ Weekly Book Review p28 Mr 7 '43 250w

TAYLOR, PHOEBE ATWOOD (ALICE TILTON, pseud). Going, going, gone. 217p $2 Norton 43-16082

Detective story.

Reviewed by Elizabeth Bullock
Book Week p15 N 21 '43 110w
Booklist 40:199 F 1 '44

"Highly recommended for Mayo fans and not quite so highly for others, since there is a good deal of confusion mixed in with the Cape Cod atmosphere."
+ — New Yorker 19:96 O 30 '43 70w

"So many people, including Asey Mayo, do so many silly things that the investigation goes on and on until one fears that it will never end. This is not one of the better Asey Mayo yarns." Isaac Anderson
— N Y Times p50 N 14 '43 80w

"This isn't quite as screwy as some of the earlier stories about the Cape Cod sleuth, but it's funny enough and the mystery is really mysterious right up to the end. Of course it's required reading for Asey's admirers." W. H. H.
+ Springf'd Republican p7e N 7 '43 170w

"As ever, Miss Taylor's mystery technique is a joy to behold. Not to mention her good, hearty comedy derived honestly from her salty characters. 'Going, Going, Gone' is one of her slickest offerings, a life-saver for fans in doubt, a tonic for the whole family, and then some. Don't miss it." Will Cuppy
+ Weekly Book Review p28 O 31 '43 350w

TAYLOR, ROBERT EMMETT. No royal road; Luca Pacioli and his times. 445p il $4 Univ. of N.C. press [18s Oxford]
B or 92 Paccioli, Luca. Renaissance—Italy
42-24370

Biography of a fifteenth century Franciscan friar who was a teacher of mathematics and author of several books on mathematical subjects. Bibliography. Index.

Reviewed by G. C. Sellery
Am Hist R 48:850 Jl '43 420w

"There is not the smallest doubt that the author had a wonderful time collecting his material, but so infinitely precious to him is each garnered bit of data that there has been very little sifting of the chaff—from the reader's point of view—merely a laborious elaboration of notebooks." E. V. R. Wyatt
Commonweal 37:234 D 18 '42 900w

TAYLOR, ROSEMARY. Chicken every Sunday; my life with mother's boarders; il. by Donald McKay. (Whittlesey house publication) 307p $2.75 McGraw

43-3406

Humorous episodes in the lives of an Arizona family. Father had a habit of losing money on his manifold adventures, but mother had to have money and so she took boarders. Mother had been brought up in luxury, but lost it in the Civil war: she knew the value of money. So even when they were comparatively well-off mother took boarders and made money.

"Successful books of this kind have managed to strike a high average for entertainment, while making no bid for permanence in the literary scene, 'Chicken Every Sunday' is neither better nor worse than that average." August Derleth

Book Week p4 Ap 4 '43 800w

Reviewed by Dorsey McCarthy

Book Week p7 Je 27 '43 50w

Booklist 39:334 Ap 15 '43

Cleveland Open Shelf p10 Jl '43

"Easy to read and full of amusing anecdotes." Margaret Owen

+ Library J 68:171 F 15 '43 70w

"Mrs. Taylor writes of her life with Mother's boarders with a joyful zest that places Mother in the first rank of literary relatives." Rose Feld

+ N Y Times p24 Ap 4 '43 550w

"One of the more robust and amusing of the good-old-days books."

+ New Yorker 19:83 Ap 17 '43 40w

"A deft, amusing, heart-warming chronicle of the days when lonesome people found in a friendly boarding house comfort, entertainment and, more often than not, romance. The decorations by Donald McKay are amusing." Page Cooper

+ Weekly Book Review p2 Ap 4 '43 850w

Wis Lib Bul 39:71 My '43

TAYLOR, THOMAS GRIFFITH. Australia. 2d ed rev 455p il maps $6 Dutton

919.4 Australia 43-15991

Revision of a college textbook which first appeared in 1940 (Book Review Digest, 1940). It is a comprehensive geography of Australia, explaining the physical aspects of the continent, its natural resources, growth of its industries and commerce, and the part played by the early English settlers in the development of the continent. Author is professor of geography at the University of Toronto. Maps and graphs. Index.

Reviewed by Howard Daniel

Ann Am Acad 231:178 Ja '44 500w

"From the standpoint of the student of Australia, the book is a very useful one, and in the light of possible tremendous broadening of relations with that portion of the world after the war, should prove of considerable value." J. R. Lewis

+ Current Hist 4:407 Ag '43 200w

Social Studies 34:288 O '43 50w

TEAL, MRS VALENTINE. Little woman wanted noise; pictures by Robert Lawson. [40p] $1 Rand McNally

43-4373

Picture story book of the little old lady who had lived all her life in the midst of city noises and loved it. When she moved to the country she could not stand the quietness, so she bought animals of several kinds. Even the animals did not make enough noise to suit her, but when she adopted two boys her joy was complete. After that it was never quiet. Ages four to seven.

"Children of picture book age will have as much fun with 'The Little Woman Wanted Noise' as their elders do with 'Old MacDonald Had a Farm.' There is a fascination about repeating animal sounds over and over, collecting new sounds until you can imitate a whole barnyard." P. A. Whitney

+ Book Week p8 Ap 4 '43 270w

Booklist 39:357 My 1 '43

"A very simple story is made attractive by Robert Lawson's sympathetic and delightful drawings which bring out its humor and humanity." A. M. Jordan

+ Horn Bk 19:237 Jl '43 40w

"Robert Lawson's amusing full-page illustrations are perfect accompaniment to the fun." R. W. Stewart

+ Library J 68:365 My 1 '43 70w

Reviewed by E. L. Buell

N Y Times p7 Ag 15 '43 140w

New Yorker 19:65 My 29 '43 30w

Sat R of Lit 26:29 My 15 '43 20w

"Picture books that pay their way in pleasure keep on doing so, over and over; this one is good for reading aloud again and again until a very little person can repeat it as he turns the pages of some of the most laughable pictures Mr. Lawson has drawn." M. L. Becker

+ Weekly Book Review p12 My 23 '43 350w

TEALE, EDWIN WAY. Dune boy; the early years of a naturalist; il. by Edward Shenton. 255p $3 Dodd

B or 92 Naturalists—Correspondence, reminiscences, etc. 43-16035

Autobiography of an American naturalist, author of Grassroot Jungles (Book Review Digest, 1937), describing principally his youthful days. His happiest times were the long summer vacations spent on his grandfather's farm in the dune country of Indiana, where he first learned to love the out-of-doors.

Reviewed by J. T. Frederick

Book Week p9 N 7 '43 70w

Booklist 40:145 D 15 '43

Reviewed by F. C. Darling

Christian Science Monitor p6 Ja 27 '44 250w

"Somewhat similar to Bounty of the Wayside; less witty and more pretentious, but not to be missed by those who love the country." L. M. Kinloch

+ — Library J 68:768 O 1 '43 60w

Reviewed by Anita Moffett

N Y Times p10 N 7 '43 950w

"Though it is not as sensitive as it might have been, it is a charming book nonetheless, warm with the fresh and comfortable savor of country life in the years before the first World War. Edward Shenton's pictures catch the proper spirit. A nice book for boys as well as grown-ups."

+ New Yorker 19:108 N 6 '43 70w

Reviewed by G. G. Bates

Sat R of Lit 26:20 O 23 '43 500w

"With tenderness and quiet humor Mr. Teale relates his memories of those days and that spot and those grandparents. It is a boy's book for grown-ups, a superb book that catches the exciting tempo of an awakening mind and, in a world clamorous with battle and sudden death, leaves the reader thankful for the peace and rewarding labors of a countryside and old people who were satisfied with it." Richardson Wright

+ Weekly Book Review p5 O 24 '43 1300w

Wis Lib Bul 40:9 Ja '44

TECHY, MARGARET. Filet crochet lace; how to make it. 80p il $2.50 Harper

746.43 Crocheting 43-7877

"Basic steps in crocheting, general hints and suggestions, with detailed directions for the use of three designs in filet work—the grape, the lily, and the star—for various purposes. Information on needlecraft guilds and crochet contests." (Booklist) Index.

Booklist 40:7 S '43

Wis Lib Bul 39:106 Jl '43

TEICHMANN, FREDERICK KURT. Airplane design manual. 2d ed 440p il $4.50 Pitman

629.1341 Airplanes—Design and construction 42-50749

"An introduction to the art of airplane design particularly suited to meet the needs of the student, young engineer, or draftsman. In this edition two chapters have been added, one, Operating control systems, the other, Types of airplanes. This latter chapter includes the section on airplane data sheets of the earlier edition [Book Review Digest, 1939]. The new material accounts for ninety-five additional pages." (N Y New Tech Bks) Bibliography. Index.

Booklist 39:431 Je 15 '43
N Y New Tech Bks 28:22 Ap '43

TEILHET, DARWIN LE ORA. Retreat from the Dolphin. 322p $2.50 Little 43-15771

A story of adventure in the Chilean revolution of 1810-20. The hero is an American boy of fifteen who goes with his mother and stepfather to Chile, traveling in the ship, the Dolphin, which the boy has inherited from his father.

Reviewed by Elizabeth Van Deusen
Book Week p28 D 5 '43 470w
Booklist 40:166 Ja 1 '44

"An 'old-fashioned' novel, wholesome, invigorating. Well recommended." L. R. Etzkorn
+ Library J 68:846 O 15 '43 90w

"'Retreat from the Dolphin' is a tale, given its category as an adventure story, that will yield grand entertainment for an evening. As such, it is a tonic contrast to some brands of 'psychological' novels." F. H. Young
+ — N Y Times p18 O 24 '43 360w

Reviewed by Lisle Bell
Weekly Book Review p27 O 31 '43 450w

TEMPLE, WILLARD HENRY. Web Adams; with il. by Dwight Logan. 199p $2 Scribner 43-3657

Chronicles the doings of a lively, normal American boy, seventh grade size. Web could get into more scrapes than two boys should have, but he had a habit of getting out of them, too. And he had an understanding father, so Web never came to any serious grief—even over girls. Grades five to eight.

Booklist 39:338 Ap 15 '43

"Should help fill need for humorous stories of boy's activities for readers eleven and twelve years old." M. A. Herr
+ Library J 68:366 My 1 '43 30w

Reviewed by R. W. Stewart
Library J 68:823 O 15 '43 40w

"Parents whose wisdom is leavened with tolerant reminiscence will enjoy sharing 'Web Adams' with their children for the sake of mutual fun. This isn't quite so briskly written as Booth Tarkington's memorable stories but Web and Penrod are surely members of the same club—a secret one." E. L. Buell
+ N Y Times p11 Mr 14 '43 320w

"Not original but boys will like it."
Sat R of Lit 26:28 My 15 '43 30w
Springf'd Republican p7e My 16 '43 140w

"'Web Adams,' written for children, will be judged by adults who also take into consideration its possible effect on the behavior of children. On this matter I am myself untroubled, perhaps because the generation that to a man found 'Peck's Bad Boy' uproariously funny did not adopt it as a manual of etiquette." M. L. Becker
+ Weekly Book Review p14 My 23 '43 500w
Wis Lib Bul 39:76 My '43

TENENBAUM, EDWARD ADAM. National socialism vs. international capitalism. 127p $1 Yale univ. press

382 Germany—Commercial policy. Germany—Nazi movement. Free trade and protection A43-758

"Volume IV of the Yale University prize essays . . . records the negation of free enterprise by Germany after 1933, and the resulting challenge to international capitalism. To explain how Germany enmeshed much of the world in an economic prison, which developed generally into military as well as economic exploitation, the Nazi methods of economic warfare are surveyed. Tenenbaum concludes therefrom that dissolution of international capitalism can be prevented by economic concordance among nations for control of the business cycle, with automatic regulation inherent in international trade; that without such agreement, some one nation will dominate by political means." Am Pol Sci R

"[The author's] premise that full economic freedom existed under international capitalism, and that cooperation can be achieved by solely economic means, is ingenuous, and non-recognition of politico-economic concentaneity based on a system other than capitalism or fascism stems from circumscribed classical thinking. However, his analysis of the German weapons of economic warfare is well delineated and presents some hitherto unpublished information to which the author had access through the confidential files of the Joint Boycott Council. This factual survey is a well organized addition to the literature about the Nazi economy." Rita Davidson
+ — Am Pol Sci R 37:375 Ap '43 230w

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert
Foreign Affairs 21:577 Ap '43 10w

"This little book is not the work of a mature writer and cannot be judged as such. As a piece of undergraduate writing, however, it is a more ambitious undertaking than many Masters' and Doctors' theses, and the author is to be congratulated on his efforts. . . Some of this material might prove useful to teachers or speakers in search of illustrations, but unfortunately there is no index." R. E. Westmeyer
J Pol Econ 51:570 D '43 130w

TENNANT, KYLIE (MRS LEWIS CHARLES RODD). Ride on, stranger. 322p $2.75 Macmillan [10s 6d Gollancz] 43-13005

A novel of present-day Australia. "The story is of Shannon Hicks, a grim, inventive, precocious child, one of a family of seven in drab circumstances, who embarked on a career of moderately healthy disillusionment among faith-healers, occultists, left-wingers, aesthetes and others. She left her home in Kerleuit for Aunt Edith's boarding-house in Headstown and there suffered the beginnings of a liberal education at the hands of Beryl, who was rowdy and brazen; of John Terrill, an exemplary lodger. . . At last Shannon is back in Kerleuit, where John Terrill turns up and is suitably welcomed, and the war is on." Times [London] Lit Sup

"One thing stands out from between the lines of this fine book: the great and basic similarity of Americans and Australians. Perhaps, in this mirror of the ways of another land, we can see ourselves truly objectively. The picture isn't pretty-pretty, but it's real." Elizabeth van Deusen
+ Book Week p6 S 5 '43 400w

"Good title for our slim lists on Australia. Recommended for purchase." F. A. Boyle
+ Library J 68:573 Jl '43 50w

"Unreserved praise goes to this Australian novel." Harold Brighouse
+ Manchester Guardian p3 Mr 10 '43 200w

"For the reader it is wonderful fun, for the author it is therapy. I hope the cure is final. Miss Tennant has more important work to do now that she has learned to manage a swift, clean style and a narrative technique that makes a story gallop." C. H. Grattan

+ — N Y Times p16 S 12 '43 450w

"Miss Tennant writes freshly, satirically, humorously, but not intellectually, and her story, which is far too complicated for recapitulation, flashes along under its own steam without the aid of very many ideas."
New Yorker 19:66 Ag 28 '43 80w

"Miss Tennant is a lively gifted writer, who handles the seamy side of life with robust vigour. Shannon is never allowed to overindulge in self-pity; her sense of the comic is ribald yet individual. While the novel sprawls a little it is both unusual and entertaining with its wealth of character and incident." John Hampson
+ Spec 170:346 Ap 9 '43 250w

"If Kylie Tennant had deleted pages of her chief character's tilting at all sorts of left-wing organizations and her jabs at radio's obvious faults, in her novel, the reader would not be tempted at times to put down what is otherwise a thoroughly good novel." M. D.
+ — Springf'd Republican p7e Ag 29 '43 500w

"The lively and ribald humour that salted this Australian author's two earlier novels here consumes almost everything else. There is a good deal of fun in this sprawling, crowded story of uncultivated types in the Australian wilds and of excessively cultivated or freakish types in Sydney, and with the fun goes a certain hard honesty of sentiment that is frequently telling; but altogether Miss Kylie Tennant's is a light-weight effort on the present occasion, hollower and less interesting than either of her two previous books. It has, in fact, a distinctly improvised air and travels hopefully without trying very hard to arrive anywhere."
+ — Times [London] Lit Sup p137 Mr 20 '43 420w

" 'Ride On Stranger' deserves a warm welcome on its merits as a story, and particularly because of the picture it presents of Sydney—a city which the war has brought so swiftly within the orbit of American attention, and about whose people and streets and shops we have had little acquaintance in fiction. It is to Sydney that Shannon's destiny leads, and in the unfolding of her story Kylie Tennant conveys the rumble and grime and pulsing rhythm of the metropolis." George Conrad
+ Weekly Book Review p8 S 12 '43 450w

TENNANT, KYLIE (MRS LEWIS CHARLES RODD). Time enough later. 305p $2.50 Macmillan
43-1681

The locale of most of this story is Sydney (Australia) but eventually it moves out into the bush country. There Bessie Drew is at last sure she will find a better life than amongst her quarreling family in Archer street or in the pseudo-Bohemian studio of the photographer Wainwright.

Book Week p10 Mr 14 '43 160w

Reviewed by Isaac Rosenfeld
New Repub 108:484 Ap 12 '43 280w

"Just why this droll story should keep the reader thinking about it long after the last page has been read is hard to say. Certainly it is amusing, but it isn't all that funny. . . Probably it is the freshness of the humor and of the setting, the originality of the writing, the young vigor of Bessie Drew and the author's objective affection for all that keeps it in the mind after the book is put down." Charlotte Dean
+ N Y Times p24 F 14 '43 550w

"Bessie is really a grand girl. One could follow her around all day to see what she is going to do next, and be assured it would be individual and independent. Kylie Tennant has certainly introduced a fresh personality in her new novel. As to the half-mad environment of the story—that finally seems natural enough, and it lends itself to many humorous scenes." M. D.
+ Springf'd Republican p7e F 14 '43 410w

"Men won't like this book. They will say it is exaggerated, and that women can fall so easily for a pathetic, egoistic snob is altogether discouraging. Discouraging, maybe, but not surprising, and as an X-ray picture of a common but often unrecognized type, this novel is a beauty." D. C. Steele
+ Weekly Book Review p14 Ap 4 '43 700w

TENNEY, EDWARD ANDREWS, and WARDLE, RALPH M. Primer for readers. 158p $1.25 Crofts
808 Reading 42-14205

A handbook for secondary school and college classes, dealing with "the process of learning to read with discrimination." No index.

School & Society 55:540 My 9 '42 20w

"Generously interlarded with well-chosen illustrative material, the volume is of certain value to students of literature as well as the casual reader."
+ Springf'd Republican p10 S 16 '43 60w

TERHUNE, MRS ANICE MORRIS (STOCKTON). The Bert Terhune I knew. 234p $2.50 Harper
B or 92 Terhune, Albert Payson
43-5130

The life story of Albert Payson Terhune from the time when he was a boy of seven, son of a Springfield, Massachusetts, minister, until his death in 1942. The author is his wife, who knew him first in his Springfield days. She pays tribute to him in this narrative of a happy life, and a happy marriage.

Booklist 39:425 Je 15 '43

"A much wider circle than even that of Albert Payson Terhune's friends will be glad that this book was written. It is indeed conceivable that a good many readers who did not know his name will find it worth while because it is the simple and stirring chronicle of a happily married man and woman. In a dizzy world this alone makes a newsworthy item. . . The end of her story is poignantly moving, but in sharing her memories with the public Mrs. Terhune has shown a fine sense of proportion in all the episodes, sentimental or otherwise." E. F. A.
+ N Y Times p24 Ap 11 '43 400w
+ Springf'd Republican p7e Ap 25 '43 440w

Reviewed by M. L. Becker
Weekly Book Review p23 Ap 11 '43 400w
Wis Lib Bul 39:107 Jl '43

TERMAN, FREDERICK EMMONS. Radio engineer's handbook. 1019p $6 McGraw
621.384 Radio. Electronics 43-11439

"Most complete handbook on radio. Electronics, vacuum tubes, wave guides, cavity resonators, klystron, radio aids, oscillators, wide band antennas, etc. Noteworthy features: formulas and curves on skin effects, inductance, mutual inductance and capacity; transmission-line equations; formulas for field patterns and radiation resistance of antennas; treatment of ground-wave and ultra-high-frequency propagation; network theory and electron optics." Library J

"Here is a fine handbook of radio engineering." L. E. Grinter
+ Book Week p10 S 19 '43
Booklist 40:41 O 1 '43
Library J 68:627 Ag '43 60w
N Y New Tech Bks 28:50 Jl '43

"There are no photographs, but there is an abundance of well-drawn diagrams of radio circuits, electric and magnetic fields, antenna patterns, and so forth, in addition to its numerous charts, graphs and tables. The text explains, describes and illuminates. The bibliography is generous. In the rapidly expanding

TERMAN, F. E.—Continued
field of technical knowledge in radio engineering, this handbook is a valuable working instrument." H. M. Davis
+ N Y Times p40 N 7 '43 480w

"Though no derivations are given, nearly every phase of radio is treated in a clear and concise manner. The unusually large number of graphs will reduce the amount of time spent on computations. Unlike the usual engineer's handbook, which is crammed full of tables on the strength of materials, etc., this has relatively few tables. For example, it does not have any tables at all which give the characteristics of various types of vacuum tubes, but this information is easily available from other sources. The data that it does include are those which cannot be so conveniently found, and thus the book will be extremely useful." James Stokley
+ Weekly Book Review p30 O 17 '43 180w

TERRALL, ROBERT. They deal in death. 368p $2 Simon & Schuster
43-4736

Detective story.

Booklist 39:389 Je 1 '43

"Plenty of swift violent action which becomes slow in the telling, partly because of too many digressions." Isaac Anderson
N Y Times p10 My 2 '43 100w

"Although this tale might have been told in fewer pages—say a hundred or so—the upshot is rousing war-time adventure with a new kind of Nazi sabotage and no dearth of love. . . We guess Mr. Terrall will learn to leave out all those descriptions of places and things as age creeps up on him." Will Cuppy
Weekly Book Review p18 Mr 21 '43 200w

TERZAGHI, KARL VON. Theoretical soil mechanics. 510p $5 Wiley
620.19 Soils (engineering) 43-7652

"This treatise on the behavior of soils under stress deals exclusively with theoretical principles. These principles, the author states, have stood the test of experience and are applicable, under certain conditions, to the approximate solution of practical problems. The discussion includes chapters on Retaining wall problems; Passive earth pressure; Stability of slopes; Earth pressure on temporary supports in cuts, tunnels and shafts; Anchored bulkheads; Effects of seepage on the conditions for equilibrium in ideal sand; Capillary forces; Mechanics of drainage." (N Y New Tech Bks) Bibliography. Index.

"This book's author is the nation's foremost authority on soil physics. His experience covers many countries including unlimited variations of soil conditions and their effects upon engineering works. . . Certainly, Dr. Terzaghi's scholarly book will be studied carefully by all engineers who are deeply interested in the science of soil mechanics."
+ Book Week p11 Je 20 '43 90w
Booklist 39:441 Jl 1 '43
Cleveland Open Shelf p11 Jl '43

"Long awaited by engineers, Karl Terzaghi's first major book in English is at last available. And, as was to be expected from so eminent an author, the volume is a masterly work. The title of the book, however, must be carefully noted. Never has one word in the title of a technical book been more significant than 'Theoretical' in this case. The book is confined solely to the theory of soil action. It contains nothing dealing directly with the physical characteristics of soils, nothing about the practice of soil testing, and little about the application of the results obtained by theory in the everyday practice of civil engineering. These comments are made in no critical sense but in order accurately to describe the volume and to indicate to whom it will be most useful." R. F. Legget
+ Eng N 131:96 Jl 1 '43 750w
Library J 68:576 Jl '43 30w
N Y New Tech Bks 28:34 Ap '43

TETMAJER, KAZIMIERZ PRZERWA. See Przerwa-Tetmajer, K.

THANE, ELSWYTH, pseud. See Beebe, E. T. R.

THAYER, LEE (MRS EMMA REDINGTON [LEE] THAYER). Accessory after the fact. 246p $2 Dodd 43-4379

Detective story.

"The tale starts with suspense almost as high as Tamalpais, but you coast downhill and although there's a well-defined rise near the close, you end at sea level. However, those first few chapters are worth their weight in paper—which, if you ask the WPB, is saying a lot." Elizabeth Bullock
+ — Book Week p11 Ap 4 '43 180w
Booklist 39:389 Je 1 '43

"Verdict: Magnificent scenery which plays an active part in the unfolding of the plot and supplies a startling climax; expert snooping." Isaac Anderson
+ N Y Times p9 Mr 28 '43 80w

Reviewed by Will Cuppy
Weekly Book Review p18 Mr 21 '43 150w

THAYER, LEE (MRS EMMA REDINGTON [LEE] THAYER). Hanging's too good. 232p $2 Dodd 43-13940

Detective story.

"Although he is impeded by a blustering and incompetent Sheriff, Clancy solves the mystery in jig time. If you are not too tired of Wiggar's sartorial tyranny over his master you will probably like the story." Isaac Anderson
N Y Times p10 S 26 '43 100w
Springf'd Republican p7e O 31 '43 160w

"Lee Thayer has tossed off one of her best this time, which is saying much." Will Cuppy
+ Weekly Book Review p22 O 10 '43 230w

THEROUX, FRANK RICHARD; ELDRIDGE, EDWARD FRANKLIN, and MALLMANN, WALTER LE ROY. Laboratory manual for chemical and bacterial analysis of water and sewage. 3d ed rev & enl 274p $3 McGraw
628 Sanitary engineering 43-8618

"This is a third edition of a 1935 book. It has been thoroughly revised. It is divided into two parts which treat respectively the chemistry and the bacteriology needed for the analysis of water and sewage. Too much emphasis in the past has been given to chemistry and too little to bacteriology in the training of sanitation experts. The balance here is better maintained." (Book Week) Index.

"There is no doubt that the book in its present edition will prove to be as popular with operators, students, and others as have past editions. To this reviewer, however, it seems that recent research has given sufficient emphasis to the need for proper dilution waters in some of our biochemical oxygen demand studies on sewage and trade wastes to warrant a discussion of these waters and of procedures for their preparation." C. P. Straub
Am J Pub Health 33:1478 D '43 180w

Reviewed by L. E. Grinter
+ Book Week p7 O 17 '43 50w
Library J 68:627 Ag '43 20w
N Y New Tech Bks 28:52 Jl '43

THESE are the generals [with a foreword by Walter Millis]. 259p $2.50 Knopf
923.5 Generals. U.S.—Army—Biography
43-14750

Biographical sketches of one marine and sixteen Army generals. Contents: General

George Catlett Marshall, by General Johnson Hagood; General Douglas MacArthur, by C. B. Luce; General Dwight David Eisenhower, by Demaree Bess; General Henry Harley Arnold, by Corey Ford and Alastair MacBain; Lieutenant General Simon Bolivar Buckner, by D. G. Wittels; Lieutenant General Mark Wayne Clark, by C. W. McCardle; Lieutenant General Robert Lawrence Eichelberger, by D. G. Wittels; Lieutenant General Jacob L. Devers, by D. G. Wittels; Lieutenant General Lesley James McNair, by J. T. Whitaker; Lieutenant General Joseph T. McNarney, by D. G. Wittels; Lieutenant General George Smith Patton, by Ted Shane; Lieutenant General Brehon Burke Somervell, by C. J. V. Murphy; Lieutenant General Alexander Archer Vandegrift, by Leigh White; Major General Claire L. Chennault, by William Clemmens; Major General Lloyd R. Fredendall, by Mark Murphy; Major General Walter Reed Weaver, by J. T. Whitaker; Brigadier General La Verne G. Saunders, by Pete Martin.

Reviewed by Ernest Von Hartz
Book Week p19 N 21 '43 500w

Booklist 40:93 N 15 '43

"Appetizing but not completely satisfying book." S. T. Williamson
N Y Times p10 O 24 '43 1050w

"Interesting stuff—except, perhaps, for Clare Luce's conventional impressions of MacArthur—but on the whole only skin-deep on a subject that merits bone-deep treatment. The foreword, by Walter Millis, is probably the best piece in the book."
+ — New Yorker 19:95 O 23 '43 90w

"Every sketch is intimate and to the point. Perhaps in some there is a trifle too much adulation, but they do give the reader close-up portraits of the men now heading our Army. In a few breezy pages each general becomes a human personality instead of an abstraction on a pedestal." P. J. Searles
+ Weekly Book Review p20 N 28 '43 1050w

THISELL, ARTHUR GIDEON. Science of watch repairing simplified; a treatise on the lever escapement and watch repairing. 208p il $3 H. Paulson & co, 37 S. Wabash st, Chicago
681.114 Clocks and watches—Repairing 43-5588

"A former instructor with the Elgin National Watch Company describes the art of watch-repairing in a manner suited to the needs of the reader with little or no technical training. Thus the use of technical terminology has been reduced to a minimum. The first few pages are a reprint of part of an earlier book entitled The Junior Watchmaker. The following pages include a description of the Paulson machines used for the detection of faults in watches." N Y New Tech Bks

Library J 68:433 My 15 '43 20w
N Y New Tech Bks 28:42 Jl '43

THOMAS, DYLAN. New poems. [31]p $1; pa 50c New directions
821 43-11871

Collection of sixteen poems by the Welsh poet, author of 'The World I Breathe (Book Review Digest, 1940).

Reviewed by Margaret Avison
Canadian Forum 23:143 S '43 500w

"It is doubtful whether the original excitement that Thomas created will be revived by these further examples of his work. The jacket states modestly that in these poems Thomas 'seems to be progressing toward greater logical lucidity'; that may be so, but most readers will still find him more or less opaque. The longest poem in the little volume is the Ballad of the Long-Legged Bait, an alliterative piece which, astonishingly enough for the work of a member of the avant-garde of English letters, stems straight from Swinburne. As might be suspected, it does not come off quite so well as the ballads of Mr. S."
Nation 157:332 S 18 '43 180w

Reviewed by Conrad Aiken
New Repub 110:26 Ja 3 '44 360w

"Since the recognition of W. H. Auden's gifts ten years ago, no younger poet from the British Isles has sustained the promise of his early poems more brilliantly than Dylan Thomas. With greater consistency than any of his immediate contemporaries, he has held to the impulses and dictates of his wit and his imagination, which are always spirited and unashamedly 'romantic,' and if at times it seems that he has lost control of what he wishes to say his readers are rewarded by the presence of definite personality. . . Dylan Thomas is always at his best in his shorter lyrics. Signs of his immaturity are all too evident in the amusing 'Ballad of the Long-Legged Bait,' the legend of a girl hooked to land by a fisherman; the poem has youthful charm and wit and a touch of magic, but the rush of words and images seems to overwhelm its author." Horace Gregory
+ — N Y Times p19 Jl 25 '43 550w

Reviewed by Edouard Roditi
Poetry 63:48 O '43 700w

"Perhaps 'irresponsible' was too harsh a word for 'The World I Breathe' but I felt it then, and I feel it now as I compare 'New Poems' with the old. There was so much actual hoobla-hoobla-how there: a wild, disordered, super-Dali romanticism of shifting symbols and images, a refusal to come to any terms with however sympathetic a reader. It would be wrong to say that these new poems are less exuberant; but Mr. Thomas no longer gives the impression of addressing himself solely to the anesthetist. There is an assured control in such poems as 'On a Wedding Anniversary,' 'The Marriage of a Virgin,' 'And Death Shall Have No Dominion,' and 'Amongst Those Killed in the Dawn Raid Was a Man Aged One Hundred'—to cite the most successful—that legitimizes their extravagance, that makes organic the whirling passion of image and rhythm." Dudley Fitts
Sat R of Lit 26:9 Ag 28 '43 230w

Reviewed by W. R. Benet
Sat R of Lit 26:24 O 16 '43 40w

Reviewed by Louis Untermeyer
Yale R n s 33:351 winter '44 140w

THOMAS, EVAN WELLING. Ambulance in Africa. 175p $2 Appleton-Century
940.548173 World war, 1939—Personal narratives, American. World war, 1939—Hospitals, charities, etc. 43-15132

The author, son of Norman Thomas, was a senior at Princeton when in the fall of 1941 he joined the American Field Service and sailed for Africa to drive an ambulance. This book tells the story of his experiences with the British armies in Syria and North Africa.

Booklist 40:113 D 1 '43

"It is neither literature nor history, but such honest and unpretentious personal records are an essential part of the total picture of the war."
Christian Century 60:1233 O 27 '43 90w
New Repub 109:694 N 15 '43 90w

"The narrative is told in a matter-of-fact style without any attempt at embellishment; its earlier pages, detailing his travels before he got to Tobruk, are rather naive and somewhat dull. But his descriptions of the defeat at Tobruk and the victory at Alamein have animation, lively interest and grip. Altogether, a worth-while record of a decidedly worth-while and really heroic piece of service to the good cause." G. W. Harris
+ N Y Times p42 O 31 '43 280w

School & Society 58:336 O 23 '43 20w
Springf'd Republican p10 N 19 '43 390w

Reviewed by Richard Match
Weekly Book Review p10 O 24 '43 600w

THOMAS, HENRY, pseud. See Schnittkind, H. T.

THOMAS, KENNETH CHAMPION. Portrait of Laurel. 294p $2.50 Appleton-Century 43-13709

The story of a young professional roller skating instructress, and her father who deserted her as a child, but returned to make amends.

Reviewed by Charlotte Dean
N Y Times p28 O 24 '43 190w
Springf'd Republican p7e S 12 '43 60w
Springf'd Republican p7e N 7 '43 140w

"As a study of a man who needed a daughter much more than the daughter needed a father, 'Portrait of Laurel' is written with honesty and commendable restraint." Lisle Bell
+ Weekly Book Review p20 O 10 '43 350w

THOMAS, LOWELL JACKSON. These men shall never die. 308p il $2 Winston
940.5373 World war, 1939—U.S. Heroes 43-16145

Photographs and brief accounts of the brave deeds of some seventy American fighters, one of them a woman, from all branches of the services in the present war. Most of the accounts are from the first year of fighting in the Pacific.

Booklist 40:113 D 1 '43
Reviewed by F. S. Adams
N Y Times p18 O 17 '43 400w

THOMAS, LOWELL JACKSON, and THOMAS, FRANCES (RYAN) (MRS LOWELL JACKSON THOMAS). Pageant of romance. 252p $2.50 Dutton
818 Anecdotes 43-15163

Compilation of very brief stories from the author's radio hour, all of them dealing with romance. Among those about whom stories are told are Mae West, the Duchess of Windsor, Charlie Chaplin, John Barrymore, Crown Princess Juliana, D'Annunzio, and a galaxy of lesser lights.

Booklist 40:193 F 1 '44

"Book will only be enjoyed by those who listen eagerly to Thomas's news and stories throughout year. . . Libraries with small book budgets should omit." A. R. Eaton
Library J 68:768 O 1 '43 60w
Weekly Book Review p41 N 21 '43 190w

THOMASON, JOHN WILLIAM. —And a few marines; il. by the author. 667p $3 Scribner 43-6821

Collection of stories about the activities of the marines in the first World war, and the interim between that and the second World war. Some of the stories have been printed before, but many are new. Illustrated with pencil drawings by the author-artist, who is also a colonel in the marines.

Reviewed by John Erskine
Book Week p4 Je 13 '43 650w
Reviewed by Dorsey McCarthy
Book Week p7 Je 27 '43 50w
Booklist 39:465 Jl 15 '43
Reviewed by Ray McPartlin
Boston Globe p18 My 19 '43 300w

"At his best Colonel Thomason can give us first-hand accounts of events that are very special in our history. And as a professional soldier, Thomason has a very different view of these events from that of the rest of us. Indeed, Colonel Thomason can be a sort of unique liason officer between the Army and the arts and the people in that exchange of notions which makes a democracy go. Meanwhile, '. . . and a Few Marines' is a colorful and entertaining volume of tales." Maxwell Geismar
+ N Y Times p7 My 9 '43 800w
New Yorker 19:79 My 15 '43 50w
Reviewed by B. R. Redman
Sat R of Lit 26:21 Jl 31 '43 260w
Springf'd Republican p7e Je 27 '43 330w

"Thomason's leathernecks are real, flesh and blood human beings. Sometimes they are heroes without heroic posturings. . . Colonel Thomason could well be called the Kipling of the Marine Corps. He knows the men through years of intimate association, and his inquiring mind has penetrated deeply into their private lives and motives. Observant, intuitive, witty and sympathetic, he has gathered up innumerable threads with which to weave a glowing tapestry, a variegated scene peopled with men in uniform as they really are." P. J. Searles
+ Weekly Book Review p4 My 16 '43 1450w
Wis Lib Bul 39:111 Jl '43

THOMPSON, ALAN REYNOLDS. Anatomy of drama. 414p $3 Univ. of Calif. [18s Cambridge]
808.2 Drama 43-52699

An analysis of the drama in which the author "attempts to approach a philosophy of drama on the basis of which more specialized activities such as playwriting, directing, or the criticism of particular dramatists may be prosecuted with improved effectiveness and understanding. I have tried to speak plainly and clearly, and much that I say will be familiar to the practiced scholar. But the book is not merely for a beginner. I have tried to reach the bottom of my subject, the foundations of which go deep into psychology and philosophy; and some of the theoretical suggestions made here may prove unfamiliar even to the specialist." (Pref) Index.

Theatre Arts 27:65 Ja '43 700w

"Naturally, one does not always agree with him, but his opinion on a contemporary like O'Neill or a classic writer like Moliere is never a whim of the moment, but is reasoned out from his total picture of dramatic theory and progress and stated with calmness and admirable clarity. . . The whole book repays attention, both for its content and the clarity of its style."
+ Weekly Book Review p20 S 19 '43 300w

THOMPSON, BLANCHE JENNINGS. The oldest story; the story of the Bible for young people; il. by Kate Seredy. 241p $2.50 Bruce pub.
220.95 Bible—History of biblical events—Juvenile literature 43-11326

"A selection of stories from the Old Testament, a few of the Psalms, the sayings of Solomon, brief accounts of the prophets and a condensed retelling of the New Testament are included. . . Some interpretative comment has been added for Catholic readers, for whom it has been approved. Certain of the stories from the Apocrypha are included." Horn Bk

"Belonging to a class of literature in which Catholic writers have been conspicuous by their rare appearance, this book is entitled to a more than ordinary welcome; and because it has been planned and executed with such irreproachable taste and skill, it merits the hearty thanks of the Catholic public."
+ Cath World 157:666 S '43 140w
Reviewed by A. M. Jordan
Horn Bk 19:326 S '43 60w

THOMPSON, SIR D'ARCY WENTWORTH. On growth and form. new ed rev and enl 1116p il $12.50 Macmillan [50s Cambridge]
591.134 Growth [42-19010]

"Revised and enlarged edition of a profound work dealing with the biological problems of growth and form and their relation to mathematical laws. Why plants and snowflakes take the shape they do, symmetry and asymmetry in nature." (New Yorker) For first edition see Book Review Digest, 1917.

"The appearance of D'Arcy Thompson's On Growth and Form in a new edition merits a word of appreciation. This imposing study has long since become a minor classic whose influence, unfortunately, has never been as great as it deserved. Its issue in an enlarged edition is, however, occasion more for rejoicing that it has once again become available than for weighing its merits long accepted. Its enormous detail, drawn from every branch of zoology and many aspects of physics and woven into a vast design, would alone have distinguished it among scientific writing. But to these structural aspects of D'Arcy Thompson's opus must be added a philosophical penetration and a scientific equipment which serve to make this work a worthy example of the great tradition of English scholarship." H. L. Shapiro

+ Am Anthropol 45:293 Ap '43 160w

"Fascinating stuff if you have the head for it."

+ New Yorker 18:72 S 12 '42 50w

THOMPSON, DOROTHY. Listen, Hans. 292p $2.50 Houghton

943.086 National characteristics, German. World war, 1939—Germany. Germany—Nazi movement. Germany—Social conditions 42-50070

For descriptive note see Annual for 1942.

Reviewed by E. C. Helmreich

Am Pol Sci R 37:560 Je '43 370w

"Now that public confessions by academicians are the mode, I must admit that I have always had my doubts about Miss Thompson. . . The suspicion persisted that her agitation was constitutional: that she was as restless as Dante's Francesca, as belligerent as Penthesilea, as persistent as Cassandra. This volume has resolved my doubts. Miss Thompson, of course, has her limitations. The most charitable comment upon her brief incursion into the remoter past of Germany is silence; her complaint that Germany has not followed her Goethes is a bit naive, for the 'prophet is without honor' and we have been forgetful of our Emersons; her plans for a federation to replace the national state system are necessarily vague. Yet I prefer her 'Listen, Hans' to a whole library of recent stuff on the post-war world. It is fundamentally rational and ethical." J. N. Moody

+ Commonweal 37:450 F 19 '43 550w

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert

Foreign Affairs 21:584 Ap '43 50w

"'Listen, Hans' is a textbook on psychological warfare as it should be applied to Germany, but it is also the most careful study of the Germans which this country has yet had the good fortune to receive. Dorothy Thompson knows what many Americans have not yet realized: that this is a people's war, and that the people will eventually decide it. In her book she writes about people and speaks to people—directly, to the people of Germany, but indirectly to the American people, who would do well to listen to her words." P. R. Knauth

+ Sat R of Lit 26:7 F 13 '43 1350w

Wis Lib Bul 39:13 Ja '43

"This study is a masterpiece of condensation, packed, with substantial observations on German history and geography, national psychology and culture. Cutting across the forefront of present-day controversy, Dorothy Thompson insists on the need of 'principles for a people's peace,' believing that only on such a basis can a lasting collaboration be established between friend and foe. She rightly warns us 'against attempting to tempt the Germans by any small or purely materialistic solutions to larger problems.' Her book is progressive thinking at its best: rare, down-to-earth idealism. While Hans in Germany may not listen, John in America should be awake to such a challenging message." Sigmund Neumann

+ Yale R n s 32:596 spring '43 490w

THOMPSON, EDWARD MCCRAY. Leg man. 187p $2 Dutton

B or 92 Journalists—Correspondence, reminiscences, etc. 43-675

Short sketches by a newspaper "leg man," one of the brotherhood of reporters who uses his legs while gathering up police news, and phones it to his paper to be written up. These sketches are lively, bizarre, human, but seldom sentimental excerpts from the author's encounters with life while in his line of duty.

"Mr. Thompson is one of the writingest leg men ever discovered. Perhaps he's even a little too glib, so that some of his stuff seems artificial in its overdramatization. If he'd do some more solid and extended work, and stop being sorry that he's a leg man, he might, as the old saying has it, 'go far.' Even so, there's some exceedingly neat stuff in this small book." Stanley Walker

Books p17 F 7 '43 300w

"Edward McCray Thompson differs from the run of his genial breed in one thing. He is a leg man who has written a book. He has written a very good book. It has only one obvious fault. There is not enough of it." Meyer Berger

+ N Y Times p5 F 7 '43 600w

Springf'd Republican p7e F 7 '43 400w

THOMPSON, FLORA. Candleford Green. 175p $2.75 (7s 6d) Oxford

914.2 Country life—England. England—Social life and customs

Continuation of the author's autobiography, begun in Lark Rise (Book Review Digest, 1939) and Over to Candleford (Book Review Digest, 1941). Of all these books she says they are "intended less as autobiography than as a record of the impressions of a child brought up in a remote country hamlet in the eighteen-eighties." In this volume Laura leaves her birthplace, the tiny English hamlet called Lark Rise, and goes to Candleford Green as assistant to the postmistress. At the end of the book Laura is leaving the post office for a new and better opportunity.

"Readers who recall Flora Thompson's 'Lark Rise' and 'Over to Candleford' will greet 'Candleford Green' with very special delight. Her books are certainly 'escape'—not escape into romance or distant historical times, but into the gentle, old-fashioned world of an English village not so long gone, which the author remembers and loves. . . I put the book down feeling refreshed and wanting very much to know what will happen to Laura in Flora Thompson's next installment." P. A. W.

+ Book Week p7 My 30 '43 300w

"Miss Thompson has a rare power of making the people she describes live, from the squire down to the pathetic village idiot." L. B. H.

+ Manchester Guardian p3 Ap 2 '43 230w

"Those who do not know the earlier books should read 'Candleford Green' first. It is noticeably more dramatic, more thronged with people than the other two. The story is, in epitome, that of the England which has never been subjected to a violent class revolution; and the picture of village life during the last decade of the nineteenth century supplies, implicitly, the reason for England's innately modifying conservatism and its no less innate liberalism." J. S. Southron

+ N Y Times p24 My 2 '43 400w

"Miss Thompson's 'Candleford Green' is a lovely example of that rare book, the kindly unembittered evocation of the author's past: its parallels are Miss Hughes's studies of the same period." R. E. Roberts

+ Sat R of Lit 26:11 My 15 '43 750w

"A delightful book." John Hampson

+ Spec 170:156 F 12 '43 260w

Times [London] Lit Sup p128 Mr 13 '43 600w

Weekly Book Review p22 Je 20 '43 320w

THOMPSON, MRS MARY (WOLFE). Pattern for Penelope; decorations by James MacDonald. 276p $2.25 Longmans

43-14085

A year spent with an uncle who owned and operated a modern veterinary hospital helped Penelope Austin to decide on a career. For "the duration" she was to help her uncle,

THOMPSON, M. W.—Continued
taking the place of his assistant who had joined the army. At the end of that time there were two possibilities: college or marriage. For older girls.

Reviewed by B. W. Bell
Library J 68:730 S 15 '43 110w

"A touch of romance adds to the intrinsic interest which the story holds for all girls who love dogs, and Penelope's relation to her parents in a situation which is unfortunately all too common today is handled realistically and with understanding." E. L. Buell
+ N Y Times p7 Ag 22 '43 220w
Springf'd Republican p7e Ag 29 '43 110w

Reviewed by M. L. Becker
Weekly Book Review p8 N 7 '43 250w

THOMPSON, PAUL WILLIAMS. Engineers in battle. 108p il maps $1.50 Military service
940.542 Military engineering 42-19404

"German engineer tactics exemplified by various episodes in the present war, with illustrations and maps." Foreign Affairs

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert
Foreign Affairs 21:365 Ja '43 20w

"It is of much interest to learn of the organization of these operations, especially the river-crossing ones and to read their description in which the strong as well as the weak points of the performance are disclosed by the author; also the circumstances in which the operations took place are made clear. The volume is illustrated with plates and excellent sketch maps." A. M. Nikolaieff
+ N Y Times p4 O 18 '42 420w

THOMPSON, SILVANUS PHILLIPS. Calculus made easy. 2d ed 301p $2 Macmillan
517 Calculus

"Many years ago a famous English scientist brought out a little book. . . The book was 'Calculus Made Easy' and was signed 'F. R. S.'. . When a revised edition appeared in 1914 he signed his name, Silvanus P. Thompson. The excuse for mentioning his book here is that it has now been reprinted. . . In a simple—and quite untextbook-like—manner he covers step by step the fundamentals of 'those beautiful methods of reckoning which are generally called by the terrifying names of the differential calculus and the integral calculus.' " Weekly Book Review

"The literary editor intended to work his way through this book and solve all the problems, but must confess that, after spending many long winter evenings with it, his attention was diverted to other interests before getting half way through. His sampling justifies high praise for this inviting presentation of a beautiful subject, even if not wholehearted concurrence in the author's allusion to the 'endearing simplicities' of his exposition."
Christian Century 60:578 My 12 '43 160w

Reviewed by James Stokley
+ Weekly Book Review p17 Mr 14 '43 200w

THOMPSON, SYDNEY. Love leaves no choice. 283p $2 Macrae Smith co.
43-5948

A boy and girl, temporarily down on their luck, met in New York city. He was a school teacher who had been dismissed from a boy's school; she wanted to be an actress. In a short time they were married. Strangely enough it was the boy who succeeded on the stage at first; the marriage was not a success. In the end it was their very knowledge of each other which saved them—in marriage as in their profession.

"The story, of course, is a common one and can be worked into a variety of situations. But Miss Thompson, though not making it an entirely new thing, does sustain interest surprisingly well. And as proof that the characters were something better than names in print —how I wanted to wring that Julie's neck." E. J. C.
Book Week p7 My 30 '43 230w
Booklist 39:389 Je 1 '43

Reviewed by Lisle Bell
Weekly Book Review p20 Je 6 '43 140w
Wis Lib Bul 39:86 Je '43

THOMPSON, VIRGINIA MCLEAN. Postmortem on Malaya; with a foreword by Sir George Sansom. (Inst. of Pacific relations. Int. research ser) 323p $3 Macmillan
330.9595 Malaya. World war, 1939—Malay peninsula 43-705

"Comprehensive study of political, economic, and racial problems of Malayan Peninsula. Much attention given to relations with Great Britain, China, Japan, and the United States. Fact that tin and rubber are so important in this war, that Malaya has largest supply of tin, that Japan now controls both products, makes information about these states necessary for intelligent judgment of their world status." (Library J) Bibliography. Index.

"This volume is of considerable value to the increasing number of Americans who realize that crucial postwar problems await settlement in southeastern Asia." J. L. Christian
+ Am Hist R 49:104 O '43 750w

Reviewed by H. W. Bradley
Am Pol Sci R 37:741 Ag '43 600w

Reviewed by Taraknath Das
Ann Am Acad 228:118 Jl '43 800w
Booklist 39:250 F 15 '43

" 'Post-Mortem on Malaya' not only clarifies many important aspects of Malaya's political and economic structure, but opens up a vista of complex problems that must be solved if the peoples and resources of Malaya are to be fitted into a peaceful, prosperous and progressive world order. Only one thing mars this excellent and helpful study. This is the unwarranted deprecatory foreword by Sir George Sansom. Regardless of the validity or otherwise of Sir George's criticisms, a book of such painstaking scholarship and objectivity as Miss Thompson's has a right to stand on its own feet." K. L. Mitchell
+ Books p5 Ja 31 '43 1250w

"As a whole this volume may be regarded as particularly valuable for an understanding of the Malaya question, since it provides the reader with a patient and honest examination of documents adduced by both sides."
+ Cath World 107:111 Ap '43 250w
Christian Science Monitor p14 F 8 '43 450w

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert
Foreign Affairs 21:17 Jl '43 40w

"Miss Thompson, author of other books about Thailand and Indo-China, writes in careful manner that suggests much research, and material seems well digested, but book is likely to be used for reference rather than general reading. Since books on Malaya are limited in number and scope, any library may well have on hand this reliable account." G. E. Brown
+ Library J 67:951 N 1 '42 120w

"In the foreword Sir George Sansom very ably puts the problem of Malaya in its larger setting, and makes many interesting observations about its administrative and military problems. When he states that he detects in Miss Thompson's book 'a certain parti pris, a certain tendency to act as prosecutor rather than as judge,' the reviewer cannot but concur with this opinion. . . On the other hand, however, a critical attitude, while controversial, is at least stimulating. Besides having this quality, Miss Thompson's book contains a lot of valuable and up-to-date material, especially on economic subjects. . . The study is unusually well documented and has made as complete use as possible of the available material. It will prove a valuable research work for the ever-growing group of those interested in the problems of the Far East, and as such it undoubtedly deserves praise as a valuable contribution." Bertram Landheer

+ — N Y Times p27 Ja 31 '43 1100w

New Yorker 18:59 Ja 23 '43 50w

"This is a highly provocative book which pulls no punches in dealing with a vitally controversial topic. The wound which it probes with much vigor and little show of mercy is still so raw and open that it is virtually impossible to attempt a detached judgement as to whether it is a good or bad book; more important, it is a book that it was vitally necessary to have written, and Miss Thompson deserves great gratitude for having brought it out so speedily and with so few signs of the chaos and inconsequence which have marred other books of the same general type." Rupert Emerson

+ Pacific Affairs 16:107 Mr '43 550w

Reviewed by Jane Belo

Pol Sci Q 58:440 S '43 900w

" 'Post-Mortem on Malaya' is not a topical war book that military events can quickly outdate. It will probably be many years before an author will be in a position to give out new first-hand information on Malaya. And few such authors are likely to match Miss Thompson's scholarly perspective and talent for research. For a long time to come 'Post-Mortem on Malaya' with its comprehensive bibliography and helpful index will be out in front as a standard reference work on Malaya." H. C. Wolfe

+ Sat R of Lit 26:5 F 27 '43 800w

Reviewed by Bruno Lasker

Survey G 32:140 Ap '43 330w

Wis Lib Bul 39:73 My '43

THOMPSON, WARREN SIMPSON. Population problems. 3d ed 471p $4 McGraw

312 Population 42-24855

"This well-known text was extensively reorganized and revised in the preparation of the third edition. The order of the chapters was changed and some material in previous editions [Book Review Digest, 1930, 1935] was eliminated and replaced by new topics. The four chapters on the city which appeared in previous editions have been condensed into two chapters in this edition; the chapters on optimum population and industrialization and population in China have been omitted." (Am Soc R) Chapter bibliographies. Index.

Reviewed by F. W. Notestein

Am Econ R 33:937 D '43 1600w

"The revisions introduced into this edition result in a more balanced presentation of population problems and bring problems of current interest into sharper focus. The discussion, as is quite proper, is built around topics of particular importance to the United States so that there still is need for a more extended discussion of world-wide population problems. Although there will be disagreement with some of the author's opinions and interpretations, this book still is pre-eminent in its field." H. F. Dorn

+ — Am Soc R 8:234 Ap '43 330w

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert

Foreign Affairs 22:157 O '43 30w

"As a teaching tool Warren S. Thompson's new book is more attractive than his former texts. It should appeal to students and hold their interest for it places its emphasis on vital contemporary problems and stresses the significance and reality of people. Much of the book is of a challenging nature and should contribute to our better understanding of today's world." A. G. Smith

+ Social Forces 21:484 My '43 380w

THOMSON, SAMUEL HARRISON. Czechoslovakia in European history. 390p maps $3.75 Princeton univ. press

943.7 Czechoslovakia—History A43-2667

"Author, professor of history at University of Colorado, studied in Prague for three years and is fully familiar with cultural and political background of Czechoslovakian problems. Does not intend to give comprehensive survey of the country's past; confines himself to tracing to their origins certain acute questions of its life and history. Particularly useful for understanding of relations between Czechs on one side, Slovaks and Germans on the other. Contains valuable interpretation of Masaryk's and Benes' foreign policy since first World War." Library J

Am J Soc 49:198 S '43 50w

Reviewed by E. C. Helmreich

Am Pol Sci R 37:957 O '43 550w

"At a time of enforced re-evaluation, such as we are at present undergoing, however unconscious we are of it, this is a valuable book for all American historians who can bear the unpleasant truth about the influence of a small country on world history. The general reader who wants to keep abreast of the trends of modern thought can hardly afford to miss it." J. S. Roucek

+ Ann Am Acad 230:209 N '43 650w

Booklist 40:91 N 15 '43

"No one among the native American historians is better qualified to write a book on Czechoslovak history than Professor Thomson. Having studied and received his doctorate at the Charles University of Prague, he is thoroughly conversant with the language, history and literature of the country of which he is writing. Consequently, when he undertook the much needed task of acquainting the English public with the place and claims of Czechoslovakia in the present European situation, he was able to produce a work which is wholly competent in scholarship, fair in judgment, and illuminating in its insights." Matthew Spinka

+ Christian Century 60:1140 O 6 '43 460w

"To American readers European history must appear a hopelessly entangled maze. Yet it is worth while to try to unravel it and to trace one of its strands through the centuries. In concentrating on the Czechoslovakian 'strand,' from legendary Princess Libuše to Dr. Eduard Beneš, one is sure to find all the elements that will have to be used, as well as those that will have to be avoided, in the building of a better Europe." E. S. P.

+ Christian Science Monitor p14 Ag 14 '43 420w

"In general, Thomson's book is a valuable summary of the historical rôle of Czechoslovakia in the current of Europe's development. It is, indeed, a book based on wide research which corrects many errors of other writers and presents a clear and straightforward picture of its subject. It is popular in manner. Those who have never found time to go through other books on the subject will doubtless learn from it much that they never knew." J. S. Roucek

+ Commonweal 38:471 Ag 27 '43 380w

"Excellent reading."

+ Current Hist 5:78 S '43 140w

"Scholarly study, superior to most available material. Recommended for college and larger public libraries." F. E. Hirsch

+ Library J 68:475 Je 1 '43 110w

New Repub 109:434 S 27 '43 120w

Reviewed by H. N. MacCracken

Sat R of Lit 26:6 S 11 '43 550w

"There is a regrettable omission in Mr. Thomson's otherwise very complete and interesting study. He severely—and rightly—condemns those Slovaks who foolishly accepted Hitler's ersatz brand of 'independent' Slovakia. However, defending the Prague regime in its treatment of the Slovak problem and stressing that many prominent Slovaks loyally served that regime until Munich and continue to serve it in exile, he neglects to indicate that two of those Slovak leaders, Mr. Milan Hodza, former Prime Minister, and Dr. Stefan Osusky, former envoy to Paris, now oppose the Czechoslovak regime in London. . . The general record of the Czechoslovak Republic is of such a high democratic standard that it can afford to have its handicaps and liabilities mentioned along with its numerous and brilliant achievements." Andre Visson

+ — Weekly Book Review p12 S 5 '43 750w

THOREAU, HENRY DAVID. Collected poems; ed. by Carl Bode. $3; critical ed $4.50 Packard & co.

811

"This volume supposedly includes every available original verse of this early American poet. Most of the posthumous work is said to be reproduced exactly as written." Current Hist

Booklist 40:142 D 15 '43

"Professor Bode has been at great pains to gather every metrical fragment left by the famous naturalist, but they are not very inspiring fragments. So this beautiful and expensive volume will be of interest only to a small group of Thoreau specialists." Katherine Brégy

Cath World 158:214 N '43 200w

"A distinguished piece of research and editing."

Christian Century 60:1474 D 15 '43 70w

Current Hist 5:77 S '43 110w

"In collecting and editing well over 300 pieces of Thoreau's verse—some of them fragmentary, others of as many as twenty stanzas —Dr. Carl Bode has placed lovers and students of New England's most individualistic philosopher under a considerable debt. Not that the volume establishes Thoreau as a very important poet—and this, despite occasional sparks of the divine fire. The value of these verses lies foremost in the man himself, and as he was one of the greatest of Americans, here one naturally finds pearls of greatness of thought over which many ripples of wit and waves of wisdom flow in quiet—though often obstructed—beauty." G. S. Hellman

+ — N Y Times p30 S 26 '43 1300w

Reviewed by W. R. Benet

Sat R of Lit 26:23 O 16 '43 110w

THOREK, MAX. Surgeon's world; an autobiography. 410p $3.75 Lippincott

B or 92 Surgeons—Correspondence, reminiscences, etc. 43-15720

Autobiography of an American surgeon who was born in Hungary and came to this country at the age of seventeen. The book is made up of personal reminiscences, informal "case histories", and musings on medicine, surgery, and life itself. Index.

Reviewed by Otto Eisenschiml

Book Week p4 O 31 '43 550w

Booklist 40:93 N 15 '43

"Probably the most interesting parts of his book are the informal 'case histories'—some amusing, some tragic—of the countless men and women he has known 'at those moments of crisis and strain when their guards were down, when I could see them as they truly are.' These 'case histories,' nicely balanced with personal reminiscence, mellow reflection and frequent digressions into medical history, make a leisurely but almost always interesting autobiography. Though the blue pencil might have been applied more rigorously, and high professional polish is lacking in spots, Dr. Thorek's writing is generally lively and readable." Richard Match

+ — N Y Times p38 N 7 '43 500w

"Somewhat overwritten and includes too many synoptic histories of this or that, but a rich and likable job."

+ — New Yorker 19:108 N 6 '43 70w

"This book is not well written, being too lush and fervent, and as medical annals it is interesting rather than important, but it is excellent personal history. . . The book has warmth and charm and gusto and reflects an ingratiating personality of quick sympathies and ready helpfulness. There is no more enthralling reading than the chronicle of a medical man who has interest in humanity and knowledge of his profession and his world. Dr. Thorek is such a man and his volume is an engrossing narrative." Amy Loveman

+ — Sat R of Lit 26:59 D 4 '43 550w

"Thorek tells of some most interesting operations which he performed, but which cannot be properly reported in a newspaper review. He is a fascinating raconteur, and the reading of his reminiscences is like having the privilege of a long evening's conversation over the scotch-and-soda with a man who knows the inside story of the ills of human flesh, as well as the aspirations of the human spirit." H. M. Davis

+ Springf'd Republican p7e D 19 '43 850w

"Dr. Thorek's autobiography is the peculiarly American saga of the penniless immigrant boy who becomes a respected and affluent citizen of his country and the world. The range and zest of his interests and the humanity of his outlook make it a warm and vivid story." Mary Ross

+ Weekly Book Review p18 N 21 '43 900w

Wis Lib Bul 39:159 D '43

THORNDIKE, EDWARD LEE. Man and his works. 212p $2.50 Harvard univ. press

150.4 Psychology A43-2954

"A summary of the results of the most important studies that have been made during many years of fruitful research by Professor Thorndike, our eminent psychologist. Here one will find his carefully considered conclusions concerning the original nature of man, with special reference to 'the genes of the mind,' the laws of human modifiability or learning, and the human relations which influence man and his works. On this foundation he erects the superstructure of psychology as it manifests itself in language, government, law, and philanthropy." Scientific Bk Club R

"It's a good book to read—if only to see whether you can account for Thorndike's own behavior in expounding his theory in terms of the theory he expounds!" Wendell Johnson

+ Book Week p3 O 24 '43 470w

"If William James ever gives his immortal liberty to interludes of listening to the lectures which Harvard University consecrates to his memory, these by one of his most distinguished pupils must have yielded him a particular pleasure. He will have heard little in them that in his days on earth was known as psychology, yet have recognized in the ideas they set forth the judgments and wisdom of a sound psychologist, spoken very directly, very simply, and often with a dry humor which will have warmed the grand old humanist's gizzard." H. M. Kallen

+ Sat R of Lit 26:25 D 4 '43 1950w

Scientific Bk Club R 14:4 N '43 150w

THURBER, JAMES. Many moons; il. by Louis Slobodkin. $2 Harcourt

43-51250

Picture story book about the little princess who wanted the moon. When all the wise counselors were unable to get the moon for the sick little girl, it was the court jester who saved the situation.

"Louis Slobodkin has done charming, imaginative drawings to illustrate a story which will mean more and more each time you read it." P. A. Whitney

+ Book Week p10 S 12 '43 350w

Booklist 40:20 S '43

Cath World 158:315 D '43 50w

Reviewed by H. A. Masten

Christian Science Monitor p12 D 13 '43 40w

Commonweal 39:119 N 19 '43 40w

"Louis Slobodkin's many lovely pictures have an important share in making a distinguished book of this amusing fairy tale—the first book James Thurber has written for children." A. M. Jordan

+ Horn Bk 19:318 S '43 70w

"A charming and amusing story which has a build-up children will thoroughly enjoy and parents should find suggestive." A. C. Moore

+ Horn Bk 19:422 N '43 70w

Reviewed by Fritz Eichenberg
Horn Bk 20:21 Ja '44 70w

"There is sly humor, appealing to adults, and a variety of philosophical interpretations to the fable which won't trouble youngsters. Colorful and really amusing illustrations by Slobodkin make this a beautiful volume, picture book size. Ages ten and eleven." Gertrude Andrus
+ Library J 68:672 S 1 '43 100w

Reviewed by E. S. Littlefield
Library J 68:818 O 15 '43 100w

Reviewed by Lena Barksdale
Nation 157:592 N 20 '43 20w

"When a well-known writer of adult books dashes off a juvenile story a scarred and hardened reviewer is apt to approach it a little gingerly. In Mr. Thurber's case, happily, such caution is unnecessary. Brief, unpretentious, but sound and right of its sort, his fable is one which adults and children both will enjoy for its skillful nonsense and for a kind of humane wisdom which is not always a property of his New Yorker stories." E. L. Buell
+ N Y Times p6 S 19 '43

"Grownups themselves will find the book hilariously funny, but it is by no means too sophisticated for children. The lovely, squiggly illustrations in color are exactly right."
+ New Yorker 19:120 D 4 '43 90w

"Written with aptness and felicity of phrase, the story has a very special quality of lightness. Louis Slobodkin has made beautiful and distinguished, as well as captivating, illustrations. It is a book as rewarding to look at as to read, and one which will charm elders as well as children." Joan Vatsek
+ Sat R of Lit 26:25 N 13 '43 160w

"This is a charming little story, told with gusto and humor and tenderness. It is embellished with a number of delightful illustrations in color. Wise aunts, uncles and grandparents will buy it now to make someone small shiny-eyed on Christmas day." E. M. B.
+ Springf'd Republican p7e S 19 '43 190w

"One of the gentlest stories enriching American fantasy for children. Louis Slobodkin's pictures float on the pages in four colors; black and white cannot represent them. They are the substance of dreams, not troubled dreams but the long thoughts little children, and some adults wise as they, have about life." M. L. Becker
+ Weekly Book Review p6 S 12 '43 500w

THURBER, JAMES. Men, women and dogs; a book of drawings; with a pref. by Dorothy Parker. 211p $3 Harcourt

741.5 Humor, Pictorial. Caricatures and cartoons 43-17507

Drawings selected from Thurber's work in the New Yorker over a period of years. They epitomize Mr Thurber's ideas on the war between the sexes, with a few inclusions on the subject of dogs.

Reviewed by Sterling North
Book Week p2 N 28 '43 500w
Booklist 40:141 D 15 '43

"In honor of James Thurber, who is not kidding, let's not kid ourselves. Mr. Thurber's notebook of the last decade may have more bearing on the state of contemporary affairs than meets the eye. Once you have recovered from laughter, you might find out that things, in general, are in pretty bad shape. On second thought (and with sincere apologies to those who don't like their fun spoiled by brooding analysis) James Thurber makes you laugh because he doesn't laugh himself (i.e., not in his drawings). To achieve such helpful misunderstanding is an attribute of art." W. S. Schlamm
+ N Y Times p5 N 21 '43 1100w

"Some two hundred pages of drawings by an artist whose work has often been compared with Matisse and sometimes with that of a little child. . . Mrs. Parker's foreword is a very deft and genial work of art, too."
+ New Yorker 19:116 N 13 '43 100w

"All intelligent people are now Thurber collectors. So, of course, you are. So why am I prattling on in this idiotic fashion? The question is rhetorical. The book costs three bucks. It's worth three thousand!" W. R. Benét
+ Sat R of Lit 27:9 Ja 8 '44 400w

"Mr. Thurber dedicates the volume to Andy White, a confrere on 'The New Yorker' who 'picked up the first of these restless scrawls from the floor fifteen years ago and bravely set about the considerable task of getting them published.' On a smaller scale, this act of salvage deserves to rank with uprighting the Normandie." Lisle Bell
+ Weekly Book Review p4 N 21 '43 700w
Wis Lib Bul 40:7 Ja '44

THWAITES, MICHAEL. Jervis Bay, and other poems. 64p $1.75 Putnam

821 42-21977

Collection of poems by a young Australian Rhodes scholar, who had just completed his studies at Oxford when the war broke out. He is at present on duty somewhere in the Atlantic. The title poem retells the story of the gallant ship, the Jervis Bay, which saved the greater part of a British convoy. Milton Blind, another poem, was awarded the Newdigate prize at Oxford.

Booklist 39:272 Mr 1 '43
Bookmark 4:11 My '43

"Thwaites [is revealed] not as a war poet but as one frankly and gravely concerned with the role of religion in modern life. He is no mystic with a personal creed; he combines patriotic fervor with simple, orthodox Christianity. . . The most original poems in the book are the intimate, tenderly moving personal lyrics, such as 'Air and Water' and 'Coming Into the Clyde.'" Ruth Lechlitner
+ Books p21 Ja 31 '43 380w

"This poet expresses nobility and reverence, both requisites of good poetry. His spiritual attitude to life shows particularly in his 'Milton Blind.'" Pearl Strachan
+ Christian Science Monitor p12 N 28 '42 220w

"The section 'War Poems,' written under fire, face to face with death and God record the progress of a soul since 'Milton Blind.' Here is an authentic modern voice, singing with dignity, restraint, and God-founded optimism amid the collapse of a world." J. G. Murtagh
+ Commonweal 37:99 N 13 '42 280w

Reviewed by H. I'A. Fausset
Manchester Guardian p3 Ag 11 '43 60w

"The Newdigate Prize poem, Milton Blind, which concludes the book, is an excellent specimen of the kind of work for which admiring dons give prizes. In between are half a dozen, more or less, really lovely lyrics—The Tunnel, Coming into the Clyde, The Tactician, Air and Water, The Well. The perils of steering a true poetic course may be somewhat abated if Lieutenant Thwaites can manage to use these lyrics as navigating stars; but it will be a difficult voyage."
+ — Nation 156:139 Ja 23 '43 150w

Reviewed by Milton Hindus
Poetry 61:631 F '43 90w

TIEDJENS, VICTOR ALPHONS. Vegetable encyclopedia and gardener's guide; il. by Tabea Hofmann. 307p 69c Garden City pub. co.

635 Vegetable gardening 43-6249

Part one is an alphabetically arranged encyclopedia of vegetables, with description of each, types, varieties, soil requirement, cultural directions, diseases and pests, and illustration. Part two is devoted to herbs, and contains the same material. Part three covers general garden instructions, planting plans, tools, pest control, and soilless plant culture. Glossary.

Book Week p6 Mr 28 '43 160w

TIEDJENS, V. A.—Continued
"Those who like a bargain should be delighted with this book. It is not out for show, but it certainly has what it takes to make a good home vegetable garden." F. F. Rockwell
+ N Y Times p24 Ap 25 '43 260w

Reviewed by F. F. Rockwell
N Y Times p20 Je 13 '43 100w

TIFFIN, JOSEPH. Industrial psychology. 386p il $4.65; to schools $3.50 Prentice-Hall

150.13 Psychology, Applied. Employment management 42-18313

"This book deals with applications of psychology that have been made in industry. These applications are not limited to employee selection and placement. Industrial psychology has also been applied to the improvement of merit rating, reduction of accidents, solution of visual problems, increasing the accuracy of inspection, improvements in training methods, and the measurement and improvement of employee morale." (Pref) The author is professor of industrial psychology, Purdue university. Index.

"Despite a marked unevenness in performance and the absence of broad perspectives, this volume does contain a mass of new and important material which advances the subject beyond the point where Viteles left it a decade ago. Much solid craftsmanship has gone into its construction. Close to fifty tables and a hundred figures of all sorts clarify and concretize the varied content. An engineer with some factory background will probably gain more from it than most psychologists. To the undergraduate, however, it offers an appropriate introduction to a large and vital area of research in human relations—a professional service of no small merit in the eyes of those who expect industrial psychology to contribute as much to man's happiness and achievement as educational and clinical psychology at their best seem to have done." G. W. Hartmann
+ — Am J Psychol 56:148 Ja '43 450w
Booklist 39:115 D 1 '42

TILLETT, MRS DOROTHY (STOCKBRIDGE) (JOHN STEPHEN STRANGE, pseud). Look your last. 246p $2 Doubleday 43-16718

Detective story.

Booklist 40:166 Ja 1 '44

"A timely subject and an absorbing story."
+ New Repub 109:758 N 29 '43 60w

"This is much more than an ordinary spy story. It goes to the root of things in a way that few novels of this type have done." Isaac Anderson
+ N Y Times p44 N 21 '43 140w

"One of the best of this season's crop of mysteries."
+ New Yorker 19:116 N 13 '43 90w

"First-class mystery, good characters, puzzle that holds to the end, serious touches of value, and oceans of action."
+ Sat R of Lit 26:29 N 6 '43 40w

"A shrewdly plotted blend of detection and intrigue, and a thick cut above the average mystery yarn in content and writing."
+ Time 42:104 D 6 '43 50w

"Somewhat scrappy in execution but exciting." Will Cuppy
+ — Weekly Book Review p30 N 7 '43 230w

TILTON, ALICE, pseud. See Taylor, P. A.

TIMBIE, WILLIAM HENRY. Basic electricity for communications; a textbook for workers in communications and industrial electronics. 603p $3.50 Wiley

621.38 Electricity. Radio 43-9124

"The first thirteen chapters deal with fundamentals especially important with radio and other communications. Chapter XIV is an excellent summary of vacuum tubes and conduction in gases, while chapter XV deals with electrical communication systems." (Weekly Book Review) Index.

"Although the book is obviously designed as a classroom text for college students, the style and completeness of the treatment make it applicable for home study, and it should be of particular value in basic radio engineering courses for war training." J. E. Hobson
+ Book Week p7 O 17 '43 180w
Booklist 40:6 S '43
Library J 68:576 Jl '43 10w
N Y New Tech Bks 28:43 Jl '43

"The various books on electricity by Professor Timbie, of M. I. T., are known to many generations of students. 'Basic Electricity for Communications' should prove as popular as any of his previous works." James Stokley
+ Weekly Book Review p19 Jl 11 '43 150w

TITUS, HAROLD HOPPER. What is a mature morality? 229p $2 Macmillan

171.1 Christian ethics. World war, 1939— Causes 43-5022

"Thoughtful search to restore sense of the meaning and goals of living in face of serious crisis now endangering the very existence of civilization. Political and economic maladjustments exist, but real roots of the evil lie in moral and spiritual impoverishment—personal, national, and international. Era of 'every man for himself' must end. Ideals and loyalties of type to unite men are needed, to strengthen the moral law and to work toward new birth of the human spirit. Mature intelligence must lead the way. Author is professor of philosophy at Denison University." (Library J) Index.

"Here is a book which contains, in penetratingly simple language, an answer to many confusions, both in thought and action, which greet us at every turn. It is properly indexed and contains footnotes on each chapter where they belong—at the back of the text. Here is a book to go on the same shelf with Herbert Agar's 'A Time for Greatness' and Lewis Mumford's 'Faith for Living.' It is a great religious book in the highest and best traditions of religious thought and action." Preston Bradley
+ Book Week p10 Ap 11 '43 360w

"For the ordinary and even for the religious reader, Professor Titus has here given a helpful, stirring and thought-provoking book. One is particularly grateful, first, for the excellent chapter on 'Moral Confusion' with which the volume begins and, second, for the vivid way in which moral (and religious) principles are practically applied in many kinds of concrete human situations. . . It is unfortunate that on pages 46-47 and 89-90 Professor Titus should have fallen into the same errors of misinterpretation of Kant's ethical formalism which are, in the mind of the present reviewer, one of the scandals in philosophical and ethical scholarship." P. A. Schilpp
+ — Christian Century 60:1400 D 1 '43 600w
Churchman 157:17 Jl 1 '43 60w

"The volume is of a very high standard of thoughtful exposition and of inspiration, and this writer hopes that many of those concerned with the guidance of the adolescent and the mature (in age) will study it." A. G. Widgery
+ Crozer Q 20:348 O '43 350w

"Worthy addition to growing literature on postwar planning." G. O. Kelley
+ Library J 68:172 F 15 '43 110w

TODOROV, KOSTA. Balkan firebrand; the autobiography of a rebel, soldier and statesman. 340p $3.50 Ziff-Davis

B or 92 43-51218

Autobiography of a Bulgarian patriot who is at present head of the Free Bulgarian committee. He has been in turn a chetnik in Macedonia, a revolutionary in Russia, a soldier in France, a statesman in Bulgaria, and a political exile in America, and all these phases in his development are described in this volume.

"No part of the book is of much value, but it is full of interesting anecdotes and adventures. Everything is told with a flair for journalism. To the author his occasional escapades seem to be almost as important as his interviews with Clemenceau or his lunch at the Balfours. He impresses the reviewer as a clever person, but modesty and magnanimity are not his strong points." A. O. Sarkissian
+ — Ann Am Acad 230:208 N '43 400w

"High excitement and a fine sense of drama combine to make this book thrilling reading. Add to these the fact that it's the true account of a career which touched all and molded considerable European history before, during and after World War I, and you have a memorable volume. . . The early chapters are, of course, the most readable and are stranger than fiction; yet the pages written about the peace negotiations should be read by everybody interested in a better postwar world. They show what we have to expect if we don't check in time the greed and private machinations of both small nations and big individuals." M. W. Fodor
+ Book Week p1 Je 20 '43 550w

Booklist 39:462 Jl 15 '43

Cleveland Open Shelf p17 O '43

Reviewed by Max Fischer
Commonweal 38:590 O 1 '43 700w

"Here you have everything—conspiracy, murder, women: cabbages and kings. And cabbages recall that twice the author tried earning his livelihood making strudel, once in Marseilles and once in New York City. Despite all this, there is much of historical interest in the autobiography, and it can be recommended for lively action and adventure. It is not the author's fault that it concerns itself with the first World War and not the current one. And, aside from the egotism, there is every reason for the book to sell well. Todorov should never find it necessary to return to making strudel." J. R. L.
+ — Current Hist 4:407 Ag '43 550w

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert
Foreign Affairs 22:163 O '43 50w

"His story makes fascinating and dramatic reading. Of special interest is description of his journeys into Asia, Africa, neutral Europe, and the United States. Highly recommended. Will be much enjoyed by general reader." E. McE. Olcott
+ Library J 68:363 My 1 '43 100w

New Repub 109:294 Ag 30 '43 90w

"This is a forceful book. It explains the tremendous problems of Europe's 'powder box' in plastic, human terms. Todorov does not go minutely into historical details as did Josef Hanc in 'Tornado Across Eastern Europe.' Yet he gives a complete enough picture —and offers it with humor, charm and striking clarity." Marianne Hauser
+ N Y Times p10 Ag 15 '43 600w

"Vivid, fluent stuff, though it has the air, slightly, of a Stendhal romance at times."
+ — New Yorker 19:63 Jl 3 '43 70w

Reviewed by H. B. Kranz
Sat R of Lit 26:14 S 11 '43 600w

Reviewed by R. S. Scott
Springf'd Republican p7e Ag 1 '43 850w

"A book which explains many things; a good book; perhaps even a great book. At least it's great reading." Robert St John
+ Weekly Book Review p3 Jl 4 '43 1300w

TOLISCHUS, OTTO DAVID. Tokyo record. 462p $3 Reynal
952.033 Japan. World war, 1939—Japan
43-3080

The author was Tokyo correspondent of the New York Times when war was declared between Japan and the United States in 1941. "This book is a chronological record of events [January 24, 1941 to August 25, 1942], impressions and personal experiences, based on a reproduction of the author's original data, confiscated by the Japanese police, on his dispatches to the New York Times, and on his memory . . . and by his own reflections during solitary confinement." (Author's note) Index.

Atlantic 171:152 Ap '43 120w

Booklist 39:289 Mr 15 '43

Bookmark 4:14 My '43

Christian Science Monitor p14 Mr 9 '43 450w

Reviewed by Carol Thompson
Current Hist 4:153 Ap '43 470w

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert
Foreign Affairs 21:16 Jl '43 40w

Manchester Guardian p3 Jl 14 '43 240w

"Mr. Tolischus's record of his ten months' assignment as a correspondent in Tokyo and his six months' imprisonment after Pearl Harbor makes an important if somewhat indigestible book. The reader with the patience to wade through many pages of dull excerpts from the Japanese press and portions of the author's own dispatches will find scattered here and there observations that really illuminate the dark enigma of Nipponism and some significant new items of information on Japanese politics in those nine months when the militarists were seizing the last remaining controls of the engine of state. Moreover, the last four chapters, in which Mr. Tolischus tells the story of his grim experiences and reflections in prison, have naturally enough, a vivid and compelling quality which goes some way to redeem the stodginess of the first 300 pages." W. L. Holland
+ — Nation 156:532 Ap 10 '43 850w

"This record is a volume to be studied. It is crammed with material of absorbing interest to students of Japan and international relations. It is too bad that the index could not have been better organized to assist such study; it is inadequate to the point of imbecility. Page references to the United States, for instance, are merely given in folio, with no clue to the material covered. And although both Shakespeare and Shirer appear, there is no mention of exports, imports, labor, resources, foreign trade or budgets. This is unfair to Mr. Tolischus, who has useful material on all these matters." Helen Mears
+ — New Repub 108:418 Mr 29 '43 1250w

Reviewed by Dorothy Woodman
New Statesman & Nation 26:29 Jl 10 '43 1150w

"Many books on Japan have poured from the presses during the last year. But there is no record of day-by-day developments in Japanese foreign and internal politics and economics comparable with the present book. It is likely to rank for many years as a standard work of reference for the period it covers. . . The book is lightened up by descriptions of Japanese daily life, recreations and entertainments and has a good share of amusing anecdotes." W. H. Chamberlin
+ N Y Times p1 F 21 '43 1700w

Reviewed by Clifton Fadiman
New Yorker 19:58 F 20 '43 270w

"The book is full of vivid impressions, good gossip and straightforward reporting of facts, but it is marred by lack of intimate knowledge and by a striving after profundity. Mr. Tolischus is happier in the hurly-burly of everyday life than among the lights and shades of Japanese culture and sometimes, in dealing with the latter, he grows sadly flippant." H. V. Redman
+ — Pacific Affairs 16:362 S '43 350w

"Tolischus is the first to tell the story of the last six months. It is an objective record, written by a first-class man who took his job seriously. Well-documented and well-reasoned, the record is an indispensable part of the history of the war and of Japan. . . Tolischus's restrained account of his treatment in prison is the most painfully engrossing part of the book." Hugh Byas
+ Sat R of Lit 26:5 F 20 '43 1950w

Reviewed by Simon Harcourt-Smith
Spec 171:154 Ag 13 '43 480w

Springf'd Republican p10 Ap 23 '43 470w

Reviewed by Helen Mears
Survey G 32:405 O '43 460w

Times [London] Lit Sup p350 Jl 24 '43 1350w

"Though some will differ with some of Mr. Tolischus's interpretations, most of them seem

TOLISCHUS, O. D.—Continued
sound. But, more important, Mr. Tolischus has provided an abundance of valuable material. His integrity as a calm and detached observer was not injured by the cruel treatment to which he was subjected by the Japanese as a prisoner following the outbreak of war—treatment which might have made less disciplined minds raving mad. As a detailed record of events in Japan during the year leading up to the war his book is the only authoritative one of its kind and will undoubtedly be used widely by students seeking to piece together the elusive picture of our Pacific enemy." Joseph Newman

+ Weekly Book Review p5 F 21 '43 1300w

Wis Lib Bul 39:54 Ap '43

Reviewed by A. K. Reischauer
Yale R n s 32:799 summer '43 490w

TOLLEY, HOWARD ROSS. Farmer citizen at war. 318p $2.50 Macmillan

338.1 World war, 1939—Agriculture and the war. Agriculture—U.S. 43-2206

Study of agriculture in the United States and the part played by the farmer, and by the United States Department of Agriculture during war time. Discusses the steps taken to improve the standards of living in farm districts, the improvement in conservation and crop yields, due to the work of the Department of Agriculture, etc. The author is chief of the Bureau of agricultural economics, formerly administrators of the A.A.A. Bibliography. Index.

Booklist 39:287 Mr 15 '43

Bookmark 4:9 My '43

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert
Foreign Affairs 22:161 O '43 40w

"Makes reader realize the many years the agricultural population has spent in improving itself and its products, so necessary in present emergency. Important book in study of American economics." J. A. Sohon

+ Library J 68:172 F 15 '43 110w

"This book is packed not only with information; it is packed with a burning belief in the decency and common sense of the American people. Dr. Tolley's style, as Vice President Wallace remarks in a short foreword, is 'neither simple nor highly spiced, but solid, detailed and worth the careful study of those who wish to think seriously about the future.'" Russell Lord

+ New Repub 108:357 Mr 15 '43 550w

Reviewed by R. M. Jones
N Y Times p1 F 28 '43 1600w

"If this were a better book it would be an important one. If this were a worse book it would still be an important one. For it tells what is on Mr. Tolley's mind; and Mr. Tolley is one of that small group of top-flight Department of Agriculture job-holders whose names mean little to the public but whose influence on the course of affairs is very great." P. M. Wagner

+ Weekly Book Review p3 Mr 21 '43 2550w

TOLMAN, EDWARD CHACE. Drives toward war. 118p $1.25 Appleton-Century

301.15 Social psychology. Psychology, Physiological 42-24407

"A psychological study of the fundamental motives and patterns of behavior and experience, including the frustration of basic personality 'drives,' which lead to war, as well as to other serious though less widely disastrous consequences. . . The way out, psychologically as well as politically, is identification with a 'supranational group.'" (Christian Century) Index.

"For only one jot in this book would I exercise the right of every reviewer to quibble. Tolman writes as a dynamic psychologist. He says, for instance: 'The biological drives . . . provide all the basic energy' for the dynamisms (p. 75). That from a one-time engineer. It is a basic error of the late nineteenth century, after the realization of the importance of the conservation of energy, that scientists thought of energy as the explanation of cause, of cause and effect as being necessarily equivalent in energy. They should have stuck to Hume and correlation, for most effects are multiple caused and there can be no energetic equivalence. . . But, quibbling aside, this is a charming book, a sound book and an important one. Its charm comes in part from Tolman's irremediable ambivalence: he will not claim that the Thing which is most worth having is more than a Myth. He writes in praise of indispensable Myth! More power to him!" E. G. Boring

+ — Am J Psychol 56:142 Ja '43 850w

"The reviewer's opinion is that the author went a long way around to find a major negative psychological cause of war—the repression of drives (learned and unlearned) but that he has arrived not wholly empty-handed, however much he slighted the more positive economic and other objective causes of armed conflict. Perhaps the psychoanalysts will be grateful to him for systematizing some of their naïve notions." L. L. Bernard

Am Soc R 8:239 Ap '43 390w

Reviewed by S. H. Britt
Ann Am Acad 227:166 My '43 270w

Christian Century 59:1359 N '42 80w

TOLSTOI, LEV NIKOLAEVICH, graf. What men live by; Russian stories and legends; il. by Alexander Alexeieff; tr. by Louise and Aylmer Maude; introd. by Dorothy Canfield Fisher. 223p $2.50 Pantheon bks.

Eight of Tolstoy's fables on the brotherhood of man reissued in a new format. "The stories have been carefully chosen to harmonize in content and are also graded somewhat as to maturity of thought—from the simple parable with which the book begins (and which gives it its name) to the longer and more adult tale, 'Master and Man,' with which it closes." (N Y Times)

Booklist 40:115 D 1 '43

Commonweal 39:98 N 12 '43 850w

"I would not recommend it for use in children's rooms. It would, however, be useful in young people's collections." A. D. Martin
Library J 69:74 Ja 15 '44 100w

Reviewed by H. R. Hailey
N Y Times p47 D 5 '43 320w

"Some persons may say, it's all very well to read of what love can do, if one wants to escape from what hate is now doing all around us. But to this reviewer these fables were not escapist reading. 'What Men Live By' offers a hope for the future and a steady calmness received from no other recent reading." E. P. W.

+ Springf'd Republican p7e D 5 '43 300w

TOMLINSON, EDWARD. Other Americans; our neighbors to the south. 456p il maps $3 Scribner

918 Latin America—Description and travel 43-8674

Popularly written guide to the American countries south of the Rio Grande. It is, the author says "a collection of descriptive stories, or a picture of each country as it is today: its civilization, its people, how and by what means they live, their customs and characteristics. Facts and figures, while as accurate and up-to-date as possible, are presented informally. There is enough history about each country to suggest its background." (p. 6) Index.

"An engaging, if somewhat superficial, sketch of the Americans to the south of us."

+ — Atlantic 172:123 Ag '43 90w

"He writes in pleasantly discursive style; and the 'Facts and Figures' at the end of his volume give a valuable summary of important details of the twenty neighboring republics. On questions religious and controversial he preserves a discreet silence." Joseph McSorley

+ Cath World 157:659 S '43 140w

"The sort of friendly, informational material that makes pleasant reading."
+ Commonweal 38:232 Je 18 '43 70w

"Recommended for all high school libraries and for young people's departments in public libraries." S. J. Johnson
+ Library J 68:577 Jl '43 80w

Reviewed by Lloyd Mallan
N Y Times p18 Je 27 '43 500w

"The book is much more than a travelogue. Few Americans are as well informed about Latin America as Mr. Tomlinson. For almost twenty years he made an annual trip to some part of Latin America and lectured about all sections all over the United States. He reported all the important Pan-American conferences and broadcast some of these important international deliberations." Stephen Naft
+ Sat R of Lit 26:17 Jl 3 '43 550w

"In writing The Other Americans Mr. Tomlinson has produced a book that is spirited and entertaining, brief, and easy to read." D. B. Crawford
+ Social Studies 34:277 O '43 1000w

"'The Other Americans' is a travel book which stressed the most attractive aspects of the Americas and comes to grips with few of their problems." L. S. Munn
+ — Springf'd Republican p8 Je 29 '43 400w

"Mr. Tomlinson's pleasant book should be accompanied with a memorandum: Take with care, add plenty of salt." Hubert Herring
+ — Weekly Book Review p9 Jl 4 '43 600w
Wis Lib Bul 39:109 Jl '43

TOMLINSON, JOSEPH L. Shipbuilding blueprint reading. 208p il spir pa $2.75; with answers $3 Am. tech. soc.

623.8 Shipbuilding. Blueprints 43-138

"Mr. Tomlinson begins with arithmetic, defines terms, explains lines, scale and symbols, and shows methods of developing shapes and surfaces. Real blueprints to test out the knowledge acquired are supplied." N Y Times

Library J 68:37 Ja 1 '43 30w

Reviewed by Waldemar Kaempffert
N Y Times p22 F 14 '43 120w

Reviewed by James Stokley
Weekly Book Review p19 Ag 22 '43 20w

TOMPKINS, JANE F. (MRS B. M. MCCONNELL). Storks fly home; drawings by Tibor Gergely. 58p $1.50 Stokes

43-13014

Story of a small girl and boy living in present-day Holland, telling what happened when the Nazis came to their village after the people—and the storks—had flown.

"Author writes with tenderness and sincerity that will appeal to middle-sized children." S. J. Johnson
+ Library J 68:773 O 1 '43 70w

"The story is quietly, movingly told; it is of real birds and real children in a real war, a model of its kind." M. L. Becker
+ Weekly Book Review p8 O 31 '43 350w

TOMPKINS, WALKER A. Border bonanza. 256p $2 Phoenix

43-6825

Western story.

"The yarn is a wild, preposterous, harum-scarum farrago of absurdly impossible adventures, told with all the clichés of the outmoded thriller. It is unworthy of a man who has written better tales." G. W. Harris
— N Y Times p16 Je 6 '43 240w

Reviewed by Will Cuppy
Weekly Book Review p30 My 23 '43 130w

TORREY, WARE (LEE CROSBY, pseud). Night attack. 219p $2 Dutton

43-12123

Exciting tale of espionage in a Long Island war plant. Peter Wayne, the trouble-shooter sent out to trace the sabotage to its source, is hit on the head at several critical moments, but finally clears things up.

"A top-notch spy tale." Elizabeth Bullock
+ Book Week p7 O 24 '43 90w

"One of the nicest things about this saboteur mystery is the vigor and naturalness of the conversation. The men at the head of the plant all talk like men we have heard. Rushed and harried, they are always under pressure—yet they can relax easily when the infrequent chance comes." Charlotte Dean
+ N Y Times p29 O 3 '43 260w

"Exciting enough to make you think twice before you take an evening stroll in wartime, particularly if you live on the South Shore."
+ New Yorker 19:88 S 25 '43 70w

"Good—in its class."
Sat R of Lit 26:27 O 2 '43 40w
Springf'd Republican p7e S 26 '43 160w

Reviewed by Will Cuppy
Weekly Book Review p18 S 26 '43 100w

TOUSEY, SANFORD. Airplane Andy [il. by the author]. 44p $1 Doubleday

42-51252

"To have a pilot for a father was an adventure in itself for Andy, but things really began to happen when he was given a chance to accompany him on a trip to Washington in a big passenger plane, and later to help bring the new Howard plane to safety through a storm. A good deal of information is included in the narrative. Grades 4-6." Wis Lib Bul

"The easy text can be read by younger readers, but story contents will appeal to older boys who need easy reading. For eight- to ten-year-olds." A. M. Wetherell
+ Library J 68:250 Mr 15 '43 70w
Wis Lib Bul 39:31 F '43

TOUSEY, SANFORD. Dick and the canal boat [il. by the author]. [41p] $1.50 Doubleday

43-16232

"Story-picture book. . . Dick's father lets Dick ride Jinny the mule from Buffalo to Albany, and sit behind him on Ginger coming home. It was in the fifties, the great days of the Erie Canal. Dick was seeing everything for the first time; here is what he saw, in colors." Weekly Book Review

"The youthful audience between seven and ten will enjoy this story written in simple, direct style with many bright pictures. The drawings are full of life and action, but the color reproduction is unfortunately poor." B. W. Bell
+ — Library J 68:1009 D 1 '43 50w

"Sanford Tousey must remember very clearly what it was like to be a small boy, for his slim volumes in large encouraging type, with many pictures . . . are exactly the kind of book which lively 7, 8 and 9 year olds, who are not as yet very accomplished readers, crave. They tell stories of real life, full of action." A. T. Eaton
+ N Y Times p24 N 21 '43 320w

Reviewed by M. L. Becker
Weekly Book Review p40 N 14 '43 180w
Wis Lib Bul 40:12 Ja '44

TOUSEY, SANFORD. Lumberjack Bill [il. by the author]. 48p $1.75 Houghton

43-4372

Bill is taken by an uncle, who own acres of Wisconsin timberland, to see the spring log drive. Everything interested Bill, from the "wanigan" which carried food and duffle, to the bunkhouse and lumberjacks themselves. By the end of his stay he had proved himself worthy to be called a lumberjack because of his help to his uncle, and his saving of the dog caught in a lumber jam.

TOUSEY, SANFORD—Continued

"There is plenty of plot and action and 7-to-10-year olds who read the story will get a wonderful picture of life in a logging camp, both from the text and from the author's boldly colored illustrations." P. A. Whitney

+ Book Week p8 Ap 25 '43 110w

Booklist 39:357 My 1 '43

"Will serve double duty, as good transition from easy books to general collection and as supplementary reading for projects on lumber industry. For nine- and ten-year-olds. Recommended." M. N. Miller

+ Library J 68:365 My 1 '43 50w

"The many pictures in bright colors are as clear and definite as the text. Boys from 7 to 12 who enjoy reading about how things are done will find 'Lumberjack Bill' a very satisfactory book." A. T. Eaton

+ N Y Times p11 Ap 18 '43 260w

Reviewed by M. L. Becker

Weekly Book Review p10 My 16 '43 270w

Wis Lib Bul 39:87 Je '43

TOUSEY, SANFORD. Old Blue; pictures by [the author]. 32p $1 Whitman, A.

42-51970

"A real horse is the central figure in another tale of the west by a favorite author-illustrator for lower grade boys. This story will appeal to many girls as well. Grades 3-5." Wis Lib Bul

"Good picture of ranch life and range riding, illustrated by author. For boys of seven to ten years. Recommended." E. T. Dobbins

+ Library J 68:84 Ja 15 '43 50w

Springf'd Republican p7e Mr 7 '43 110w

Reviewed by M. L. Becker

Weekly Book Review p8 Mr 21 '43 150w

Wis Lib Bul 39:32 F '43

TOWNSEND, GILBERT, and DALZELL, JAMES RALPH. How to plan a house. 525p il $4.50 Am. tech. soc.

728 Architecture, Domestic 42-19257

"This is not just another book on house planning. It does not merely present plans; it shows how such plans are made, with the factors involved in every decision which help shape those plans. . . The book begins with a discussion of architectural styles, then, starting with the foundation, it works through every part of the structure, also, giving illustrative examples at each step, so that the reader becomes thoroughly acquainted with general design principles and practices. An illustrative example, based upon the principles of the book, then helps to make all these steps clear, especially in conjunction with the set of full-sized blueprints at the back of the book." (Pref) Index.

Booklist 39:29 O 1 '42

Bookmark 4:10 My '43

N Y New Tech Bks 27:53 O '42

Pratt p4 F '43

Reviewed by James Stokley

Weekly Book Review p25 Ap 11 '43 160w

TRACHTENBERG, JOSHUA. The devil and the Jews; the medieval conception of the Jew and its relation to modern anti-Semitism. 279p il $3.50 Yale univ. press

296 Jews—Persecution. Jews—Political and social conditions A43-2349

"This book represents a sober investigation into the incredible fund of fact and legend which has accumulated about the Jew in his supposed guise of Anti-Christ, devil incarnate, magician, sorcerer, heretic, usurer, fiend and inveterate enemy of mankind. The author, who is Rabbi of Temple Covenant of Peace at Easton, Pennsylvania, is of the opinion that the fear and hatred of the Jew, manifested throughout the Western world for centuries, has its psychological origins in the Middle Ages. The illustrations, gathered from a variety of interesting sources, lend vivid reality to the abundant documentary evidence of the text pointing to the psychotic nature of the Christian mind." (New Repub) Bibliography. Index.

Reviewed by E. A. Beller

Ann Am Acad 230:210 N '43 380w

Booklist 40:71 N 1 '43

Christian Century 60:990 S 1 '43 330w

Christian Science Monitor p13 O 9 '43 400w

"Recommended for all libraries, because it contributes to solution of perplexing problem." O. G. Lawson

+ Library J 68:429 My 15 '43 110w

Reviewed by Henry Miller

New Repub 109:291 Ag 30 '43 900w

"Superbly written and well documented study." A. L. Sachar

+ Weekly Book Review p17 S 12 '43 850w

"A book that should be read by everybody. . . It is an eloquent book, done by an artist who knows how to build up an impression; a learned book." Alvin Johnson

+ Yale R n s 32:795 summer '43 1450w

TRAIN, ARTHUR CHENEY. Yankee lawyer; the autobiography of Ephraim Tutt. 464p il $3.50 Scribner

43-12455

For a good many years short stories have been appearing in American magazines relating the exploits of one Ephraim Tutt, lawyer. This "autobiography" of Ephraim Tutt tells the life story of this fictional character including the "true stories" of some of the cases set forth by Mr Train as well as some Mr Train has not as yet put into print. Index.

Reviewed by August Derleth

Book Week p6 Ag 22 '43 550w

Booklist 40:60 O 15 '43

Reviewed by J. M. Maguire

+ Harvard Law R 57:258 D '43 1750w

New Repub 109:726 N 22 '43 90w

"As a lawyer Ephraim Tutt needs no introduction to the American public. . . Now, at 75, Ephraim Tutt the lawyer has given us a full-length portrait of Ephraim the man. If there is such a thing as a typical American he will be found between the pages of this humorous and charming book." Edward Streeter

+ N Y Times p1 Ag 29 '43 1800w

"How much of lawyer Tutt's life story is also lawyer Train's, or vice versa, you will have to judge for yourself. Good reading."

+ New Yorker 19:66 Ag 28 '43 70w

"Aside from the ambiguity in the historical aspects of the book (legal, political, literary great stride through its pages), 'Yankee Lawyer' is as diverting a book as one would want on a summer stay-at-home vacation. There is the usual Train quota of villains and victims saved by Mr Tutt's ability to dig out of ancient legal tomes the laws to confound the sharpsters. In addition, there is an occasional meeting with Calvin Coolidge who emerged from the same Vermont town as Mr Tutt." M. R. B.

+ Springf'd Republican p8 Ag 24 '43 600w

"Yankee Lawyer is a genial hodgepodge of fact & fiction, includes almost everything a reader needs for a good time: human-interest stories from Mr. Tutt's legal life; anecdotes about Mr. Tutt's nonfictional contemporaries ('Teddy' Roosevelt, Richard Harding Davis, Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes); and Mr. Tutt himself as American as a Stephen Foster song."

+ Time 42:98 S 20 '43 850w

"Here is Mr. Ephraim Tutt, a shining figure, with a few human imperfections (he's a bit smug in spite of his efforts not to be), and this, his own story, is by all odds the best of the strange Tutt saga." Stanley Walker

+ Weekly Book Review p2 Ag 22 '43 1500w

Wis Lib Bul 39:160 D '43

Reviewed by Arthur Train

Yale Law J 52:945 S '43 1050w

TRASK, MARY BEATTY (ANN PENDLETON, pseud). Hit the rivet, sister. 190p $2 Howell, Soskin

43-16384

The war as it looks in an aircraft plant to a girl with a college education, a fact which she keeps carefully guarded from her fellow workers. Work on the day shift and the night shift, finding a place to live, getting along with the bosses and your rivet-mate, the whole routine of living and working in a small town industrial plant, is described with humorous detail.

Cleveland Open Shelf p19 O '43

"The rivet isn't the only thing Miss Pendleton smacks on the head in 'Hit the Rivet, Sister.' This college graduate who goes to work in a factory in a Main Street town three hours from New York has knocked out a beaut of a book about life on the assembly line. She gives a vivid, humorous picture of the movement inside a plant. Each noise, each operation, takes on meaning. . . It is a dynamic world and Miss Pendleton has caught its humor and realism." L. G.

+ N Y Times p20 S 12 '43 500w

"Her accounts of her bosses, her fellow workers, for whom she must translate all she says into the worst possible English before they can understand her, her accounts of her job and her efforts to find living accommodations in Moore City, seem forced and facetious, and somewhat dull." Barbara Woollcott

Weekly Book Review p16 S 12 '43 180w

TRAVER, ROBERT, pseud. See Voelker, J. D.

TRAVERS, PAMELA L. Mary Poppins opens the door; il. by Mary Shepard and Agnes Sims. 239p $1.75 Reynal

43-17570

Mary Poppins is back again at the Banks home and as usual when she appears it becomes a model household. The children follow her enthralled, and everything is slightly touched with magic, until the day when she disappears once more.

Reviewed by Edward Weeks

Atlantic 173:123 Ja '44 240w

Reviewed by P. A. Whitney

Book Week p7 Ja 2 '44 270w

Reviewed by M. K. McElderry

Christian Science Monitor p10 N 29 '43 70w

"I, who hailed her [earlier] as 'a delightful new character who has come to stay,' think Mary Poppins Opens the Door is even better —so rich is it in nursery lore, so sparkling with magic, so warmly understanding of children." A. C. Moore

+ Horn Bk 19:422 N '43 80w

Reviewed by A. M. Jordan

Horn Bk 20:34 Ja '44 80w

"This long-awaited book will entirely fulfil the expectations of Mary Poppins's most admiring friends." Lena Barksdale

+ Nation 157:592 N 20 '43 20w

"On due thought, Mary Poppins isn't exactly the same. She is better than ever. Her fabulous excursions are still fresh in invention and behind them lies a new warmth of spirit which makes us realize once again how very thin is the line between truth and fantasy for those who are truly young." E. L. Buell

+ N Y Times p7 D 12 '43 320w

Sat R of Lit 26:34 D 11 '43 470w

"Fantasy, humor, and common sense are again well met when Pamela Travers takes pen in hand. 'Mary Poppins Opens the Door' is the just right gift for Christmas." M. E. S.

+ Springf'd Republican p7e D 19 '43 110w

Reviewed by M. L. Becker

Weekly Book Review p8 D 12 '43 400w

TREGASKIS, RICHARD WILLIAM. Guadalcanal diary. 263p il $2.50 Random house

940.542 World war, 1939—Solomon islands. World war, 1939—Personal narratives, American. U.S. Marine corps

43-51006

Day-by-day account of the landing of the American marines on Guadalcanal Island, and their experiences from July to September, 1942. Written by a war correspondent who accompanied the troops. Illustrated with photographs.

"Marines with whom I have talked have nothing but good to say of Guadalcanal Diary. . . There are pages in this book which are not pretty. But it is well that we back home should know what our men are up against as they jump from foothold to foothold."

+ Atlantic 171:123 My '43 180w

Booklist 39:222 F 1 '43

Bookmark 4:14 Mr '43

" 'Guadalcanal Diary' is a very good book. Its goodness lies in its subject matter—the first phases of the first American offensive action of this war. . . There will be other, greater offensives than the attack on Guadalcanal; histories may relegate it to mere parenthetical clauses. But there will be few more colorful campaigns. The United States Marines, even in the face of death, are magnificent showmen. . . The best passages in the book are those in which Mr. Tregaskis brings his readers face to face with men. . . Richard Tregaskis is back on Guadalcanal now, sending out more stories like those in his diary which is just a long, gloriously detailed, very revealing newspaper man's dispatch." John Hersey

+ Books p1 Ja 24 '43 1250w

Christian Century 60:110 Ja 27 '43 130w

Christian Science Monitor p14 F 5 '43 360w

Cleveland Open Shelf p3 Ja '43

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert

Foreign Affairs 21:580 Ap '43 20w

"Reportorial in style, slangy, with some vivid pictures of the Marines in action. Author, who faced same risks and hardships as the men, succeeds admirably in capturing spirit of event. Main fault is lack of background and analysis. Recommended for both adults and young people." D. R. Starie

+ Library J 68:40 Ja 1 '43 70w

Reviewed by Marcus Duffield

Nation 156:277 F 20 '43 390w

Reviewed by Irving Brant

New Repub 108:291 Mr 1 '43 420w

Reviewed by R. L. Duffus

N Y Times p3 Ja 24 '43 1350w

"No 'They Were Expendable,' his book is an artless, rough diary, but it has a first-hand, on-the-spot quality that partly atones for its total lack of literary finish." Clifton Fadiman

+ New Yorker 18:58 Ja 23 '43 200w

"Tregaskis's battles are no glorious compound of mass charges, brilliant strategy, and heroic phrases. They are rather a combination of bullets whizzing overhead, filth, thirst, a wounded man groaning nearby, confusion, fear, and the joy of knowing that it's your tanks making mince meat of the Japanese across the stream, and not the other way around. 'The Guadalcanal Diary' is an honest book. Tregaskis set out to tell in simple words what he saw. He does it without fanfare or stylistic embellishments. Yet, the book somehow falls flat. It's interesting, but easily forgotten. It tells of jungle warfare; yet, it produces no clear image of the jungle. . . The book would have been much more satisfying were Tregaskis a bit of an artist, as well as a first-rate reporter." Mark Gayn

+ — Sat R of Lit 26:9 Ja 30 '43 450w

"It has an emotional as well as informational impact, even though it is literally a correspondent's diary, not a studied literary creation of contrived effects. . . Oddly, as a piece of writing 'Guadalcanal Diary' is almost at its best in the earliest entries, written on shipboard while the marines were being borne to an unknown destination for an unpredictable ordeal. Tregaskis skilfully conveys the subtle atmosphere among these untested fighting men." M. B.

TREGASKIS, R. W.—Continued

+ Springf'd Republican p7e Ja 24 '43 900w

"The book's secret is the simple secret of all good reporting—fidelity and detail. It gives a good picture of what life on Guadalcanal is like. Tregaskis' description of the Battle of the Tenaru River, which he watched while Jap tracers wove a bright red network of visible death around his head, gets its power from the countless sights he remembers and sets down rather than from any comment he makes about them."

+ Time 41:90 Ja 25 '43 600w

Reviewed by J. D. Adams
Yale R n s 32:791 summer '43 50w

TREITSCHKE, HEINRICH GOTTHARD VON. Origins of Prussianism (the Teutonic knights) tr. by Eden and Cedar Paul. 163p maps $2.50 Norton [7s 6d Allen, G]

943.11 Teutonic knights [A42-2494]

"This is the first appearance in English of a very remarkable classic, whose German original, Das Deutsche Ordensland Preussen, appeared in 1862, the year when Bismarck became minister-president of Prussia. It describes the birth of the German Drive to the East, the thrust of a German wedge into what afterwards became East Prussia; the origin of the duel between the Prussians and the Slavs (whether Russians or Poles, whether Byzantine Orthodox or Roman Catholic); the founding of the dominion of the Hohenzollern—for which Treitschke was an enthusiast; the principles of Old Prussian and Neo-Prussian ruthlessly exterminative colonization. . . In fact, with its many faults, and because of its frantic racism, this book throws a limelight upon the campaigns of Prussianism, down to and including the present war." Publisher's note

---

"We cannot share Treitschke's enthusiasm, but his clear and lively narrative is of real assistance to a better understanding of Prussian mentality and of Teutonic-Slav rivalry, and the translation is to be welcomed." John Stapleton

+ Spec 168:310 Mr 27 '42 550w

"The translation of the book, which is of great interest at the present time, has been on the whole very well done. There are, however, certain errors which might have been avoided, notably in the case of names, the translators having clearly been puzzled by the very real difficulty of knowing when the particle von ought to be translated 'of' or left as part of the name. Thus the chronicler Peter of Duisburg is disguised as Peter von Dusberg, and the Slav Duke Vladislav of Oppeln is germanized as Vladislav von Oppeln. German names of countries are too often left when English equivalents are available—e.g., Pomerellen (for Pomerelia) and Kujawien (for Kujavia)."

+ — Times [London] Lit Sup p178 Ap 4 '42 700w

TRESSLER, DONALD KITELEY, and EVERS, CLIFFORD F. Freezing preservation of foods. 789p il $8 Avi pub. co, inc, 31 Union sq, N.Y.

664.8 Food, Frozen 43-1569

"Dr. Tressler, an authority on freezing and dehydration of foods, is in charge of General Electric Consumers' Institute. Book contains laboratory methods for determining quality of preserved foods, data on grades, marketing, and refrigeration, and chapter on cooking frozen foods. Bibliographies." (Library J) The book is a revised and enlarged edition of The Freezing Preservation of Fruits, Fruit Juices, and Vegetables (Book Review Digest, 1936).

Reviewed by S. C. Prescott
Am J Pub Health 33:899 Jl '43 430w

Reviewed by James Stokley
Books p18 Ap 4 '43 80w

"Quite aside from its factual completeness, this book will justify itself to the research man for its excellent and comprehensive bibliographies attached to each chapter. Last, but far from least, the style in which the book is written makes it available to the layman and acceptable to the food technologist—a rare combination." M. E. Pennington

+ Chem & Eng N 21:344 Mr 10 '43 350w
Cleveland Open Shelf p11 Jl '43
Library J 68:291 Ap 1 '43 40w
N Y New Tech Bks 28:44 Jl '43

TREVELYAN, GEORGE MACAULAY. English social history; a survey of six centuries; Chaucer to Queen Victoria. 628p maps $4.50; college ed $3.75 Longmans

942 Great Britain—History. Great Britain—Social conditions 42-50135

In his introduction the author defines social history as "negatively . . . the history of a people with the politics left out. . . It has also its own positive value and peculiar concern. Its scope may be defined as the daily life of the inhabitants of the land in past ages: this includes the human as well as the economic relation of different classes to one another, the character of family and household life, the conditions of labour and of leisure, the attitude of man to nature, the culture of each age as it arose out of these general conditions of life, and took ever changing forms in religion, literature and music, architecture, learning and thought." Index.

Reviewed by T. C. Mendenhall
Am Hist R 48:776 Jl '43 700w

"Social history is a somewhat anomalous thing. Certainly Trevelyan's definition of what is left when political history and economic history have been sifted out is far from satisfying. Nevertheless, the book itself is fascinating for seldom does one find combined an engaging style, a flair for the significant and research ability."

+ Am Soc R 8:247 Ap '43 80w

"In English social history, more perhaps than in any other branch of history anywhere, changes are both perpetual and gradual; the stream is never twice the same, and yet at no time altogether altered. Mr. Trevelyan's book gives us a perfect impression of this tenacious and yet evolving life of the British people. The book is primarily for the general reader, and is unencumbered with appendix, or general bibliography, though there are an index and short chapter bibliographies." Preston Slosson

+ Ann Am Acad 228:139 Jl '43 450w

"'The volume sings with poetry—poetry of prose, poetry of quotation. This history is the lyric chant to the glory of Old England by an artist and a lover." Ellery Sedgwick

+ Atlantic 171:147 Mr '43 1300w

"Mr. Trevelyan is a master of the art of writing history in which a subject of enormous extent is condensed and clarified. Only one who has read widely in the field—or rather many fields—here surveyed can realize the immense amount of material that has been brought under contribution, English life in town and country in all its phases is passed under review." S. C. Chew

+ Books p3 D 27 '42 800w

"Professor Trevelyan has drawn upon a lifetime of scholarship to give us a fresh and informative picture of English development from the days of Chaucer and Wycliffe to the dawn of our own troubled era." Edgar McInnis

+ Canadian Forum 23:22 Ap '43 600w

Reviewed by D. J. McDougall
Canadian Hist R 24:298 S '43 1300w

Reviewed by W. E. Garrison
Christian Century 60:769 Je 30 '43 200w

"Summing up this book, one can say that it provides stimulating and fascinating reading as well as a useful corrective for an overdose of materialist interpretation. But an antidote taken by itself may have unfavorable reactions, and in order to achieve a really balanced ration it should be read in conjunction with such a book as Cole and Postgate's 'History of the British Common People.'" Keith Hutchison

+ Nation 156:387 Mr 13 '43 1200w

"For the student of human beings the Master of Trinity's fine book is a scholarly quiz program several winter evenings long." Christopher Morley
+ Sat R of Lit 26:9 F 20 '43 850w
Springf'd Republican p8 Ja 21 '43 550w
Reviewed by Wallace Notestein
Yale R n s 32:792 summer '43 1750w

TREVELYAN, GEORGE MACAULAY. Trinity college; an historical sketch. 122p il $1.75 Macmillan [6d Cambridge]

378.42 Cambridge, England. University. Trinity college [A44-318]

"The author narrates the growth of his college through six centuries; he is concerned first with the buildings, whose expanding structure gives unity to his work. But he is not content to deal merely with cold stone. . . He has infused the buildings with the life of the men who planned them and worked and taught in them—notably such great Masters as Neville, Bentley, and Whewell,—and the narrative becomes a history of Trinity's growth in, and adaptation to, the larger movements of national life and of its eminent contribution to national education and science." Manchester Guardian

---

Reviewed by Harold Hobson
Christian Science Monitor p17 N 27 '43 200w
Manchester Guardian p3 O 29 '43 300w

"Trinity freshmen are fortunate indeed to have our most distinguished living historian as their Master to explain to them the stories of the college, its courts and the great men who inhabited them. The Master tells us that he thought of calling the book The Freshman's Guide to Trinity, since, when he came up fifty years ago, looking round the Great Court and the Cloisters, he wished someone would tell him about them. But such a book, by Trevelyan, would be bound to be more than a guide. It is that—and a very delicious guide too, illuminated by those touches of historical imagination we expect from that hand." A. L. Rowse
+ New Statesman & Nation 26:320 N 13 '43 700w

"Though other colleges have risen to eminence in the last generations, Trinity still remains not only the largest but in its interests the broadest of Cambridge colleges. For this reason Sir George Trevelyan's excellent little book should interest all Cambridge men whether they belong to Trinity or not. In fact, since the connection between English university and national life is so close, it should interest all students of England's history." Theodore Spencer
+ N Y Times p38 N 28 '43 550w
Spec 171:416 O 29 '43 350w

"Short but delightful book."
+ Times [London] Lit Sup p493 O 16 '43 1250w

TRILLING, LIONEL. E. M. Forster. (Makers of modern literature) 192p $1.50 New directions

823 Forster, Edward Morgan 43-11336

Comprehensive study of E. M. Forster's five novels, together with some biographical material and comments on Forster's other writings and his art in general. Bibliography. Index.

Reviewed by A. C. Spectorsky
Book Week p10 Ag 22 '43 110w
Booklist 40:56 O 15 '43
Christian Science Monitor p13 S 25 '43 450w

"One of the finest pieces of literary criticism presented in many a year—Lionel Trilling's 'E. M. Forster.' Since this is supposed to be an essay on the latter, and not on his commentator, I can only pause long enough to point out the beautiful quality of Mr. Trilling's packed, penetrating little book." Cuthbert Wright
+ Commonweal 38:557 S 24 '43 4900w

Reviewed by K. T. Willis
Library J 68:327 Ap 15 '43 80w

"Best full study of Forster's work and ideas yet written." M. D. Zabel
+ Nation 157:158 Ag 7 '43 1450w

"On the whole I think that Professor Trilling has taken Forster too seriously. I say this with the instruction and delight that Forster so frequently offers fully in mind, but it must be said of the writer who justifies the claim of England's most important living novelist, or we put too high a value upon him and upon the modern English novel." George Mayberry
New Repub 109:341 S 6 '43 950w

Reviewed by Alan Pryce-Jones
New Statesman & Nation 26:303 N 6 '43 1600w

"Professor Trilling's critical biography provides present and future readers with a measurement of Forster's height and depth, and with a searching assessment of the values—intellectual, moral and esthetic—which inform his work as novelist, short-story writer and literary critic." Carlos Baker
+ N Y Times p4 Ag 15 '43 1100w

"Whether or not you know Forster's novels, I commend to you Mr. Trilling's brief monograph. It says not only many wise things about Forster but also many wise things about literature in general, about the novel, and about England. It is a model of the kind of criticism not too easily discoverable among us today—restrained, balanced, unashamed of its roots in a long intellectual tradition, academic in the finest sense. It is an admirable introduction to and summation of a novelist whose work, still largely unappreciated in America, quietly refuses to die." Clifton Fadiman
+ New Yorker 19:68 Ag 14 '43 1000w

"Mr. Trilling has done a laudable job in calling attention to Forster's qualities, and these reprints of work that somehow does not date are justified in these lean times in fiction." H. M. Jones
+ Sat R of Lit 26:6 Ag 28 '43 1450w
Time 42:98 Ag 9 '43 1800w

"This mature and vibrant book is more important than its status in a series of critical studies might seem to imply. It is far from being a merely perfunctory contribution: it is a manifesto. . . Those who are reluctant to accept the sad spiritual fascism of T. S. Eliot as the characteristic voice of our epoch will do well to ponder Mr. Trilling's pages. They will find there a notable study of a culture in disintegration, along with exciting premonitions of a new faith about to rise from the ashes of the old." G. F. Whicher
+ Weekly Book Review p7 S 5 '43 850w

TROY, HUGH. Five golden wrens; pictures by [the author]. [47p] $1 Oxford

43-2262

Modern fairy tale with a medieval setting. It is the story of an unhappy king who was made more gloomy than ever by the bad news received over the radio concealed in his golden crown. Life changed for everyone in the kingdom when five golden wrens mistook the king's crown for a golden wren house, and took up residence there. Their beautiful singing drowned out all doleful news.

Booklist 39:374 My 15 '43
Reviewed by F. B. Sloan
Christian Science Monitor p6 Jl 26 '43 100w

"A jolly, modern fairy tale with a pattern of the traditional. Excellent black and white drawings. A less distinguished book than The Chippendale Dam but one children will enjoy." A. C. Moore
+ Horn Bk 19:166 My '43 30w

Reviewed by A. M. Jordan
Horn Bk 19:172 My '43 70w

Reviewed by A. C. Moore
Horn Bk 19:423 N '43 20w

TROY, HUGH—Continued
Reviewed by E. G. Mullan
Library J 68:365 My 1 '43 70w

Reviewed by E. S. Littlefield
Library J 68:819 O 15 '43 60w

"A whimsical and amusing tale in true fairy-tale style. The pictures are more showy than beautiful, but they play an important part in carrying the action of the story." E. L. Buell
+ — N Y Times p11 Ap 25 '43 240w

"The story, which combines modernity with the traditional romantic king-and-scullery-maid plot, is not so genuinely humorous as the Dr. Seuss fairy tales, which it resembles a little, but it has some pleasant conceits, nevertheless, and will amuse six- to nine-year-olds."
New Yorker 19:66 My 29 '43 70w

"An original and delightfully humorous story." Maria Cimino
+ Sat R of Lit 26:50 Ap 17 '43 60w

"When 'The Chippendale Dam' burst into children's literature we recognized not only welcome originality but a gift for getting into the spirit of a period and writing of it in its own idiom. Both traits show even more clearly in Private Troy's new, best book." M. L. Becker
+ Weekly Book Review p8 Ap 18 '43 240w

TRUAX, RHODA (MRS R. H. ALDRICH). Green is the golden tree. 306p $2.50 Bobbs
43-4977

Not long after the Civil war ended a group of people founded a community in upper New York state which they called the Elysian Field. Chief among its members were Dr Hoyt and his young daughter Polly. Unfortunately Polly fell in love with Dan Crowley, who got into the community by a fluke and stayed for a time. The story is of the working out of this situation.

"As far as its theme is concerned, 'Green Is the Golden Tree' is an interesting book, and one that poses some provocative problems. It has always surprised me, indeed, that so few novelists have dealt with the Utopian communities, for the material, obviously, is rich in possibilities. Unhappily, despite the unique background which the author handles competently, 'Green is the golden tree' is a pedestrian, sentimental and artless little tale. The not very rousing love story dominates the book. Its moral is stated all too obviously and baldly. The best that one can say is that Rhoda Truax tried hard, and had a good idea, but that the results are not precisely inspiring." E. H. Walton
— + N Y Times p16 Ap 4 '43 400w

"In the opinion of this reviewer this volume adds nothing and detracts much from the many true accounts of the noble-spirited and high-minded men and women who experimented with a sort of Christian communism at the end of the last century. A stilted style and lack of a good plot prevent it from being classed even as fair entertainment." R. L. D.
— Springf'd Republican p7e Ap 18 '43 260w

"Miss Truax is successful in the development of her theme and there is much of interest in her presentation of communal life. The story would be more forceful, however, if the author had a livelier prose style." Lisle Bell
+ — Weekly Book Review p12 Ap 4 '43 650w

TRUBY, ALBERT ERNEST. Memoir of Walter Reed; the yellow fever episode. (Paul B. Hoeber medical bk) 239p il $3.50 Harper
B or 92 Reed, Walter. Yellow fever 43-11080

"The author was executive officer at Columbia barracks post hospital when Walter Reed came there to conduct his yellow fever investigation and this story of Truby's early professional life is mainly a review of the yellow fever experiments. He has used orders and reports to indicate sanitary conditions and has given a medical man's background of the situation. Reed is given credit for his work but is not the sole hero; the importance of the work of other doctors, Finlay and Lazear in particular, is explained." (Booklist) Index.

"It is indeed fortunate that this work has appeared before the firsthand information it contains has become unavailable. Few are still living who know intimately the details of this phase of the life of Walter Reed, and none knew this time and work better than Truby. He has been assisted by several others who were also present at the time. The result is a most interesting and valuable picture of the events that led up to one of the greatest medical discoveries of all time." G. A. Skinner
+ Am J Pub Health 33:1365 N '43 320w
Booklist 40:78 N 1 '43

TRUE, BARBARA, and HENRY, MARGUERITE. Their first igloo on Baffin island; il. by Gladys Rourke Blackwood. [28p] $1 Whitman, A.
43-9537

Two small Eskimo children, Palea and Nuka, become separated from their parents during a storm, and build an igloo for themselves, which provides shelter until they are rescued by the lead dog.

"An attractive book." P. A. Whitney
+ Book Week p11 Ag 29 '43 80w

"Very good idea of Eskimo life is given here, and the story is simple enough for children of six to eight. Teachers will welcome this easy book. Illustrated with large stylized drawings in soft colors." R. W. Stewart
+ Library J 68:627 Ag '43 50w

Reviewed by E. S. Littlefield
Library J 68:820 O 15 '43 40w
Wis Lib Bul 39:125 O '43

TRUESDELL, LEON EDGAR. Canadian born in the United States. (Carnegie endowment for int. peace. Division of economics and history. Relations of Canada and the United States). 263p $3 Yale univ. press [20s Oxford]
325.271 Canadians in the U.S. A43-1238

"An analysis of the statistics of the Canadian element in the population of the United States, 1850 to 1930." (Subtitle) Index.

Reviewed by J. W. Berry
Am J Soc 49:272 N '43 280w

"One hundred and twenty-one tables and thirty-six diagrams will give some idea of the character and type of this publication, which does not make for light and easy reading. . . Summary tables are useful, and well-done analyses according to urban, rural-farm, and rural-nonfarm categories result in an excellent breakdown of most topics. The text is built around the charts and tables, which means that the usefulness of the volume to an individual depends to some extent upon his interest in and experience with graphs, charts, and statistics. . . A useful and competent study." T. V. Kalijarvi
+ Ann Am Acad 229:215 S '43 550w

Reviewed by F. R. Scott
Canadian Forum 23:71 Je '43 140w

Reviewed by W. B. Hurd
Canadian Hist R 24:414 D '43 900w

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert
Foreign Affairs 22:161 O '43 30w

Reviewed by V. C. Finch
Geog R 34:162 Ja '44 300w

TSCHAN, FRANCIS JOSEPH; GRIMM, HAROLD JOHN, and SQUIRES, JAMES DUANE. Western civilization; the decline of Rome to the present; ed. by Walter Consuelo Langsam. [2v in 1] il pl maps $4.75 Lippincott
940.1 Europe—Civilization. Europe—History
42-24468

"[This] work brings the record down . . . to the early months of 1942. The authors do not consider history as merely 'past politics' but also as past industry, economics, literature, art, music, philosophy and religion." (Christian Century) The book is also published in two volumes: volume one with subtitle: The decline of Rome to 1660; volume two Since 1660.

Christian Century 59:1393 N 11 '42 300w

School & Society 56:88 Jl 25 '42 50w (Review of v1)

TSIANG, I-MIEN. The question of expatriation in America prior to 1907. 128p $2.25; pa $1.50 Johns Hopkins press

341.51 Expatriation. Citizenship—U.S. Naturalization—U.S. 43-8329

"Mr. Tsiang begins with a consideration of Coke's maxim that 'No man may abjure his native country nor the allegiance which he owes to his sovereign,' and traces the early development of the doctrine in England and, later, in America. The repudiation of the English idea of perpetual allegiance, first set forth in the Declaration of Independence, provoked many controversies, notably in connection with the impressment of American seamen, until in 1870 parliament formally renounced so narrow a policy. Within the various jurisdictions of the United States there was no clear-cut policy of expatriation, and even the Supreme Court of the United States was 'inclined to disfavor the right of voluntary expatriation.' These controversies, both international and domestic, and the solutions reached by treaty, judicial decision, and congressional action, particularly the acts of 1868 and 1907, comprise the bulk of the book." Am Hist R

"Well written, unambiguous, and thoroughly documented, this work is a genuine contribution in the best tradition of scholarship." Gordon Post

+ Am Hist R 49:160 O '43 250w

"A small but very useful volume." B. C. Randolph

+ Am Pol Sci R 37:746 Ag '43 340w

TS'UI, CHI. Short history of Chinese civilization; with a pref. by Laurence Binyon. 388p maps $4 Putnam [12s 6d; in colonies 7s 6d Gollancz]

951 China—History. China—Civilization 43-12193

"The aim of this book is to give, from a Chinese point of view, an account of Chinese history to general readers and students of foreign countries who are interested in Eastern affairs, old as well as new. . . Much of the material has come direct from contemporary Chinese sources or from the colossal standard work—the 'Twenty-four Histories,' each of which was compiled immediately after the events it records. Memoirs and records of ancient times, which up till now have not been translated into Western languages, have been quoted in this book. With the exception of a few topics such as the archaeological, diplomatic, and commercial backgrounds of Chinese history [the author has] not consulted Western works." (Foreword) Index.

Reviewed by Gustave Bernard

Book Week p26 D 5 '43 320w

Booklist 40:57 O 15 '43

Reviewed by Agnes Smedley

Nation 157:558 N 13 '43 2900w

Reviewed by Freda White

New Statesman & Nation 24:393 D 12 '42 600w

"To the average westerner, the history of China must appear to be a formidable record of dynasties and kingdoms, of dry bones, obscure names and remote events. The author of this book, however, has not written a formal history; he has produced a lively and entertaining story, full of romance, of tragedy and comedy, abundant in common sense, in practical philosophy and religion, rich in all conceivable kinds of human experiences." Lin Mousheng

+ N Y Times p31 S 19 '43 950w

"Scholarly and well-written story of the Chinese people, made continuously entertaining by the thread of legend and poetry that runs through it."

+ New Yorker 19:67 Ag 28 '43 30w

"The interest in China is now great and justly sympathetic; and there are few easily available short histories of China in print; so it may appear to many that Mr. Tsui's book is just the right response to a demand. I regret to say that, while most of it is just what is wanted, it has to be read with so many reservations that it ought not to be recommended." Rodney Gilbert

Weekly Book Review p24 O 3 '43 1600w

TUCKER, LOUIS. Clerical errors. 361p $3 Harper

B or 92 Clergy—Correspondence, reminiscences, etc. 43-9462

"Autobiography of a clergyman. . . The author is a southern Episcopal minister whose broad sympathies with other churches and with people of no church and whose zest for life have not, one feels sure, hampered his ministerial efficiency." Christian Century

"It is one of the most interesting, vibrant, stimulating and illuminating autobiographies I have ever read. By no means is this interest limited to members of the ministry. Everyone knows there could be written a hundred books on 'clerical errors,' for there never was a clergyman yet who did not make mistakes, but Louis Tucker made fewer errors than any minister I know." Preston Bradley

+ Book Week p10 Jl 18 '43 600w

Booklist 39:462 Jl 15 '43

"It is a hilarious book—and if the Lord loveth a hilarious giver, it is certain that both he and the reader will love this hilarious preacher."

+ Christian Century 60:427 Ap 7 '43 80w

"A vivid and entertaining autobiography." T. L. L.

+ Christian Science Monitor p11 Je 19 '43 850w

"This fascinating autobiography of a clergyman should be required reading in every seminary course in pastoral theology, not because the author has been a portentous figure in the life of the church . . . but because he has had so many of the experiences which come to all of us, together with many that none of us can hope to enjoy, because he knows how to tell a story—he has written many of them—because he has no reverence for bishops or other clergy, as such, and because he has an abundant sense of humor. . . The book is full of caustic wit, but always of good spirits, and a zest for spiritual adventure." W. L. Caswell

+ Churchman 157:16 My 1 '43 550w

"Amusing anecdotes . . . add spice to a well-written book." O. G. Lawson

+ Library J 68:247 Mr 15 '43 90w

"This isn't a book in any familiar pattern. It is individual and original. And it ought to make many good church people repent of their sins, especially of their sins toward their pastors." R. L. Duffus

+ N Y Times p8 Je 27 '43 650w

"The book cannot be said to have been planned; it is just the outpouring of a man's life in a roughly chronological arrangement. But the result is a delightful narrative, profound in spots, whimsical in spots, sincerely honest, true to life as we know it." C. D. Kean

+ Springf'd Republican p7e Je 27 '43 950w

"Louis Tucker confesses in his autobiography that he has had 'a royally good time' as an Anglican minister, and he recounts the story of his life with such humor and perception that it makes royally good reading. An individualist and an acute observer, he creates a vivid picture of the South in reconstruction days and of the Victorian era. The pages are rich with anecdotes, tossed out in a leisurely, delightful fashion, as though you had sat down to dinner with the rector." D. D. Lynn

+ Weekly Book Review p2 Je 27 '43 900w

Wis Lib Bul 39:107 Jl '43

TUDOR, TASHA (MRS THOMAS LEIGHTON MCCREADY). White goose [il. by the author]. [27p] $1 Oxford 43-13837

" 'Strange things are said to happen when the wild geese fly in the moonlight between night and dawn,' and this is a story of Robin, who follows the feathers of a little white goose and is nearly lured away by a fairy child to ride a moonbeam to the hidden side of the moon." Book Week

"Tasha Tudor's exquisite illustrations carry the blue, misty, dream quality of moonlight and her prose has a singing beauty that will not let you rest till you've read it aloud. A small but very prize package that would make a charming Christmas card for children from 6 to 10." P. A. Whitney
+ Book Week p6 O 24 '43 90w

Reviewed by A. M. Jordan
Horn Bk 19:402 N '43 40w

Reviewed by Margaret Abildgaard
Library J 68:1009 D 1 '43 40w

"Tasha Tudor has put real beauty into the drawings and she handles her story with a light and delicate touch. The tale is so slight it seems like a footnote done in moonlight to the author's other books. Children from 6 to 8 will enjoy it all the more if they make the acquaintance of one of the daytime stories as a companion piece." A. T. Eaton
+ N Y Times p6 O 10 '43 160w

TULLY, JIM. Dozen and one [with introd. by Damon Runyon]. 242p $2.75 Murray & Gee 920 43-4989

"A collection of pieces about friends and people Jim Tully has known. . . The Chaplin piece opens the book. . . Clark Gable comes next. . . The rest, in order, are Jack Dempsey, Diego Rivera, George Jean Nathan, Wilson Mizner, Jim Cruze, Arnold Bennett, Tod Sloan, Paul Bern, Walter Winchell, Henry Armstrong, and H. L. Mencken." Sat R of Lit

"In his new book, 'A Dozen and One,' Tully examines a baker's dozen of prominent men with penetrating skill that warrants close attention. . . In his drawing of Chaplin one notes a touch of severity, the only such touch one encounters. Strangely enough, it is just this touch that is almost ridiculously absent when he turns to idealize Clark Gable." T. Q. Curtiss
+ — N Y Times p27 My 16 '43 420w

"Pithy and vigorous, perhaps a bit too vigorous now and then."
+ New Yorker 19:88 Ap 10 '43 50w

"It is difficult to pick out the best portrait. Those of Chaplin, Dempsey, Bennett, and Mizner are outstanding. All are entertaining and enlightening, even though their subjects in some cases have been written about extensively before." Thomas Sugrue
+ Sat R of Lit 26:18 Ap 17 '43 500w

TUNIS, JOHN ROBERTS. Keystone kids. 209p $2 Harcourt
43-51222

Story of two brothers, baseball players from the South, who came North to join the Dodgers. A Jewish boy joins the team as a rookie and trouble begins. The older of the brothers decides to take a hand in coaching Klein to fight back, and thus save the honor of the team, and in time they weld the team into a firm union. For junior and senior high schools.

"There are a few passages—when Spike stands back and watches his team get ready to go to town—as fine as anything I've read in fiction. . . I'd like to see every American in the country, old and young, read 'Keystone Kids.' " P. A. Whitney
+ Book Week p7 S 5 '43 500w
Booklist 40:20 S '43
Cath World 158:316 D '43 50w
Christian Science Monitor p10 N 18 '43 50w
Commonweal 39:119 N 19 '43 50w

Reviewed by A. M. Jordan
Horn Bk 19:323 S '43 70w

Reviewed by E. A. Groves
Library J 68:730 S 15 '43 80w

Reviewed by R. W. Stewart
Library J 68:823 O 15 '43 30w

Reviewed by Lena Barksdale
Nation 157:593 N 20 '43 10w

"Time was when writers of juvenile fiction could duck from truth down an alley of appearance. Fantasy is one thing; distortion is another. The fact that Tunis can present everyday problems of a working democracy and be financially successful also, should provide impetus for other writers of juvenile fiction. The growing generation needs more books of this kind." Arthur Hepner
+ New Repub 19:370 S 13 '43 900w

"Although there is less body to this story than to most of its predecessors, and not quite so much of the swift-paced action of the diamond, its theme of sportsmanship in the fuller sense rings clearly through its racing prose—a challenge to young Americans who must all answer in one form or another the issue which it presents." E. L. Buell
+ N Y Times p9 S 5 '43 380w

Reviewed by Mabel Williams
Sat R of Lit 26:62 O 16 '43 180w
Springf'd Republican p7e Ag 22 '43 170w

"A good baseball story can leave you in a lather of excitement—over baseball. But when it keeps you stirred up over baseball from first to last and leaves you excited over a vital issue in American life, it is something special in sports literature. 'All-American' gave notice last year what we might expect from Tunis: 'Keystone Kids' is another exercise of the same special gift." M. L. Becker
+ Weekly Book Review p6 S 5 '43 430w

TUNIS, JOHN ROBERTS. Lawn games. (Barnes dollar sports lib) 84p il $1 Barnes, A.S.
796 Sports. Games 43-5695

Brief discussions about different games, followed by rules for each in condensed form. Games included: archery, badminton, croquet, deck tennis, horseshoes, lawn bowls, shuffleboard, clock golf, darts, volley ball.

"Really a very nice book." M. N.
+ Book Week p6 Ap 25 '43 90w
Cleveland Open Shelf p11 Jl '43

"Mr Tunis, who is well known as a sportscaster, writes authoritatively and amusingly on this subject of immediate interest to many."
+ Springf'd Republican p7e Jl 25 '43 60w
Wis Lib Bul 39:106 Jl '43

TUOMEY, DOUGLAS. Home mechanic; line drawings by Robert Harrer. 182p $2.50 Macmillan
680 Handicraft. Building—Repair and reconstruction. Repairing 43-6071

Advice for the home owner on how to use his tools, how to make simple repairs on his house inside and outside, how to construct useful items of furniture and equipment. Index.

"A copy of this book should be in every home tool box." D. McC.
+ Book Week p3 Ap 25 '43 180w
Booklist 40:41 O 1 '43
Bookmark 4:8 Mr '43

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 68:210 Mr 1 '43 40w
N Y New Tech Bks 28:24 Ap '43

"The book is outstanding because of the author's uncanny ability to go to the root of each problem without dwelling on the adorning shrubbery." J. M. Juran
+ N Y Times p40 N 7 '43 200w

Reviewed by James Stokley
Weekly Book Review p18 My 9 '43 100w
Wis Lib Bul 39:156 D '43

TURKINGTON, GRACE ALICE, and CONLEY, PHILIP MALLORY. Your country and mine. 630p il $1.60 Ginn

300 Social sciences 43-5792

"A new textbook designed to aid in the teaching of citizenship and an understanding of the growth of democracy in this country. Useful at the secondary school level. It is well-illustrated, carefully indexed, and contains an excellent bibliography, as well as many helpful teaching aids." (Social Studies) Index.

School & Society 57:224 F 20 '43 10w
+ Social Studies 34:192 Ap '43 50w
Reviewed by E. M. Tenney
Social Studies 34:332 N '43 270w

TURNER, NANCY BYRD. Sycamore silver; il. by Victor J. Dowling. 330p $2 Dodd

42-50215

Mystery story for grades four to six. It describes a happy summer vacation on a Virginia plantation some fifty years ago, where the small heroine and two companions, as well as several colored children, search for lost family silver.

Booklist 39:257 F 15 '43

"Delightful reading for whole family circle but especially interesting to girls from ten to twelve." A. M. Wetherell
+ Library J 68:250 Mr 15 '43 100w

"A leisurely story which recaptures the flavor of a gracious period steeped in tradition, as well as the pleasures of a childhood in the country." E. L. Buell
+ N Y Times p10 D 13 '42 120w
Reviewed by M. L. Becker
Weekly Book Review p7 F 28 '43 450w
Wis Lib Bul 39:76 My '43

TURNER, THYRA. Christmas house; the story of A visit from St Nicholas; il. by Flavia Gág. 25p $1 Scribner

Christmas stories 43-15467

The story of the writing of the Christmas poem; A Visit from St Nicholas, which was composed many years ago for his own children by a New York professor.

Booklist 40:118 D 1 '43
Cath World 158:315 D '43 50w
Reviewed by H. A. Masten
Christian Science Monitor p12 D 13 '43 50w
Churchman 157:14 N 15 '43 30w
Reviewed by A. M. Jordan
Horn Bk 19:401 N '43 60w

"A lovely story to read aloud at Christmas time." E. S. Littlefield
+ Library J 68:819 O 15 '43 60w

"Will make fine Christmas reading." M. L. Goodwin
+ Library J 68:963 N 15 '43 70w

"A pleasant little book, filled with the Christmas spirit. . . The illustrations are gay and childlike and catch the flavor of the period." A. T. Eaton
+ N Y Times p6 D 19 '43 160w

"Thyra Turner's charming and simply told tale with Flavia Gag's many colored illustrations, will make a delightful Christmas gift for the 9 to 12-year-old. Its atmosphere exudes the spice of cookies and evergreens, the laughter of children, as the reader discovers how Dr Clement Moore came to write 'Twas the night before Christmas." P. H. S.
+ Springf'd Republican p7e O 31 '43 110w
Reviewed by M. L. Becker
Weekly Book Review p6 D 19 '43 140w
Wis Lib Bul 39:161 D '43

TURNER, WILLIAM WIRT. Basic problems in engineering drawing. 54p loose-leaf pa $1.25 Ronald

744.43 Mechanical drawing 43-10309

"[This] is a series of work sheets, unbound but punched for a three-ring binder and intended for use with any standard text. . . There are exercises in lettering and various aspects of drafting. In many of them a drawing that is started is to be completed by the student." Weekly Book Review

---

Eng N 131:112 S 9 '43 40w

"In this day of accelerated programs, problem sheets on which the routine work has been done will be gratefully received by hard-pressed students. Attention can be concentrated upon learning of new materials rather than laborious and already familiar reproduction work. Although not as large as some sets, this one contains numerous well chosen problems from which the instructor may make a selection to keep the student busy. This set makes a welcome addition to those now on the market." R. P. Hoelscher
+ N Y Times p32 O 24 '43 140w
Reviewed by James Stokley
Weekly Book Review p19 Ag 22 '43 80w

TURRENTINE, JOHN WILLIAM. Potash in North America (Am. chemical soc. Monograph ser) 186p il maps $3.50 Reinhold

661.3 Potash industry and trade 43-5257

"In 1926 there appeared the book 'Potash: A Review, Estimate and Forecast' [Book Review Digest, 1927] by the above author. The primary purpose of the present volume is to review the developments, both economic and technological, that have taken place in the domestic potash industry since those dark days of the middle twenties, when only a handful of government and industry optimists, including the author, prevented this country from settling back into comfortable and complete dependence upon German imports for potash supplies. No one is better fitted to chronicle the remarkable developments of the American potash industry than Turrentine, who is now president of the American Potash Institute and for many years was in charge of Potash Investigations of the U. S. Department of Agriculture." Chem & Met Eng

---

+ Chem & Met Eng 50:203 Je '43 300w
Library J 68:291 Ap 1 '43 40w
N Y New Tech Bks 28:33 Ap '43

TUTTLE, WILBUR C. Hidden blood. 244p $2 Houghton

43-10688

Western story.

"Here is another delectable chapter in the long Hashknife saga."
+ N Y Times p24 Ap 25 '43 240w
Reviewed by Will Cuppy
Weekly Book Review p16 Ap 4 '43 70w
Wis Lib Bul 39:86 Je '43

TWYMAN, FRANK. Prism and lens making. 178p il $4.50 Jarrell-Ash co, 165 Newbury st, Boston [15s Hilger]

681.41 Prisms. Lenses 43-8373

" 'A Textbook for Optical Glassworkers,' by managing director of Adam Hilger, Ltd., London. Processes of lens and prism making, with technical detail. Glossary of terms used in optical workshops in English and French." Library J

Library J 68:433 My 15 '43 40w

"This clear and orderly presentation by excellent authority is especially to be recommended to the great numbers of people newly engaged in the manufacture and testing of lenses and prisms. There are, too, many tricks-of-the-trade for the old-time lens makers. May we hope that Mr. Twyman has brought glass working out into the open to stay." W. F. C. Ferguson

TWYMAN, FRANK—Continued

+ R of Scientific Instruments 14:313 O '43 360w

U

U.S.A. at war; U.S. camera, 1944; ed. by Tom Maloney; photographs selected by Edward Steichen. 271p $4.50 Duell

770.5 Photography—Yearbooks. World war, 1939—Pictorial works

"This year 'U.S. Camera' concentrates on the war, has a minimum of tricky and sensational shots and a maximum of news-worthy, significant and documentary pictures. Women working, men fighting, ships sinking, parachutists floating to earth, Churchill and Roosevelt at Quebec, boys being sworn in, children pledging allegiance to the flag, a Sicilian family watching an American soldier get a blood transfusion, the tracery of anti-aircraft fire against the night." Book Week

Reviewed by Sterling North
Book Week p2 D 19 '43 340w

Booklist 40:161 Ja 1 '44

"After nine years, the 'U.S. Camera Annual' has won a reputation as the finest anthology of its kind published in this country. Perhaps even more important than the care and judgment going into the selections is the technique of cropping, highlighting, and captioning. Each page is a separate and complete entity, telling a story of its own. The 'Annual' reaches a high mark with its new issue—'The U.S.A. at War' a hard-hitting, memorable collection of the finest photographs of the year."

+ Sat R of Lit 26:10 D 25 '43 150w

"Bravo! Commander Steichen and Tom Maloney have produced a thrilling, absorbing and graphic book for their annual number, far and away superior to any of their previous efforts." R. F. Crandell

+ Weekly Book Review p4 D 26 '43 600w

ULLSTEIN, HERMANN. Rise and fall of the house of Ullstein [tr. by James Stern]. 308p $3 Simon & Schuster

655.443 Ullstein aktien-gesellschaft. Press—Germany 43-4105

The author of this book is the youngest son of the founder of the German publishing house of Ullstein. His book tells how the firm expanded during the years before Hitler came to power, and of how quickly after 1933, the brothers' holdings were liquidated and the publishing house taken over by some high "unknown."

Reviewed by Ernst Posner
Am Hist R 49:150 O '43 300w

Christian Science Monitor p14 Mr 19 '43 450w

Reviewed by Max Fischer
Commonweal 37:650 Ap 16 '43 420w

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert
Foreign Affairs 21:12 Jl '43 20w

Reviewed by Leopold Schwarzschild
Nation 156:529 Ap 10 '43 1200w

"Up to the coming of Hitler, the Ullsteins were the owners of the most important publishing house, not merely of Germany, but of all Europe. The memoirs of a member of this family should therefore yield valuable inside information. For this reason it is more than regrettable that Herman Ullstein's book does not quite live up to expectations. It is as unsatisfactory on journalistic history as it is on current events." Carl Misch

New Repub 108:573 Ap 26 '43 750w

"Mr. Ullstein's book is too sketchy in spots and may not always satisfy the reader who looks for a well-balanced and somewhat systematic treatment of the subject. And there are errors in detail that might have been avoided by more careful editing. But in spite of these minor faults, it is a human document of a high order." F. E. Hirsch

+ — N Y Times p4 Mr 7 '43 1100w

"Herman Ullstein's book remains in its best parts a family success story and a vivid description of the development of the press in the times of the 'Second Reich' and the Weimar Republic. The chapters dealing with German history in general, and with the Nazi period especially are too sketchy and superficial." F. C. Weiskopf

+ — Sat R of Lit 26:18 Mr 27 '43 550w

Springf'd Republican p8 Mr 16 '43 850w

Reviewed by B. W. Huebsch
Weekly Book Review p21 Mr 28 '43 1550w

ULREICH, MRS NURA WOODSON (NURA, pseud). Nura's children go visiting; text and pictures by Nura. [37p] $2.50 Studio 43-5894

Picture book with accompanying poems, describing Grandfather Brown who was lonely and wrote invitations to all his twenty-six grandchildren. They all accepted and all came to visit. Each visiting couple or group of three is introduced in turn. For picture-book age.

"This is the sort of book with which children fall so thoroughly in love that there can be no outgrowing it. I'm sure some of Nura's small fans today will grow up to present copies of her pictures to their own children." P. A. Whitney

+ Book Week p9 My 9 '43 300w

Reviewed by H. A. Masten
Christian Science Monitor p12 D 13 '43 50w

Reviewed by A. M. Jordan
Horn Bk 19:167 My '43 40w

"The pictures, reproduced beautifully from quarto-sized lithographs in color and in black and white, are delightful, combining, unbelievably, the round stiff charm of American primitives with the dreamy quality of Marie Laurencin, yet the children seem wholly alive and very active." E. L. Buell

+ N Y Times p11 Ap 25 '43 320w

"A simple, rhythmical text tells the engaging story, while the pictures of little figures with curving contours, stiff yet possessing a primitive grace against a childlike American background, are very captivating." A. M. Jordan

+ Sat R of Lit 26:27 My 15 '43 140w

Reviewed by M. L. Becker
Weekly Book Review p9 My 23 '43 100w

UNDSET, SIGRID. Sigurd and his brave companions; a tale of medieval Norway; il. by Gunvor Bull Teilman. 139p $2 Knopf 43-15504

"A tale of thirteenth century Norway told by a great story-teller and student of the period and illustrated by one of Norway's most celebrated artists." Commonweal

Booklist 40:152 D 15 '43

"The telling is graced with touches of humor and sympathy which will help the young readers of today to visualize the old Norwegian scene."

+ Cath World 158:316 D '43 50w

Reviewed by H. A. Masten
Christian Science Monitor p8 D 9 '43 230w

Commonweal 39:119 N 19 '43 30w

"A fine, dramatic story of compelling strength." A. M. Jordan

+ Horn Bk 20:41 Ja '44 80w

"Scenes in the hut are vivid and convincing, but introductory legends and slow beginning may discourage young readers. Illustrations by Norwegian artist interpret spirit of times." R. O. Bostwick

Library J 68:1051 D 15 '43 100w

"Actually, these adventures, if one looks at them very hard and compares them to our usual American pattern for such stories, seem rather slight, but there is such life and vigor in the telling of them that they have a vivid reality, undimmed by the antiquity of their setting. Real, too, are the boys, mischievous, blundering, unconsciously funny. Intrinsically, they seem quite contemporary, while Mme. Undset paints a many-colored picture of those old rich days so skillfully that for a while we feel ourselves to be a part of it. For children from 8 to 11." E. L. Buell

+ N Y Times p7 D 12 '43 280w

"This, like everything Madame Undset writes, has a certain distinction, but it is one of her less successful tries. The adventures of three little boys in thirteenth-century Norway are too diffuse to be very satisfactory to American children. The stained-glass medieval background, on the other hand, is beautifully done."

+ — New Yorker 19:130 D 4 '43 50w

"The story is complicated for a young reader by legends before the entrance of Sigurd upon the scene, but when he enters he holds his own." M. L. Becker

Weekly Book Review p10 N 14 '43 250w

UNITED STATES. ARMY AIR FORCES. Target: Germany. 121p il $2; pa $1 Simon & Schuster

940.5442 World war, 1939—Aerial operations. U.S.—Army—Air corps—VIII bomber command 43-51356

"This is the story of the VIII Bomber Command; its men, their missions, their heroism and, for many of them, the manner of their dying. Its total effect is to emphasize the first team that flies a heavy bomber, then the groups of teams that constitute the whole operation. . . The story is the recital of what Lieut. Gen. Ira C. Eaker and his VIII Bomber command have done toward shattering the center of Hitler's Fortress Europe." N Y Times

---

"If you were to sit down and try to imagine the exact ideal of a book about our Air Forces' first year in the European theater, you couldn't think up anything near as good as this book. It has facts, fine pictures, good writing, excellent organization and glamour. And it hasn't, thank the Lord, slickness, boasting, phony glamorizing, sermonizing, nor the self-conscious modesty which is always its own denial." A. C. Spectorsky

+ Book Week p1 D 19 '43 1200w

Booklist 40:163 Ja 1 '44

"The book points out justifiably that the 8th Air Force helped put an end to the submarine menace and has made possible the 24-hour a day bombing of Germany. With the British it pinned down so many German fighters in Western Europe that the Russians were able to advance last Summer. The criticisms to be made against the book are secondary; it is a first rate job." H. W. Harris

+ Boston Globe p19 D 15 '43 650w

Reviewed by Marcus Duffield

Nation 158:49 Ja 8 '44 800w

"Good as the book is, interesting as it is, 'Target: Germany' is a piece of war journalism, an official document with all the implications of one. Nowhere is it so much as suggested that there may have been disagreements in the High Command. . . [It] is the beautifully illustrated and excellently documented history of the construction and operation of a mechanical instrument, with individuals existing only as faceless robots." Fletcher Pratt

New Repub 110:189 F 7 '44 950w

" 'Target: Germany' is an interim report. Its one point is that the VIII Bomber Command is already a mighty weapon, still expanding and improving. Its strength may be even greater against the enemy in the East." Craig Thompson

N Y Times p1 D 12 '43 1300w

" 'Target: Germany,' written in a dry, factual prose that goes in more for accuracy than for dramatic effect, reads less like the story of a new chapter in aerial warfare than a well-documented report of a large and highly complex industrial operation."

New Yorker 19:68 Ja 1 '44 230w

"The authors of this book have nothing to learn from Hilary St. George Saunders, long considered master of this type of work. In their dramatic evocation of the highlights they are indeed unsurpassed. This book contains many such tales of individual heroism. But I will leave for the reader to judge for himself of the quality of the young men who form the fighting crews of the heavies." Murray Harris

+ Sat R of Lit 26:5 D 25 '43 950w

"It is masterly exposition of modern air war, well written and skillfully blending the human, mechanical and organizational elements of the attack which is breaking Goering's sleep and the wehrmacht's strength. Specifically it is a clear narrative of the beginnings of that attack. All in all it's a fascinating piece of reading, tensely exciting and grimly promising what 1944 will bring to the European fortress."

+ Springf'd Republican p7e D 12 '43 600w

"It is the frequent and skillful use of first-hand reports, at the same time quietly official and intensely vivid . . . that gives much of its distinction to this unusually fine official history. With their aid, with the aid of well selected and well presented photographs, supplemented by a number of spirited charcoal drawings to catch those tensities of air battle which necessarily escape the camera, and with some useful maps and diagrams, the authors have done more than simply tell the factual story of American daylight precision bombing in western Europe. They have also conveyed a remarkably impressive sense of what it is like—of its problems and techniques, its terrific strains, the weird hazards of its terrible massed battles five miles above the earth, the amazing courage and devotion of the young men who fight them." Walter Millis

+ Weekly Book Review p1 D 19 '43 1600w

UNITED STATES ARMY ILLUSTRATORS OF FORT CUSTER, MICHIGAN. As soldiers see it. [87p] il $2; pa $1 Am. artists

704.949355 U.S.—Army—Military life. World war, 1939—Pictorial works. Art, American 43-12830

"Fort Custer, Michigan, through the aid and interest of an intelligent post commandant, was the first big Army training centre to encourage painting as a recreation among enlisted men. The results are portrayed in some seventy reproductions of water colors and gouaches, many of them excellent as art and all of them illuminating as a record of life in an Army camp." New Yorker

---

Reviewed by J. T. Frederick

Book Week p4 Ag 1 '43 280w

"The paintings reproduce well. The soldier-artists are subdued in the use of mannerisms current in modern art. In general, they aim for clear description; form and method are a means toward an end, graphic communication. They dwell upon comic phases, the raw recruit in his new uniform, K. P. duty, the 'Mop-Brigade'; but in general the report is serious and includes the range of strenuous practice and the full routine." D. A.

Christian Science Monitor p11 Jl 17 '43 400w

"This is the Army, and no doubt about it. Sidney W. Seeley, Michigan artist who directed the work and writes an introduction for the book, deserves high credit for the idea and the execution." H. B.

+ N Y Times p2 Je 20 '43 210w

+ New Yorker 19:71 Je 26 '43 70w

"Every page gives an insight into Army life far more critical and more penetrating than its customary portrayal by camera or by journalistic word-painting." Iris Barry

+ Weekly Book Review p2 Jl 4 '43 600w

UNITED STATES. PRESIDENT, 1933- (F. D. ROOSEVELT). Roosevelt's foreign policy, 1933-1941 [his] unedited speeches and messages [comp. and collated by Douglas Lurton]. 634p $3.75 Funk, W.

327.73 U.S.—Foreign relations. World war, 1939—U.S. 42-24627

"Speeches and messages of the President dealing with foreign affairs and national defense. The papers include messages to the Congress, public addresses, many executive orders and proclamations, a selection of public letters, important White House statements, and pertinent state department and treasury department releases. Arrangement is chronological. Detailed index of topics and catch phrases." Booklist

Booklist 39:270 Mr 1 '43

Christian Science Monitor p8 Ja 16 '43 10w

Commonweal 37:620 Ap 9 '43 20w

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert
Foreign Affairs 21:581 Ap '43 10w

UPFIELD, ARTHUR WILLIAM. Murder down under [Eng title: Mr Jelly's business]. 298p $2 Doubleday [3s 6d Hamilton] 43-1375

Detective story.

Booklist 39:294 Mr 15 '43

Bookmark 4:20 My '43

"Billed as Australia's leading mystery writer, Mr. Upfield herewith makes a successful debut in our midst, with promise of more to come. He's one of those prolific authors, with quite a list of works headed this way; which should be velvet for all concerned. Not to dwell on the pleasing novelty of an Antipodean setting, 'Murder Down Under' is a solid, meaty affair, worth any fan's attention, and what say you to a scholarly half-caste detective named Napoleon Bonaparte?" Will Cuppy
+ Books p13 Ja 10 '43 350w

"Mr. Upfield's manner of telling a story is a bit too leisurely for our taste, and he is given to digressions which do not forward the progress of his narrative." Isaac Anderson
N Y Times p24 Ja 17 '43 160w

"Most refreshing mystery to appear in a long time, written in a formal sort of way, with simple sentiment and great humor. This book, which serves to introduce Australia's leading mystery writer, is one to linger over."
+ New Yorker 18:60 Ja 23 '43 110w

"Refreshing."
+ Sat R of Lit 26:20 F 6 '43 40w

UPFIELD, ARTHUR WILLIAM. Mystery of Swordfish reef. 240p map $2 Doubleday 43-16089

Detective story.

"This novel (it is a fine novel as well as a bangup mystery) gives you the Australian master crime chronicler at his best." Elizabeth Bullock
+ Book Week p23 N 14 '43 160w

Reviewed by Isaac Anderson
N Y Times p16 N 7 '43 100w

"Sound and carefully worked out."
+ New Yorker 19:96 O 30 '43 70w

"O.K."
+ Sat R of Lit 26:29 N 6 '43 40w

Reviewed by Will Cuppy
Weekly Book Review p18 O 24 '43 250w

UPFIELD, ARTHUR WILLIAM. Wings above the claypan. 280p $2 Doubleday 43-7753

Detective story.

"Not possessed of the pace usually found in American mystery fiction, this story has a smooth power that will surely carry you along; at the same time, the descriptions of strange flora, fauna and weather phenomena, nicely handled, will make you grateful for not being rushed. And the mystery itself sustains you past some not too credible native near-magic which figures in the solution." Elizabeth Bullock
+ Book Week p8 My 9 '43 270w

Booklist 39:427 Je 15 '43

"The story has many good points, but the author might have spared us some of the scenic background." Isaac Anderson
+ — N Y Times p8 My 16 '43 120w

"Almost childish at times, but with some fine local color."
New Yorker 19:80 My 15 '43 50w

Reviewed by Will Cuppy
Weekly Book Review p20 My 9 '43 200w

UPSON, THEODORE FRELINGHUYSEN. With Sherman to the sea; the Civil war letters, diaries and reminiscences of [the author] ed. with an introd. by Oscar Osburn Winther. 181p il $2.25 La. state univ. press

973.781 U.S.—History—Civil war—Personal narratives 43-4411

Civil war diary and reminiscences covering the years 1862 to 1865. The author was an Indiana farm boy, who enlisted at the age of sixteen, participated in the battle of Vicksburg, and served under Sherman until 1865.

Reviewed by F. H. Heck
Am Hist R 49:158 O '43 300w

Reviewed by Paul Hutchinson
Christian Century 60:667 Je 2 '43 220w

"Upson carried his naivete and sense of humor throughout his military career, in spite of rain, poor food, and hard marches. Recommended for all, as it shows adaptability of teen age to military life." F. L. D. Goodrich
+ Library J 67:1065 D 1 '42 90w

New Repub 108:454 Ap 5 '43 70w

"Upson's journal is fresh and lively. There is humor in it, as well as pathos. This Indiana boy was no polished writer. Professor Winther of the university of Indiana, who edited the manuscript, says the original is 'written without any paragraphs and without regard to punctuation, capitalization or spelling.' These defects, except for the spelling, have been remedied by the editor, thus increasing the document's readability." Virginius Dabney
+ N Y Times p9 Mr 14 '43 1000w

"Upson's journal is unusually rich in human interest. It has an exuberant, boyish quality that conduces to easy reading. Professor Winther's introduction is concise and illuminating. The editor wisely refrains from cluttering the narrative with superfluous notes." B. I. Wiley
+ Weekly Book Review p16 Ja 23 '44 700w

UPSON, WILLIAM HAZLETT. Keep 'em crawling; earthworms at war. 339p $2 Farrar 43-986

Alexander Botts, high pressure salesman of the Earthworm Tractor company, of Earthworm city, Illinois, considers the present war as a God-given chance to put his tractors on the market. The army thinks otherwise, and difficulties follow.

Booklist 39:334 Ap 15 '43

Reviewed by Lisle Bell
Books p18 Ja 31 '43 280w

Eng N 130:112 Ap 8 '43 80w

"Any one who has read any of the preceding adventures of the Botts 'peerless earth-moving machinery' may safely look forward to an hour or two of merriment with the latest model tractors. The delightful thing about Mr. Botts is that he combines a childlike practicality with almost poetic brainstorms, and that he always comes out on top no matter how trying his troubles." Charlotte Dean
+ N Y Times p18 Ja 10 '43 300w

URBAHNS, ESTELLE. Tangled web; il. by Frank Lieberman. 64p $1.75 Dutton
43-13576

Delicate little story about a Chinese orphan boy who broke the lid of his master's most cherished possession, a fragile green teapot. On account of his knowledge of mending china, the boy was able to make the lid whole again, but because he came of an honorable family he could not hide his guilt, and received a rich reward for his trustworthiness. For children six to ten.

"In 'The Tangled Web' Estelle Urbahns has written with classic charm and dignity of the China she knows so well. . . There is a real feeling of China in these pages." P. A. Whitney
+ Book Week p6 O 24 '43 180w

"Well written and short enough to be good for teachers to read aloud in two or three sittings to eight- and nine-year-olds." J. D. Lindquist
+ Library J 68:847 O 15 '43 40w
N Y Times p14 N 14 '43 140w

"A simple but engrossing tale. It is beautifully written and should appeal to old and young alike. The black and white illustrations by Frank Lieberman are very attractive." W. H. H.
+ Springf'd Republican p7e S 26 '43 80w

"This tale of today for American eight-year-olds, about a Chinese boy scarcely older, has the dignity and sweetness of ancient Chinese stories told to illustrate and inculcate the virtues. . . Why the boy confesses the deception, and how the old man takes it, are so true to life's meanings that an older person is deeply moved, while even a little child receives from the suspense a confirmation in Chinese life of something he may have found in his own experience." M. L. Becker
+ Weekly Book Review p32 N 14 '43 330w

URMSTON, MARY. Quite contrary. 279p $2 Doubleday
42-24440

How a young girl made the town of Glenville flower-conscious by establishing a garden club and garden contests. Sandra was also able to convince the patriotic townspeople that while vegetable growing was important, flower cultivation did not need to die out. For older girls.

"Miss Quite Contrary's problems and her ventures make interesting reading for any girl." Louis Amtman
+ Book Week p10 Mr 28 '43 110w

"Not immediately valuable, but interesting to read." E. M. Morrow
+ N Y Times p10 My 9 '43 50w

V

VAKA, DEMETRA. See Brown, D. V.

VAN BRUNT, GEORGE ATHOL, and ROE, ARTHUR CECIL. Rewinding data for direct-current armatures. 2d ed 277p il $2.50 McGraw
621.316 Armatures 43-8740

"Several chapters have been rewritten, and seven new chapters added to cover the developments in technique since the first edition in 1932. The new material includes insulation between coil leads and layers of coil ends; characteristics of glass fiber insulation; baking with infra-red lamps; modernizing old armature cores; and effect of field cores on armature life." (N Y New Tech Bks) Index.

Library J 68:627 Ag '43 10w
N Y New Tech Bks 28:43 Jl '43

Reviewed by James Stokley
Weekly Book Review p18 Jl 25 '43 100w

VANCE, ROWLAND BOYD. They made me a leatherneck. 175p $2 Norton
359.96 U.S. Marine corps 43-11668

Personal narrative of the training period of a United States Marine officer.

Booklist 40:4 S '43
Cleveland Open Shelf p14 Ag '43

"In this little book Rowland Vance recounts his experience at Quantico. . . The ten weeks spent there was a time of tension, but Vance's account of his training sparkles with humor. He is not merely trying to be funny, but gives a truly valuable account of his experience. The humor makes his account more realistic and colorful; but it never leaves the impression that he is not serious in intent. His is a rare and valuable type of humor that by contrast brings out the high seriousness of the account." C. H. Metcalf
+ N Y Times p14 S 12 '43 320w

"Pithy, brisk, and entertaining in a dry, offhand way."
+ New Yorker 19:63 Jl 31 '43 30w

"Parents and intimate friends of Marines now in service will derive much satisfaction from reading the book. It will help them to realize that their boy is not a mere link in the vast chain of war but that he matters as an individual; that there is a humanness of relationship between officer and man; that the outfit is concerned about the development of each boy into a self-reliant assertive individual who can think independently and take care of himself in any situation." C. H. Metcalf
+ Sat R of Lit 26:22 Ag 28 '43 650w

"The lieutenant has a good ear, a good eye and a sense of humor. Here it all is, from the arrival of the Candidate, with butterflies in his stomach, to his departure, less than five months later, with one thought uppermost: 'Just give us the chance to be at our business.'" Lynn Carrick
+ Weekly Book Review p21 Ag 15 '43 700w

VAN DER GRIFT, CORNELIS, and LANSING, E. H. Escape from Java. 166p il $2 Crowell
940.53922 World war, 1939—Java. World war, 1939—Personal narratives, Dutch 43-16945

"What happened when the Japs took over in Java. Mr. van der Grift, a Dutch public-utilities man in Batavia, watched the invaders apply the German 'soft treatment,' with occasional flashes of brutality. He left Java, with two companions, in a small sloop and managed to get safely across three thousand miles of the Indian Ocean." New Yorker

"An enlightening story, not too well written."
+ — New Yorker 19:114 N 13 '43 70w
Springf'd Republican p7e N 14 '43 800w

VAN DERSAL, WILLIAM RICHARD. The American land; its history and its uses. 215p maps $3.75 Oxford
630.973 Land utilization. Farm produce
43-14146

Story of the land and its uses in the United States. The first section pictures the country as it appeared to the first explorers and settlers. Next the book traces the uses made of the land since that time, picturing the great crops, such as corn, cotton, wheat and tobacco. The smaller crops, fruits, vegetables, hops, grapes, etc, are studied next. Finally he analyses the effects of our use of the land, some of it resulting in erosion and soil loss. Index.

"His writing is excellent—strong, graphic, honest. The publishers have done their part by providing admirable and abundant illustrations. Altogether, 'The American Land' is one of the most original and most valuable books of the year. Everyone who has got his fingers into the American soil—if only in this year's Victory garden—should read it." J. T. Frederick
+ Book Week p4 S 19 '43 320w

VAN DERSAL, W. R.—Continued

Booklist 40:89 N 15 '43

"All in all an attractively informative if unliterary compendium, that bears further witness to America's potential strength."

+ Commonweal 38:564 S 24 '43 370w

"Has much to offer either for frequent, intermittent reading or as bracing text for those who would realize their heritage. From grains to fruits and legumes to forest products, the range of treatment is complete, though limited to clear and compact statements. Appropriate addition to any library." M. C. Manley

+ Library J 68:668 S 1 '43 110w

Reviewed by Russell Lord

Nation 157:412 O 9 '43 500w

" 'The American Land' should not be made to sound too exclusively a work of reference. It is also a book to be read from cover to cover in an evening or two by anyone wanting to find out what really makes the United States run—not just what is happening in Washington and New York. The author also seems to have less consciously, a third idea—to provide a new guide book for the United States." G. R. Stewart

+ N Y Times p7 S 19 '43 950w

Reviewed by W. S. Lynch

Sat R of Lit 26:24 S 18 '43 750w

School & Society 58:287 O 9 '43 40w

" 'The American Land' is full of nourishment and flavor, and adorned with magnificent photographs. It is a fine preparation for that cross-country trip which has been postponed until the axis is in ashes."

+ Springf'd Republican p6 D 21 '43 400w

"It cannot be said that in this effort at a biography of the American land Mr. Van Dersal displays either subtlety or originality. But he tells a great story simply and clearly; and many will value it particularly for that central series of chapters in which he brings together the main facts regarding all our cultivated and useful plants." Philip Wagner

+ — Weekly Book Review p20 O 17 '43 1250w

Reviewed by R. F. Logan

Yale R n s 33:374 winter '44 650w

VAN DER VEER, JUDY. A few happy ones; il. by Edward Shenton. 247p $2.50 Appleton-Century

630.1 Ranch life 43-13688

Short sketches about life on a California ranch, the animals that live there, and the author herself who understands and loves all the animals, clever or dumb.

"Miss Van der Veer's understanding of people and animals makes this book a rare treat." Marguerite Lyon

+ Book Week p6 O 3 '43 360w

Christian Science Monitor p16 N 27 '43 650w

"As Miss Van der Veer portrays it, ranch life seems pretty ducky on the whole. But she does not sidestep its less attractive features entirely. Aside from unremitting hard work, there are accidents to the live stock, droughts, floods, fires and other misadventures—all of which she takes in her stride. . . After coping with all of these, Miss Van der Veer has time to see and enjoy the beauty that lies about her; and to keep her enthusiasm and humor." E. F. Allen

+ — N Y Times p30 O 31 '43 380w

School & Society 58:223 S 18 '43 10w

"This is a wise and disarming book, to be read with pleasure and to remember kindly." E. M. B.

+ Springf'd Republican p10 N 16 '43 300w

"This is the most restful reading imaginable. . . This ranch however delightful to read about and fascinating to find, will be found only by such as are not running away from anything. This is not escape literature. For all its wholehearted enjoyment of the humors of man and beast, for all its sympathy with their limitations, this is a study in realization. It is by one who would look life, wherever found, straight in the eye."

+ Weekly Book Review p14 S 19 '43 450w

Wis Lib Bul 39:142 N '43

VAN DOREN, CARL CLINTON. Mutiny in January; the story of a crisis in the Continental army now for the first time fully told from many hitherto unknown or neglected sources, both American and British. 288p $3.50 Viking

973.349 U.S.—History—Revolution 43-51088

A detailed account of a little-known episode in the American Revolution, the mutiny of several regiments of the Pennsylvania Line in the winter of 1780-81. Index.

"Historians, rightfully suspicious of the irresponsibles in the field of historical literature, will gratefully recognize the complete reliability of this dispassionate and well-balanced production by one of America's foremost literary masters." R. C. Downes

+ Am Hist R 49:113 O '43 550w

"Had Carl Van Doren written this book as a doctoral dissertation in history it would have been a contender for the highest academic prize in the land. . . As fare for the general reader, however, the book leaves something to be desired." P. M. Angle

Book Week p5 My 16 '43 300w

Booklist 39:330 Ap 15 '43

Reviewed by C. W. Thompson

Cath World 157:329 Je '43 340w

"The whole story has a particular significance for Americans today. . . At that time . . . money was not forth-coming, and the consequences were almost disastrous. Mr. Van Doren's reconstruction of that crucial period serves as a valuable lesson to the public behind the men behind the guns." M. W. S.

+ Christian Science Monitor p16 Ap 15 '43 450w

Commonweal 38:46 Ap 30 '43 650w

Reviewed by D. F. Lucas

Library J 68:288 Ap 1 '43 140w

"Mr. Van Doren has added fresh and significant detail to the story of this 'critical period' of the revolutionary war. It cannot be said, however, that he has written an interesting or readable book. Mr. Van Doren deliberately avoids the colorful and the dramatic; his purpose is rather to bring the reader as closely as possible to the events with which he deals by extensive quotations from source material. But this method runs the risk of bogging down the reader in a mass of details and nonessentials—a fault which marred 'The Secret History of the American Revolution' and is repeated in 'Mutiny in January.' " J. C. Miller

New Repub 108:675 My 17 '43 650w

Reviewed by Carl Bridenbaugh

N Y Times p4 Ap 4 '43 1150w

"Drawing on newly discovered documents, Mr. Van Doren narrates the episode in almost too copious detail. Like his massive 'Secret History of the American Revolution,' this more modest work is full of spies and plots and complex evidence that our Revolution was also our first Civil War. It is a definite if miniature contribution to our understanding of the perils and difficulties that attend the birth of the Republic." Clifton Fadiman

New Yorker 19:87 Ap 10 '43 230w

"Mr. Van Doren has a good story to tell, and he tells it with many new facts and sustained narrative verve." Allan Nevins

+ Sat R of Lit 26:19 Ap 17 '43 1000w

"A very interesting story. Although details slow the pace at times, the author is to be congratulated upon his success in weaving a colorful and frequently exciting tale from dusty archives and unpublished correspondence. Holding the reader's attention to a book-length discussion of one rather small incident in Revolutionary history is not a simple task, but Mr Van Doren has come through." S. L. Jackson

+ Springf'd Republican p7e Ap 25 '43 900w

Time 41:104 My 3 '43 130w

Reviewed by Howard Fast
Weekly Book Review p1 Ap 4 '43 2200w
Wis Lib Bul 39:85 Je '43
Reviewed by R. H. Gabriel
Yale R n s 33:161 autumn '43 800w

VAN DOREN, MARK. Liberal education. 186p $2.50 Holt

370.1 Education—Philosophy. Colleges and universities 43-15169

"[This book] was written by Prof Van Doren at the request of the Association of American Colleges, assisted by the Carnegie Corporation of New York. The author is a popular teacher at Columbia, director of radio's 'Invitation to Learning' program, also a poet and novelist. . . Prof Van Doren's book does not cry for detailed reforms. It considers carefully and at length the fundamental nature of the schooling which should fit free men to live richly. It does pass judgment on certain modern features, such as the elective system, and it praises highly the 'great books' curriculum of St John's college." (Springf'd Republican) Selected bibliography. Index.

Reviewed by Edward Weeks
Atlantic 173:124 Ja '44 120w
Reviewed by Walter Hendricks
Book Week p4 D 26 '43 1000w
Booklist 40:108 D 1 '43

"The style throughout is a delight—rich in ideas so full of unfoldment, of such beauty of form and so concisely and freshly stated that the reader is tempted to hoard sentences. If there be fault in the presentation it is due to the regrettable state of affairs in which we find ourselves—namely, the wide gulf between higher education and the average citizen publicly schooled. Those, therefore, who will care most for this volume are those who already are devotees of 'liberal education' and need no convincing. Its contribution to a much-needed discussion is a distinguished one, but its atmosphere is that of the intellectual mountain top." M. J. T.
+ Christian Science Monitor p16 N 18 '43 550w

"Not superficially stimulating nor popularly provocative but a book requiring slow and thoughtful reading." M. C. Manley
+ Library J 68:845 O 15 '43 70w
Reviewed by G. S. Counts
Nation 157:706 D 11 '43 1200w

"Into a field of discussion too often marked by careless and even unscrupulous misrepresentation, Mark Van Doren has brought clearness of insight and generosity of spirit. His meditations upon liberal education are, in effect, an interpretation of the theory and practice of teaching as it now goes on in St. John's College. And so suitable is his style to his theme that he has done more than explain what liberal education is. He has also exemplified it." Alexander Meiklejohn
+ New Repub 110:27 Ja 3 '44 1200w

"Whatever else may be said of this book, no rational man will call it apologetic. On the contrary, it demands apologies, and in no uncertain terms, from those schoolmasters who have departed from the ancient faith to run after strange gods. Its specifications are particularized, its assertions are uncompromising, its orders are flat. There is no fuzziness, no vagueness about it. It may be wrong, but it is clear." G. W. Johnson
+ N Y Times p4 N 28 '43 900w

"If Mark Van Doren's 'Liberal Education' is not widely read, that is because Mr. Van Doren's judgment of us is correct—that we have not yet learned what a true liberal education must necessarily be and are too slovenly and lackadaisical to find out. A teacher friend of mine, who read the book in proof form, tells me that it should put an end to the discussion for a hundred years. He means that there need be no more books about education, not that you and I need not talk about it. I think he is right." Clifton Fadiman
+ New Yorker 19:104 N 6 '43 800w
Reviewed by James Marshall
Sat R of Lit 26:4 N 27 '43 2500w
Reviewed by Marshall Bragdon
+ Springf'd Republican p6 N 6 '43 900w

"Mark Van Doren's book on education was commissioned by the Association of American Colleges and is obviously a timely book, but it shows no signs of being hastily prepared in answer to a sudden demand. Neither does it read like the product of a specialist in education. It is close-textured, sinewy, and full of marrow. It is all heartwood, well seasoned." G. F. Whicher
+ Weekly Book Review p1 N 21 '43 1700w
Wis Lib Bul 40:6 Ja '44

VAN DOREN, MARK, ed. Night of the summer solstice, and other stories of the Russian war. 245p $2.50 Holt

43-13578

Twenty stories of the Russian war by seven Russian writers, only one of whom is known in this country. In his preface Mark Van Doren says "I know nothing about these stories beyond the fact that they arrived one day in a parcel from Russia with a letter which transmitted but did not describe them. The names of their authors are only names to me; and though they came in English, the identity of the translators was not disclosed. Neither have I any way of knowing whether the stories are true in all the possible meanings of that word when we apply it to narrative. All I am sure of is that they immediately absorbed my attention, as I hope they will absorb that of other Americans to whom war on the eastern front remains an unimaginable thing, horrible and heroic past their present powers to assess it."

Atlantic 172:131 N '43 120w
Reviewed by Louis Zara
Book Week p6 O 17 '43 380w
Booklist 40:48 O 1 '43
Christian Science Monitor p13 O 2 '43 700w

"Enthusiastically recommended." J. E. Cross
+ Library J 68:726 S 15 '43 110w

"These stories do record the misery and courage of the Russian struggle, but, at least aesthetically, they belong in the category of Soviet poster art rather than in the great tradition of the Russian short story." Diana Trilling
Nation 157:415 O 9 '43 150w

"In this excellent introduction Mark Van Doren calls attention to the saving grace of humor in these tales. It is a humor, however, that never touches the enemy. Humor has been an unfailing trait in the long tradition of Russian war literature. But more than this, there has always been evinced a respect for the enemy if he deserved it, and often a gallantry and generosity toward him. (Take, for example, Tolstoy's 'War and Peace,' or his 'Sevastopol Tales.') None of this exists in the stories under review. On the contrary, it is a significant fact that the only positive feeling toward the Germans is one of undying hatred." E. J. Simmons
+ N Y Times p5 S 26 '43 800w
New Yorker 19:82 S 25 '43 50w
Reviewed by Bess Jones
Sat R of Lit 26:51 O 16 '43 400w

"The great virtue of this splendid collection of Russian war stories is that they enable an American reader to understand something of the heights and depths of Russian heroism and German brutality in the titanic struggle now entering its third year." R. J. Conklin
+ Springf'd Republican p7e O 3 '43 600w

"If you want to find an American equivalent, these stories are on about the same level as those published in our slick-cover magazines. The happy ending is replaced by the heroic one, which after a time begins to be just as unreal. Even the villainous kulak in the story, 'Death on a Collective Farm,' hangs himself in remorse. The book will be chiefly valuable to American readers, as Mr. Van Doren points out, by affording them a glimpse of the human reality behind the daily headlines of war in Russia." Milton Hindus
Weekly Book Review p10 S 26 '43 700w

VAN DOREN, MARK. Tilda. 247p $2.50 Holt
43-4730

Tilda Wyatt, the heroine of this love story, is a New Yorker, a girl who works in a downtown office, travels by subway, and keeps house for her father and brothers. In an unconventional way she meets John Morgan Hood, a Westerner, who has come to New York to try to adjust himself after the loss of his wife. Tilda is able to give him the kind of understanding and sympathy he needs, and when he goes back to the army camp they know there will be a future for them.

"If you want a novel violent with the dynamics of these times, terse with the movement of reality, there are better books. But if you want a tone poem of pure imagination that never lapses into escapism, do not overlook this latest novel by Mark Van Doren." Ralph Peterson
+ Book Week p5 Mr 14 '43 750w

Reviewed by Dorsey McCarthy
Book Week p7 Je 27 '43 50w

"Jane Austen might have done something with this situation, but Mr. Van Doren is merely commenting on his characters, even when he finally brings them together, and although there is a certain charm in the characterization it is unreal in the extreme, and as fantasy is not imaginative enough to hold the attention. Without some inner movement the story falls on stony ground." N. E. Monroe
+ — Cath World 157:218 My '43 200w

"This is a very simple love story, but it started off badly for me when I took an aversion to the hero. . . One grows very fond of Tilda, but I think she is making a mistake this time in changing her name from Wyatt!" E. V. R. Wyatt
Commonweal 37:572 Mr 26 '43 240w

"A warm, simple, tender love story. The characters are completely natural, so natural that they seem capable of walking out of the pages of the book and continuing where their author left off. And the nicest thing about it is the way the reader becomes gradually involved in the unfolding of the plot."
+ Nation 156:677 My 8 '43 180w

"Tilda is in the best escape tradition of wartime romance—nothing swashbuckling or obvious, but just enough references to ration coupons to remind you—the tradition which the fox recommends of running with the hounds to find escape." Isaac Rosenfeld
New Repub 108:483 Ap 12 '43 180w

"Mr. Van Doren brings tenderness, perception and humor to his portrait of Tilda, but his art isn't quite great enough to confirm his design." Rose Feld
+ — N Y Times p23 Mr 7 '43 700w

"It's a romance laid against a background of present-day New York. Its people . . . are drawn with perfect confidence, as if the author were quite unaware that they are hardly to be met with in life. The unexpectedness of Mr. Van Doren's characters is reflected in his style. Each of his sentences has a slight unbalance, an irregularity all its own. On this reader the total effect is charming." Clifton Fadiman
+ New Yorker 19:65 F 27 '43 130w

Springf'd Republican p7e Mr 7 '43 350w

" 'Tilda' is an effective love story, combining a realistic background and a highly romantic situation." Rosemary Benet
+ Weekly Book Review p3 F 28 '43 750w

Wis Lib Bul 39:74 My '43

VAN DRUTEN, JOHN, and MORRIS, LLOYD R. Damask cheek; a comedy in three acts. 214p il $2 Random house

822 43-51055

Comedy of manners, the scene of which is New York, about 1909. A plain but charming English girl comes to visit her New York cousins, finds that all is not well with her cousin Jimmy's engagement, and takes a hand at smoothing things over.

Booklist 39:316 Ap 1 '43

Cleveland Open Shelf p7 Ap '43

"The manners and customs of the period are well depicted, the character study is convincing. The play may do well in the amateur theater. But in this particular age it does seem pretty diluted." W. P. Eaton
+ — Weekly Book Review p21 F 14 '43 120w

VAN DUSEN, HENRY PITNEY. What is the church doing? 194p $1; pa 60c Friendship press; $1 Scribner [5s Student]

270.8 Church history—Modern period. Christianity. Church unity 43-4204

"The author's main purpose is to show that the church is still the most powerful institution in the world so far as concerns the rallying of the spirit of man to meet the most threatening and testing emergencies. To prove this proposition it is not necessary to exhibit all that the church is doing. It is sufficient to tell what it is doing in three fields. These establish the three main topics: first, the heroic fidelity and resistance of the churches in nazi-occupied lands; second, the strength and continuing activity of the 'younger churches' in countries which have been mission fields during the past century or less and in which Christianity is still a minority religion; third, the progress and promise of recent and current movements toward such unification of the churches as will express the essential unity of the church and the world-wide scope of its fellowship and function." Christian Century

Booklist 39:347 My 1 '43

"Such a book as this has two distinct values, and perhaps more. The conciseness of its presentation of a large amount of live material, all of it significant and much of it heroic and in the best sense thrilling, should appeal to readers who have been accustomed to view the church from the outside with a critical eye and with not enough interest to move them to take the trouble to find out what it is all about. And its completeness within the limits which the author has set for himself will make it useful for study groups in churches." W. E. Garrison
+ Christian Century 60:329 Mr 17 '43 950w

Reviewed by W. L. Caswell
Churchman 157:16 My 1 '43 480w

Reviewed by G. W. Davis
Crozer Q 20:259 Jl '43 650w

"This is a small book, but it is packed with information and inspiration for those who are interested in the power of the Christian front." Morris Burroughs
+ Springf'd Republican p6 My 24 '43 330w

Reviewed by F. E. Johnson
Survey G 32:406 O '43 330w

Times [London] Lit Sup p275 Je 5 '43 210w

Reviewed by J. H. Holmes
Weekly Book Review p15 Jl 25 '43 200w

Wis Lib Bul 39:73 My '43

VAN ESS, JOHN. Meet the Arab. 229p il maps $3 Day

915.3 Arabs. East (Near East)—Social life and customs 43-15012

The author is an American missionary who has spent the last forty years in Arabia. His book is informally written, full of anecdotes, and deals with the manners and customs, the national characteristics, the politics and the international status of the Arabs. Bibliography. Index.

Booklist 40:92 N 15 '43

Christian Century 60:1473 D 15 '43 500w

"Readable and popular, it will find a larger audience than the travel accounts of Bertram Thomas and Philby or the recent abridgment of Hitti's 'History.' " J. C. Shipman
+ Library J 68:845 O 15 '43 80w

New Repub 109:893 D 20 '43 120w

"Though the result is a rather leisurely and informal approach to the subject, the book contains a surprising amount of first-hand information which can be absorbed with pleasure." G. N. Shuster

+ N Y Times p3 N 21 '43 500w

"For anyone who may be tired of the average war reporter's discovery that Arabs are dirty, clamor for baksheesh, and sell eggs at gyp prices, Mr. Van Ess's book may be recommended as a lively, level-headed refresher." Frederick Gruin

+ Sat R of Lit 26:12 N 6 '43 750w

"Books and more books about the many races and nations with whom we are today in such intimate contact! Here is one of the most challenging, authentic, and stimulating yet to appear. Written with sanity, judgment, and humor, by a Christian educator who has known all classes of Arabs for forty years, it is a remarkably penetrating estimate of the past, present, and problematical future of thousands of people of the Near East; the Arabs of Asia."

+ Scientific Bk Club R 14:4 N '43 390w

Reviewed by Jacques Ducharme

Springf'd Republican p10 N 23 '43 500w

"His book is written with a careless, not to say slipshod, ease that is at first a little disconcerting. The rather slangy jocosity makes the reader suspect that the basis of the narrative may have been popular lectures delivered since the author's return to this country. But before long this manner becomes disarming and even pleasant, and one realizes that there is a very serious intent beneath the surface." S. C. Chew

+ — Weekly Book Review p20 N 21 '43 1050w

VAN LOON, HENDRIK WILLEM. The life and times of Simon Bolivar. 146p il maps $2.50 Dodd

B or 92 Bolívar, Simón—Juvenile literature 43-16726

"This is the story of Simon Bolivar, liberator of Venezuela, the man who first of all had the vision of a United States for the whole of the American continent." (Subtitle) For junior and senior high schools.

Reviewed by P. A. Whitney

Book Week p7 D 26 '43 340w

Booklist 40:168 Ja 1 '44

Cath World 158:316 D '43 50w

Reviewed by M. K. McElderry

Christian Science Monitor p10 N 18 '43 50w

"As usual Mr. Van Loon illustrates his own book charmingly. He pays a fine tribute to the work of the Church with the Indians of South America. An excellent book, although its last sentence slightly troubles my feeling of the fitness of things."

+ — Commonweal 39:121 N 19 '43 40w

Reviewed by A. M. Jordan

Horn Bk 20:43 Ja '44 70w

"The author-artist tells his story well in both pictures and words. Recommended for boys and girls ten to sixteen." Elizabeth Burr

+ Library J 69:34 Ja 1 '44 60w

"Written in Mr. van Loon's usual lively, informal style, with emphasis, wit and charm, and illustrated by spirited line drawings, 'The Life and Times of Simon Bolivar' is a readable, pleasing and valuable addition to biographies for boys and girls." A. T. Eaton

+ N Y Times p10 Ja 2 '44 240w

"Well-read children probably know by this time that a book by Hendrik van Loon is about a lot more than the title lets on. The author, in his easy, offhand style, gives a clear and detailed picture of the first Spaniards in South America before he moves on to the eighteenth century and, finally, to Bolivar himself. A delightful book, with spirited illustrations in color."

+ New Yorker 19:136 D 4 '43 60w

"Mr. van Loon presents his hero with appropriate explanations of the times in which he lived. He has written a thoroughly interesting little book which makes up in readability for what it lacks in accuracy. The illustrations by the author are up to his usual high standard." C. A. Hutchinson

+ — Sat R of Lit 26:7 D 25 '43 270w

"Van Loon deplores the lack of vision which has marked our dealings with our South American neighbors. Now he has done something very worthwhile about it. His sincere interest is so contagious it sends us on from this colorful and informal study to more of its kind. The drawings are in the now-familiar Van Loon manner." M. E. S.

+ Springf'd Republican p7e D 5 '43 170w

"More books must have been written for our children about Bolivar than about many of our own Presidents, and I'd rather own this one than any other. Exciting as his life was, his times were even more so; sympathetically as Van Loon treats the life, he throws himself and propels a reader into the storm of those times. Best of all, he begins far enough before Bolivar's birth. . . The story fills forty fascinating pages before it says 'that good readers, was the state of affairs when our hero, Simon Bolivar, appeared upon the stage.' " M. L. Becker

+ Weekly Book Review p6 N 14 '43 400w

VAN LOON, HENDRIK WILLEM. Thomas Jefferson. 106p il $2.50 Dodd

B or 92 Jefferson, Thomas 43-5987

An unconventional biography of Thomas Jefferson about which the author says he has "promised that I would tell you enough about his life to make you understand why many of us regard him as the greatest American of all time."

"Written in this author's well-known gently paternal style, the brief volume gives us a warm intimate portrait of 'a great American born in a remote wilderness who lived to found the first nation in history to guarantee all men the right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.' " Edith Roberts

+ Book Week p5 Ap 18 '43 650w

Booklist 39:391 Je 1 '43

Reviewed by A. C. Moore

Horn Bk 19:166 My '43 60w

"Mr. van Loon has a particularly congenial subject in Thomas Jefferson. He regards the third President as 'the greatest American of all time and books.' He ascribes to Jefferson the gift of an American way of thinking. He calls him a master of the art of living. He stresses the years of unflagging effort to proclaim the equality of man. There is another aspect of Jefferson's many-sided nature which Mr. van Loon does not bring out, the intimate and affectionate side he showed to his daughters, surely an important factor in his character. Arresting line drawings help to etch certain symbols of Jefferson's great services on the mind of the reader." A. M. Jordan

+ — Horn Bk 19:178 My '43 80w

"Recommended for boys and girls ten to sixteen." Emily Hutson

+ Library J 68:531 Je 15 '43 100w

"Mr. Van Loon is quite frankly a hero-worshiper. That, in fact, is why he wrote this book, the first of a series to provide us with 'nice comfortable, decent human heroes, with nobility in their souls.' Since youth naturally turns to hero-worship it probably won't mind if this portrait is all light and no shade, and those who must learn today to guard our democracy more zealously than ever before may learn from this the animating spirit of one of its chiefest forgers." E. L. Buell

+ N Y Times p11 Ap 18 '43 450w

"There have been other lives of Jefferson for young people which were more detailed and probably more accurate, but none which, in such short space, so vividly places Jefferson in relation to his own time and to ours."

+ New Yorker 19:70 My 29 '43 70w

Reviewed by Dumas Malone

Sat R of Lit 26:4 Ap 17 '43 900w

Reviewed by A. M. Jordan

Sat R of Lit 26:27 My 15 '43 30w

VAN LOON, H. W.—Continued

Sat R of Lit 26:60 O 16 '43 360w

Springf'd Republican p7e Je 27 '43 140w

Time 41:102 My 3 '43 50w

"Planted on Jefferson's birthday, Van Loon's book about him will strike deep into American literature, spreading its roots beyond the little plot of children's books in which it is set. This is no stone, no statue; it is a token tree, full of sap and life." M. L. Becker

+ Weekly Book Review p8 Ap 11 '43 850w

Wis Lib Bul 39:127 O '43

VAN MALE, JOHN. Resources of Pacific Northwest libraries; a survey of facilities for study and research. 404p $4 Pacific Northwest lib. assn, Seattle

027.0795 Libraries—Northwest, Pacific 43-14518

"The third volume in the series of regional surveys sponsored by the A.L.A. Board on resources is similar to Downs, Resources of southern libraries and Resources of New York City libraries. It does for British Columbia, Idaho, Montana, Oregon, and Washington what the previous surveys did for the other regions. The libraries to be surveyed were selected by the P.N.L.A. Committee on bibliography. In general only the more characteristic holdings of the libraries are mentioned; the arrangement is by subject rather than by libraries. Suggestions for development of library resources and for regional cooperation in the future are outlined at the end." (Booklist) Index.

Booklist 40:87 N 15 '43

"In the nature of a minor criticism, a bibliography of additional sources of information would have been useful. A few references are scattered through the volume in footnotes, and it is not probable that an extensive bibliography could have been compiled but it would have been possible to list in an appendix a number of published books, periodicals, reports, articles, and documents. Any shortcomings in this respect, however, are amply compensated for by the exhaustive index, running to fifty-five pages and a model of completeness. Without such an index the gold in any survey is likely to remain buried. . . In the guide which [the author] has now furnished them the librarians of the Pacific Northwest are given a clear view of their present status and a base upon which to chart their future growth." R. B. Downs

+ — Library J 68:948 N 15 '43 1300w

School & Society 58:240 S 25 '43 50w

VAN MELLE, P. J. Shrubs and trees for the small place; hardy deciduous materials for the home grounds. 298p $2.50 Scribner

635.976 Shrubs. Trees 43-4889

"A comparative evaluation of a wide range of hardy, ornamental, deciduous shrubs and small trees from the viewpoint of their usefulness in small home landscapes." (p 3.) Contains a score chart, printed on green paper, in which 363 shrubs and trees are summed up in concrete form. Includes a brief glossary of descriptive terms, shade trees for the small place, pruning, etc. Botanical names are used. Index.

"The owner of a new home will find this book most valuable in planning landscape improvements." J. H. Burdette

+ Book Week p5 Mr 28 '43 180w

Booklist 39:350 My 1 '43

Bookmark 4:10 Mr '43

VAN PAASSEN, PIERRE. Forgotten ally. 343p $2.75 Dial press

940.5315296 World war, 1939—Jews. Palestine—Jewish-Arab question 43-51335

The "forgotten ally" is the Palestinian Jew. It is the author's thesis that this ally has been not only forgotten but also misjudged and betrayed by the leaders of the United Nations and in particular by the British.

Reviewed by Edward Weeks

Atlantic 173:124 Ja '44 210w

Reviewed by Sterling North

Book Week p2 O 31 '43 500w

Booklist 40:143 D 15 '43

"'The Forgotten Ally' must be 1943's angriest book. . . The author makes no secret of the fact that, though he is not a Jew, but a member of the Dutch Reformed Church, he appears here in the role of a prosecutor pressing to prove the counts of a sensational indictment. Readers will be aroused by his book and its style, some to wrath that matches his own, others to hot-headed disagreement, with what he has to say. But both sides need to read 'The Forgotten Ally.' Its subject is one that challenges all thoughtful people and the facts that it discloses for the first time deserve hearing." Ray McPartlin

Boston Globe p17 O 27 '43 300w

"The critical reader may occasionally wish that van Paassen were a little less passionate and more discriminating. Yet the complacency of the non-Jewish world toward the tragic problem which the Jews face is so great that someone must speak with a loud voice. Sometimes his passion betrays him into an absurdity." Reinhold Niebuhr

Nation 157:766 D 25 '43 800w

New Repub 109:926 D 27 '43 210w

"No one can read Mr. Van Paassen and doubt his disinterested zeal to help the poor and heavy laden. One can read him and gravely doubt, as the present reviewer does, that his book will advance the cause of tolerance in this world one bit." R. L. Duffus

N Y Times p5 O 24 '43 900w

"Mr. Van Paassen's championship of 'justice' is right-hearted. His fondness for word-drunk passages often detracts from the effectiveness of his message. He has a careless way with detail: for example, he advances the battles of Stalingrad and Alamein to 1943, and he gives General Sir Bernard Montgomery command at Bir Hacheim, where General Neil Ritchie was in charge. But the finger he points at British policy needs to be given attention." Frederick Gruin

+ — Sat R of Lit 26:12 N 6 '43 850w

"This extremely well written book by the much traveled and imaginative Mr. Van Paassen is really a disturbing accusation. . . To make his case, Mr. Van Paassen, with the flourishes of Luther tacking his immortal thesis to the church door at Wittenberg, makes a number of bold, challenging statements." E. A. Mowrer

+ Weekly Book Review p6 O 31 '43 1000w

VANSITTART, ROBERT GILBERT VANSITTART, 1st baron. Lessons of my life. 281p $3 Knopf [9s 6d Hutchinson]

914.3 National characteristics. German. Germany—Foreign relations. World war, 1939—Peace 43-14804

In this book by the former English Permanent under-secretary of state for foreign affairs, the author enlarges upon his belief that present-day Germans are even worse than their ancestors back to the sixteenth century. He maintains that in order to safeguard the four freedoms, we must insist on the defeat, demilitarization, occupation, and reeducation of Germany.

Reviewed by Edward Weeks

Atlantic 173:122 Ja '44 180w

Reviewed by Sterling North

Book Week p2 N 7 '43 700w

Booklist 40:164 Ja 1 '44

Cath World 158:413 Ja '44 130w

Commonweal 39:40 O 29 '43 70w

Reviewed by Sigrid Undset

Commonweal 39:425 F 11 '44 1350w

"Elegant style, profuse quotations (source often omitted) add to value of book, while gross exaggerations and one-sided views diminish it. Interesting but not quite convincing. Recommended for larger public libraries." H. H. Bernt

Library J 68:845 O 15 '43 70w

Reviewed by Reinhold Niebuhr

Nation 158:20 Ja 1 '44 1200w

"I can't say that 'Lessons of My Life' is easy to read, since it hops from place to place without telling a connected story. It is written, moreover, in that archly learned style often adopted by upper-class Englishmen, with each serious statement followed by a quotation from 'Alice in Wonderland'—or preferably by two quotations, humorously garbled in an attempt to assure the audience that, whatever happens, Lord Vansittart and his peers will never lose their offhand manner. . . But even when he lets his argument get lost in a parade of learning, it is fundamentally easy to follow." Malcolm Cowley

New Repub 109:586 O 25 '43 1800w

Reviewed by Byron Dexter

N Y Times p1 N 7 '43 1550w

"I am no great admirer of Lord Vansittart, who was for many years the éminence grise of British foreign affairs. I do not believe in his professions of democracy and it is my sincere hope that men like himself, however brilliant their talents, will not govern England after the war. That much made clear, may I go on to say that to my mind he is the only first-flight statesman in the ranks of the United Nations who has consistently talked sense about the Germans and who is consistently talking sense now?" Clifton Fadiman

New Yorker 19:93 O 23 '43 340w

Reviewed by W. H. Kilpatrick

Sat R of Lit 26:9 N 27 '43 900w

Reviewed by Alzada Comstock

Springf'd Republican p7e O 24 '43 900w

"Nothing is mitigated, nothing withdrawn. On the purely personal issue it has to be said that he has returned as much as—and perhaps rather more than—he has received. On the fundamental issue—whether there are two Germanys, the one better than the worse—his critics have less cause than ever for misunderstanding or misrepresenting him."

+ Times [London] Lit Sup p206 My 1 '43 850w

Reviewed by W. R. Deuel

Weekly Book Review p2 N 14 '43 1200w

VAN STOCKUM, HILDA. Gerrit and the organ; il. by [the author]. 178p $2.50 Viking

43-15954

Adventures of a little Dutch boy living in Amsterdam in the 1890's. The organ of the title is a street organ which brought a great change into the life of little Gerrit.

Booklist 40:118 D 1 '43

Cath World 158:316 D '43 50w

Reviewed by A. M. Jordan

Horn Bk 20:38 Ja '44 70w

"One of the author's most appealing stories." J. E. Wooster

+ Library J 69:34 Ja 1 '44 70w

"Seven-year-old Gerrit's adventures . . . while not particularly exciting, have the satisfying quality of credible experiences, affectionately and deftly told. The black-and-white illustrations, by the author, although not technically excellent, have a nice feeling for the homely Dutch background."

+ New Yorker 19:126 D 4 '43 70w

"The children are completely alive, the little boys especially convincing; the incidents are such as eight-year-olds find fascinating, and the pictures in black and white—one in full color—are so exactly like Amsterdam as it was when first I saw it, that they brought back the strong, fair city with a rush of mixed emotions. The whole book is proudly, lovingly Dutch." M. L. Becker

+ Weekly Book Review p5 D 26 '43 280w

VAN VALKENBURG, SAMUEL, ed. America at war; a geographical analysis; foreword by Wallace W. Atwood. 296p il maps $2.50 Prentice-Hall

940.5373 World war, 1939—U.S. Military geography 42-24536

Six geographers consider America's most critical war problems—how our coastline can be defended; how climate determines the timing of campaigns; etc. Contents: The quality of the people, by Ellsworth Huntington; Our land and its coastline, by W. W. Atwood, Jr.; Terrain and war strategy, by Samuel Van Valkenburg; The climatic factor, by Samuel Van Valkenburg; Foods for defense, by W. E. Ekblaw; Industrial capacity and supplies of raw materials, by C. F. Jones; United States Atlantic defense, by E. B. Shaw; United States Pacific defense, by E. B. Shaw; America and peace, by Samuel Van Valkenburg. Index.

Reviewed by Nicholas Helburn

Am Pol Sci R 37:336 Ap '43 550w

"A geographical analysis of America at war is timely, and readers will welcome such an analysis coming from this array of talent. However, there arises an uncomfortable suspicion that the authors have become infected with the evil of geopolitics. . . But giving geography its due and not overemphasized place, we have here a volume that is worthy of study by students of geography and strategy. The writing is uneven, as might be expected when so many writers contribute. There are some minor faults and omissions, the correction of which might have added to the value of the study." Bernhard Ostrolenk

+ — Ann Am Acad 226:163 Mr '43 450w

"One of its chief virtues is that, devoid of technicalities, it can be easily read and understood by the layman. And it furnishes a great deal of valuable information of the sort the armchair strategists seek. . . Much of the book is straightforwardly factual. This is not a criticism, for facts simply put are what we need. If some parts of the book seem so elementary as to lose intellectual flavor, other parts are highly original and philosophical. . . The book has many maps and pictures of topographic models and an index. It should be widely read and will be. Geographers with their great knowledge of world conditions have been too long silent. This contribution is a welcome one." Roderick Peattie

+ — Books p26 N 29 '42 800w

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert

Foreign Affairs 21:10 Jl '43 50w

Pratt p23 F '43

VAN VLECK, GEORGE W. The panic of 1857; an analytical study. 126p $1.50 Columbia univ. press [7s 6d Oxford]

338.56 Panics. U.S.—Economic conditions 43-2576

"This short study is primarily designed to provide an explanation, rather than a detailed factual history, of the panic of 1857. In this explanation especial stress is placed upon European conditions, which the author feels have been too commonly overlooked as a factor in this crisis." (J Pol Econ) Bibliography. Index.

"Mr. Van Vleck's interesting and well-written study on the Panic of 1857 constitutes by all odds the broadest treatment yet written on the subject. Indeed it is so all-embracing as to work against adequate or convincing development of the points mentioned." E. F. Humphrey

+ — Am Hist R 49:157 O '43 400w

Reviewed by C. W. Wright

J Pol Econ 51:277 Je '43 600w

VASA, MRS MARY (ALSOP) STURE-. See Sture-Vasa, M. A.

VAUGHAN, HILDA (MRS CHARLES MORGAN). Pardon and peace. 272p $2.50 Duell
43-51015

In the summer of 1914 Mark Osbourne and Flora Treowain met—only twice—and fell in love. Mark did not return to the lovely valley in Wales for six long years and then he was a cripple and Flora had married another man. The end of that summer brought the climax of their unhappy love story and twenty years passed before they found peace and happiness in the days of a second great war.

Booklist 39:253 F 15 '43

"The book would be worth reading if only for its minor figures and its glimpses of the Welsh character—the old squire with his bluntness of speech, his pride of family, his gruff dignity; the cheery old housekeeper who cooked Mark's meals and sweetened his tea with philosophy; the tenant farmers with their rustic wit and natural piety. And there is the countryside itself, which Miss Vaughan describes with a feeling that is a part of her heritage." Lisle Bell

+ Books p8 F 7 '43 550w

Reviewed by Dorothy Karr

Churchman 157:17 Jl 1 '43 180w

"A story distinguished for its poetic expression and sensitive exploration of the human heart." Rose Feld

+ N Y Times p6 Ja 31 '43 1100w

New Yorker 18:61 Ja 30 '43 90w

"There is a vitality in Miss Vaughan's country people which should make her a favorite author with those who love the books of Sheila Kaye-Smith." Richard Ellis

+ Sat R of Lit 26:13 F 20 '43 450w

VENEMANN, HENRY GERALD. Refrigeration theory and applications; a text book on fundamental principles involved in the process of refrigeration with applications to assist the student and engineer to design and operate plants. 264p il $3.50 Nickerson & Collins

621.56 Refrigeration and refrigerating machinery 42-15232

"Twenty lessons, consisting of examples, problems, and solutions, and prepared by the Assistant Professor of Refrigeration, Purdue University." N Y New Tech Bks

Library J 67:1063 D 1 '42 20w

N Y New Tech Bks 27:60 O '42

VENNING, MICHAEL, pseud. See Rice, C.

VERISSIMO, ERICO. Crossroads; tr. by L. C. Kaplan. 373p $2.75 Macmillan 43-1549

"Verissimo is the novelist of Porto Alegre (population 320,000), seaport and provincial capital of southeastern Brazil, the locale of all of his novels. . . The novel is an account of five successive days, Saturday to Wednesday, in the lives of the inhabitants and their visitors in a few houses in a little suburban street in Porto Alegre. All the houses are visible from the window of Professor Clarimundo. With the technique made familiar by the motion-picture camera we go from the remote focal point of Professor Clarimundo's window to a series of close-ups, interiors and flashbacks, to see how the events of these five days appear to the various personages concerned." Books

Booklist 39:275 Mr 1 '43

"Verissimo is an unashamed romantic with a sensuous, warm approach to the sufferings, passions, antipathies, longings of the people he portrays. If he has borrowed from Huxley the external form of the crossed, tangential lives and a certain note of philosophical irony, he is so much less the essayist and so much more the novelist than the author of 'Point Counterpoint' that all the little stories woven into his pseudo-contrapuntal pattern come to life as experiences rather than ideas, while the philosophical commentary dissipates into little ironical sallies and satirical contrasts." B. D. Wolfe

+ Books p2 Ja 31 '43 1200w

"Clever technique, but most of characters are types rather than personalities. Recommended for adults interested in light psychological literature." H. G. Kelley

Library J 67:952 N 1 '42 70w

"Senhor Verissimo's publishers call him the Theodore Dreiser of Brazil. If we may judge by his translator's able treatment of 'Crossroads' (his first book to be published in the United States) the comparison is by no means unjustified. Both writers have the same superabundant vitality, the same blunt approach; both pour out their story like over-charged dynamos, and let the pieces fall where they may. But the Brazilian novelist (unlike our own literary mastodon) has chosen the objective method deliberately." William Du Bois

+ N Y Times p6 Ja 24 '43 1000w

"Mr. Verissimo's book ends with a little episode wherein the absent-minded professor starts to write the preface to his masterpiece, unaware that the coffee on his stove is boiling over. 'Life,' writes the professor, 'consists of a series of monotonous and not unforeseen events, repeated ad infinitum.' So, alas, does Mr. Verissimo's book." Katherine Rodell

Sat R of Lit 26:32 Ap 10 '43 450w

Springf'd Republican p7e Ja 31 '43 280w

VERNADSKII, GEORGII VLADIMIROVICH. Ancient Russia. (History of Russia, v 1) 425p maps $5 Yale univ. press

947 Russia—History (A43-1903)

"The present volume is the first in a series of ten which will offer the most comprehensive history of Russia in the English language. This history is being prepared by George Vernadsky of Yale University, who will cover the first six volumes from earliest times to the end of the eighteenth century, and by Michael Karpovich of Harvard University, who will bring the history up to our own day. Each volume is to be published as it is ready." (N Y Times) List of abbreviations; chronology and indexes.

"The torrential rush of erudition flows so evenly yet forcefully from the learned author that it would be rash for a reviewer to criticize either the contents of the volume or its organizational makeup. My criticism, in the first instance, is that he is almost too ready to rely uncritically upon the finds of Soviet archaeologists, and specially on Soviet interpretation of these finds. Not until these have been examined by Western scholars can one be certain of their genuineness, or of their interpretation. As to the organization of the material, the book would have gained immensely in usefulness and would have lost nothing in value if many of the details of the text were brought down to the footnotes." A. O. Sarkissian

+ — Ann Am Acad 230:218 N '43 400w

+ Christian Century 60:846 Jl 21 '43 280w

Manchester Guardian p3 N 3 '43 180w

Reviewed by Avrahm Yarmolinsky

Nation 157:674 D 4 '43 480w

"Neither time nor effort has been spared in ferreting out of the panoramic vastness of history those strands which meant the economic, cultural and political development of Russia. The volume makes use of not only archaeological but also epigraphic, numismatic and sigillographic sources, Greek and Latin, Arabic and Persian, Armenian and Georgian, Chinese, Hebrew, Syriac, Slavic, Anglo-Saxon and Norse material, not to forget the many comparatively young French, English, German and American studies. Such a volume is bound to be flowing over with data, but this statement does not infer a usual fault: scholastic pedantry. Here is a serious work intended for study. But it is gratifying to note that it also reads well—like the story of an adventurous detective who traces the very arteries of a historical mummy." B. E. Nelson

+ N Y Times p36 S 26 '43 900w

"Despite the remoteness of the centuries treated, the reader will find insights of every kind into the Russia of our day. And all who are interested in Russian history will recognize in 'Ancient Russia' a notable achievement of scholarship and interpretation." B. D. Wolfe

+ Weekly Book Review p16 S 12 '43 1200w

VERNAM, ROGER. Drawing people for fun; il. by the author. 206p $3.50 Harper

743.4 Figure drawing 43-3646

An informal, profusely illustrated textbook on figure drawing. The author's thesis is that the would be artist should learn from children, set aside inhibitions, and draw "for fun."

Booklist 39:384 Je 1 '43

Wis Lib Bul 39:106 Jl '43

VERNIER, PHILIPPE. With the Master; tr. by Edith Lovejoy Pierce; foreword by Rufus Jones. 80p 75c Fellowship publications [3s 6d Lutterworth press]

242 Devotional exercises 43-17189

"The author of these short devotional studies is a Frenchman who was born in Madagascar and, after graduating at Paris, began his work in Lille as a Christian minister. He served a term of imprisonment before the war for refusing to do his military service, was more or less banished to Morocco, but was allowed to return to his ministerial work in France in 1936, and is still working in occupied Belgium." Times [London] Lit Sup

"Here are the findings of an 'authentic.' Philippe Vernier, possibly as much as any young man living, has the right to speak of Christ and what devotion to him means. . . Mrs. Pierce's translation is absolutely faithful to the original—so perfect that it is difficult to realize that English is not Vernier's language." A. A. Hunter

+ Christian Century 60:544 My 5 '43 450w

Churchman 157:18 N 1 '43 20w

Times [London] Lit Sup p107 F 27 '43 100w

VERTICAL file service catalog; annotated subject catalog of pamphlets. Monthly, except August; annual cumulation. Service basis. 1932- H. W. Wilson co., N.Y.

016.04 Pamphlets—Bibliography

"This reference service aims not only to supply the most complete annotated subject index of pamphlet material, but also, to quote the publishers, 'to serve as a buying list, as a source of pamphlets on current topics, as a subject guide, and as a reference aid'. . . Between 500 and 600 titles, comprising pamphlets, booklets, leaflets, and mimeographed material, are listed each month. The arrangement of entries is alphabetical under subject, with an excellent title index, which includes subject headings in parentheses, at the back of each issue. Complete information concerning the pamphlets includes title, author, paging, publishers, publication date, price, and a brief descriptive annotation." Subscription Bks Bul

"The subject headings follow the standard form in use by the Readers' Guide to Periodical literature, familiar to all libraries, and may well serve as a guide in assigning headings in the pamphlet file. No cross references are to be found except in the cumulated volumes; however, in these issues they are numerous and very carefully worked out. The descriptive annotations are brief and unbiased, serving as excellent guides in selecting material of current interest. The title indexing was found to be accurate for all entries checked. . . Since the Vertical file service catalog is sold on a service basis (subscription rates will be quoted on request), the price is within the range of even the small high school. Because of its timeliness, convenient arrangement and thoroughness, the Vertical file service is recommended for junior and senior high school, college, and public libraries."

+ Subscription Bks Bul 13:52 O '42 600w

VERWIEBE, FRANK LOUIS; BURNS, ELMER ELLSWORTH, and HAZEL, HERBERT C. Elements of machines; a pre-induction training course. 222p il $1.24 Van Nostrand

531 Physics. Machinery 43-2807

"The purpose of this course is to teach those principles of physical science that underlie the action of many common mechanical devices. Emphasis has been placed largely on selected topics in the areas of mechanics and heat. Many of the conventional units in these divisions of a high-school-physics course have been omitted or minimized. Because of the importance of automotive power in the war effort the sections on the automobile, gasoline engines, and fuels have been expanded." (School & Society) Index.

Booklist 39:430 Je 15 '43

Library J 68:212 Mr 1 '43 60w

School & Society 57:196 F 13 '43 80w

VICKERY, WILLIAM E., and COLE, STEWART GRANT. Intercultural education in American schools; proposed objectives and methods; foreword by William Heard Kilpatrick. 214p $2; pa $1 Harper

572 Acculturation. Education—U.S. U.S.—Race question 43-51129

"This volume is the first of a projected series of manuals to help public school teachers—and utimately their pupils—to deal realistically with the problem of intercultural and interracial tensions in America. Written jointly by the editorial secretary and director of the Service Bureau for Intercultural Education, its main theses are that intergroup conflicts threaten the well-being of the nation as a whole and that these conflicts can be lessened, if not eliminated, by a carefully planned educational program." (Commonweal) Bibliography.

Reviewed by M. P. Redfield

Am J Soc 49:284 N '43 150w

Booklist 39:364 My 15 '43

Cleveland Open Shelf p13 Ag '43

Reviewed by T. F. Doyle

Commonweal 37:546 Mr 19 '43 800w

"This book will be unusually helpful to curriculum committees and directors in planning work for teachers, although its scope is not extensive enough to serve as a manual for teachers. Especially helpful is the section on organizing classroom materials with examples of topics within units already included in many courses of instruction. A wise committee can follow the plan of introducing many more. Its statements are well documented in copious reference notes, which, however, are at the end of the book instead of being footnotes, a plan which is rather unusual and involves some disturbance to easy reading." F. R. Morey

+ — Crozer Q 20:256 Jl '43 700w

"In general the book should prove to be very valuable for teachers and administrators interested in intercultural democracy. The problem is presented in a clear way and with a very open-minded point of view. The objectives are consistent with the theory, and the program proposed for achieving the objectives is practical and flexible. To the reviewer, no matter how he doubts the effectiveness of some of the suggested methods, the book seems encouraging and the program worth trying." A. G. Quintero

+ El School J 43:618 Je '43 800w

Reviewed by Julia Menefee

J Home Econ 36:106 F '44 200w

School & Society 57:280 Mr 6 '43 50w

Reviewed by H. M. Long

Social Educ 7:334 N '43 800w

"The book is well worth the cost to any teacher who takes his responsibilities in this phase of American life seriously." R. H. McF.

+ Social Studies 35:44 Ja '44 360w

Wis Lib Bul 39:82 Je '43

VILFROY, DANIEL. War in the west; the battle of France, May-June, 1940. 163p maps $2.50 Military service

940.542 World war, 1939—France. Military art and science 42-50655

"An intelligent French staff officer who witnessed and suffered the debacle of 1940 offers his opinions on why France, supposedly impregnable behind her Maginot Line and incomparable infantry, was overwhelmed by one of the swiftest and most appalling defeats in history. It is a story of tragedy and pathos, stupidity and corruption, of a nation not so much betrayed as pulled into a morass by incompetent leaders." Books

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert
Foreign Affairs 21:7 Jl '43 30w

Reviewed by Varian Fry
New Repub 109:83 Jl 19 '43 160w

Reviewed by A. M. Nikolaieff
N Y Times p24 Ap 11 '43 700w

"'War in the West' deserves thought and study, not as a historical memoir, but as a reminder that alertness not complacency, an eagerly inquiring and not a fatuously satisfied mind, are essentials of victory." P. J. Searles
+ Weekly Book Review p16 F 14 '43 1200w

VITON, ALBERT. American empire in Asia? 308p $3 Day

327.73 U.S.—Foreign relations. Eastern question (Far East). World politics 43-12671

"Study, not only of United States policy, past and future, with regard to Far East, but a survey of general postwar problems; urges revival of League of Nations and reorganization of mandates. By author of Great Britain: An Empire in Transition. Chief value lies in fund of information about political and economic affairs throughout world; may lead to useful discussion of problems, while one may question author's solutions." Library J

Reviewed by Ernest Von Hartz
Book Week p1 Ag 28 '43 240w

Booklist 40:72 N 1 '43

Reviewed by Paul Hutchinson
Christian Century 60:1403 D 1 '43 800w

"Too bulky, considering the contents. On account of subjects treated, however, it should be included in medium and large library collections; not important for small libraries." G. E. Brown
Library J 68:624 Ag '43 100w

"While the general trend of his thought and sympathy is anti-imperialist, Mr. Viton has spent enough time in backward countries, especially in the Near East, to view the colonial question realistically. . . The section of the book dealing with the Soviet Union seems to lack the sure touch of intimate knowledge that characterizes some of the author's writing about the Near East and about certain aspects of imperialism." W. H. Chamberlin
+ — N Y Times p6 S 12 '43 850w

"Granted his initial premise that imperialism can be abolished and an effective international authority established, Mr. Viton's specific proposals are constructive and valuable. The weakness of his book is that he does not describe in any detail how he believes this initial objective can be accomplished. His tendency to minimize or ignore the obstacles to a termination of imperialist rule tends to make his post-war blueprint appear somewhat unrealistic and utopian, which might not be the case had he introduced that blueprint with a more realistic appraisal of the forces working against its adoption." K. L. Mitchell
+ — Weekly Book Review p22 O 17 '43 800w

VLEKKE, BERNARD HUBERTUS MARIA. Nusantara; a history of the East Indian archipelago. 439p il maps $5 Harvard univ. press

991 East Indies. Netherlands Indies

"Nusantara, an Indonesian word meaning 'Empire of the Islands,' is here synonymous with the Netherlands East Indies. A vast amount has been written about this part of the world, but it has largely remained a closed book for those who do not read Dutch. The material available in English translations is relatively scant. For this reason Nusantara, composed in English by a Hollander, is doubly valuable for the American who seeks better acquaintance with the island world. The author, born in Holland, is at present volunteer lecturer on Netherlands history and language at Harvard University. . . The book deals with the history of Indonesia from the time of Pithecanthropus erectus to the Japanese conquest, but the larger part is devoted to the last three hundred years in which the Netherlanders play the leading European role." Christian Century

"Nusantara is a readable, interesting and reliable book. Yet as the reviewer came to the end he asked himself whether he had been reading a brief for the defense, and wondered if there was in it a purpose to help prepare the American mind to support the Dutch in their desire to get Indonesia back after the war." W. E. Lowther
+ — Christian Century 61:18 Ja 5 '44 1350w

"Dr. Vlekke has rendered a considerable service by his timely and stimulating book on the history of the Netherlands East Indies. . . For those who are interested in this highly important region, [his] book makes stimulating and informative reading." Bartholomew Landheer
+ N Y Times p6 D 26 '43 600w

"'Nusantara,' by Dr. Bernard H. N. Vlekke, is a welcome addition to the small number of books on the Netherlands Indies in English. It is a scholarly, conscientious, and usually objective, study of the development of Indonesian civilization and the effect of more than three hundred years of Dutch influence." P. H. Hiss
+ Weekly Book Review p21 Ja 23 '44 1100w

VLEKKE, BERNARD HUBERTUS MARIA, and BEETS, HENRY. Hollanders who helped build America. 328p il $15 c1942 Am. biographical co, 10 Rockefeller plaza, N.Y.

325.3492 Dutch in the U.S. U.S.—Biography 42-13210

"'The book is intended to give a survey of Dutch activities—old and new—in the United States of America. It shows how strongly the people from the small country on the North Sea influenced the destiny of the great American commonwealth.'—Preface. Its purpose according to the foreword is to make Dutch people better acquainted with their predecessors and each other. The authors themselves are Dutch. Prof. Vlekke is general secretary of the Netherlands Historical Institute in Rome, Italy, at present visiting scholar at Harvard University. Rev. Henry Beets is a clergyman in Grand Rapids, Michigan, editor and publisher of The Reformed Review and Heidenwereld." Subscription Bks Bul

"One misses such names as Van Cortland, Van Rensselaer, Van Der Heyden, Dirck, Lincklaen, from the historical point of view, or in contemporary biography those of Pierre van Paassen and Mark Van Doren. On the other hand the inclusion of Peter C. Van Der Hiel, Jr., William Van Doren, Willem Karel von Weiler, or the coauthor of the work itself, B. H. M. Vlekke who has only recently come to America, seems inconsistent with the title Hollanders Who Helped Build America. Biographies of most of the outstanding persons listed in this volume are to be found also in Who's In America, 1942-43. The sketches are largely of living persons. . . Carelessness in editing is evident throughout. . . Errors in the alphabetical arrangement were found. The physical format of the volume will not be satisfactory under hard usage. Because of its incompleteness, its inconsistency in choice of inclusions, and its lack of any complete name index, the volume is not recommended."
— Subscription Bks Bul 14:9 Ja '43 850w

VOELKER, JOHN DONALDSON (ROBERT TRAVER, pseud). Troubleshooter; the story of a Northwoods prosecutor. 294p $2.75 Viking

B or 92 Lawyers—Correspondence, reminiscences, etc. 43-3023

Reminiscences of a young district attorney, living in a back country mining district in northern Michigan. His experiences are told in a series of stories, in which he describes the scenes vividly, but uses assumed names.

Booklist 39:387 Je 1 '43

Cleveland Open Shelf p10 Jl '43

"Many grave young men who get into [the law] are apt to turn into solemn, ranting, pontifical bandicoots, whose slotted brains are mere files for citations and fusty precedents. Robert Traver, by the grace of God, has somehow slithered through without accumulating these forms of dry rot and legalistic fungus. His viewpoint is as fresh as cool wind on a perspiring face, his outlook warmly human, his style always sweeping and brimming with resounding literary epithet. Unfortunately—and we say this with a sigh of regret—Mr. Traver's most quotable stories are a bit on the outhouse side, or strong with the flavor of rape, adultery and their by-products. They are made of the grist that comes to any prosecutor's mill, of course, but that doesn't make them privileged for a family journal." Meyer Berger

— + N Y Times p5 F 14 '43 1100w

Reviewed by Melville Cane

Sat R of Lit 26:23 Ap 24 '43 550w

"This book should be refreshingly reminiscent to a prosecuting attorney and enjoyably instructive to 'John Citizen.' " T. F. Moriarty

+ Springf'd Republican p7e F 21 '43 280w

"This book is a collection of rattling good stories, told with good nature and an expertness that one does not always connect with members of the bar. At least one reviewer was happy to see a good book on Michigan's Upper Peninsula, a unique section of our country that has been crying aloud for literary treatment of its places and people." Stewart Holbrook

+ Weekly Book Review p2 F 21 '43 1100w

Wis Lib Bul 39:53 Ap '43

VOGUE (periodical). Vogue's first reader; introd. by Frank Crowninshield. 557p $3.50 Messner

808.8 Literature—Collections 42-50646

Collection of about 100 sketches, essays, and stories reprinted from Vogue. All have appeared during the last seven years. Partial contents: Rather late for Christmas, by M. E. Chase; A prologue to America, by Thomas Wolfe; My life is an open book, by Clifton Fadiman; Home to Truro, by Robert Nathan; The world within us, by André Maurois; The weather of our soul, by Irwin Edman; You're on the air now, by Ilka Chase; Souvenir, by Ludwig Bemelmans; Churchill's favorite aunt, by O. St. J. Gogarty; Landscape—with figures, by Frederic Prokosch; Nehru of India, by Krishnalal Shridharani; Humour—the bombproof kind, by Virginia Cowles; They're human after all, by Katharine Brush; Chungking's Broadway, by Clare Boothe; Something to remember you by, by Sylvia Thompson; I like the circus, by Paul Gallico; The impossible glory, by Rebecca West; Gertrude Stein in France, by Thérèse Bonney; Murder in the music-room, by Samuel Chotzinoff; Art and camouflage, by Elliot Paul; Off stage noises, by Aline Bernstein; Do men like witty women? by Stephen Leacock; These grapes need sugar, by Rex Stout. Index of authors.

Booklist 39:316 Ap 1 '43

"This collection is well arranged and conducive to full-sized laughs or imaginative flurries. It is an urbane book to be taken in leisurely fashion and enjoyed immensely." D. A. Steele

+ Books p10 Ja 3 '43 900w

"The collection is cosmopolitan in subjects and the authors represent the United States and Canada, Mexico, England and Ireland, France, Holland, and Belgium, Russia, India, China, and way stations. The points of view are as different as Mary Ellen Chase and Ludwig Bemelmans, as Thomas Wolfe and Stephen Leacock; but all, in common, are personal, many are informative, most are done with a light touch. Nearly everyone can find his favorite writer here."

+ Christian Science Monitor p10 Mr 6 '43 270w

VOITEKHOV, BORIS IL'ICH. Last days of Sevastopol; tr. from the Russian by Ralph Parker and V. M. Genne. 225p maps $2.50 Knopf

940.542 Sevastopol—Siege, 1942. World war, 1939—Russia 43-6307

A young Russian playwright, a correspondent for Pravda, received permission to fly to Sevastopol during the siege of that city and make a report on events there. His book was translated by a New York Times correspondent and cabled to the United States.

"The record pours out like lava—rushing, inchoate, careless of life. Here in lurid exploits you see the primitiveness which is part of Russia's strength, her patriotism both stolid and passionate, and forever and always the din and confusion of war in a shattered town. Very Russian, turbulent, and heroic is this picture of a great city mortally wounded, making its last stand." Edward Weeks

+ Atlantic 171:125 Je '43 420w

"Perhaps this war has produced little fiction worthy of the name but it certainly has brought forth epic pieces of journalism that will live as great writing. Voyetekhov's report stands here, with the work of some of our own foreign correspondents, as a brilliant piece of prose, conceived under fire and dedicated to the task of awakening those who still slumber despite the magnitude of the job that lies ahead." Louis Zara

+ Book Week p1 My 23 '43 600w

Booklist 39:367 My 15 '43

"Sometimes in sheer gruesomeness 'The Last Days of Sevastopol' out-Dostoyevskies Dostoyevsky, as in the account of the shambles in no-man's land after the repulse of an enemy attack, or the horrible wreckage along the waterfront. But the reportorial lens is never out of focus. The main shortcomings of the book are mistranslations, in which the present English version unfortunately abounds. Stylistically, too, the present text is far from smooth and idiomatic. But despite such literary flaws, which are no fault of the author's, the book should be on everyone's list of required war reading." E. S.

+ — Christian Science Monitor p16 Je 11 '43 650w

Cleveland Open Shelf p9 Jl '43

Reviewed by Marcus Duffield

Nation 156:896 Je 26 '43 700w

Reviewed by Malcolm Cowley

New Repub 108:800 Je 14 '43 550w

"Those who want their war news served as a tasty dish with plenty of sugar and cream should not read this story. But those who have an appetite for what this war really is—for the Russians—will find Mr. Voyetekhov's book most satisfying. His story, told in simple words, is vivid, moving and non-political." Walter Graebner

+ N Y Times p1 My 16 '43 1050w

" 'The Last Days of Sevastopol' is a book one cannot forget because it is written with beauty and toughness, with sentimentality and sober irony, with that strange mixture you can find in the works of all great Russian writers." H. B. Kranz

+ Sat R of Lit 26:5 Je 5 '43 550w

"To the stories of courageous last-ditch fights of this war—Wake island, Bataan, Corregidor, Stalingrad, Boris Voyetekhov, Soviet playwright and journalist, now adds what is probably the most awesome of them all." M. R. B.

VOITEKHOV, B. I.—Continued

+ Springf'd Republican p7e My 16 '43 410w

Times [London] Lit Sup p532 N 6 '43 480w

"The battle of Sevastopol is one of the most heroic chapters of the war and Voyetekhov has written a brilliant and heart-searching account of the last days of this battle. It is even more moving a story than Tolstoy's 'Sevastopol.' The translation is excellent." Maurice Hindus

+ Weekly Book Review p7 My 16 '43 1000w

VON BECKERATH, HERBERT. In defense of the West; a political and economic study. 297p $3.50 Duke univ. [21s Cambridge]

901 Civilization, Occidental 42-25853

"The author, Professor of Economics and Political Science at Duke University, seeks to bridge what he believes is an ever widening gap between the institutions and thought of economics on the one hand and politics on the other." (Foreign Affairs) Index.

"The general view of this book, that economics is essentially a moral sicence, is eminently sound. The reader may not agree with all the dicta which the author puts down, and above all he may not share his nostalgic faith in the lovely system of the classical economists; but he will be immensely stimulated to thought about many things, and he will be impressed with the author's patent sincerity and with his serious concern for the growth of a more humane culture." David Fellman

+ Am Soc R 8:354 Je '43 1500w

"It would be too much to expect most readers to agree completely with Dr. von Beckerath's analysis of the causes of the present crisis in Western civilization or of the steps which must be taken in future reconstruction, and what will actually happen in the future is anyone's guess. However, his study is both interesting and stimulating, and he is eminently correct in insisting that his subject is one which deserves and must have our earnest and continued attention. And he has succeeded rather well in achieving his aim of dealing 'with an eminently complex problem with a minimum of technicalities and in a language intelligible to all people of good comprehension.' " R. H. Blodgett

+ Ann Am Acad 228:122 Jl '43 800w

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert
Foreign Affairs 21:6 Jl '43 30w

Reviewed by E. E. Aubrey
J Religion 23:226 Jl '43 130w

VON BERNEWITZ, MAX WILHELM. Handbook for prospectors and operators of small mines; rev. by Harry C. Chellson. 4th ed 547p il $4 McGraw

622.1 Prospecting 43-839

"Fourth edition, revised by Harry C. Chellson. Scientific and practical data needed by prospector, miner, and engineer. Contains United States mining law and details of mining laws of the Philippines and foreign mining laws." (Library J) For first edition see Book Review Digest, 1927.

Library J 68:211 Mr 1 '43 40w

N Y New Tech Bks 28:15 Ja '43

VON HAGEN, CHRISTINE (BROWN) (MRS VICTOR WOLFGANG VON HAGEN). Chico of the Andes; il. by Zhenya Gay. 196p $2 Nelson

43-4267

"The story of a peasant boy's search for traces of his family, in the place where Panama hats are made." Sat R of Lit

Booklist 39:357 My 1 '43

"There is lively interest in the description of the Panama hats, in the warm delineation of character and in the awareness of place, given by pictures and story." A. M. Jordan

+ Horn Bk 19:173 My '43 90w

Reviewed by E. A. Erickson
Library J 68:330 Ap 15 '43 90w

"A well written, very human story of Ecuador." A. T. Eaton

+ N Y Times p10 Jl 4 '43 300w

"Sincere. Attractive."

+ Sat R of Lit 26:28 My 15 '43 20w

Reviewed by M. L. Becker
Weekly Book Review p7 Je 27 '43 350w

VON HESSE, MAXEDA FERGUSON. Inherit the wind. . . 282p $2.50 Morrow

43-15651

Novel based on the sordid life of the natives and Seminole Indians of the Florida Everglades. The central character is the doctor who drifted thither with no thought of staying, but was caught because of the need of the people for his services.

"Miss von Hesse's regionalism is very self-conscious. A good deal of it seems to me more theatrical than authentic. . . The book is full of sex and violence. But under this gaudy veneer it is even more completely sentimental in essence, than Lincoln's tale [Bradshaws of Harniss]. All scores are evened, the wicked are punished, and the slightly blemished virtuous are rewarded, in a final chapter that is a marvel of sustained melodrama." J. T. Frederick

— Book Week p9 N 7 '43 100w

"Some parts may be offensive to particular readers. Recommended for large collections and for those libraries needing a frank fictionized account of this section." E. F. Kelly

Library J 68:892 N 1 '43 40w

"The author knows her milieu well, she has a good ear for its drawl, a good eye for its stark color. . . But Miss von Hesse's melodrama never quite jells. Her people fail to come into head-on collision with one another." William Du Bois

— + N Y Times p8 Ja 2 '44 700w

VON LEEB, WILHELM JOSEF FRANZ. See Leeb, W. J. F. ritter von

VON LOESECKE, HARRY WILLARD. Drying and dehydration of foods. 302p il $4.25 Reinhold

664.8 Food, Dried 43-12024

"Facts necessary for successful operation of large and small dehydration projects. Construction and operation of modern types of dehydration machinery and equipment. Information on dehydrated foods, nutrition, packing, storing, and preparation for the table. Author is research chemist of U.S. Bureau of Agricultural Chemistry and Engineering." Library J

Reviewed by H. L. Sipple
Am J Pub Health 34:80 Ja '44 500w

Booklist 40:179 Ja 15 '44

Chem & Eng N 21:1840 N 10 '43 20w

"The book would be profitable reading for anyone engaged in dehydration, although it might not answer his specific problems."

Chem & Met Eng 50:203 S '43 200w

Library J 68:670 S 1 '43 70w

N Y New Tech Bks 28:44 Jl '43

"Regardless of the future of the industry, the author has presented a comprehensive summary of the existing published knowledge on the subject. Despite the inclusion of much technical information, the man on the street as well as the farmer and processor will find the book interesting reading." M. R. Benedict

+ N Y Times p44 N 28 '43 600w

Reviewed by James Stokley
Weekly Book Review p6 D 26 '43 80w

VON MIKLOS, JOSEPHINE. I took a war job. 223p $2 Simon & Schuster

331.4 World war, 1939—Women's work. Woman—Occupations 43-8544

"Josephine von Miklos, who was born in Austria but who has adopted the United States as her homeland, was a successful commercial designer and photographer before Pearl Harbor. With the advent of war, she decided that the best way she could fight for her adopted country was to obtain work in a war factory. Her book is a humorous and down-to-earth account of her personal experiences, her adjustment to factory work and life in a factory town, and her daily contacts with her fellow workers." Book Week

Book Week p5 Je 27 '43 90w
Booklist 39:457 Jl 15 '43
Cleveland Open Shelf p14 Ag '43

Reviewed by P. V. McNutt
N Y Times p1 Jl 4 '43 1250w

"Josephine von Miklos is shrewd in her delineations of her fellow-workers of both sexes, and makes them come alive for the reader. It is cheering to have this first hand account of women's success in unfamiliar fields, but the book has other less cheerful and more important implications. . . This is not a profound book, but warmth for people and eagerness of adventure pervade its pages. The larger implications of Miss von Miklos's experience are there to be underlined by the thoughtful reader. Addressed primarily to women who have not worked with their hands before, 'I Took a War Job' is a book for both men and women in and out of the war effort." E. M. Herrick
+ Weekly Book Review p5 Jl 4 '43 1250w
Wis Lib Bul 39:120 O '43

VOORHIS, HORACE JEREMIAH. Out of debt, out of danger; proposals for war finance and tomorrow's money. 238p $3 Devin-Adair

336.34 Finance—U.S. World war, 1939—Finance 43-8541

"Congressman Voorhis, who used to make headlines as the lone dissenter on the Dies Committee, is here spokesman for a school of thought in the Jeffersonian tradition. A New Dealer, as current labels go, Mr. Voorhis attacks the centralization of power and growth of bureaucracy inherent in our present Hamiltonian technique of deficit financing, pointing out that in financial matters technique, rather than good intentions, has always won the day. His own recommendations, which follow David Ricardo and other classical economists, and such moderns as Irving Fisher and Frederick Soddy, are simply and lucidly set forth." Atlantic

Atlantic 172:121 Ag '43 120w

"This book is readable although necessarily full of figures. . . Orthodox economists will probably be shocked by the unconcealed affinity between the plan here advanced and the 'green back' system. But instead of howling about the danger of 'fiat money,' they should show, if they can, why money issued directly by the government on its general credit would be any more dangerous than money issued by banks on the security of federal bonds which rest only upon the general credit of the government."
+ Christian Century 60:770 Je 30 '43 160w

Reviewed by C. L. Willard, Jr.
Churchman 157:16 S 15 '43 300w

"Mr. Voorhis has written a lively, readable, hard-hitting book." Stuart Chase
+ New Repub 109:464 O 4 '43 600w

Reviewed by H. W. Cross
Springf'd Republican p6 D 31 '43 900w

VORSE, MARY ELLEN. Grubby gets clean; il. by Elinore Blaisdell. [41p] $1 Scott, W.R. 43-3616

Simple tale of a small boy who refused to wash until even his favorite animals wouldn't play with him. He tried taking their advice for washing—dust baths advised by the pigeon for instance, but nothing worked until the elephant gave him the idea of a shower.

"The story is fun and so are the pictures. And the moral is painlessly pointed." P. A. Whitney
+ Book Week p7 Mr 14 '43 230w

"It would be hard, one thinks, for a three-year-old seeing Grubby's experiments with a bath brush, to resist the impulse to go at once and do likewise. The very short sentences are in large hand lettering." M. L. Becker
+ Books p6 F 7 '43 200w

Reviewed by J. E. Wooster
Library J 68:291 Ap 1 '43 50w

"Grubby, as he is shown in the pictures, seems too old and too alert to attempt to lick himself clean and otherwise follow the advice of the animals, and long before the tale plods to its conclusion even very young listeners are saying 'Why doesn't he take a bath?' The drawings are lively and pleasing but the story, lacking the elements of humor and surprise, fails to come off."
— + N Y Times p10 Mr 7 '43 160w

"A mildly amusing moral tale. . . Not nearly so spicy as that old standby on the same theme, 'Slovenly Peter.'"
New Yorker 19:65 My 29 '43 60w

VOSS, LEO A. Modern metalsmith; a manual on the working of metal sheets and tubes. 415p il $4 Sheet metal workers

673 Coppersmithing. Metal work 43-11875

A revised and enlarged edition of the Modern Coppersmith (Book Review Digest, 1935). "With the exception of adding a section on the electric welding of copper, a few new examples, formulas and minor additions, little change has been made in this [1943] edition in treating sheet copper and tube working. It was felt, however, that in view of the increasing use of nickel, Monel metal, Inconel and the stainless steels the manual would be of more value if this subject was treated more fully in the light of recent experience in working these metals, which has been done in this edition." (Pref) Index.

Library J 68:962 N 15 '43 20w
N Y New Tech Bks 28:47 Jl '43

VOYETEKHOV, BORIS. See Voitekhov, B. I.

W

WADDEN, WILLIAM ROBERT, ed. See Buchan, A. F., and Borthwick, R. Aviation mathematics

WADE, ARTHUR SARSFIELD. See Rohmer, S., pseud.

WADELTON, MRS MAGGIE JEANNE (MELODY) (MAGGIE OWEN, pseud). Maggie no doubt. 347p $2.75 Bobbs

B or 92 43-15813

A continuation of the story of Maggie Owen begun in The Book of Maggie Owen (Book Review Digest, 1941). Opening with her arrival in New York as a child of thirteen, a mysterious refugee from her native Ireland, the story tells of her years of invalidism and convalescence, of her return to Europe and her two marriages there, and of her third marriage to Thomas W. The volume closes with the birth of her son, who became the author of the well-known My Mother Is a Violent Woman, (Book Review Digest, 1940).

Reviewed by Tommy Wadelton
Book Week p27 D 5 '43 470w

WADELTON, M. J.—Continued

"To those who read and relished 'The Book of Maggie Owen' the journal of her thirteenth year (Ireland, A. D. 1908), it might seem the rashest invitation to anticlimax to continue her revelations, so fresh and unspoiled was that self-portrait of a tempestuous, original young spirit. Yet . . . no, there is nothing anticlimactic about such a life. The first diary remains a thing apart, a rare reentry into a child's world, but, once having known her, one would hate to miss the progress of the quaint, eager child into the high-spirited, unpredictable woman whose strange adventures are set down in a style which is all her own and with a startling frankness." E. L. Buell

+ N Y Times p7 O 31 '43 420w

"I may as well confess in the beginning that I have succumbed to Maggie Owen Melody as completely as did any of her 'gentlemen'; that I therefore can hardly bring to a review of her autobiography the detached and critical attitude becoming a reviewer. For its special titivating flavor you must go to the book itself. The best that I can do is to tell you a little of why it is different and something of what it is about." M. S. Ulrich

+ Sat R of Lit 26:21 D 18 '43 800w

"This book should be taken up by anyone who is a bit downhearted, a bit weary of all the world is handing us just now. It is spirited, hearty with humor, just plain comical in spots, sincere and honest. One feels that he would like to be with Maggie Owen Wadelton, to hear her talk of 'me hat,' the ice boats that go 'swoosh' and to hear her conclude many a sentence with 'no doubt.'" M. D.

+ Springf'd Republican p7e N 7 '43 1100w

"The 'violent woman' whose son wrote a book about her, married to a 'quiet man' about whom their son wrote a book, having herself written a book, unsigned, from the journals of her childhood, now writes a book about her life from twelve years old to the present. Putting it like that, one might think that the subject had been thoroughly covered. Nobody thinks so who so much as begins one of these records. Each one tastes like more." M. L. Becker

+ Weekly Book Review p29 O 31 '43 750w

Wis Lib Bul 40:9 Ja '44

WADELTON, THOMAS DORRINGTON, 1926-. Army brat; il. by George Maas. 186p $1.75 Coward-McCann

43-6721

Story of an American boy brought up in army posts, mainly by a kindly Chinese houseman, because Jim's mother had died when he was very young. All through his formative years Sui Jen helped Jim over hard places, and when the crisis of young Jim's life came it was Sui Jen who saved him, with the story of a Chinese gentleman—Sui Jen.

"There are many chuckles in the book and much that is very moving. A fine Army story written by a boy who knows the American Army." P. A. W.

+ Book Week p10 My 2 '43 230w

Booklist 39:427 Je 15 '43

"Though young Mr. Wadelton has not given us in this book the 'knockout' that he produced in his first, the delectable My Mother Is a Violent Woman, he has still done a good piece of work. He writes with insight and charm and with that elusive quality of poignancy that tugs at one's heartstrings."

+ — Cath World 157:667 S '43 110w

Reviewed by E. F. Kelley

Library J 68:328 Ap 15 '43 70w

N Y Times p11 Ap 25 '43 340w

"'Army Brat' is really a day dream, of the sort that children and even adults often use as an antidote to the toxic confusions of the world about them. It just happens that Tommy Wadelton is one of those rare creatures who seem to have no screen of admonishing sense between themselves and the tenderness of the world of their imaginations. It is because of this that his work seems both amazingly mature and surprisingly childlike. The maturity is in the ability to grasp the language and the equipment of the adult world and the childlike quality is in the ability to keep hold, at the same time, of the heightened sentiment and romantically uncritical enthusiasm of the days of at least relative innocence." Raymond Holden

+ Sat R of Lit 26:31 My 29 '43 550w

"'Army Brat' makes no pretenses of being profound or significant. It is a simple yarn, told with youthful energy and directness, and blessed with both humor and tenderness."

+ Springf'd Republican p7e S 5 '43 170w

Reviewed by M. L. Becker

Weekly Book Review p12 Ap 18 '43 410w

WADSWORTH, LEDA A. Masquerade mystery. 308p $2 Farrar

43-2468

Mystery story for young readers.

"Plenty of thrills and mystery that is only cleared in last chapter will make this popular with that large group of boys and girls who are always looking for excitement in their reading. Seems better than average." A. M. Wetherell

+ Library J 68:366 My 1 '43 70w

"Mystery is a little forced. That a seventeen-year-old boy, thinking himself implicated in a murder, could drop out of well-to-do family circle as completely as Dick did, without an effort being made to find him, seems incredible. Farm background is interesting and story devolves into study of adolescent difficulties." E. A. Groves

+ — Library J 68:366 My 1 '43 80w

"It is a full-time story, but the outsider's mystery unguessed by the family, closely knit into the story's fabric, never quite ceases to keep the reader guessing till he gets it full in the face on page 272. This takes a special sort of skill that cannot be used for any other sort of writing, but this story is not the first proof that L. A. Wadsworth can use it well." M. L. Becker

+ Weekly Book Review p8 My 9 '43 500w

WAGENKNECHT, EDWARD CHARLES. Cavalcade of the English novel; from Elizabeth to George VI. 646p $4 Holt

823.09 English fiction—History and criticism

43-7327

"Not a history of English fiction, but rather an introduction to some of the great novelists, with the personality of the writer considered in relation to his writings. Appended are notes on novelists not included in the text, and a long, selected bibliography with annotations." Booklist

"Merely as a reference book 'The Cavalcade of the English Novel' is valuable. Wagenknecht provides concise biographies of English novelists from Defoe to Walter de la Mare, descriptive comments on their books, extensive and useful surveys of the books and articles about them. What is better, he has much to say in his own right and says it clearly and strongly, without strain or pretentiousness." J. T. Frederick

+ Book Week p2 Je 6 '43 450w

Booklist 39:442 Jl 1 '43

Bookmark 4:11 My '43

"This book is much the best history yet written of the English novel and novelists. To begin with, Dr. Wagenknecht has a gusto that equals George Saintsbury's, and the width of his reading may not be unfairly compared to that giant's; then his enjoyment is infectious, and his learning is used, finely and modestly, not arrogantly displayed. His taste is catholic, his judgment generally fine, and if one differs from him he always gives you enough material for you to justify your disagreement. Finally he treats the novel as an art, writes about it—not about social, political, economic conditions, except in so far as they throw a light on a particular book or author. He would, I imagine, be proud to call himself as Virginia Woolf called herself, The Common Reader." R. E. Roberts

+ Sat R of Lit 26:9 Jl 31 '43 700w
Wis Lib Bul 39:107 Jl '43

WAGONER, JEAN BROWN. Louisa Alcott; girl of old Boston; il. by Sandra James. 185p $1.50 Bobbs

B or 92 Alcott, Louisa May—Juvenile literature 43-14088

Biography of Louisa M. Alcott, concentrating on her childhood days, and written for fourth and fifth grade children.

"Told in simple text, which the very young children can read and enjoy." S. J. Robinson
+ Library J 68:894 N 1 '43 70w
Wis Lib Bul 39:161 D '43

WAHLSTROM, ERNEST E. Optical crystallography. 206p il $3 Wiley

548.9 Crystallography. Optics, Physical 43-13955

"It is the purpose of this textbook to review the principles of optical crystallographic theory. Practical applications are not given a prominent place because the writer feels that, once a student has firmly grasped fundamental concepts, he will be able to meet any problem related to the field. Some space is given to a description of the techniques for the measurement of refractive indices. Emphasis is placed on the immersion method of index measurement. . . The book was prepared primarily for use in college courses in optical crystallography or optical mineralogy, but it may serve also as a handbook for investigators who are interested in practical application rather than theory." (Pref) Index.

Library J 68:670 S 1 '43 30w
N Y New Tech Bks 28:42 Jl '43

WALES, HORACE GEOFFREY QUARITCH. Years of blindness. 332p $3 Crowell

950 Eastern question (Far East). Colonies 43-5909

The author, an English archaeologist, has made many visits to the Far East during the last two decades. In this book he sets forth his views on the colonial policies of the Dutch, French and British empires. Index.

Reviewed by R. A. Norem
Am Pol Sci R 37:755 Ag '43 380w

"This is an extremely interesting and brilliantly written account of the decline of the white man's empire in southeastern Asia in the last twenty years." Bruce Knight
+ Ann Am Acad 229:203 S '43 480w
Atlantic 171:131 Je '43 70w

Reviewed by Leo Kennedy
Book Week p5 Jl 4 '43 500w
Booklist 39:423 Je 15 '43
Cath World 158:222 N '43 200w
Christian Science Monitor p11 My 22 '43 650w

"A brilliant, penetrating and disturbing book which should be studied by all post-war planners." J. G. Murtagh
+ Commonweal 38:52 Ap 30 '43 650w

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert
Foreign Affairs 21:17 Jl '43 30w

Reviewed by F. L. D. Goodrich
Library J 68:210 Mr 1 '43 110w

"Before reading it, I should have thought no European could have written 'Years of Blindness.' It is not for devotees of Kipling and believers in the superior qualities of the white race. It is a book by an archaeological scientist who takes the long view of the human race and its struggles, who has read world history in strange places, seen in the Orient the threat of world dissolution, and now reveals with impersonal clarity the problem presented in the Far East. Despite its seriousness, 'Years of Blindness' is an enjoyable book." C. P. Romulo
+ N Y Times p16 My 23 '43 800w

Reviewed by Hugh Byas
Sat R of Lit 26:14 My 29 '43 550w

"Since most Americans' knowledge of the Malaya-Asia area is so scanty and fragmentary, H. G. Quaritch Wales's 'Years of Blindness' can be recommended heartily to the many who are belatedly interested in its bearing on our own postwar policies." R. S. Scott
+ Springf'd Republican p8 My 19 '43 1000w
Wis Lib Bul 39:73 My '43

WALKER, ERIC ANDERSON. The British empire; its structure and spirit [issued under the auspices of the Royal inst. of int. affairs]. 250p $3.50 [12s 6d] Oxford

942 Great Britain—Colonies [A43-1876]

Outline history of the British Empire from the time of the Cabots to the day of Pearl Harbor. "Four-fifths of the book deals with the period since 1833, fully two-fifths with that since 1914, and this not because the story of the earlier days lacks interest and importance, but because the spirit and structure that we know have been shaped most directly for us by the events of these more recent years. Nor have I treated the Empire in the manner of the anatomist who cuts up the body and finds the spirit fled. Bearing in mind that the first meaning of 'structure' is 'the way in which a thing holds together', I have tried to see always the complex and living whole in which each part acts upon the rest." (Introd) Index.

"The historical method, applied to this vast subject, has its defects. To compress the story of a quarter of the world for three and a half centuries into 237 pages must reduce it to an uncomfortably small scale. Professor Walker has worked skilfully. His pudding lacks nothing necessary among its myriad ingredients, and all are the genuine article of fact. He has moistened his dehydrated history with an emollient narrative style. But the result is of necessity no soufflé. . . The most interesting chapters of the book are those in which Professor Walker traces the nineteenth century growth of the colonial empire and the parallel development of new forms and methods of government, local and imperial. . . There is no defence like the truth, with all its darker pages; and Professor Walker has set down the truth ably, concisely, without prejudice or special pleading. His work will neither inflame enthusiasm nor lull conscience, but it will provide a firm platform of past fact for the adventures of opinion into future policy." H. V. Hodson
Spec 170:344 Ap 9 '43 430w

"The compression has unfortunately been achieved at the expense of the more picturesque elements of historical writing. Very occasionally as in the moving pages on the expansion of liberty at the end, Professor Walker permits himself to disclose that he can command eloquence as well as learning; but for the most part he confines himself with the utmost austerity to the careful tabulation of the facts of history—constitutional, political, and economic—excluding very often even the reasons for these facts."
Times [London] Lit Sup p201 Ap 24 '43 850w

WALKER, HELEN MARY. Elementary statistical methods. 368p $2.75 Holt

311.2 Statistics 43-8152

"Textbook for an introductory course in statistics. The body of the book is written for students whose mathematical training has not gone beyond high school algebra. For students with advanced training who want supplementary matter, the author supplies 'Mathematical notes' in the Appendix. Reference material includes a glossary of symbols, list of formulas, supplementary procedures, and bibliographies at the ends of chapters. The author is Professor of Education, Teachers College, Columbia University." (N Y New Tech Bks) Index.

WALKER, H. M.—Continued

N Y New Tech Bks 28:51 Jl '43
School & Society 57:660 Je 5 '43 60w

"Miss Walker's text evokes as a first reaction a feeling of regret that the book was not available some years ago when I was actually learning elementary statistics through reading a number of texts then available. How much time and mental distress would have been saved! The clear formulation of what statistics is all about, the careful presentation of the concepts and procedures of descriptive statistics without the confusion of snatches of sampling theory so often found intermingled with them, the simplicity of the initiation into symbolic representation, and, in the final chapter, the easy transition to statistical inference—for these the future students of the text should be grateful, although they are perhaps best appreciated by those who have traversed the path without such superior guidance." M. J. Hagood
+ Social Forces 22:235 D '43 320w

WALKER, MANNIX. Count on two days. 276p $2.50 Dodd
43-14968

The hilarious happenings of two days that would have upset any household. The Beacon Hill household of Mrs Dowell, whose chief relaxation was reading Sophocles in the original, was thrown into such complete chaos that a detective was summoned to straighten out the tangles.

Reviewed by Edward Weeks
Atlantic 173:124 Ja '44 120w

"There isn't an ounce of sense in the entire 276 pages. No social significance, no moral, nothing of the sort. But there's a laugh a minute and a satisfying sense of good fun at the end." Betty Wood
+ Book Week p5 O 17 '43 230w
Reviewed by Lisle Bell
Weekly Book Review p28 O 17 '43 450w

WALL, BERNHARDT. Following Abraham Lincoln, 1809-1865. 415p $3.75 Wise bk. co.
B or 92 Lincoln, Abraham 43-9252

"In some hundred-odd pages of biographical text and 415 copper halftone engravings Bernhardt Wall has recorded the Lincoln structural landmarks of America. The etchings concern themselves almost entirely with buildings associated directly and indirectly with Lincoln's career. . . The present volume is a popular edition of a previous edition limited to eighty-five copies. The text is really a series of character sketches retold in connection with the illustrations." N Y Times

"This collection of pictures is pleasing, is in well-arranged sequence and carries one along Lincoln's footsteps in an interesting and instructive manner. If the publishers had limited their efforts to Wall's art and a few descriptive sentences, as was done in his original book of etchings, they would have done well. But apparently they could not resist the temptation to have someone rewrite Lincoln's whole life as an accompaniment, and thereby they forfeit a goodly portion of the praise due them. A new biography of Lincoln, unless justified by new material or a novel manner of presentation, is not only superfluous in view of the supply already on hand, but this version is trite, inaccurate and at times puerile." Otto Eisenschiml
+ — Book Week p7 Jl 4 '43 230w
Reviewed by Theodore Mack
N Y Times p20 Je 6 '43 180w

WALLACE, FRANCIS. Explosion. 250p $2.50 Morrow
43-450

Psychological novel dealing with a mine disaster, the events which led up to it, and its aftermath. The time is the present.

Booklist 39:321 Ap 1 '43

"In the works of its plot Mr. Wallace's story never gets very far from the familiar and the expected. Similarly, his decision to make each of his people representative of a different kind of person has produced a collection of types rather than of individuals. But he has endowed the mine with all the life that his human beings lack, and those pages that deal with the explosion and the rescue operations tell with splendid sincerity and restraint the story of a conflict as terrible and real as any being waged with tanks and Fortresses." Frances Smyth
+ — Sat R of Lit 26:30 My 29 '43 240w

"The talk of speeding production for the war effort, of the miners being as much soldiers as any who die on the battlefield, seems to have been rather forcibly dragged in, without ever becoming an integral part of or having any real relevance to the story itself. This is particularly true where Stan Berger, a suspected Nazi sympathizer, is brought in as a rather melodramatic part of the plot. The story of the mine, however, the description of the explosion, the attempts to rescue the men and the feelings of the miners trapped in the gassy, hot, smoky mine, is deeply absorbing and skillfully handled." Barbara Woollcott
+ — Weekly Book Review p8 F 14 '43 650w

WALLACE, HENRY AGARD. Century of the common man. 96p $1.50; pa 75c Reynal
940.5373 World war, 1939—U.S. Reconstruction (1939-). World politics 43-10464

"Fifteen of the Vice-President's recent speeches and articles, including 'Russia' and 'The Price of Free World Victory,' from which the book's title is taken. Full texts in some instances; in others, excerpts." New Yorker

Reviewed by Sterling North
Book Week p3 Jl 25 '43 360w
Booklist 40:10 S '43
+ Commonweal 38:373 Jl 30 '43 750w

"Somebody said the chief duty of a Vice President is to make speeches. Henry Wallace has taken his duty so seriously that Russell Lord was able to find fifteen of them, delivered in the course of the last two and a half years, to make up this little volume. Edited, they constitute a remarkable collection. It seems safe to say that no other Vice President, in so short a space of time, ever said so much that mattered. Whether or not you agree with them, these are not empty declamations." John MacCormac
N Y Times p3 Jl 11 '43 800w
New Yorker 19:68 Jl 17 '43 50w

"There is no question of the remarkable appeal of Mr. Wallace's utterances. His simple eloquence, his homely metaphors, his preoccupation with humble things will find, and properly, a large audience. . . His is the vision of some of the Old Testament prophets, of primitive Christianity and, later, of leveling Protestantism; his is the gospel of justice, mercy and equality. He wants to see work, peace and health spread their beneficent effects over the entire globe. To sneer at him—as some have done for partisan advantage—is to reject a significant part of our Western tradition." L. M. Hacker
+ — Weekly Book Review p4 Ag 1 '43 2650w
Wis Lib Bul 39:122 O '43

WALLACE, HENRY AGARD, and others. Christian bases of world order. 255p $2 Abingdon-Cokesbury
261 Sociology, Christian. Christianity
43-51138

"The Merrick Lectures of 1943 [given at Ohio Wesleyan university] are organized around the world mission of the Christian church. Specific problems are discussed by our Vice-President, a Methodist bishop, an outstanding Mexican evangelical leader, a Christian philosopher, and other experts in world-wide implications of Christianity. The material presented is not intended as a blueprint for the peace table nor as a detailed program for church or state. However, in it one recognizes 'vital and prophetic contributions to American thought in postwar planning.'" (Library J) Biographical notes.

Booklist 39:363 My 15 '43

Bookmark 4:4 My '43

Christian Science Monitor p10 Je 26 '43 700w

"The whole series [of lectures] is a worthy contribution to the best that is being 'written for our learning' in these urgent and perilous times." F. J. Moore

+ Churchman 157:17 Jl 1 '43 360w

Reviewed by I. G. Matthews

Crozer Q 20:357 O '43 400w

"Worthy of consideration by those sincerely interested in Christian solution of contemporary problems. Recommended for every library." O. G. Lawson

+ Library J 68:327 Ap 15 '43 110w

Reviewed by F. E. Johnson

Survey G 33:27 Ja '44 330w

WALLACE, MRS KATHLEEN. Rice in the wind [Eng title: This is the road]. 294p $2.50 Putnam [8s 6d Heinemann]

43-1687

Jane Galienne, daughter of an American medical missionary, was born in China and had spent all the nineteen years of her life there when she met Martin Drummond, British Consul at Ter-hoi. Jane was a person in her own right helping in her father's work; she was at a loss when she married Martin and tried to run a formal home in Ter-hoi. The inevitable happened, and when war broke out Jane went back to the hills to help her father. It remained for her loyal little American friend Dianola to set things right.

Booklist 39:293 Mr 15 '43

"'Rice in the Wind' is a war novel also—but it is a war novel which it is impossible to take as seriously as its predecessor [Without Signposts], so romanticized is its treatment and its tone. . . [It] is merely a graceful and romantic light novel in the vein of 'Peking Picnic,' less witty, less sophisticated, but cut from the same bolt of cloth. . . 'Rice in the Wind' is eminently readable, but I feel that it ranks as escape fiction despite the portentousness of its theme." E. H. Walton

N Y Times p16 F 28 '43 800w

Wis Lib Bul 39:55 Ap '43

WALLING, ROBERT ALFRED JOHN. Corpse by any other name. 283p $2 Morrow

43-3842

Detective story.

"The tale runs along with smooth excitement, although you don't always share the author's conviction that his hero's conversation is brilliant. Tolefree is his usual, intuitive self. He keeps his pair of Dr. Watsons and you a little too much in the dark, especially when he rings in a piece of information at the very end that he'd kept secret from his co-workers. You may share my resentment at Tolefree's irresponsible coyness in his dealings with you and his confreres—he certainly made their jobs tougher with not much excuse—but you should enjoy the story just the same." Elizabeth Bullock

+ — Book Week p10 Mr 21 '43 320w

Booklist 39:355 My 1 '43

Bookmark 4:20 My '43

"Verdict: A spy story complicated by murder during an air raid which destroyed most of the evidence. The description of the raid is the best part of the book, but the detective work is fully up to the Tolefree standard." Isaac Anderson

+ N Y Times p9 Mr 28 '43 140w

"Capital."

+ Sat R of Lit 26:40 Ap 10 '43 40w

"Trust R. A. J. Walling to turn out one of his major works even in the midst of war's alarms. . . A top-notcher at what the experts call 'pure detection,' as exemplified by the brain waves of his Philip Tolefree, he has turned his specialty to happy use in a spy chase, thus providing handsomely for his regular customers and adding the timely note for good measure." Lisle Bell

+ Weekly Book Review p23 Mr 28 '43 380w

WALLING, SYDNEY ARTHUR, and HILL, JOHN CAMPBELL. Aircraft mathematics [Eng title: Aircraft calculations]. new Am ed 186p $1.75; college ed $1.25 Macmillan [3s Cambridge]

629.13 Airplanes—Design and construction. Mathematics 43-14900

"Brush-up in mathematics from elementary arithmetic, algebra, and geometry to logarithms and trigonometry; more than five hundred problems relating to aeronautics, with answers." Library J

Reviewed by A. C. Spectorsky

Book Week p5 Jl 4 '43 70w

Reviewed by L. E. Grinter

Book Week p10 S 19 '43 10w

Library J 68:433 My 15 '43 30w

N Y New Tech Bks 27:41 Jl '42

Reviewed by Theofore English

N Y Times p33 O 17 '43 80w

Reviewed by James Stokley

Weekly Book Review p16 Ag 8 '43 80w

WALLIS, JAMES HAROLD. Niece of Abraham Pein. 320p $2.50 Dutton

42-51778

A Jew, a refugee from Germany, and his niece settle in a small New Hampshire village. The villagers resent their coming and a wave of anti-Semitism culminates when the niece disappears and the uncle is accused of her murder. The story is told from the point of view of a liberal school teacher who has bought a summer home in the village.

"In this persuasive and moving novel, J. H. Wallis presents a shocking picture of religious bigotry in New England. . . 'The Niece of Abraham Pein' is not a psychological thriller as was 'Once Off Guard,' Wallis's previous novel. But it is by no means just an indictment of anti-Semitism. Although he has a social message to convey, the author has brought into play all his considerable talents as a story-teller. His novel has suspense, excellent character drawing, a constantly mounting excitement, and contains one of the best court-room dramas in recent fiction." Marion Fradin

+ N Y Times p6 Mr 7 '43 800w

"The author dedicates this thoughtful novel to victims of injustice and oppression, and it might even more logically be addressed to those who need its lesson." David Tilden

+ Weekly Book Review p10 Mr 14 '43 600w

WALLIS, JAMES HAROLD. Synthetic philanthropist. 315p $2.50 Dutton

43-9411

Story of an unscrupulous millionaire who is tricked into aiding his home town, and eventually becomes thoroly imbued with a desire for philanthropic works. A young newspaper man instigates the proceedings.

WALLIS, J. H.—Continued

"It is hard to believe that the author of 'Once Off Guard' and 'The Niece of Abraham Pein' could write more than 300 pages of such stilted, infantile prose. The whole thing is on the intellectual level of a comic book, with the credibility of a dime-store diamond and the subtlety of a trip hammer. The only thing left to the reader's imagination is to speculate on how a whole book can be so bad. One continues reading with a kind of horrified fascination." America Chapel

— Book Week p8 Jl 18 '43 340w

"Reader's interest is held even though novel is of little moment." H. G. Kelley

Library J 68:573 Jl '43 70w

"It is a dextrous story in its own right, with the weightier implications kept in the background, where they belong." Margaret Wallace

+ N Y Times p6 Jl 18 '43 440w

"Might possibly have made a mildly interesting short story."

— New Yorker 19:63 Jl 3 '43 70w

Springf'd Republican p7e S 12 '43 170w

Reviewed by David Tilden

— Weekly Book Review p14 Jl 18 '43 600w

WALLIS, MRS RUTH OTIS (SAWTELL). Too many bones. 232p $2 Dodd

43-14090

Detective story.

"First half of the book is fairly mild going; the last half is horrific. For heaven's sake, don't miss it." Elizabeth Bullock

+ Book Week p8 S 19 '43 160w

Booklist 40:60 O 15 '43

"Ruth Sawtell Wallis has assembled a group of very interesting, well-drawn characters, and has done a fascinating job with her anthropological background—having been an ape-boiler herself to a Harvard professor." Beatrice Sherman

+ N Y Times p8 S 12 '43 650w

New Yorker 19:88 S 11 '43 60w

"First-class."

+ Sat R of Lit 26:20 S 11 '43 40w

Springf'd Republican p7e O 10 '43 140w

Time 42:104 O 11 '43 30w

"Good thing, we always say, that most mystery fans have stout insides. . . Read it and shudder." Will Cuppy

Weekly Book Review p10 S 5 '43 320w

WALLIS, WILSON DALLAM. Messiahs, their role in civilization. 217p $3; pa $2.50 Am. council on public affairs

291.61 Messiah 43-5970

"Professor Wilson D. Wallis, head of the Department of Anthropology at the University of Minnesota, has written a richly documented study of the messiah as he appears in various guises across the centuries in every part of the world and every type of culture. It shows that the yearning for the messiah is almost as old as written records and that the genesis of the messianic urge lies in man's search for salvation." N Y Times

Reviewed by A. E. Haydon

Am Soc R 8:744 D '43 400w

"The book gives the impression of having been written and printed in great haste. Errors are frequent. For example, Popes Nicholas II and Nicholas IV are confused, the Cid is identified with the last Gothic king of Spain, and the lines of Blake quoted on the last page contain an annoying misprint. The best evidence is not always used, and all the available evidence is not used. The definition of the messianism is neither clear nor consistent. . . The book will stimulate interest in the phenomenon of messianism, but it does not answer the questions suggested by its title." J. R. Strayer

— + Ann Am Acad 229:198 S '43 400w

"The chief weakness of the book is its failure to carry out the intention of establishing some plausible link between the age-old hope for religious saviors and the modern search for political saviors. For all its faults on this score, the book is a genuine contribution to knowledge." Joseph Freeman

+ — N Y Times p23 Je 27 '43 300w

WALLOWER, LUCILLE. Chooky; il. by [the author]. 92p $2 McKay

43-50

Story of a little Pennsylvania Dutch girl living near Harrisburg in 1883. Susie was the pet of her whole family, but she longed for a pet of her very own. When the little lame black chicken, Chooky, was given to her for keeps and she had managed to talk her father into buying an organ for her musical brother, Susie's joy was complete.

Reviewed by A. M. Jordan

Horn Bk 19:168 My '43 50w

"Very similar to De Angeli's Horner's Lydia, but has a bit more action and suspense. Author's illustrations are good, many in color. End paper especially charming. Good deal of dialect and too often explained. Seems to be authentic in detail. Recommend for children seven to ten where books of this type are needed." Sonja Wennerblad

+ Library J 68:330 Ap 15 '43 70w

"A tale of simple people that is human and genuine and touched with gentle humor." A. T. Eaton

+ N Y Times p10 Jl 18 '43 280w

"A simple-hearted book for six- to eight-year-olds."

+ New Yorker 19:68 My 29 '43 60w

Sat R of Lit 26:28 My 15 '43 20w

"The young reader gets a sympathetic inside view of a people still making a corner of our country picturesque, if not at present to the degree that they did in the '80s. And if you ever had a pet chicken you'll know how true this story is to child nature." M. L. Becker

+ Weekly Book Review p9 Ap 25 '43 350w

Wis Lib Bul 39:76 My '43

WALPOLE, SIR HUGH. Katherine Christian. 313p $2.50 Doubleday

43-10912

Posthumous novel in the author's series about the Herries family. It dates from the death of Queen Elizabeth in 1603, to the outbreak of the civil war in 1643. Among the historical characters are James I, Charles I, and Cromwell. The famous Overbury case is outlined in the first part of the book. Katharine Christine, daughter of a necromancer, who became the most beautiful woman in England and a court favorite, furnishes much of the romance.

"As a document which helps to complete the Herries cycle, this book is important. But as a novel in and of itself it is disappointing, for the death of its author robbed it of a climax, a solution to the conflict."

Atlantic 172:121 Ag '43 120w

"I can't lay claim to reading everything Walpole ever wrote. But, on the other hand, I've read a good many of his books and enjoyed them, too, being entertained always in the reading, if rather consistently disappointed in the climax. It has always seemed to me that he was a writer whose goal was never very clear, but that he had a great time getting to it. And so did his readers." Edith Roberts

+ — Book Week p5 Jl 25 '43 500w

Booklist 40:15 S '43

Reviewed by N. E. Monroe

Cath World 158:108 O '43 230w

Christian Science Monitor p11 Jl 24 '43 550w

Cleveland Open Shelf p16 Ag '43

"Walpole weaves his intricate historical plot with sure knowledge and craftsmanship. His writing, except for rare lapses, is polished and fluid; his portraits of the two kings and of Cromwell have the quality of life. But on the purely fictional side, the book leaves one with a sense of dissatisfaction. Neither Katherine

Christian nor the Garlands hold the imagination in a way to make their affairs absorbing or important. Walpole, in other words, is more successful with his historical material than he is with the essentially creative side of his chronicle." Rose Feld

+ — N Y Times p4 Je 20 '43 700w

"Whether he is writing about Cromwell's army or Herries' love affairs, the late Sir Hugh serves it all up in his well-known colorful style."

+ New Yorker 19:79 Je 19 '43 120w

" 'Katherine Christian' . . . shows a curious incapacity to conduct us into that Jacobean and Caroline life. Not only is the dialogue neither modern nor good Wardour Street, nor fine 'tushery,' nor in the least Jacobean; but Hugh Walpole betrays, in small ways, that he has not thought himself into his period. . . The story itself goes rather slowly and covers too much ground for the rich, detailed treatment demanded by it." R. E. Roberts

Sat R of Lit 26:16 Jl 10 '43 700w

"The author loves this history and makes the reader love it. Furthermore he makes his readers participants of 40 years of England's troubled past. His history progresses by feelings and reasons, and not by dry dates." Lee Varley

+ Springf'd Republican p7e Jl 11 '43 650w

"Though the book did not reach completion, it must have fulfilled the author's intention, which would seem, rather, to tell the story of a beloved land through the people who had made it, not to portray their destinies as an end. It is a worthy conclusion, possibly a more fitting one than a completed book would have been, for the work of a man whose own writing has many of the qualities he held in such esteem—indefatigable vigor, delight in all the varieties of life, the commonplace and the exalted and the eerie, and an abiding faith in a small sea-girt island." Mary Ross

+ Weekly Book Review p5 Jl 4 '43 1200w

WALSH, MARY ELIZABETH. American social problems; with a foreword by Paul Hanly Furfey. 234p $2 (10s 6d) Appleton-Century

309.173 Social problems. U.S.—Social conditions A42-4554

"This volume is devoted to an examination of American social problems, a field which is both exceedingly broad and complicated by serious issues of moral and practical significance. Every effort has been made in this outline to correlate two things, (a) the observed facts of social science, and (b) Catholic teaching." (Pref) Chapter bibliographies. Index.

"The book has the virtue of being a readable text. It minimizes statistical data and references to minor studies, and thereby leaves the student less confused. American Social Problems, however, is non-technical, largely descriptive, and lacks theoretical considerations from a sociological frame of reference. Dr. Walsh's point of view is frankly Catholic." A. L. Wood

+ — Am Soc R 7:877 D '42 280w

"As we read through the vast storehouse of material which Miss Walsh presents, we are somewhat confused. There appears to be lack of unity; the book endeavors to cover too much ground. . . Certain chapters of the book lack objectivity. The one on immigration, for instance, should indicate a clearer line of demarcation between the ethnic and the economic aspects of immigration. . . The author is interested in personalism, the type of personalism that leads to action. If one got nothing more from the book than this inspiration, it would be well worthwhile. It is something that is sorely needed." John O'Grady

+ — Survey 79:207 Jl '43 230w

WALSH, MAURICE. Spanish lady. 326p $2.50 Lippincott

43-11747

"To Loch Ben Bothy, 'a small, quiet biteen of a hollow,' comes the South American, Don Diego Usted, on sick leave from Commando service. This is his first visit to his mother's native country and her people. With his magnificent Irish aunt, Big Ellen, who loves to talk, with his uncle who values silence about most things, with the beauty of mountains and blue water of lochs and sweetness of heather, Don Diego finds health and spiritual security. He finds love in the Glen, too, and with one of his own race." Publisher's note

"The Spanish Lady should not be read as a murder mystery, having been written as a poetic love story in modern dress; but it cannot be denied that the action is noticeably enlivened by the appearance of the corpse."

Atlantic 172:129 O '43 100w

"A beautifully turned story, filled with the authentic color of Scotland, which Maurice Walsh knows well. . . Top-flight entertainment." Sterling North

+ Book Week p3 Ag 29 '43 290w

"At times Mr. Walsh appears to have his tongue in his cheek, but not often enough, and whenever he begins to take the romance seriously or to descend from poetic prose to slang, the cold wind of reason blows over his story and its charm is dissipated. The author is a stylist of distinction, and his descriptions of the wild and lonely glens of Scotland, of mountain climbing, wrestling matches, and trout fishing are in themselves enough to give the book a wide audience." N. E. Monroe

+ — Cath World 158:108 O '43 140w

Cleveland Open Shelf p20 O '43

"Excellent characterizations, fine feeling for the Highlanders—and a rousing good mystery. Recommended." M. H. Zipprich

+ Library J 68:625 Ag '43 40w

Reviewed by Harold Brighouse

Manchester Guardian p3 Ja 7 '44 60w

"Maurice Walsh's readers will find that the author of 'The Sons of the Swordmaker' and 'The Dark Rose' has not failed them, although he has created a modern setting for his Britons, Picts and Gaels." John Desmond

+ N Y Times p6 Ag 29 '43 600w

Reviewed by Thomas Sugrue

Weekly Book Review p10 S 12 '43 700w

Wis Lib Bul 39:146 N '43

"As an ingenious and original detective story, as a good love story and as a grand and glorious tale of romantic adventure The Spanish Lady is matchless in recent literature. . . The dialogue is delightful, rhythmic, stately, formal, with a bite and a burr to it. If you never enjoyed Buchan, Stevenson, or Dumas you probably won't care for Walsh." Orville Prescott

+ Yale R n s 33:xiv winter '44 350w

WALSKA, GANNA. Always room at the top [autobiography]. 504p il $3.50 Smith, Richard R.

B or 92 Musicians—Correspondence, reminiscences, etc. 43-13487

"Ganna Walska's autobiography is something more than the story of a Polish soprano who married two American millionaires, for it offers detailed, documentary evidence of expensive living in New York, London and Paris. Platinum faces à main from Cartier, monogrammed Rolls Royces, million-franc sable coats, and seventeenth century wine glasses crop out in every other paragraph of Madame Walska's narrative." Commonweal

"This is a sad book, because it is a narrative of failure. Ganna Walska has carried throughout her life the yearning to become a great singer. She possessed all the adjuncts to a successful career—money, influence, beauty, power—yet the essential factor was lacking. Mme. Walska had been given no voice which could be listened to with pleasure." Felix Borowski

Book Week p8 S 12 '43 230w

Commonweal 39:284 D 31 '43 320w

"Perhaps [many] readers will go through the book to learn the author's personal explanations of her professional discouragements in her singing career. It is disappointing to find her so often attributing failures to petty jealousies. . . Probably a larger number of readers will enjoy the book for the references to Miss Walska's meeting famous international figures, to whom she was married, by whom she was entertained, or with whom she had some interesting contact." H. S. Neal

WALSKA, GANNA—Continued
Springf'd Republican p6 Ja 11 '44 250w
Weekly Book Review p19 Ag 29 '43 210w

WALTERS, JOHN. Light in the window. 151p $1.50 Putnam
170 Mental hygiene 43-2582

"John Walters, a British journalist resident in New York, has out of his personal experience developed a philosophy of an attitude toward life which he calls Personal Isolationism. It has made him a happy man. . . Although one finds herein some of the strains of Marcus Aurelius, the stoic, on the one hand, and of Thomas à Kempis, the mystic, on the other, these attitudes are arrived at entirely out of Mr. Walters' own personal experience and reflections along a road that sometimes has been rough—as he tells us. It is the essence of such personal wisdom as one thoughtful man may glean from a lifetime of experience and pass on to another. It addresses itself to the life of today and the problems thereof." Churchman

"A book provocative of thought. It should pay most any man to take a few hours off in order to travel along the whole road of the book and discover where it may lead him." Lawrence Fernsworth
+ Churchman 157:14 Ag 1 '43 550w
Springf'd Republican p7e Ag 1 '43 100w
Weekly Book Review p25 My 16 '43 230w

WALTZ, GEORGE H. Jules Verne; the biography of an imagination. 223p il $2.50 Holt
B or 92 Verne, Jules 43-2825

Biography of the author of Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea and other tales of adventures on the land and sea, as well as thru and under them. Annually from 1863 to 1905, with only a few exceptions, Jules Verne turned out one or two books of fantastic happenings. Many of his then imaginary achievements have become later day facts; others are still to be realized. The book includes a chronological list of his "extraordinary voyages," a bibliography, and an index.

Booklist 39:292 Mr 15 '43
Reviewed by A. M. Jordan
Horn Bk 19:178 My '43 70w

"I hoped to find in 'Jules Verne' all I should like to know about the strange man whom God had endowed with the crystal-ball brain. Unhappily, George Waltz failed me. His book is hardly a good biography of a man, still less the biography of an imagination. In its pages there is little fulfillment of the promise in the title. For he seems primarily obsessed with an eagerness to set down the names of streets and theatres." Meyer Berger
— N Y Times p9 F 21 '43 1000w

"Though possibly not quite up to the study by Kenneth Allott, published a couple of years ago, [this] is a fascinating job, particularly in its account of the influence of Verne's imagination on later writers."
+ New Yorker 18:71 F 13 '43 70w
Sat R of Lit 26:30 My 15 '43 20w

"Although [this] is not a definitive biography of Verne as a man, it is, as the subtitle indicates, a serious study of Verne's imagination, a seeking out of the influences that led him to write such amazing books, and an impressive tally sheet of the effect that Verne had on his own and later generations. The book is written simply, but its informality is deceptive for actually it is a penetrating and stimulating picture of an eccentric mind at work." R. F. H.
+ Springf'd Republican p7e F 21 '43 700w

Reviewed by Euan Evans
Weekly Book Review p5 F 14 '43 950w
Wis Lib Bul 39:40 Mr '43

WALZ, AUDREY (FRANCIS BONNAMY, pseud). Dead reckoning. 248p $2 Duell
43-12353

Detective story.

Booklist 40:48 O 1 '43
Reviewed by Isaac Anderson
N Y Times p10 Jl 25 '43 80w

"Nice plot and good characters in this excellent mystery, written under a pseudonym."
+ New Yorker 19:64 Jl 31 '43 70w

"Intricate plot ably worked out. Average."
+ Sat R of Lit 26:25 Jl 31 '43 40w
Springf'd Republican p7e Ag 15 '43 200w

"This is a soft-boiled yarn with that carefree touch, detectives who enjoy every inch of the trail, and characters who stare quite a bit." Will Cuppy
Weekly Book Review p16 Jl 25 '43 150w

WAR SERVICES PROGRAM, PENNSYLVANIA. Making of America. 324p il $2.75 Smith & Durrell
973 U.S.—History 43-2439

A brief, simply worded history of the United States, designed not so much for young people as for newcomers to American life, refugees from other lands.

Booklist 39:386 Je 1 '43

"Suitable for all ages; a MUST for every library." J. E. Wooster
+ Library J 68:130 F 1 '43 110w

"It is painful to report that what is perhaps the last book by the Federal Writers Project is the first that does not fulfill its purpose. It is well enough to set down the facts accurately and to explain that we always have been in favor of freedom, but that has been done before. What the real beginner needs is an impression, a deep feeling for the subject, a sense of whatever creativeness there is in it. This book gets none of that across. The writing is technically expert, but neutral to the point of colorlessness; the illustrations are for the most part mere costume pieces." R. H. Rovere
— Weekly Book Review p18 F 21 '43 600w

WARD, ALFRED CHARLES. Literary journey through wartime Britain; il. by Frederick T. Chapman. 96p $2 Oxford
820.9 Literary landmarks—Great Britain. Great Britain—Description and travel. World war, 1939—Great Britain 43-18533

A pilgrimage thru wartime England, beginning in London, and extending south to Canterbury in the east and Plymouth in the west, and north to Kirriemuir in Scotland, reviewing the damage done by the German air raiders to the houses and churches, schools and halls of English literary fame.

Booklist 40:193 F 1 '44

"The whole book teems with just the right quotation at the right moment—for the author has filled his pages with great words, as well as monuments." William Du Bois
+ N Y Times p14 D 26 '43 600w
Reviewed by Clare Leighton
Sat R of Lit 27:24 F 5 '44 600w
Reviewed by Marshall Bragdon
Springf'd Republican p6 Ja 22 '44 500w
Reviewed by M. L. Becker
Weekly Book Review p4 Ja 9 '44 330w

WARD, ARTHUR SARSFIELD. See Rohmer, S., pseud.

WARD, CHRISTOPHER LONGSTRETH. Delaware Continentals, 1776-1783. 620p maps $3.75 Hist. soc. of Del, Old Town hall, Wilmington, Del.

973.3451 U.S.—History—Revolution—Regimental histories 42-2877

"The author of this volume has undertaken to do more than just to exploit the story of a single unit in the war of the American Revolution. Indeed the book becomes almost the story of the entire contest. Nevertheless, through the warp and woof of the narrative, the reader's eye is drawn unfailingly to the winding, colorful thread that marks the trail of the Delaware Continentals. That the Delaware regiment should be made the central figure in such a narrative is justified by the fact that it 'was excelled by no other in the length and continuity of its service,' that 'no regiment in the army surpassed it in soldiership' (General Henry Lee), and that it was 'reckoned the most efficient in the Continental Army' (the historian, Dr. David Ramsay). Organized in December, 1775, it took part in most of the major engagements of the war, even down to Yorktown, although then but a tattered remnant—one hundred out of the seven hundred it had once counted." (Am Hist R) Index.

"The story is a vivid, a satisfying, narrative, whether in the analysis of strategy and tactics, in the colorful descriptions of campaigns and battles, or in the intimate character sketches of the dramatis personae."

+ Am Hist R 48:428 Ja '43 140w

"Mr. Ward has made use of all available sources of information, including original records not hitherto studied. He tells a powerful straightforward story, with many lively incidental episodes. The book has more than a score of useful appendices and excellent maps drawn for this work. The book at once becomes indispensable for students of the Revolution who will hope and insist that Mr. Ward go on with the full history of the Continental army which he is reported to be planning. For general readers, here is a story rich in events and characters, skillfully and excitingly told." Carl Van Doren

+ Books p11 Ja 18 '42 1050w

WARD, CYRIL ALFRED. Those raw materials; an introduction to the study of raw materials. 392p $4.75 Norton [15s Allen, G]

600 Commercial products [A42-335]

"This book is the outcome of a study extending over a period of some five to six years. It is concerned in the first place with the preparation and uses of raw materials. A further section, deals with the occurrence of the latter, with special reference to minerals, and also includes a brief review of the world production of coal and petroleum in the years immediately preceding the War." (Pref) Bibliography. Indexes.

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert

Foreign Affairs 20:774 Jl '42 30w

Manchester Guardian p3 N 28 '41 200w

N Y New Tech Bks 27:28 Ap '42

"This is a timely and concise account by a professional engineer of the sources and nature of the raw materials most in demand in the modern world and of the processes of preparation and manufacture by which they are respectively adapted to human needs and wants."

+ Times [London] Lit Sup p559 N 8 '41 120w

WARD, DOUGLAS SHARP, and SELBERG, EDITH MARIE. Youth and jobs; young America rolls up its sleeves. (North central assn. of colleges and secondary schools. Com. on experimental units. Unit studies in Am. problems) 101p il pa 60c Ginn

371.425 Vocational guidance 43-7161

"Includes 'What Do Youth Surveys Show about Jobs for Young Americans?' 'Why Have Many Youths Been Unable to Find Desirable Work?' 'What Is Being Done to Help Youth?' 'How Can Youth Find Jobs?' 'How Can You Grow in Your Job?' 'How does the War Program Affect Youth Employment?' 'How Can Youth Build a Better Future?' " School & Society

School & Society 57:168 F 6 '43 60w

"Authentic, up to date, interesting materials. Helpful teaching aids. Good bibliographies. Very useful to teachers in junior and senior high schools in both social studies and guidance courses."

+ Social Studies 34:191 Ap '43 60w

WARD, MAISIE (MRS FRANCIS JOSEPH SHEED). Gilbert Keith Chesterton. 685p il $4.50 Sheed

B or 92 Chesterton, Gilbert Keith 43-14936

Full length biography of G. K. Chesterton, written by a family friend. Maisie Ward, besides being the wife of Chesterton's publisher, also has the advantage of being of his religion. Bibliography. Index.

"Maisie Ward perhaps stands too close to her subject and occasionally carries eulogy into doting; her book would have benefited from pruning of the trivial and repetitious. But more critical biographers of this great journalist—G. K. C. accurately called himself a journalist—will always be in debt to her industry." Edward Weeks

+ — Atlantic 173:123 Ja '44 180w

"In some ways, the book is almost idolatrous, and as such it will give great delight to those who take their Chesterton neat. But for the sobersides who admire G. K. Chesterton when he is good and detest him when he is bad, and would like to see him arithmetically measured at his true value, credited with his tremendous excellencies and debited with his enormous failings, this book will not completely satisfy, though they will be grateful for all the personal data it brings together." Peter Quinn

+ — Book Week p3 O 10 '43 500w

Booklist 40:78 N 1 '43

"The weaknesses of Miss Ward's biography are easily seen: it is faulty in organization and emphasis, it is overlong, and the Index is tantalizingly incomplete. On the other hand, its virtues are impressive and they may be summed up in three words: Here is Chesterton." J. J. Reilly

+ — Cath World 158:210 N '43 1200w

"Maisie Ward has produced for the first time an immense amount of information about Chesterton's youth. She was fortunate in that nearly all of G.K.'s early friends are still alive. . . This book contains so much meat that a separate review could be written for every chapter. I pass over the poet and fabulist and literary critic; I also pass over the sociologist, whose importance is not yet realized. And yet of course all the departments of Chesterton's astoundingly varied activities are so integrated that all are treated, at least by implication, when any one of them is under consideration. The point of integration is of course provided by his faith. Concerning his conversion to Catholicism Maisie Ward has supplied much valuable information."

+ Commonweal 38:634 O 15 '43 2450w

Reviewed by Malcolm Cowley

New Repub 109:889 D 20 '43 1100w

Reviewed by Malcolm Cowley

New Repub 109:921 D 27 '43 1350w

"At last we get a comprehensive, richly documented and intimate study which is indispensable to everyone who would understand Chesterton." Theodore Maynard

+ N Y Times p5 O 3 '43 1350w

"It is quite uncritical. It makes no attempt to analyze the many dangerous weaknesses of Chesterton's political position and it is just a little cozy and parochial (which Chesterton never was) about his Catholicism. But it is a grand book to read, nevertheless, because so much of the man is in it, so much of the great comic genius who will someday, for all his limitations, be recognized as a lesser brother of Chaucer, Fielding, and Dickens." Clifton Fadiman

+ — New Yorker 19:82 O 2 '43 220w

WARD, MAISIE—Continued

Reviewed by A. F. Wolfe
Sat R of Lit 26:10 O 2 '43 600w

Reviewed by Cyril Clemens
Springf'd Republican p7e O 10 '43 900w

Time 42:98 O 11 '43 1300w

"One regrets that, despite the six years of effort which went into its making, this biography does not quite come off. The center of the stage is occupied not by Chesterton but by Mrs. Ward swinging the censer of adulation with utterly unflagging zeal. I regret that, for the first time in my life I was tempted to dislike the great man a little, in the hope of restoring a more normal atmosphere. The book has a good deal of patiently exhumed material about such tedious matters as the Marconi scandal. But, although it exults becomingly in the conversion to Catholicism, it does not provide an account of Chesterton's spiritual development. And it scatters the literary story about like a series of detached explosions." G. N. Shuster
— + Weekly Book Review p22 O 3 '43 1250w

"Miss Ward's book is the 'official' biography, and she records in her introduction Mrs. Chesterton's hope that it may be the 'final and definitive' one. It is in several respects a good biography; it is based on careful research, it is completely honest, it is rich in anecdote and quotation, and it is sympathetic and understanding in personal matters. It includes many interesting personal letters, among them some first-rate ones from Shaw and Wells. But it is far from 'definitive.' It is painfully weak on the literary and critical sides, and it is badly proportioned in its discussions of Chesterton's writings." H. E. Woodbridge
+ — Yale R n s 33:368 winter '44 850w

WARE, CAROLINE FARRAR (MRS G. C. MEANS). Consumer goes to war; a guide to victory on the home front. 300p il $2 Funk

339.47 Consumer education. U.S.—Economic policy. World war, 1939—Economic aspects
42-51482

An analysis of wartime rationing, price control, control of production and transportation, etc. "The book is full of behind-the-scenes facts on price control, rationing, and the whole inflationary program, as well as practical advice on how individual consumers and consumer groups can do their share in their own homes and neighborhoods to carry out the consumer pledge. Miss Ware concludes with a challenge for the future—that a permanent peace must be based on a consumer's not a producer's economy, and proposals for bringing this about." (Survey) A supplement contains descriptions of "wartime consumer policies and programs of some national organizations." No index.

Booklist 39:270 Mr 1 '43
Bookmark 4:5 Mr '43
Cleveland Open Shelf p4 Ja '43

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert
Foreign Affairs 22:161 O '43 30w

"This book might well be placed on the 'must' reading list of all home economists and of other leaders interested in consumer problems. It should aid its readers to see more clearly their individual opportunities and responsibilities to contribute to the intelligent solution of some of our acute social problems." A. L. Edwards
+ J Home Econ 35:303 My '43 400w

"This is a valuable book for colleges and high schools, for its liberal and democratic spirit, authentic facts, and practical programs." B. R. Andrews
+ Social Educ 7:378 D '43 150w

"A gem of terse, accurate and well-organized information. And best of all, [the author] writes with persuasive simplicity." Marshall Bragdon
+ Springf'd Republican p6 D 26 '42 700w

Reviewed by Persia Campbell
Survey 79:60 F '43 550w

WARING, P. ALSTON, and TELLER, WALTER MAGNES. Roots in the earth; the small farmer looks ahead; foreword by Louis Bromfield. 202p il $2.50 Harper

631.1 Agriculture—U.S. Agr43-276

This book, written by two "small" farmers, deals with the practical and economic problems of the men who are trying to make a living on family-sized farms, independently of the "big" farmers. Partial contents: Farming for the family; The small farmer goes to market; The conflict between big and little farmers; Why they fight over the Farm Security Administration; The small farmer looks at the United States Department of Agriculture; The meaning of rural education; Will the war take us deep enough?

Booklist 40:160 Ja 1 '44

"'Roots in the Earth' deals primarily with the importance and present situation of the small farmer in America. The two authors, both successful family-type farmers in their own right, provide a sound and readable diagnosis and their remedies have been well tested in actual practice."
+ Commonweal 39:208 D 10 '43 800w

"Invigorating reading and important in its treatment of basic elements in our national life. For every public library and many home shelves." M. C. Manley
+ Library J 68:958 N 15 '43 90w

Reviewed by Russell Lord
New Repub 109:891 D 20 '43 950w

"It's really a book for city slickers with the farm yen, not for the farmer. But doubtless it is a true echo of the small farmer's emotion-choked voice. . . In a pleasant folksy way (they invite you at once to call them Walter and Alston) the two authors assure you that they are not writing for the commercial farmer at all. They're telling the story of the family-size farm. They're not, we're glad to report, enthusiasts for 'farm efficiency' but rather of 'farm adequacy.'" Walter Davenport
N Y Times p3 Ja 2 '44 480w

"Important and stimulating, the book has the added merit of being readable. It is more packed with epigrams than Saturday night at a cross-roads store and the epigrams are better. Now that rationing has sobered our notions of the farmer's importance, it should be widely read, for it deals with everybody's business." P. B. Sears
+ Sat R of Lit 27:25 Ja 29 '44 800w
Time 43:102 Ja 10 '44 650w

WARNER, GLENN SCOBEY, and WRIGHT, LAWTON. Pop Warner's book for boys; il. by Richard Stevens and photographs. rev ed 326p $2 McBride

796 Sports 42-25053

"A new and completely revised edition with new illustrations and format. In collaboration with Lawton Wright." (Booklist) For first edition see Book Review Digest, 1934.

Booklist 39:206 Ja 15 '43

"Recommended for libraries not owning previous edition, but not enough change to warrant replacement of earlier book until worn." Eleanor Kidder
+ — Library J 67:1071 D 1 '42 80w
Wis Lib Bul 39:17 Ja '43

WARNER, SYLVIA TOWNSEND. Garland of straw; twenty-eight stories. 252p $2.50 Viking [8s 6d Chatto]
43-13072

Collection of twenty-eight short stories, many of them concerned with eccentric characters. Some of the stories have appeared in The New Yorker.

"This collection of 28 short stories is apparently a sampling of the author's recent work. Miss Warner has a truant style, haughty or homely, but is at her best in the simple, pleasant tale. Often—too often for me—a faint aroma of tuberoses is perceptible as one reads and life seems all futility and black plumes. . . In sum this is a book for the modern, a book which typifies trends in contemporary fiction—or perhaps, literature. But the author quite definitely writes not for 'peasant appreciation.'" F. N. Litten

Book Week p4 S 12 '43 290w

Booklist 40:80 N 1 '43

Reviewed by Harold Brighouse
Manchester Guardian p3 Ag 6 '43 80w

Reviewed by Diana Trilling
Nation 157:414 O 9 '43 950w

Reviewed by Philip Toynbee
New Statesman & Nation 26:125 Ag 21 '43 190w

"Undoubtedly many people will find Miss Warner's sketches fragile, poignant and profound, where I find them more likely to be flimsy, casual or precious." Wallace Stegner

N Y Times p6 S 5 '43 500w

"Twenty-eight malicious stories by a writer who specializes in eccentrics and whose velvet style conceals but in no way impairs the effectiveness of a set of brass knuckles."

New Yorker 19:66 Ag 28 '43 50w

Reviewed by Bess Jones
Sat R of Lit 26:11 S 11 '43 480w

Reviewed by Kate O'Brien
Spec 171:134 Ag 6 '43 380w

"Ever since the far-too distant days when 'Lolly Willowes' and 'Mr. Fortune's Maggot' startled and delighted the English speaking world, readers have looked to their author, Sylvia Townsend Warner for very special qualities. Her most recent offering . . . keeps the promise which was made in her earlier books. Here are the economy of phrase, the sharp exactness of word and the expert characterization at the least possible expense of time. . . Nearly 30 stories make up 'A Garland of Straw.' Each is a masterpiece in its own way. Each moves the reader to pity or dismay. If the warmth is gone, one must not be too disappointed. The creative artist, more sensitive and vocal than most of us, is first to reflect the dark hours through which men grope." E. M. B.

+ Springf'd Republican p7e S 12 '43 280w

"A few of the stories not concerned with the war are on the sentimental side, others are inclined to indulge a somewhat trivial humour. But the good stories remain, some grim, some gay, a few both at the same time, and among them are two or three that are very funny indeed. . . But it is the serious stories, not all of them evoked by an image of catastrophe to come or in our midst, that give the truest measure of Miss Warner's talent. One is not always sure, perhaps, of the justice of her anger or pity—not sure, that is, of the aptness of her means of communication; the cool, cutting edge of her irony is sometimes more drastically surgical than she seems to intend. In the very brief 'In the Hour of Our Death', for instance, does she not overdo the heartless sanctimoniousness of the clergyman son whose clergyman father is dying?"

+ — Times [London] Lit Sup p365 Jl 31 '43 1000w

"From almost all of these stories, there is more than the splash of a stone in the pool of ideas. In almost all of them, there are enough implications to make each a complete commentary on some aspect of human life. Like the after-dinner brandy which assures a choice stimulation, 'A Garland of Straw' has clarity, aroma, and fastidious distinction." Virgilia Sapieha

+ Weekly Book Review p5 Ag 29 '43 1100w

WARREN, CHARLES MARQUIS. Only the valiant. 327p $2.50 Macmillan

43-2466

"Stated in its simplest terms, this first novel by Charles Warren is a story of courage. The theme, however, is approached in what might be called a circling manoeuvre. It starts with the assumption of cowardice in its principal character, the cavalry commander at a small Southwestern Army post in the Eighteen Seventies, takes him and a handful of men into a hopeless engagement with the Apaches, and builds up into a rip-roaring tale of the Old West." N Y Times

Booklist 39:334 Ap 15 '43

Bookmark 4:19 My '43

"The writing throughout is excellent, tough, hard, in keeping with action and characters. All told, 'Only the Valiant' is a first-rate job and shows what can be done with such hell-for-leather material when the writer probes beneath the costume and finds the eternal human heart." Hal Borland

+ N Y Times p7 F 21 '43 600w

"A violent and exciting story of a battle and an interesting psychological study of the detail's commanding officer."

+ New Yorker 19:59 F 20 '43 50w

"The situation is clearly a manufactured one, but Mr. Warren's excellent writing and expert character-building take the story out of the sheer thriller class and make it a psychological novel of more than ordinary merit."

+ Springf'd Republican p7e Mr 7 '43 350w

"'Only the Valiant' rises to a climax of suspense in which three ultimate terrors—death from thirst, death at the hands of the Indians and death to the captain from one of his own troops—assume equal rank and evil imminence. The situation is sheer drama in which the psychological forces are as ominous as the advancing savages. It is a novel you will not soon forget." Lisle Bell

+ Weekly Book Review p8 F 28 '43 800w

WARREN, GEORGE. Traffic courts; pub. under jt. auspices of the Nat. conf. of judicial councils and the Nat. com. on traffic law enforcement. 280p il $4 Little

621.21343 Traffic regulations. Accidents—Prevention 43-584

"This book makes it possible to view traffic law enforcement in its proper perspective, and brings to light the inadequacies of our traffic law enforcement machinery. It is based on a nationwide survey of traffic courts conducted through personal firsthand investigation as well as through the utilization of questionnaires and studies of legal materials. . . Inadequacies were found in the traffic laws themselves, in the organization of the courts, in their physical equipment and surroundings, in their procedures and their personnel." Ann Am Acad

Reviewed by N. N. Gill
Am Pol Sci R 37:731 Ag '43 490w

"Mr. Warren has not been content with a destructive criticism of the existing organization and procedures for traffic law enforcement. He makes fifty-seven recommendations which if carried out would undoubtedly provide each state with more rational methods of traffic law enforcement. . . The author is to be commended for his painstaking pioneer study." Morris Ploscowe

+ Ann Am Acad 229:231 S '43 430w

WARREN, HARRIS GAYLORD. The sword was their passport. 286p $3 La. state univ. press

972.08 Mexico—History—Wars of independence, 1810-1821. Filibusters 43-8474

"A history of American filibustering in the Mexican revolution." (Subtitle) The book is devoted mainly to the Gutiérrez-Magee expedition of 1812-1813; Toledo's fiasco on the Sabine in 1814; Mina's invasion of Mexico, 1816-1817; the plot of the French exiles a year later; and the activities of Dr James Long from 1819 to 1821. Bibliography. Index.

"Notwithstanding a few minor shortcomings, mostly stylistic, the discerning reader of this book, even though he may not agree with all of the author's conclusions, can hardly fail to be impressed by the full and careful documentation upon which statements of fact are based, by the meticulous care with which footnotes indicate sources, by the adequate bibliography of primary and secondary source material, by the clear and helpful map, by the excellent typography, and by the attractive general mechanical style of the volume." E. H. West

WARREN, H. G.—Continued
+ Am Hist R 49:135 O '43 480w
Booklist 39:444 Jl 1 '43
Reviewed by Anita Brenner
N Y Times p38 Je 6 '43 400w

WARREN, ROBERT PENN. At heaven's gate. 391p $2.50 Harcourt
43-13163

Portrays present-day life in an unspecified Southern state. Sue Murdock, daughter of an aristocratic but unscrupulous financier, is the central character. Rebelling against her father's autocratic ways, Sue leaves home and takes an apartment of her own. After a series of amorous adventures Sue is murdered by an ex-lover, just at a time when her father's sins are about to find him out. Sympathy over Sue's death saves him.

"There are alternating violence and tenderness, coarseness and poetic beauty, in this rich story of disillusionment."
+ Atlantic 172:131 S '43 90w

Reviewed by Sterling North
— Book Week p3 Ag 22 '43 550w

"According to the blurb, 'a novel of violence, of human beings struggling against a fate beyond their power to alter.' The author's undoubted power is handicapped by this false presupposition about human beings. His people do not seem very real, though he perhaps thinks he has made them so by having them use a great deal of the kind of language that cannot be indicated, even by sample, in these pages."
Christian Century 60:991 S 1 '43 70w

"Robert Penn Warren knows how to write. He has a few artifices of style which become tedious, especially an excessive peppering of his language with connectives, and occasionally he gets very close to the edge of being arty, but when he really does make something come off, it comes off terribly well. Hence such a novel as 'At Heaven's Gate' seems to us all the more tragic, not merely because its plot is formally tragic, but because it is tragic in a corrupt and brutal way. It is tragic for the author and for the reader. Once you have read the book, you will not recommend it to anyone, and it is not here recommended. It is frankly used as a springboard for a few reflections."
— + Commonweal 38:398 Ag 6 '43 800w

"Well-written, violent, frank, and sex-centered book, peopled with psychological cases. In same class with Faulkner's Wild Palms." H. G. Kelley
Library J 68:625 Ag '43 70w

"What with the clamor these days for a home-grown literature to feed the national ego, I am afraid that Robert Penn Warren's new novel may not get the critical attention it deserves. For like his first novel, 'Night Rider,' it does not exploit any popular or literary current, nor does it have any of the rhetorical fanfare, any of the shock-effects, that served to arouse interest in many recent pieces of writing. Yet 'At Heaven's Gate' achieves a combination of intelligence and narrative pace all too rare in contemporary fiction. For Warren has worked the tragic symbols of the Southern mind into a fast and highly charged story." William Phillips
Nation 157:243 Ag 28 '43 800w

"Robert Penn Warren, a talented poet and story writer has worked for years over this second novel, with the result that it is full of surprises for the reader; some of the passages are better written than anything else in recent fiction. Because of all these virtues, the book has to be judged by extremely strict standards. . . I should say, for example, that Warren succeeds with his heroine. . . The trouble with the novel as a whole is that it tells too many stories in too many styles." Malcolm Cowley
+ — New Repub 109:258 Ag 23 '43 1100w

"'At Heaven's Gate' is a rather unpleasant parable of both the modern Southern ruling classes and the contemporary forces of opposition. Technically the novel is extremely well done. In prose, as in poetry, Mr. Warren has an enviable command of his medium. And though I imagine that he might consign Freud to the same limbo as he has Marx and other modern heretics, what is particularly notable is his insight into morbid psychology: his ability to illumine disagreeable people and their even more disagreeable thoughts. The cruelty of the exploiter, the perhaps worse cruelty of the exploited, the fantasies and acts born of frustration and impotence—these are Mr. Warren's special province. And over this province he rules. . . But since Mr. Warren offers no alternative . . . to the limitless corruption which dominates his Southern world, this is also the weakness of the novel." Maxwell Geismar
+ — N Y Times p4 Ag 22 '43 900w
— New Yorker 19:67 Ag 21 '43 110w

"I must admit myself not exactly sure what this book is supposed to say. Mr. Warren has too much skill and sensitiveness to be intent merely upon writing a dirty book. The poet in him moves splendidly sometimes in his prose. There are characters in his book who are as real as Tennessee itself. Ashby Wyndham's long ungrammatical epistle is almost perfect in its unconscious humor and sadness side by side. But the book as a whole is almost a melodrama of malignancy. It is not a novel of the South but of evil and preoccupation with evil." Jonathan Daniels
Sat R of Lit 26:6 Ag 21 '43 450w

"A novel of real skill and high vitality, stuffed with enough activity and excitement to keep the most casual reader interested. . . On the whole this novel, with its vividness and melodrama, is a kind of record of that new South of William Faulkner and Erskine Caldwell which in giving up with a vengeance the ante-bellum roses and lace has turned to violence and horror. The old roses and lace are quite as credible as the new violence and horror." Lee Varley
+ Springf'd Republican p7e Ag 1 '43 800w

"Mr. Warren has provided in 'At Heaven's Gate' not only a stirring novel—the account of Private Porsum's exploits will stand with the best writing of our times—but one of the most profound interpretations that has yet been made of Southern life." Caroline Gordon
+ Weekly Book Review p5 Ag 22 '43 1050w

"To his tale and his characters Mr. Warren devotes far more loving care than they are worth. He lavishes upon them a savage wit and a bruising irony, a taut suspense, and an artfully elaborate and poetic style. The result is at once engrossing and revolting." Orville Prescott
Yale R n s 33:xii autumn '43 200w

WARRICK, MRS LAMAR (SHERIDAN). Yesterday's children. 202p $2 Crowell
43-51148

Story of a boy and his parents during his senior year in high school and his first six months of college. On his eighteenth birthday young Randy's parents sign his application for appointment as aviation cadet.

Reviewed by Dorsey McCarthy
Book Week p3 My 9 '43 850w
Booklist 39:369 My 15 '43

"It is a grand little book, and if it doesn't leave you with a simultaneous smile and lump in your throat you must be armored like an American tank." Charlotte Dean
+ N Y Times p8 My 2 '43 650w

"Do you remember 'Mrs Miniver' (the book, not the movie) and how pleasantly warmed-through you were when you finished reading it? You knew Mrs Miniver, her husband and her children and were grateful for them. LaMar Warrick has written a book which is, in the same pleasant way, an American 'Mrs Miniver.' . . And it is recommended to young and old with enthusiasm." E. M. B.

+ Springf'd Republican p7e My 2 '43 280w

"Mrs. Warrick writes almost as simply and directly as one would in a letter to a friend. The homeliness and honesty of her narrative, and its nearness to hundreds of thousands of families, will give 'Yesterday's Children' a wide and affectionate welcome." Mary Ross
+ Weekly Book Review p10 My 2 '43 900w

Wis Lib Bul 39:86 Je '43

WASON, ELIZABETH. Miracle in Hellas; the Greeks fight on. 263p $2.75 Macmillan

940.53495 World war, 1939—Greece 43-6306

A C.B.S. commentator who was in the European war zone beginning with 1938, and in Athens from the summer of 1940 to June 1941 relates her experiences in Greece, and includes a section on the results of Nazi occupation in Greece since 1941, based on authentic material.

"Miss Wason makes the Greek people and the Greek guerrillas come alive in her pages. She combines the thrill of action with the deeper thrill that comes from seeing people possessed of undying spirit, courage, patriotism and endurance. This is, indeed a fine, and inspiring book." Ernest von Hartz
+ Book Week p1 My 16 '43 800w

Booklist 39:367 My 15 '43

Bookmark 4:14 My '43

"Outside the political significance of this book, there is a lively journalistic impact to the writing which makes it as vital as any story yet written about the present reign of terror in Europe."
+ Boston Globe p17 My 12 '43 200w

Christian Century 60:668 Je 2 '43 260w

Cleveland Open Shelf p9 Jl '43

Reviewed by J. R. Lewis
Current Hist 4:219 My '43 500w

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert
Foreign Affairs 22:159 O '43 60w

"A readable journalistic story, yet valuable as an interpretation of Greek character, history, and politics. Should be useful in any public library." G. E. Brown
+ Library J 68:288 Ap 1 '43 70w

"Miss Wason is so enthusiastic about Greeks, both ancient and modern, that her book has the flavor of an uncritical eulogy. She does not investigate the reasons why Greek resistance was crippled by intrigue among the leaders, nor does she question whether King George's present government-in-exile in London is truly representative of the Greek people. She accepts the Yugoslav warrior, General Mihailovich, as a great man who knits together the Balkan rebels across national boundaries; perhaps so, but some think differently. Miss Wason lifts a corner of the veil over the dark continent of Europe, but there is much more to be told." Marcus Duffield
+ — Nation 156:897 Je 26 '43 360w

Reviewed by John Mavrogordato
New Statesman & Nation 26:391 D 11 '43 60w

"It is her account of the underground and of public sentiment that makes her book valuable. There have been other reports of the latest conquest of Greece but I know none so detailed and so inspiring of the resistance of Greece conquered." Gilbert Highet
+ N Y Times p1 My 2 '43 1300w

"Miss Wason's account of the war and the life in Athens under the Germans, as she saw it, is interesting and worthwhile. . . It is a pity that she didn't confine her book to such things . . . without weakening her story with synthetic reconstructions of guerrilla battles being waged thousands of miles away from where she sat and wrote." P. R. Knauth
+ — Sat R of Lit 26:16 Je 12 '43 1050w

"In presenting an able and extremely sensitive account of the Greek situation, Miss Wason's book is considerably more objective than the books of many of her fellow correspondents. Once more Americans can read the amazing story of a systematic preparation for conquest, of the undermining of the political strength of a nation before physical attack, for in Greece the Nazis prepared and used the same Quisling pattern that had aided them in western Europe. Miss Wason's book, however, is more than another account of political treacheries, it is the story of the people of Greece, and as such it ranks among the best of its kind." L. S. Munn
+ Springf'd Republican p7e My 9 '43 500w

Times [London] Lit Sup p556 N 20 '43 210w

"Some people possess two national loyalties, one to the country in which they were born and one to the country to which they are bound by affection and admiration. It is clear from reading Betty Wason's 'Miracle in Hellas' that Greece is sympathetically a second homeland to her. She writes of it with the ardor of a patriot steeped in the history and the great deeds of a noble people. At times, indeed, her enthusiasm leads her into becoming overlyrical and more than a trifle repetitious, but these faults are excusable in one who has been so deeply stirred by the courage of a people who refuse to admit or accept defeat." Rose Feld
+ Weekly Book Review p7 My 16 '43 1100w

WATERMAN, LEROY. Religion faces the world crisis; a study of the religious aspects and motivations of civilization. 206p $2.25 Wahr

261 Religion. Civilization. Ethics 43-2081

"Professor Waterman is best known for his highly expert scholarship in Semitics and as one of the four translators of the Old Testament in the Smith-Goodspeed American Version. He is chairman of the department of Oriental languages and literatures in the University of Michigan. In this volume he keeps the technicalities of his erudition out of sight and builds upon it a thoughtful discussion of the place of religion in history leading up to an emphasis upon the importance, for our own time, of rediscovering 'ethical religion, Christianity's buried talent,' and making it the motive and guide to action." Christian Century

---

Christian Century 60:1407 D 1 '43 130w

"This book sounds a very wholesome emphasis for the Christian church. The strongest part of the appeal is the evidence with which Professor Waterman is most at home, the prophets of Israel. There he has found a key which will unlock many doors—many doors which need badly to be opened. Whether any one key will unlock all doors is questionable. A scholar has done what he has preached—he has brought to bear on the present crisis in world history his own province of information in a form which an intelligent lay reader can understand. He has not merely asked the question, 'What is wrong with the world?' He has put it against a rather broad background of men and of movements. While one may disagree with the author about many details, he cannot easily put aside the central thesis, that ethical religion remains as the one reasonable alternative to world chaos." J. B. Pritchard
+ Crozer Q 20:252 Jl '43 600w

WATKINS, MRS HOPE (BRISTER). See Brister, H.

WATSON, ERNEST W. Color and method in painting as seen in the work of 12 American painters. 141p il $5 Watson-Guptill

750 Painting—Technique. Color. Painters, American 42-25525

In these "interviews" the author sets forth the methods and tools used by twelve American artists in their work. Each section contains a photograph of the painter, a reproduction in color of one of his works, a biographical and critical sketch, analysis of his methods and illustrations of his brushes and palettes.

WATSON, E. W.—Continued
Artists included are: Charles Burchfield, Eugene Speicher, Gladys Rockmore Davis, Eliot O'Hara, Stanley Woodward, Andrew Wyeth, Ogden M. Pleissner, Leon Kroll, Robert Brackman, Paul Sample, John F. Carlson, Peppino Mangravite.

Booklist 39:134 D 15 '42
Christian Science Monitor p13 Ap 24 '43 290w
School Arts 43:8a Ja '44 150w

WATSON, FORBES. Winslow Homer; photo research and bibl. by Aimée Crane. (Am. artists ser) 112p pl $1.95 Crown
759.1 Homer, Winslow 42-50396

"A searching study of the life and work of the man who is often called the most national of all American painters, together with a gallery of reproductions of his notable paintings." Publisher's note

Booklist 39:203 Ja 15 '43
Reviewed by Jerome Mellquist
Commonweal 38:13 Ap 23 '43 70w

WATT, FREDERICK B. Who dare to live. 68p $1.25 Macmillan
811 World war, 1939—Poetry 43-13097

Narrative poem by a lieutenant commander of the Royal Canadian Navy. It tells the story of a veteran captain who cracked under the strain of wartime duty; retired for a rest period; and then when recovered, could find no ship to captain. He is offered the mate's berth and refuses. Then he conquers his pride and accepts.

"Frederick B. Watt, seafaring poet, known for his collections 'Boy Blue's Verses' and 'Vagrant' has to be thanked for this new, valuable volume." H. L. Reich
+ Book Week p6 S 12 '43 140w

"Here is a narrative poem well worth its paper, even in these days of paper shortage." Hal Borland
+ N Y Times p21 S 12 '43 480w
Reviewed by W. R. Benet
Sat R of Lit 26:64 O 16 '43 70w

WATTS, FRANKLIN, ed. Voices of history; great speeches and papers of the year 1941; introd. by Charles A. Beard. (V 1) 669p $3.50 Franklin Watts, inc, 285 Madison av, N.Y.
909.82 History, Universal. World politics. World war, 1939—Documents, etc, sources 42-25970

A collection of great speeches and papers of the year 1941, arranged chronologically with a summary of important events of each month preceding the speeches. Index.

Booklist 39:182 Ja 1 '43

"For reference purposes, it should prove invaluable."
+ Christian Century 59:1496 D 2 '42 60w

"The compiler has set himself to the task of producing a book suitable for the casual student of international affairs. It is hard to reconcile this objective with the purely chronological arrangement and with the complete absence of commemorative or explanatory material. A brief list of major events of each month, at the head of each of the 12 chapters, helps considerably, as does the well-designed index. But the volume remains essentially of value for reference."
+ — Christian Science Monitor p11 My 1 '43 250w
Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert
Foreign Affairs 21:576 Ap '43 20w
School & Society 56:532 N 28 '42 60w

WATTS, FRANKLIN, and LEIGHTON, BARBARA E., eds. Voices of history, 1942-43. (Gramercy publications) 759p maps $3.50 Phoenix
909.82 History, Universal. World politics. World war, 1939—Documents, etc.—Sources

Collection of the important speeches made by Roosevelt, Stalin, Churchill, and other important statesmen, during 1942. Index.

Reviewed by A. C. Spectorsky
Book Week p4 Je 6 '43 20w
Booklist 39:423 Je 15 '43
Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert
Foreign Affairs 22:156 O '43 30w
Reviewed by Alfred Werner
N Y Times p26 O 3 '43 700w

"The job is carelessly done; without discrimination the editor has reprinted everything he could lay his hands on. . . Instead of reprinting the gist which makes them important and exciting reading, the editor has produced a rehash of the complete nonsense and has thus made his book practically unreadable." H. W. Weigert
— Sat R of Lit 26:17 Jl 10 '43 400w

WATTS, STEPHEN. Pale horse, and other stories. 211p $2 (8s 6d) Macmillan 43-8210

"These twelve short stories remind us that war does not obliterate trivial or deeply personal circumstances. . . They were written by a soldier as relaxation and the tangles they describe are all fantasy, yet much of the pleasure in reading them is in recognition of persons and contretemps definitely contemporary." Weekly Book Review

"Three of the dozen stories are a shade more serious in intention than the rest and, although they do not come off quite so smoothly, suggest abilities that Mr. Watts is at present inclined to hold in reserve. . . For the most part, however, Mr. Watts is content in this volume to be light, undemanding and 'escapist.' "
— + Times [London] Lit Sup p65 F 6 '43 390w

"What the stories are full of is observation, newspapers, bars, inns, barracks, a country house or two. Yet in all these places so ticked off, it is the war inside, the reservations, the clinches of principle, the slips, the outbursts after long periods of unresolution that make these stories a contribution, and a relief from the war." Euan Evans
+ Weekly Book Review p12 Je 6 '43 350w

WAUGH, DOROTHY. Warm earth; pictures by [the author]. 43p $1 Oxford
574 Natural history—Juvenile literature
43-3943

Describes what goes on in the earth, out of sight, and what effect this has on plants, etc. Grades four to six.

Booklist 39:357 My 1 '43

"An important book for young gardeners, though it is modest in appearance. Boys and girls, who plant victory gardens of their own, will find answers to their questions about what goes on in the earth." F. B. Sloan
+ Christian Science Monitor p10 My 24 '43 90w

"The mysterious changes which prepare animal, mineral and vegetable matter for absorption into the sap of growing plants are described with scientific accuracy in this attractive little book." A. M. Jordan
+ Horn Bk 19:175 My '43 70w

"Many excellent drawings in black and white." Dorotha Dawson
+ Library J 68:434 My 15 '43 30w

"The unusual quality of the illustrations, the pleasing format of this little volume and the interesting topics which the text opens up should stimulate further reading along this line."
+ N Y Times p17 My 16 '43 220w

New Yorker 19:71 My 29 '43 20w

Sat R of Lit 26:30 My 15 '43 20w

"With all the nature books for ten-to-twelves, this is first of its kind. [Its] statements [are] scientifically accurate, expressed in simple, melodious phrases." M. L. Becker

+ Weekly Book Review p9 Ap 25 '43 230w

Wis Lib Bul 39:76 My '43

WAY, FREDERICK. Pilotin' comes natural; il. by John O'Hara Cosgrave, II. 271p map $3 Farrar

386.3 Steamboats 43-7098

"The book is made up of chapters in the adventurous career of a boy whose mother wanted him to be a civil engineer, but who, irresistibly drawn by the romance of the river, abandoned 'tangent, cotangent, cosecant, cosine' for pilot house and texas. Captain Way's story concerns real people and events. He had no need to draw on his imagination to describe some of the extraordinary characters of the river, and their lurid tales rival those about Paul Bunyan of the North Woods and John Henry of the cotton country. There are 'real life' stories, too—the time a hurricane hit the General Crowder with 60 passengers aboard, the episode of an escaping convict who included himself in a shipment of overalls, and the saga of the Cincinnati wharfmaster's cat." (Christian Science Monitor) Glossary of steamboat terms.

Reviewed by Marion Neville

Book Week p5 Jl 4 '43 480w

Booklist 39:421 Je 15 '43

Bookmark 4:6 My '43

Christian Science Monitor p16 My 20 '43 450w

N Y New Tech Bks 28:49 Jl '43

"Captain Frederick Way is well on the way to getting himself called the Mark Twain of the Ohio River. Like Mark, he is a good pilot, a very likable fella both in and out of his books; and, like Mark again, he brings to writing the interest in people, the rich colloquial style, and the perception of the humors of living which distinguish both the Western waters and the Western lands. . . The book abounds in anecdotes of rivermen, from the mystery of how Captain Burnside foretold river rises to Dayton Randolph's tall tales of the fabulous packet Hurronico and her super-impossible doings." Horace Reynolds

+ N Y Times p26 My 23 '43 500w

"Here is the story of an impressionable youngster, as he was twenty years ago, with a veritable passion for flowing water, and the good habit of getting fired frequently—good because it got him acquainted with plenty of boats, a singular assortment of water worthies, and four rivers. . . It is an amusing and at times an amazing book, its zest, humor and sense of character achieving an over-all effect of charm; a book written from a store of first-hand information which is the asset and almost the monopoly of its author." C. B. Firestone

+ Weekly Book Review p4 My 23 '43 1400w

WEATHERHEAD, LESLIE DIXON. Personalities of the passion. 183p $1.50 Abingdon-Cokesbury [5s Hodder]

232.96 Jesus Christ—Passion. Bible. New Testament—Biography 43-51047

This is a " 'devotional study of some of the characters who played a part in the drama of Christ's passion and resurrection.'. . In this, as in his pulpit, [Dr Weatherhead] is not 'preaching about the war,' but he is very consciously and searchingly preaching to people upon whom the impact of war has fallen in full force and who need the inner reinforcement that comes from meditating upon the things that make for spiritual strength and peace." (Christian Century)

Booklist 39:285 Mr 15 '43

"This book exhibits Dr. Weatherhead's thinking and writing at their best. . . Put this at or near the top of the list of books for Lenten reading and use."

+ Christian Century 60:111 Ja 27 '43 100w

"Dr. Weatherhead is a well-known preacher in London, at present pastor of the City Temple, one of England's most famous churches. Out of his wide experience and a deeply spiritual out-look, he has written of the Easter event in a manner so tender, so understanding, as to bring to each reader a clearer concept of the inner meanings of that most significant week." A. F. G.

+ Christian Science Monitor p12 Mr 20 '43 700w

"The author's imaginative genius, sound scholarship, and sympathetic interpretation combine to make the 'sad glory of the Cross' more personal and meaningful to the war-weary of our time." W. F. Thompson

+ Churchman 157:15 Mr 1 '43 120w

"Mr. Weatherhead's book is different; but because he is aware that many people have written about Pilate, Judas and the other actors in the Passion, and because the temptation is to do this kind of thing much too easily, he has evidently been at considerable pains to collect his material thoughtfully, and the lesson which he draws from the sketches applies with valuable point to the lives of ordinary people."

+ Times [London] Lit Sup p179 Ap 4 '42 120w

Weekly Book Review p29 Mr 7 '43 160w

WEAVER, GILBERT GRIMES, comp. Bibliography of motion pictures for vocational and technical schools. 329p pa $2.50 Hamilton co, 225 Lafayette st, N.Y.

371.3352 Moving pictures in education. Moving pictures—Catalogs 43-51074

"Contains almost 2,000 listings of motion pictures, slide films, and slides that may be used for instructional purposes, with addresses of distributors. Topics include war worker training, industrial education, home economics, agriculture, distributive occupations, guidance, and engineering." Management R

Booklist 39:312 Ap 1 '43

Management R 32:43 Ja '43 40w

WEAVER, WARD, pseud. See Mason, V.

WEBB, ADDISON. Beekeeping for profit and pleasure; il. by Natalie Harlan Davis. 116p $2 Macmillan

638.14 Bees Agr43-210

Handbook on beekeeping in city or country. Contains instructions and suggestions on hive location, obtaining bees, equipment, manipulation, treatment of stings, spring and winter management, diseases, honey plants and honey in legend. Index.

"Concise, practical, yet this book is hard to lay down, even for the person who has no intention whatever of putting a beehive in his backyard. Excellent black and white 'how to' illustrations add to its value." J. T. Frederick

+ Book Week p4 S 19 '43 100w

Booklist 40:41 O 1 '43

WEBB, RICHARD WILSON, and WHEELER, HUGH CALLINGHAM (Q. PATRICK, PATRICK QUENTIN, JONATHAN STAGGE, pseuds). Scarlet circle. 257p $2 Doubleday 43-8698

Detective story.

"Stagge has packed some excellent reading between the opening and closing chapters—but I do mean between." Elizabeth Bullock

Book Week p8 My 9 '43 160w

Booklist 39:465 Jl 15 '43

WEBB, R. W.—Continued

"Since both Dr. Westlake and his daughter enjoy nothing better than a puzzling murder case, a good time is had by all, and that includes the reader." Isaac Anderson
+ N Y Times p10 Je 6 '43 100w

"Good, gossipy tale of a New England town and its small but deep-rooted scandals."
+ New Yorker 19:80 My 15 '43 70w

Springf'd Republican p7e My 23 '43 90w

"An ingenious plot puts the story across as a puzzle. The wordage is something else again." Will Cuppy
+ — Weekly Book Review p20 My 9 '43 250w

WEBBER, FRANK MARTIN. Peter Painter and the holidays; il. by Vera Neville. [32p] $1 McKay
43-3405

Four stories, one each for Christmas, New Year, Easter, and July 4th, about Peter Painter, the elf who was tall as a butcher knife and brown as a hazel nut. For grades one to three.

"It is a book for children the small size of those in these pink-kneed, golden-haired pictures." M. L. Becker
Weekly Book Review p8 Ap 18 '43 200w
Wis Lib Bul 39:76 My '43

WEBBER, MRS IRMA ELEANOR (SCHMIDT). Up above and down below [il. by the author]. [31p] $1.25 Scott, W.R.
580 Botany—Juvenile literature 43-51044

Simple little book about plants and their growth, intended as a first book for very little children.

Booklist 39:298 Mr 15 '43

Reviewed by F. B. Sloan
Christian Science Monitor p10 My 24 '43 50w

"This is a graphic and unusual introduction, to be easily grasped by young children." A. M. Jordan
+ Horn Bk 19:99 Mr '43 70w

"Sometimes this over-simplification is confusing for, to judge from these pictures, a tree and a sunflower occupy the same amount of space, the rabbit and the elephant are practically the same size, and the cat is strangely large in comparison with the giraffe. . . Well meant though it is, 'Up Above and Down Below' seems conclusively to indicate that it is better to wait until children are able to grasp more than one isolated fact at a time before attempting to enlighten them on so large a topic as plant life."
N Y Times p10 Mr 7 '43 200w
New Yorker 19:71 My 29 '43 30w

"A four-year-old who loves plants will enjoy it." M. L. Becker
+ Weekly Book Review p7 F 21 '43 200w

WEBER, MRS LENORA (MATTINGLY). Meet the Malones; il. by Gertrude Howe. 218p $2 Crowell
43-12453

A novel for older girls. The three younger Malone children, led by sixteen-year-old Mary Fred, are left to carry on while their father goes to Hawaii as a war correspondent. Things don't go as smoothly as they might, but with the advent of a managing, well-to-do stepgrandmother the bumps are straightened out. And then the Malones discover that money, clothes and ease of living do not make up for independence and integrity.

Booklist 40:64 O 15 '43
Cath World 158:316 D '43 40w

"Not necessary, but will be popular, especially with girls twelve to fifteen. Physical make-up satisfactory, and line drawings by Gertrude Howe carry the spirit of this entertaining story." A. M. Wetherell
Library J 68:849 O 15 '43 70w

"Highly improbable tale with too many unreal situations." J. E. Stromdahl
— Library J 68:849 O 15 '43 120w

"As the Malones sift their values of living, older girls will find their family crises full of humor and revealing bits of characterization; and if the story occasionally verges on the sentimental, this is more than offset by the tonic tone of the whole." E. L. Buell
+ N Y Times p8 O 17 '43 340w

"This is not a second Little Women: we don't need one, having the first. But we do need good contemporary high school stories, and this is one." M. L. Becker
+ Weekly Book Review p40 N 14 '43 400w
Wis Lib Bul 40:14 Ja '44

WEBSTER, HUTTON. Taboo; a sociological study. 393p $4 Stanford univ. press
572 Taboo 42-20854

"It brings together a vast amount of factual material on the phenomenon of taboo as it occurs in cultures in all parts of the world, and presents this material under a series of headings corresponding to the various situations in which such prohibitions commonly occur. All sources are fully documented, and the book will be an invaluable aid to future investigators." (Ann Am Acad) Index.

Reviewed by W. D. Wallis
Am Anthropol 45:478 Jl '43 160w

"This book is a monument to the industry and the scholarship of its author, and a fitting companion to his classic study of primitive secret societies. . . However, the author's approach is in the tradition of The Golden Bough rather than in that of any of the recent techniques of ethnological study and comparison, and the very wealth of factual material presented tends to obscure his theoretical conclusions." Ralph Linton
+ — Ann Am Acad 225:256 Ja '43 360w

Reviewed by A. W. Levi
Ethics 54:68 O '43 360w

Reviewed by G. B. Johnson
Social Forces 22:117 O '43 280w

WEBSTER, NOAH. Biographical dictionary. 1697p $6.50 Merriam
920 43-14719

Contains 40,000 brief biographies of men and women of all countries and all times and from every field of human activity. Pronunciations are given. Appendices include Pronouncing list of prenames, and tables of American presidents, justices of the Supreme court, cabinet officers, rulers of foreign countries, popes, etc.

"Probably the best single-volume reference book of its kind on the market." P. McH.
+ Book Week p2 O 31 '43 130w
Booklist 40:93 N 15 '43

"A valuable feature for those who converse on current topics is the pronunciations. In these days when names of Russian, Hungarian, and a host of other European celebrities are likely to baffle even our best authorities this book is sure to prove a port of safety. For those who deserve to be called learned and for whom accuracy is essential, this volume is a necessity."
+ Boston Globe p17 O 27 '43 150w

"The biographies are competent, succinct and remarkably informative for the space they cover."
+ Commonweal 39:40 O 29 '43 40w

"The aims expressed in the Preface appear to have been admirably achieved. Particular pains have been taken with respect to the correct pronunciation and syllabic division of the names; and for this information, as well as for the dates and other main facts concerning the persons included, the volume is an invaluable reference tool."
+ Library Q 14:91 Ja '44 130w
Management R 32:470 D '43 40w

WEEMS, PHILIP VAN HORN. Air navigation. 3d ed 406p il maps $4.50 McGraw

629.1325 Navigation (aeronautics) 43-3910

"A standard textbook revised but with material on civil airways and some other phases of air navigation omitted or reduced on account of war conditions." (Booklist) Index.

"The book was not rushed out as a war book and still it has been brought up to date. . . As readable as any technical book can be."
+ Book Week p8 Ap 11 '43 90w
Booklist 39:336 Ap 15 '43
Library J 68:130 F 1 '43 10w
Reviewed by Theofore English
N Y Times p26 My 2 '43 320w
Reviewed by James Stokley
Weekly Book Review p22 Je 27 '43 380w

WEI, YU-HSIU (CHENG) (MME WEI TAO-MING). My revolutionary years. 238p $2.75 Scribner

B or 92 43-16450

Reminiscences of the early years of the wife of the Chinese ambassador to the United States. Born into a conservative Canton family, Madam Wei was a revolutionary at heart from earliest youth. Her first memories are of flouting the will of her autocratic grandmother. She relates the course of her life thru childhood and youth, her education at the Sorbonne, practice of law in Shanghai, and ends with the appointment of her husband as ambassador. Index.

"Mme. Wei speaks of China's great leaders, early revolutionists, Republicans, Dr. Sun Yat Sen and his wife and later Chiang Kai-shek and his wife, with pride and reverence. Her story, written in straightforward Americanese, with many an idiom and slang expression of this country, is often humorous, more often tragic, and it is the story of China itself. 'My Revolutionary Years' does exactly what it should—it thoroughly establishes a feeling of the oneness that should exist among the United Nations." Dorsey McCarthy
+ Book Week p3 N 28 '43 550w
Booklist 40:145 D 15 '43

"In 'My Revolutionary Years' the distinguished wife of the distinguished ambassador from China has put her best foot forward and the best foot of her country. They are both more than good enough, and let us hope—and pray—that both will soon be equally unbound." J. C. Cort
+ Commonweal 39:259 D 24 '43 400w

"Mme. Wei's narrative has a simple, disarming quality which bears out a personality that is, by her own admission, 'effervescent and sociable.' Any woman—or man at that—who has half as much to tell about herself would probably write three times as long." George Kao
+ N Y Times p12 Ja 9 '44 480w

"Brevity is undoubtedly the lesser of two evils, but one can only hope that in her next autobiography (which will assuredly be packed with just as much incident, because she is that kind of person) Mme Wei will not skim so hurriedly over the details which make a life as purposeful as hers so enthralling to lesser mortals." Eleanor Marindin
Springf'd Republican p7e N 21 '43 390w

"The story is brightly told, with a good deal of zest and humor throughout, and at times with some of the mixed amazement and disapproval with which all headstrong trouble-hunters review the escapades of their youth and the heartaches they caused their elders when maturity, progeny of their own and other responsibilities give them a new perspective on their adolescent heroics." Rodney Gilbert
+ Weekly Book Review p14 N 28 '43 800w

WEIDMAN, JEROME. Lights around the shore. 279p $2.50 Simon & Schuster

43-7513

Peter Landor, fifteen year old son of Hungarian immigrants in New York, accompanies his young and attractive Aunt Fini on a trip to Europe. Why they are going is something of a mystery, and when that is partly solved other mysteries develop. They return to America with Aunt Fini's new husband in August, 1939, and there on her deathbed Aunt Fini resolves the final mystery for Peter.

"Here is a charming, a simple and understanding tale. We see Europe on the brink of war through a youth's eyes. On the return trip, war between France and Germany breaks out while the boat is in midocean. Yet out of the potentialities of such a story, Weidman chooses to make exactly nothing." America Chapel
— + Book Week p2 My 30 '43 320w

"Mediocre." H. G. Kelley
Library J 68:363 My 1 '43 70w

"The best to be said of 'The Lights Around the Shore'—for it is a failure—is that it has an admirable intention and an excellent 'idea.'" Diana Trilling
— + Nation 156:815 Je 5 '43 1000w
Reviewed by Dawn Powell
New Repub 108:771 Je 7 '43 600w

"We are to assume that the novel is an attempt to probe into subtle and unconscious human motivations. As such, it is flat and unrewarding." J. T. Farrell
— N Y Times p6 My 16 '43 950w

"It is impossible for Mr. Weidman not to be entertaining and witty, but his entertainment and wit are here diluted because he has chosen the wrong form in which to enclose them." Clifton Fadiman
— + New Yorker 19:72 My 22 '43 140w

"'The Lights around the Shore' has the glitter, the surface skill, the slickness, the facile dialogue, the type characters, the running gags, and the essential emptiness of a better-than-average Hollywood performance. If it did not pretend to be a serious study of youth trying to discover itself in an uncertain and exploding world, no one would mind. As it is, one cannot avoid the feeling that Mr. Weidman has moved out of the back room, but that he hasn't got far from Sunset Boulevard." Wallace Stegner
— + Sat R of Lit 26:28 My 29 '43 500w

"Probably Mr Weidman, whose gifts of characterization are very great indeed, has tried to break away too far and fast from his earlier method and manner. Presently he may strike a new arresting note, but this novel is an unsatisfying transition." Eve Landis
Springf'd Republican p7e My 23 '43 600w

"Touching as a study of a growing youth, this is Author Weidman's first major break away from the tough, garment-district world of I Can Get It For you Wholesale, What's In It For Me? etc. It lacks the sure knowledgeable control of those works."
+ — Time 41:104 My 24 '43 130w

"'The Lights Around the Shore' is a fine psychological study and an unusual story. It moves with the pace and the suspense of a mystery novel, the death of youth being the magnet that holds the reader's attention. Only at the end does one ask questions about some of the unmotivated improbable incidents of the book." Rose Feld
+ — Weekly Book Review p6 My 16 '43 1200w

WEINSTOCK, HERBERT. Tchaikovsky. 416p il $5 Knopf

B or 92 Tchaikovski, Peter Ilyitch 43-18641

"Herbert Weinstock's new biography of Tchaikovsky, which appears fifty years after the composer's death, is the most thorough and detailed that we have in English. The author has gone to a fund of source material made available in recent years by Soviet Russia. Some of the letters, diaries and documents to which he has had access were not at the disposal of earlier biographers, and at least one, Tchaikovsky's brother, Modeste, was inclined to pass over some aspects of his subject." (N Y Times) Includes a catalog of

WEINSTOCK, HERBERT—Continued
Tchaikovsky's works; a bibliography; a general index; and an index to works by Tchaikovsky referred to in the text.

"Mr. Weinstock is not addicted to the probable, save in a few instances, and those are clearly stated. Nor is it his intention to glamorize, sentimentalize, or even romanticize. . . When Mr. Weinstock is quoting from letters, documents, memoirs—some of this excellent source material has never before been printed in English—his book is brilliantly alive. But when he industriously marshals facts, dates, and general background material, the book diminishes in popular appeal. The musician interested in Tchaikovsky will not mind this, and the patient lay reader desirous of viewing Tchaikovsky whole will be richly rewarded. . . Whatever its minor imperfections, this book will remain, because of its basic integrity and wealth of material, the book, in English, on Tchaikovsky for years to come." Edward Weeks

+ — Atlantic 173:122 Ja '44 240w

"This biography of Russia's greatest composer is of exceptional value, being the most authentic which has been written in English." Felix Borowski

+ Book Week p4 Ja 9 '44 300w

Booklist 40:197 F 1 '44

"Sober and remarkably faithful biography. . . Weinstock's book is mainly a chronological study, dealing only incidentally with the music in quotations from newly available diaries and letters and through occasional keen asides by the author. An eye for relevance makes it much more absorbing and communicative than most undertakings of its kind." Arthur Berger

+ New Repub 110:124 Ja 24 '44 850w

"Mr. Weinstock has made fruitful use of the new material. His treatment of Tchaikovsky's life is comprehensive and exhaustive. An honest portrait of Tchaikovsky the man and the musician emerges from this sound and restrained story. There is no blinking or ignoring the personal emotional element in Tchaikovsky's life—particularly the fact of his homosexuality, which polite biographers have chosen to conceal with evasion or euphemisms. But Mr. Weinstock does not make lurid or sensational capital of the facts. He has set down the truth objectively." Howard Taubman

+ N Y Times p6 Ja 2 '44 650w

"The worth of the new biography consists not only in an almost diary-like correlation of the events of Tchaikovsky's life with his works, but in a number of illustrations, some familiar enough, but others entirely new. . . Although the author states that he has written a biography and not a critical study of the Russian master's music, he is unable to resist the temptation . . . of reviewing the qualities of many of the works whose production made up Tchaikovsky's career. At the end of the volume there is a list of the composer's works, more complete than any in earlier English or American biographies, and there is also an exceptionally valuable bibliography." Felix Borowski

+ Sat R of Lit 27:30 Ja 22 '44 900w

"The biography is admirable in its precision and lucidity. One excellent feature is a complete list of Tchaikovsky's compositions, with a separate index. Its most conspicuous fault is a minor one—a touch of pedantry here and there, most conspicuous in the author's insistence on transcribing names instead of using the most familiar one, whether Russian or not. He is not quite consistent, either. . . The book may be bigger than its subject, but that is certainly no criticism of it as a book. It is one of Knopf's 'Music and Musicians' series and it makes a distinguished addition to that list." G. W. Johnson

+ — Weekly Book Review p7 D 12 '43 1550w

WEIR, JOHN J. Elementary mathematics for the machine trades. (Whittlesey house publication) 193p il $2 McGraw

621.75 Mathematics. Machine shop practice
43-8130

"It is the purpose of this text to present the essential mathematics of the machine shop in a concise, easily understood form. To this end, the mathematical work that a beginner in machine-shop work will need has been included. In addition to serving the needs of the novice, the book can be used as a refresher course for an experienced machinist about to enter a new type of work. One lesson has been devoted to the fundamental operations, using practical shop problems in place of meaningless drill. Fourteen additional lessons are devoted to mathematical theory and practical applications. Wherever possible, the theory and practice have been combined in one lesson." (Pref) Contains problems. Index.

Reviewed by L. E. Grinter
Book Week p7 O 17 '43 30w

Library J 68:478 Je 1 '43 30w

N Y New Tech Bks 28:30 Ap '43

Reviewed by James Stokley
Weekly Book Review p17 Je 20 '43 80w

WEISER, NORMAN S., ed. Writer's radio theatre, 1941; outstanding plays of the year. 225p il $2 Harper

792 Radio plays (41-24949)

"Ten plays selected for their technical excellence; one of the plays is an original television script, an outstanding example of the technique of that medium. The introduction contains suggestions to writers and a list of managers and agents is also included. Most of the scripts are available upon written permission for noncommercial rebroadcasts by students." Booklist

---

Booklist 39:221 F 1 '43

Theatre Arts 27:260 Ap '43 30w

WELD, JOHN. Mark Pfeiffer, M.D. 324p $2.75 Scribner

43-5358

Mark Pfeiffer, a young middle-westerner, born on the wrong side of the tracks, but determined to go places, is the hero. Mark's struggles to become a doctor, and then a nerve specialist, develop side by side with his marriage to a rich wife who dislikes being neglected. On the eve of his professional success, a personal tragedy dissolves the marriage.

"While the author gives the impression of looking straight ahead, with never a sidewise glance or a sense of the entire landscape, he nevertheless pictures several poignant scenes—the Italian father who lost his only son during the flu epidemic of 1919; the small-town parents, bewildered at the graduation exercises of their brilliant son—which stay with the reader. And his operating room scenes leave an impression of tension, of the fight against fleeting moments, which I can well imagine they have." D. McC.

+ Book Week p6 My 23 '43 230w

"A straightforward and thoroughly human chronicle of an American boy, nagged by a sense of social inferiority, deciding upon a career in medicine for reasons which have something to do with the fact that his father is a railroad engineer, marrying the wrong girl from related motives, and talking—when there is any occasion for such speeches—about the good he hopes to do in the world. Mark Pfeiffer is not a bad doctor, either. The thing that makes him interesting here is that there are so many of him." Margaret Wallace

+ N Y Times p18 My 2 '43 480w

"When a novel shows as much solid work and as excellent craftsmanship as does this you can't help wishing that it had had more originality, or at least more of that gripping quality that sometimes saves stories not half as well done. Of course the times may have something to do with this reviewer's impatience. With one's mind full of the doctors of Bataan, of Guadalcanal, it is hard to get excited over heroes in white whose fiercest struggles are with jealous colleagues and selfish wives. Even book reviewers find it hard to be completely objective these days. Or perhaps I am just tired of prewar doctor novels. Nevertheless, John Weld writes sincerely and with skill." M. S. Ulrich

+ — Sat R of Lit 26:19 My 1 '43 550w

"The minor characters, some incongruous and others better drawn than the Pfeiffers, forward the narrative and then drop out without stepping deeply into the situations. Mr Weld has apparently worked hard on the medical background, with adequate results in that respect. But as a novel 'Mark Pfeiffer, M.D.' offers slight emotional impact, despite some cogent and luminous moments." L. S. Munn
+ — Springf'd Republican p7e Ap 18 '43 600w

"Mark Pfeiffer, M.D. is a fine novel, warm and sensitive and satisfying in its portrait of a very understandable man." Rose Feld
+ Weekly Book Review p10 Ap 18 '43 900w

WELLBORN, FRED WILMOT. Growth of American nationality, 1492-1865. 1042p il maps $3.50 Macmillan

973 U.S.—History 43-4855

College textbook on American history, covering the period from 1492 to the end of the Civil war. The greater proportion of the text is devoted to the period from 1789 to 1865, in which the author, associate professor of history at Iowa State Teachers college, discusses the growth of American nationality. Copiously illustrated. Maps, bibliography, and index.

"Professor Wellborn's 'The Growth of American Nationality' is obviously an attempt at a dispassionate history which presents the essential facts without painting the lily. . . But Professor Wellborn slipped and skidded at one point, for he turns out to be an unconscious proponent of what V. L. Parrington christened 'the genteel tradition.' This gentility approves what it has been bred to approve. . . The book nevertheless contains a full, candid story, at times vividly told, and always with regard to both sides of debatable situations. Brought to a conclusion with 1865, it is presumably the first of a pair." Percy Boynton
+ — N Y Times p29 My 23 '43 550w

"Combines an interesting and very readable style with a careful attention to the requirements of scholarship. The book is thoroughly up to date and shows an intimate knowledge of the recent results of scholarship in the field. The account is well balanced between political and cultural history. The author has succeeded to an unusual degree in weaving the strands of domestic politics, foreign relations, and social and economic factors into a whole cloth." C. H. Coleman
+ Social Educ 7:281 O '43 650w

WELLER, GEORGE ANTHONY. Singapore is silent. 312p $3 Harcourt

940.542 Singapore. World war, 1939—Malay peninsula. World war, 1939—Personal narratives, American 43-51068

Account of the retreat down the Malay peninsula and the fall of Singapore by a Chicago News correspondent, who was among the last to be evacuated before the end came. The author casts a somewhat different light on the affair, particularly in the apportionment of blame. He also describes the Japanese methods of jungle fighting. Index.

"Weller is a topnotch correspondent." F. S. Marquardt
+ Book Week p1 Mr 21 '43 700w
Booklist 39:317 Ap 1 '43

"As a reporter, Mr. Weller has few superiors. Read his book and you will understand why he is one of this year's winners of a Pulitzer prize. But as an adviser on international policies, he does not inspire quite so much confidence."
+ — Christian Century 60:610 My 19 '43 290w

"There are superficial points of weakness about the volume. Some of it might be cut. . . But these are mere surface matters. What is important is that Mr. Weller went through stirring times, that he has a seeing eye, and that he writes for the most part extremely well." R. G.
+ — Christian Science Monitor p16 Mr 24 '43 650w

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert
Foreign Affairs 21:9 Jl '43 30w

Reviewed by Marcus Duffield
Nation 156:494 Ap 3 '43 500w

Reviewed by Ira Wolfert
New Repub 108:643 My 10 '43 60w

" 'Singapore Is Silent' is an exciting book, of tremendous value to a thorough understanding of the fighting in Malaya. This book is replete with the details on just how the Japanese advanced, what actions were taken to hinder them and the net result." Cecil Brown
+ N Y Times p3 Mr 21 '43 1500w

"Well written if not very well organized, and should help to correct the too-simple explanations we have had of the fall of Singapore."
+ — New Yorker 19:70 Mr 20 '43 90w

"Here is no neutral book. It will arouse either warm approval or hot denunciation, and, we hope, much sober thought and heart searching." Hallett Abend
+ — Sat R of Lit 26:23 Mr 27 '43 700w
Springf'd Republican p10 Ap 2 '43 470w
Time 41:100 Ap 12 '43 650w

"This book of Mr George Weller's is urbanely and pleasantly written, and the telling of a very thrilling story, with much space given to heartrending frustration and transcendent courage despite it, would have been a good enough excuse for telling it." Rodney Gilbert
+ Weekly Book Review p5 Mr 21 '43 2100w

Wis Lib Bul 39:109 Jl '43

Reviewed by J. D. Adams
Yale R n s 32:790 summer '43 60w

WELLES, SUMNER. World of the four freedoms; with a foreword by Nicholas Murray Butler. 121p $1.75 Columbia univ. press

940.53 World war, 1939—Addresses, sermons, etc. U.S.—Foreign relations 43-6899

Collection of speeches by the Under secretary of state, delivered during the last three years. In all of the addresses he urges unity among the nations on the American continent, and pleads for a post-war world federation.

Reviewed by W. T. R. Fox
Am Pol Sci R 37:738 Ag '43 420w

"These addresses show Mr. Welles to be a clear thinker, able to adapt himself to changed situations, and a courageous advocate; they place him well at the top among our officials —at least insofar as they are to be judged by their public statements—in recognition of the need and the possibility of a better world for humanity, of the need for immediate planning, and of the need for American leadership in the rebuilding of a better world." Clyde Eagleton
+ Ann Am Acad 229:176 S '43 320w
Booklist 39:461 Jl 15 '43

Reviewed by J. P. Humphrey
Canadian Forum 23:92 Jl '43 850w

Reviewed by W. E. Garrison
Christian Century 60:740 Je 23 '43 850w

Reviewed by W. C. Kernan
Churchman 157:15 S 1 '43 420w
Commonweal 38:209 Je 11 '43 40w
Crozer Q 20:358 O '43 100w

"Sumner Welles needs no encomiums from this or any other reviewer. But it is distinctly in order to urge the reading of his plain-spoken thoughts on world affairs." J. R. Lewis
+ Current Hist 4:275 Je '43 500w

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert
Foreign Affairs 22:160 O '43 40w

"Libraries with large collection of war literature will want." Margaret Owen
Library J 68:429 My 15 '43 110w

WELLES, SUMNER—Continued

"Naturally there are no secrets of the State Department here, and only brief allusions to the controversies which have arisen in that quarter. The diplomat speaks, smoothing out difficulties with our friends in this and the other hemisphere. His sharpest words are for errors of the past, not possible errors of the present. He cannot cry mea culpa at any point. Within these limits he makes an impression of complete sincerity." R. L. Duffus

N Y Times p4 My 16 '43 650w

New Yorker 19:75 My 22 '43 10w

Reviewed by Norman Angell

Sat R of Lit 26:27 Je 5 '43 1350w

Reviewed by F. R. Flournoy

Social Educ 7:374 D '43 330w

Social Studies 34:332 N '43 650w

+ Spec 171:182 Ag 20 '43 210w

Times [London] Lit Sup p422 S 4 '43 600w

"Rereading Mr. Sumner Welles's speeches of the last three or four years tends to confirm the impression they created as they were delivered. One senses in the Under Secretary a man of the highest motives, of clear intelligence and with a broad grasp of the historic process, rather heavily swathed in the stilted conventions of diplomacy and suffering from the State Department tendency to substitute the lofty phrase for the practical consideration of means and ends. Mr. Welles is elaborately courteous to every one (except Nazis); he is imprecise on the difficult points, as the representative of a diplomatic service which seems to be pursuing two or three contradictory courses must be. Yet it is plain that through it all he has managed to make a solid contribution to the shaping of American foreign policy—assuming, that is, that the United States has a foreign policy." Walter Millis

+ — Weekly Book Review p5 Je 6 '43 550w

Reviewed by Carl Becker

Yale R n s 33:145 autumn '43 280w

WELLMAN, FREDERICK CREIGHTON (CYRIL KAY-SCOTT, pseud). Life is too short. 348p $3.50 Lippincott

B or 92 43-17373

Autobiography of a native of Missouri who has had several careers in his life and made a success of most of them. At various times he has been a physician, bacteriologist, engineer, farmer, business man, and artist, in Africa, Europe, and North and South America. His story is enlivened by the stories of his several marriages and divorces.

Reviewed by Sterling North

Book Week p2 O 3 '43 400w

"In his venture into autobiography, Dr. Wellman is successful in delineating the surface pattern of a complex and fascinating life, but not in revealing much of its motivation. His book has the quality of the memoirs that elderly men so often write as a record for their family and friends. At many points the reader feels that he is intruding in a private discussion, and is annoyed at hearing only one side of it." Carlton Brown

N Y Times p7 O 3 '43 1050w

"Vigorous and often brilliant writing. About as fascinating an autobiography as you're likely to encounter this season."

+ New Yorker 19:99 O 9 '43 90w

"Dr. Wellman has had an unusual career. Unfortunately his autobiography does not portray him as a remarkable man. Intellectually very precocious, he gives no signs of ever having reached maturity in living. His book is exciting, often lively and picturesque, and of the greatest interest to students of human behavior and character. His daughter has spoken of his 'demoniac pride'; but an outsider will detect little but that efficient vanity which so often appeals to women. Dr. Wellman himself is amazingly blind to the facts of his own character. . . Except for its amazing lack of humor, 'Life Is Too Short' is a fascinating record. It is the story of a man who has so little knowledge of his own character, its virtues and vices, that one suspects his judgment of others." R. E. Roberts

— + Sat R of Lit 26:7 N 6 '43 1600w

"There are tedious passages (the man can't be perfect), but he certainly had a whale of a yarn to tell. Such men come along only once in a century or two. You may not like Dr. Wellman, but there's no denying that he lived and liked it." Stanley Walker

Weekly Book Review p5 O 3 '43 1250w

WELLMUTH, FRANCIS J., comp. Golden treasury of chess. 304p il $3 McKay

794.1 Chess 43-11407

A collection of over five hundred chess games gathered from the records of more than four hundred years, from 1485 to 1942. The games are grouped in six sections: My favorites; The pre-Morphy period; The Morphy period; The age of Steinitz; Modern chess; Moderns, hypermoderns and eclectics. Indexes.

"Francis J. Wellmuth has given a rare gift to chess lovers in this book which represents long years spent in gathering scores of games and rejecting all but the best and the most interesting. These are presented with a series of amusing headnotes which excite even the curiosity of the most prosaic, if there is such a thing as a blase chess player." E. A. Wagner, Jr.

+ Book Week p3 Je 27 '43 320w

Booklist 40:42 O 1 '43

"Modern chess books are solemn tomes, composed in the grim spirit of search for the elusive truths of the chess-board. This volume is an exception. The keynote is enjoyment. The author is an amateur, not a master, but he seems well qualified to select games that are entertaining." Dana Brannan

+ N Y Times p20 Jl 11 '43 280w

WELLS, ANNA MARY. Murderer's choice. 248p $2 Knopf

43-10913

Mystery story.

Reviewed by Elizabeth Bullock

Book Week p10 Ag 22 '43 320w

Booklist 40:48 O 1 '43

"The author deserves credit for devising a new plot, even though the concluding chapter leaves one still in doubt as to what really happened." Isaac Anderson

+ — N Y Times p8 Ag 8 '43 100w

"Good writing, ample action, and excellent character work save rather artificial plot. Miss Pomeroy does slick and satisfactory job of unravelling."

+ — Sat R of Lit 26:21 Ag 14 '43 40w

Springf'd Republican p7e Ag 15 '43 170w

Time 42:103 S 13 '43 60w

"It is our belief that Miss Wells is out to surprise you at any cost. In this she succeeds." Will Cuppy

Weekly Book Review p20 Ag 15 '43 170w

WELLS, HENRY WILLIS. The American way of poetry. 246p $2.75 Columbia univ. press

811.09 American poetry—History and criticism 43-12056

"This book, in its own words, 'aims to define whatever is truly indigenous and unique in the American tradition' and it does this by an examination of the tradition of American poetry as exemplified in eighteen major American poets. Beginning with Freneau, Poe, and Whitman as typical of the early nationalist group, it goes on to analyze the New England regional tradition in Longfellow, Lowell, Whittier, Emerson, Emily Dickinson, Melville, Edward Arlington Robinson, and Robert Frost; the western tradition in Lindsay, Sandburg, and Jeffers; the southern tradition in John Crowe Ransom; and the recently emerged nationalist school in Stephen Vincent Benét, Hart

Crane, and Merrill Moore. Each poet is analyzed with some care in terms of his underlying point of view, his choice of subject-matter, and the poetic form in which his principal works are cast." J Philos

Reviewed by Alan Creighton
Canadian Forum 23:238 Ja '44 270w

"In spite of its peculiar excellencies, the book is apt to prove disappointing to many students of American culture. Its inductive procedure, first summarizing the various authors separately and then attempting to generalize on this basis, may have certain merits—and not least among these that of discouraging the temptation to cut and fit the subject in terms of a preconceived thesis—but it is also a method which minimizes the importance of the historical context and one which thus impedes the discovery of lines of influence, of progressions, and of significant correlations between the development of poetry and other facets of American civilization. And it is precisely on these points that the book is at fault." D. F. B.
+ — J Philos 40:614 O 28 '43 700w

"Book that must appeal to general reader as well as to specialist, for it evaluates large part of our creative writing as contribution to our intellectual and spiritual heritage. Good history and good criticism." E. H. O'Neill
+ Library J 68:624 Ag '43 110w

"Mr. Wells has produced an interesting and useful book; he also sets an example in the practice of appreciative criticism on a socio-historical basis. To a casual glance this volume, for all its sprightly chapter headings, might seem but a chronological procedure through the 'field' in the pedestrian cadence of a Monday-Wednesday-Friday lecture course, with that thoroughness minutely run wild called pedanticism. One careful reading of The American Way of Poetry, however, will show not only its judicious scholarship and relevant control of data but its abundance of discriminating insights and its nicely patterned, though strictly restrained, interpretation." Warren Beck
+ Poetry 63:166 D '43 950w

WELLS, LINTON. Salute to valor; heroes of the United nations. 280p $2 Random house
940.54 World war, 1939- Heroes 42-50999

True stories of bravery under fire shown by men and women in the present war, in all departments and localities, many of them eye-witness accounts. The author is a foreign news correspondent and radio commentator. Roll of honor.

Booklist 39:289 Mr 15 '43

"Some of the stories are about women whose valor was undaunted. They should be read with pride and resolution by American boys and girls."
+ Horn Bk 19:43 Ja '43 80w

"Too many technical terms involved for young children, but boys and girls ready for high school and young people will be absorbed by book's sincerity and spirit of sacrifice. Better than Floherty's The Courage and the Glory. Recommended." J. E. Wooster
+ Library J 68:131 F 1 '43 110w

"The incidents cover the principal United Nations on land and sea and in the air. They include also the home fronts. Fragmentary as they are, they will yet serve to remind us that we are not decadent, and they will be a springboard for more adequate treatment later on." E. F. Allen
+ N Y Times p18 F 7 '43 360w

Reviewed by Fletcher Pratt
Sat R of Lit 26:7 Ja 9 '43 700w
Wis Lib Bul 39:54 Ap '43

WELLS, PETER. The pirate's apprentice. [48p] il $1.25 Winston 43-15773

"In colored pictures that go all out for hilarity, and a little story in hand-lettering, Peter Wells unfolds the career of a small boy determined to be a pirate." Weekly Book Review

"The pictures are well drawn and full of the humorous detail children love." P. A. Whitney
+ Book Week p7 O 17 '43 180w
N Y Times p22 N 14 '43 160w

" 'Mr. Tootwhistle's Invention,' Mr. Wells's first book [Book Review Digest, 1942] could be traced around a large house by the laughter of the person reading it. As in that, he uses for Jonathan's adventures a technique based on the funnies but less parsimonious in action. One of these large pages often has enough to keep a comic strip running a week." M. L. Becker
+ Weekly Book Review p7 O 17 '43 250w

WELLS, RONALD VALE. Three Christian transcendentalists. 230p $2.75 Columbia univ. press [18s 6d Oxford]
141 Transcendentalism. Marsh, James. Henry, Caleb Sprague. Hedge, Frederic Henry 43-13153

Study of three ministers of the Gospel who eventually turned to transcendentalism: James Marsh, a congregationalist, 1794-1842; Caleb Sprague Henry, an episcopalian, 1804-1884; and Frederic Henry Hedge, a unitarian, 1805-1890. Includes letters; a bibliography, and index.

Christian Century 61:19 Ja 5 '44 130w

"While this volume will not have wide appeal due to the nature of the subject and the obscurity of the personalities with whom it deals, it none the less deserves reading if for no other reason than that it is a pertinent reminder that there are always a few in every generation who will not allow the light of reasonable and personal religion to be extinguished by the heavy atmosphere of a dark and oppressive orthodoxy." G. W. Davis
+ — Crozer Q 21:80 Ja '44 800w

"So far as I can judge, this analysis is as comprehensive and as thorough as the limitations of space would allow, but it is regrettable that the author has been unable to devote more time than he does to a consideration of the points at which the three thinkers were in agreement. Although the latter might have proved difficult in view of the differences in their terminology and philosophic background, such an investigation would, I suspect, have revealed a far greater affinity in detail than the author is at present willing to admit. This, however, is to cavil at an otherwise competent study, and should not be construed as a fundamental criticism." D. F. Bowers
+ — J Philos 41:23 Ja 6 '44 800w

WELLS, THOMAS A. Manual of aircraft materials and manufacturing processes. 212p il $3.50 Harper
629.134 Airplanes — Materials. Airplanes — Design and construction

"The purpose of this manual is to enable men experienced in aircraft work to broaden their knowledge and to assist men without aircraft experience to acquire a knowledge of the materials which go into an airplane and the processes by which these materials are manufactured into parts of a completed airplane." (Pref) Index.

Library J 68:130 F 1 '43 20w
N Y New Tech Bks 28:23 Ap '43

"This is no book for the student or the beginner. An engineer has leaned back and unburdened himself of much of that shop lore which is acquired only by the painful and tedious process of making mistakes. The book is broadly divided as to materials and processes. Within each of these major divisions are chapters devoted to the principal materials and to the principal processes. Within chapters, however, the division of the subject does not reflect the same care as appears to have been exercised in the broader phases." J. M. Juran
+ — N Y Times p24 F 28 '43 360w
Special Libraries 34:27 Ja '43

WELSHIMER, HELEN. Shining rain. 157p $2 Dutton
811 43-3923

A volume of short poems, many originally published in such magazines as Good Housekeeping, Pictorial Review, etc. The author is an Ohio newspaper woman.

"Clever and competent verse."
+ Christian Century 60:394 Mr 31 '43 70w

Reviewed by A. M. Jakeman
Springf'd Republican p10 Mr 19 '43 350w

Wis Lib Bul 39:83 Je '43

WELTY, EUDORA. Wide net, and other stories. 214p $2.50 Harcourt
43-1666

Eight short stories of Natchez, the Trace, Negroes, and whites, and the old Southern aristocracy fallen from glory. The title story won the 1942 O. Henry memorial prize. The other stories are: First love; A still moment; Asphodel; The winds; The purple hat; Livvie; At the landing.

"Her writing has the rich coloring and the exquisite needlework of fine tapestry—and the static pattern and elusive meaning. For some readers this is enough; it is not, I confess, for me." J. T. Frederick
Book Week p2 S 26 '43 100w

Christian Century 60:1233 O 27 '43 70w

Reviewed by Diana Trilling
— Nation 157:386 O 2 '43 1450w

Reviewed by Isaac Rosenfeld
New Repub 109:525 O 18 '43 800w

"Not the least of Miss Welty's qualities is the fineness of her descriptive writing, her evocations of a gleaming fish, a bird, a battered house, a sunlit field filled with butterflies. The people are disarmingly 'ordinary' and the events have an air of casualness... It is true that there is nothing very new or original in the subject-matter. Most of the people you have met before, in real life or in other books. It is the touch of a very real talent which gives them life and variety and meaning." Eugene Armfield
+ N Y Times p3 S 26 '43 440w

"The title piece in this collection has the wit and the mysterious imagination, hovering between the craziness of a dream and the familiarity of everyday life, which characterized Miss Welty's 'A Curtain of Green' and 'The Robber Bridegroom.' Because of the inclusion of one such gorgeous tale, it's probably captious to complain that the collection as a whole falls below the author's other works."
— + New Yorker 19:80 S 25 '43 110w

"Miss Welty runs a photofinish with the finest prose artists of her time and displays a delicateness of sensibility which borders at once on genius and indecency. Yet her finest writing is nearly always marred by such Celtic locutions as 'a sure man, very sure and tender'; and the sensibility is seldom grounded in anything remotely sensible."
+ — Time 42:100 S 27 '43 500w

"Eudora Welty's stories are the stuff of case histories, the human interest in social workers' reports, and the living truth of legend, but she is not interested in the abnormal, social significance, and the bizarre as such. She is interested in people—their lives, their destinies, the irony attendant upon their comings and goings, and she writes of the unusual in terms of the usual." Leo Lerman
Weekly Book Review p4 S 26 '43 800w

WENDT, LLOYD. Gunners get glory. See Berry, R. B.

WENDT, LLOYD, and KOGAN, HERMAN. Lords of the Levee; the story of Bathhouse John and Hinky Dink. 384p il $3 Bobbs
977.311 Coughlin, John Joseph. Kenna, Michael. Chicago—Politics and government 43-2289

The "lords" were Bathhouse John Coughlin, and Hinky Dink Kenna, Democratic bosses of Chicago's first ward, in which the Levee was located, during the 1880's and 90's. Besides describing the lives and machinations of these two, the book presents a lively picture of the Chicago underworld, its vice lords, brothel keepers, crooked politicians, and their methods. Bibliography. Index.

Reviewed by Harold Zink
Am Pol Sci R 37:955 O '43 230w

Booklist 39:274 Mr 1 '43

"Two newspapermen have written the story of the two Chicago aldermen and have made of it not only a gaudy and authentic tale of the bad old days and the personal careers of two of the most successful malpractitioners of municipal politics but also a realistic picture of the seamy side of city government which does not get adequate treatment in the textbooks on that subject." W. E. Garrison
+ Christian Century 60:393 Mr 31 '43 700w

"In this well written book, based on wide reading and research, the influence of money on local government is made clear. Venality was simply taken for granted year after year, regardless of the political party in power. Against such a background strode Bathhouse John, usually resplendent in a fantastic sartorial ensemble, accompanied by his quiet, shrewd political adviser, Hinky Dink. . . Their whole fantastic story is well and clearly told in this plain-spoken book." Paul Kiniery
+ Commonweal 37:476 F 26 '43 350w

"A convincing and detailed story of the political lives of two almost unbelievable characters, a story well spiced with excerpts from contemporary commentaries. . . The book does not attempt to act as a challenge against those political and moral evils which still exist. It may bring the reader to recognize such abuses and to acknowledge the advances that have been made in combating them, but essentially it is a report of days past, a report which is also a colorful and human story." Beth Zimmerschied
+ N Y Times p28 Ap 4 '43 650w

"It is doubtful if a more fascinating and curiously valuable study of Americana from the purlieus of a great city could be found than 'Lords of the Levee.' . . Mr Wendt and Mr Kogan, who are newspaper men in Chicago, have spent years in collecting and authenticating material for their book, and the result not only is exciting and riotously funny reading, but a case history of American politics that could be used with profit as a textbook by any serious Voters' league in the land."
+ Springf'd Republican p7e F 14 '43 1050w

Reviewed by Lloyd Lewis
Weekly Book Review p5 F 14 '43 1600w

WENTWORTH, PATRICIA, pseud. (MRS. G. O. TURNBULL) Chinese shawl. 319p $2 Lippincott 43-4644

Detective story.

Reviewed by Elizabeth Bullock
Book Week p8 My 9 '43 160w

Booklist 39:389 Je 1 '43

"Miss Wentworth writes in the old-fashioned style with smooth narrative and no straining for effect; but she dips her fingers so greedily into love-interest that the reader feels sticky all over. The detective is the elderly spinster who calls policemen by their Christian names and knits her way to a solution. Many will think the pace too slow, but should not let their impatience deprive them of the subtlety of an extremely well worked out crime." Ralph Partridge
+ — New Statesman & Nation 26:358 N 27 '43 120w

Reviewed by Isaac Anderson
N Y Times p8 My 9 '43 140w

"Entertaining."
Sat R of Lit 26:54 Ap 17 '43 40w

"Miss Silver manages to outshine all the love-struck youngsters with her fine brand of deduction and a burst of courage at the end." Will Cuppy
+ Weekly Book Review p24 Ap 11 '43 220w

WENTWORTH, PATRICIA, pseud. (MRS G. O. TURNBULL). Miss Silver deals with death. 224p $2 Lippincott
43-14763

Detective story.

Reviewed by Elizabeth Bullock
Book Week p15 N 21 '43 180w

Booklist 40:147 D 15 '43

Reviewed by Isaac Anderson
N Y Times p16 N 7 '43 120w

"Readers who like to have their mysteries solved by quaint little spinsters will find Miss Silver competent, if not inspired, in her handling of the case."
New Yorker 19:108 N 6 '43 50w

"Entertaining."
+ Sat R of Lit 26:20 N 20 '43 40w

"Patricia Wentworth is one for wrapping love, secrets and genuine mystery thrills into a pleasing package. She is fortunate, too, in her deducer for little Miss Maude Silver, private investigator, is as likable a sleuth as we can recall at the moment." Will Cuppy
+ Weekly Book Review p46 N 14 '43 400w

Wis Lib Bul 39:160 D '43

WERNER, MAX, pseud. Attack can win in '43. 216p maps $1.75 Little 940.54012 World war, 1939-. Strategy
43-51200

In this book the author of The Great Offensive sets forth his reasons for asserting that '43 is the year for decisive action by the Allies, that they must attack Hitler in Europe now with all their powers, or face a seven years' war hereafter.

"This is a most cheerful sort of a book for anyone to read now. It has all the answers to the questions which swarm in our heads as we read the latest communiques. They are not glib answers, however, but extremely sound ones, reinforced by penetrating study of military science and presented with clarity and brilliance. 'Attack Can Win in '43' will serve most usefully as a handbook on the developments in the European war theater yesterday, tomorrow morning and in the months ahead." John Storm
+ Book Week p2 Jl 4 '43 550w

Booklist 39:444 Jl 1 '43

Christian Science Monitor p14 Je 26 '43 700w

Cleveland Open Shelf p9 Jl '43

Reviewed by H. A. DeWeerd
N Y Times p3 Je 13 '43 1100w

"All a rank layman like myself can say is that Werner has made consistent sense in the past and that there is no special reason to assume that he is now talking nonsense. At any rate, he seems to me the most stimulating military expert—and surely the most lucid—writing today in English." Clifton Fadiman
+ New Yorker 19:77 Je 19 '43 850w

Reviewed by Murray Harris
Sat R Lit 26:10 Jl 10 '43 800w

"The ultimate accuracy of the prophecy is less important than the reasoned analysis which sustains it. Mr. Werner tries to get down to the bare bones of the strategic realities now confronting us. . . And he does it well and cogently." Walter Millis
+ Weekly Book Review p1 Je 20 '43 800w

WERNER, MAX, pseud. The great offensive; the strategy of coalition warfare; tr. by Heinz and Ruth Norden. 360p $3 Viking [7s 6d Gollancz]
940.5401 World war, 1939—Campaigns and battles. Strategy
42-22935

For descriptive note see Annual for 1942.

"Many observers will disagree with Mr. Werner in his analysis of the Battle of the Frontiers and the Battle of Smolensk in the opening months of the Russian campaign, and others, who look at the war through the astigmatic spectacles of the Pacific will not like what he has to say about strategy in that ocean. And some of his unsupported and undocumented generalities will be irritating to the precise mind of the historian and the tactician. Nevertheless, Mr. Werner has stimulating ideas; he knows, and has faith in, Russia, and events have shown beyond the shadow of doubt that his faith is justified. This book should be read with perception and care." H. W. Baldwin
+ — Ann Am Acad 227:162 My '43 550w

Bookmark 5:13 Ja '43

"The writing of this book was completed last summer [1942]. Consequently it gives no account of such important developments as the long-drawn-out battle for Stalingrad, Rommel's defeat by the British Eighth Army and the opening of the United Nations campaign in French North Africa. Nevertheless, Max Werner is so well informed on military affairs and writes with so much clarity and vigor that his story of military events up to the time he wrote is still valuable despite what has since happened. This is particularly true of his account of the first year of the German-Soviet war, for it helps us to understand much that was not clear to the non-expert depending upon the daily official communiqués." Alvin Adey
+ Current Hist 3:547 F '43 400w

"The author's high reputation for military analysis and prophecy rests primarily on his appraisal of the struggle between Germany and the Soviet Union. His discussion of the Russian campaign occupies the bulk of this first-rate book and will be found to be the most interesting part, for in his discussion of other theaters of war he reveals a tendency to underrate the importance of sea and air power." R. G. Woolbert
+ Foreign Affairs 21:579 Ap '43 70w

"The Great Offensive is Mr. Werner's third book, and is the best and most mature he has yet written. . . His approach is a military and realistic one and never doctrinaire, although he or his translators sometimes introduce vague phrases which seem out of place in such an otherwise able analysis. There is no space to deal with his eminently sensible conclusions, but attention is drawn to his criticism of 'autonomous aerial operations,' to his reasoned discussion of a Second Front, and to his realization that a strategy of coalition is just as necessary in the Far East as in Europe." S. H. F. Johnston
+ Spec 170:176 F 19 '43 210w

"As readers of Mr. Werner's earlier volumes would expect, it is an acute study in its kind, the work of a mind well versed in both German and Russian military affairs and teaching and able to follow fairly closely responsible pronouncements on the course of the fighting made by either side. Even so, of course, the information concerning military operational planning available to Mr. Werner is necessarily restricted, so that it might seem profitable for him to try to analyse in any detail the specific strategic conceptions involved in the successive phases of battle. But in fact he has produced a very clear and illuminating commentary on the course of military events up to August of last year. It reveals to very good purpose, first, the calculation and comprehensiveness of the strategy of attrition designed by the Russian leaders to counter the strategy of Blitzkrieg; next, the tactical methods developed in this defensive battle by way of preparation for a Russian—or, rather, an allied—offensive strategy."
+ Times [London] Lit Sup p73 F 13 '43 850w

WESLEY, EDGAR BRUCE. Teaching the social studies. 2d ed 652p $3 Heath

307 Social sciences—Study and teaching 42-16574

"This guide for the social science teacher has two new chapters, Democratic teaching and learning and Teaching reading and study skills, as well as enlarged sections on the unit method and visual aids. More attention is given to the elementary grades." (Booklist) For first edition see Book Review Digest, 1938.

Booklist 39:337 Ap 15 '43

"The first edition of Wesley's work provided a valuable synthesis of what was then known of this field. Many teachers learned to depend on the author's keen analysis and practical suggestions for guidance in the everpresent task of improving instruction. The revised edition will continue to serve most adequately the same purpose." K. J. Rehage

+ El School J 43:57 S '42 750w

School & Society 50:624 My 30 '42 90w

"In his chapter on textbooks Dr. Wesley points out the fact that publishers and authors are sometimes driven by necessity to make minor changes in books and publish them as revised editions. This revision is not one of that kind. New references have been added to the excellent annotated bibliography appearing at the end of each chapter. Two wholly new chapters 'Democratic Teaching and Learning' and 'Teaching Reading and Study Skills' have been added. Chapters dealing with the unit method, visual aids, and evaluation have been rewritten, enlarged, and expanded to make them more comprehensive. These changes and others surely make this a thorough and honest revision." Henry Kronenberg

+ Social Educ 7:86 F '43 550w

Social Studies 33:288 O '42 10w

WEST, RICHARD SEDGEWICK. Gideon Welles; Lincoln's Navy department. 379p il $3.50 Bobbs

B or 92 Welles, Gideon. U.S.—History—Civil war—Naval operations 43-14667

Biography of the one-time editor of the Hartford Times who was secretary of the navy during the administration of Abraham Lincoln and Andrew Johnson. Altho the book stresses the life of Gideon Welles, the naval history of the Civil war is also rather fully outlined. Bibliographical references. Index.

Christian Century 60:1271 N 3 '43 200w

"Author does good job in portraying an unspectacular, retiring, rather obstinate official and, at same time, a loyal, honest, competent public servant whose handling of the successful naval blockade was an important factor in defeat of the Confederacy. Well written; easy reading; thoroughly documented and not overly partisan in treatment." G. W. Hill

+ Library J 68:668 S 1 '43 80w

"The center of gravity in Professor West's book lies around the war years. In working at this great canvas he keeps his subject in good perspective against an adequately drawn background of naval strategy and operations. . . Not much attention is paid to the attempts in Congress to introduce 'the general staff principle' into the structure of the department, nor is Welles' attitude toward these attempts adequately examined. . . There are questions, too, about Welles himself." Elting Morison

+ — N Y Times p32 N 28 '43 600w

"Research, documentation, index, illustrations are all that could be asked, and the writing is a delight to anyone who knows good English when he sees it. Into an orderly, well-paced narrative of 325 pages, Mr. West has fitted, without crowding, hurrying, or omitting, materials that many a biographer would have inflated to twice their proper bulk." G. H. Genzmer

+ Sat R of Lit 26:60 D 4 '43 550w

"An admirable and graphic biography." R. H.

+ Springf'd Republican p7e O 31 '43 1550w

Reviewed by Lloyd Lewis

Weekly Book Review p6 Ja 16 '44 650w

WESTON, MRS CHRISTINE (GOUTIERE). Indigo. 374p $2.50 Scribner 43-15648

Story of India and of the friendship of four young people of different nationalities and backgrounds. They were: Jacques de St Remy, the son of a domineering French widow, owner and manager of an indigo plantation; Hardyal, son of a western educated Hindu lawyer; John Macbeth, an English boy who befriended Jacques; and Bertie Wood, John's cousin, whom Jacques hoped to marry. The theme of the book is the question of white superiority which Hardyal has to learn about thru bitter experience. Brooding over the whole situation is Madame de St Remy, whose possessiveness and piety ruined her son's life.

"Mrs. Weston's stylistic restraint, her fine perception and subtle portrayal of character, her sense of the dramatic and colorful, and more than anything else her understanding of her subject in its implications as well as in its obvious factual aspects make 'Indigo' a novel to conjure with, one of the most fully realized novels of the year, and a work of which many an established writer might well be proud." August Derleth

+ Book Week p1 O 31 '43 500w

Booklist 40:94 N 15 '43

"The author was born and brought up in India, so that her knowledge is sure and well integrated; she has command of a delicate and precise style and of a penetration into character which would make her a first rate novelist if she had a complete story to tell. . . The conclusion is arbitrary, simply because the story has no center and can, therefore, have no real end." N. E. Monroe

+ — Cath World 158:411 Ja '44 190w

Cleveland Open Shelf p20 O '43

Commonweal 39:74 N 5 '43 650w

"Mrs. Weston's novel is outstandingly good, by all odds the most satisfactory novel I have read in the last year and a half of reviewing." Diana Trilling

+ Nation 158:135 Ja 29 '44 1000w

Reviewed by Malcolm Cowley

New Repub 109:749 N 29 '43 1150w

"One of the reasons why she handles her typically large crowd of characters more effectively in 'Indigo' than before, is her acquired skill in creating static supporting characters—people who are indispensable to the plot, but do not require development, because they represent the routine and continuity of existence. . . The particular virtues of 'Indigo' indicate the progress Mrs. Weston has made. For the first time she has really achieved a local habitation for her characters. This, I believe, is indispensable to the kind of novel she wishes to create." Willard Thorp

+ — N Y Times p5 O 24 '43 800w

"It is hard, offhand, to think of any Indian novel, except perhaps 'A Passage to India,' that has so authentic a feeling for the country. This sense of veracity, added to a sound literary style, ought to have made the book more interesting than it is."

+ New Yorker 19:94 O 30 '43 110w

"If Mrs Weston is to continue to use India as a subject for fiction, as she should, she must correct a tendency to write above her readers. A thorough understanding of 'Indigo,' which is a solid piece of writing, is impossible without the frequent use of a dictionary, for she fails to instruct those lacking her grasp of Indian life and history. Mrs Weston has something of Pearl Buck's depth and understanding, but unlike the latter does not take the reader into her confidence. Still her knowledge of India and appreciation of its forces and problems should give 'Indigo' a wide audience." Frederick Reinstein

Springf'd Republican p7e O 31 '43 550w

Time 42:98 N 15 '43 950w

"Certainly 'Indigo' is one of the best novels ever written about India and one of the finest novels I have read for years in any language. It combines scope and bigness and understanding with sensitivity and a great talent for words and style. For me at least every word of it was passionately absorbing. If any one wants to find out about India I can recommend 'Indigo,' for in its pages one lives in India. And its implications go far beyond the borders of India itself, into trails and problems which are today tormenting all the world." Louis Bromfield

+ Weekly Book Review p3 O 31 '43 1450w

Wis Lib Bul 40:10 Ja '44

"Mrs. Weston has written a book that casts a spell—a mature and melancholy book that clarifies and explains the emotions, prejudices, and animosities that underlie the Indian crisis. But, although Indigo is enlightening, it is burdened with fate, defeat, frustration, and tragedy; it is sad with the sorrow of all the ages, weary and profoundly pessimistic." Orville Prescott

Yale R n s 33:xviii winter '44 360w

WESTON, GARNETT. Man with the monocle [Eng title: Citizens—to arms!]. 245p $2 Doubleday [9s 6d Cassell]

44-40005

"Peter Van der Glass, archaeologist-adventurer, gets mysterious script that sets him on hunt for newspaper friend in Nazi clutches. Refreshingly different spy and sabotage story that ranges in scene from Berlin to Mayan ruins with thrills all along route." Sat R of Lit

Reviewed by Elizabeth Bullock

Book Week p6 D 26 '43 220w

Booklist 40:199 F 1 '44

"It all adds up to about the wildest spy yarn of the current bumper crop." Isaac Anderson

— N Y Times p10 D 26 '43 80w

"One of the wildest goose chases in recent spy fiction. Makes you wonder at times if some limits shouldn't be set on improbabilities in stories of international intrigue."

— New Yorker 19:99 D 18 '43 60w

"Plentifully exciting."

Sat R of Lit 26:38 D 11 '43 40w

Reviewed by Will Cuppy

Weekly Book Review p10 Ja 2 '44 110w

WESTON, SIDNEY ADAMS, ed. Finding your way in life. 142p $1.50 Assn. press

150.13 Psychology, Applied. Conduct of life

43-51022

"A dozen chapters by as many writers on youth's needs and problems in developing personality and character, gaining the tools of culture and getting on in the world. Among the writers are Dorothy Canfield Fisher, Eleanor Roosevelt, Emily Post, Margaret Slattery and Ordway Tead." Christian Century

Booklist 39:246 F 15 '43

"One seldom finds so much good sense so convincingly presented."

+ Christian Century 60:110 Ja 27 '43 100w

Cleveland Open Shelf p16 Ag '43

Weekly Book Review p17 My 16 '43 200w

WETHERELL, JUNE PAT. But that was yesterday. 278p $2.50 Dutton

42-51777

After nine years of a quietly happy marriage with Stephen, Jinx is shaken by the news that Mike Logan, a world famous correspondent, is coming to lecture at the college where Stephen teaches. In retrospect Jinx lives over her own college years and her broken romance with Mike. On the evening of the lecture Jinx realizes with absolute certainty that Mike's influence over her is gone forever. The book, which closes on the day of Pearl Harbor, pictures the sorority life of American colleges in an unfavorable light.

Reviewed by Lisle Bell

Books p10 Ja 24 '43 700w

"A lively, vital, very readable story. . . The novel is more than a college story, for it gives also a slant on the kind of people Mike and Jinx turned out to be, and on the sort of man Jinx finally married. And all three are interesting characters." Beatrice Sherman

+ N Y Times p7 Ja 24 '43 800w

Springf'd Republican p7e Ja 24 '43 140w

WHALL, ARTHUR LAWRENCE, ed. Greek reader. 883p $5 Doubleday

880.8 Greek literature—Translations into English 43-2432

Compilation of Greek literature in translation—history, philosophy, oratory, and poetry. Suggestions for supplementary reading. Indexes of translators and authors. General index.

Booklist 39:460 Jl 15 '43

"People want to know what a liberal education is. The start of one is in this book. Most of the ideas on which Western civilization keeps going are in these pages, but although they can be read in a few evenings they are lifeless unless lived, and the living of them is a life work. This Greek Reader in English is a labor of love and shows it. . . The translations are magnificent. . . It is heady wine. Once you get a taste for it there is no hope. You can't stop." Lucien Price

+ Boston Globe p15 F 3 '43 450w

Reviewed by E. P. Richardson

Commonweal 38:128 My 21 '43 490w

WHEATLEY, DENNIS. Faked passports. 485p $2.50 Macmillan [9s 6d Hutchinson]

43-11140

Spy thriller of the Finnish-Russian war, starring the British secret service hero, Gregory Sallust.

"Wheatley certainly is not one to restrain himself when it comes to providing an ample measure of thrills. In one of his few lapses the time-honored pursuit by hungry wolves across the Russian steppes is halted temporarily by the sacrifice of a horse rather than one of the human occupants of the sled. But one would be churlish indeed to enter an objection on such a minor deviation. . . The canny author of spy stories will never subordinate action to amours. Dennis Wheatley fills the bill." Jack Conroy

Book Week p6 My 2 '43 500w

"The story moves quickly, with thrills and hairbreadth escapes following one another at a breathless pace, plenty of ingenuity and a number of unexpected twists and turns, though some of the remarks about Goering, the generals and the Russians would suggest that it was written some little time ago." L. M. Field

+ N Y Times p7 Ap 11 '43 440w

"Worth-while thriller."

+ Sat R of Lit 26:40 Ap 10 '43 40w

"Sprightly tale of international intrigue. . . This is a rip-roaring if long-winded yarn for those who want their current history in fictional form." Will Cuppy

+ Weekly Book Review p23 Mr 28 '43 450w

WHEELER, KEITH. The Pacific is my beat; illustrated with photographs. 383p $3 Dutton

940.542 World war, 1939—Pacific ocean. World war, 1939—Personal narratives, American 43-15434

"[This] is the record of what [a war correspondent of the Chicago Times] saw, heard, and felt in the first fourteen months after Pearl Harbor. Many of those months were spent aboard ships of the Pacific Fleet, with Army and Navy fliers in the Aleutians, with United States troops seizing and consolidating a strip of Aleutian tundra almost under the eyes of the Japanese garrison on Kiska Island." Foreword

"When some now unborn Gibbon or Carlyle turns to the record of this war and tries to recapture the tone of our generation's agony, if he has the luck to come upon this book by Keith Wheeler, he will utter yelps of joy.

WHEELER, KEITH—Continued
For Wheeler will be the historian's treasure —a competent, alert reporter who is interested in facts." Rowland Wood
+ Book Week p4 N 21 '43 550w
Booklist 40:143 D 15 '43

Reviewed by Ira Wolfert
New Repub 109:820 D 6 '43 400w

"I'm allergic to most books about war and particularly the war in the Pacific, but this is the most comprehensive and the best, I believe, of the many that have been written to date. Few readers will put it down until they have finished it." Foster Hailey
+ N Y Times p3 N 14 '43 650w

"This is a rapid narrative, sharply written, with a realistic but at the same time ironic touch. You've read about most of this before, though."
New Yorker 19:114 N 13 '43 70w

Reviewed by Fletcher Pratt
Sat R of Lit 26:61 D 4 '43 700w

"'The Pacific Is My Beat' is quite different from any book about the war the present reviewer has seen. It combines to an extraordinary degree a certain straightforward simplicity of reporting with a refreshing frankness that never seems to flag." Lincoln Colcord
+ Weekly Book Review p5 N 14 '43 1650w

WHEELER, OPAL (MRS JOHN MACRAE). Sing for Christmas; a round of Christmas carols and stories of the carols; il. by Gustaf Tenggren. 127p $2.50 Dutton

783 Carols 43-51345

Twenty-nine Christmas carols, most of them well-known, but with a few not so well-known. Words and music are given for each, as well as illustrations. Stories about the origins of most of the carols are included.

"Gustaf Tenggren, who can always be counted on for his lovely drawings, has done some of his finest work for this book. The illustrations are many, most of them in full color, and between text, music and picture, the fullest meaning of Christmas is presented. A book for the whole family and for every Christmas." P. A. Whitney
+ Book Week p44 D 5 '43 140w
Booklist 40:152 D 15 '43

Reviewed by A. M. Jordan
Horn Bk 20:43 Ja '44 70w

"Recommended." R. M. Davis
+ Library J 69:74 Ja 15 '44 70w

Reviewed by A. T. Eaton
N Y Times p54 D 5 '43 120w

"The Tenggren illustrations are so imaginatively conceived and beautifully executed that, in spite of the rather inept text, which tells how each carol came into being, the volume is one of the most distinguished gift books of the season."
+ — New Yorker 19:133 D 4 '43 50w

"Handsomest of carol-books, the most striking feature of this large-paged family treasure is its characteristic Tenggren pictures in color." M. L. Becker
+ Weekly Book Review p8 D 12 '43 250w

WHEELER, POST. Hathoo of the elephants. 333p maps $2.50 Viking

Elephants—Legends and stories 43-14782

Story of an English boy lost when a baby in the jungles of India, and brought up by an elephant. Includes the story of his return to his parents and his efforts to switch over from animal ways to human ones.

"The author's intimate knowledge of jungle ways informs the book, and, although it will be compared with Kipling, it makes a new and fresh contribution of its own." M. K. McElderry
+ Christian Science Monitor p10 N 18 '43 70w

Reviewed by A. M. Jordan
Horn Bk 20:36 Ja '44 80w

"Mr. Wheeler, traveler, diplomat and author writes with authority, charm and enthusiasm." M. F. Cox
+ Library J 69:74 Ja 15 '44 110w

"Accounts of the jungle itself and of its animal life and customs often overshadow boy's story. Very limited appeal." J. E. Stromdahl
— Library J 69:74 Ja 15 '44 80w

"'Hathoo of the elephants' is good news for the boy or girl and the adult, too, who has left the jungle reluctantly when he came to the last page of Kipling's Jungle Books. Mr. Wheeler's book, however, has its own quality." A. T. E.
+ N Y Times p24 N 14 '43 280w

"We close the book reluctantly. For a brief, breathless space we have lived in Hathoo's world. It is an experience not to be missed." M. G. D.
+ Sat R of Lit 27:29 Ja 29 '44 500w

"The animal lore of India's Mysore jungle has stimulated this versatile author to another scholarly work. The careful execution of the endpapers by C. B. Falls also merits attention." M. E. S.
+ Springf'd Republican p7e D 19 '43 110w

WHEELER, WILLIAM LOUIS. Shipboard medical practice; a handbook of ship sanitation and emergency medical aid at sea. 114p il pl $1 Cornell maritime

614.8 Medicine, Naval 43-10112

Easy to follow directions for taking care of emergencies which may occur on shipboard: strains, sprains, frostbite, broken bones, etc. Partial contents: The medicine chest; Specific diseases and their therapy; Surgical first aid; Care of survivors; Rescuing a drowning person; Radio messages requesting medical advice. "Represents an extensive revision and expansion of the section on First Aid and Ship Sanitation in the American Merchant Seaman's Manual . . . third edition, 1942." (Foreword) Glossary. Index.

Reviewed by A. H. Fletcher
Am J Pub Health 33:1481 D '43 270w

"This simple little book could be of just as much use to the landlubber as the sailor."
+ Book Week p11 S 12 '43 50w

"Remarkable amount of information in small compass. Designed for Merchant Marine but will be very useful on any sailing ship and for first-aid manual. Latest information included."
+ Library J 68:670 S 1 '43 40w

Reviewed by James Stokley
Weekly Book Review p25 Ja 23 '44 70w

WHEELER-NICHOLSON, MALCOLM. Are we winning the hard way? 256p $3 Crowell

940.54 Strategy. World war, 1939- 43-51080

"The author is a professional Army officer, and a student at first hand of foreign armies and military thought. . . His object is to shorten the war and make it less costly in time, treasure, 'and the greatest treasure of all, the lives of our sons.' . . He analyzes the Axis plan for world domination and the danger of allowing that plan to be carried out any further. He shows what new concepts of air and land power versus sea power dictate Axis strategy. He points out the terrific wastage of time and lives that will result if we permit the Axis to dominate the 'World Island' with its enormous resources in man power and raw materials. He proves the futility of striving to storm that 'World Island' fortress as the Axis would have us storm it, and he shows a startling parallel between the great strategic error of the First World War and the possible same error about to be committed again in this war." (Publisher's note) Index.

"His views are debatable, but they are certainly defensible. The reader who investigates them will pick up a good deal of exciting military information on the way. The writing is as pungent as the ideas are contrary." R. H. Rovere
+ — Book Week p2 Ap 18 '43 230w
Booklist 39:330 Ap 15 '43

"Major Wheeler-Nicholson presents an interesting case, and his view commands respect. He has had wide experience and speaks with authority. Nevertheless he leaves one with a sense of wondering whether the present Allied strategy is not far more likely to succeed than the new project which he so carefully outlines." W. W. C.

+ — Christian Science Monitor p14 F 26 '43 700w

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert
Foreign Affairs 21:7 Jl '43 30w

Reviewed by H. A. von Urff
Library J 68:82 Ja 15 '43 80w

"The total axis aims and strategy are adequately described, although Germany's weakness and the strategy for defeating it could have been treated in more detail. But the book is for the layman, not the professional. As such it explains simply and clearly the principles of war and how they may be employed for allied victory. Even should the author's major conclusion be found wrong, his book would be valuable for its searching analyses and for its focus on a little-noticed front." F. H. R.

+ — Springf'd Republican p7e Ap 11 '43 700w

"To the output of a questing mind Major Wheeler-Nicholson adds definite technical knowledge based upon experience and hence can speak with authority, though his words will arouse controversy because of their outspoken bluntness. . . War is not for the generals alone. It is for every man and woman the most critical event of his lifetime, and consequently every man and woman must understand it. To this understanding Major Wheeler-Nicholson makes a contribution of decided importance." P. J. Searles

+ Weekly Book Review p14 Mr 21 '43 1250w

WHIPPLE, GRAHAM G., and BAUDEK, ANTHONY C. Engine lathe operations. 147p il $1.98 Grosset

621.94 Lathes 42-51749

"One hundred and four well illustrated and clearly explained units designed to meet the current demand for the training of workers in defense industries. Presupposes no previous technical education or experience." N Y New Tech Bks

---

Library J 67:952 N 1 '42 20w

N Y New Tech Bks 28:11 Ja '43

"Of all machine tools, the lathe is doubtless the most important. 'Engine Lathe Operation' is a manual of instruction in its use. Merely reading, of course, or even studying it, will not make one a skilled lathe operator, but a guide like this should be a considerable help to the student who is actually practicing on a lathe." James Stokley

+ Weekly Book Review p12 S 5 '43 80w

WHITAKER, ARTHUR PRESTON, ed. Inter-American affairs, 1941; an annual survey. 240p maps $3 Columbia univ. press

327.7 Pan Americanism

"This volume initiates what is designed to be a series of volumes published annually surveying the relations of the Americas. This first volume opens with a recapitulation of inter-American relations during the past half-century. The first Pan-American Congress was held in 1889. Not all our dealings with the other American republics, and not all of theirs with us, have been illustrative of a good neighbor policy, but neither extenuation nor malice is permitted to confuse the record. The sections dealing with 1941, each by a competent specialist, cover such areas as politics and diplomacy, economics and finance, cultural relations, public health, social welfare and labor. The editor adds a summary and forecast. Statistical material and a chronology are appended." (Christian Century) Index.

Reviewed by W. T. R. Fox
Am Pol Sci R 37:370 Ap '43 400w

"It is doubtful whether any other single volume in the field makes so much information so readily available. It is a pleasure to recommend it to professional students and laymen alike and to express the hope that it will be widely read since the continuation of the series depends largely on the reception accorded this initial publication." R. D. Hopper

+ Am Soc R 8:360 Je '43 550w

"The years 1941 and 1942 will long be remembered for their torrent of books concerning the other American republics and our relations with them. Yet here is a volume that deserves a place even in a small collection, for it is more than just a book. It is the result of a new idea—to chronicle in one book, a year's happenings in the various phases of inter-American life and to aid the reader in understanding these happenings, by expert discussions in each field." P. L. Green

+ Ann Am Acad 226:173 Mr '43 700w

Reviewed by J. P. Humphrey
Canadian Forum 23:46 My '43 490w

Christian Century 59:1531 D 9 '42 130w

"This volume is a disappointment—not because it lacks merit, for on the whole it is well executed, but because the time and money spent on it should have been employed in the support of more essential research. Vital subjects are neglected by the Carnegie Foundation, and by others as well, while scholars are encouraged to spend their time on handbooks dealing with current affairs. Only those with free access to the files of the government can obtain accurate information on present-day inter-American relationships, and such information, for the most part, is not revealed either to the public or to scholarly compilers because of the world crisis." J. F. Rippy

J Pol Econ 51:280 Je '43 320w

N Y Times p24 Ap 18 '43 280w

"A valuable book for mature students of Latin-America." L. F. Ulrick

+ Social Educ 7:186 Ap '43 450w

WHITAKER, JOHN THOMPSON. We cannot escape history. 374p $2.75 Macmillan

940.5 Europe—Politics. World war, 1939-
43-3668

"This book is a report, much of it first hand, of the descent into the abyss of war, and of the war itself—of the sickening years when we all did so much meanly to lose the best hope of earth that it is now in all bitter truth the last best hope and must be nobly saved indeed. 'We Cannot Escape History' is by way of being a sequel to Mr. Whitaker's first book, 'And Fear Came,' published several years ago [Book Review Digest, 1936]." Weekly Book Review

---

Reviewed by J. S. Roucek
Ann Am Acad 227:163 My '43 340w

Atlantic 172:121 Ag '43 150w

Booklist 39:317 Ap 1 '43

Bookmark 4:14 Mr '43

"This able correspondent's summary of events since 1934 exhibits many characteristics common to books by journalists. It is rich in personal incidents, revealing and authoritative 'off the record' statements, and eyewitness accounts by professionally trained observers; its style is clear and positive; there is some tendency to exaggerate the effect of individual events, to neglect feeling for the Zeitgeist and to avoid the steady, if labored, attention of professional historians to chronology and documents." Garland Downum

+ — Christian Century 60:664 Je 2 '43 750w

"John T. Whitaker is a journalistic phenomenon. He repeatedly breaks through the ceiling on the most secret diplomatic and military information. . . The publisher's blurb calls him an 'elite journalist.' He would probably prefer to be called a reporter, but the fact remains that the high spots of his information are points at which every foreign correspondent aims and which few reach; they are the envy of the profession." S. R. D.

+ Christian Science Monitor p16 Mr 11 '43 950w

WHITAKER, J. T.—Continued

"One of the best books this war has produced." R. G. Woolbert

+ Foreign Affairs 21:3 Jl '43 120w

"Readable but lacks restraint and judgment of Shirer, for instance. Public libraries will buy because of author's popularity as lecturer and his intimate knowledge of Italian leaders." G. E. Brown

Library J 68:82 Ja 15 '43 70w

"Had this book been issued at the beginning of 1942, before the American market was flooded by the volumes of newspapermen returning from the Axis countries, it would have been a best-seller. It is written with youthful liveliness and gusto, and many 'good stories' may be gleaned from it which seem plausible even when they could not, obviously, be substantiated by unimpeachable evidence. The chapters on Germany, Spain, and Russia are excellent. The chapters on France and Britain tell us nothing which has not already gone the rounds. As for the chapter on Italy, it belongs to what may be termed 'now-it-can-be-told' literature." Gaetano Salvemini

+ — Nation 156:867 Je 19 '43 1000w

"One could wish that some pages in this book were written in deeper awareness of history as a whole. There are eccentricities of judgment and weaknesses of expression, even as there are far too many typographical errors. But one puts the book down feeling that it will endure." G. N. Shuster

+ — N Y Times p4 Ap 11 '43 1200w

"A brilliant series of historical essays, based largely on personal contacts with European leaders. Its basic purpose is to make clear the nature of Fascism and to analyze the reasons for its triumph. The essays, written with verve, humor, and extraordinary perception, deal with Germany, Italy, France, Great Britain, the Soviet Union, Japan, and the appeasement period." Clifton Fadiman

+ New Yorker 19:77 Mr 13 '43 850w

Reviewed by W. C. Langsam

Pol Sci Q 58:469 S '43 390w

Reviewed by John MacCormac

Sat R of Lit 26:13 Mr 20 '43 800w

"'We Cannot Escape History' covers an enormous range and variety of material, and Mr. Whitaker has wrought a miracle of selection and simplification. In doing so he has inevitably omitted almost a volume of qualifications and reservations which he would be the first to agree are important to the full picture." W. R. Deuel

+ Weekly Book Review p3 Mr 14 '43 1350w

"This is an honest, informed, and keenly perceptive volume which should not be ignored by anyone eager to probe below the surface of events." J. D. Adams

+ Yale R n s 32:789 summer '43 100w

WHITE, ETHEL LINA. Man who was not there [Eng title: Man who loved lions]. 233p $2 Harper [8s 6d Collins]

43-15365

Mystery story.

Reviewed by Elizabeth Bullock

Book Week p10 O 31 '43 180w

"As a tale of horror and suspense, this book is less convincing than Miss White's best work." Isaac Anderson

N Y Times p8 O 24 '43 120w

"Excellent thriller."

+ Sat R of Lit 26:22 D 18 '43 40w

"The story is rather forced and lacks the logic and good foundation of a mystery story of merit." J. P.

Springf'd Republican p7e O 31 '43 140w

Times [London] Lit Sup p576 N 27 '43 110w

"Our guess is that most readers will prefer to take the whole thing as a lark, even though Miss White may have counted on grimmer reactions. Be that as it may, the story seems not to have jelled and must be classified among this author's works as a minor item." Will Cuppy

Weekly Book Review p18 O 24 '43 280w

WHITE, FLORA. Bloodroots in the wake of circumstance. 233p $2 Burton pub.

42-23665

Imaginative story of a young girl with telepathic powers whose fight for social justice ends in her deportation from the United States, and her death at sea. The book was written about fifty years ago and won the commendation of G. Stanley Hall and William James, but this is its first appearance in print.

Christian Century 60:1106 S 29 '43 50w

"The author has a fresh and interesting style, which is the more striking when one knows that she wrote 'Bloodroots' some 50 years ago! . . The eternal theme and the sincerity of its presentation make the story more than acceptable today, and readers who appreciate an unpretentious and tender treatment will be grateful to the author."

+ Springf'd Republican p7e Jl 4 '43 170w

WHITE, JOHN W. Our good neighbor hurdle. 209p $2.50 Bruce pub.

327.73 U.S.—Relations (general) with Latin America. Latin America—Relations (general) with U.S. 43-11006

"Believing that whole future of our Good Neighbor policy and relationship with peoples of southern Americas is seriously threatened by proselytizing activity of army of North American Protestant missionaries, sent to capital cities of Central and South America 'to save the heathen,' this veteran newspaper correspondent makes sincere and candid plea to thinking Protestants in United States to change their attitude toward educated Catholic peoples of South America." Library J

"Whether or not one agrees with White, his book makes interesting, sometimes irritating, sometimes provocative reading. Like all special pleaders who see a complex problem in the light of only one of its aspects, White oversimplifies the difficulties of Pan-Americanism in his attempt to pin the blame for present troubles on only one group." D. McC.

Book Week p10 Ag 22 '43 230w

Reviewed by Joseph McSorley

Cath World 157:659 S '43 270w

"'Our Good Neighbor Hurdle' is written with dash and indignation; it makes lively reading. Although the subject is deserving of more serious and comprehensive treatment, Mr. White has brought together enough evidence to give any fair-minded North American pause."

Commonweal 38:444 Ag 20 '43 950w

Reviewed by M. J. Messler

Library J 68:624 Ag '43 110w

"Mr. White does his best to convince the reader of the dangers to hemisphere solidarity of letting the missionaries stay in Latin America, but there will undoubtedly be many who will consider that he is making mountains out of molehills. It is notable, at any event, that he allows several factual errors to intrude into his account, and at times he fails to mention points which might weaken his arguments. He has done a valuable service, however, in bringing these matters to the attention of the public. There is evident need for a detailed and dispassionate study of the whole matter." C. A. Hutchinson

N Y Times p24 Ag 29 '43 700w

"Many of us would go along with Mr. White on his central contention, that volunteer reformers are a nuisance, create ill will, and generally muddy the waters. I doubt whether many Latin Americans—aside from the most intransigent rightists—could manage to work themselves up over the Protestant missionaries to the degree Mr. White achieves. Most of them, in my opinion, would laugh it off." Hubert Herring

Weekly Book Review p22 S 12 '43 950w

WHITE, MARION (MRS WILLIAM T. MOHRMAN). Diet without despair. 128p $1.50 Mill

641.5 Cookery 43-1060

Collection of recipes and menus for people on a diet, which attempts to substitute low calory for high calory ingredients, and still keep food attractive. Index.

Christian Century 60:110 Ja 27 '43 20w
Wis Lib Bul 39:38 Mr '43

WHITE, MARSH WILLIAM, ed. Practical physics, by Kenneth V. Manning [and others] prepared under the direction of the Division of arts and science extension, the Pa. state college. (Pa. state college. Industrial ser) 365p il $2.50 McGraw

530 Physics 43-10534

"Places particular emphasis on the portions of physics of most immediate practical use in war industry and in the armed services. The simplest of algebra and trigonometry of a right triangle represent the extent of mathematics used. More than a fourth of the book is concerned with electricity, though there are also chapters on such matters as heat and heat transfer, friction, machines, projectile motion, light and sound." (Weekly Book Review) Index.

"Since all topics in physics cannot be covered in one 365-page book, those topics that have the most direct use in engineering application are given attention. Aside from this, the book is typical in its approach to the study of physics. It is interestingly organized and better illustrated than many older books."
+ Book Week p9 Ag 22 '43 140w
Library J 68:671 S 1 '43 40w
N Y New Tech Bks 28:49 Jl '43

Reviewed by James Stokley
Weekly Book Review p32 O 3 '43 150w

WHITE, MORTON GABRIEL. Origin of Dewey's instrumentalism. 161p $2.25 Columbia univ. press

191.9 Dewey, John 43-1850

Analysis of the sources and intellectual environment of the philosophy of John Dewey. Bibliography. Index.

"Fascinating reading . . . most interesting of all—to this reader, at least—were the two chapters in which the author describes in some detail Dewey's transition from the ethical idealism of Green, Morris, and Hegel to a functional theory of morality built, not on metaphysical foundations but rather on the data provided by the social sciences. The survey stops in the early years of the present century, but not before the main lines of thought leading to Dewey's full-fledged instrumentalism have been made clear." E. M. Austin
+ Crozer Q 20:170 Ap '43 400w

"This is an uncommonly informing and thought-provoking book." A. E. Murphy
+ Ethics 54:155 Ja '44 950w

Reviewed by D. F. Bowers
J Philos 40:250 Ap 29 '43 700w
School & Society 57:140 Ja 30 '43 10w

"For graduate students in philosophy, Mr White's book will be interesting and valuable, but it is too much of a case book in philosophical analysis to have much general usefulness. As it was written obviously for the former, it probably serves its purpose adequately. Its dissection, however, to this reviewer seems incomplete, because if one is to make an historical analysis of the development of a point of view, it is not enough to compare books." C. D. Kean
+ — Springf'd Republican p8 Ap 20 '43 950w

WHITE, STEWART EDWARD. Anchors to windward; stability and personal peace—here and now. 191p $2 Dutton

170 Conduct of life 43-15045

"Confronted by the terror and instability of modern life a man has need, as White says, of inner 'stability and peace—here and now.' In this little book he gives very simply his own methods of meeting the problems of sorrow, frustration, old age and death, and expresses merely the modest hope that he may be able to suggest a means whereby someone else may make his, perhaps very different, spiritual synthesis." (Book Week) Index.

"White's chapter, 'Many Mansions,' contains a basis for universal human tolerance and love, which is probably the only one by means of which mankind may mitigate the horrors of 'man's inhumanity to man.' It is a beautiful ideal of the spirit, and well worth anyone's constant meditation, however far short we may fall from attaining it." Katherine Sanders
+ Book Week p8 N 21 '43 230w
Weekly Book Review p27 O 24 '43 170w

WHITE, STEWART EDWARD. Speaking for myself; il. by David Hendrickson. 245p $2 Doubleday

814 43-13904

Informal essays, reminiscences of a noted American writer and adventurer. Some of the material has been previously published in magazines. Contents: Self-protection against nurses; The little bag; Pity the poor author; California hospitality; Hail, hail the tourist! My Ming collection; Some people collect snuffboxes; Adventure; C.Q.; My helper falls down; Minor grouches; Pot shots at screen realism; Pesting for pleasure; The highway; Grim-visaged war; The tale of the man who did not believe in birthdays.

Reviewed by Jack Conroy
Book Week p4 Je 27 '43 140w

"Among the benefactors who have set themselves the useful task of creating laughter this season is Stewart Edward White. Not that Mr. White had to accomplish his task out of whole cloth, for his new book is made up largely of essays previously published in magazines. It is not less delightful for that. 'Speaking for Myself' contains 16 of these selections, all but one of them humorous and some of them also informative." W. K. R.
+ Christian Science Monitor p10 Jl 17 '43 600w

"Amusingly written. Not indispensable but a pleasant book for library of any size." Jacqueline Overton
+ Library J 68:475 Je 1 '43 70w

"No reflection on Major White's military record is intended, for the emphasis is his. He thinks and writes in terms of amusing anecdote—no small part of the charm of the book by so able a storyteller. The most interesting of Mr. White's occasional semi-serious moments is a discussion of an author's relations with his public. But the keynote of his reflections on miscellany is humor, which may or may not be indicative of 'what sort of fellow' he is. Friends, no doubt, will continue to suggest that Mr. White write his long-overdue autobiography." Richard Match
+ N Y Times p12 Ag 29 '43 380w

"Magazine articles amusing as these are too good to lose; many readers will be glad to recover favorite pieces by their favorite author in this hit-or-miss collection. The hits are many; it makes good convalescent reading if only for the minor grouches against hospitals."
+ Weekly Book Review p22 Jl 18 '43 250w
Wis Lib Bul 39:107 Jl '43

WHITE, WILLIAM LINDSAY. Queens die proudly. 273p $2.50 Harcourt

940.544 World war, 1939—Aerial operations. World war, 1939—Personal narratives, American 43-51172

The "queens" are flying fortresses, and the author of They Were Expendable (Book Review Digest, 1942) gives his account in the words of one of their crews. It is the story of our air force, as exemplified by the captain and crew of The Swoose, the only survivor of the 19th bombardment group to reach America after the battles in the Pacific southwest. Beginning with the attack on the Philippines the little group of survivors retreated slowly to Australia, via Celebes, Borneo, Sumatra, Java, Timor, and New Guinea.

WHITE, W. L.—Continued
Reviewed by Edward Weeks
+ Atlantic 171:127 Je '43 650w

"Let me start by saying that W. L. White has done it again. As in his 'They Were Expendable,' he has let a closely integrated group of fighters (this time the crew of a Flying Fortress) tell their story in their own simple, moving way—and in doing so has shown us not only their lives, their fight, their problems, but also the panorama of America's fight in the Pacific. It is a stirring and important book, one to make you proud and angry, and readier than ever to do all you can toward the winning of this war." A. C. Spectorsky
+ Book Week p1 Je 6 '43 1600w
Booklist 39:386 Je 1 '43
Cath World 157:558 Ag '43 90w
Christian Century 60:694 Je 9 '43 90w

"An extraordinary technique for capturing the particular in all its photographic richness yet relating it to the generic has been developed by W. L. White, whose 'Queens Die Proudly' is a worthy successor to his widely read 'They Were Expendable.'" E. S.
+ Christian Science Monitor p10 Jl 17 '43 400w

Reviewed by G. E. Shipler, Jr.
Churchman 157:16 S 1 '43 120w

"In spite of Mr. White, the story of those few Flying Fortresses we had in the Pacific comes clear. . . They were brave men, brave in cold blood because you have a lot more time to think in a bomber than in a fighter-plane. From them, we have here the best descriptions yet of how the Forts function, their weaknesses and their many strengths. For this and for the implied story of the frequent stupidities of command in those early days, the book is worth reading. The fliers supply the detail of the story that is now old to us and still bitter. It is too bad they had to tell it through White, whose mawkish touch, from the stupid and even vicious title, to the egomaniacal method of narrative, still does not prevent the essential facts from shining through and creating in us anger and pity and very whole-hearted admiration and gratitude to the men who manned the Fortress in those early and terrible days." Harry Sylvester
— + Commonweal 38:256 Je 25 '43 850w

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert
Foreign Affairs 22:159 O '43 30w

"Vivid presentation of heroism, gallantry, and saving humor of our airmen, faced by constant danger, fatigue, pain, and tragic scarcity of equipment. A challenge and inspiration to every American. Recommended for all libraries. Will appeal to young adults." Isabel Douglas
+ Library J 68:475 Je 1 '43 70w

"White handles a difficult form with remarkable skill. Although he does not succeed in differentiating the men by their modes of expression, he does render spoken English into a fine narrative prose and seldom lets his own rhetoric disturb the conversational tone of the book. The method requires abnegation and humility of the writer, for he must edit and rewrite rather than create. If White keeps on working in this form (the modern classic of which, incidentally, is a book called 'These Are Our Lives,' put out in 1938 by the Federal Writers' Project) he may find that he has written the only body of real literature produced during the war years." R. H. Rovere
+ New Repub 108:804 Je 14 '43 650w

"Very fine book. I say 'very fine' advisedly. 'Queens Die Proudly'—Mr. White will, I hope, forgive me if I maintain that the title is not quite worthy of the book—is not great literature, though there are passages in it of sustained power; neither is it straightforward, conscientious newspaper reporting such as the general public of America and Britain have learned to expect and respect. It is something between the two. I can best describe its quality if I say that there is a passionate sincerity in all its pages." H. A. S. Saunders
+ N Y Times p1 Je 6 '43 1200w

"A powerful piece of reporting with the fine, solid ring of truth. . . The book's accounts of air action are as clean-cut and exciting as any the war has evoked, and while there is plenty of the technical detail that Mr. White handles so skillfully, the figures of the human beings behind the machines—they include such names as Buzz Wagner, Wheless, and Kelly—are always projected in clear outline. There is perhaps less bitterness against military and political officialdom than there was in 'They Were Expendable,' but there is enough of it to drive home (which is where it should be driven) the irrefutable fact of our woeful unpreparedness." Clifton Fadiman
+ New Yorker 19:81 Je 5 '43 600w

"This is a book which you pick up and can't put down, because it's just as though the men were holding you with the tale they have to tell. Most of the talking is done by the pilot, Frank Kurtz. As he tells it, you forget that he was three times a member of the championship American Olympic diving team and made headlines in the sports pages long before he ever saw the inside of a B-17. But when you're through, it is not difficult to see how now, at thirty-one, he holds the rank of Lieutenant-Colonel and the Distinguished Flying Cross and Silver Star." P. R. Knauth
+ Sat R of Lit 26:9 Je 5 '43 1650w
Time 41:98 Je 14 '43 1000w
Times [London] Lit Sup p604 D 18 '43 420w

Reviewed by John Hersey
Weekly Book Review p3 Je 6 '43 1200w
Wis Lib Bul 39:85 Je '43

Reviewed by J. D. Adams
Yale R n s 32:790 summer '43 50w

WHITEHEAD, ROBERTA. Five and ten; il. by Lois Lenski. (Nursery bks) [41p] 85c Houghton
43-51150

Picture story book about a little five-year-old who went to the five and ten to spend her birthday pennies.

Booklist 39:373 My 15 '43

Reviewed by F. B. Sloan
Christian Science Monitor p10 Je 1 '43 80w

Reviewed by A. M. Jordan
Horn Bk 19:237 Jl '43 40w

Reviewed by M. M. Clark
Library J 68:479 Je 1 '43 70w

"Nearly all children know the 'Five and Ten' so that Roberta Whitehead's story of Mollie's shopping expedition to spend the five shiny pennies she has been given on her birthday will have for little children the pleasure of familiarity. It will give them, too, the opportunity, always greatly enjoyed of comparing their own tastes with those of a book character."
+ N Y Times p17 My 16 '43 160w

"A sound theme well handled in both pictures and text."
+ New Yorker 19:65 My 29 '43 50w

"If the 'Nursery Books,' of which this is the first, keep up with this, they will be a big help to parents of three-year-olds." M. L. Becker
+ Weekly Book Review p8 My 2 '43 230w
Wis Lib Bul 39:87 Je '43

WHITING, HERBERT. Listeners. 286p $2.50 Appleton-Century
43-1686

Psychological novel about a beautiful but evil woman, whose influence had brought dissension into the household of her brother, a famous psychiatrist. Eve Massingley managed her brother's home after the death of his wife, but she could not manage her nephew, Jan. The introduction into the picture of a young college graduate as tutor for Jan, brought a crisis in the lives of Eve, Jan, his beloved sister Meg, and young Prentiss, the tutor.

Booklist 39:293 Mr 15 '43

Reviewed by George Conrad
Books p9 F 7 '43 460w

"A discriminating sense of suspensive action and timely unfolding of the story make Whiting's novel better than average. Occasionally he falls prey to 'fine writing,' but the slight lapses are compensated for by the insight of the whole. A curious book and a promising one."

Boston Globe p15 F 3 '43 200w

"A first novel by a young writer, and good enough to give ground for assurance that his next will be better. . . Mr. Whiting knows the mind of youth, and later he will doubtless know the mind of middle age."

Christian Century 60:395 Mr 31 '43 70w

"Recommended." F. A. Boyle

+ Library J 68:35 Ja 1 '43 80w

"It is true that Miss Hatch's confession, which reveals the mystery of Dr. Massingley's behavior and Eve's wicked machinations in the past which brought about the abnormal state of affairs in the household, savors of the melodramatic, but the fault, if fault it is, may be forgiven an author who can tell a story with such skill. The best pages are those which are devoted to the building up of the characters and to their reactions to events. It is with pleasureful anticipation that one may look forward to Mr. Whiting's next book." John Cournos

+ N Y Times p7 Ja 31 '43 650w

Springf'd Republican p7e F 7 '43 300w

WHITNEY, JANET (PAYNE) (MRS G. G. WHITNEY). Judith. 340p $2.75 Morrow
43-15355

Philadelphia in 1792 is the scene of the story of a young doctor and the two women who loved him. The marriage of Dr Deverell to Judith, daughter of his enemy, brought unhappiness and despair for a time, but the yellow fever epidemic ended the family feud.

"Sweep and epic quality are characteristics of most presentday historical novels, good and bad. 'Judith' flouts both literary dicta. Readers will find it a very quiet sober-reading book without the usual pretense of being more historical than fictional." Ralph Peterson

Book Week p6 N 7 '43 380w

Booklist 40:147 D 15 '43

"It is rather a pity that the story is so banal and the people who make it so stereotyped, for Miss Whitney, writing of Philadelphia of that period, shows a fine flair for the historic. She is especially good in describing the panic and the terror of the plague which swept through the city." Rose Feld

N Y Times p46 N 28 '43 400w

Reviewed by Lisle Bell

+ Weekly Book Review p29 N 7 '43 550w

WHITNEY, PHYLLIS AYAME. Red is for murder. (Alliance bk) 221p $2 Ziff-Davis 43-16386

Detective story.

"Suspense is good, the solution depends on raking up several complex, interrelated and unsavory pasts, but one wishes that he weren't being led around by the hand quite so much." A. C. S.

+ — Book Week p11 N 7 '43 160w

Reviewed by Isaac Anderson

N Y Times p10 O 31 '43 80w

"This is one of those background stories, of course, but Miss Whitney is no slouch at handling the mystery routine in general. Moreover, she has a natural and likable way of conducting herself in dangerous territory." Will Cuppy

+ Weekly Book Review p34 N 28 '43 350w

WHITNEY, PHYLLIS AYAME. Window for Julie; il. by Jean Anderson. 193p $2 Houghton
43-16007

Traces the career of Julie Nichols, from sales girl in a large department store, until she had realized an ambition and become a real window dresser, with dreams for bigger things to come. For older girls.

"Miss Whitney treats her readers with dignity. She is working toward the goal set by these immortals, and Julie Nichols deserves an accolade. A word of commendation is in order, too, for the writing style of this author, which is crisp and clear. Also her scenes possess immediacy, and she has that rare gift, the 'ear for dialogue.'" F. N. Litten

+ Book Week p3 N 14 '43 340w

Booklist 40:118 D 1 '43

"The author has presented an excellent story with interesting contrasts of clashing personalities." D. M. MacDonald

+ Library J 68:1010 D 1 '43 50w

WHITTAKER, JAMES C. We thought we heard the angels sing; sketches and map by Gary Sheahan. 139p $1.50 Dutton

940.548 World war, 1939—Personal narratives, American. Pacific ocean. Aeronautics —Accidents 43-4621

"The complete epic story of the ordeal and rescue of those who were with Eddie Rickenbacker on the plane lost in the Pacific." (Subtitle) Author was co-pilot of the lost plane.

Atlantic 171:123 My '43 180w

"Regardless of how many times you have heard the story, regardless of how many men suffer the same misadventures, the account of the 21 days endured by Lt. James C. Whittaker and his seven companions on three air-inflated rubber rafts adrift on the Pacific remains stirring, impressive reading." Dorsey McCarthy

+ Book Week p3 Ap 4 '43 450w

Booklist 39:330 Ap 15 '43

Cath World 157:557 Ag '43 200w

"In the text Whittaker emphasizes the part played by faith and prayer and the reading of Johnny Bartek's New Testament, and Rickenbacker's story confirms this record. The jeering section (if any) can be joined by any person who has gone through three weeks of starvation on a raft without feeling the need of God. No others need apply."

+ Christian Century 60:394 Mr 31 '43 130w

"Unquestionably it will take its place as one of the classic tales of the war in the Pacific." M. W. B.

+ Christian Science Monitor p16 Mr 22 '43 390w

"It is a reasonably exciting tale, but the religious slant takes on the aspects of a maudlin sob-story. Some of it is touching, but most of it is nauseating: instead of faith and strength and courage, the men, like children, prayed for miracles—some of which they claim they got." G. E. Shipler Jr.

— + Churchman 157:16 Je 1 '43 170w

Cleveland Open Shelf p6 Ap '43

Library J 68:249 Mr 15 '43 20w

Reviewed by R. H. Rovere

New Repub 108:453 Ap 5 '43 200w

"There was more than heroic adventure to the Rickenbacker saga of twenty-one days on a raft in the Pacific. Some of it Rickenbacker has sketched, but only briefly, probably because of his innate reticence. But in this book by Lieutenant James C. Whittaker, the whole religious significance of that episode has been set forth almost in the form of a personal confession. The suffering, the danger, the bitterness, are all there, but Whittaker adds to the narrative something that is even more impressive. For it is the story of Whittaker's conversion." Russell Owen

+ N Y Times p7 Mr 28 '43 750w

Reviewed by Mark Gayn

Sat R of Lit 26:40 Ap 17 '43 180w

Reviewed by Stanley Walker

Weekly Book Review p1 Mr 21 '43 700w

Reviewed by J. D. Adams

Yale R n s 32:791 summer '43 90w

WHITTINGTON, EDWARD N. Industrial inspection and assembly. 202p il $2.25; text ed $1.75 McGraw

621.75 Machine shop practice 43-790

"Plainly written, and illustrated with 241 photographs and drawings, the book fully explains the proper use of various hand tools, machines, precision instruments, gages, etc. It gives helpful 'do's and don'ts' on modern machinery and assembly practices, and includes useful tables, and also specific instructions, recommendations, and pointers for the most efficient application of equipment and methods in bench-assembly work and its inspection. Advances in all fields are covered and modern factory methods are given throughout." (Publisher's note) Index.

"Needed by men and women entering industry. Told in simple language."
Library J 67:953 N 1 '43 30w
N Y New Tech Bks 28:11 Ja '43

"There is the usual complement of sketches, photographs and tables of data. In this respect the book compares favorably with other texts. However, the 'Industrial Inspection and Assembly' is present only in the author's interpretation of the meaning of these terms." J. M. Juran
N Y Times p26 Mr 28 '43 100w

WHO was who, 1929-1940; a companion to Who's who, containing the biographies of those who died during the period 1929-1940. v3 1499p $8.50 c1942 Macmillan [40s Black, A. & C.]

920 42-1090

"The third volume of Who Was Who is similar in scope, content, and format to the second volume covering the years 1916-1928. It contains the last biographies to appear in Who's Who of persons who died between 1929 and 1940. The date of death has been added at the end of each entry, and, in some cases, further information to bring the sketch up to date. 'A supplementary list of deaths before 1941,' reported after the volume had gone to press, appears on the verso of the title page. There are about 2700 more entries and 340 more pages included in this volume than in volume two." Subscription Bks Bul

"Who Was Who is indispensable for libraries using Who's Who. It is recommended."
+ Subscription Bks Bul 14:13 Ja '43 120w

WHO was who in America; a companion volume to Who's who in America; v. 1, 1897-1942, biographies of the non-living with dates of deaths appended. ltd ed 1396p $10; to libraries $9 c1942 Marquis

920 U.S.—Biography 43-3789

" 'The 25,000 biographies removed, because of deaths of biographees, from the 21 volumes of Who's Who in America published since its founding, in 1897, until—and including—the 1940-41 biennial volume, are contained—with dates of deaths appended—in this first issuance of its new companion book, Who Was Who in America' [Preface] It is noted that 'Except for certain revisions, the biographies in Who Was Who in America are purposely exactly as last published in Who's Who in America, even in respect of tense.' These revisions include the omission of some minor points, e.g. clubs and honorary fraternities of which the biographee was a member, and information of little permanent interest, as business addresses, etc. The publisher states that Who Was Who in America will be issued at intervals, probably about every ten years. A note mentions that this first volume contains 27,458 biographies." Subscription Bks Bul

"Contains the biographies dropped from volumes of the former title due to the death of the subjects, but does not include sketches which have been dropped for other reasons. Therefore, it does not entirely supersede the earlier volumes of Who's who in America, which indicate biographies dropped for reasons other than death. This point should be kept in mind in evaluating a policy of discarding the earlier volumes on the theory that the current volume, Who's who in America, 1942-43 and Who was who in America are their absolute equivalent. . . The current volume of Who's who in America with Who was who in America will provide good biographical coverage for the period 1897—date. For the small library, school or individual not having a complete file of Who's who in America this fact is important. Since Who was who in America is an independant work, complete in itself, it can be used by those who do not have a set of Who's who in America as well as by those who have. It is recommended."
+ Subscription Bks Bul 14:53 O '43 500w

WHO'S who; the official who's who among students in American universities and colleges: ed. by H. Pettus Randall. v8 1035p $3.65 c1942 The editor, University of Ala.

923.7 Students

"This volume is a compilation of biographies of selected students of certain colleges and universities named in the work and is 'proportionally distributed between male and female students. . . Freshmen and sophomores are not candidates for recommendation. Only juniors, seniors and students in advanced work are selected' (1938-39 prospectus). Those chosen for inclusion are locally prominent, especially in extra-curricular activities. It is implied that college deans are responsible for the selection of the names in the majority of instances. . . The main purpose of the volume, as stated in a foreword to personnel managers, is 'to bring the names of the outstanding students of America before the business world, and before others who annually recruit students.' " Subscription Bks Bul

"In considering the book as a whole it is difficult to discover its practical worth in view of the rapid turnover in college communities. As far as the public library is concerned this volume has little appeal. It is doubtful what value it offers a college library, beyond satisfying student vanity. As a recruiting agent for advanced schools it offers little that cannot be obtained better from the college vocational advisers. As the placement service connected with the book is outside the scope of this reviewing publication, it can receive no consideration. Treated solely as a book and evaluated on the basis of its practical use to libraries as a biographical dictionary it is not recommended for purchase."
— Subscription Bks Bul 14:14 Ja '43 600w

WHO'S who in aviation; a directory of living men and women who have contributed to the growth of aviation in the United States, 1942-43; comp. by the Writers' program, Illinois; co-sponsored by the Ill. aeronautics comm. and the Chicago aero commission. 486p $5 c1942 Ziff-Davis

926.2913 Aeronautics—Biography 42-24727

" 'Who's Who in Aviation is designed to provide a comprehensive biographical directory of living men and women who have contributed to the development and status of aviation in the United States—' preface. The work of collecting and editing the material in the book was undertaken by the Illinois Writers' Project, under the co-sponsorship of the Illinois Aeronautics Commission and the Chicago Aero Commission, at the suggestion of the publishers. . . All branches of aviation, both civil and military, are given extensive coverage. The individuals included are the officials and key employees of the aircraft, airlines, and associated industries; officers of the air services of the armed forces of the United States who merit recognition by reason of high rank or distinguished service (or both); officials and key employees of governmental aeronautical agencies and boards; distinguished members of such pioneer pilot organizations as the Early Birds and the Quiet Birdmen; members of the Institute of the Aeronautical Sciences, and outstanding members of other aeronautical societies; members of aeronautics and meteorology faculties of universities, colleges, and technical schools. Also included are individuals who have won recognition by noteworthy contributions to the science, industry, commerce, literature, and development of aviation and its closely allied endeavors." Subscription Bks Bul

Library J 67:953 N 1 '42 40w

N Y New Tech Bks 28:3 Ja '43

"A check of several biographical sketches shows that the data given is accurate and complete. The inclusiveness of the volume is attested to by the difficulty in finding important people who were omitted. Among those not listed, whom one might expect to find in such a work, were William E. Boeing, Reuben H. Fleet, Laura Ingalls, Tom M. Girdler, James E. Thompson, and Cy Caldwell. There are approximately 4000 individuals treated in the volume. . . Who's Who in Aviation, because of wide interest in the subject field, will be useful to most libraries and to those individuals engaged in aviation and allied endeavors. It is recommended."

+ Subscription Bks Bul 14:15 Ja '43 550w

WHO'S who in library service; ed. by C. C. Williamson and Alice L. Jewett. 2d ed 612p price on application c1943 Wilson, H.W.

920.2 Librarians 43-51176

"Information has been brought up to date in most entries; graduates of accredited library schools who received degrees from 1932-1940 are included, and later graduates if professionally employed in 1941. Many non-graduates are included by virtue of their professional importance." (Booklist) For first edition see Book Review Digest, 1933.

Booklist 39:431 Je 15 '43

Library J 68:657 S 1 '43 550w

"Ten years after the publication of Who's Who in Library Service the second edition makes its welcome appearance. . . That some of the information is already obsolete is inevitable; that some librarians are excluded is not surprising. The wonder is that in the face of the many difficulties confronting the compilers they were able to produce this volume at all and to include so much." Leon Carnovsky

+ — Library Q 14:71 Ja '44 440w

WHYTE, JOHN. American words and ways; especially for German Americans. 184p $2.50 Viking

428.243 English language—Textbooks for foreigners—Germans 43-9229

Written for German Americans this book covers speaking and writing colloquial American English, social forms and social customs in America, and differences in national German and American characteristics and temperaments. Bibliography. Index.

Booklist 39:458 Jl 15 '43

"It is only when Mr. Whyte drops a brick —followed by a careful explanation to the one whose toe he has broken—that the whole merit of the work is discounted. With his appendices —word lists, examples and other guides—there is no fault to be found. It does seem clear, however, that Mr. Whyte's book would have profited greatly by a first-class job of editing." C. B. Palmer

+ — N Y Times p8 Jl 4 '43 650w

"Mr. Whyte has presented ex-German professors and their wives with a charming and useful manual. His book bears the subtitle 'especially for German-Americans,' but it is quite specifically written for educated newcomers from pre-Hitler or anti-Hitler Germany, and it profits from that limitation. To be sure, the book is excessively brief and its users, full of German Gründlichkeit, will look in vain for full treatment of such matters as pronunciation or idioms. But this deficiency is clearly outweighed by the author's unusual understanding of cultural differences between Germans and Americans, by his intimate knowledge of the German language, and by his tactful approach to some of the immigrant's touchiest problems." Lyman Bryson

+ School & Society 58:93 Ag 7 '43 280w

Wis Lib Bul 39:120 O '43

WICHELNS, LEE. Masterson. 280p $2.50 Appleton-Century

43-5032

Masterson was a modern buccaneer, a rum runner and gun runner, taking up any dangerous job that would add to his bank account, saved toward the day when his beloved ship, the Evelynne, would be free of all such jobs forever. On his last dangerous mission, Masterson met a fine English girl, and the Evelynne had a rival. He attempted to carry out his work and not lose his new found treasure, and almost lost both.

"We are told that this is a first novel. May I, just a reviewer of books, make a few suggestions to Wichelns? Don't maneuver your characters, events, etc. so obviously. It is quite bad taste to insist, in most amateur fashion, that Masterson hates women, then have him make himself a fool over the first one he sees; it is a bit too easy to think up a plague just so Masterson can be 'a good guy underneath'; and about that last-minute rescue from the firing squad—ah no!" E. J. C.

Book Week p6 My 23 '43 270w

"A first novel. Really good escape reading with excitement, love interest, and happy ending. Recommended." Emily Garnett

+ Library J 68:248 Mr 15 '43 70w

" 'Masterson' contains some good descriptive writing. In fact, at times the author seems more interested in the sea than in his characters. Like his hero, Mr. Wichelns has been influenced by the rolling prose of 'Moby Dick.' Symbolic forewords to the episodes of his story are couched in the style of Herman Melville's classic. This is a perilous business. For some it may point up the fact that, just as Masterson is no Captain Ahab, neither is Mr. Wichelns as yet a Melville. To balance such comparison, it should be recorded that for a first novel 'Masterson' shows considerable promise, reveals few of the beginner's usual faults." Allan Taylor

+ N Y Times p18 Ap 18 '43 500w

"A fascinating story of sea adventures, featuring the transformation of the central character from a deep-dyed misogynist into one more man captivated by a woman's charm. . . The story is good entertainment. Readers of this writer's first novel will be hoping that he decides to use his skill as a story teller again before long." S. D. C.

+ Springf'd Republican p7e My 2 '43 300w

Reviewed by Lisle Bell

Weekly Book Review p22 Ap 11 '43 350w

WICKS, EDWARD C.; POLIACIK, JOHN, Jr, and ELLBERG, JOHN. Shopwork; written to conform to the preinduction training course in fundamentals of shopwork as prepared by the War department; many drawings by Marion E. Wicks. 160p $1.12 Am. bk.

680 Machine shop practice 43-2072

"The authors feel that this book is practically self-teaching. It includes chapters on Classification of Tools, Common Essential Tools, Woodworking, Measuring and Gaging, Metalworking, Wiring and Wire Splicing, and Ropes, Slices and Knots." (School & Society) Index.

N Y New Tech Bks 28:46 Jl '43

"The book lacks coherence and good sequence. The choice and treatment of topics suggest a rather limited background in the general subject-matter on the part of the authors. Perhaps this is the first offense for this team of authors, and perhaps we should not expect too much in wartime." J. M. Juran

N Y Times p26 Mr 28 '43 100w

School & Society 57:196 F 13 '43 30w

WIEMAN, REGINA (HANSON) WESTCOTT (MRS HENRY NELSON WIEMAN). Does your child obey? 128p $1.25 Harper

136.7 Obedience. Children—Management 43-4113

A book for parents analysing the whole problem of obedience in the training of children from infancy thru adolescence.

Booklist 39:439 Jl 1 '43

Bookmark 4:4 My '43

"A wise little book."

+ Christian Century 60:297 Mr 10 '43 70w

+ Weekly Book Review p29 Mr 28 '43 250w

Wis Lib Bul 39:81 Je '43

WIENER, ALEXANDER SOLOMON. Blood groups and transfusion. 3d ed 438p 69il $7.50 Thomas, C.C.

612.1 Blood groups. Blood—Transfusion 43-6178

"The author has added two new chapters in this third edition which is printed 38 months after the second in 1939. This volume summarizes as the author proposes: the present knowledge concerning the theory and technic of blood grouping; its application in clinical, legal and veterinary medicine and in anthropology, and assembles and integrates the essential facts concerning the transfusion of whole blood, plasma, and serum." Am J Pub Health

Reviewed by M. F. Ashley Montagu

+ Am Anthropol 45:625 O '43 450w

"This book should become the standard text in medical schools and should be in the possession of all blood banks." John Scudder

+ Am J Pub Health 33:1286 O '43 700w

WIETING, CHARLES MAURICE. How to teach consumers' cooperation. 206p $2 Harper

334 Cooperation 42-23480

"Following a summary of the consumers' cooperative movement in foreign countries and in the United States, the author surveys briefly the provisions for the teaching of consumers' cooperation in state courses of study, and its teaching in individual schools and colleges. One chapter gives suggested unit organization." (Booklist) Index.

Booklist 39:219 F 1 '43

"This is the very book we have been waiting for. It packs into a few pages the most valuable material on the principles, philosophy, statistics, and achievements of the cooperative movement that has yet appeared. It is timely, too, in its treatment of the effect of the war upon cooperatives. . . Cooperators, would-be-cooperators, and anti-cooperators should read Mr. Wieting's book. Each will find therein the answers to his questions on cooperatives; each will conclude that the cooperative movement in America is healthy, strong and ever-growing, the great promise for the future of our continent." M. M. Coady

+ Commonweal 37:450 F 19 '43 350

"Dr. Wieting's experiences in public school teaching and in writing articles for educational journals have enabled him to give us a book of practical value. . . An index and lists of reference materials, films, and interested agencies add to the value of the book." A. L. Edwards

+ J Home Econ 35:112 F '43 230w

"Teachers interested in consumer education and consumers' cooperation will find this study an indispensable aid to better teaching of the subjects. However, every teacher interested in the democratic way of living will find this book extremely enlightening and helpful in teaching children real democracy." G. F. Zimmerman

+ Social Educ 7:140 Mr '43 370w

Reviewed by L. M. Brooks

Social Forces 21:370 Mr '43 180w

"The section of this book devoted to a suggestive outline for a course in cooperation, along with a brief but rather well-chosen bibliography, is valuable. It would serve as an admirable starting point for those teachers whose duty it is to give instruction in such a course. The general point of view expressed by the author is sane." H. W. Cross

+ Springf'd Republican p6 Mr 8 '43 600w

"The book covers its subject thoroughly and lucidly, treating it as something that has grown past the experimental stage into a challenging movement. Let us hope that it will be immediately accepted by those schools where cooperation is taught." Bertram Fowler

+ Survey 79:256 S '43 230w

Wis Lib Bul 39:50 Ap '43

WILCOX, JEROME KEAR, ed. See American library association. Committee on public documents. Public documents and World war, II

WILCOX, RUTH TURNER. Mode in costume [il. by the author]. 395p $5 Scribner

391 Costume—History 42-22765

History of costume from the time of ancient Egypt to the 1940's. Illustrated with black and white drawings showing costumes and accessories. Later periods stress English and French fashions. Bibliography.

Booklist 39:219 F 1 '43

Pratt p8 F '43

Wis Lib Bul 38:182 D '42

WILDE, IRENE. Red turban. 300p $2.50 Liveright

43-17346

Tor Alvarado, whose parents were Americans, was born in the Valley of Kashmir, but came to California to seek a larger life. The heroine is Gabriella, a woman in her forties, whose life is complicated by the memory of a much loved husband, and the love affairs of a young niece.

"Miss Wilde's description of the shooting of the film on location which Tor Alvarado, listed for a small part, manages to 'steal,' indicates that she probably has never actually seen a movie in production, with its almost endless rehearsing of each small incident. Throughout the novel, the mingling of the realistic and the symbolical is rather distracting." M. L. H.

Springf'd Republican p7e S 19 '43 280w

" 'The Red Turban' is somewhat tenuous as to plot, but it should appeal to readers who like to believe that love is an occult force." Lisle Bell

Weekly Book Review p17 Ag 22 '43 130w

WILDER, AMOS NIVEN. Healing of the waters; poems. 89p $1.75 Harper

811 43-5129

"Amos Wilder is not just a professor (of New Testament, Andover) who occasionally writes verse. He is an authentic poet, as well as a profound and revealing interpreter of the poetry of others. . . The present collection opens with 'The City of Destruction,' which represents the frivolity and wickedness of Paris in 1939 as calling for fire from heaven, like the corruption of Sodom. But this is not offered as an oversimplified explanation of the fall of France. The author does not need to be reminded that the Boulevard de Clichy was not France, was not even Paris. The Paris he paints is 'all cities, the Cities of the Plain, the city of Man,' whose ancient roots of ill need sterilizing and whose perennial fires of evil need quenching by a power that is more than man's. . . Nine of the poems in the volume were first published in The Christian Century." Christian Century

Booklist 39:422 Je 15 '43

Christian Century 60:668 Je 2 '43 320w

"The contemplation of man in the present world scene is translated into verse of quality. The conflict of the worldly and the spiritual is well handled. While there are sections of the book which make dull reading, there are also uplifting passages and crumbs of comfort." Pearl Strachan

+ Christian Science Monitor p10 My 8 '43 160w

Reviewed by M. S. Enslin

Crozer Q 20:263 Jl '43 150w

Reviewed by David Daiches

New Repub 109:149 Ag 2 '43 100w

Reviewed by W. R. Benét

Sat R of Lit 26:11 Ag 21 '43 140w

Wis Lib Bul 39:83 Je '43

WILDER, MRS LAURA (INGALLS). These happy golden years; with pictures by Helen Sewell and Mildred Boyle. 300p $2 Harper

43-51065

Final book in the Little House series, the first of which was Little House in the Big Woods (Book Review Digest, 1932). Laura, at sixteen, is teaching school and finding it difficult, when Almanzo Wilder begins courting her. The book ends with their marriage. Grades six to eight.

Booklist 39:322 Ap 1 '43

"For those who have not followed the westward trek of this engaging family in the books as they appeared, this delightful new story is complete in itself, but we warmly recommend the entire series, eight books, real records, all written out of the author's own experiences." F. B. Sloan

+ Christian Science Monitor p12 Ap 22 '43 180w

"It is a notable group of American stories that Mrs. Wilder has woven out of her own vivid memories of a pioneer childhood, valuable as social history and rich in truthful characterization, but above all loved as good stories for their own sake." A. M. Jordan

+ Horn Bk 19:174 My '43 110w

Reviewed by A. C. Moore

Horn Bk 19:166 My '43 40w

"Satisfying conclusion to the beloved 'Little House' series. . . In vein of quiet joy, this romance and vivid realism of the 1880's brings to peak of perfection our best American family saga since Little Women." Maude Adams

+ Library J 68:330 Ap 15 '43 70w

"These books are based on the author's own life and ring true in every particular. Their authentic background, sensitive characterization, their fine integrity and spirit of sturdy independence, make them an invaluable addition to our list of genuinely American stories, and as such they have a special significance for us today." A. T. Eaton

+ N Y Times p11 Ap 4 '43 500w

"Any boy or girl who has access to all the books in the series will be the richer for their first-hand record of pioneer life in the opening West and for their warm-hearted human values."

+ New Yorker 19:69 My 29 '43 90w

"Valuable pioneer history."

+ Sat R of Lit 26:28 My 15 '43 20w

Reviewed by A. M. Jordan

Sat R of Lit 26:40 Je 19 '43 90w

Reviewed by M. G. Davis

Sat R of Lit 26:19 S 25 '43 300w

Reviewed by M. L. Becker

Weekly Book Review p8 My 23 '43 330w

Wis Lib Bul 39:76 My '43

WILDER, MRS MARGARET APPLEGATE (BUELL). Since you went away. . .: letters to a soldier from his wife; il. by Margaret Van Doren. (Whittlesey house publication) 234p $2 McGraw

43-5937

Letters from a soldier's wife to her lieutenant husband in the army. They tell about the daily doings of the wife, her teen age daughters, the army colonel who came to rent a room, Fidelia the colored maid, and the family collection of animals—dogs, cats, and Miss Horse.

"To compare these letters to the correspondence between Heloise and Abelard or Elizabeth and Robert Browning is to insult the intelligence, emotional sanity and prose style of Margaret Buell Wilder. . . There is nothing self-conscious, nothing cloying and at the same time nothing shallow about these very revealing love letters. They are full of the significant minutiae, which Dante could never share with Beatrice, they are filled with the emotional shorthand of the successful modern marriage." Sterling North

+ Book Week p3 Jl 18 '43 450w

Booklist 40:15 S '43

"A good book to give to a woman worrying whether her soldier husband will return to his dear ones."

+ Cath World 157:559 Ag '43 230w

"The subtitle tells all, except that they are very clever letters—almost too clever. One feels that it required a little overstrain to keep up this flow of cheerful banter and diverting comment on the activities on the home front. But perhaps that is the intention. Anyway, the letters are very amusing."

Christian Century 60:822 Jl 14 '43 70w

"Many readers will chuckle over this book, and it may well do much to improve the tone of real letters to soldiers from their wives."

+ Christian Science Monitor p11 Je 26 '43 450w

"Letters to and from soldiers are of enormous interest to millions of Americans today, so Mrs. Wilder's book is likely to have a wide popular appeal. These letters are very like good talk, intimate, spontaneous, telling the high spots—and low spots—of life at home without the soldier." Beatrice Sherman

+ N Y Times p5 Jl 18 '43 650w

"Small wonder the book is to be made into a movie. Sketched in with a sure, deft touch, brushing lightly over the heartbreak of living without Tim, the just about perfect husband and father, the story speeds on toward Christmas eve, on through humorous adventure after humorous adventure, through emotional blackouts, and tender reminiscences as delicate as etchings." O. P. R.

+ Springf'd Republican p7e Ag 8 '43 330w

"It will be hard for women with men in the service to read these letters to a soldier husband without getting a lump in their throats. It will be just as hard to read them, however, without a good many chuckles, plus a reassurance that civilians are taking it, and that there are Mrs. Minivers in America, too." Rachel Meisenhelder

+ Weekly Book Review p12 Jl 18 '43 750w

WILDER, ROBERT. Out of the blue; the informal diary of a reporter; drawings by Herbert Stein. 244p $2.50 Putnam

818 42-50962

Collection of human interest stories by a newspaper reporter. The localities range from Chicago to Florida; from the Pacific coast to New York city; the subjects from village idiots to a lady missionary, captured by Chinese pirates. Many of the stories are reprinted from the New York Sun.

"This collection must be set down as one of the smoothest and best of all reporters' collections. Others may have shown more factual reporting, more sympathy and understanding, but at sheer tale-telling Mr. Wilder can hold his own with any of the boys. Indeed, it may be objected by the squeamish that he is just a little too glib." Stanley Walker

+ — Books p22 Ja 17 '43 1000w

" 'The Big Wind' is excellent descriptive writing. I liked the picture of a dismal day in the ship news reporters' Barge Office room when 'the rain was heavy as gravel on the tin roof,' the easy transition to the Florida beach where a twister had piled broken buildings and broken humans. This story ends with

WILDER, ROBERT—Continued
startling abruptness on a melancholy note that the reader does not expect. The timing is perfect." Meyer Berger

+ N Y Times p5 Ja 24 '43 1150w

"Neatly told, for the most part."

+ New Yorker 18:60 Ja 23 '43 70w

WILDER, WALTER BEEBE. Bounty of the wayside. 256p il $2.50 Doubleday

B or 92 Cookery. Country life 43-9161

Anecdotal account of the author's life with grandfather, a gentleman who was always on the lookout for different foods, which he culled from natural sources. Things which other people called weeds were real food to grandfather. Along with his lessons on foods, grandfather instilled into his grandson a love for country living. The author is the son of Louise Beebe Wilder.

"All the elements of a good novel are present in this book except plot. The characters of Grandfather and Mrs. Cragg have such vitality and individuality that they will live pleasantly in the memory; the atmosphere of the New England farm is delightfully established; and such incidents as 'Life in a Ditch' (the boy's experience in living like an Indian) and 'Rabbit Food' (Grandfather's belated conversion to salads) are as ably narrated and as amusing as one could ask." J. T. Frederick

+ Book Week p4 Je 27 '43 500w

Bookmark 4:11 My '43

"Advised for those who enjoyed Lutes' Country Kitchen, although many of these recipes are fantastic. Good escape reading." D. F. Lucas

+ Library J 68:429 My 15 '43 70w

"'Bounty of the Wayside' is also a 'Life With Grandfather,' and Grandfather is worth knowing." Anita Moffett

+ N Y Times p10 Je 6 '43 700w

Springf'd Republican p7e Ag 29 '43 160w

"What a grandfather! What a lucky kid! And what a merry book he has written!" Richardson Wright

+ Weekly Book Review p7 Je 20 '43 800w

Wis Lib Bul 39:107 Jl '43

WILDES, HARRY EMERSON. Lonely Midas; the story of Stephen Girard. 372p $3.50 Farrar

B or 92 Girard, Stephen 43-15616

"Author of The Delaware and Anthony Wayne presents revealing biography of Stephen Girard of Philadelphia, who rose from cabin boy at fourteen to wealthy merchant, financier, and Philadelphia's greatest philanthropist. From personal papers and voluminous correspondence placed at his disposal, Wildes has built a biography which gives reader the sharp contrasts in character of 'flinty' Stephen Girard, who was misunderstood and unappreciated by his contemporaries." (Library J) Bibliography. Index.

"Wildes is a brilliant and entertaining writer, as his fine earlier books, 'Valley Forge' and 'The Delaware,' have proved. He is also a biographer of integrity. The life of Stephen Girard was full of sensational incidents and relationships, of eccentric and even fantastic actions. I shudder to think what an unscrupulous biographer would have made of it. Wildes' record is candid, impartial, and thoroughly interesting. His scholarship is thorough but unobtrusive, his picture of Girard vivid and just. 'Lonely Midas' deserves a definite place among American biographies of immediate and lasting value." J. T. Frederick

+ Book Week p12 N 21 '43 240w

Booklist 40:145 D 15 '43

"Availing himself of the 'scores of thousands of letters,' the twenty-seven sea chests of assorted memoranda, the merchant's meticulously complete books, and 'thousands of documents which had not been opened since Girard's death,' this latest biographer has proved himself indefatigable in marshaling detail, and charming as ever in his presentation of incident and anecdote. . . To have succeeded in unraveling the complicated relationships of the sprawling clan of old Pierre, their wives, husbands and children, and made them fascinating as sharply differentiated individuals is little short of a triumph." T. P. Haviland

+ Christian Century 61:143 F 2 '44 900w

"Recommended for public libraries." H. A. Carpenter

+ Library J 68:845 O 15 '43 80w

New Repub 109:862 D 13 '43 110w

"Mr. Wildes has produced an interesting book, which is certainly a full-length portrait. The scandals are there, the neighbors' comments thereon are not neglected, and in many close-packed pages we learn what Girard said, what he wrote, how much he paid and how much he profited, what he ate, drank and chewed. If Mr. Wildes has not assimilated this material too well it at least may be said that no one will ever have to write another biography of Stephen Girard. The wealth of his material has sometimes overwhelmed him; he leaves nothing out—not even Girard's laundry list." Karl Schriftgiesser

+ — N Y Times p14 N 7 '43 900w

"A clear if rather chatty retelling of a very tangled story, which includes a good deal of new material."

+ New Yorker 19:114 N 13 '43 70w

"This meticulous businessman never threw anything away. Every document, no matter how trivial, was carefully preserved and is still on file in the archives of the college he founded. Mr. Wildes has had access to the Girard documents and has cast new light on his subject's private life. His biography of Stephen Girard is as detailed as any one could wish, and it gives a rounded picture of the man." P. V. Stern

+ Sat R of Lit 26:9 N 20 '43 380w

"This is, to an extreme degree, a personal biography. Girard's family was large and articulate, and his relations with his importunate brothers and sisters, nieces and nephews, and more distant kinsmen, were intricate and for the most part distasteful. Mr. Wildes spares us none of the details. . . Some aspects of the story . . . may be interesting, but little of it is significant. Nor has Mr. Wildes used this purely personal material effectively to recreate the society in which Girard moved or to interpret Girard's own character." H. S. Commager

Weekly Book Review p6 Ja 2 '44 650w

WILDES, HARRY EMERSON. Twin rivers: the Raritan and the Passaic; il. by Angelo di Benedetto. (Rivers of America) 390p $2.50 Farrar

917.49 Passaic river. Raritan river. New Jersey 43-2434

Records the history and legends of that part of northern New Jersey drained by the Raritan and the Passaic rivers. The material is divided into three main periods: colonial; the Revolution; and industrial revolution. Bibliography. Index.

"'Twin Rivers' may not be among the select few best books in the Rivers of America Series, but it stacks up well with the average and that . . . is a high one." August Derleth

+ — Book Week p6 Mr 14 '43 750w

Booklist 39:317 Ap 1 '43

Christian Science Monitor p10 Ap 3 '43 270w

"The Raritan, after a drab interlude, has been reclaimed and restored to something nearer its earlier beauty. The Passaic still suffers from factory pollution to such an extent that its youthful bloom is hard to imagine. But through all their vicissitudes the Twin Rivers have floated a cargo of extremely active living. In recalling it for us, Mr. Wildes does a great deal to put in focus the picture of a State still so easy of access and so variously inhabited that its own personality tends to blend in with and be lost in that of its larger neighbors." Winifred Halsted

+ N Y Times p14 Mr 7 '43 750w

"Too crammed with facts at times, but lively reading."
+ — New Yorker 19:67 F 27 '43 50w

Reviewed by William Van Til
Weekly Book Review p6 Mr 28 '43 800w

WILEY, BELL IRVIN. Life of Johnny Reb; the common soldier of the confederacy. 444p il $3.75 Bobbs

973.784 Confederate states of America—Army. U.S.—History—Civil war—Personal narratives 43-3253

"Composite biography of the ordinary soldier of the Confederacy—his behavior in camp and under fire, his food, clothing, weapons, religion, amusements, attitude toward women, and so on. Taken mostly from first-hand accounts in letters, diaries, and records." (New Yorker) Bibliography. Index.

"This book is a frank, down-to-earth account of the war. Johnny Reb would approve of it; his few surviving daughters will generally loathe it, but his granddaughters will read into it much of the lives of their husbands and sons at Guadalcanal and in Tunisia. In two respects the Life of Johnny Reb is a landmark in the writing of Southern history. Professor Wiley has uncovered a new and significant source of historical material from which he has captured a homespun spirit which is not always flattering but ever solid and human. He has dared to write this straightforward book from a stronghold of the Confederacy, which is within itself a matter of historical significance." T. D. Clark
+ Am Hist R 49:126 O '43 850w

Reviewed by P. M. Angle
Book Week p1 Mr 14 '43 1050w

Booklist 39:318 Ap 1 '43

Reviewed by Paul Hutchinson
Christian Century 60:666 Je 2 '43 600w

Christian Science Monitor p11 Je 12 '43 450w

"A good piece of work, and will prove valuable to anyone who is already interested in the Civil War. It is perhaps too detailed and thorough for the general reader. It bears as its sub-title 'The Common Soldier of the Confederacy,' and Mr. Wiley, by consulting diaries and letters and idle memorabilia, assiduously gathered by antiquarian squirrels in the university and historical society libraries of the South, has painted a full-length portrait."
+ Commonweal 37:570 Mr 26 '43 450w

Nation 156:714 My 15 '43 100w

"Professor Wiley has performed his back-breaking task with great ingenuity. His book is at once an original and balanced contribution to scholarship, and a just, readable, sprightly and amusing appraisal of the men who bore the brunt of the fighting for the Confederacy." Virginius Dabney
+ N Y Times p5 Ap 4 '43 1000w

"This is a rich and fascinating job, though squeamish about some of the details."
+ New Yorker 19:67 Mr 6 '43 70w

"In a sweeping statement we may say that in this book the reader will find almost anything he may want to know about 'Johnny Reb,' or the soldier of any war. You sense what war is like as vividly as in any of the leading novels which poured from the presses after the last one, but this is fact and not fiction, and the volume is indispensable to any historian of 1861-65." J. T. Adams
+ Sat R of Lit 26:9 Je 12 '43 900w

"The book is so organized that chapters need not be read in sequence. But they will be read, whether or not in sequence, once a reader has had the opportunity to dip into this fascinating book and view the common soldier as he himself paints the picture. With such a wealth of data to be had, it seems strange indeed that this book was not written earlier. A bibliography, a good index and 28 photographs and illustrations complete this unique book." L. B. Hill
+ Springf'd Republican p7e Ap 18 '43 1000w

"Mr. Wiley has done his work with such skill that what might have been the dreariest of doctoral dissertations is a work of art. He delights in Johnny Reb. He laughs at him constantly, but Johnny wouldn't mind that, for Johnny laughed at himself. The point is that Mr. Wiley has never failed to see beyond the superficial absurdity the genuine magnificence of a warrior of the first quality. Therefore he has performed a service not for Johnny Reb alone; for the first-quality warrior is essentially the same, yesterday, today and forever, and the reader of this book, with only a slight exercise of his imagination, may attain a truer appreciation of the common soldiers who today are facing the battle no less magnificently." G. W. Johnson
+ Weekly Book Review p1 Mr 14 '43 1200w

Wis Lib Bul 39:54 Ap '43

"In the highly competitive field of Civil War literature, this book must rank as an important contribution." D. M. Potter
+ Yale R n s 32:824 summer '43 700w

WILGUS, ALVA CURTIS. Histories and historians of Hispanic America. rev ed 144p pa $1.75 Wilson, H.W.

016.98 Latin America—History—Bibliography 42-17360

"Based on the author's Histories of Hispanic America (The Pan American union, Washington, 1932) and on the appendices, pages 573-662, written by Dr. Wilgus in Colonial Hispanic America, issued, 1936, by George Washington university. Seminar conference on Hispanic American affairs. 'Revised, corrected and augmented.' 'A selected list of bibliographical and biographical collections and aids': p. [113]-127." (Library of Congress card) Index.

Am Hist R 48:438 Ja '43 70w

Library Q 12:869 O '42 130w

WILHELM, GALE. Time between. 208p $2 Morrow

42-22991

A delicately wrought story of a ten days' leave during which an American hero, recovering from his wounds, goes back to his California home, marries the girl he loves, and receives a citation for bravery "beyond the line of duty."

Booklist 39:294 Mr 15 '43

Bookmark 4:19 My '43

Reviewed by Harold Brighouse
Manchester Guardian p3 O 29 '43 80w

" 'The Time Between' is, to this reviewer's way of thinking, much the best book Gale Wilhelm has ever written. There have been times when her writing, for all its obvious talent, seemed rather precious and mannered. Some of the mannerisms remain, but this book can stand on its own feet without regard to them. It would still seem good, one is willing to wager, if it had quotation marks and, for the sake of clarity, a few more commas." Margaret Wallace
+ N Y Times p6 F 14 '43 850w

"Miss Wilhelm writes with penetrating understanding of suffering and happiness, with a very real gift for characterization, and with warm, friendly humor, which informs even some of her most heartbreaking pages. In the face of so much talent, certain confusing affectations of technique are all the more exasperating. Just let Miss Wilhelm forget all about Katherine Mansfield and there is no telling what fine work she may give us."
+ — New Yorker 18:71 F 13 '43 110w

"In just two hundred and eight pages Miss Wilhelm has compressed a poignant and beautifully built love story which a writer less firmly in control of her material and method could easily have spilled over into twice the length with one-half the result. . . Miss Wilhelm's originality in structure would scarcely be enough if it were not matched by equal freshness in prose style. It is wonderfully specific, colloquial, forthright, her dialogue as natural and everyday as if nobody speaking it ever thought of turning up in a book, yet somehow she manages to place on the shoulders of every word and phrase its proper burdens of meaning and movement." Bess Jones
+ Sat R of Lit 26:11 F 20 '43 550w

WILHELM, GALE—Continued
Reviewed by Kate O'Brien
Spec 171:416 O 29 '43 170w
Times [London] Lit Sup p623 D 25 '43 120w

"Miss Wilhelm's novel is a deceptively simple story, so exquisitely tempered and proportioned and washed clean of irrelevant detail that it is only in retrospect that one realizes how much she has given so briefly." Mary Ross
+ Weekly Book Review p3 F 14 '43 700w

WILKING, STEPHEN VINCENT, and CUSHMAN, DOROTHY J. Test yourself for a war job. 137p il pa $1.50 Houghton

151.223 Mental tests. Ability—Testing. Machine shop practice 43-10233

"A collection of 25 simple paper-and-pencil tests designed to reveal mechanical ability. The tests fall into three major categories: aptitude tests, 'common-sense' tests, and tests of knowledge of things and functions mechanical." Management R

Management R 32:276 Jl '43 40w

"To test-conscious America, this book should provide fun as well as valuable information as to unsuspected abilities." M. F. Dunn
+ Springf'd Republican p6 Ag 26 '43 250w

WILKINS, RICHARD ALFRED, and BUNN, EDWARD SCHAIBLE. Copper and copper base alloys; the physical and mechanical properties of copper and its commercial alloys in wrought form. 355p il $5 McGraw

620.18 Copper. Copper alloys 43-6984

"A detailed study of copper alloys, their preparation, properties and uses. The greater part of the book is taken up with data useful in establishing alloying, working and annealing schedules for the production of material to meet a particular specification. Primarily a reference book." (N Y New Tech Bks) Bibliography. Index.

Reviewed by S. Skowronski
Chem & Met Eng 50:193 O '43 300w
Cleveland Open Shelf p11 Jl '43
Library J 68:478 Je 1 '43 20w
N Y New Tech Bks 28:24 Ap '43

"A book that ought to find a place in the library of every engineer, designer and metallurgist who is at all likely to look for factual information on the mechanical, physical, electrical and chemical properties of this group of metals. All the data are presented in the form of well made graphs and tables." C. M. Casman
+ N Y Times p37 O 3 '43 80w

WILKINSON, ALBERT EDMUND. Flower encyclopedia and gardener's guide; il. by Tabea Hofman. (New home lib) 524p 69c Garden City pub. co.

635.9 Floriculture. Gardening 43-6250

"A reference work for flower gardeners. . . Without attempting a complete botanical classification of each subject, it states briefly the facts about it most likely to be of interest to the amateur, and follows with practical instructions and suggestions for combatting its insect enemies. All popular garden flowers and many rare ones are included. . . In addition there are chapters devoted to garden design and practice." Book Week

"This book is much more compact and easier to consult than the more exhaustive horticultural encyclopedias." J. H. Burdett
Book Week p3 Ap 25 '43 200w
Reviewed by F. F. Rockwell
N Y Times p20 Je 13 '43 100w

"A creditable job within the prescribed limits. The book is not exhaustive, nor could you expect that it would be. But there is a real place for it in our literature of gardening." R. S. Lemmon
+ Weekly Book Review p19 Je 6 '43 150w

WILKINSON, BONARO (MRS HARRY ALLEN OVERSTREET). American reasons. 45p $1 Macmillan

811 A43-3673

Six poems, originally presented over the radio. They give six people's ideas about the war, and what we are fighting for. The six are: a soldier met on a train; a soldier's wife; a business executive; a woman at work in her kitchen; a Negro soldier; and a writer.

Booklist 39:365 My 15 '43

"The poems have been broadcast on the 'Voice of Freedom' program. They are worth keeping and reading from time to time."
+ Christian Century 60:610 My 19 '43 100w

"Stimulating blank verse." Pearl Strachan
+ Christian Science Monitor p10 My 1 '43 400w

Reviewed by David Daiches
New Repub 109:150 Ag 2 '43 90w

"As in Sandburg's 'The people, Yes,' there sounds throughout this book the reassuring note of faith in the people. While Mrs. Overstreet's verse lacks some of the raw driving power of the Chicago poet-biographer, it is in the end as overmastering." Gustav Davidson
+ N Y Times p22 Je 6 '43 200w

"The poems are microphonic and, if recited for radio or in public assembly, unquestionably would be moving and dramatic. They fail to achieve the subtlety of meaning and imagery that one wants in his reading of poetry. They are public poems, not private ones. The characters in them are stereotyped and familiar. When read privately, they lack intensity of feeling and hence they carry little of the emotional appeal which an actor would no doubt give them. But they do reflect the changes in social attitudes that the war has brought about." W. S. Lynch
+ — Sat R of Lit 26:24 Je 19 '43 400w

Reviewed by Elizabeth Drew
Weekly Book Review p13 Jl 4 '43 250w

WILKINSON, BONARO (MRS HARRY ALLEN OVERSTREET). Courage for crisis. 99p $1.50 Harper

179.6 Courage 43-7778

"The author states the purpose of [this book] as 'an effort to set down, one after another, the attitudes—the slant on life—that help us to feel equal to whatever the future may bring.' She distinguishes physical courage and psychological courage. It is this second, 'the courage we make for ourselves,' with which she is largely concerned." Sat R of Lit

"For years I have tried to be a sort of specialist in courage. . . I thought I was fairly well grounded in the subject. But never, by anyone, at any time or anywhere, have I met the thought of courage presented as Mrs. Overstreet does, so adequately and brilliantly." Preston Bradley
+ Book Week p11 Ag 22 '43 650w
Booklist 39:456 Jl 15 '43

"Simply and clearly the author writes out a kind of recipe which, if followed carefully, will help the reader meet the irritations and insecurities, the fears and loneliness of war. It is by observation of actual people and from physical contact with them that she has decided what we need to face life bravely. Her concrete illustrations and examples give the book a homely flavor that makes her ideas lucid but that at times neglects the complexities of many human problems." W. S. Lynch
+ — Sat R of Lit 26:24 Je 19 '43 400w

Reviewed by Marshall Bragdon
Springf'd Republican p6 Jl 17 '43 900w
Wis Lib Bul 39:104 Jl '43

WILLARD, HOBART HURD, and DIEHL, HARVEY. Advanced quantitative analysis. rev ed 457p il $4.75 Van Nostrand

545 Chemistry, Analytic—Quantitative
43-14946

"A companion text to Willard and Furman's Elementary quantitative analysis, third edition, 1940. Libraries acquiring one title will need the other. Graduate student level." (N Y New Tech Bks) Index.

Library J 68:962 N 15 '43 20w

N Y New Tech Bks 28:41 Jl '43

WILLIAMS, ALBERT RHYS. The Russians; the land, the people, and why they fight. 248p maps $2 Harcourt

947.084 Russia—Politics and government. Russia—Economic conditions. World war, 1939—Russia 42-50882

In an attempt to answer the question: How will the Russians fight? the author gives in this book "a background understanding of the Russian land, the people, their institutions and ideas—what they have achieved in the past twenty-five years and what they hope to achieve in the future. . . Some parts of this book make use of material from an earlier and larger volume, The Soviets [Book Review Digest, 1937]." (Pref) Index.

Reviewed by A. J. Zurcher
Am Pol Sci R 37:339 Ap '43 500w

"Mr. Williams is to be congratulated on publishing a book that is neither 'expert' nor 'authoritative.' It is written in such a saintly manner, with such humane feeling and love, that one cannot help uttering as he closes the book: 'Give us more of this!' " A. G. Mazour
+ Ann Am Acad 226:157 Mr '43 500w

Booklist 39:199 Ja 15 '43

Bookmark 4:15 Mr '43

"Albert Rhys Williams has lived in Russia for thirteen of the twenty-five years of the Soviet Union's existence. His latest book, is the fruit of lifelong study of the iconoclastic system and how the Russian people have adapted themselves to it. . . He has written an enthusiastic compilation of readable material that might serve as a textbook for those who want to know what makes the Soviet Union work and what kind of people the Communists have organized." Larry Lesueur
+ Books p6 Ja 17 '43 850w

"Mr. Williams has written other books which have become part of the permanent bibliography of the subject. The present one is a compact and comprehensive survey of the people, the government, the army, the state of industry and agriculture, education, science, religion, the status of women, and a forecast of what Russian policy will be after the war. While not a book of ephemeral value, it is decidedly a book of the hour."
+ Christian Century 60:234 F 24 '43 190w

"A more timely and authentic book than this could hardly be conceived." Clifton Macon
+ Churchman 157:16 Ja 15 '43 330w

Cleveland Open Shelf p2 Ja '43

"Mr. Williams has followed the Soviet experiment longer and at closer range than most Americans who essay to write on modern Russia. Unfortunately, he sometimes lets his enthusiasm for the Soviets get the better of his critical judgment." R. G. Woolbert
+ — Foreign Affairs 21:13 Jl '43 40w

Reviewed by Katharine Shorey
Library J 68:35 Ja 1 '43 90w

Manchester Guardian p3 Ap 14 '43 180w

"Williams's basic thesis is summed up on the last page of his book: 'In their defense of Moscow and Leningrad, the Russians are fighting in defense of New York and Washington.' His book gives the Russians the benefit of every doubt, and cuts many corners in their favor in considering this basic proposition. Objectivity tends to suffer, but by and large the book is fair, and it is of course well written." John Scott
Nation 156:98 Ja 16 '43 650w

"This well-intentioned book adds little new evidence for the understanding of Soviet affairs. . . To have lived 25 years in Russia seems, in itself, to be no better a qualification to write about Russia than 25 years in England to write about England." Maurice Edelman
— + New Statesman & Nation 25:406 Je 19 '43 90w

"Much has changed in Russia and in the world since the early period of the Bolshevik Revolution. But Mr. Williams adheres to his early faith with no substantial reservations. The result is a book that contains some useful up-to-date information on Russia and the Russians and some human warm-hearted descriptions of personal experience in Russia, but that is rather heavily charged with emotional and intellectual bias when the author touches on aspects of the Soviet regime that are least attractive to the unbelieving mind." W. H. Chamberlin
N Y Times p6 Ja 10 '43 1050w

"Mr. Williams is a well-informed, skillful, and moderate apologist for the Soviet way of life."
+ New Yorker 18:52 Ja 9 '43 90w

Reviewed by E. C. Carter
Pacific Affairs 16:109 Mr '43 700w

"Some of the glib statements in this book will prove disappointing to serious students of the Soviet Union. . . On the other hand, the author is careful in his book not to make the ridiculous assertions of the more enthusiastic and less informed pro-Soviet writers." I. D. W. Talmadge
Sat R of Lit 26:16 F 6 '43 800w

"On the face of it one might say that this was a knowledgable book spoilt by an inferior style. In fact, it is not even that. Knowledge is more than collected results of personal observation, and Mr. Williams' personal observation is not illumined by understanding of the Russians, but fogged by his own political emotions, which have nothing to do with these long-suffering people."
— Spec 170:600 Je 25 '43 380w

Springf'd Republican p8 F 16 '43 270w

"Here is a mine of real and interesting information about the Soviet world. . . It is the most important book on Russia which has come to my attention." R. B. Scandrett, Jr.
+ Survey G 32:103 Mr '43 600w

Times [London] Lit Sup p218 My 8 '43 120w

Wis Lib Bul 39:28 F '43

WILLIAMS, BEN AMES, 1889- ed. Amateurs at war; the American soldier in action. 498p il $3 Houghton

973 U.S.—History, Military. Battles—U.S.
43-7804

Anthology of accounts of American wars and fighting, for the most part by the fighters themselves or by eyewitnesses. They begin in time in 1724, and end with a report from the Solomons.

Booklist 39:423 Je 15 '43

"A book of selections—a these-things-I-like book—hardly can be criticized as a whole or judged in part. One judgment as a whole is: this book should hold more readers up beyond their bedtime than are sent dancing into the streets." S. T. Williamson
+ N Y Times p5 My 23 '43 1300w

"The title is happily chosen and well supported by the selections. . . Anyone familiar with war memoirs will have favorites which he feels should have been included. But there's no need to argue about such snubs; there will be more such anthologies appearing at frequent intervals, and new chances for such favorites to occur. Meanwhile, most readers will find much to hold their interest and stir their pride in 'Amateurs at War.' " Marshall Bragdon
+ Springf'd Republican p6 Je 5 '43 800w

Reviewed by Carl Van Doren
Weekly Book Review p8 Jl 4 '43 430w

Wis Lib Bul 39:120 O '43

WILLIAMS, BLANCHE COLTON. Forever young; a life of John Keats. 365p $3.50 Putnam

B or 92 Keats, John 43-5157

Taking the creative years of Keats' life, from the beginning of his journey to the Isle of Wight, April 14, 1817, to his death in 1821, the author has written an almost day by day account. In form the study is fiction-like, but in substance it is factual, being based largely on Keats' own letters. Bibliography. Index.

"Blanche Colton Williams, until recently professor of English and head of the department at Hunter College in New York City, has undertaken 'to revivify John Keats, the poet, as he was in everyday life.' . . That seems a good idea. But it predicates or permits a biography of Keats that makes practically no acknowledgment of the popular events and intellectual currents of his time or their influence on his life and work. A painful result of this shortcut is that the poet and his intimates apear to live and speak and posture in a vacuum." Leo Kennedy

Book Week p6 My 16 '43 550w

Booklist 39:387 Je 1 '43

"To write such a book requires wide and accurate scholarship, sympathetic understanding, reverence free from sentimentality, tact, unusual literary skill, and the courage to attempt a fresh approach. Forever Young seems certain to have the notable success it so obviously deserves." J. J. Reilly

+ Cath World 157:325 Je '43 450w

"For readers who like to have the wholesome, nutritious diet of literary biography sauced and seasoned with the manner and technique of the novel, Forever Young is just the book. It is not 'fictionized' biography in the sense that the evidence is distorted or that liberties are taken with established facts. There is a secure bedrock of learning. Miss Williams has 'done her home work,' as her bibliography attests and as every reader acquainted with the career and poetry of John Keats will recognize." S. C. C.

+ Christian Science Monitor p14 Ap 30 '43 650w

Nation 156:786 My 29 '43 250w

"Because it is unpretentious and free of sentimentality, Dr. Williams' portrait of Keats as an outrageous punster, a good fellow and a great poet, is engaging and fresh."

+ New Repub 108:742 My 31 '43 90w

"By centering attention in the climatic years Dr. Williams has largely voided the fortuitous aberrations of a longer biography. She is to be congratuiated, too, on having fought clear of the frenetic materialism of Miss Amy Lowell, and of that other pitfall for the female biographer of Keats, the tendency to namby-pambyize. . . The total result of Dr. Williams's method is to present the personality of Keats virtually without other canalization or patternizing than the facts which the last four years contain within themselves. Readers who want their Keats in this form will like the book." Carlos Baker

+ N Y Times p4 Ap 18 '43 1100w

"Any book that sends a new generation to the poetry of John Keats serves a purpose: and in so far as Dr. Williams's book may do this it will have the same kind of usefulness as has a guide-book to a familiar and loved country. 'Forever Young' is professedly an account of John Keats the man from the time of his first book—published when he was twenty-one and a half years old—to his death. Dr. Williams has an undistinguished style; but occasionally she catches fire from her subject; and she emphasizes—the indomitable spirit, the force, the pugnacity of the youth whom, as a poet, so conservative a critic as Matthew Arnold put beside Shakespeare." R. E. Roberts

+ — Sat R of Lit 26:8 Ag 28 '43 400w

"In presenting this material Miss Williams has made skillful use of fictional techniques. The scenes are described as they might have appeared (often as they actually did appear) to Keats himself. . . Her method results in a biography of these golden and tragic years that is as easy to read as fiction and possesses the added charm of authenticity." G. F. Whicher

+ Weekly Book Review p5 Ap 18 '43 900w

WILLIAMS, GURNEY, ed. It's a funny world. 126p $2.50 McBride

741.5 Humor, Pictorial. Caricatures and cartoons 43-16796

Collection of cartoons reprinted from Collier's. They are in five sections, each with an introduction. Contents: Our fighting men and women; The battle on the home front; The sporting arena; Our future fighters; Unclassified adds.

Booklist 40:110 D 1 '43

"There are plenty of laughs for all kinds of humors here; many are related to war's lighter side, but not too many. It's a good nominee for that Christmas list."

+ Springf'd Republican p7e O 24 '43 90w

Reviewed by Lisle Bell

Weekly Book Review p4 D 5 '43 80w

WILLIAMS, HENRY LIONEL. Aviation mechanics simplified; a practical self-instruction course for the aircraft and engine mechanic; ed. by Michael H. Froelich. 576p il $3.95 A. Neil Sawyer co, 275 7th av, N.Y.; for sale by Grosset

629.134 Airplane engines. Airplanes—Design and construction A43-2794

"Not only engines but their mountings, propellers, brakes, wings, rivets, etc., are included in [this book], which is intended to explain the subject to a person without any previous technical training. It starts with the most elementary subjects and works up to more complicated subjects. Especially helpful to the beginner is an 'illustrated picture dictionary,' more than 150 line drawings illustrating aircraft, their parts and functions, with brief explanations. Fuller descriptions of these parts are given in the body of the book." (Weekly Book Review) Index.

Library J 68:576 Jl '43 20w

"The approach is consistently practical—how to use glue, how to clean and handle aluminum, how to take spark plugs apart. Such directions are brief and definite, and any beginner who follows them will at least qualify as an intelligent helper if not as a licensed mechanic." Theofore English

+ N Y Times p10 My 16 '43 180w

Reviewed by James Stokley

Weekly Book Review p17 Je 13 '43 120w

WILLIAMS, JAMES ROBERT. Out our way. [128p] $1.25 Scribner

741.5 Caricatures and cartoons. Humor, Pictorial 43-15348

Collection of cartoons reprinted from newspapers. They depict the doings of a bunch of cowboys and their tenderfoot guest.

Reviewed by August Derleth

Book Week p3 O 10 '43 230w

"J. R. Williams's art is old-fashioned, if any art can be called old-fashioned. His technique is reminiscent of that of Opper Zim, and the other comic draftsmen whose drawings filled the pages of Puck and Judge when those periodicals were as much a part of the pre-Gillette barbershops as shaving mugs adorned with their owners' names." S. J. Woolf

+ Sat R of Lit 26:57 O 16 '43 400w

Springf'd Republican p7e Ja 2 '44 110w

WILLIAMS, JESSE FEIRING. Atlas of human anatomy; [il] by Franz Frohse [and others]. 86p $2.25; pa $1.50 Barnes & Noble

611 Anatomy, Human 43-51135

New edition of a work first published in 1935 (Book Review Digest, 1936). This new edition is enlarged with a section on the endocrine glands, text by C. F. Geschickter, illustrations by Leon Schlossberg. Bibliography. Index.

"The new edition shows for the first time a series of illustrations on the endocrine glands. As the microscopic illustrations are not in color, they do very little in helping to understand the function of the glands, and the explanatory text of this chapter by Charles F. Geschickter is too technical for the non-medical reader. Nevertheless, the book is still the best available pocket-size atlas on human anatomy." Bruno Gebhard

+ — Am J Pub Health 33:1478 D '43 130w

Booklist 39:370 My 15 '43

WILLIAMS, LEWIS JAMES. Nameless. 48p $1.50 Press of James A. Decker

811 43-16199

"This book-length poem is made up of graphic sketches of life in the Pennsylvania coal country during the depression years. From the common background of hard-coal towns, of lives caught in the veins between rock, are drawn individual portraits and incidents as seen by young Evans James, son of a Welsh miner." Books

"Lew Williams knows these people, and he writes about them as he feels: deeply, passionately, tenderly. . . It is the color and flavor of that life—its narrowness and its greatness—done in honest dimensions and with complete understanding, that makes 'The Nameless' very much worthwhile reading."

+ Books p27 O 4 '42 250w

"It is all very gashing, and there is even a photograph of a WPA card to prove it; but the subject cannot be half so drab as the expression, which provokes no sympathy, only an irritated glumness." Frank Jones

— Nation 156:278 F 20 '43 70w

"The poem holds contradictions. Its lack of restraint and self-conscious attitudes often make one think the writer is listening to himself rather than looking at his subject. The result is a frequent inappropriate diction. . . As often happens—and not only in poetry—vices and virtues have a common root; this general over-writing sometimes fires up into lines above the average." E. J. Cronin

— + Poetry 61:517 D '42 150w

WILLIAMS, OSCAR, ed. New poems, 1943; an anthology of British and American verse. 325p il $2.75 Howell, Soskin

821.08 English poetry—Collections. American poetry—Collections

"A selection from the recent work of forty American and British poets—Frost, MacLeish, and Edith Sitwell, in the company of younger men and women, a good many of them on the wordy side. Interesting previously uncollected material by Marianne Moore, Auden, and others. Biographical notes and photographs, both grave and gay, of certain contributors." (New Yorker) No index, but contents page lists works of each poet under author's name. Contributors are arranged alphabetically.

Booklist 40:90 N 15 '43

"Personally I can find little in the alabaster ambiguities of Edith Sitwell or the incendiary ambiguities of the Dylan Thomas group, and none at all in the cross-word puzzles of Mr. E. E. Cummings. On the whole this is a depressing collection." Katherine Brégy

— Cath World 158:214 N '43 250w

Reviewed by Pearl Strachan

Christian Science Monitor p10 O 16 '43 550w

"The choice is wide; and Mr. Williams's taste seems to me sufficiently sound to allow the volume to be taken as indicative of the present state of the poetic mind." J. P. Bishop

+ Nation 157:446 O 16 '43 1500w

"Among the selections I thought most rewarding were several poems by Ann Ridler, little known in this country, whose clean outlines of form contain rare experssions. W. H. Auden's 'In the Manger,' part of an unpublished Christmas Oratorio, and a poem called 'Mundus et Infans' enhance his stature. 'In Distrust of Merits,' by Marianne Moore is a 'war poem' of such passionate sincerity that its existence ought to be a reproof and an example to the shoddy propaganda of the film and the radio. I was glad to find work by two recent and original poets, Robert Lowell and Vernon Watkins. In a negative way, the flatulent bombast of several other poets (choose your own names), hyper-conscious of their writing 'Poetry' made the good things seem still better." Milton Klonsky

+ — New Repub 109:399 S 20 '43 350w

Reviewed by Delmore Schwartz

+ N Y Times p29 O 17 '43 400w

New Yorker 19:87 S 25 '43 70w

"Mr. Williams is to be congratulated on his faith in the present generation of poets—if one takes that misused word 'poet' to mean, as I think it should, one who is not primarily concerned with selling anything to a public which demands merely some sentimental truckling to the powers that be, but who records, rather, for himself and others' benefit, the impact of an age upon his, or her, sensitive organism. This third anthology of his is better than the other two, which I have read. It considerably clarifies the intellectual, as well as moral and spiritual, situation confronting poets. . . This book will never achieve the reviews that are usually lavished on novels, or—more recently—on books of factual reporting concerning the war. But it is, none the less, a book of significance in the present state of the world." J. G. Fletcher

+ Sat R of Lit 26:25 S 18 '43 650w

Reviewed by Ruth Lechlitner

Weekly Book Review p42 N 14 '43 900w

WILLIAMS, ROBERT EDWIN, and SCARLOTT, CHARLES A. Radio—I. 132p il $1.04 Am. bk.

621.384 Radio (43-2654)

Written to conform to the Pre-induction Training Course in Fundamentals of Radio as prepared by the War Department, and embraces "About Radio in General," "The Language of Radio," "Review of Electrical Theory," "Alternating Currents," "Properties of Inductance," "Capacitance," "Resonance," "Thermal Emission." Index.

Library J 68:433 My 15 '43 40w

Reviewed by F. E. Canavaciol

N Y Times p20 Ag 15 '43 160w

School & Society 57:196 F 13 '43 40w

Reviewed by James Stokley

Weekly Book Review p14 My 2 '43 130w

WILLIAMS, ROGER JOHN. Textbook of biochemistry. 2d ed 533p il $4 Van Nostrand

612.015 Biological chemistry 42-23803

"The author's 'Introduction to Biochemistry' of the year 1938 has been brought up-to-date and appears under another title. . . Five major parts form the contents: biochemical materials, tissue composition, food composition, bodily mechanisms for promoting and regulating chemical change, and metabolism." (Chem & Met Eng) For first edition see Book Review Digest, 1939. Glossary. Index.

"The chapters on 'Essential Food Constituents' and 'Biochemical Catalysts' have undergone the most revision. Most of the other chapters remain largely unchanged. Errors in the first edition, pointed out by this Journal's reviewer, still remain. There is also carried over from the first edition the misleading statement (page 90) that hemoglobins may unite with oxygen to form methemoglobin. . . As users of the first edition can testify, the author possesses the ability to present the facts in a clear and lucid manner. This textbook can be recommended as a valuable aid for the introduction of the general student to the subject matter of biochemistry." E. G. Ball

+ — Am Chem Soc J 65:741 Ap '43 270w

"This is indeed a very fine text for a reader who is not too familiar with biochemistry, because Dr. Williams presents in simple language all pertinent facts. . . A glossary of physiological and medical terms is appended which should win the book a large group of readers and friends."

+ Chem & Met Eng 50:168 Ja '43 100w

WILLIAMS, SAMUEL ROBINSON. Hardness and hardness measurements. 558p 339il $7.50 Am. soc. for metals

620.17 Hardness. Metals—Testing 42-16851

"Treatise prepared by the Professor of Physics, Amherst College, to clarify the meaning of hardness and encourage a more unified method of measurement of the same." N Y Tech Bks

N Y New Tech Bks 28:17 Ja '43

"This book is the most extensive and comprehensive treatment of hardness and hardness testing in the English language, if not in any language. It abounds in philosophic discussion giving the reader various views on the controversial aspects of hardness. In some instances, the author gives his preference, and in others he states the views and leaves a preference, if any, to the reader. In all cases he shuns dogmatism. The book is highly recommended as a reference and for use in the laboratory. It should serve as a splendid text for instruction courses specializing on hardness testing." Zay Jeffries

+ R of Scientific Instruments 14:101 Ap '43 700w

WILLIAMS, THOMAS ANTHONY. Old Dirt Dobber's garden book. 246p il $2.75 McBride

635.9 Gardening 43-6777

The author, who broadcasts on gardening and kindred subjects over a radio network, has based this book not only on his own experiences as an amateur gardener but also on the questions his radio listeners have asked him concerning their individual problems. Contents: Soils and their importance; Trees; Shrubs; Perennials; Annuals; Bulbs; House plants; Water gardens; The vegetable garden; Lawns; Plants for shade and sun; Sprays and fertilizers. Index.

Booklist 39:459 Jl 15 '43

Bookmark 4:10 My '43

"Will be joy to gardeners and would-be gardeners because of readability and wide scope. Highly recommended." H. R. Burdett

+ Library J 68:248 Mr 15 '43 110w

Reviewed by F. F. Rockwell

N Y Times p24 Ap 25 '43 200w

"You'll want this book on your garden shelf and you will consult it many times during the year for its practical, down to earth (no pun intended) advice." H. L.

+ Springf'd Republican p7e My 9 '43 250w

Reviewed by R. S. Lemmon

Weekly Book Review p19 Je 6 '43 80w

WILLIAMS, WAYNE CULLEN. Sweet of Colorado. 183p $2 Assn. press

B or 92 Sweet, William Ellery 43-14847

"Authorized biography of William E. Sweet, religious business man and liberal in politics, who was able as Governor of Colorado to put many of his advanced ideas into practice." Library J

"This reviewer, for one, is deeply grateful to the author for his interpretation of the character of Governor Sweet. For, while intellectually I believed Sweet was on the side of the angels, I never felt that there as anything particularly angelic about him, himself. He sometimes seemed cold, stiff and belligerent to a degree that made it hard to feel at ease with him. The glory of this book is that, while the author recognizes Governor Sweet's 'natural brusqueness and occasional gruff manner,' he also sees and reveals the deeper and truer levels of his personality." A. W. Palmer

+ Christian Century 60:1267 N 3 '43 650w

"Unfortunate that biography of so genuinely good a man makes such dull reading. I feel that book has very limited appeal. Libraries in Colorado will probably wish to have copies, and social science divisions in larger libraries will find it useful because of social security program instituted by the Government which was advocated by Governor Sweet in early twenties, the cooperative marketing and distribution among farmers which was begun in Colorado about the same time, and the prison reform carried on in that state." H. P. Bolman

Library J 68:572 Jl '43 120w

WILLIAMS, WYTHE, and NARVIG, WILLIAM VAN. Secret sources; the story behind some famous scoops. (Alliance bk) 326p $3 Ziff-Davis

940.548673 World war, 1939-. Reporters and reporting 43-10203

During 1940 and 1941 the author made a series of broadcasts over WOR in which he prophesied with uncanny accuracy just what moves Germany would make in the war. Often he was three to four weeks ahead of Germany's moves, and time after time he was proved correct. This book describes the sources of his information: a little group of spies within Germany, and gives a good many of their messages, now decoded.

"Perhaps, when the final Nazi denouement comes, and some of Germany's leaders seek amnesty for themselves by lifting the curtain of Festung-Europa and giving us detailed accounts of their treachery, we will find more than a grain of truth in some of the tales in 'Secret Sources.' But until that happy day the burden of proof rests upon the authors, and they hardly seem to have discharged it." Isabelle Graham

Book Week p8 Ag 1 '43 500w

Booklist 40:10 S '43

Christian Science Monitor p11 Jl 31 '43 550w

"This is a fascinating account from inside Germany, Italy, etc., as reported during the past several years. . . It may not all be gospel, but even allowing for some poetic license (and we do not allege there is any) it is not only full of information but good reading."

+ Current Hist 5:75 S '43 140w

"Highly recommended for all libraries." L. I. Poste

+ Library J 68:475 Je 1 '43 150w

Reviewed by S. T. Williamson

N Y Times p19 Ag 8 '43 600w

"Readable and apparently credible enough."

+ New Yorker 19:62 Jl 10 '43 90w

Reviewed by Struthers Burt

Sat R of Lit 26:18 Je 26 '43 1550w

Reviewed by W. R. Deuel

Weekly Book Review p14 S 12 '43 1300w

WILLIS, GEORGE WILLIAM. Tangleweed. 182p $2 Doubleday

43-15955

Outspoken story of jazz musicians who play the cheap dance halls and swing circuits of the Middle West. The hero is a drummer who dreams of being a composer, and the heroine is the small town girl who loves him but does not understand him.

"This book gives the curious impression of having been authored by somebody who, halfway through, suddenly learned how to write. The first part is without body and flavor, with a rather tepid love story that never gets beyond the obvious, and is at times a bit treacly—and sometimes excruciatingly coy. . . The second half, though, has some very competent writing. . . 'Tangleweed' is a sketchy and quite disjointed effort from a man with talent; an artist of whom it might be said—to borrow his drummer's jargon—that it seems to have taken him a few sets to get with it." Peter De Vries

+ — Book Week p4 S 19 '43 360w

"The influence of Thomas Wolfe on Mr. Willis has been considerable; his hep-cats can emit tortured goat-cries with the most agonized members of the Gant family." Weldon Kees

New Repub 109:495 O 11 '43 240w

Reviewed by John Desmond

N Y Times p14 O 3 '43 460w

Springf'd Republican p7e N 21 '43 220w

"If you are not a jazz addict, it won't make you one or necessarily kindle an appreciation of their tortured artistry. But it will give you an understanding of their tortured lives—the endless hours in drab, garish, smoke-filled rooms, the nights of travel by bus, the bleak hotels, the insidious deterioration of mind and body which comes from too little money, too much gin, too little rest. George Willis takes these young men apart with relentless and unerring skill in a narrative that is grim and plain spoken and at the same time he makes you feel the pathos of their striving, the integrity of their devotion." Lisle Bell

+ Weekly Book Review p10 S 19 '43 600w

WILLKIE, WENDELL LEWIS. One world. 206p $2; pa $1 Simon & Schuster

940.548 World war, 1939—Personal narratives, American. World politics 43-51091

A plea for unity and understanding among all the peoples of the globe, based on Mr Willkie's forty-nine day world tour in 1942. The book is an expansion of his radio talks on his return from the journey.

"There are those who will call Mr. Willkie's philosophy naïve. If Mr. Willkie is naïve, so are we who must vote and take part in the reconstruction. Part of American naïveté is a lack of respect for national prejudice; part of it is a willingness to try what has never been done before. I feel the pull of sympathy in Mr. Willkie's ideals. His bird's-eye view of one world is the eagle's view of millions who go with him in spirit and are now nearing the same objective."

+ Atlantic 171:123 My '43 420w

"Willkie has done the story of his journey around the world last fall with ease and restraint, mixing personal glimpses of such affairs as the famous multiple-toast banquet in Moscow with powerful statements of his convictions on the world to come and this nation's place in it. . . The most remarkable thing about the book, considering that it is written by a presidential candidate, is its utter lack of pomposity and the naked confession it represents of a mind that is still alive and growing." Robert Lasch

+ Book Week p1 Ap 18 '43 850w

Reviewed by A. C. Spectorsky

Book Week p5 My 9 '43 70w

Booklist 39:330 Ap 15 '43

Bookmark 4:14 My '43

Canadian Forum 23:91 Jl '43 1750w

Cleveland Open Shelf p5 Ap '43

"A very remarkable little book. It is not only a good travelogue; it is also a moving appeal for self-government among the peoples of the Far and Middle East, for the end of white imperialism everywhere, and for the immediate creation of international machinery that will learn to keep the peace by helping to win the war. We recommend this book very highly to all thinking Americans, and especially to those thirty-two senators who still have their feet on the ground and their heads firmly buried in the sand."

+ Commonweal 38:45 Ap 30 '43 750w

Reviewed by Alvin Adey

Current Hist 4:220 My '43 800w

Ethics 54:58 O '43 2000w

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert

Foreign Affairs 22:160 O '43 140w

"Mr. Willkie is a keen observer, and some of his most casual reflections on men and events betray a remarkable grasp of the essential realities. The book is worth reading, in other words, merely as a travelogue. His estimates of both personalities and social forces strike one as true, even when given in briefest terms." Reinhold Niebuhr

+ Nation 156:604 Ap 24 '43 1300w

Reviewed by Malcolm Cowley

+ New Repub 108:513 Ap 19 '43 1100w

" 'One World' will be widely read both in this country and abroad. Its basic emphasis upon the nearness and interdependence of the peoples of all continents, the importance of strengthening the ties between the United Nations now, and the need of following through in a definite, continuing United Nations organization for peace, justice and progress, is right. Both those who agree and those who disagree will find this a book they will want to read." H. E. Stassen

+ N Y Times p1 Ap 11 '43 1150w

"I do not agree either with those who think Mr. Willkie is naive or with those who think he is playing some involved game. He has simply, by an inexplicable miracle, burst all the bonds which might have confined him within the narrow limits of big-business thinking and become, if we are to judge from his public utterances, one of those 'new men' with 'new ideas' for whom he pleads in his book. The book, 'One World,' is a simple, readable report." Clifton Fadiman

+ New Yorker 19:79 Ap 17 '43 500w

Reviewed by G. N. Shuster

Pol Sci Q 58:426 S '43 1450w

"Absorbing and important book." Lindsay Rogers

+ Sat R of Lit 26:11 Ap 17 '43 1100w

Reviewed by Herbert Agar

Spec 171:292 S 24 '43 1000w

"Obviously Mr. Willkie didn't understand everything he saw; there are touches of naivete in some of his reactions. But every line of his book reflects a flexible mind, an educable spirit. The American people can be proud of the man." M. H. B.

+ Springf'd Republican p7e Ap 11 '43 1100w

Reviewed by V. M. Dean

Survey G 32:299 Jl '43 550w

Times [London] Lit Sup p457 S 25 '43 1400w

"Let me say forthwith (and I am not a Republican nor have I any intention of becoming one) that this is an important and significant book. But it is more than that. It is one of the most absorbing books I have read in years, full of humor, shrewd observation, a thousand and one facts you and I never heard of but should have, and fabulous tales of the East told with a skill which a Duranty or a Gunther or a Sheean might well envy. I read it in one gulp." W. L. Shirer

+ Weekly Book Review p1 Ap 11 '43 2850w

Wis Lib Bul 39:73 My '43

"It is Mr. Willkie's fate that whatever he writes these days will be scanned not so much for the good things that may be in it as for revelations of the thoughts and attitudes of a man who may have an important influence on the shaping of world events. This is in one sense unfortuate because, with his many talents, Mr. Willkie happens to be a gifted writer and his present book is quite capable of standing on its own merits. 'One World' is an engrossing account of high adventure, told with restraint and utter sincerity, in a simple and warm-hearted prose. The extraordinary success which it has enjoyed from the beginning is by no means unjustified." F. S. Dunn

+ Yale R n s 32:786 summer '43 950w

WILLOUGHBY, MRS AMEA. I was on Corregidor; experiences of an American official's wife in the war-torn Philippines; with the assistance of Lenore Sorsby in the editing and organization of the material. 249p $2.50 Harper

940.542 World war, 1939—Personal narratives, American. World war, 1939—Philippine Islands 43-7738

The author, wife of the financial advisor to the high commissioner to the Philippines, was in Manila when the Japanese struck. With others she was evacuated to the tunnels of Corregidor, where they lived for weeks under almost constant fire from Japanese guns. Ultimately she and eight other civilians were smuggled onto a submarine and escaped to Australia. The book is an account of those harrowing weeks, written from her notes and memories.

"The picture Mrs. Willoughby gives of life on Corregidor is a fascinating one, but perhaps the high spot of the book is the description of how a woman feels when she is suddenly put on a submarine and forced to spend a couple of weeks in its crowded confines deep under Jap-infested waters." F. S. Marquardt

WILLOUGHBY, AMEA—Continued
+ Book Week p3 Je 20 '43 180w

Booklist 39:444 Jl 1 '43

"Mrs. Willoughby sticks to her personal story and does not pose as an expert, but she shows a gift for selection of incidents which stick in the mind and cause the reader to think for himself. An example is her observation of the Filipinos, their loyalty and the strains put upon it by the lack of reinforcements and the Japanese propaganda cleverly capitalizing the theme of Far East brotherhood. Yet there is never any moralizing. The tale at times seems almost bare, yet it is always rich through color and selection." R. G.
+ Christian Science Monitor p14 Je 23 '43 550w

Cleveland Open Shelf p10 Jl '43

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert
Foreign Affairs 22:159 O '43 10w

"While this is light reading and of perhaps temporary interest, it is recommended for public libraries because of the very realistic picture author gives of the perilous times following the attack on Pearl Harbor." M. E. Clark
+ Library J 68:363 My 1 '43 40w

"Mrs. Willoughby had only casual contacts with the fighting men of Bataan and Corregidor, yet she captured and reports faithfully their feelings and writes movingly about the rise and fall of individual and group morale, as it fluctuated in response to reports that help was coming, or was not coming. . . Mrs. Willoughby had her share of danger and close calls; but she does not attempt to inject any false heroics into her story." Clark Lee
+ N Y Times p6 Je 6 '43 600w

"There is more to Mrs. Willoughby's story than humorously described discomforts. She gives us vivid glimpses of several important personages, of the effects of the bombings, of the removal of the Government's gold, of the officers and crew on the submarine. A personal and informal story this, and a heartening one." M. S. Ulrich
+ Sat R of Lit 26:11 Jl 3 '43 550w

Reviewed by F. H. Bullock
Weekly Book Review p6 Je 20 '43 800w

Wis Lib Bul 39:109 Jl '43

WILLOUGHBY, GEORGE ALONZO, and LAPPINEN, MATT. Elements of shop drawing. 40p pa 36c Bruce pub.

744.42 Machine shop practice 43-10592

"Useful categorical arrangement of the language of mechanical drawings and blueprints. For example, under 'Lines used on drawings' one finds definitions, with illustrations, of eleven conventional types of line: under Welding, six definitions and twelve drawings." N Y New Tech Bks

---

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 68:771 O 1 '43 20w

N Y New Tech Bks 28:42 Jl '43

WILSON, CHARLES MORROW. Trees and test tubes; the story of rubber. 352p il $3.50 Holt

678 Rubber 43-5831

Account of the rubber industry from its beginnings to the post-Pearl Harbor days. Includes stories of both natural rubber and substitute rubber, altho the author contends that "whatever the future may hold, the truth is that most rubber comes from trees." There is one chapter on War and rubber. Complete Baruch report, bibliography, and index.

Reviewed by L. E. Grinter
Book Week p7 Jl 25 '43 80w

Booklist 39:365 My 15 '43

Bookmark 4:9 My '43

"As a not too discriminating reporter, the author has selected a mass of published statements concerning rubbers, mixed them with dream pictures, flavored them with a dash of muck-raking here and there, and produced an entertainingly readable but, in many places, an unreliable story about these vitally important materials. A considerable amount of statistical data from stated reliable sources is included. The book is, however, in no sense scientifically nor historically dependable; for it is marred by numerous defects such as misspelled names, incorrect dates, opinions unsupported by evidence, and erroneous statements including conflicting statements on different pages." J. W. Schade
+ — Chem & Eng N 21:1008 Je 25 '43 180w

"The author obviously has written the book for popular consumption and has done a good job of making the subject dramatic and interesting. His descriptions of the Amazon Valley, Sumatra, and other growing areas are extremely colorful and well done. Much of his material no doubt is correct and the average layman can get an interesting account of the development of the rubber industry in the world even though he may shudder to think of the hardships of poor Juan Fialho, the typical seringueiro, a harvester of Amazon hevea rubber. . . While he writes of natural rubber collection in the Amazon jungle with authority . . . I do not always agree with his statements regarding the synthetic rubber industry. Further, I believe that most well-informed persons will disagree with his statement, 'For it must be remembered that even when Malaya and the Dutch East Indies are retaken, most of the rubber plantations will have been destroyed.'" J. A. Lee
+ — Chem & Met Eng 51:191 Ja '44 700w

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert
Foreign Affairs 22:157 O '43 40w

"Recommended." L. A. Eales
+ Library J 68:248 Mr 15 '43 80w

"Although written too soon to cover recent Washington conflicts (the name Jeffers does not appear), the book constitutes a valuable and thorough analysis of rubber's crisis at its worst—six months after Pearl Harbor."
+ New Repub 108:742 My 31 '43 100w

N Y New Tech Bks 28:50 Jl '43

"The story of rubber as told by Mr. Wilson is good reading. With great care he has selected his facts and presented them so that the greedy, plot-riddled, blood-soaked history of this great natural raw material is as understandable as it is thrilling. His descriptions are vivid, and he has the happy knack of explanation by means of anecdotes that stick in the memory." William Haynes
+ N Y Times p4 My 2 '43 1000w

"A capable and readable survey."
+ New Yorker 19:75 My 1 '43 80w

"The one chapter devoted to synthetic rubber is unsatisfying. Although the general statements are fairly accurate, some of the more specific ones are decidedly wrong. . . In spite of the inaccuracies, the reader looking for general information on rubber will derive much good from this book. The author has evidently spent considerable time looking into the history and statistics of rubber and rubber culture. Here and there he has added salty items or bits of information to keep up interest." C. S. Fuller
+ — R of Scientific Instruments 14:308 O '43 420w

Springf'd Republican p10 Je 25 '43 220w

"If Mr. Wilson had omitted test tubes from his title, synthetic rubber from his thoughts, and had published his book a year ago it would have been a valuable discussion of plantation rubber and a timely warning of the approaching crisis. But chemistry has taken over the rubber problem in the last year—a science which bewilders and repels Mr. Wilson. . . The fact is, of course, that monster plants are in production, synthetic rubber tires are rolling off the line in a steady stream, and uncounted Army vehicles are finding them as good as natural rubber tires, if not better. It is just too late to imply that it can't be done." Gerald Wendt

+ — Weekly Book Review p7 My 2 '43 1350w
Wis Lib Bul 39:83 Je '43

WILSON, EDMUND, ed. Shock of recognition. 1290p il $5 Doubleday

810.9 American literature—History and criticism. American literature—Collections
43-9895

"The development of American literature in the United States recorded by the men who made it." (Subtitle) "A large anthology of literary documents that give fairly complete view of progress in creative literature. Whatever work is printed is printed in its entirety. First selection is essay by James Russell Lowell on Edgar Allan Poe which appeared in 1845, and the last is a collection of letters from Sherwood Anderson to Van Wyck Brooks, the last letter dated 1938. Through the years between 1845 and 1938, we see the effect of one first-rate writer on another and the development of American literary genius." (Library J)

"The writings Wilson has gathered together are by no means comprehensive even within the scope of his project, but they are nonetheless singularly effective and serve to indicate the comprehensiveness which could not have been got within the covers of a single volume without expanding beyond the limitations imposed by the project." August Derleth
+ Book Week p5 Jl 11 '43 750w
Booklist 40:7 S '43

"This is an ably edited, truly distinguished, richly rewarding anthology." J. A. Clark
+ Commonweal 38:400 Ag 6 '43 600w

"Little on heavy side for 'reading' but excellent manual for study. Small libraries will find useful." K. T. Willis
+ Library J 68:327 Ap 15 '43 130w

"One has always wished that Edmund Wilson would do more with American literature than he has ever done: there are subjects there which he has never dealt with in his published criticism but which would lend themselves wonderfully to that admirable method of his. . . This anthology does not allay one's impatience, naturally, but it is the beginning of an answer, and it suggests the hope that Wilson is about to write at some length on at least a half-dozen of our classic Dichter. . . For the most part the selections are unimpeachable." Newton Arvin
+ — Nation 157:73 Jl 17 '43 1150w

Reviewed by Daniel Aaron
New Eng Q 16:523 S '43 420w

"For bringing together much of the criticism of this nature that America possesses Edmund Wilson and his publishers deserve our praise." George Mayberry
+ New Repub 108:802 Je 14 '43 1250w

"It seems that Mr. Wilson's system of selection works admirably until we get into this century, but then we lose the sense of the full context which we have earlier. For example, we have twelve essays by D. H. Lawrence and five by H. L. Mencken, but none by Paul Elmer More. But this is a minor objection to an excellent book. My only real regret about the book is that Mr. Wilson does not give us more of Mr. Wilson in the little introductory notes, which, as they stand, are useful and are sometimes brilliantly written." R. P. Warren
+ — N Y Times p5 Je 13 '43 1100w

"A subtle and revealing way of pointing up the continuity of our literary tradition. Excellent notes and a charming format."
+ New Yorker 19:79 Je 12 '43 50w

"No book put together by Edmund Wilson fails to be interesting. 'The Shock of Recognition,' an anthology of essays in prose and verse by American writers (in the main) about American authors, has the interest of surprise and irregularity as an anthology, and the interest of bulk and solidity as a book." H. M. Jones
+ Sat R of Lit 26:11 Jl 10 '43 600w
Springf'd Republican p6 Ag 21 '43 650w

WILSON, HARRY ROBERT. Lead a song! a practical guide to the organization and conducting of informal group singing. 122p $1.50 Hall & McCreary

780.79 Community music. Conducting (music)
42-22344

"Although community singing was common in the days of ancient Greece, its modern development is a matter of the last two or three decades. Harry Robert Wilson of Teachers College of Columbia University offers in this book a practical guide to the organization and conducting of informal group singing." Book Week

Book Week p7 My 30 '43 110w
Booklist 39:197 Ja 15 '43

WILSON, MITCHELL A. Stalk the hunter. 275p $2 Simon & Schuster
43-12647

Mystery spy story.

Reviewed by Elizabeth Bullock
Book Week p9 O 10 '43 90w

"A thriller that has no let-up from beginning to end." Isaac Anderson
+ N Y Times p8 O 10 '43 90w
New Yorker 19:88 O 16 '43 50w

"First class."
+ Sat R of Lit 26:21 O 23 '43 40w
Springf'd Republican p7e O 10 '43 190w

"A capital spy story, adroitly worked out and crammed with action."
+ Time 42:104 N 1 '43 30w

"We'd call this the liveliest of recent spy stories and an all-around bargain for mystery fans." Will Cuppy
+ Weekly Book Review p22 O 10 '43 250w

WILSON, STANLEY KIDDER. Blind dawn. 42p $1.50 Columbia univ. press

811
42-24155

"Mr. Wilson's Blind Dawn is a long Browning-esque love-letter in which a man addresses his wife, after twenty years of marriage, in an effort to effect a renascence of a love that 'once chauffeured us to the stars—And then changed gears!' " Poetry

"It is well-sustained, if somewhat on the dull side, and gets out of hand only occasionally." Nelson Algren
Poetry 62:50 Ap '43 270w

"This is a human situation little treated by poets, and Mr. Wilson distinctly 'has something' in his theme. The trouble with the style is often that he shifts from one metaphor to another with bewildering haste, leaps from the traditional line to the modernistic one, not to say pure slang, with confusing agility; yet, in the end, he has produced a life story of not inconsiderable freshness and charm." W. R. Benét
— + Sat R of Lit 26:11 Ag 21 '43 160w

"Call this verse a treatise, if you choose, rather than a love letter. It is unusual, interesting, annoyingly sophisticated and pleasingly sincere. It is a tour de force, and hence doomed, but it is a worthy tour." R. M. N.
+ — Springf'd Republican p7e F 21 '43 250w

WILSON, WOODROW. Wilson's ideals; ed. by Saul K. Padover. 151p $2.50; pa $2 Am. council on public affairs

308
43-51126

"The book is made up of innumerable passages from Wilson's addresses and papers, indicating the way man should go. . . The quotations bear on America, Democracy, Government, Politics, Business, Labor, Foreign Policy, Germany, The League of Nations, America's Responsibilities, and Peace and War." Churchman

Booklist 39:364 My 15 '43
Christian Century 60:202 F 17 '43 160w

WILSON, WOODROW—Continued
"This book might well be used as a basis for any future plans that the United States may foster for the welfare of humanity. It is not political propaganda!" T. F. Opie
+ Churchman 157:15 Mr 1 '43 180w

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert
Foreign Affairs 21:10 Jl '43 20w

Social Studies 34:285 O '43 20w

Reviewed by Marshall Bragdon
Springf'd Republican p6 Ja 16 '43 1000w

WIMBERLY, LOWRY CHARLES, ed. See Prairie schooner. Prairie schooner caravan

WINCHELL, ALEXANDER NEWTON. Elements of mineralogy; emphasizing the variations in minerals. 535p il $5 Prentice-Hall
549 Mineralogy 42-22516

"Textbook based on the idea that many minerals are not fixed and simple in composition, covering crystallography, and physical, chemical, descriptive, economic, and determinative mineralogy." N Y New Tech Bks

Library J 67:953 N 1 '42 10w
N Y New Tech Bks 27:59 O '42

WINCHELL, PRENTICE (STEWART STERLING, pseud). Down among the dead men. 248p $2 Putnam 43-1550

Detective story.

"It is not for us to tell who has been murdered by whom or why it was done, but if you will trail along with Koski you will learn all the answers and will get your money's worth of thrills." Isaac Anderson
N Y Times p19 F 7 '43 180w

"Tough and exciting."
+ Sat R of Lit 26:19 F 13 '43 40w

WINKLER, PAUL. Thousand-year conspiracy; secret Germany behind the mask. 381p $2.75 Scribner
943 Pangermanism. Germany—Civilization. Germany—Nazi movement. Reconstruction (1939-)—Germany 43-3010

"This book attempts to contribute to the work of identification of the forces behind Nazism. It results from research undertaken to substantiate this hypothesis: that Nazism is not the product of some 'spontaneous generation' crystallized by Hitler's evil genius; and that it is not—as it has often been described—simply a reaction to the harsh terms of the Versailles treaty; finally, that Nazism does not derive from some basic trait of the German character." (Foreword) Bibliography. Index.

"The author is a Hungarian with some English and French blood. His acquaintance with Germany was limited to some six months in Bavaria soon after the first World War. Otherwise his views of Germany seem to derive from the atmosphere of Paris, where he spent many years as a journalist before coming to America. The jacket calls his book 'amazing.' It is." S. B. Fay
— Am Hist R 49:91 O '43 700w

Reviewed by R. H. Wells
Am Pol Sci R 37:560 Je '43 240w

Reviewed by Preston Slosson
Ann Am Acad 231:165 Ja '44 320w

"Of the making of books about Hitlerism there is, of course, no end in sight, but no matter how many of them you may have read, this one is guaranteed to show you aspects of the subject that you've never suspected existed, and to arch your brows in the process." Arnold Gingrich
+ Book Week p3 Mr 14 '43 950w

"We are told that Mr. Winkler conducted extensive researches in the Sorbonne, the Bibliothèque Nationale and the British Museum, but his work is completely undocumented. Faith in his trustworthiness as an interpreter of medieval history is not fortified by his treatment of more familiar matters, such as the aim and methods of Emperor Frederic II and the relations between the empire and the church in the period of the Crusades. When it comes to events in Germany from 1918 to 1940, he is on ground concerning which his competence cannot be questioned." W. E. Garrison
Christian Century 60:265 Mr 3 '43 600w

Christian Science Monitor p14 Mr 1 '43 600w

Reviewed by W. C. Kernan
Churchman 157:15 My 15 '43 360w

Commonweal 37:499 Mr 5 '43 750w

Current Hist 4:155 Ap '43 650w

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert
Foreign Affairs 21:11 Jl '43 40w

"Although work appears scholarly, it lacks scientific foundation; moreover, as title and subtitle (Secret Germany behind the Mask) indicate, the sensational presentation everywhere emphasizes 'secrets and mysteries.' Inaccuracies do not add to confidence in work. Not recommended." H. H. A. Bernt
— Library J 68:210 Mr 1 '43 70w

"It may well be that books undertaking to demonstrate the unique depravity of the German people will presently go their way with those Hitler-inspired opera which demonstrate the unique inferiority of all non-German races. Mr. Winkler's is one of the best of a bad breed." Hiram Motherwell
Nation 156:785 My 29 '43 550w

Reviewed by Albert Guérard
New Repub 108:570 Ap 26 '43 1650w

Reviewed by G. N. Shuster
N Y Times p16 Mr 14 '43 1050w

New Yorker 19:67 Mr 6 '43 90w

"Mr. Winkler's book is a valuable contribution to the planning of peace, if only as a reminder of what the Germans really are. But he doesn't make a good case of his theory of an age-old conspiracy and, unconvinced, we still prefer to look on Prussianism as a state of mind, which is found even in far-off Japan and elsewhere in the world, though the cannibals appear to have grown out of it." Murray Harris
Sat R of Lit 26:49 Ap 17 '43 650w

Social Studies 34:192 Ap '43 40w

"Besides the Prussian feudal tradition there may exist an actual conspiracy. It is not proved by such methods as the author uses. He missed his chance to present objectively the grave problem of the Prussian Junker. Unguided adolescent readers might easily fall for this persuasive linear construction." Henry Blauth
— Social Studies 34:283 O '43 1000w

"Publishers, threatened by scarcity of paper and other sinews of the trade, should be rather selective in their offerings. This reviewer has learned to be indulgent toward sincere efforts to clarify our minds as to the issues of this war; but after reading Paul Winkler's 'The Thousand Year Conspiracy' he is bound, by his conscience, to state bluntly that this book is not worth the paper it is printed on." Karl Lowenstein
— Springf'd Republican p6 Mr 1 '43 700w

Discussion by the author
Springf'd Republican p10 Mr 26 '43 1100w

"'The Thousand-Year Conspiracy' is a remarkable book, to say the least. . . It has certain outstanding merits. Mr. Winkler obviously has studied hard, thought hard and written hard in producing it. . . But to believe that German history is so preponderantly the product of an actual thousand-year-old secret conspiracy of the sort Mr. Winkler describes is something altogether different. This one reader, at least, is of the opinion that the Scottish courts express in the classic phrase: 'Not proven.'" Wallace Deuel
+ — Weekly Book Review p3 Mr 7 '43 1400w

WINNING, JOHN. Heat treatment of metals. 99p il $1.50 Chemical pub. co.

672 Steel 43-7003

"Brief introduction to some present-day heat treating methods. The book contains no index and no references to other literature." N Y New Tech Bks

Library J 68:627 Ag '43 20w

N Y New Tech Bks 28:27 Ap '43

"A slight, unpretentious volume... Unfortunately this is merely a reprint of an English original, with the result that the illustrations are blurred, which is especially regrettable in the case of photomicrographs. The editors have not converted the British units into the conventional American terms (tensile stress is given in tons of 2240 pounds and all temperature in centigrade) so that a great deal of its value is lost to those engineers for whom it is intended." C. M. Casman

N Y Times p37 O 3 '43 100w

WINSLOW, ANNE GOODWIN. Dwelling place. 256p $2.50 Knopf

B or 92 43-10861

Reminiscences of a Southern woman, widow of a United States Army officer, who after years of wandering has returned to live alone in her childhood home. Memories of former days are mingled with incidents of the present, sketches of famous persons met at home and abroad with portraits of neighbors and youthful visitors.

Booklist 40:12 S '43

"Much of a long, rich past has gone into this record of a single year, just as the majority of essays are built on memories of other days, and yet the year she chronicles is in the present time. Because so many of us cherish somewhere, in memory or actuality, a homeplace, and because the book is delicately humorous and wisely observant, it will give pleasure to those who like restfulness in their reading." W. K. R.

+ Christian Science Monitor p10 Ag 28 '43 600w

Reviewed by M. E. Clark

Library J 68:572 Jl '43 30w

Reviewed by Charlotte Dean

+ N Y Times p12 Ag 1 '43 500w

"In her shrewd common sense and in the love and irony with which she paints her friends, white and black, there is a suggestion of Marjorie Kinnan Rawlings."

+ New Yorker 19:62 Jl 31 '43 90w

"Altogether this little book is refreshing, delightful for reading aloud and is sprinkled with wit and good humor." M. D.

+ Springf'd Republican p8 S 1 '43 330w

"The most delightful book I have read this year." R. Y. Williams

+ Weekly Book Review p4 Ag 22 '43 1150w

Wis Lib Bul 39:121 O '43

WINSLOW, CHARLES EDWARD AMORY. Conquest of epidemic disease; a chapter in the history of ideas. 411p $4.50 Princeton univ. press

614.49 Epidemics. Medicine—History A43-2734

"This book is more than a compendium of data and references from the Old Testament theory of pestilence as a punishment for sin, through the days of demons, miasms, and germs, down to the streamlined concepts of the virus diseases and the new views concerning aerial dissemination of infection. It is an interesting and highly instructive story, rich with the author's interpretations of the values of each stage of the historical development of knowledge regarding the modes and channels of disease spread." Am J Pub Health

Reviewed by H. F. Vaughan

+ Am J Pub Health 33:1367 N '43 850w

"A book nobly conceived, nobly planned and beautifully written." E. L. Keyes

+ Commonweal 38:401 Ag 6 '43 280w

Scientific Bk Club R 14:2 Ag '43 450w

"This book will go far and live long, being of sound substance and a joy to the thinking mind." Haven Emerson, M.D.

+ Survey G 32:458 N '43 500w

WINSTON, ROBERT WATSON. Horace Williams; gadfly of Chapel Hill. 309p il $3 Univ. of N.C. press

B or 92 Williams, Henry Horace 43-476

Horace Williams, (1858-1940) subject of this biography, was a professor of philosophy at his Alma Mater, the University of North Carolina, for fifty years. The author was a fellow student and in later life, when he re-entered the college at the age of sixty, he studied philosophy under the man whom many admired and loved, and many hated and criticized for his teaching.

"A very rewarding book."

+ Christian Century 60:141 F 3 '43 130w

"A laudatory biography, but well written."

+ New Repub 108:190 F 8 '43 100w

"The life of this great teacher and most remarkable man is graphically and interestingly portrayed with all of its lights and shadows in the book that Judge Winston has written. 'Old Horace,' as the students affectionately knew him, is there with all of his idiosyncrasies as well as with his relentless logic. Judge Winston has painted him 'with the wart,' but that is how Horace would have it done." J. J. Parker

+ N Y Times p8 Ja 24 '43 1200w

"Judge Winston has written an interesting book about a remarkable man. But the man who emerges from the pages is not a great man or a good man. He was not a great scholar; he couldn't write. He was, however, a challenging and stimulating teacher." R. M. Brown

+ — Social Forces 21:489 My '43 1400w

Reviewed by C. L. Snyder

Weekly Book Review p17 Ap 11 '43 1000w

WINTER, GUSTAV. This is not the end of France. 299p $4 Norton [12s 6d Allen, G]

940.5344 World war, 1939—France. France—Politics and government [42-24465]

Study of the downfall of France, along the road from Versailles to Munich and Bordeaux, with a final section on the coming revolution which will bring about great changes in the social structure of France. No index.

"The author of this solid and well-informed book has sought 'to avoid anger and bias.' He has succeeded; if the unforewarned reader detects that he is both a Czechoslovak and a Social-Democrat it will only be through the intimate knowledge of the French Left and of Franco-Czechoslovak relations displayed by Mr. Winter." Jerome Jenatton

+ New Statesman & Nation 24:178 S 12 '42 440w

"Mr. Winter has not the entertaining style of Mr. Werth, but his book, written with much restraint and in the historian's spirit, 'without anger or bias,' is good." Bernard Foley

+ Spec 169:90 Jl 24 '42 300w

"Cast in the form of a historical narrative with reflections on its meaning, it is better as an essay than as a chronicle. It is not very often that Mr. Winter has anything new to say on points of fact, and his account of such complicated controversies as the origins of the riots of February 6, 1934, is too simple. But as an analyst of the more abiding aspects of French life, the strength and weakness of the Third Republic, Mr. Winter has many merits. It is true that he has one serious weakness. He is not a critical military historian and he greatly overestimates the chances of successful resistance open to the French Army in 1940."

+ — Times [London] Lit Sup p350 Jl 18 '42 800w

WINTER, WILLIAM JOHN. War planes of all nations. 418p il $3 Crowell

623.746 Airplanes, Military 43-10588

Handbook giving photographs, brief historical sketches, diagrams and specifications of more than two hundred planes of the United States, Great Britain, Russia, France, Holland, Germany, Italy and Japan. Glossary. Index.

"Should be required reading before anyone's allowed to talk about air power in this war." A. C. Spectorsky
+ Book Week p5 Jl 4 '43 300w

Booklist 40:6 S '43

Library J 68:291 Ap 1 '43 40w

Library J 68:627 Ag '43 50w

N Y New Tech Bks 28:40 Jl '43

Reviewed by D. W. Dresden
N Y Times p10 Ag 29 '43 240w

"Well-arranged and comprehensive book marred by the limitations of time and censorship. The important planes of tomorrow—even of today—are not even hinted at here." Raymond Holden
+ — Sat R of Lit 26:36 Ag 21 '43 50w

Special Libraries 34:385 S '43

"Mr. Winter's digest is admirably adapted to its purpose, and will probably find its way to the desks of most airmen."
+ Weekly Book Review p19 Jl 18 '43 250w

Wis Lib Bul 39:142 N '43

WINTERS, YVOR. Anatomy of nonsense. 255p $3 New directions

810.4 American literature—History and criticism 43-11973

"Four long essays on Henry Adams, Wallace Stevens, T. S. Eliot, and John Crowe Ransom, with some general notes on the criticism of poetry." New Yorker

Cleveland Open Shelf p18 O '43

"This is an important and needed book, though I do not imagine it will be much read save by the relatively few who admire or cordially dislike the targets of the author's aim. . . Mr. Winters writes of such things as historians and poets, all caviare to the multitude, with much ease, wit and illumination. Hence at a time when such matters are discussed with a malignant pedantry and a special jargon that would astonish a nominalist philosopher of the twelfth century, he is not likely to acquire a large or adoring public." Cuthbert Wright
+ Commonweal 38:374 Jl 30 '43 750w

Nation 157:332 S 18 '43 80w

"What I find of value in Winters' criticism is precisely what I have found (but in a larger measure) in Eliot's: a love of good writing and an occasional articulation of that passion, despite theories and posturing. It is amusing, however, to find in a critic who embraces classicism, traditionalism and reaction so much prejudice and violence in debate, but it is hardly surprising when one recalls the predominance of those qualities in the two critics whom he seems most to admire and in a large degree to emulate—Samuel Johnson and Irving Babbitt." George Mayberry
+ — New Repub 109:51 Jl 12 '43 480w

"The study of Adams contains some of the most acute things yet written about that baffled American, but the other essays suffer at times from minuscule literary feuding and a defective sense of proportion."
+ — New Yorker 19:64 Jl 3 '43 50w

WINTHER, OSCAR OSBURN, ed. See Upson, T. F. With Sherman to the sea

WINTRINGHAM, THOMAS HENRY. Story of weapons and tactics; from Troy to Stalingrad [Eng title: Weapons and tactics]. 230p $2.25 Houghton [10s 6d Faber]

355 Arms and armor. Military art and science. Tactics 43-3565

History of the changes in weapons and war tactics from the days of Troy to the present. The author served in France during the first World war, commanded the British International brigade near Madrid in 1937, and was largely responsible for the development of the British Home guard, to its present strength of over a million men.

Booklist 39:349 My 1 '43

Bookmark 4:5 Mr '43

Reviewed by J. S. Gurley
Current Hist 4:408 Ag '43 380w

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert
Foreign Affairs 22:156 O '43 20w

Library J 68:130 F 1 '43 30w

"Mr. Wintringham is not always a safe guide in historical details, but his vivid, persuasive style carries the reader on to appreciate many of the writer's independent views." H. W. M.
+ — Manchester Guardian p3 My 5 '43 200w

"Excellent and suggestive book." R. K. Haas
+ Nation 156:386 Mr 13 '43 1000w

Reviewed by Noel Annan
New Statesman & Nation 26:108 Ag 14 '43 420w

"The present treatise, though not intended for the practical instruction of civilian fighters, must have interest for them, as it should have for any one trying to understand what is behind the communiqués. He does not contend that the art of war is changeless. The weapons obviously change, and with them the tactics." R. L. Duffus
+ N Y Times p23 Ap 11 '43 1350w

"A very human and interesting book. . . 'The Story of Weapons and Tactics' is written in understanding vein. More to the point, since it is written by a non-professional soldier, the truths it brings out will be assimilated by the man in the street who always looks askance at the words of the professional. The book is a worthy addition to our war literature." R. C. Dupuy
+ Sat R of Lit 26:36 Ap 17 '43 600w

Reviewed by S. H. F. Johnston
Spec 170:342 Ap 9 '43 350w

Springf'd Republican p7e My 9 '43 80w

Times [London] Lit Sup p280 Je 12 '43 360w

" 'The Story of Weapons and Tactics' is for all to read, the man in the street, politician, private soldier and general. Probably some opinions or conclusions will have to be modified in detail as newer weapons appear, but at bottom Wintringham is advancing a plausible and realistic solution to the most difficult military problem of modern times—how to stop the blitzkrieg. He set out to crack a hard nut and in the opinion of at least one reader he has cracked it." P. J. Searles
+ Weekly Book Review p18 Ap 18 '43 2250w

"There is an occasional tendency to the flat and uncompromising opinion. . . But on the whole 'The Story of Weapons and Tactics' will tell the reader more lucidly and briefly than any other book available how warfare became what it is and how modern tactics developed." J. I. Greene
+ — Yale R n s 32:809 summer '43 1200w

WINWAR, FRANCES. The sentimentalist. 337p $2.50 Harper

43-15972

Study of the disintegration of character in a once-great trial lawyer. Donald Harlan, a Tammany protégé, goes to Vermont, to stay until the unsavory business of his disbarment is forgotten. There he marries a lovely young girl, with some idea that she will be a perpetual worshipper of his unworthy self. But Abby is an intelligent woman, and carves out her own career. The end is success for the scoundrel; for the woman he had wronged it brought a hard-won peace.

"Frances Winwar has created the most pitiful mess of a man in many a moon of fiction. Donald Harlan has not even the distinction of being a villain; he is just a cheap heel." Thomas Sugrue
N Y Times p18 N 7 '43 500w

" 'The Sentimentalist' is one of those novels —of which there are many these days—that leave you pondering on the reason for their writing. Certainly no reader will find cheerful entertainment here, but neither will she (I can't imagine a man's reading it) find the pleasure of psychological insight and convincing truth that redeem the better novels of human frustration." M. S. Ulrich

Sat R of Lit 27:12 Ja 1 '44 410w

"Here is a well-written book and with a character so vile that he will be remembered unfortunately long after Abby, a plausibly fine woman, is forgotten." M. D. H.

+ Springf'd Republican p7e D 5 '43 220w

"Miss Winwar's biographies have been criticized as being too fictional. 'The Sentimentalist,' a novel, is, however, handled at times too much like a biography. Its author tends to overnarrate, to tell too much about, to manipulate her characters too obviously." Leo Lerman

— + Weekly Book Review p8 D 26 '43 650w

WISE, MRS EVELYN (VOSS). Mary darlin'. 257p $2 Appleton-Century

43-12121

Story of a courageous pioneer Minnesota woman, left an orphan at sixteen with a baby sister to bring up. Thru all the vicissitudes of her hard life Mary Grady kept bravely at her work, first as a nurse, then as a nun. In her last illness she hears a young nun say of her, "She has the most truly beautiful face I've ever seen," and the remark is the prelude to Sister Mary Agnes' reminiscences of her life.

Booklist 40:80 N 1 '43

"Varied and pleasing style expresses spirit and color of the times. Catholic in tone. Recommended for young people's collections, especially for Catholic high school libraries." Helen Brogan

+ Library J 68:673 S 1 '43 90w

"As in her first novel, 'The Long Tomorrow,' Mrs. Wise has made us feel the particular appeal of the Catholic religion. Unfortunately, however, Mrs. Wise has let her religious interpretation of life rule the development of her plot. When Mary reasons, 'Was not the loss of those dear to her part of the Plan?' she is being a good Catholic and a philosopher, but not a very interesting or dramatic character." Nona Balakian

+ — N Y Times p21 O 10 '43 550w

"Noteworthy are the details of early hospital practice in the Midwest, and the steady improvement in that important part of community life. Mrs. Wise has a deft touch in lending plausibility to her tales, and in making her characters live." J. C. L.

+ Springf'd Republican p7e S 19 '43 220w

"This is a somber novel, at times more like a biography than a work of fiction. Aside from its spiritual message, it has considerable interest as a reflection of the discouragements —as well as the achievements—of those who brought modern medical facilities to a small Minnesota community." George Conrad

+ Weekly Book Review p8 S 19 '43 300w

Wis Lib Bul 39:146 N '43

WISE, JAMES WATERMAN, ed. Very truly ours; letters from America's fighting men. 208p $2 Dial press

940.548173 World war, 1939—Personal narratives, American. Letters 43-15474

A collection of letters from American soldiers, from all branches of the service, in this country and abroad. In his preface the editor says: "These letters, chosen from many hundreds, were sent in response to an announcement that this book was to be compiled. They come from all parts of the nation, and from men and women of different creeds and races, and in every walk of life. Those who offered this material for inclusion feel, as I do, that many Americans will wish to and should share what means so much to them." (Pref)

"The catch comes in trying to make the book typical or representative of the Army as a whole, or even informative as to the state of mind of our fighting men. It is almost impossible to do and in 'Very Truly Ours' James Waterman Wise has failed to do it. Nevertheless, for a civilian reader much of 'Very Truly Ours' is a delightful and exciting experience." S. E. Hyman

+ — Book Week p18 N 14 '43 450w

Booklist 40:113 D 1 '43

"The selections are good; they range from the semi-literate to the intellectual, the writers geographically from Oregon lumberjacks to Brooklyn taxi drivers, and mentally from tough professional soldiers to the spiritually inclined. In no case is the writer's identity revealed." M. W. B.

+ Christian Science Monitor p12 N 23 '43 600w

"While a mature mind is reflected in a few letters, most of them are so young as to wring your heart—even (or perhaps especially) when they are being cheerful, flippant or just naturally gay. . . The book presents what must be a fairly accurate cross section of our fighting forces at home and abroad. It should strengthen every hand at home and make us prouder than ever of our boys." Charlotte Dean

+ N Y Times p22 N 7 '43 260w

"Its attraction is not in literary quality, though several of the entries reach grandeur through simplicity. . . It is rather by the unliterary tone of these letters that they score: some are from men with all the insularity of the uneducated, some with reportorial skill to set down the insularities of others. Their reports on foreign countries are invariably enlivening." M. L. Becker

+ Weekly Book Review p12 N 7 '43 250w

WITHERSPOON, ALEXANDER MACLAREN. Common errors in English and how to avoid them. (New home lib) 344p 69c Garden City pub. co.

428.3 English language—Errors—Use of words 43-13505

"In this original publication of the New Home Library, the Associate Professor of English at Yale puts into plain statements, easily reached, much information on speaking and spelling that can be generally put to good use, and much more of it than we have hitherto had at this price. After some remarks on good usage, lists take up most of the book: the first has correct forms of words and phrases often misused, with exact definitions for use; the second includes practically all words people pronounce at their own sweet will, and shows the right way to do it. . . The book closes with a selection of proper names hard to pronounce, and one of meanings and pronunciations of foreign phrases often found in English speech." Weekly Book Review

Booklist 40:96 N 15 '43

Weekly Book Review p22 Ja 16 '44 180w

WITMER, HELEN ELIZABETH. Property qualifications of members of Parliament. 245p $2.75 Columbia univ. press

328.331 Great Britain. Parliament 43-9358

"A long and interesting footnote to Porritt's Unreformed House of Commons. The particular subject-matter is the Qualification Act of 1710, which required all members of the House of Commons to possess landed property—an act which remained on the statute book until 1858. . . Dr. Witmer's study is an analysis of some of the fundamental aspects of parliamentary representation. With a great deal of detail, much of it interesting, she traces the history of the property qualification and shows its relationship to the personnel of the House of Commons, to party politics, and to the problems of parliamentary bribery and corruption. The study covers the period from the end of the seventeenth century until the repeal of the act in 1858." (Am Pol Sci R) Bibliography. Index.

WITMER, H. E.—Continued
Reviewed by E. P. Chase
Am Pol Sci R 37:959 O '43 240w

"The book is a careful and scholarly monograph in the best tradition of the 'Columbia University Studies in History, Economics and Public Law.' It is abundantly annotated, and has an excellent bibliography and index. Without doubt it will prove to be the definitive treatment of the subject, and it is moreover, for reasons already indicated, of unusual contemporary interest to any thoughtful American." J. D. Squires
+ Christian Century 60:1138 O 6 '43 600w

WITMER, HELEN LELAND. Social work; an analysis of a social institution. 539p $3 Farrar
360 Social work 42-50119

"Records the development of an idea—an idea regarding the nature and function of social work: (1) the nature of the social-work institution and the function it serves; (2) what circumstances and need called it into existence and how its present basic principles were arrived at; (3) how its chief function is discharged in the various fields in which it now mainly operates." (School & Society) Index.

"There is much thought-provoking material in this, the latest, general book on social work. It has grown out of extended professional experience and a systematic review of the field. But as a textbook, this volume is unimpressive. It is not adapted to the needs of students at any level." S. A. Queen
— + Ann Am Acad 226:201 Mr '43 450w
School & Society 56:560 D 5 '42 60w

"This reviewer finds the author's analysis unconvincing. It seems to him that it is assumed much too easily that case work and part of group work are alone the 'indubitable core' of social work, and that much of the succeeding structure of reasoning is therefore built on an insecure foundation. . . [However] Miss Witmer's book is lucid, stimulating, and eminently readable. Her reviews of certain historical trends and developments are particularly well done. The case illustrations and bibliographical references seem well chosen, and the value of the latter is greatly increased by the author's annotations." Arthur Dunham
+ — Survey 79:252 S '43 550w

WOLF, VICTORIA. Spell of Egypt [tr. by Dora H. Demuth]. 310p $2.50 Fischer, L. B.
43-3877

Egypt in the 1920's is the setting for this novel. Sonya, a young exiled Russian, living in England, joins Roger Conway's expedition to the Valley of the Kings, where Roger is looking for a certain tomb. Thruout all the years of trouble and disappointment and danger, Sonya stands by Roger, until he is successful in his search, and Sonya's own happiness is assured. The story seems to be modeled on the search for the tomb of Tut-ankh-Amen.

"Although Sonya's raptures and Roger's habit of putting her hand in his pocket become rather monotonous after a time, her love and bravery are made real to the reader, the descriptions of Egypt reveal a genuine feeling for that most wonderful country, and the tension and excitement, steadily growing from the moment the first stone step emerges from the sand, are well done. . . The novel is a translation, from what language we are not told, which is perhaps the reason why it sometimes seems more than a little sententious." L. M. Field
+ — N Y Times p27 F 14 '43 550w

"The only claims to attention possessed by 'Spell of Egypt' are, first, the cruel analysis of Sonya, and, secondly, the success with which, Miss Wolf conveys the excitement, the absorbed passion of her Egyptologists. In her account of the first discovery of the tomb, of the subsequent opening, she takes the reader into the vehement, controlled emotion of those delvers into an ancient past. In this, in her description of the cruel heat of the desert, and the brittle relaxations of Shepheard's Hotel there are signs that she may one day be a novelist." R. E. Roberts
Sat R of Lit 26:15 Ap 3 '43 360w

"By using the informal method of writing her narrative as a diary, Miss Wolf casts the spell of Egypt not only on her heroine but her readers as well, spoiling it only slightly by a melodramatic climax to her plot. She has avoided, however, the tendency of many diarists of including long and irrelevant material. Her crisp and enthusiastic writing results, rather, in an enjoyable evening of out-of-this-world reading." N. B.
+ — Springf'd Republican p7e F 21 '43 250w

"'Spell of Egypt' is colorful, ominous and romantic in equal parts." Lisle Bell
+ Weekly Book Review p20 F 28 '43 300w

WOLFE, JOHN H.; MUELLER, WILLIAM F., and MULLIKIN, SEIBERT D. Simplified industrial mathematics. 281p il $2 McGraw
510.76 Mathematics. Machine shop practice
42-23567

Text for the vocational student and worker. Its purpose is "to familiarize the newly recruited student with the essentials of elementary industrial mathematics . . . needed by all present-day mechanics." Index.

Library J 67:953 N 1 '42 10w
N Y New Tech Bks 28:13 Ja '43

WOLFE, THOMAS. Letters to his mother, Julia Elizabeth Wolfe; ed. with an introd. by John Skally Terry. 368p $3 Scribner
B or 92 Authors—Correspondence, reminiscences, etc. 43-6520

Letters written to his mother, by the author of Look Homeward, Angel. They cover a period of almost thirty years, from 1909 to the year of his death, 1938. In them the close affinity between mother and son is made apparent. Edited by Professor John Terry, Wolfe's closest friend at New York University. Includes a biographical sketch of Mrs Wolfe by Professor Terry. Index.

"A serious book for the literary-minded, on the same shelf with Katherine Mansfield's Journal." Edward Weeks
+ Atlantic 172:125 Jl '43 120w

"This book will hold interest and value for American readers a century from now, two centuries from now. It is a rare and exciting experience to be able to say that with confidence of a newly-published book. . . No writer of our time seems to me more certain to be read by future generations than Thomas Wolfe; and these letters, which throw indispensable light on his life and work and are true expressions of the man, will live, with 'Look Homeward, Angel' and 'You Can't Go Home Again.'" J. T. Frederick
+ Book Week p4 My 9 '43 850w
Booklist 39:387 Je 1 '43
Christian Science Monitor p10 Je 26 '43 650w

"Everyone who admired Thomas Wolfe as a writer, or loved him as a man, had better read this book as soon as possible. . . One of the more striking things in these letters, considering their author's just repute for a certain redundancy, is their extreme pithiness of utterance. He wrote for his mother's eyes alone as he never wrote for his public, and despite my admiration for him as a novelist, I can't but feel that here he writes better." Cuthbert Wright
+ Commonweal 38:127 My 21 '43 800w

"Fascinating reading because they reveal so much. Here is the artist, driven by paramount creative urge, determined to have his say before death overtakes him, to 'express myself to the last ounce,' continually without money, security, or peace; and here is the son, recalling impressions of childhood and always interested in his family and forebears. All who have read Wolfe's books and many other readers will want this collection." Emily Garnett
+ Library J 68:210 Mr 1 '43 80w

Reviewed by Henry Miller
Nation 156:811 Je 5 '43 900w

Reviewed by Alfred Kazin
New Repub 108:607 My 3 '43 1700w

"Despite occasional flashes of the fine poetry for which he is so well known, the letters are for the most part prosy and matter-of-fact. This is not an unusual thing, I suppose, when a man writes letters to his mother. But I don't mean to say that the collection is without considerable value. For one thing, mixed in with the prosy accounts of rent and bills and weather and expenditures are some passages about fame and mortality and the like which make mighty good reading. And, more important, the letters do explain many things about Wolfe that deserve to be made known." T. L. Collins
+ — N Y Times p6 My 2 '43 1100w

"Thomas Wolfe's Letters reveal the slow development of an earnest and powerful writer. Aside from their value as autobiography, they seem on the whole somewhat conventional and naive, but there are unforgettable flashes of the best Wolfe."
+ — New Yorker 19:84 My 8 '43 70w

Reviewed by Thomas Sugrue
Sat R of Lit 26:17 My 29 '43 1050w

Reviewed by Emanuel Slotnick
Springf'd Republican p7e My 2 '43 600w

Time 41:100 My 10 '43 1200w

"These letters give a fascinating, and at times heart-breaking picture of the tragedy of the artist who was strong, but not strong enough, ruthless but never ruthless enough." Lorine Pruette
+ Weekly Book Review p4 My 2 '43 1700w

Reviewed by C. L. Snyder
Yale R n s 33:373 winter '44 600w

WOLFERT, IRA. Battle for the Solomons. 200p $2 Houghton

940.542 World war, 1939—Solomon islands
43-994

A newspaper reporter's eyewitness account of the fighting in the Solomons during October and November, 1942.

"It is a breezy book of the moment, filled with good stories. A man's book, lively, interesting."
+ Atlantic 171:154 Ap '43 60w

Booklist 39:250 F 15 '43

Bookmark 4:14 Mr '43

"'Battle for the Solomons' is a keen, intelligent and brave reporter's story of as bitter, bloody fighting as the world has seen. Glowing words and flaming phrases tumble over each other in depicting conflict worthy to rank with that of Bataan. Ira Wolfert has done one of the war's outstanding pieces of reporting." P. J. Searles
+ Books p1 Ja 24 '43 1450w

Reviewed by Herbert Black
Boston Globe p19 Ja 20 '43 450w

"An exciting, often rather confused, thoroughly informative performance. In short chapter-bites it chronicles a month full of such events as are at times completely unbelievable. Yet its sharp sting of truth prevents disbelief; instead, the reader sometimes drifts off into stunned acceptance." R. G.
+ Christian Science Monitor p14 F 2 '43 400w

Cleveland Open Shelf p3 Ja '43

"The colorful, dramatic punch of Wolfert's writing and his realistic conclusions make this one of the better war books." C. T.
+ Current Hist 4:85 Mr '43 160w

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert
Foreign Affairs 21:9 Jl '43 30w

"Vivid account in episodic, day-to-day style, well suited to description of a battle so recent it can hardly yet be written about objectively. Brilliant record of extraordinary courage in face of extraordinary odds and handicaps. Should appeal to all young adults interested in what is happening, boys and girls from fourteen up. I would like to affix the two stars to this appraisal, but the book could only be labeled a 'temporary must,' as it is a tentative account of the battle and probably will be soon superseded." Alice Vielehr
+ Library J 68:251 Mr 15 '43 80w

Reviewed by Marcus Duffield
Nation 156:277 F 20 '43 750w

Reviewed by Irving Brant
New Repub 108:291 Mr 1 '43 330w

"One doesn't suppose that Mr. Wolfert desires personal glory for his book. A man can hardly think of that motive when his friends are in danger. So one is inclined to give him the highest praise that a war reporter can have: he brings an honest message from the men at the front." R. L. Duffus
+ N Y Times p3 Ja 17 '43 1500w

"Slightly repetitious, but done in fast, readable reporter's English."
New Yorker 18:60 Ja 23 '43 70w

Reviewed by Raymond Holden
+ Sat R of Lit 26:9 Ja 30 '43 600w

Springf'd Republican p7e Ja 31 '43 410w

Times [London] Lit Sup p539 N 6 '43 210w

Wis Lib Bul 39:41 Mr '43

Reviewed by J. D. Adams
Yale R n s 32:791 summer '43 50w

WOLFERT, IRA. Torpedo 8. 127p $2 Houghton

940.544 World war, 1939—Aerial operations. U.S. Navy. Air service. Torpedo squadron 8
43-51247

Story of the American bomber squadron which, after the disaster of Midway (five of its six planes were lost) took for its motto "Attack—and Vengeance." This book by the author of Battle for the Solomons tells how Swede Larsen's men lived up to their motto.

"A tale which is highly worth the hour or so it should take you to read it." Herman Kogan
+ Book Week p5 Ag 1 '43 400w

Booklist 40:10 S '43

Current Hist 5:79 S '43 80w

Reviewed by Marcus Duffield
Nation 157:187 Ag 14 '43 300w

Reviewed by R. H. Rovere
New Repub 109:230 Ag 16 '43 420w

"Thanks to Ira Wolfert, whose dispatches from the Solomons recently won him a Pulitzer Prize, one of the epics of the war has been recorded with stirring simplicity and beauty." Philip Hamburger
+ N Y Times p3 Jl 18 '43 850w

"Wolfert tells the story with a rapid, colorful vitality and an intelligent regard for scene and weather, and for the operation of men's minds in battle." Vincent McHugh
+ New Yorker 19:64 Jl 17 '43 250w

Reviewed by Raymond Holden
Sat R of Lit 26:16 N 20 '43 160w

"The Wolfert approach lends itself to the hair-trigger life and excitement of the flier. A sort of ballpark English, one may tire of it when given in doses larger than 'Torpedo 8.' But it is as fast and vivid as the yellow warhead of the torpedo ripping through the blue water." G. W. B.
+ Springf'd Republican p7e Ag 8 '43 280w

Time 42:100 Jl 26 '43 1000w

"One gathers from reading 'Torpedo 8' a strange sense of this new life in the air, among and above the clouds, fighting with cannon, maneuvering among swarms of other planes, attacking the enemy, escaping from him, all on the wing and apart from the firm earth, a detached and ethereal existence, in spite of the grim work in hand. A fine sense of weather runs through this story; and the weather in the South Pacific is something to contend with." Lincoln Colcord
+ Weekly Book Review p3 Jl 25 '43 1250w

WOLFERT, IRA. Tucker's people. 496p $3 Fischer, L.B.
43-6908

Realistic novel of the "numbers" racket in Harlem during the days of the depression in the '20s. It presents the characters and desperate struggle for existence of some of New York's little people, and their writhings in the clutches of the racketeer, Tucker.

"The reader occasionally catches a brief glimpse of likable little people, but for the most part he has no desire for more than a vicarious acquaintance with Tucker's minions. The book is depressing—but it is also convincing."

Atlantic 171:129 Je '43 90w

Reviewed by August Derleth
+ Book Week p4 My 2 '43 750w

Reviewed by Diana Trilling
Nation 156:899 Je 26 '43 900w

"The characters have a depth and many-sidedness that are rare in recent naturalistic fiction: there are moments indeed when one wonders whether such characters possess the subtlety and complexity with which they are endowed. And in filling out his portraits Wolfert relies too often on flashbacks, which even when excellent in themselves are frequently redundant or retard the story. The social framework and the relationship of the characters to it are well handled, performing a function very much like that of the account of the whaling industry and the portraits of the personnel of the Pequod in 'Moby Dick.' The cross-references to legitimate business and totalitarianism are cogent and rarely dragged in by the heels. 'Tucker's People' is slow getting under way, needs pruning in general, and there are overripe passages that badly misfire. But the faults, like the virtues of the book, are the result of generosity and eagerness. Like Dreiser, Wolfert can afford to write badly on occasion." George Mayberry
+ — New Repub 108:602 My 3 '43 950w

"It would not be fair to the author simply to say that this book introduces a promising new novelist. The book fulfills its own promise. Wolfert's blowtorch intensity, his subtle shadings of character and meaning, his distinctive and even poetic style and his terrifying clarity of vision lift his first novel bodily above the run of the mill. 'Tucker's People' is an important book." T. L. Collins
+ N Y Times p7 Ap 25 '43 1100w

"Mr. Wolfert is no stylist. He labors his points and rides his thesis much too hard on occasion, but he does show us, under the melodrama, the real complexity of the things that make his people tick, and there aren't many writers who can handle the common New York speech so convincingly."
+ — New Yorker 19:74 My 1 '43 70w

"A fine mature, and understanding novel. . . I have had, unfortunately, some experience with the numbers racket as it is popularly called, and I can testify that Mr. Wolfert tells his story with careful reportorial accuracy. This is no slight merit in a book. His underworld characters, his crooked politicians, his shady lawyers, and his venal judges are real. . . And let me add, too, from first hand knowledge, that the technical details of the policy game and the tortuous procedure of the magistrates' courts and the police department are presented with flawless fidelity. There is action and melodrama to satisfy the most avid crime story addict. But this is no mere crime story. It is a penetrating and sympathetic novel of frustration and insecurity, a story of little people, many of them decent people, battling against forces they are too feeble to resist and too simple to understand." Newman Levy
+ Sat R of Lit 26:10 My 15 '43 700w

"A first novel rare and remarkable, a novel which deserves careful reading. Ira Wolfert is well known as a war correspondent; if 'Tucker's People' is a fair example, he will become as widely known for his novels." J. C. L.
+ Springf'd Republican p7e My 16 '43 800w

"The book is written in a high key of tension which carries the restlessness, the danger, the desperation of the various characters. There are times when Mr. Wolfert overwrites, when the spectacle of a man's fear or anger overstimulates his emotion and his language. There are times, also, when his representation of the bawdy gets out of hand. . . But 'Tucker's People' gives a picture of an epoch and a portrayal of diversified character in New York's underworld, with observations on the theme of insecurity." Rose Feld
+ — Weekly Book Review p10 Ap 25 '43 1150w

WOLFF, CHARLOTTE. Human hand; with a pref. by William Stevenson. 198p il $3 Knopf [16s Methuen]
133.6 Palmistry 43-4798

A study of the psychology of the human hand and its physiological background. Dr Wolff is a psychologist who has observed and formulated her opinions in Poland, and in Paris, and in the psychological laboratory of University college, London. Partial contents: The place of the hand in science; The form of the hand; The parts of the hand; The physical qualities of the hand; The nails; The lines of the hand; Right hand and left; A practical method of hand-interpretation. Index.

"The book is illustrated with a number of interesting and informative hand-impressions, and the text is plain and unexaggerated. Most readers will find much that falls short of being convincing or conclusive; but many scoffers will be led to wonder if there may not be more in the hand as an indicator of the intellectual and emotional possibilities and of the fundamental character of the individual examined than they had hitherto suspected." Harry Roberts
+ — New Statesman & Nation 25:14 Ja 2 '43 330w

"The book is not offered as easy parlor entertainment but as a serious and systematic contribution to a psychology of the hand."
+ Weekly Book Review p19 My 16 '43 330w

WOLFF, WERNER. Expression of personality; experimental depth psychology [under the editorship of Gardner Murphy]. 334p il $3.50 Harper
137 Personality 43-9213

"A presentation of experimental evidence on the revelatory side of personality. Consideration is given to bodily expression in the form of voice, gait, and gesture, with a treatment of the individual's judgment of himself along the line of self-recognition. The concluding part of the work is concerned with personality diagnosis. The concept of Gestalt psychology provides the dominant theme of the work." (Am J Soc) Bibliography. Index.

Am J Soc 49:198 S '43 70w
School & Society 58:16 Jl 3 '43 50w

"The material is presented with the frank recognition that it is but the beginning of an investigation that should enormously advance our understanding of human behavior." E. R. Groves
+ Social Forces 22:227 D '43 80w

WOLO, pseud. Tweedles be brave! [39p] il $2 Morrow
43-17658

Jolly story-picture book about a monkey colony ruled over by a lazy king named Mogus. A little chap named Tweedles called the king's bluff and Mogus went to a fox magician for help. That was the wrong gesture entirely. But Tweedles, with the help of a chastened king, made everything right.

"Once a Wolo fan, always a Wolo fan. Just ask any small boy or girl who has ever read a Wolo book and watch that enthusiastic reaction. There's a very special magic to Wolo's pictures and stories and I've never yet seen a child who could resist them." P. A. Whitney
+ Book Week p44 D 5 '43 180w

Reviewed by M. L. Goodwin
Library J 69:34 Ja 1 '44 40w

"The demure original, who chooses to be known only as Wolo, has another fantasy, as spirited as 'The Secret of the Ancient Oak,' and funnier." M. L. Becker
+ Weekly Book Review p6 D 19 '43 200w

WOLSELEY, ROLAND EDGAR, and CAMPBELL, LAURENCE RANDOLPH. Exploring journalism; with special emphasis on its social and vocational aspects. 482p il $5; to schools $3.75 Prentice-Hall

070 Journalism 43-13507

"An integrated study of the historical background, philosophical viewpoints, social responsibilities, vocational requirements, and specialized techniques of the modern media of communication included with journalism. The volume is not an exhaustive analysis of all the principles and problems of the press, the authors state; it is rather an introduction to them by means of which anyone may make a rapid survey of the field and orient himself accordingly." (School & Society) Bibliography. Index.

"The book is addressed primarily to students who are preparing to become producers of journalism. But since everybody is a consumer of it and a beneficiary of (or sufferer from) its influence on society, it should have a much wider appeal than that."
Christian Century 60:1233 O 27 '43 220w
School & Society 58:176 S 4 '43 70w

WOMEN'S GROUP ON PUBLIC WELFARE. Our towns, a close-up; a study made in 1939-42 with certain recommendations by the Hygiene com. of the Group (in association with the Nat. council of social service); with a pref. by Margaret Bondfield. 143p $1.50 (8s 6d; pa 5s) Oxford

309.142 Cities and towns—Great Britain. Great Britain—Social conditions. World war, 1939—Evacuation of civilians 43-6718

"This is not a pretty book. It is about children and adults who inhabit the snaggle-tooth districts of English cities—people who are frequently dirty, verminous, diseased, delinquent, and addicted to practices that grate on the sensibilities of 'nice folks' residing on the other side of town. . . The writers assembled a considerable amount of data to indicate that slum denizens are victims of social circumstances, and that the conditions which produce such people are themselves amendable to improvement. Furthermore, specific recommendations are offered for institutional changes which, if put into effect, would go far toward eliminating both blighted areas and blighted personalities." Am Soc R

"Neither the data nor the recommendations are particularly new to students of social problems in this country. Nevertheless, it is a significant attempt to bring before the intelligent public a frank discussion of cause-and-effect relationships and to secure some measures of social action that will alleviate such disgraceful conditions." N. P. Gist
Am Soc R 8:741 D '43 330w

"This is definitely not a bookshelf book but a social document, which, being read, should be used for political action. Its invitation to the wide range of social welfare personnel to come into the open vocally, and its adjuration to administrators to find out about the impact of the services they are administering, cannot be ignored. The trade union movement should take this document to heart." J. S. Clarke
+ New Statesman & Nation 25:292 My 1 '43 2850w

WONSETLER, MRS ADELAIDE (HILL), and WONSETLER, JOHN CHARLES. Liberty for Johanny; il. by John C. Wonsetler. 278p $2.50 Longmans

43-15072

The time of this story for young readers is 1777 and later; the place, in and about Philadelphia, Valley Forge and the Delaware. The heroes are a young Mennonite farm boy and his friend Domino, a runaway slave. Together the boys meet many adventures as they act as drovers for the Continental army. For ages nine to twelve.

"Suspense runs high through the story, but there is real meat as well. . . A colorful picture of the period, and a rousing good story for boys and girls from 9 to 13." P. A. Whitney
+ Book Week p3 N 14 '43 180w
Booklist 40:118 D 1 '43

Reviewed by A. M. Jordan
Horn Bk 19:325 S '43 140w

"Recommended for boys and girls of twelve to fourteen who are interested in American history." E. T. Dobbins
+ Library J 68:1052 D 15 '43 70w
Springf'd Republican p7e N 7 '43 110w

Reviewed by M. L. Becker
Weekly Book Review p38 N 14 '43 350w

WOOD, ANDREW DICK, and LINN, THOMAS GRAY. Plywoods; their development, manufacture and application. 374p il $4 Chemical pub. co. [25s Johnston]

684 Plywood 43-12994

"A comprehensive treatment of the subject from a British viewpoint. Part titles are: Development; Physical properties of wood and plywood; The manufacture of multi-ply; Laminboards, blockboards, composite boards and specialties; Grading, testing, packing and storing; Plywood-producing countries of the world; The plywood trade in the United Kingdom; the development of wall panelling; Application. Considerable information is included on synthetic resin-bonded plywoods." N Y New Tech Bks

Reviewed by J. C. Penn
Book Week p18 N 21 '43 500w
Booklist 40:42 O 1 '43
Library J 68:671 S 1 '43 20w
N Y New Tech Bks 28:32 Ap '43
N Y New Tech Bks 28:49 Jl '43

WOOD, CLEMENT. Unabridged rhyming dictionary; introd. by Ted Robinson. 1040p $2.95 World pub.

426.603 English language—Rime 43-51188

"This portly compendium opens with a discussion of the vocabulary of poetry. A form book for verse writers follows, defining the kinds of poetry with examples, giving all the types of sonnet with their rhyme schemes and the fixed forms of all sorts, analyzed plainly, with interesting examples. Then comes a capacious rhyming dictionary which pays strict attention to phonetic values, steering the student away from bad rhyming through mispronunciation of words. The work concludes with 'Versification Self-Taught,' a series of lessons for individual study and practice." Weekly Book Review

Booklist 39:421 Je 15 '43
Weekly Book Review p26 Je 6 '43 130w

WOOD, HERBERT GEORGE. Christianity and civilisation. (Current problems ser) 128p $1.25 Macmillan [3s 6d Cambridge]

261 Civilization, Christian 43-8090

"The book reproduces the substance and to some extent the form of six lectures delivered . . . in Cambridge during the Lenten term in 1942. The book was written by H. G. Wood, who is professor of theology in the University of Birmingham. . . In this book, Dr. Wood presents the obligations of posterity to the legacies of Greece and Palestine. He maintains that our ideas and conceptions of liberty, justice, mercy and truth are derived from these ancient cultures." Book Week

WOOD, H. G.—Continued
"A good book if your faith is wavering." Preston Bradley
+ Book Week p9 My 23 '43 500w
Christian Century 60:991 S 1 '43 50w
Reviewed by A. L. Byron-Curtiss
Churchman 157:14 O 1 '43 120w

"Though written in a British atmosphere, the little book will amply reward a careful reading here in America: to see what an outstanding English Christian leader is thinking and feeling. It is concisely written, but interesting, readable. It overflows with up-to-date scholarship; and a surprising familiarity with all that is going on—and being written—social, political, church, world conditions." Mitchell Bronk
+ Crozer Q 20:357 O '43 300w

"No reader of this very wise little book can fail to realise that it offers us not merely a diagnosis of our troubles, but a practicable solution if only they will put it into effect. The onus lies with them under God." W. B. Selbie
+ Hibbert J 41:285 Ap '43 1000w
Reviewed by J. K. Mozley
Spec 169:390 O 23 '42 700w

WOOD, LAURA N. Walter Reed, doctor in uniform; il. by Douglas Duer. 277p $2.50 Messner
B or 92 Reed, Walter—Juvenile literature
43-8346

Life story of Walter Reed, famous for his work against the yellow fever plague. Beginning with his boyhood in Virginia, during the Civil war, his career is traced thru his medical studies, his days as assistant surgeon in the United States army corps, and his experiments with mosquitoes proving them the carriers of yellow fever, and closes with his death in 1902. For children of twelve and older. Bibliography. Index.

Reviewed by Joseph Smith
Book Week p11 Ag 15 '43 90w
Booklist 39:448 Jl 1 '43

"A vivid and moving story." A. M. Jordan
+ Horn Bk 19:244 Jl '43 100w

"Well written with enough dramatic emphasis to sustain continuous interest." E. T. Dobbins
+ Library J 68:578 Jl '43 50w

"The book is a stirring tribute to the spirit and the service of the unassuming man who was in the fullest sense an officer and a gentleman." E. L. Buell
+ N Y Times p7 Ag 22 '43 300w

"An excellent life of the great bacteriologist. Even children not overly interested in science will find Reed's active career absorbing."
+ New Yorker 19:136 D 4 '43 20w
Reviewed by A. M. Jordan
Sat R of Lit 26:40 Je 19 '43 80w

"Mrs. Wood has obviously done much careful research in the preparation of this one; the familiar story of the brave group, officers and privates, who voluntarily risked death to establish the proof of the mosquito theory is well handled, and she has spared no pains in gathering together incidents of Reed's early years. But nevertheless the book falls short of being a good adult biography. This is due partly to the fictional style, the use of imagined conversations not always convincing, and the inclusion of material that suggests an appeal to adolescent boys and girls rather than to a mature reader. . . As collateral reading for high school students it can be recommended, but the discriminating reader of medical biography is likely to find it a disappointment." M. S. Ulrich
+ — Sat R of Lit 26:11 Jl 17 '43 230w

"The book will be as gladly received by older readers as by the boys for whom it was written." M. L. Becker
+ Weekly Book Review p10 My 23 '43 700w
Wis Lib Bul 39:112 Jl '43

WOODCOCK, MRS LOUISE (PHINNEY). Hiding places; with il. by Esphyr Slobodkina. spir pa $1 Scott, W.R.

Picture-story book for very little people, showing Peter and his little dog searching the house for a surprise left by Peter's mother when she had to go out.

Reviewed by E. S. Littlefield
Library J 68:817 O 15 '43 30w

"Fine fun, and also conveys an idea—the rather difficult one of being left alone for an hour to amuse one's self. It has a simple theme, but color, action and a reward." Lois Palmer
+ N Y Times p20 N 28 '43 30w

WOODS, RALPH LOUIS, ed. Treasury of the familiar; with a foreword by John Kieran. 751p $5 Macmillan
808.8 Literature—Collections 42-51002

Anthology of prose and verse selections, familiar to the layman. They range from selections from the Bible and Shakespeare, to Casey Jones and Frankie and Johnny. Indexes to authors, titles, and familiar lines.

Booklist 39:180 Ja 1 '43
Christian Science Monitor p10 Je 12 '43 70w
Reviewed by M. P. Douglas
Library J 68:112 F 1 '43 380w
Reviewed by Irwin Edman
Nation 156:420 Mr 20 '43 2050w
Wis Lib Bul 39:12 Ja '43

WOOLLCOTT, ALEXANDER, ed. As you were. 655p $2.50 Viking
810.8 American literature—Collections
43-51076

"A portable library of American prose and poetry assembled for members of the armed forces and the merchant marine." (Subtitle) Material is grouped in three sections: American fiction, American verse, and American fact. Authors range from Franklin and the author of the Declaration of Independence, thru Emerson, Thoreau, Lincoln, Mark Twain and Bret Harte, to Dorothy Parker, Robert Frost, Carl Sandburg, and E. B. White. Indexes.

Reviewed by Edward Weeks
Atlantic 171:127 Je '43 380w
Booklist 39:328 Ap 15 '43

"Two-thirds of Mr. Woollcott's anthology is first-rate soldier stuff. With fine discernment he included excerpts that will appeal to the farm boy, the factory hand, the cowboy and Broadwayite, and the different races and religions. . . But in the other four ounces of 'As You Were,' Mr. Woolcott chose, in the opinion of this reviewer, certain pieces that would have struck a cordial response during the last war, but today are painful reminders of the high school classroom, or are particular enthusiasms of Mr. Woollcott's that are too precious or too literary for the average dogface. . . Three of Mr. Woollcott's selections are, in my opinion, downright harmful to overseas soldier morale." Hartzell Spence
+ — N Y Times p5 Mr 28 '43 850w

"Old things, new things, mostly good things, with a characteristic foreword."
+ New Yorker 19:79 Ap 3 '43 50w

"Every anthology tempts some amateur critics to quarrel with the editor's choice groaning over the omission of their favorite yarns. A lot of people are going to recall the arrant sentimentality which distinguished the Town Crier in his lusher moments, and will point with horror to Eugene Field's 'Little Boy Blue' and William Allen White's obituary for his daughter, Mary, as being strange fare indeed for fighting men." E. M. B.
+ — Springf'd Republican p7e Ap 11 '43 360w

"All the editor's well-known insight into what people wish to read is employed in this little book. As a soldier himself in the last war, Mr. Woollcott knew what soldiers want to hear, and this book in its richness and variety is news from home and a recollection of dear and familiar things. This is its reason for existence. It does not pretend at completeness of representation in authors or chronology. Excellent writers are left out, and most of its selections are from recent writings. For all that, the volume has the unity in all its diversity of the modern American scene, and is likely to be very widely read." W. C. DeVane

+ Yale R n s 32:832 summer '43 210w

WOOLLCOTT, ALEXANDER. Long, long ago. 280p $2.75 Viking
818 43-15482

"The gleanings of the last 10 years of Woollcott's work as writer and radio speaker include stories about crimes, authors, and actors, with miscellaneous anecdotes. They furnish pleasant casual reading." Booklist

Reviewed by Edward Weeks
Atlantic 172:133 D '43 550w

Reviewed by Sterling North
Book Week p14 N 14 '43 90w

Booklist 40:90 N 15 '43

"Recommended for the belles lettres collection." H. G. Kelley
+ Library J 68:891 N 1 '43 110w

Reviewed by Lewis Nichols
N Y Times p3 N 21 '43 550w

"Here are miscellaneous pieces and anecdotes and radio broadcasts and legends of the déjà vu and literary enthusiasms and shouts of delight about plays—all echt Woollcott, all the product of a completely unified personality. For Woollcott was ever himself, always coherent, marked with a single style. Those who thought him a poseur were, I think, wrong. He never played any part but himself, but of course he was a theatrical personality. So are these carefully written oddments, in no invidious sense, theatrical—filled with a feeling for audience values, for the laws of timing, for the requisites of a good curtain. Like certain kinds of good theatre, they handle sentimentality to perfection, always stopping short of bathos, always safely within the terrain of perfect taste." Clifton Fadiman
+ New Yorker 19:105 N 13 '43 250w

"Toward whatever periodical he inclined his pen, in whatever year, Woollcott was always Woollcott. Sometimes rather more himself, sometimes rather less, but always Woollcott. He had a style, or the truth may be that the style had him. And when one remarks that he was master of certain reliable literary mannerisms, devices, even tricks, one does so with the reservation that he may have been their slave. But, slave or master, he was always dependable, never surprising his readers by the way he told a story, but often surprising and charming them by the story that he told." B. R. Redman
Sat R of Lit 26:42 D 4 '43 550w

"This is a book that will be hard to give away. Better buy two copies, one for that bedside table of your own." E. M. B.
+ Springf'd Republican p7e N 14 '43 170w

Time 42:97 D 6 '43 450w

"The collection would undoubtedly have been improved by his drastic and careful editing. As it stands he is allowed to repeat himself, sometimes in identical sentences. He becomes fond of one of his iridescent inventions and uses it whenever he has a chance. Nevertheless, for all its unevenness, here is the genuine Woollcott, at his best and his worst. Taking it in one gulp, it is a rich miscellany, rewarding to any one who is not too jaded to relish the sly jests, the unaccountable foolishness and the unquenchable courage of the human race." Stanley Walker
+ — Weekly Book Review p4 N 14 '43 1550w

Wis Lib Bul 39:157 D '43

WOOLRICH, CORNELL (WILLIAM IRISH, pseud). Black angel. 300p $2 Doubleday
43-2938

Detective story.

Booklist 39:294 Mr 15 '43

"This stands up well beside Mr. Woolrich's other adventures in stark unreality. . . Advice to Alberta, the narrator: Don't ever write the way you do in the first and last paragraphs of your story, because unrelieved iambic singing isn't so good—it's awful." Will Cuppy
+ — Books p12 F 7 '43 150w

"There are four separate and distinct episodes linked together only by Alberta Murray's unconquerable determination to explore every avenue that may possibly lead to the evidence she seeks and so to freedom for her husband. In these episodes the earnest seeker after thrills will find enough and to spare." Isaac Anderson
+ N Y Times p14 F 14 '43 180w

"Fine idea but inept writing."
+ — New Yorker 19:60 F 20 '43 70w

"Wife's long and hazardous hunt for evidence that will free erring spouse is well packed with action and burling with emotion."
+ Sat R of Lit 26:16 F 27 '43 40w

WOOLRICH, CORNELL (WILLIAM IRISH, pseud). I wouldn't be in your shoes. 320p $2 Lippincott
43-4643

Collection of five mystery novelettes.

Booklist 39:355 My 1 '43

"Any one of these stories can be recommended without reservation, if you enjoy raising goose-pimples after midnight. Of course, the plot structure in all of them is crooked as a dog's hind leg. . . But it hardly matters that 'I Wouldn't Be in Your Shoes' and its companion pieces are as synthetic as their author's nom de plume. You will forgive the synthesis, once you have surrendered to their hypnotic spell. This book is a perfect set piece for any guest-room table. But don't be annoyed if your guest sleeps with the lights on that night." William Du Bois
+ N Y Times p16 Mr 28 '43 600w

"Good measure for those who crave medium-length riddles every so often." Will Cuppy
+ Weekly Book Review p18 Mr 14 '43 100w

Wis Lib Bul 39:110 Jl '43

WORDELL, MALCOLM TABER, and SEILER, EDWIN NORTON. Wildcats over Casablanca; as told to Keith Ayling. 309p $2.50 Little 940.544 World war, 1939—Aerial operations. World war, 1939—Personal narratives, American. World war, 1939—Campaigns and battles—North Africa 43-51212

Account of the early stages of the battle for North Africa as it appeared to a squadron of American airmen, whose Grumman Wildcats were on one of the carriers. Their stories were told to Keith Ayling, who has based this book on their experiences.

Atlantic 172:123 Ag '43 90w

Booklist 39:462 Jl 15 '43

Cleveland Open Shelf p10 Jl '43

"Perhaps the most exciting chapters are those in which Lieutenant Mac Wordell sets forth a straight running account of his adventures after being shot down and taken prisoner by the French. Here one can read and comprehend more poignantly than in any other story of the African occupation the tragic perplexity and indecision of the French last Fall. . . This book is a fine tribute to the brave Navy fliers who participated in that action and to the Grumman Wildcats they flew." Lincoln Barnett
+ N Y Times p4 Je 13 '43 750w

"Good, fresh material, effectively written, mostly in the pilots' own words."
+ New Yorker 19:80 Je 19 '43 70w

Reviewed by P. K. Knauth
Sat R of Lit 26:16 Jl 3 '43 750w

WORDELL, M. T.—Continued

"The authors have written their story as a story of war should be written—with the full collaboration of the men who did the fighting." Phil Richards

+ Weekly Book Review p6 Je 20 '43 800w

WORLD book encyclopedia; modern, pictorial, comprehensive [managing ed: J. Morris Jones]. 30th ed 19v il pl maps $89-$99 c1943 Quarrie corp, 35 E. Wacker drive, Chicago

031 Encyclopedias and dictionaries 43-5001

"First published in 1917, this encyclopedia has been outstanding in its field for more than a quarter of a century. Authentic, concise information is presented in a direct, interesting manner. Articles are written by recognized authorities. Many articles, chiefly the longer ones, are signed with initials. Volume one of the set contains a list of editors and contributors with titles of articles for which each is responsible. The following statement prefaces this list: 'The person whose initials appear at the end of an article in these volumes either wrote it as original matter or became responsible for its accuracy as critical reviser. . .' Arrangement of material is alphabetical by specific subjects. Since entries are made under specific rather than large subjects, they are self-indexing. Numerous cross references eliminate the need of a separate index." Subscription Bks Bul

---

"To any home where young inquiring minds are unfolding—and older minds regressing—no more useful Christmas gift could come than this 1942 edition of an encyclopedia that has grown steadily in value—as well as in volume—since its first appearance in 1917 as the World Book."

+ Cath World 156:498 Ja '43 450w (Review of 1942 edition)

"The twenty-five years of coming of age of the World Book has brought it from a sturdy beginning to a lusty and useful growth. Every year, too, the annual volume supplements information in the text and highlights the year's important events. The work as a whole has now reached a comfortable amplitude, and it is hoped that it will not expand too far out of the children's grasp. With its many fruitful years of service it is due now for grateful congratulations. It has a future firm in the affections and confident in the dependence upon it of school, library and home." Isabel McLaughlin

+ Library J 67:800 S 15 '42 1550w (Review of 1942 edition)

"The World book encyclopedia is recommended for use in libraries, junior and senior high schools, and homes. The set may also be used as a popular adult encyclopedia. Libraries having juvenile sets published in or before 1940 will find the 1943 edition of The World book encyclopedia a worthwhile replacement purchase."

+ Subscription Bks Bul 14:53 O '43 500w (Review of 1943 edition)

WORMLEY, STANTON LAWRENCE. Heine in England; with an introd. by William Clyde DeVane. 310p $4 Univ. of N.C. press

831 Heine, Heinrich. Literature, Comparative 43-4014

"A zealous philologist has read all that the English have written about Heine. Now he cites books, diaries, letters, newspapers, and magazines, enumerates all the translations made in England and grades them, and reprints British poems with Heine as subject." (Sat R of Lit) Bibliography. Index.

"It's a scholarly piece of work—meticulously thorough, crammed with factual and critical material." Klaus Mann

+ Book Week p6 My 30 '43 800w

"An interesting and scholarly book. . . It is the result of sympathetic and painstaking research dealing in considerable detail with the various translators, major and minor." Pearl Strachan

+ Christian Science Monitor p11 My 29 '43 250w

Reviewed by Hermann Kesten

Sat R of Lit 26:35 Je 5 '43 850w

WORMSER, RENE ALBERT. Personal estate planning in a changing world. 311p $2 Simon & Schuster

332 Finance, Personal. Inheritance and succession. Saving and thrift 42-20411

"Facts and suggestions to guide the individual in the best management of his estate for the benefit of himself and his beneficiaries. Covers the subject of trusts, insurance, taxes, wills, and gifts. New York state law is used as a base, with observation to check on the laws of other states whenever needed." Booklist

---

Booklist 39:64 N 1 '42

"Written, as the author says, as a guide for laymen to help them plan their estate for their beneficiaries, the volume should prove to be equally useful to lawyers." G. T. Stephenson

+ Columbia Law R 43:265 Mr '43 420w

Reviewed by H. A. Fenn

Yale Law J 52:697 Je '43 200w

WORTHING, ARCHIE GARFIELD, and GEFFNER, JOSEPH. Treatment of experimental data. 342p il $4.50 Wiley

311.2 Statistics 43-11517

"For graduate students, research workers, physicists, chemists and engineers. Chapter titles are: Representation of data by tables; Representation of data by graphs; Representation of data by equations; Tabular and graphical differentiation and integration; Fourier series; The normal frequency distribution; Means and precision indexes of unequally weighted measurements; The propagation of precision indexes; The adjustment of conditioned measurements; Least-squares equations representing observed data; Correlation; The analysis of non-harmonic periodic functions." (N Y New Tech Bks) Bibliography. Index.

Reviewed by L. E. Grinter

Book Week p10 N 7 '43 90w

" 'Treatment of Experimental Data' is well adapted to classroom use and to individual study by chemists, engineers, and others who can still use their mathematics. It is characterized by lucidity of presentation, practicality of application, and exceptional freedom from annoying, misleading errors in theory and typography. The binding and mechanical makeup match the excellent collaborative work of a professor and practicing engineer." D. S. Davis

+ Chem & Met Eng 50:193 O '43 650w

Library J 68:627 Ag '43 40w

N Y New Tech Bks 28:45 Jl '43

"This advanced text will be useful to the research worker and also to the student. Difficult experiments are apt to yield difficult data and the meaning attached to the data often determines the degree of success of the experiment. The book covers a wide range of useful methods of treating experimental data, all the way from the 'squint test' to advanced correlation theory." James Stokley

+ Weekly Book Review p36 N 28 '43 100w

WORTS, GEORGE FRANK. Overboard. 279p $2 Putnam

43-5528

A mystery and adventure story which begins in a prosy academic town in the Mid-west and ends up in a lonely cabin in Hawaii where three Nazi spies match wits with the once-timid, over-worked secretary to the head of the English Department.

"The suspense is well maintained, the first fights and gun battles are exciting, the love-making is both effective and amusing, and the book as a whole is a pleasant diversion." Charlotte Dean

+ N Y Times p30 Ap 25 '43 260w

"A fast-paced spy story deftly flavored with romance." M. L. H.
+ Springf'd Republican p7e My 9 '43 170w

"Zorie Corey was in a rut and she knew it. 'Overboard' tells how she got out of it—a process which is both amusing and exciting. George F. Worts has a crisp style, a lively imagination and the knack of spinning a story at a pace which leaves the reader no time to quibble over details." Lisle Bell
+ Weekly Book Review p18 My 2 '43 430w

WRANGHAM, DIGBY ALFRED. Theory and practice of heat engines. 756p il $10.50 Macmillan [50s Cambridge]

621.4 Heat engines [43-916]

"British book. Not for beginners. Large number of worked examples makes book valuable to those who know subject. Many diagrams and charts." Library J

Library J 68:291 Ap 1 '43 20w
N Y New Tech Bks 28:9 Ja '43
Reviewed by James Stokley
Weekly Book Review p22 Ap 18 '43 60w

WREATH of Christmas poems. $1; pa 50c New directions

808.81 Poetry—Collection. Christmas poetry

Selection of Christmas poems from many nations and periods. The first poem is Virgil's fourth eclogue, written about 40 B.C. Among the other authors are Ben Jonson, Herrick, Milton, Christina Rossetti, and T. S. Eliot.

Reviewed by Pearl Strachan
Christian Science Monitor p9 Ja 23 '43 240w
Reviewed by Babette Deutsch
New Repub 108:421 Mr 29 '43 90w

WREN, PERCIVAL CHRISTOPHER. Dark woman [Eng title: Beggars' horses]. 320p $2.50 Macrae Smith co. [7s 6d; 3s 6d; 2s Murray, J]

43-604

Six young British officers of the Indian army, deserted by their natives while on a hunting expedition, seek the advice of a yogi ascetic. In return for their promise to forego their hunting, the yogi grants each of the six one wish, but advises them all to beware of a dark woman. At the outbreak of the first World war, each man forgets the yogi's warning, and then it is that the "dark woman" appears.

"Remarks one Englishman to another in Mr. Wren's novel, 'India is a queer place, particularly for people blessed or cursed with an imagination.' This thought has been voiced and amply demonstrated before in fiction, but that doesn't diminish the gusto of 'The Dark Woman,' a melodrama of unrationed intrigue, betrayal and disintegration." Lisle Bell
+ Books p22 Ja 17 '43 330w
Cleveland Open Shelf p12 Jl '43
Reviewed by Drake De Kay
N Y Times p34 Ja 24 '43 650w

WRIGHT, MRS ANNA MARIA ROSE. Summer at Buckhorn. 243p $2 Viking

43-14779

Story of the five lively Rose children, sent to spend the summer in Virginia, because their mother was seriously ill. Aunt Wig and the children's grandmother presided over the family plantation at Buckhorn, and a gay summer was had by all concerned, including the little visitor and the Negro servants.

Booklist 40:200 F 1 '44

"Drawn with an appreciative sense of fun, out of the author's childhood memories, the children and the place have life and reality." A. M. Jordan
+ Horn Bk 20:42 Ja '44 70w

Reviewed by E. E. Frank
Library J 68:1009 D 1 '43 50w

"From one unpredictable moment to the next the Five, now Six, pranced their joyous way. But it is not only their pranks which make this story so delectable. The amicable family bickering, the affectionate relationship with the colored hands, Aunt Wig's imperturbable understanding of small fry, the horses and cows are all as much a part of that wonderful summer as are their adventures. There is, in short, the fullness of living in this chronicle of a real childhood set down for Maria's grandchildren." E. L. Buell
+ N Y Times p9 O 31 '43 380w

"As natural and lively a story as we have heard in a long while. One grows very fond of the Roses. Aunt Wig is a real character. For all her casual air, she has a keen eye and a positive genius for understanding children." J. O.
+ Sat R of Lit 26:32 N 13 '43 270w
Reviewed by M. L. Becker
Weekly Book Review p5 Ja 9 '44 300w

WRIGHT, DAVID MCCORD. Creation of purchasing power; a study in the problem of economic stabilization. 251p $3 Harvard univ. press [12s 6d Oxford]

330.1 Consumption (economics). Economic policy A42-299

"The subject of this book is our Number One peacetime economic problem: How can we successfully combat cyclical and secular deficiencies of purchasing power? . . This book offers a penetrating analysis of some of the general types of plans that have been advanced for creating purchasing power. . . The principal types of proposals discussed are redistribution of income as a means of raising the propensity to consume, quantitative control of bank credit (including Professor Fisher's proposal for 100 per cent banking and Mr. Berle's proposal for capital banks), velocity stimulators, negative rates of interest, deficit financing, and business subsidies." Am Econ R

"Professor Wright has accomplished what he set out to do. In brief compass he has succeeded in bringing out the most important weaknesses and strong points of each type of plan. By searching the economic literature one can find most of the criticisms brought out here, but the book makes its contribution by collecting and winnowing these criticisms. . . A few specific criticisms, mostly on points of secondary importance, may be made." L. V. Chandler
+ — Am Econ R 33:156 Mr '43 1000w

"Professor Wright's able book is to be welcomed both for its own original proposals and for the convenient critical summary of similar plans advanced by others which it contains. In setting forth his own views the author has frankly stated and diligently explored many of the possible objections to them and many of the dangers and difficulties which they involve." W. G. Welk
+ Ann Am Acad 223:242 S '42 600w

"The reader may have the feeling at the end of the volume that the author was himself rather disappointed at the yield of the material which he has hoped would 'turn out to be of value'; but he will have reviewed a considerable range of unorthodox schemes and will have found the appraisals fair and soundly argued." H. S. Ellis
J Pol Econ 51:180 Ap '43 1500w

WRIGHT, MRS FRANCES FITZPATRICK. Lucy Ellen's college daze; il. by Gertrude Howe. 265p $2 Farrar

43-13045

Episodes in a young girl's first year in college.

Reviewed by Claire Nolte
Library J 68:848 O 15 '43 80w

"Taken one by one Lucy Ellen's escapades are not particularly remarkable or original, but, recounted as breezily as in a conversation over a cherry coke, they add up to a lively

WRIGHT, F. F.—Continued
whole. There are not so many college stories for girls these days, far fewer which catch the up-to-the-minute mood of juke box and college soda fountain as naturally as does this book." E. L. Buell
N Y Times p6 S 19 '43 240w

WRIGHT, FRANK LLOYD. Autobiography. rev ed 561p $4.50 Duell

B or 92 43-51177

"Autobiography of America's outstanding architect has been for some years a classic on the shelves of every well-stocked library in the country. This new, revised edition, containing considerable rewriting in closing chapters, plus some seventy pages of completely new material, will be welcomed by thousands of readers. . . New subjects discussed include form, the depression years, architectural fellowships, and defense." Library J

Reviewed by J. N. North
Book Week p7 Je 6 '43 300w
Booklist 39:431 Je 15 '43
Christian Science Monitor p11 Jl 3 '43 500w

"Added material is woven into text so skilfully that no seams are apparent." Rice Estes
Library J 68:363 My 1 '43 70w

"This is Wright's second autobiography, which puts him one up on Benvenuto Cellini. The new and enlarged addition lacks the typographical distinction of the first: it seems wordier, harder to read because of the overlong type line, and the solid blocks of paragraphs make the many purple passages seem even more aortic. Rereading this work after ten years, I am impressed by the formlessness, the lack of proportion in the whole or its parts, its banality of expression—all the things that are so contrary to the extraordinary expression of form, proportion and delicate, interwoven beauty of statement that make Wright's architecture the greatest of its generation. The first part, dealing with the Lloyd-Jones family and life in Wisconsin, still is the best." H. S. Churchill
— + New Repub 109:84 Jl 19 '43 600w

"Reading this autobiography compels the conclusion that for Wright the practice of architecture is an altogether personal performance, like that of an opera singer, instead of what it is—or, at any rate, ought to be—a concerted team-work inspired and directed by the architect." William Lescaze
N Y Times p14 My 30 '43 1000w

"It is extraordinary that a man whose work is so harmonious, so just, so measured, so serene, and so deeply original should, when he takes up his pen, be so unrestrained, so lopsided, so sentimental, and so ridden with clichés. Yet somehow not even his most humorless pomposity can quite disguise the central magnificence of his professional thought on the subject he knows best. His office buildings and his houses, and the liberating vision of which they are the product, will stand when his crotchets have long been forgotten." Clifton Fadiman
+ — New Yorker 19:70 My 22 '43 360w

Reviewed by Catherine Bauer
Survey G 32:461 N '43 600w
Wis Lib Bul 39:107 Jl '43

WRIGHT, GORDON. Raymond Poincaré and the French presidency. (Hoover lib. on war, revolution, and peace. Publication) 271p $3.50 Stanford univ. press

944.08 Poincaré, Raymond. France—Politics and government 42-50136

"A scholarly history of Poincaré's attempt to exert an active influence on French policy while President of the Republic from 1913 to 1920." (Foreign Affairs) Bibliography. Index.

Reviewed by J. G. Heinberg
Am Pol Sci R 37:533 Je '43 550w

"This monograph is well written and ably documented, and represents an enormous amount of work. Its conclusions do not greatly alter the picture that has already been drawn, but by confirming the impressions of earlier studies, and by giving another insight into the problems of French government immediately before and during the war of 1914-18, the study is a valuable contribution. Lest the author should feel that his was a thankless labor of love, let it be said that students of French history will appreciate what he has done." J. B. Wolf
+ Ann Am Acad 228:138 Jl '43 470w

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert
Foreign Affairs 21:583 Ap '43 20w

Reviewed by E. M. Sait
Pol Sci Q 58:449 S '43 650w

WRIGHT, LOUIS BOOKER. Religion and empire; the alliance between piety and commerce in English expansion, 1558-1625. 190p $2 Univ. of N.C. press

266 Missionaries. Great Britain—Colonies 43-9212

"Deals with the connection between religion and commerce in England during the late Tudor and early Stuart periods. Displaying a thorough knowledge of the writings of Richard Hakluyt, Samuel Purchas, and many lesser figures, the author shows with an abundance of factual detail how closely allied were the interests of English preachers and merchants at a time when the air was full of plans and rumors concerning the role of Britain in the world." Ann Am Acad

Reviewed by E. B. Greene
Am Hist R 49:146 O '43 400w

"The most recent book by Louis B. Wright is another valuable contribution to the literature of the social history of Christianity and the history of commerce. . . One sometimes looks in vain for documentary evidence in the notes, which are sparse. A question might be raised over the wisdom of organizing the material under a succession of individuals passing before the eyes of the reader in colorful parade. No one can doubt, however, that here is a solid contribution to the worldly adventures of the Christian Church and the ecclesiastical destiny of English commerce. In spite of an occasional lapse into seventeenth-century archaism, the author's style is admirable." F. A. Norwood
+ — Ann Am Acad 229:201 S '43 380w

Reviewed by D. J. McDougall
Canadian Hist R 24:302 S '43 750w

Reviewed by W. E. Garrison
Christian Century 60:1167 O 13 '43 330w

"Dr. Wright's painstaking study of the sermons of the period, the literature most widely read by far, is useful and sometimes delightful. . . It is to be regretted that Dr. Wright has tried to tag the study with a doubtful moral. He rightly pointed out that a nation cannot function effectively unless it believes in itself as the utter servant of something. The drive of the English colonists was due to their conviction that in all they did they served a Protestant Jehovah. We can no longer believe in such a God. But let us not despair; we can secure our fire by becoming the passionate and self-surrendering servants of 'democratic institutions.' With this bathetic remark, the author ends what is otherwise a scholarly study." B. I. Bell
+ — Commonweal 38:279 Jl 2 '43 600w

Reviewed by Curtis Nettels
New Eng Q 16:663 D '43 950w

WRIGHT, MARTHA ELLEN. Angel without wings. 215p $2 Doubleday

43-11461

Romance of a pretty little American nurse and a wounded American aviator, who had been flying for the R.A.F. They first met in an English hospital. Later, when Kerry was reduced to almost helpless invalidism, they met again at his beautiful Maryland home. The story is of Elizabeth's valiant struggle to save the body and mind of the man she loved.

"It is all quite up to the minute, and told in a readable, pleasant style." Charlotte Dean
+ N Y Times p16 Jl 18 '43 200w

Reviewed by Lisle Bell
Weekly Book Review p16 Je 20 '43 200w

WRIGHT, QUINCY. Study of war. 2v 678; 681-1552p maps $15 Univ. of Chicago press

355 War. Military art and science 42-21867

For descriptive note see Annual for 1942.

Reviewed by S. E. Harris
Am Econ R 33:417 Je '43 2550w

"The book is likely to prove quite indispensable to students of war for some considerable time to come; but it is not the kind of book which the non-specialist layman would find useful for reading straight through, beginning at the beginning and ending at the end. Such a method, applied to this book, would probably lead to the same sort of confusion of mind which would result from an attempt to read through the Encyclopedia Britannica from A to Z." Norman Angell
+ Am Hist R 48:532 Ap '43 600w

"The massiveness and Teutonic thoroughness of Mr. Wright's work are impressive testimony to his assiduity and erudition, although not, it must be said, to his powers of organization, selection, and criticism. . . He has written a huge treatise, the outlines of which are not always clear." E. M. Earle
Am Pol Sci R 37:150 F '43 1550w

"The book has many merits, of which its originality seems to the reviewer to take first place. Wright does not think in stereotypes, and possesses the power to perceive facts in novel configurations. He deals with such dogmatisms as that of economic determinism in admirable fashion, not by polemics, but by attacking his problems afresh, as if these dogmatisms did not exist." Willard Waller
+ Am Soc R 8:479 Ag '43 750w

"As a work of reference to which to go to discover whence wars have come and how they have been fought and to what ends, I know nothing in its class. Provided that by furnishing too exact a knowledge of the dismal history of the past it does not destroy all hope and effort for the future, it should remain for years one of the half-dozen cornerstone books in every department of political science and international affairs in every college and library in the land." Paul Hutchinson
+ — Christian Century 60:263 Mr 3 '43 1050w

Commonweal 37:620 Ap 9 '43 10w

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert
Foreign Affairs 21:364 Ja '43 70w

"Professor Quincy Wright of the University of Chicago has unquestionably won for himself the position of the foremost living student of war as an institution. Indeed, no other writer, past or present has produced so sweeping and comprehensive a study of the history, causes, nature, and control of war. The book under review is the mature and well-digested outcome of more than a decade and a half of cooperative research and writing." H. E. Barnes
+ Harvard Law R 56:847 Mr '43 1350w

"This is a mountainous work: if ever a book deserved to be called 'monumental' both because of its physical properties and because of the weighty and judicious quality of its conclusions, that is it. The book is a product of cooperative scholarship over a period of years at the University of Chicago: and the results of that scholarship are now synthesized by Professor Wright, who has a talent for synthesis. I shall not say that I have read every paragraph of it, down to the last footnote of the last table of the last appendix. But I have spent more time reading it than I have spent on any book since I read Carl Sandburg's four volumes on Lincoln's war years. I like the sheer scope and ambition of the job: in an era of specialization and of petty aims there is something healthy about undertaking and carrying through so huge a project." Max Lerner
+ Library Q 13:155 Ap '43 2600w

Reviewed by T. H. Thomas
Pol Sci Q 58:422 S '43 1750w

"It would be difficult to imagine a series of studies more timely and important than Professor Quincy Wright's A Study of War, which has recently appeared. Such an epochal study would lead the reader and the student to expect a great contribution in at least three areas of interest." H. W. Odum
+ Social Forces 21:472 My '43 1150w

WRIGHT, RICHARDSON LITTLE. Bed-book of eating and drinking. 320p il $2.50 Lippincott

641.01 Gastronomy 43-8154

Brief essays and short paragraphs grouped under the days and months of the year, dealing with a variety of phases of the love of eating and drinking: anecdotes of famous gourmets and cooks; recipes; historical tidbits; comments on manners and customs. Index.

"I testify that the book is well named, for a fair trial proved it an admirable more or less adult equivalent for the bedtime story." J. F. Frederick
+ Book Week p4 My 23 '43 300w

"Next to your ration book, this pleasant volume could easily do more than any three others to influence your eating for the duration. Not simply because it presents stimulating suggestions on what to do with beets, parsnips or a pound of stewing beef, timely though they may be. But because it likewise presents, quite amiably, quite unobtrusively, a philosophy of food for the duration." M. G. Ellsworth
+ N Y Times p6 Je 20 '43 470w

"I have put Richardson Wright's book by my bedside to enjoy when I get hungry late in the night, and there should be copies in the guest room and on the kitchen bookshelf. I will give it away to week-end hostesses and to people I love. I will also make sure that all the brides I know, even war brides who will not have kitchens of their own for some time, will get it. For even if they do not cook, this is much more than a cook book. It is concerned not only with 'the elegant extras of life' but with all those things which make life beautiful and something more than a mere routine. It is a way of life, and one in the very best tradition of living." Leo Lerman
+ Weekly Book Review p2 Jl 18 '43 550w

WRIGHT, RICHARDSON LITTLE, ed. See House and garden (periodical). Complete guide to interior decoration

WRIGHT, ROBERT HAMILTON. Manual of laboratory glass-blowing. 90p il $2.50 Chemical pub. co.

542.2315 Glass blowing and working 43-9693

"Writing from his own experience, the author explains the technique of blowing special apparatus required in a physical or chemical laboratory. Following a short account of the properties of glass, he describes his equipment of gas burner and blowing tubes; outlines the fundamental steps in joining and bending operations; and then takes up the more complicated and advanced work of fashioning bulbs, condensers, thermometer wells, manometers, and vacuum jackets." N Y New Tech Bks

Library J 68:576 Jl '43 20w
N Y New Tech Bks 28:45 Jl '43

WRISTON, HENRY MERRITT. Challenge to freedom. 240p $2 Harper

330.973 U.S.—Economic policy. Industry and state. U.S.—Politics and government—20th century 43-10989

"This book is by the author of 'Prepare for Peace!' which was published in 1941. It is a sequel to that volume and describes the kind of domestic government the author believes to be consistent with peace. Dr. Wriston's

WRISTON, H. M.—Continued
attitude toward the problems of these times is well summed up in his statement: 'We can set it down as a general rule that if a policy is based upon doubts of the capacity of the citizenry to understand and control it, its operation is likely to prevent that practical education in public affairs on the part of the citizens by which alone democracy can survive.' " Christian Science Monitor

"Henry W. Wriston is not pessimistic. He believes the tide can be turned. He believes that the monstrous conception of the 'state' as an end in itself can be expelled from the minds of men. He is perhaps too glib in his denunciation of paternalism in government, too superficial in his study of international economics. And many will believe that he is too hopeful about big business cleaning its own Augean stable. But Wriston is morally and historically correct." Sterling North
+ — Book Week p3 Ag 8 '43 360w
Booklist 40:4 S '43
Christian Science Monitor p12 Jl 31 '43 550w
Reviewed by W. F. Sands
Commonweal 38:591 O 1 '43 1050w

"Challenging and at the same time reassuring. Recommended." Margaret Owen
+ Library J 68:572 Jl '43 110w

"As a preelection-year tract, 'Challenge to Freedom' may be forgiven many of its unsupported generalizations and even a few misinterpretations of fact. Unfortunately, there are many indications that the author considers himself an honest crusader for freedom rather than a political pamphleteer. If he is writing soberly as the president of Brown University, his distortions of history are really disturbing." C. E. Noyes
— Nation 157:358 S 25 '43 750w

"Dr. Wriston writes with facility. That his book will convert any but the converted is doubtful." John McCormac
— + N Y Times p12 Ag 22 '43 420w

"The best statement of the 'middle way' viewpoint which has appeared in a long time." Marshall Bragdon
+ Springf'd Republican p6 Ag 14 '43 900w
Reviewed by C. N. Stabler
Weekly Book Review p12 O 10 '43 1050w
Wis Lib Bul 39:120 O '43

WRITERS' PROGRAM, MONTANA. Copper camp; stories of the world's greatest mining town, Butte, Montana; sponsored by the Montana State dept. of agriculture, labor and industry, Albert H. Kruse, commissioner. 308p il $2.75 Hastings house
978.6 Butte, Montana 43-12488

"Detailed story of Butte, Montana, from the moment gold was discovered on Butte Hill in 1864 down to present. Thrillingly portrayed are vicissitudes, triumphs, and sorrows of this most famous 'copper camp,' through gold and silver periods to copper era, the ore that made Butte the greatest mining region on earth. Wealth of information has been gathered by the W.P.A., gleaned from historical and mining records and talks with old-timers." (Library J) Chronology. Index.

" 'Copper Camp' is a result of the labors of members of the Writers' Project of Montana, and like all the excellent American Guide series, utilizes a wealth of detailed information inaccessible to individuals or organizations. There is enough material here for dozens of novels, several epic poems, travel books, sociological treatments by the score. There's even a section on Copper Camp cookery. Yet all of it is as racy and readable as a popular work of fiction." Jack Conroy
+ Book Week p2 S 5 '43 600w
Booklist 40:45 O 1 '43

"Important volume for libraries making collection of Americana." L. R. Etzkorn
+ Library J 68:571 Jl '43 80w

"A volume that no student of Americana (Western division) can think of missing and that should appeal no less to the general reader. Since there is much more of the past than the present in it, he may wonder what Butte is like today. The chances are that essentially it hasn't changed much. When you finish 'Copper Camp' you will understand why. You will understand also the peculiar, fierce devotion of Butte's people, resident and expatriate, to a city that, for better or worse, cannot have known a dull day in all its fevered history." John Hutchens
+ N Y Times p5 S 5 '43 1000w
Reviewed by E. L. Sabin
Sat R of Lit 26:49 O 16 '43 380w
Time 42:98 O 4 '43 650w

"The book under review is a loving yet wholly realistic job. . . Butte gets its biography done in proper style, and it makes a grim, gay, rambunctious and uninhibited story. The compilers realized that Butte was known to the outside world chiefly for the wars of its copper kings, but that little had been written of the life and times of its great mass of common citizens." Stewart Holbrook
+ Weekly Book Review p2 S 12 '43 1200w

WRITERS' PROGRAM, PENNSYLVANIA. Lumber [written by Irving Shappin; ed. by Katharine Britton]. 48p il 50c Whitman, A.
634.9 Lumber—Juvenile literature 42-23249

Tells briefly the story of the growth of forest trees, and of lumbering and lumberjacks. Includes an account of forest conservation, and of the giant redwoods of the Pacific coast.

Reviewed by E. T. Dobbins
Library J 67:1014 N 15 '42 30w
Springf'd Republican p7e F 14 '43 40w

WRITERS' PROGRAM, PENNSYLVANIA. Orchards in all seasons [written by Maena Sussanne; ed. by Katharine Britton]. 44p il 50c Whitman, A.
634 Fruit culture—Juvenile literature 42-23004

Brief study of the growth of fruit trees, the development of blossoms and fruit, and the peculiarities of different kinds of fruit trees.

Reviewed by E. T. Dobbins
Library J 67:1014 N 15 '42 30w
Springf'd Republican p7e F 14 '43 40w

WRITERS' PROGRAM, PENNSYLVANIA. Pigeons [written by Maena Sussanne; ed. by Katharine Britton]. 47p il 50c Whitman, A.
598.2 Pigeons—Juvenile literature 42-23003

Simple description of the pigeon, its habits, home life, and the birth and growth of its young. The main part of the book is devoted to the story of homing pigeons and their use to man in peace and war.

Reviewed by E. T. Dobbins
Library J 67:1014 N 15 '42 30w
Springf'd Republican p7e F 14 '43 40w

WU CH'ENG-EN (supposed author). Monkey; tr. from the Chinese by Arthur Waley. 306p $2.75 Day [12s 6d Allen, G]
895.13 Hsüan-tsang—Fiction 43-4124

Widely read folk novel of China. Follows the adventures of a superhuman, mythical creature, "Monkey," who accompanied Tripitaka (Hsüan-tsang) on a mission to India to procure the teachings of Buddha for the Chinese.

"Arthur Waley's translation of 'Monkey' is smooth, idiomatic, and easy to follow. Most of us owe whatever enjoyment of Chinese poetry we may have had to Waley's translations, and the present book is fully up to his earlier standard. But—possibly because I'm an unenthusiastic reader of folk stories in general—I quickly got enough of Monkey's triumphs over sundry monsters and even of his war with Heaven, and kept reading with some difficulty." J. T. Frederick

Book Week p4 My 16 '43 350w

Booklist 39:333 Ap 15 '43

"This popular folk tale is humorous, discursive and imaginative; it indicates what the Chinese like." Edward Skillin, Jr.
+ Commonweal 38:18 Ap 23 '43 280w

Reviewed by K. T. Willis
+ Library J 68:249 Mr 15 '43 110w

"Some of the adventures are rather long drawn out and there is rather too much of the fabulous, perhaps, for modern taste. But the whole is told with immense gusto, and quite apart from its deeper meaning and wise proverbial sayings it is full of laughable entertainment." H. I'A. F.
+ Manchester Guardian p3 Ag 26 '42 230w

"There is nothing quite like 'Monkey' in Western literature. Imagine a combination of picaresque novel, fairy tale, fabliau, Mickey Mouse, Davy Crockett, and 'Pilgrim's Progress'; and then imagine, if you can, all these elements welded into an artistic whole so that no matter how fantastic the adventure or how enigmatic the allegory, the characterization and meaning remain always human and realistic." H. P. Lazarus
+ Nation 156:492 Ap 3 '43 650w

Reviewed by G. W. Stonier
New Statesman & Nation 24:127 Ag 22 '42 1750w

"Mr. Waley has done a remarkable job with his translation. He has even brought the fantastic proper names of persons and places to Western readers with the same musical cadence that we find in the Chinese text." Helena Kuo
+ N Y Times p6 Mr 14 '43 1400w

+ New Yorker 19:71 Mr 27 '43 50w

"As far as I can judge, Mr. Arthur Waley has done his work of selection and translation supremely well. This is not everybody's book, but those who like it will like it immensely." W. J. Turner
+ Spec 169:109 Jl 31 '42 850w

Reviewed by E. H. Carlson
Springf'd Republican p7e Jl 11 '43 600w

"The irreverent spirit and the exuberant vitality of its portraiture keep the story from stalling, for all the repetition in it, and make it an entertainment to which Mr. Waley's witty translation has obviously contributed not a little."
+ Times [London] Lit Sup p389 Ag 8 '42 600w

Reviewed by Rodney Gilbert
Weekly Book Review p5 Mr 28 '43 1700w

WULFF, LEE. Sports photography; il. by the author except where otherwise noted. 184p $2.50 Barnes, A.S.

778 Photography. Sports 42-23487

"This special addition to the shelf for amateur photographers covers hunting and fishing and the various outdoor sports and organized games, and deals with all the problems of taking outdoor photographs of objects in action. Has a chapter on color photography; is well illustrated." (Wis Lib Bul) Index.

Booklist 39:180 Ja 1 '43
Wis Lib Bul 39:26 F '43

WYLIE, ELINOR (HOYT). Last poems of Elinor Wylie. 109p $2.75 Knopf

811 43-3734

Collection of poems by the gifted American poet, who died in 1928. Many of these lyrics were transcribed from manuscript. Contains a foreword by her husband, William Rose Benét, and a memoir by the English writer, Edith Olivier. Index of first lines.

"This volume adds nothing to our view of the range and nature of Elinor Wylie's poetry, but it contains much characteristic verse that is both interesting and good." D. D.
+ Book Week p6 My 16 '43 850w

Booklist 39:329 Ap 15 '43

"Though there is perhaps nothing here that adds much to Elinor Wylie's reputation, there are things which, had some new poet written them, would have made a reputation. In any event we get many valuable glimpses of Elinor Wylie's method of work and a further insight into the nature of her gifts." Theodore Maynard
+ Cath World 157:216 My '43 650w

"Those who have almost forgotten Elinor Wylie's way of writing will, on reading this new book, realize again the magic of her pen. Her lines lose nothing with the passing of time. After much rushed and careless writing which conditions seem to have forced out of many of our contemporaries, it is satisfying to feed on sheer poetry, simple in form yet subtle." Pearl Strachan
+ Christian Science Monitor p12 Mr 27 '43 500w

Reviewed by Rolfe Humphries
Nation 156:493 Ap 3 '43 1100w

"There is no single lyric in this posthumous volume that is equal to the finest pages in the 'Collected Poems,' but there is nothing here that does not bear the stamp of that fastidious acute and exquisite poet who was Elinor Wylie." Babette Deutsch
+ New Repub 108:604 My 3 '43 750w

"This last volume of Elinor Wylie's poems will have many facets of interest for her following. . . 'Last Poems' is only partly her latest written poems: the title means last in a series of her books. As her husband, William Rose Benét, suggests it does not contain her best work, but the poems will be all of interest to her readers. Many of them are more in the nature of studies for her important poems than they are achieved works; many of them are imitations of what she did before." M. M. Colum
+ — N Y Times p20 Mr 14 '43 850w

New Yorker 19:71 Mr 20 '43 50w

"Although least American, in the sense that she drew almost nothing from the American scene, past or present, Elinor Wylie is generally ranked as our most distinguished woman poet of the twenties. From that reputation the Last Poems will not detract. None among them burns with the 'hard, gem-like flame' that has placed a few of her lyrics with the finest in our literature. None show quite that consummate mastery of the functional color, sound, form and texture of words which was perhaps her greatest gift. But they do have that subtly magnified clarity, as of light shining through water; and that precocious innocence and wit set sharply against ironic disillusion characteristic of her writing in general." Ruth Lechlitner
+ Poetry 62:164 Je '43 850w

Springf'd Republican p7e Ap 4 '43 440w

Reviewed by Isabel Paterson
Weekly Book Review p5 My 16 '43 700w

"The compilation is a tribute to the transcriber's industry and an 'item' for the collector, but it scarcely enhances the poet's reputation. Little in this volume attains the general standard of Elinor Wylie's verse, nothing in it achieves the tone and texture of her best. Some of it is decidedly inferior, some of it sounds like self-parody." Louis Untermeyer
Yale R n s 33:351 winter '44 140w

WYLIE, IDA ALEXA ROSS. Flight to England. 192p $1.75 Random house

940.534 World war, 1939—Great Britain 43-51071

The author was born in Australia, brought up in England, and has lived for many years in the United States. In the summer of 1942 she went to England, expecting to disown it. Instead, she found in the country of her ancestors a faith and a people to be proud of, and in this book she has written an account of her trip, and a testament of her faith.

WYLIE, I. A. R.—Continued

"In spite of [some] one-way discussions, the book as a whole is a fine picture of what it is like to be at war with the enemy only a few hours away by air." Josephine Herbst
+ — Book Week p3 Mr 21 '43 900w
Booklist 39:318 Ap 1 '43

"It is amazing how much thoroughly good writing can go into a purely ephemeral piece of work such as this, when the habit of good writing has become deeply ingrained, as it has with Miss Wylie."
+ Christian Century 60:268 Mr 3 '43 70w
Christian Science Monitor p14 Mr 13 '43 310w

"There is humor in this narrative, which is not just another reporter's account of tour of inspection. Slightly reminiscent background will dramatize book, especially for those who have traveled in England." J. M. Flexner
+ Library J 68:210 Mr 1 '43 140w

Reviewed by Craig Thompson
N Y Times p7 Mr 14 '43 1000w

"Miss Wylie, born in Australia, long resident in the United States, loves England, and her serene and thoughtful picture of it will cure many a case of Anglophobia and add fresh understanding for England to our sometimes hazy notions about our allies." Alden Stevens
+ Survey G 32:140 Ap '43 600w

Reviewed by Diana Forbes-Robertson
Weekly Book Review p6 Mr 14 '43 450w

WYLIE, MAX, ed. Best broadcasts of 1940-41. (V3) (Whittlesey house publications) 344p $3 McGraw

791.4 Radio broadcasting. Radio plays (40-27024)

The third annual selection of scripts of broadcasts, this time for 1940-1941. Partial contents: Radio address to the Nation, Dec. 9, 1941, by Franklin D. Roosevelt; Speech before the joint session of Congress, Dec. 26, 1941, by Winston Churchill; "We hold these truths," by Norman Corwin and the Office of facts and figures; "An American Crusader," by R. E. Sherwood; Raymond Gram Swing; Fred Allen; Fibber McGee and Molly; The Quiz Kids; Jack Benny; Edward R. Murrow; Justice rides the range.

Booklist 39:180 Ja 1 '43

"Devotees of Bob Hope won't like their favorite's omission, and probably, indeed, no habitual listener will be entirely satisfied with Mr. Wylie's selections. In this reviewer's opinion, the Rudy Vallee script, with its melancholy spectacle of the late John Barrymore as a slightly shopworn buffon, might better have been shelved in favor of, say, a play from last year's excellent series, '26 by Corwin.' And Mr. Wylie might have included more news broadcasts. . . Nevertheless, in culling a reasonably non-controversial list of 'bests' from the thousands of scripts, the overwhelming torrent of words, that go into a year of radio, Mr. Wylie has accomplished no mean feat." Richard Match
+ — Books p12 D 27 '42 650w

"The first Best Broadcasts was a satisfying and informing book, the latest—with the inclusion of all the commercials—is terrifying. It is bad enough to have soaps and floor polishes flung at our ears in the middle of some news, or even some entertainment of quality, without having them flung at us again between the covers of a book. Perhaps the advertising agents or their clients own the copyrights to these broadcasts and they cannot be presented without the advertising sandwiches; but that is only a sound reason for not printing them."
— Theatre Arts 27:131 F '43 250w

WYLIE, PHILIP. Corpses at Indian Stones. 282p $2 Farrar
43-2518

Detective story.

"A tangled plot with motives and suspects galore, all handled with expert skill." Isaac Anderson
+ N Y Times p7 F 28 '43 80w

"Smoothly written and craftily constructed yarn of double death and missing treasure, with pleasant characters and adequate thrills. According to Hoyle."
+ Sat R of Lit 26:16 F 27 '43 40w

"Aunt Sarah and Aggie are fine folks to meet and the whole story should serve nobly as a smooth and exciting riddle." Will Cuppy
+ Weekly Book Review p18 F 21 '43 200w

X

X, FLYING OFFICER, pseud. See Bates, H. E.

Y

YASHIMA, TARO. The new sun. 310p il $2.75 Holt

B or 92 Caricatures and cartoons. Prisons —Japan 43-15402

Autobiography of an anti-fascist Japanese artist, told in cartoons with short captions. He describes particularly some of his jail experiences, for he and his wife were imprisoned for their share in the underground movement. Eventually the Yashimas escaped to America.

"This book is principally important not for its beauty (which is questionable) nor for its political message (which is not entirely lucid) but as surprising proof that a Japanese underground movement does exist, feeble though it may be." Sterling North
+ Book Week p2 N 7 '43 270w
Booklist 40:192 F 1 '44

"A simple and moving document. . . It is particularly in his account of this jail experience, of its anguish and degradation and the indomitable courage and comradeship of the underground fellowship, that the artist's talent achieves its best dimensions. The black and whites tell the story with an economy and eloquence that might readily have turned into melodrama in an idiom less personal and stenographic than Mr. Yashima's own." Christopher Lazare
+ N Y Times p6 N 21 '43 500w

Reviewed by Iris Barry
Weekly Book Review p2 N 21 '43 450w

YATES, ELIZABETH (MRS WILLIAM McGREAL). Mountain born; il. by Nora S. Unwin. 118p $2.50 Coward-McCann
43-15842

Story of a little shepherd lad, and the lamb which he raised from a cosset, to become the leader of the flock.

Booklist 40:118 D 1 '43

"This book would read aloud well in the family circle, or the eight-year-olds, and up, may enjoy it alone. The illustrations, by Nora Unwin, strong yet simple black and white drawings, are in perfect keeping with the text." F. C. Darling
+ Christian Science Monitor p10 Ja 31 '44 100w

Reviewed by A. M. Jordan
Horn Bk 20:42 Ja '44 70w

"Excellent to read aloud to grades four, five and six. Recommended." B. W. Bell
+ Library J 68:894 N 1 '43 110w

Reviewed by Lena Barksdale
Nation 157:592 N 20 '43 10w

YATES, ELIZABETH (MRS WILLIAM MCGREAL). Patterns on the wall. 241p il $2 Knopf 43-978

New England in the early years of the nineteenth century is the scene of this novel for young readers. It is the story of Jared Austin, at first apprentice to a journeyman painter, and then painter on his own. The climax comes in the cold summer of 1816.

Booklist 39:321 Ap 1 '43

Reviewed by F. B. Sloan
Christian Science Monitor p10 My 27 '43 220w

Cleveland Open Shelf p16 Ag '43

Reviewed by A. M. Jordan
Horn Bk 19:104 Mr '43 100w

Reviewed by A. C. Moore
Horn Bk 19:115 Mr '43 40w

"Its delicacy and charm will intrigue older girls who like a gentle love story." Gertrude Andrus
+ Library J 68:251 Mr 15 '43 70w

"It is an unusual theme which Mrs. Yates has chosen for this novel, and around it she has woven some vivid scenes of New England life and of that heart-breaking year. Yet in spite of her whole-hearted admiration for those early craftsmen she has scarcely rendered them the service she wished to do, for artists are seldom sentimental about their work and Mrs. Yates is sentimental and strained in her effort to recapture the quality and significance of their painting. Jared is an admirable figure and his life was an interesting one, but I doubt if many young people will really warm to him—he is, in fact, too noble." E. L. Buell
+ — N Y Times p9 Je 13 '43 320w

"The book is a novel of distinctive quality for high-school age and one which is honest in reporting some of the superstitions and hardships of the American past."
+ New Yorker 19:69 My 29 '43 90w

Reviewed by A. M. Jordan
Sat R of Lit 26:40 Je 19 '43 120w

Reviewed by M. L. Becker
Weekly Book Review p8 My 23 '43 450w

Wis Lib Bul 39:88 Je '43

YATES, KYLE MONROE. Preaching from the prophets. 225p $2 Broadman; Harper

224 Bible. Old Testament—Prophetical books. Prophets 42-51220

Studies of the prophets of the Old Testament, presented in chronological order, beginning with Moses and ending with Malachi, omitting only Elisha. In each case the author presents the historical background, tells the story of the man, analyzes the Biblical material, and discusses the prophet's importance. Index of names and places. Index of scripture references.

"If a young preacher could afford only one book on the prophets, I think this should be the one purchased. Mature preachers, too, will find their minds stimulated as they go over familiar ground with Dr. Yates to point out things they have missed on previous journeys. When a new edition is prepared, it would be a good thing to have a bibliography listing the books quoted." Neil Crawford
+ Christian Century 60:264 Mr 3 '43 600w

"Either Dr. Yates is a very conservative scholar or he has written this book with conservative preachers in mind. The Biblical criticism underlying the excellent preaching suggestions is cautious in the extreme. . . The significance of this book is its reminder that there are great preaching values in the Old Testament, and many fine texts are suggested as starting points." R. C. Miller
Churchman 157:15 Mr 1 '43 120w

Reviewed by J. B. Pritchard
— Crozer Q 20:162 Ap '43 550w

Reviewed by W. A. Irwin
J Religion 23:228 Jl '43 50w

"The author is thoroughly orthodox in his general viewpoint but knows the principles of Biblical criticism. He is particularly able in his accurate presentation of historical backgrounds. The chapters vary in merit. Isaiah is exceptionally fine; Jonah and Habakkuk not so good."
+ — Weekly Book Review p29 Mr 7 '43 180w

Wis Lib Bul 39:37 Mr '43

YATES, PAUL LAMARTINE. See Lamartine Yates, P.

YATES, RAYMOND FRANCIS. A boy and a battery; il. with phot. and drawings by the author. 120p $1.50 Harper

537 Electric batteries—Juvenile literature
42-50055

"[The author] describes the relationship between electricity and magnetism, tells how to construct an electric battery, how to revive, connect and control one; how to make an electric detector; how to make a motor from a cork, a bit of wire and a few pins and needles. In fact, all the fascinating experiments may be [done] with just such simple material—available in every home." (Publisher's note) For grades five to eight.

Booklist 39:206 Ja 15 '43

"Will appeal to boys nine to thirteen who are interested in science. Photographs and drawings by author. Recommended for school and public libraries." E. T. Dobbins
+ Library J 68:84 Ja 15 '43 50w

Wis Lib Bul 39:32 F '43

YATES, RAYMOND FRANCIS. Boys' book of model boats. rev ed 274p pl $2 Appleton-Century

623.8 Ship models 43-12286

"Six new chapters, dealing chiefly with model boats powered by small gasoline engines, have been added to this revised edition." (Booklist) For first edition see Book Review Digest, 1920. Includes a Boys' dictionary of marine terms.

Booklist 40:64 O 15 '43

School & Society 58:176 S 4 '43 40w

YATES, RAYMOND FRANCIS. Fun with your microscope. 150p il $2 Appleton-Century

578 Microscope and microscopy 43-2687

Describes first the construction of the microscope, how to use it, and how to build a water-drop microscope for ten cents. Then describes specimens in the animal and vegetable worlds and how to find them, and how to preserve specimens. Further chapters are on photomicrography, micro-projectors, and something about bacteriology. Junior and senior high schools. Index.

Booklist 39:357 My 1 '43

Bookmark 4:7 My '43

"Excellent book of information for the amateur. . . Good addition to hobby shelf of public or high school libraries." E. T. Dobbins
+ Library J 68:730 S 15 '43 50w

N Y New Tech Bks 28:48 Jl '43

Springf'd Republican p7e Je 13 '43 130w

Wis Lib Bul 39:57 Ap '43

YERKES, ROBERT MEARNS. Chimpanzees; a laboratory colony. 321p il $5 Yale univ. press

599.82 Chimpanzees A43-1766

"Text on animal behaviorism by eminent psychobiologist of Yale. . . Describes chimpanzees of the Private Laboratory, Yale Institute of Psychology, and results of tests and experiments as recorded in more than ten years of work." (Library J) Copiously illustrated with photographs. Bibliography. Index.

Am Soc R 8:624 O '43 30w

YERKES, R. M.—Continued

"The present volume . . . is highly to be recommended. The illustrations are superb, most of them here published for the first time; there is a useful selected bibliography, and a good index." M. F. Ashley Montagu

+ Ann Am Acad 229:233 S '43 270w

"Packed with scientific information and psychological data, this will prove fascinating and valuable to a very specialized group. No attempt to popularize work of psychological experiments. Excellent text that could not be duplicated. Not recommended for general reading." D. F. Lucas

+ Library J 68:210 Mr 1 '43 70w

"Professor Yerkes's book, 'Chimpanzees,' is profoundly interesting and worthy of the long scientific endeavor and conscientious accuracy of thought and statement that characterize this eminent man." Earnest Hooton

+ N Y Times p4 Je 6 '43 950w

"The present volume is written as much for the layman as for a few specialists who need a guidebook for research concerning the anthropoid apes. . . The book abounds with appealing and instructive photographs of chimpanzees and with figures illustrating the apparatus used in experiments. Under Professor Yerkes' clever pen, the animals assume definite personalities, and his conclusion that they are 'psychobiological gold mines' is abundantly substantiated." A. H. Compton and others

+ Scientific Bk Club R 14:1 Je '43 1200w

"This eagerly awaited volume from Professor Yerkes is the most important contribution to comparative psychology that has yet been published. . . It is right to add that Professor Yerkes has drawn largely and usefully on the work of his colleagues and of other observers, and is careful to give full references and to provide a valuable list of the literature."

+ Times [London] Lit Sup p620 D 25 '43 1200w

"The book leaves several lasting impressions. They include satisfaction with the vast number of important facts which have been established through experimentation with chimpanzees, confident expectation of even more significant discoveries to come, and admiration and gratitude for the man who has devoted a major portion of his professional life to making possible both realized and anticipated scientific advancement through the use of the chimpanzee." F. A. Beach

+ Yale R n s 33:366 winter '44 1000w

YOST, EDNA. American women of science. 231p $2 Stokes

925 Women as scientists 43-5012

"A group of short biographical studies on the achievements of scientists, most of whom are now living." (Sat R of Lit) Contents: Ellen H. Richards; Annie Jump Cannon; Alice Hamilton; Florence Rena Sabin; Mary Engle Pennington; Lillian Moller Gilbreth; Libbie Henrietta Hyman; Wanda K. Farr; Hazel K. Stiebeling; Florence B. Seibert; Katharine Burr Blodgett; Margaret Mead.

Booklist 39:367 My 15 '43

Reviewed by A. M. Jordan

Horn Bk 19:178 My '43 70w

Reviewed by Gertrude Andrus

Library J 68:480 Je 1 '43 140w

"Women who would know the best and highest of these achievements of their sex in science and the routes they took to them cannot do better than read this honest, direct and always interesting piece of work." Ida Tarbell

+ N Y Times p7 Je 20 '43 500w

"Stimulating. Informative."

+ Sat R of Lit 26:30 My 15 '43 20w

School & Society 57:364 Mr 27 '43 30w

Springf'd Republican p8 D 2 '43 300w

"Libraries will have as many calls for this from adults as from young folks; women's clubs alone would keep it in circulation, but its immediate value is the highest to girls looking ahead to scan post-war prospects in scientific research. Miss Yost understands her subjects and how to make young people respect their work." M. L. Becker

+ Weekly Book Review p16 My 23 '43 380w

Wis Lib Bul 39:71 My '43

YOUNG, GORDON RAY. Tall in the saddle. 277p $2 Doubleday

43-2934

Western story.

Booklist 39:294 Mr 15 '43

"Packed with lively action, gripping suspense, vivid characterization, crisp dialogue and skillful writing, here is one Western novel among a thousand. Although Gordon Young has published fifteen other Westerns, never before has he written so well." G. W. Harris

+ N Y Times p20 Ap 4 '43 220w

YOUNG, JOHN PARKE. International economy. 714p il $4.50 Ronald

380 Commerce. Finance. Commercial policy. Economic policy 42-25877

"This book is a revision and expansion of Dr. Young's International Trade and Finance [Book Review Digest, 1938], and is designed primarily as a text-book for college courses in international economics." Am Pol Sci R

"The International Economy does not pretend to make any significant original contribution to the study of economics. As a textbook, and also as an introduction to international economics for any intelligent lay reader, it can be given a high recommendation." J. S. deBeers

+ Am Econ R 33:422 Je '43 1500w

"In contrast to many other books written as college texts, Dr. Young's book has the merit of revealing the opinion of the author on controversial economic policies. The author's sound judgment and clarity of expression should do much toward clearing the economic air for many a college undergraduate." C. A. Riches

+ Am Pol Sci R 37:344 Ap '43 750w

Reviewed by John Lindberg

Ann Am Acad 227:168 My '43 410w

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert

Foreign Affairs 21:577 Ap '43 20w

YOUNG, ROLAND ARNOLD. This is Congress. 273p $2.75 Knopf

328.73 U.S. Congress U.S.—Politics and government—20th century 43-267

An examination of the functions of Congress, showing the conflict of power between the legislature and the executive, and suggesting future changes. Contents: What is Congress supposed to do? Who thinks up the laws? Who has power to do what? How do bills ever get passed? The atmosphere of Congress; How does Congress know what's happening? How Congress spends the money; The future of Congress. The author, former secretary of the senate committee on foreign relations, is now an instructor at Harvard. Index.

Booklist 39:219 F 1 '43

Bookmark 4:6 Mr '43

"A thoughtful, well organized volume that could well have been accorded the sub-title, 'What's the matter with Congress and what, if anything, can be done about it?'. . . Mr. Young's book may have some effect in making the public clamor for Congressional simplification." Bert Andrews

+ Books p3 Ja 24 '43 1450w

"What's the matter with Congress? Plenty of Americans could give answers to that question, but not many would be as scholarly and at the same time as realistically constructive as those set forth by Roland Young." M. H.

+ Christian Science Monitor p14 Ja 23 '43 450w

"Mr. Young has added a valuable contribution to the surprisingly small number of serious books on this subject. Without being technical or burdening account with too many details, he brings before the reader, in unbiased and illuminating manner, the very spirit of congress. . . Every librarian will welcome this thorough and readable book." H. H. A. Bernt

+ Library J 68:82 Ja 15 '43 110w

"It may be hoped that Mr. Young's book has a wide circulation on Capitol Hill, because only Congress, convinced of its weaknesses, can find the way to a healthier role in the life of the nation. Mr. Young might well serve as a guide."
+ Nation 156:499 Ap 3 '43 350w

Reviewed by Malcolm Cowley
New Repub 108:214 F 15 '43 1150w

"For many years there has been need for an up-to-date volume on Congress combining liveliness with authority. This need Roland Young . . . has now supplied. His book is short, entertaining, realistic and informative. It could not have appeared at a more opportune moment." Henry Hazlitt
+ N Y Times p1 Ja 24 '43 1750w

Reviewed by Lindsay Rogers
Sat R of Lit 26:3 Mr 13 '43 2500w

Reviewed by Alden Stevens
Survey G 32:100 Mr '43 370w

YOUNG America's aviation annual, 1942-1943; ed. by Frederick P. Graham and Reginald M Cleveland; foreword by Gill Robb Wilson 236p il $2.50 McBride

629.13 Aeronautics—Yearbooks. Aeronautics —Juvenile literature (41-51507)

"The 1942-43 volume of this annual high lights new developments and activities that have sprung out of the war—the meaning of air power, the expansion of the Army air corps, naval aeronautics, military and civil air transport, wartime production, and training. Photographs and brief text. . . No index; there is an error in the table of contents. Older boys and men." (Booklist) For 1940-1941 volume see Book Review Digest, 1941.

Booklist 39:257 F 15 '43

"Boys and air-minded girls will find this a valuable reference book and the pictures will interest anybody." A. M. Jordan
+ Horn Bk 19:106 Mr '43 60w

"Recommended for boys fourteen and over." Dorotha Dawson
+ Library J 68:213 Mr 1 '43 50w

"Informative and stimulating, this is a book not only for the generation which was born with the roar of airplane motors in its ears, but one which should prove helpful to us benighted grown-ups who can never quite catch up with the awe-inspiring knowledge of our youth on this all-important subject." E. L. Buell
+ N Y Times p11 Ja 24 '43 320w
New Yorker 19:72 My 29 '43 10w

YOUNG America's music; ed. by Albert E. Wier. 8v il $38.40 c1939 Scribner
780.8 Music

"The eight volumes are divided into two distinct series; the first four are devoted to vocal music, volumes five to eight to instrumental. Each group is arranged according to difficulty. The contents of the eight volumes are as follows: v.1, Cradle songs, nursery rhymes, musical games; v.2, Songs for little girls and boys, songs of nature and the seasons, of flowers, insects, birds and animals; v.3, Songs of work and play, of patriotism and home, Southern and folk songs, sacred songs and hymns; v.4, Christmas songs and carols, songs from grand and light operas, solo songs and vocal duets; v.5, Piano pieces for little fingers, first and second grades; v.6, Piano pieces in the third grade, and for solo use; v.7, Piano pieces from grand and light opera; v.8, Four-hand pieces for beginners and for recreation, violin pieces with piano accompaniment." Subscription Bks Bul

"These volumes have two outstanding features which librarians will want to consider. First is their attractive and substantial format. The notation is excellent, and will be appreciated especially by those who may want to read the volumes at the piano. . . The other feature concerns the content. While the standard of selection is high, it is also popular. . . Considered as a whole, the set offers a selection from the world's best and most familiar music, adapted and simplified for youthful or amateur musicians. For the advanced or serious student it will be less valuable. Libraries specializing in music will have the scores from which this set is compiled as well as many other arrangements. For homes, and libraries with small music collections, that can afford it, the set is recommended."
+ Subscription Bks Bul 14:31 Jl '43 650w

YUN, TAN, pseud. See Lin, A.

Z

ZANUCK, DARRYL FRANCIS. Tunis expedition; with a foreword by Damon Runyon. 160p il $2 Random House

940.542 World war, 1939—Tunis. World war, 1939—Personal narratives, American 43-51105

Account of American operations in North Africa from November 2 to December 10, 1942, written by the director of the army and navy cameramen who made the documentary film At the Front. Contains official photographs.

"Zanuck, a colonel in the signal Corps . . . was no Hollywood glamour boy sitting on the sidelines. He was in the center of the greatest scenario ever filmed. And he does a superb job of reporting the show." Ernest von Hartz
+ Book Week p3 Ap 18 '43 130w
Booklist 39:331 Ap 15 '43
Cleveland Open Shelf p6 Ap '43

Reviewed by P. T. Hartung
Commonweal 38:207 Je 11 '43 500w

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert
Foreign Affairs 22:159 O '43 20w

Reviewed by Marcus Duffield
Nation 156:638 My 1 '43 360w

"Into his pages, then, he gets a deal of the tension and excitement of the North African invasion, the sound of battle and the smell of death, little portraits of leading figures —Eisenhower, Clark, Giraud—and the sense of a fluid front which has no front line. It is the I-saw-this-with-my-own-eyes technique, emphasized by the use of the diary's present tense. There is in it very little that a careful newspaper reader has not gleaned from the reports of trained correspondents, who have covered the ground quite as well or better, but on its own terms it is an interesting account. What is disappointing about 'Tunis Expedition' is what it does not contain." J. K. Hutchens
— + N Y Times p15 Ap 11 '43 800w

"Vivid eye-witness stuff."
+ New Yorker 19:79 Ap 3 '43 70w

"Damon Runyon calls 'Tunis Expedition' one of the finest pieces of reportorial work that has so far come out of World War II. He could have added that it is undoubtedly one of the most brilliant, dynamic, and fascinating." Raoul Aglion
+ Sat R of Lit 26:10 Ap 24 '43 600w

"The modest little volume, written hastily from field notes and avoiding profundities, is recommended for reading in Washington and elsewhere for those who would like to know just what happens in the transition of a man of forty (a veteran of the A. E. F.!) from Claridge's in London to cowering in a slit trench in Tunisia, gladly sharing its comforting embrace with an ebony and fear-sweating Senegalese. Colonel Zanuck's . . . report gives more insight into what the actual African fight is like than many more pretentious accounts by reporters who can see only grand strategy from foxholes." R. F. Crandell
+ Weekly Book Review p3 Ap 11 '43 700w

ZARA, LOUIS. Against this rock. 632p $2.75 Creative age

Charles V, emperor of the Holy Roman empire—Fiction 43-15007

This novel is "a historical biography of Charles V—King of the Spains, Naples, Sicily, Ruler of the Netherlands and of the New World, Holy Roman Emperor. . . Charles was born in Ghent, in February of the year 1500, son of Philip the Handsome and Joanna, who was later known as Juana la Loco, Joanna the Mad. . . Charles ruled a greater realm than any man from the time of Charlemagne to the time of Napoleon. Deeply religious, a man of justice and conscience and a lover of peace, his life was one long battle: against the schism in the church, against the Valois kings of France, against the German princes, against venal popes in Rome and plotting cliques throughout Europe, and against the Turks and corsairs who were threatening Christendom." Book Week

"Mr. Zara has presented us with 635 pages of rousing historical narrative—for the most part true. And although his novel is conventional, overwritten, and given to sentimentality where its hero is concerned, it makes engaging reading, especially when the actual stuff of memoirs and histories speaks." Edward Weeks
+ — Atlantic 173:123 Ja '44 150w

"These bare facts alone could make the framework for an interesting historical novel, a biography, or a cloak-and-sword romance. It is precisely because he did not stop here, though, that Zara's work is outstanding. Zara saw in Charles the prototype of today's liberal and compromiser." A. C. Spectorsky
+ Book Week p1 S 26 '43 1350w

Booklist 40:115 D 1 '43

Reviewed by N. E. Monroe
Cath World 158:314 D '43 110w

Reviewed by J. E. Tobin
Commonweal 39:210 D 10 '43 750w

"Occasionally too wordy but good reading. Worth buying." Thelma Brackett
+ — Library J 68:669 S 1 '43 80w

"In its basic approach and construction, 'Against This Rock' follows the pattern of most historical novels. Events are recorded chronologically, dramatized in the realistic manner of nineteenth-century murals. Yet, compared with the majority of similar books, Zara's novel is less long-winded, more eloquent. It doesn't leave you with the uncomfortable feeling that the author has merely unburdened himself of loads of material, assiduously collected in libraries." Marianne Hauser
+ N Y Times p6 O 3 '43 700w

"An easy way of doing your homework on sixteenth-century European history."
New Yorker 19:86 O 2 '43 50w

Reviewed by C. D. Abbott
Sat R of Lit 26:22 N 6 '43 550w

School & Society 58:272 O 2 '43 10w

"Mr. Zara's style is rather ceremonious and sometimes a little stilted, but he conceived of the entire biography with a warmth and enthusiasm for his subject which are infectious. That makes his long novel surprisingly short in the reading." William Soskin
+ — Weekly Book Review p12 O 3 '43 550w

ZARCHY, HARRY. Let's make more things; il. by [the author]. 158p $1.75 Knopf

680 Handicraft 43-539

Simple instructions and drawings show how to make useful articles and some toys. The materials are cheap and easily obtainable. Includes doll furniture, weather vanes, hurricane lamps, pipe cleaners, animals, among many others. Index.

Booklist 39:357 My 1 '43

Reviewed by F. B. Sloan
Christian Science Monitor p4 Ag 26 '43 50w

"Not just another handicraft book, but a simple, clever book which gives information through a series of step-by-step pictures by author and a few sentences of text." L. E. Davis
+ Library J 68:250 Mr 15 '43 80w

Reviewed by M. L. Becker
Weekly Book Review p8 Ap 18 '43 320w

Wis Lib Bul 39:56 Ap '43

ZAVALA, SILVIO ARTURO. New viewpoints on the Spanish colonization of America [tr. by Joan Coyne]. 118p $1.25 Univ. of Pa. press

980 Spain—Colonies. Spaniards in America 43-5748

"This small volume contains the translation from Spanish of a number of lectures delivered by Dr. Silvio Zavala, one of the most active of the younger historians of Mexico. They present a sympathetic treatment of the Spanish colonial endeavor. The first four chapters deal with the religious and philosophical theories and the legal precepts which influenced the action of the Spaniards in the New World. . . Four additional chapters treat of the impact of Spanish civilization on native Indian culture, indicating the principles which influenced the conduct and development of the colonial enterprise. . . The last two chapters are entitled 'The Evolution of the Labor System' and 'Spanish Colonization and Social Experiments.' In these, particular attention is given to the origin and development of debt slavery and peonage which have persisted even to recent times." (Ann Am Acad) Bibliographies.

Reviewed by F. D. Rios
Am Pol Sci R 37:760 Ag '43 450w

"The work is a worthy contribution to Mexican historiography, which should be read by those interested in the Spanish colonial period." R. R. Hill
+ Ann Am Acad 228:132 Jl '43 400w

"For its constantly intelligent appraisal of the evolution of the Spanish conquest of America and of colonial economic life, particularly in Mexico, this book can be recommended as a valuable basic contribution." J. A. Magner
+ Commonweal 38:17 Ap 23 '43 1000w

ZEITLIN, SOLOMON. Who crucified Jesus? 240p $2.50 Harper

232.962 Jesus Christ—Crucifixion. Jews—Religion. Christianity and other religions—Judaism 42-24733

In this study a Jewish scholar undertakes to prove that it was not the Jewish nation as a whole or their religious leaders who were to blame for Jesus' execution, but a band of political leaders who conspired with Pontius Pilate to punish a man they considered a political offender. Selective bibliography. Indexes.

"Combined with more detailed studies of Jesus' trial and crucifixion, this book is an answer to the dread accusation against the Jews. The shout, 'Christ killers,' should never be heard again." J. H. Holmes
+ Books p26 D 13 '42 700w

"In the present volume Zeitlin essays a fresh and original contribution in an obscure and crucial area where much competent work has already been invested. . . It may be that Zeitlin is right. One would like to think so. Certainly the hypothesis merits most scrupulous examination. It cannot be affirmed, however, that the evidence adduced by the author in this volume proves his contention. . . Incidentally it must be recorded that Zeitlin's presentation of his case would have been immensely strengthened had he been more up to date in his handling of Gospel-Acts traditions." H. R. Willoughby
+ — Christian Century 60:109 Ja 27 '43 1000w

"The somewhat intricate reasoning leads the author to a conclusion that absolves the Jews from the responsibilities of the crucifixion usually accorded to them. Whether or not one agrees with all the incidental arguments which support this conclusion, it is an exhaustive and well-reasoned argument which will interest every reader who desires to inform himself of the claims made by a learned Jew." A. F. G.

+ Christian Science Monitor p8 Ja 23 '43 500w

"The reviewer recognizes the learning and earnestness of the author and is in such agreement with the main contention that he wishes that it had been more objectively presented." E. W. Parsons
+ — Crozer Q 20:154 Ap '43 1000w

ZELIGS, ROSE. Glimpses into child life; the twelve-year-old at home and school. 442p $3 Morrow

136.7 Child study 42-25687

"Based on information derived from the children themselves, this book is a study of the normal 12-year-old child in the home, the school, and the community, dealing with him as a person whose individuality must be understood." (School & Society) Index.

Booklist 39:193 Ja 15 '43

"In general, Glimpses into Child Life reflects an incomplete understanding and a misapplication of an essentially sound theoretical position. In the Introduction, however, it is justifiably pointed out that very little research material on the twelve-year-old child is available." W. E. Henry
El School J 43:494 Ap '43 650w
School & Society 56:504 N 21 '42 40w

"This book suffers from the author's inclination to lump children by discussing an 'average' child. While it includes some interesting data, the general point of view seems mechanistic. The various questionnaires and checklists may be helpful to parents and teachers who are interested in discovering how their own boys and girls, particularly the twelve-year-olds, feel about various matters." Ruth Andrus
Survey 79:224 Ag '43 80w
Weekly Book Review p15 Ag 8 '43 130w
Wis Lib Bul 39:25 F '43

ZHABOTINSKII, VLADIMIR EVGEN'EVICH. War and the Jew; by Vladimir Jabotinsky; with a foreword by Pierre van Paassen and a conclusion by John Henry Patterson [Eng title: Jewish war front]. 252p $2.50 Dial press [7s 6d Allen, G]

940.5315296 World war, 1939—Jews. Zionism. Jews—Political and social conditions 43-4721

A posthumous book by a Russian Jewish writer who died in 1940. The theme of the work is the necessity for establishing a Jewish state in Palestine after the war, a cause to which the author had devoted a lifetime of writing and study.

Reviewed by W. C. Smith
Am Soc R 8:490 Ag '43 280w

"Jabotinsky measured possibilities by needs, not by potentialities. He saw the tragedy in realistic terms, the remedy in Messianic terms, thus falsifying his gifts and character. But he remained, as this book will everlastingly show, an uncorrupted and devoted son of his people, and a mighty advocate of its rights." Maurice Samuel
+ — Book Week p11 My 16 '43 1100w

"Heroism and pathos mingle in this superb presentation of the case for Zionism. The heroism is the author's own. . . There is moral grandeur in the completeness of his commitment to his cause. The pathos is wholly unintended. It is implicit in the fact that he offers a plan which, he says (and goes far toward proving), is absolutely the only one which will destroy the 'cancer of Jewish distress' and make possible a decent and lasting peace, and that this plan will seem to a vast majority of readers so improbable of realization that, if only it can save us, we are lost. This is not to prejudge the argument or the plan, but only to say that there does not seem to be a chance that it will happen." W. E. Garrison
+ — Christian Century 60:457 Ap 14 '43 1150w

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert
Foreign Affairs 22:165 O '43 60w

ZIEGLER, JESSE H. Broken cup [changing cultures and ethics of the Church of the Brethren]. 190p $2 Elgin

286.5 Church of the Brethren 43-9732

"Sociological study of changing cultural patterns and religious practices in the Church of the Brethren during the last three generations. The author's original data, collected by personal interviews with the youth and their parents and grandparents in a selected community in Maryland, were supplemented by careful study of all available written records." (Christian Century) Issued also as thesis under title: A Socio-psychological Study of a Changing Rural Culture.

"The data gathered revealed no startling facts. We believe that the author, who was well acquainted with the situation before the study, could have made very reliable guesses concerning the changes in religious ideas, family life, recreation, economic practices, etc., without any reference to a schedule." J. M. Yinger
Am Soc R 8:99 F '43 700w

"Exceedingly interesting and technically competent."
+ Christian Century 60:201 F 17 '43 130w

ZIGROSSER, CARL. Artist in America; twenty-four close-ups of contemporary printmakers. 213p pl $5 Knopf

927.6 Engravers, American, Etchers, American. Lithographers 42-25527

For descriptive note see Annual for 1942.

"Biographical, anecdotal, analytical, the text makes fascinating reading as it sheds light on a skillful group of Americans who translate their experiences and observations into the flexible limits of black-and-white." D. A.
+ Christian Science Monitor p12 Ap 3 '43 600w

"One expects something more from Carl Zigrosser, the curator of Prints at the Philadelphia Museum. Not only is he the author of a competent reference-book on prints of the past, but he has, for well over two decades, done much to encourage a revival in the lithograph, the wood-cut and associated mediums. He has been well-disposed towards the contemporary artist and he has warmly advanced many a young struggler in his first steps. Therefore, one approaches his 'Artist in America' with the expectation that these virtues will again be exemplified. Unfortunately, Mr. Zigrosser's good will has got the better of him. For most of his twenty-four artists—all of whom are printmakers—he has only the kind word. And more, too often the extravagant word. . . In seeking to be kind to his friends, Zigrosser has neglected his critical obligations." Jerome Mellquist
— Commonweal 38:14 Ap 23 '43 420w

"The publisher's intention was evidently a book 'for the table'—not for the shelf. And the result, readable, gossipy, well produced, diversified in content and illustration, like Russell Flint's water colors will undoubtedly give pleasure. Still, without grudging, one may regret that Mr. Zigrosser did not adopt a tighter framework for his portraits. Each has its individuality. But unfortunately they seem to have no common link beyond an interest in print-making of one sort or another." J. J. Sweeney
— + Nation 156:531 Ap 10 '43 650w

ZILBOORG, GREGORY. Mind, medicine, and man; with a foreword by Arthur H. Ruggles. 344p $3.50 Harcourt

616.8 Psychology, Pathological 43-6972

"The past fifty years have seen the beginning of medicine's most audacious effort—the attempt to achieve a scientific knowledge of the mind of man. This book, by an eminent psychiatrist, tells us how medicine started on this road of discovery, how much we know now, also how little; and how the knowledge we have can be and cannot be applied to the problems of our individual and collective lives." (Publisher's note) Index.

Reviewed by Iago Galdston
Am J Pub Health 33:1477 D '43 320w

"Out of so much valuable information about man . . . it is impossible to select one or two points and say, 'This is interesting,' and 'This also is good.' I started out to mark the important passages and found that there was almost as much blue pencil as black print in the book when I got through. Everyone should read his account, early in the book, of what psychology is, and what misconceptions, both lay and professional, prevent intelligent discussion. . . Furthermore, all lawyers should read his chapter on the legal aspects of insanity." S. I. Hayakawa
+ Book Week p7 My 9 '43 1300w
Booklist 39:441 Jl 1 '43

Reviewed by T. V. Moore
Cath World 158:100 O '43 900w

"Zilboorg writes with vigor and clarity. He draws upon a rich and varied erudition. He swings his cudgels at prejudice and misunderstanding. He expounds the kernel of psychoanalytic doctrine and applies it explicitly to problems of society, law and religion. He has produced a valuable and readable book. But he fails in some of the attributes of a Huxley." R. W. Gerard
+ — Christian Century 60:1139 O 6 '43 800w

"This is a delightful book to read. Its Russian born author has style in his writing, he writes beautifully and with literary finish. The book is well planned and his thinking is systematic and orderly." H. J. Simpson
+ Churchman 157:16 Je 1 '43 300w

"Lucid presentation, free from excessive scientific terminology, and illuminating treatment of psychological structure of the individual make volume valuable for libraries attempting to meet other than most elementary demands. Dr. Zilboorg's restrained, dispassionate style, his understanding and support of the great contributions of Freud, and the objective manner in which he discusses individual maladjustments make his book particularly valuable for the large majority into whose orbit such problems enter." M. C. Manley
+ Library J 68:363 My 1 '43 100w

Reviewed by Frederic Wertham
New Repub 108:707 My 24 '43 900w

"One need not agree with Dr. Zilboorg's interpretation of Freud's concepts of determinism and free will to feel that he has written a very interesting and informative book well worth reading." A. A. Brill
+ — N Y Times p12 My 16 '43 900w

"A fine, substantial book. . . Dr. Zilboorg is especially good on the history of lay and medical attitudes toward mental disease and its treatment. Well written and in no sense a popularization, but not very difficult, either."
+ New Yorker 19:84 My 8 '43 70w

Reviewed by B. D. Lewin, M. D.
Sat R of Lit 26:15 My 15 '43 600w
Scientific Bk Club R 14:3 Je '43 180w

"An extraordinary, persuasive, and wide-minded exposition of the Freudian contribution through psychoanalysis. From the first page to the last it is intensely interesting and thought provoking." E. R. Groves
+ Social Forces 22:226 D '43 320w

Reviewed by T. M. French
Survey G 32:359 S '43 260w

"Singularly illuminating study on a subject of critical importance to our times. As one of the lay readers to whom it is addressed, I can only echo the injunction in Dr. Arthur H. Ruggles's foreword: 'Those of us who would think straight, act with reasonable social adjustment and feel without pathological manifestation should read this book very carefully and think upon it profoundly.' " Walter Millis
+ Weekly Book Review p6 My 30 '43 1500w
Wis Lib Bul 39:119 O '43

"This is an excellent, well written book, filled with valuable information." W. B. Terhune
+ Yale R n s 33:159 autumn '43 280w

ZIM, HERBERT SPENCER. Air navigation; il with drawings by James MacDonald and with photographs. 324p maps $3 Harcourt

629.1325 Navigation (aeronautics) 43-3911

"This is a scientific treatment of celestial navigation, sufficiently clear and non-technical for the understanding of high school students, as yet untrained in flying. Here they may read about gyroscopic instruments, the use of the radio, the effect of the weather on flight, and how maps and charts are used in laying out a course. Practical advice is also given on the choice of subjects to be studied in high school by a prospective flier." (Horn Bk) Glossary. Bibliography. Index.

Booklist 39:350 My 1 '43

Reviewed by A. M. Jordan
Horn Bk 19:106 Mr '43 70w
Library J 68:212 Mr 1 '43 20w
N Y New Tech Bks 28:14 Ja '43

"Dr. Zim deals with maps, compasses, weather and the flight instruments used in navigation in plain, easily understood language. Technical terms, for it is impossible to abolish them in a study of navigation, are explained in a way that any one able to read can grasp. And, in addition, the subject of the book is as exciting as a novel." F. P. Graham
+ N Y Times p6 Mr 21 '43 500w
New Yorker 19:72 My 29 '43 20w
Sat R of Lit 26:33 Ag 21 '43 50w

"It is written in simple language and designed to be interesting and instructive to the newly airminded. It is doubtful if it could be used successfully as a textbook, except, perhaps, in a junior high school. The instructor would have to teach from his own experience or training as this book is of the type now so prevalent, in that simplicity is emphasized to the extent that it is of little value as a textbook. While the book contains the inherent danger of presenting navigation of the air as something easy of mastery, it will very likely be popular among members of junior aviation clubs." C. C. Trubey
Springf'd Republican p6 F 25 '43 360w

"This book will be a fine one for the high-school student who wants to know these general principles, perhaps as a preparation for future study. But also it will be welcomed by the adult who wants a clear account of the way in which airplanes are enabled to get from here to there by the quickest route." James Stokley
+ Weekly Book Review p22 Je 27 '43 180w
Wis Lib Bul 39:51 Ap '43

ZIM, HERBERT SPENCER. Man in the air; the effects of flying on the human body; il. with drawings by James MacDonald and with photographs. 332p $3 Harcourt

629.13256 Aeronautics—Medical aspects
43-15714

Study of the physiological effects of flying on the human system and the efforts being made now to counteract any ill effects of the strain of flying. Partial contents: The air in which we live; Adjustment to temperature; Respiration and breathing; Oxygen and oxygen masks; Aeroembolism; Pressure suits and pressure cabins; Changes in speed and direction;

Positive and negative acceleration; Eyes to see; Ears to hear; Air sickness; Flying fatigue; Keeping physically fit; Safety in flight; Flying and public health. Bibliography. Index.

" 'Man in the Air' is simply written, and makes interesting and informative reading for anyone wishing to become better acquainted with the human factor in aviation." P. M. Reich
+ Book Week p10 Ja 23 '44 220w
Booklist 40:110 D 1 '43
Reviewed by A. M. Jordan
Horn Bk 20:46 Ja '44 40w

"Mr. Zim's clear and lucid account of the physiological problems of flight and what is being done about them will be a revelation to the layman and a great help to the future pilot." Raymond Holden
+ Sat R of Lit 26:18 N 20 '43 160w

"Fully illustrated with pictures and diagrams and well printed, with unusually good reading type."
+ Wis Lib Bul 39:156 D '43

ZIMMERMAN, OSWALD THEODORE, and LAVINE, IRVIN. Chemical engineering laboratory equipment; design, construction, operation. 530p il $5.50 Industrial research service, Dover, N.H.

660.78 Chemical engineering—Apparatus and supplies 43-6697

"This text is an excellent start towards filling the need for a guide to the construction, operating and testing of chemical engineering laboratory equipment. The authors have drawn on the experience of many schools of chemical engineering who have been forced by circumstances to design and construct their own equipment. . . The prices quoted in the book for equipment are extremely optimistic. . . A college administrator, after summing the costs of these items and arriving thereby at the cost of a new laboratory, would appropriate far too small an amount; and the department would suffer thereby. The experiments are well written and give considerable detail." Chem & Met Eng

Reviewed by P. F. Bruins
Chem & Met Eng 50:221 N '43 300w
Library J 68:576 Jl '43 30w

ZMESKAL, OTTO. Radiographic inspection of metals. 150p il $2.75 Harper

620.1123 Metals—Testing. Radiography—Industrial applications 43-14661

Introductory textbook on X-ray inspection. Includes chapters on: source of radiation; equipment for industrial radiography; fundamentals of radiographic practice; and applications. Copiously illustrated. Glossary of terms. Index.

Booklist 40:110 D 1 '43

"X-ray investigation of structural units has become a powerful tool in modern industry. Consequently, the little guide book by Dr. Zmeskal will be welcomed by a large audience. . . A glossary of terms which is somewhat elementary, selected references and various appendixes conclude the book which no doubt will make many friends."
+ Chem & Met Eng 50:192 D '43 90w
Library J 68:433 My 15 '43 20w
Library J 68:962 N 15 '43 30w

ZOFF, OTTO. They shall inherit the earth; tr. by Anne Garrison; introd. by Dorothy Canfield. 258p il $3 Day

940.53161 World war, 1939—Children. Children—Charities, protection, etc. 43-17243

"From the experience of himself and others in all the countries of Europe, in Russia, China, England and the United States, Mr Zoff has compiled a remarkable record of the reactions of children whose lives have been broken by violence, hunger and insidious propaganda, and what may be expected when these children grow into the responsible direction of the world." Springf'd Republican

Reviewed by P. A. Whitney
Book Week p2 D 26 '43 500w
Booklist 40:181 Ja 15 '44

"Would be more effective if less emotional and better documented. However, a sincere book, including interesting proposal to use youth in postwar relief work." Rudolf Hirsch
+ — Library J 68:845 O 15 '43 50w
New Repub 109:893 D 20 '43 150w
Reviewed by Catherine MacKenzie
N Y Times p5 D 26 '43 550w

"Less a detailed survey than an understanding and compassionate revelation of an almost universal tragedy. Good translation."
+ New Yorker 19:97 D 18 '43 80w
Springf'd Republican p7e S 5 '43 90w
Reviewed by Eleanor Marindin
Springf'd Republican p7e N 28 '43 470w

"This is a most timely book. Its message is all the more authoritative in that it is based on research begun long before the events which now make it so significant. Otto Zoff, a Czech scholar and writer, began his studies twenty years ago, when the Western world, which had seen the Children's Charter approved by the League of Nations, was convinced that the right of the child to food, shelter, and care would be preeminent. This book is a frightful testimony to the failure of these hopes." D. M. Mayer
+ Survey G 33:26 Ja '44 700w

"They Shall Inherit the Earth is written from the relief workers' point of view, with an enthusiastic foreword by Dorothy Canfield Fisher; its greatest lack is the statistics that would give substance to its disconnected case histories and its well-intentioned but sketchy stories of distress among the 100,000,000 children of the Axis-occupied countries."
Time 42:97 D 6 '43 100w
Reviewed by Ernestine Evans
Weekly Book Review p4 Ja 2 '44 600w

ZWEIG, STEFAN. World of yesterday; an autobiography. 455p il $3 Viking

B or 92 Authors—Correspondence, reminiscences, etc. 43-5821

"Autobiography of the refugee German writer who committed suicide in Brazil last year. The author's own experience amid the darkening perspectives of European culture in our time, together with a variety of fresh insights on them." (New Yorker) Bibliography. Index.

Atlantic 171:129 Je '43 100w
Booklist 39:367 My 15 '43
Cath World 157:332 Je '43 220w
Reviewed by Max Fischer
Commonweal 38:174 Je 4 '43 600w

"Highly recommended for public and college libraries." F. E. Hirsch
+ Library J 68:288 Ap 1 '43 110w
Manchester Guardian p3 D 29 '43 200w
Reviewed by Hermann Kesten
Nation 156:711 My 15 '43 1300w

"The very success with which this book evokes both the beauty of the past and the fatality of its passing is what gives it its tragic effectiveness. It is not so much the memoir of a life as it is the memento of an age, and the author seems, in his own phrase, to be the narrator at an illustrated lecture. The illustrations are provided by time, but his choice is brilliant and the narration is evocative." Irwin Edman
+ New Repub 108:600 My 3 '43 1400w

ZWEIG, STEFAN—Continued
Reviewed by J. W. Krutch
N Y Times p2 Ap 18 '43 850w
New Yorker 19:80 Ap 24 '43 50w
Reviewed by Robert Pick
Sat R of Lit 26:7 Ap 24 '43 1050w
Reviewed by Helen Lowe
Springf'd Republican p7e My 2 '43 330w
Times [London] Lit Sup p574 N 27 '43 800w

" 'The World of Yesterday,' like Mr. Zweig's other books, is a glass-encased record of a mind. It is autobiographical only in the sense that it details the author's development as a writer in relation to his times. In no part of the book does he allow the bones and marrow of daily life and personal relations to show through." Virgilia Sapieha
Weekly Book Review p4 Ap 18 '43 1250w
Wis Lib Bul 39:84 Je '43

Subject and Title Index

To Author Entries, March, 1943—February, 1944

Owing to the fact that the Book Review Digest year does not correspond to the calendar year, running instead from March to March, index entries for January and February of each year refer to the volume dated the previous year; i.e., January and February 1944 will be found in the 1943 Annual. These entries are thus indicated in the index: (Ja '43) (1942 Annual); (F '44) (1943 Annual).

Abbey of St Denis, 475-1122. Crosby, S. M. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Abbreviations
Stephenson, H. J., comp. Abbrevs. (O '43)
Abbrevs. Stephenson, H. J., comp. (O '43)
Ability
Testing
Broadley, M. E. Square pegs in square holes. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Wilking, S. V., and Cushman, D. J. Test yourself for a war job. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Abner Jarvis. Person, W. T. (Je '43)
Absorption spectra
Morton, R. A. Application of absorption spectra to the study of vitamins, hormones and coenzymes. (D '43)
Accessory after the fact. Thayer, L. (My '43)
Accidents
Prevention
Blake, R. P., ed. Industrial safety. (N '43)
MacMillan, C. M. Foremanship and safety. (Ap '43)
Warren, G. Traffic courts. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Accidents, Industrial
Blake, R. P., ed. Industrial safety. (N '43)
Accounts receivable financing. Saulnier, R. J., and Jacoby, N. H. (S '43)
Acculturation
Child, I. L. Italian or American? (D '43)
Reed, S. W. Making of modern New Guinea. (O '43)
Vickery, W. E., and Cole, S. G. Intercultural education in American schools. (Ag '43)
Accurate home estimating. Roberts, T. A. and R. A. (Ap '43)
Acoustics of music. Bartholomew, W. T. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Across the board. DeJong, D. C. (Je '43)
Action by night. Haycox, E. (My '43)
Action in the North Atlantic. Gilpatric, G. (Ag '43)
Action this day. Spellman, F. J. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Actors and actresses
Correspondence, reminiscences, etc.
Jessel, G. A. So help me. (Je '43)
Adhesives
Smith, P. I. Synthetic adhesives. (D '43)
Administrative law
Graham, G. A., and Reining, H., eds. Regulatory administration. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Griffith, E. S. Modern government in action. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Pound, R. Administrative law. (O '43)
Admiral Wags. Sherman, F. J. (S '43)
Adolescence
Abel, T. M., and Kinder, E. F. Subnormal adolescent girl. (Ap '43)
Adsorption of gases and vapors, v 1. Brunauer, S. (N '43)
Advanced quantitative analysis. Willard, H. H., and Diehl, H. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Adventure in black and white. Gatti, A. (S '43)
Adventure in blood transfusion. Bernheim, B. M. (Ap '43)
Advertising
Lyon, M. And so to bedlam. (D '43)
Schools
Fine, B. Educational publicity. (Je '43)
Aerial navigation. Lyon, T. C. (S '43)
Aerial photographs. Eardley, A. J. (Ap '43)
Aerial photographs and their applications. Smith, H. T. U. (O '43)
Aerial warfare. Goodwin, H. L. (F '44) (1943 Annual) Aerodynamics
Glauert, H. Elements of aerofoil and airscrew theory. (Ag '43)
Naidich, J. Mathematics of flight. (D '43)
Aerology for pilots. (D '43)
Aeronautics
Chapin, M. K. Why men can fly. (Ap '43)
Downer, A. E. Practical mathematics of aviation. (D '43)
Hall, C. G. How a plane flies. (My '43)
Hamburg, M. C., and Tweney, G. H. American student flyer. (Mr '43)
Hershey, B. Air future. (O '43)
Knapp, E. J. Basic physics for pilots and flight crews. (Ag '43)
Principles of flying. (Je '43))
Robinson, P. H. Aircrews' book of practical mathematics. (Je '43)
Robinson, P. T., and others. Before you fly. (Ap '43)
Stout, W. B., and Reck, F. M. Tomorrow we fly. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Accidents
Bartek, J. F., and Pardue, A. Life out there. (Ag '43)
Rickenbacker, E. V. Seven came through. (Ap '43)
Whittaker, J. C. We thought we heard the angels sing. (My '43)
Bibliography
Columbia university. Teachers college. Aviation education research group. Bibliography of aviation education materials. (Je '43)
Biography
Who's who in aviation. (O '43)
Dictionaries
Baughman, H. E. Aviation dictionary and reference guide. (S '43)
Jordanoff, A. Illustrated aviation dictionary. (Ap '43)
Flights
Saint Exupéry, A. de. Airmen's odyssey. (D '43)
History
Black, A. Story of flying. (S '43)
Bruno, H. A. Wings over America. (Ap '43)
Chapin, M. K. Why men can fly. (Ap '43)
Kelly, F. C. Wright brothers. (Je '43)
Milbank, J. First century of flight in America. (Je '43)
Juvenile literature
Carlisle, N. V., ed. How planes fly. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Conger, E. M. American warplanes. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Rifkin, L. When I grow up, I'll be a flyer. (Ap '43)
Young America's aviation annual, 1942-1943. (My '43)
Medical aspects
Barr, E. O. Flying men and medicine. (Je '43)
Kafka, M. M. Flying health. (S '43)
Zim, H. S. Man in the air. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Aeronautics—Continued

Bibliography

Hoff, E. C., and Fulton, J. F., comps. Bibliography of aviation medicine. (D '43)

Yearbooks

Air news yearbook. (My '43)
Young America's aviation annual, 1942-1943. (My '43)

Aeronautics, Commercial
Burden, W. A. M. Struggle for airways in Latin America. (Ag '43)
Cleveland, R. M. America fledges wings. (Je '43)
Hall, C. G., and Merkle, R. A. Sky's the limit! (D '43)
Hershey, B. Air future. (O '43)
Renner, G. T. Human geography in the air age. (Ap '43)
Stout, W. B., and Reck, F. M. Tomorrow we fly. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Aeronautics, Military
Ayling, K. Combat aviation. (D '43)
Blunt, V. E. R. Use of air power. (S '43)
Caldwell, C. C. Air power and total war. (S '43)
Chandler, C. de F., and Lahm, F. P. How our army grew wings. (S '43)
Cuneo, J. R. Winged Mars, v 1. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Douhet, G. Command of the air. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Drake, F. V. Vertical warfare. (S '43)
Ford, C., and MacBain, A. From the ground up. (Je '43)
Hershey, B. Air future. (O '43)
Hibbits, J. J. Take 'er up alone, Mister! (N '43)
Huie, W. B. Fight for air power. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Levine, I. D. Mitchell: pioneer of air power. (Ap '43)

Juvenile literature

Lent, H. B. Bombardier. (Je '43)

Aeronautics as a profession
Hall, C. G., and Merkle, R. A. Sky's the limit! (D '43)

Aeronautics in literature
Herzberg, M. J., and others. Happy landings. (Ap '43)
Aesthetic experience and the humanities. Shoemaker, F. (S '43)
Affair at Little Wokeham. Eng title of: Double tragedy. Crofts, F. W. (S '43)
Affair at the boat landing. Cunningham, A. B. (Mr '43)
Affair of the fainting butler. Knight, C. (N '43)
Affair of the jade monkey. Knight, C. (My '43)

Afghanistan
Fox, E. F. Travels in Afghanistan. (Je '43)

Africa
Maisel, A. Q. Africa, facts and forecasts. (Je '43)

Description and travel

Gatti, A. Killers all! (S '43)
Gatti, E. M. W. and A. Here is Africa. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Economic conditions

Hinden, R. Plan for Africa. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Native races

De Marco, R. R. Italianization of African natives. (N '43)

Politics

Committee on Africa, the war, and peace aims. Atlantic charter and Africa. (Ap '43)
Crowe, S. E. Berlin West African conference, 1884-1885. (S '43)

Africa, East
Jackson, M. V. European powers and Southeast Africa. (Ap '43)

Africa, French North
Liebesny, H. J. Government of French North Africa. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Africa, North
Brodrick, A. H. North Africa. (Mr '43)

Africa, South. See South Africa

Africa, South Central
James, S. South of the Congo. (Mr '43)
Africa, facts and forecasts. Maisel, A. Q. (Je '43)
Afternoon of a pawnbroker. Fearing, K. (O '43)
Again we dream. Rees, R. F. (Je '43)
Against a darkening sky. Lewis, J. (Mr '43)
Against this rock. Zara, L. (O '43)
Age of enterprise. Cochran, T. C., and Miller, W. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual) Agenda for a postwar world. Condliffe, J. B. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)

Agricultural administration

United States

Schultz, T. W. Redirecting farm policy. (O '43)

Agricultural laws and legislation
McCune, W. Farm bloc. (S '43)
Agricultural survey of Szechwan province, China. Buck, J. L. (N '43)

Agriculture
Duryee, W. B. Farming for security. (My '43)
Moreland, W. S., ed. Practical guide to successful farming. (S '43)

Economic aspects

Barger, H., and Landsberg, H. H. American agriculture, 1899-1939. (O '43)
Gee, W. P. Social economics of agriculture. (Ap '43)
Lamartine Yates, P., and Warriner, D. Food and farming in post-war Europe. (N '43)
Taylor, H. C. and A. D. World trade in agricultural products. (S '43)

China

Buck, J. L. Agricultural survey of Szechwan province, China. (N '43)

England

Campbell, M. L. English yeoman. (Ap '43)

Georgia

Raper, A. F. Tenants of the Almighty. (S '43)

United States

Barger, H., and Landsberg, H. H. American agriculture, 1899-1939. (O '43)
Gee, W. P. Social economics of agriculture. (Ap '43)
Leighton, C. V. H. Give us this day. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
McCune, W. Farm bloc. (S '43)
Tolley, H. R. Farmer citizen at war. (Ap '43)
Waring, P. A., and Teller, W. M. Roots in the earth. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Agriculture, Cooperative
Eaton, J. W. Exploring tomorrow's agriculture. (S '43)

Air conditioning
Goodman, W. Air conditioning analysis. (My '43)

Air flow
Ludington, C. T. Smoke streams. (O '43)
Air future. Hershey, B. (O '43)
Air navigation. (S '43)
Air navigation. Hamilton, E. R. (Je '43)
Air navigation. Weems, P. V. H. (Je '43)
Air navigation. Zim, H. S. (My '43)
Air navigation for beginners. Lamb, S. G., and Jordan, H. T. (Je '43)
Air news yearbook. (My '43)
Air offensive against Germany. Michie, A. A. (Ap '43)
Air power and total war. Caldwell, C. C. (S '43)
Air surgeon. Slaughter, F. G. (S '43)
Air transport navigation. Redpath, P. H., and Coburn, J. M. (S '43)
Airborne invasion. Hetherington, J. A. (S '43)
Aircraft calculations. Eng title of: Aircraft mathematics. Walling, S. A., and Hill, J. C. (N '43)
Aircraft construction handbook. Dickinson, T. A. (S '43)
Aircraft detail drafting. Meadowcroft, N. (Ap '43)
Aircraft electrical engineering. Matson, R. (D '43)
Aircraft electrical systems. Jorch, W. F. (Ag '43)
Aircraft hydraulics. Adams, H. W. (S '43)
Aircraft mathematics. Walling, S. A., and Hill, J. C. (N '43)
Aircraft navigation. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Aircraft power plants. Fraas, A. P. (O '43)
Aircraft production. MacKinnon, H. D. (S '43)
Aircraft propeller handbook. Falk, K. H. (S '43)
Aircrews' book of practical mathematics. Robinson, P. H. (Je '43)

Airfoils
Glauert, H. Elements of aerofoil and airscrew theory. (Ag '43)

Airing in a closed carriage. Long, G. M. V. C. (Je '43)
Airman's odyssey. Saint Exupéry, A. de. (D '43)
Airplane Andy. Tousey, S. (Ap '43)
Airplane design manual. Teichmann, F. K. (S '43)

Airplane engines
Fraas, A. P. Aircraft power plants. (O '43)
Hylander, C. J. Flying power. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Operation of aircraft engines. (Ag '43)
Williams, H. L. Aviation mechanics simplified. (Ag '43)

Airplane hydraulic systems. Aument, H. C (S '43)

Airplane industry and trade
Klein, F. D. Process practices in the aircraft industry. (Ap '43)
MacKinnon, H. D. Aircraft production. (S '43)

Airplane models
Stieri, E. Building model war planes. (Je '43)

Airplane structures. Niles, A. S., and Newell, J. S. (N '43)

Airplanes

Design and construction

Dickinson, T. A. Aircraft construction handbook. (S '43)
Goff, F. L., and Novak, L. R. Reading aircraft blueprints. (O '43)
Greenwood, E. J. A., and Silverman, J. R. Stress analysis for airplane draftsmen. (D '43)
Jordanoff, A. Man behind the flight. (Ap '43)
Lee, J. G. Fighter facts and fallacies. (Je '43)
Meadowcroft, N. Aircraft detail drafting. (Ap '43)
Niles, A. S., and Newell, J. S. Airplane structures. (N '43)
Teichmann, F. K. Airplane design manual. (S '43)
Walling, S. A., and Hill, J. C. Aircraft mathematics. (N '43)
Wells, T. A. Manual of aircraft materials and manufacturing processes. (Ap '43)
Williams, H. L. Aviation mechanics simplified. (Ag '43)

Electric equipment

Jorch, W. F. Aircraft electrical systems. (Ag '43)
Matson, R. Aircraft electrical engineering. (D '43)

Hydraulic equipment

Adams, H. W. Aircraft hydraulics. (S '43)
Aument, H. C. Airplane hydraulic systems. (S '43)

Juvenile literature

Aviation research associates, incorporated. Parts of planes. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Maintenance and repair

Jordanoff, A. Man behind the flight. (Ap '43)

Materials

Klein, F. D. Process practices in the aircraft industry. (Ap '43)
Wells, T. A. Manual of aircraft materials and manufacturing processes. (Ap '43)

Piloting

Guyton, B. T. This exciting air. (Ag '43)
Hoyt, J. R. Manual for aviation cadets. (O '43)

Airplanes, Military
Ayling, K. Flying furies. (Mr '43)
Collison, T. Flying fortress. (S '43)
Conger, E. M. American warplanes. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Goodwin, H. L. Aerial warfare. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Kinert, R. C. America's fighting planes in action. (Ag '43)
Lee, J. G. Fighter facts and fallacies. (Je '43)
Leyson, B. W. Warplane and how it works. (S '43)
Winter, W. J. War planes of all nations. (S '43)

Airways
Burden, W. A. M. Struggle for airways in Latin America. (Ag '43)

Alabama folk plays. Lewis, K. P. (Ag '43)

Alaska

Description and travel

Driscoll, J. War discovers Alaska. (My '43)
Hrdlička, A. Alaska diary, 1926-1931. (S '43)
Stefansson, E. Here is Alaska. (Mr '43)

Alaska diary, 1926-1931. Hrdlička, A. (S '43)

Alaska highway

Juvenile literature

Coe, D. Road to Alaska. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Albee, Fred Houdlett
Albee, F. H. Surgeon's fight to rebuild men. (Ap '43)

Alcohol

Physiological effect

Jellinek, E. M., ed. Alcohol addiction and chronic alcoholism. (Je '43)

Alcohol addiction and chronic alcoholism. Jellinek, E. M., ed. (Je '43)

Alcoholism
Jellinek, E. M., ed. Alcohol addiction and chronic alcoholism. (Je '43)

Alcott, Amos Bronson
Hoeltje, H. H. Sheltering tree. (D '43)

Alcott, Louisa May

Juvenile literature

Wagoner, J. B. Louisa Alcott. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Aleichem, Shalom, pseud. See Rabinowitz, S.

Alexander, Robert
Johnson, J. B. Robert Alexander, Maryland loyalist. (Ap '43)

Alexander's vacation. Knight, M. (O '43)
Alias the dead. Coxe, G. H. (Mr '43)
All about modern decorating. Gillies, M. D. (Je '43)
All about Oscar. Neikirk, M. E. (D '43)
All the year round. Coates, R. M. (D '43)
All we are and all we have. Chiang, K. (My '43)
All we have built. Cowdin, E. (My '43)

Allman, Norwood Francis
Allman, N. F. Shanghai lawyer. (N '43)

All-out Arlene. Phillips, H. I. (S '43)

Alloys
Brick, R. M., and Phillips, A. Structure and properties of alloys. (Ap '43)

Tables, calculations, etc.

Hoyt, S. L. Metals and alloys data book. (D '43)

Almanacs
Kohl, G. L. Picture almanac for boys and girls. (Ap '43)

Alone we embark. Eng title of: Touched by the thorn. Laverty, M. (N '43)
Along comes Judy Jo. Hill, M. B. (O '43)
Along nature's highway. Fenton, C. L. (Ap '43)

Alpine flora
Mansfield, T. C. Alpines in colour and cultivation. (Ap '43)

Alpines in colour and cultivation. Mansfield, T. C. (Ap '43)
Also the hills. Keyes, F. P. W. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Alternating-current circuits. Kerchner, R. M., and Corcoran, G. F. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Alternating-current circuits. Morecock, E. M. (Ag '43)
Alternating currents for technical students. Bishop, C. C. (S '43)

Aluminum alloys
Mondolfo, L. F. Metallography of aluminum alloys. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Always ready! Bell, K. (O '43)
Always room at the top. Walska, G. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Amateur theatricals
  Crafton, A., and Royer, J. Complete acted play from script to final curtain. (S '43)
Amateurs at war. Williams, B. A., ed. (Ag '43)
Amazing petroleum industry. Kalichevsky, V. A. (Je '43)
Amazon. Haskins, C. P. (Ag '43)
Amazon river
  Haskins, C. P. Amazon. (Ag '43)
Ambassador to industry. Park, C. W. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Ambulance in Africa. Thomas, E. W. (N '43)
Ambush house. Kagey, R. (My '43)
Amending of the federal Constitution. Orfield, L. B. (Je '43)
America
Antiquities
  Kelemen, P. Medieval American art. (Ag '43)
Civilization
  Quintanilla, L. A Latin American speaks. (Mr '43)
Discovery and exploration
  Howe, H. F. Prologue to New England. (My '43)
French
  Nute, G. L. Caesars of the wilderness. (S '43)
German
  Arciniegas, G. Germans in the conquest of America. (O '43)
History
  Baldwin, L. D. Story of the Americas. (S '43)
America and Asia. Lattimore, O. (D '43)
America at war. Van Valkenburg, S., ed. (My '43)
America fledges wings. Cleveland, R. M. (Je '43)
America in transition. Kinneman, J. A., and Browne, R. G. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
America, Russia, and the Communist party in the postwar world. Childs, J. L. and Counts, G. S. (My '43)
America speaking. Perschbacher, O., and Wilde, D., eds. (My '43)
America, the story of a free people. Nevins, A. and Commager, H. S. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
The American. Adams, J. T. (O '43)
American agriculture, 1899-1939. Barger, H., and Landsberg, H. H. (O '43)
American authors and books, 1640-1940. Burke, W. J., and Howe, W. D. eds. (S '43)
American-born in Canada. Coats, R. H., and MacLean, M. C. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
American counterpoint. Alland, A. (O '43)
American decade. Boggs, T., ed. (N '43)
American democracy today and tomorrow. Alexander, R. C., and others. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
American diary. Grafton, S. (S '43)
American Diesel engines. Goad, E. F. (Mr '43)
American drama
Collections
  Army play by play. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
  Clark, B. H., ed. Favorite American plays of the nineteenth century. (N '43)
  Kozlenko, W., comp. 25 non-royalty one-act American comedies. (S '43)
  Mantle, B., ed. Best plays of 1942-43. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
  Smith, B. 20 prize-winning non-royalty one-act plays. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
History and criticism
  Quinn, A. H. History of the American drama. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
American educator encyclopedia. (O '43)
American empire in Asia? Viton, A. (O '43)
American expression on the war and peace. Mohair, A. L., and Benardete, D., eds. (O '43)
American frontier in Hawaii. Bradley, H. W. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
American garden flowers. Freund, G. L. P. (Ap '43)
American government. McMahon, J. L. (My '43)
American heroes and hero-worship. Johnson, G. W. (O '43)
American idealism. Stovall, F. (My '43)
American Jew. Janowsky, O. I., ed. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
American land. Van Dersal, W. R. (O '43)
American Leonardo. Mabee, C. (Mr '43)
American literature
Collections
  Hill, A. T., ed. Campus and classroom. (Ap '43)
  Maugham, W. S., ed. Introduction to modern English and American literature. (Ag '43)
  Miles, D. H., and Pooley, R. C., eds. Literature and life in America. (S '43)
  Perry, G. S., ed. Roundup time. (N '43)
  Perschbacher, O., and Wilde, D., eds. America speaking. (My '43)
  Prairie schooner. Prairie schooner caravan. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
  Smith, B., ed. Democratic spirit. (N '43)
  Wilson, E., ed. Shock of recognition. (Ag '43)
  Woollcott, A., ed. As you were. (My '43)
Dictionaries, indexes, etc.
  Burke, W. J., and Howe, W. D., eds. American authors and books, 1640-1940. (S '43)
History and criticism
  Gordon, G. S. Anglo-American literary relations. (Mr '43)
  Stovall, F. American idealism. (My '43)
  Wilson, E., ed. Shock of recognition. (Ag '43)
  Winters, Y. Anatomy of nonsense. (S '43)
Southwest
  Perry, G. S., ed. Roundup time. (N '43)
Vermont
  Pierce, E. H. C., and Flanders, H. H., eds. Green Mountain verse. (N '43)
American opinion on the kulturkampf. Kolbeck, Sister Orestes. (N '43)
American patent system. Bennett, W. B. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
American people. Hayward, W. S., and Hamilton, D. A. (F '44) (1943 Annual) American pioneer arts and artists. Drepperd, C. W. (Ap '43)
American poetry
Collections
  Boggs, T., ed. American decade. (N '43)
  Gregory, H., ed. Triumph of life. (N '43)
  Henderson, D. M., and others, eds. Reveille. (D '43)
  McClure, J. P., ed. Stag's hornbook. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
  Moult, T., ed. Best poems of 1942. (S '43)
  Pierce, E. H. C., and Flanders, H. H., eds. Green Mountain verse. (N '43)
  Russell, F. A., ed. Yankee doodles. (N '43)
  Sanders, G. D., and Nelson, J. H., eds. Chief modern poets of England and America. (F '44) (1943 Anuual)
  Williams, O., ed. New poems. (O '43)
History and criticism
  Simon, C. M. H. Lays of the new land. (My '43)
  Wells, H. W. American way of poetry. (D '43)
American political and social history. Faulkner, H. U. (N '43)
American political parties. Binkley, W. E. (N '43)
American reasons. Wilkinson, B. (Je '43)
American republics
  Padilla, E. Free men of America. (Je '43)
  Quintanilla, L. A Latin American speaks. (Mr '43)
  Reynolds, T. H., ed. Progress of Pan Americanism. (D '43)
American scene. Melbo, I. R., and others. (Ap '43)
American ship models and how to build them. Grimwood, V. R. (Je '43)
American social problems. Walsh, M. E. (S '43)
American society in wartime. Ogburn, W. F., ed. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
American spirit. Beard, C. A. and M. R. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
American student flyer. Hamburg, M. C., and Tweney, G. H. (Mr '43)
American warplanes. Conger, E. M. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
American way of poetry. Wells, H. W. (D '43)

American women in uniform. Ross, M. S. (Ag '43)
American women of science. Yost, E. (Je '43)
American words and ways. Whyte, J. (S '43)

Americans in Canada
  Coats, R. H., and MacLean, M. C. American-born in Canada. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
America's fighting planes in action. Kinert, R. C. (Ag '43)
America's greatest inventors. Patterson, J. C. (S '43)
America's musical heritage. Burk, C., and others. (N '43)
America's natural wealth. Lieber, R. (My '43)
America's navy in world war II. Cant, G. (S '43)
America's progressive philosophy. Sheldon, W. H. (Ap '43)
America's role in Asia. Howard, H. P. (Ag '43)

Amino acids
  Cohn, E. J., and Edsall, J. T. Proteins, amino acids and peptides as ions and dipolar ions. (D '43)
Amphibious warfare and combined operations. Keyes, R. J. B. (S '43)

Amusements
  Bell, L. B. Parties in wartime. (Je '43)
  Lariar, L., ed. Army fun book. (S '43)
Analytic geometry. Smith, E. S., and others. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Analytic mechanics. Chambers, S. D., and Faires V. M. (N '43)
Analytical experimental physics. Lemon, H. B., and Ference, M. (S '43)

Anatomy, Human
  Williams, J. F. Atlas of human anatomy. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Anatomy of drama. Thompson, A. R. (O '43)
Anatomy of nonsense. Winters, Y. (S '43)
Anchorage. Bassett, S. W. (Ag '43)
Anchors to windward. White, S. E. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Ancient Russia. Vernadskii, G. V. (O '43)
—And a few marines. Thomason, J. W. (Je '43)
And death came too. Sampson, R. H. (Mr '43)
And so to bedlam. Lyon, M. (D '43)
And they shall walk. Kenny, E., and Ostenso, M. (O '43)
André Gide and the crisis of modern thought. Mann, K. (Je '43)

Andrews, Roy Chapman
  Andrews, R. C. Under a lucky star. (O '43)

Anecdotes
  Thomas, L. J. and F. R. Pageant of romance. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Angel of the navy. Angel, J. (S '43)
Angel without wings. Wright, M. E. (S '43)
Anger in the sky. Ertz, S. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Anglo-American literary relations. Gordon, G. S. (Mr '43)
Anglo-American trade agreement. Kreider, C. J. (S '43)
Animal reveille. Dempewolff, R. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Animal tracks. Mason, G. F. (O '43)

Animals, Habits and behavior of Ditmars, R. L. Twenty little pets from everywhere. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Animals, Legends and stories of
  Campbell, S. A. How's Inky? (D '43)
Animals marooned. Price, M. E. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Ann Bartlett at Bataan. Lansing, E. H. (My '43)
Annals of opera. Loewenberg, A., comp. (S '43)

Annam
  Brodrick, A. H. Little China. (Mr '43)
Annotated list of books. (Je '43)
Another Claudia. Franken, R. D. L. (Je '43)
Another day toward dying. Marlett, M. (Mr '43)
Answering distant calls. Erdman, M. H., ed. (Ap '43)
Anthology of contemporary Latin American poetry. Fitts, D., ed. (Mr '43)

Anthropogeography

United States

  Muelder, H. R., and Delo, D. M. Years of this land. (Ag '43)
Anti-Semitism. Dushaw, A. I. (O '43)
Apostle. Asch, S. (O '43)
Apostle of democracy. Brown, L. F. (Ag '43)
Appeasement's child. Hamilton, T. J. (Mr '43)
Application of absorption spectra to the study of vitamins, hormones and coenzymes. Morton, R. A. (D '43)
Applied electronics. Massachusetts institute of technology. Department of electrical engineering. (Je '43)
Applied mathematics for technical students. Corrington, M. S. (S '43)
Applied mechanics. Biehler, R. M. (Je '43)
Applied mechanics and heat. Smith, L. R. (Ag '43)
Applied nuclear physics. Pollard, E. C., and Davidson, W. L. (Je '43)

Arabia

History

  Hitti, P. K. Arabs. (Ag '43)

Arabs
  Hitti, P. K. Arabs. (Ag '43)
  Van Ess, J. Meet the Arab. (D '43)

Arbitration, Industrial
  Pierson, F. C. Collective bargaining systems. (Je '43)
  Robbins, J. J. Government of labor relations in Sweden. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Archibald the Great. Kelland, C. B. (Je '43)

Architectural drawing
  Field, W. B. Introduction to architectural drawing. (Ag '43)

Architecture

Brazil

  Goodwin, P. L. Brazil builds. (S '43)

England

  Richards, J. M., ed. Bombed buildings of Britain. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Architecture, Domestic

Designs and plans

  Dalzell, J. R., and Townsend, G. How to remodel a house. (Je '43)
  Townsend, G., and Dalzell, J. R. How to plan a house. (Ap '43)

Arctic regions
  Stefansson, V. Friendly Arctic. (S '43)
Are we winning the hard way? Wheeler-Nicholson, M. (Ap '43)
Arenas. Boggs, T. (S '43)

Argentina

Description and travel

  Herron, F. Letters from the Argentine. (O '43)

Foreign relations

  Bradford, S. E. Battle for Buenos Aires. (Je '43)

Aristotle
  Dowdell, V. L. Aristotle and Anglican religious thought. (S '43)
Aristotle and Anglican religious thought. Dowdell, V. L. (S '43)

Arithmetic
  Ruch, G. M., and others. Arithmetic for the emergency. (S '43)
Arithmetic for the emergency. Ruch, G. M., and others. (S '43)

Arkansas
  Masterson, J. R. Tall tales of Arkansaw. (Ag '43)
Arm and the darkness. Caldwell, J. T. (Ap '43)

Armatures
  Van Brunt, G. A., and Roe, A. C. Rewinding data for direct-current armatures. (D '43)

Armies

Officers

  Pennington, L. A., and others. Psychology of military leadership. (Ag '43)
Armored warfare. Fuller, J. F. C. (N '43)

Arms and armor
  Wintringham, T. H. Story of weapons and tactics. (My '43)
Arms and the girl. Alsop, G. F., and McBride, M. F. (N '43)
Arms are fair. Smith, B. (S '43)
Army brat. Wadelton, T. D. (My '43)
Army engineers in review. Leyson, B. W. (Ap '43)
Army fun book. Lariar, L., ed. (S '43)
Army-navy guide. (My '43)
Army play by play. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Army reader. Detzer, K. W., ed. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Arrival and departure. Koestler, A. (D '43)
Arrows into the sun. Lauritzen, J. (Mr '43)
Art
Philosophy
  Kallen, H. M. Art and freedom. (Ap '43)
  Maritain, J. Art and poetry. (N '43)
Study and teaching
  Bartlett, F. G., and Crawford, C. C. Art for all. (O '43)
Canada
  Bonner, M. G. Made in Canada. (N '43)
Spain
  Hagen, O. F. L. Patterns and principles of Spanish art. (Ag '43)
United States
  Drepperd, C. W. American pioneer arts and artists. (Ap '43)
  Dwight, H. G., and Frankfurter, A. M. Art parade. (O '43)
  Pearson, R. M. Experiencing American pictures. (My '43)
Art, American
  Baldwin, H. W. Navy at war. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
  Porter, J. A. Modern Negro art. (D '43)
  United States army illustrators of Fort Custer. As soldiers see it. (S '43)
Art, Commercial
  Hoelscher, R. P., and others. Industrial production illustration for students, draftsmen and illustrators. (S '43)
Art, Medieval
  Morey, C. R. Mediaeval art. (Ap '43)
Art, Negro
  Porter, J. A. Modern Negro art. (D '43)
Art and freedom. Kallen, H. M. (Ap '43)
Art and poetry. Maritain, J. (N '43)
Art for all. Bartlett, F. G., and Crawford, C. C. (O '43)
Art news (periodical)
  Dwight, H. G., and Frankfurter, A. M. Art parade. (O '43)
Art of camouflage. Chesney, C. H. R. (O '43)
Art of living in wartime. Greenbie, M. L. B. (Mr '43)
Art of murder. Roughead, W. (My '43)
Art of preaching. Allen, A. (S '43)
Art of worldly wisdom. Gracian y Morales, B. (Ap '43)
Art parade. Dwight, H. G., and Frankfurter, A. M. (O '43)
Arthritis
  Phelps, A. E. Your arthritis. (Ag '43)
Arthur, king of Britain
  Malory, T. Arthur Pendragon of Britain. (S '43)
Artist in America. Zigrosser, C. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Artists, American
  Drepperd, C. W. American pioneer arts and artists. (Ap '43)
Arts and crafts
  Bonner, M. G. Made in Canada. (N '43)
  Ickis, M. Arts and crafts. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Arts and crafts. Ickis, M. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Arts of costume and personal appearance. Morton, G. M. (S '43)
As I see it. Shackelford, L. T. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
As runs the glass. David, E. J. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
As soldiers see it. United States army illustrators of Fort Custer. (S '43)
As you were. Woollcott, A, ed. (My '43)
Asia
Politics
  Howard, H. P. America's role in Asia. (Ag '43)
  Panikkar, K. M. Future of south-east Asia. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
  Shridharani, K. J. Warning to the West. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Asia unbound. Greenbie, S. (N '43)
Assignment: U. S. A. Menefee, S. C. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Assignment to nowhere. Bennett, L. (S '43)
Astronomical observatories
  Collins, A. F. Greatest eye in the world. (My '43)
Astrophysics
  Goldberg, L., and Aller, L. H. Atoms, stars, and nebulae. (Je '43)
At heaven's gate. Warren, R. P. (S '43)
At home with children. Garrison, C. G., and Sheehy, E. D. (Je '43)
At our house. McCullough, J. G. (D '43)
Athletics
  Craine, H. C. Teaching athletic skills in physical education. (Ap '43)
  Stafford, G. T., and Duncan, R. O. Physical conditioning. (Ap '43)
Atlantic charter. King, C. (Ag '43)
Atlantic charter and Africa. Committee on Africa, the war, and peace aims. (Ap '43)
Atlantic declaration, August 14, 1941
  Committee on Africa, the war, and peace aims. Atlantic charter and Africa. (Ap '43)
  Morton, H. C. V. Atlantic meeting. (Je '43)
Atlantic meeting. Morton, H. C. V. (Je '43)
Atlantic states
  Brown, R. H. Mirror for Americans. (N '43)
Atlas of American history. Adams, J. T., ed. (Ag '43)
Atlas of human anatomy. Williams, J. F. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Atlases
  Encyclopaedia britannica world atlas. (My '43)
  Hammond, C. S., and company. Hammond's comparative wall atlas. (N '43)
  Hammond, C. S., and company. Hammond's universal world atlas. (N '43)
Atoms
  Rusk, R. D. Forward with science. (Je '43)
Atoms, rocks and galaxies. Allen, J. S., and others. (D '43)
Atoms, stars, and nebulae. Goldberg, L., and Aller, L. H. (Je '43)
Attack can win in '43. Werner, M. (Ag '43)
Attitude (psychology)
  Newcomb, T. M. Personality and social change. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Attitude of the northern clergy toward the South. Dunham, C. F. (Ap '43)
Audubon, John James
Juvenile literature
  Mason, M. E. Young Audubon, boy naturalist. (D '43)
Augustine, Saint, bp. of Hippo
  Augustine, St. Confessions. (N '43)
Augustus helps the army. Henderson, Le G. (Ag '43)
Augustus helps the marines. Henderson, Le G. (D '43)
Australia
  Taylor, T. G. Australia. (N '43)
Emigration and immigration
  Forsyth, W. D. Myth of open spaces. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Juvenile literature
  Hogarth, G. A. Australia. (D '43)
Australia. Hogarth, G. A. (D '43)
Austria
Foreign relations
Russia
  Rupp, G. H. Wavering friendship. (Ap '43)
Authority
  Lane, R. W. Discovery of freedom. (My '43)
Authors
  Kunitz, S. J., and Haycraft, H., eds. Twentieth century authors. (Ap '43)
Correspondence, reminiscences, etc.
  Coyle, K. Magical realm. (Mr '43)
  Croy, H. Country cured. (N '43)
  Hasty, J. E. Done with mirrors. (Mr '43)
  Lowndes, M. A. B. Where love and friendship dwelt. (O '43)
  Mencken, H. L. Heathen days. (Ap '43)
  Pollock, C. Harvest of my years. (Ap '43)
  Wolfe, T. Letters to his mother. (Je '43)
  Zweig, S. World of yesterday. (Je '43)
Juvenile literature
  Coffman, R. P., and Goodman, N. G. Famous authors for boys and girls. (S '43)

Authorship
Graves, R., and Hodge, A. Reader over your shoulder. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Leacock, S. B. How to write. (Mr '43)
Rodell, M. F. Mystery fiction. (Je '43)

Handbooks, manuals, etc.
Literary market place, 1943. (Ag '43)

Autobiography of a curmudgeon. Ickes, H. L. (My '43)
Autolycus in limbo. Starrett, V. (My '43)
Automatics in engineering production. Molloy, E., ed. (S '43)

Automobile engines
Heitner, J., and others. Elements of automotive mechanics. (Ap '43)

Automobiles
Frost, J. V. Pre-service course in automotive mechanics. (Je '43)
Heitner, J., and others. Elements of automotive mechanics. (Ap '43)

Electric equipment
Crouse, W. H. Automotive electrical equipment. (Ap '43)

Handbooks, manuals, etc.
Barger, C. G. Automotive mechanics. (My '43)

Transmission devices
Heldt, P. M. Torque converters or transmissions. (S '43)

Automotive electrical equipment. Crouse, W. H. (Ap '43)
Automotive mechanics. Barger, C. G. (My '43)
Aviation dictionary and reference guide. Baughman, H. E. (S '43)
Aviation mathematics. Buchan, A. F., and Borthwick, R. (Ap '43)
Aviation mechanics simplified. Williams, H. L. (Ag '43)

Aviators
Ayling, K. They fly for victory. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Awakening of Western legal thought. Hamburger, M. (Ap '43)
Axis on the air. Ettlinger, H. (N '43)

Bach, Johann Sebastian
Field, L. N. Johann Sebastian Bach. (Ag '43)

Back door to Berlin. Gallagher, W. (O '43)
Back to school with Betsy. Haywood, C. (O '43)
Backyard poultry keeping. Taylor, J. C. (S '43)

Baden-Powell of Gilwell, Robert Stephenson Smyth Baden-Powell, 1st baron
Reynolds, E. E. Baden-Powell. (Ap '43)

Balkan firebrand. Todorov, K. (S '43)

Ballads
Downes, O., and Siegmeister, E., comps. Treasury of American song. (Ag '43)

Ballads, American
Jackson, G. P., ed. Down-East spirituals and others. (S '43)

Ballistics
Robinson, C. S. Thermodynamics of firearms. (O '43)

Ballots and the democratic class struggle. Anderson, H. D., and Davidson, P. E. (Ag '43)
Baltic riddle. Meiksins, G. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Baltic states
Meiksins, G. Baltic riddle. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Banjo the crow. DuBois, T. M. (My '43)
Banking and finance in China. Tamagna, F. M. (Je '43)

Banks and banking

Belgium
Chlepner, B. S. Belgian banking and banking theory. (O '43)

China
Tamagna, F. M. Banking and finance in China. (Je '43)

Great Britain
Morgan, E. V. Theory and practice of central banking. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Barbary freight. Burke, R. (Ag '43)

Barbe-Marbois, François, marquis de
Lyon, E. W. Man who sold Louisiana. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Barbour, Thomas
Barbour, T. Naturalist at large. (N '43)

Barefoot boy with cheek. Shulman, M. (Je '43)
Barefoot mailman. Pratt, T. (S '43)

Barlow, Joel
Howard, L. Connecticut wits. (Mr '43)

Barnaby. Johnson, C. (N '43)
Barrack 3, room 12. Haedrich, M. (Ap '43)
Barrie and daughter. Caudill, R. (D '43)
Bars on her shoulders. Stansbury, J. (O '43)

Baseball
Krueger, J. J. Baseball's greatest drama. (N '43)

Baseball's greatest drama. Krueger, J. J. (N '43)
Basic bench-metal practice and precision measuring. Giachino, J. W., and Feirer, J. L. (Je '43)
Basic electricity. Beauchamp, W. L., and Mayfield, J. C. (S '43)
Basic electricity. Feirer, J. L., and Williams, R. O. (Je '43)
Basic electricity for communications. Timbie, W. H. (S '43)

Basic English
Richards, I. A. Basic English and its uses. (O '43)

Basic English and its uses. Richards, I. A. (O '43)
Basic mathematics for aviation. Ayres, F. (O '43)
Basic mathematics for pilots and flight crews. Newsom, C. V., and Larsen, H. D. (Je '43)
Basic physics for pilots and flight crews. Knapp, E. J. (Ag '43)
Basic principles of weather forecasting. Starr, V. P. (Ap '43)
Basic problems in engineering drawing. Turner, W. W. (O '43)
Basic radio principles. Suffern, M. G. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Basic science education series. (Je '43)
Basic social education series. (Je '43)
Basic verities. Péguy, C. P. (My '43)
Basis for peace in the Far East. Peffer, N. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Bats in the belfry. Matson, N. H. (Je '43)
Battle for Buenos Aires. Bradford, S. E. (Je '43)
Battle for the Solomons. Wolfert, I. (Mr '43)
Battle hymn of China. Smedley, A. (O '43)
Battle is the pay-off. Ingersoll, R. M. (N '43)
Battle of the Sierras. Summers, R. A. (Je '43)

Battles
Creasy, E. S. Fifteen decisive battles of the world. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Juvenile literature
Bart, B. Book of battles. (My '43)

United States
Williams, B. A., ed. Amateurs at war. (Ag '43)

Baudelaire, Charles Pierre
Gilman, M. Baudelaire the critic. (My '43)
Morgan, E. Flower of evil. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Bayou Suzette. Lenski, L. (D '43)
Bayous of Louisiana. Kane, H. T. (N '43)

Bazaine, Achille François
Guedalla, P. Two marshals: Bazaine, Pétain. (S '43)

Beach patrol. Knowlton, E. R. (O '43)

Bean, Roy
Sonnichsen, C. L. Roy Bean. (My '43)

Bear that walks like a man. Marks, S. J. (My '43)

Beard, Daniel Carter
Clemens, C., and Sibley, E. C. Uncle Dan. (Mr '43)

Bearings (machinery)
Norton, A. E. Lubrication. (O '43)

Bears

Legends and stories
McCracken, H. Biggest bear on earth. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Beatitudes
Stamm, F. K. Seeing the multitudes. (S '43)

Juvenile literature

McKelvey, G. D. Stories to live by. (Ag '43)

Beauty, Personal
Bennett, J. How to be attractive. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Dengel, V. Personality unlimited. (N '43)
Morton, G. M. Arts of costume and personal appearance. (S '43)

Beckoning star. Lockwood, M. (Je '43)
Bed-book of eating and drinking. Wright, R. L. (Ag '43)

Beecham, Sir Thomas, 2d bart
Beecham, T. Mingled chime. (Je '43)

Beekeeping for profit and pleasure. Webb, A. (N '43)

Bees
Webb, A. Beekeeping for profit and pleasure. (N '43)

Beethoven, Ludwig van
Burk, J. N. Life and works of Beethoven. (Ag '43)
Ludwig, E. Beethoven. (Ag '43)
Schrade, L. Beethoven in France. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Before Bataan and after. Marquardt, F. S. (S '43)
Before I wake. Echard, M. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Before you fly. Robinson, P. T., and others. (Ap '43)
Beggars' horses. Eng title of: Dark woman. Wren, P. C. (Mr '43)
Beggars' Penny. Coblentz, C. (D '43)
Behind the Japanese mask. Steiner, J. F. (Ap '43)
Behind the sulfa drugs. Galdston, I. (My '43)
Behind the universe. Berman, L. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Behind the Urals. Scott, J. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual) Belgian banking and banking theory. Chlepner, B. S. (O '43)

Belief and doubt
Oursler, F. Three things we can believe in. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Bellows, George Wesley
Boswell, P. George Bellows. (My '43)

Benchley beside himself. Benchley, R. C. (Ag '43)
Beneath another sun. Lothar, E. (Mr '43)

Benjamin, Judah Philip
Meade, R. D. Judah P. Benjamin. (S '43)

Berezowsky, Nicolai
Berezowsky, A. L. N. Duet with Nicky. (O '43)

Bergson, Henri Louis
Scharfstein, B. Roots of Bergson's philosophy. (N '43)

Berlin. Conference, 1884-1885
Crowe, S. E. Berlin West African conference, 1884-1885. (S '43)

Berlin West African conference, 1884-1885. Crowe, S. E. (S '43)
Bert Terhune I knew. Terhune, A. M. S. (My '43)
Best American short stories, 1943. Foley, M., ed. (O '43)
Best broadcasts of 1940-41. Wylie, M., ed. (Ap '43)
Best loved hymns and prayers of the American people. Milligan, H. V., ed. (Ap '43)
Best one-act plays of 1942. Mayorga, M. G., ed. (My '43)
Best plays of 1942-43. Mantle, B., ed. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Best poems of 1942. Moult, T., ed. (S '43)
Best wishes. Eng title of: Stolen honeymoon. Edginton, B. (Ag '43)
Betrayal from the East. Hynd, A. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Better bridge for better players. Goren, C. H. (Je '43)
Better dressmaking. Spears, R. W. (Je '43)
Better life. Hennrich, K. J. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Between tears and laughter. Lin, Y. (S '43)
Between the dark and the daylight. Hale, N. (Je '43)
Between the thunder and the sun. Sheean, V. (Ap '43)
Beware of parents. Nathan, G. J. (My '43)
Beyond the Clapping mountains. Gillham, C. E. (Je '43)
Beyond the wall of sleep. Lovecraft, H. P. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Beyond victory. Anshen, R. N., ed. (D '43)

Bible. Whole

History of biblical events

Juvenile literature

Thompson, B. J. Oldest story. (O '43)

Selections

Kelly, B. M., comp. Eternal purpose. (Ag '43)

Juvenile literature

Bible. Whole. Small rain. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

About the Bible

Antiquities

Bailey, A. E. Daily life in Bible times. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

History of biblical events

Ross, P. V. Bible in brief. (Ap '43)

Bible. Old Testament

Parts of the Old Testament

Pentateuch

Allis, O. T. Five books of Moses. (O '43)

Prophetical books

Yates, K. M. Preaching from the prophets. (Ap '43)

Bible. New Testament

Texts

Bible. New Testament. Goodspeed parallel New Testament. (O '43)

Selections

Bible. New Testament. Jesus' own words. (Ag '43)

About the New Testament

Scott, E. F. Varieties of New Testament religion. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Biography

Weatherhead, L. D. Personalities of the passion. (Mr '43)

Canon

Knox, J. Marcion and the New Testament. (Ap '43)

Concordances

Bible. New Testament. Jesus' own words. (Ag '43)

Parts of the New Testament

Gospels—Harmonies

Hartdegen, S. J. Chronological harmony of the Gospels. (Ap '43)

Epistles

Klausner, J. From Jesus to Paul. (S '43)

Single books

St John

Sanders, J. N. Fourth gospel in the early church. (O '43)

Ephesians

Synge, F. C. St Paul's Epistle to the Ephesians. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Bible and law
Rand, H. B. Digest of the divine law. (Ag '43)

Bible in brief. Ross, P. V. (Ap '43)

Bibliography
Bookmen's holiday. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Best books

American library association. Booklist. (Je '43)

Bibliography

Heaps, W. A. Book selection for secondary school libraries. (O '43)

Bibliography of aviation education materials. Columbia university. Teachers college. Aviation education research group. (Je '43)
Bibliography of aviation medicine. Hoff, E. C., and Fulton, J. F., comps. (D '43)

Bibliography of motion pictures for vocational and technical schools. Weaver, G. G., comp. (Ag '43)
Bibliography on educational broadcasting. Cooper, I. M. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Bidwell, John
  Hunt, R. D. John Bidwell, prince of California pioneers. (Ap '43)
Bier for a hussy. Holt, A. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Big dog, little dog. MacDonald, G. (Ag '43)
Big lonely dog. Harris, L. (Je '43)
Big Red. Anderson, C. W. (D '43)
Big Rock Candy mountain. Stegner, W. (O '43)
Biggest bear on earth. McCracken, H. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Biochemistry and morphogenesis. Needham, J. (Ap '43)
Biochemistry of the fatty acids and their compounds. Bloor, W. R. (N '43)
Biographical dictionary. Webster, N. (D '43)
Biography (individual)
  Albee, F. H. Surgeon's fight to rebuild men. (Ap '43)
  Aldington, R. Duke. (N '43)
  Allman, N. F. Shanghai lawyer. (N '43)
  Andrews, R. C. Under a lucky star. (O '43)
  Bachmann, E. T. They called him father. (Mr '43)
  Bakeless, J. E. Tragicall history of Christopher Marlowe. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
  Barbour, T. Naturalist at large. (N '43)
  Barker, A. E. Milton and the Puritan dilemma. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
  Barschak, E. Innocent empress. (S '43)
  Beaty, J. Y. Luther Burbank, plant magician. (S '43)
  Beecham, T. Mingled chime. (Je '43)
  Beerbohm, M. Lytton Strachey. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
  Berezowsky, A. L. N. Duet with Nicky. (O '43)
  Biddle, F. B. Mr Justice Holmes. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
  Blunden, E. C. Thomas Hardy. (Ap '43)
  Borgenicht, L. Happiest man. (Ap '43)
  Breasted, C. Pioneer to the past. (My '43)
  Bromley, J. Clear the tracks! (O '43)
  Brown, L. F. Apostle of democracy. (Ag '43)
  Bruun, G. Clemenceau. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
  Burk, J. N. Life and works of Beethoven. (Ag '43)
  Burr, G. L. George Lincoln Burr: his life. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
  Burton, K. K. Celestial homespun. (My '43)
  Campbell, H. J. Case for Mrs Surratt. (N '43)
  Canby, H. S. Walt Whitman, an American. (D '43)
  Carpenter, L. R. Rudyard Kipling, a friendly profile. (S '43)
  Casey, R. J. Such interesting people. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
  Clemens, C. Young Sam Clemens. (Ap '43)
  Clemens, C., and Sibley, E. C. Uncle Dan. (Mr '43)
  Coe, D. Marconi, pioneer of radio. (S '43)
  Coleman, H. J. Give us a little smile, baby. (S '43)
  Connolly, J. B. Master mariner. (Ap '43)
  Conrad, E. Harriet Tubman. (D '43)
  Copeland, F. Kendall of the Picayune. (Ag '43)
  Coyle, K. Magical realm. (Mr '43)
  Crafford, F. S. Jan Smuts. (N '43)
  Crippen, L. F. Simon Cameron. (Je '43)
  Cross, W. L. Connecticut Yankee. (N '43)
  Croy, H. Country cured. (N '43)
  Cunningham, F. Sky master. (S '43)
  Current, R. N. Old Thad Stevens. (Ap '43)
  Daniels, B. K. Outer edge. (O '43)
  De Montmorency, A. Enigma of Admiral Darlan. (Je '43)
  Doherty, M. W. House on Humility street. (Ap '43)
  Driscoll, C. B. Kansas Irish. (Je '43)
  Easum, C. V. Prince Henry of Prussia, brother of Frederick the Great. (Ap '43)
  Eustace, C. J. House of bread. (D '43)
  Ferguson, J. De L. Mark Twain. (Ag '43)
  Field, L. N. John Sebastian Bach. (Ag '43)
  Filler, L. Randolph Bourne. (D '43)
  Fithian, P. V. Journal and letters. (S '43)
  Fitzhugh, R. T., ed. Robert Burns. (S '43)
  Flanagan, J. T. James Hall, literary pioneer of the Ohio valley. (Mr '43)
  Fortune, J., and Burton, J. Elisabet Ney. (My '43)
  Garbedian, H. G. George Westinghouse. (My '43)
  Gibbs, A. U-boat prisoner. (S '43)
  Gill, E. A. T. Robertson. (My '43)
  Girdler, T. M. Boot straps. (N '43)
  Goldman, E. F. Charles J. Bonaparte, patrician reformer. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
  Goldman, E. F. John Bach McMaster. (Je '43)
  Greenslet, F. Under the bridge. (D '43)
  Gronowicz, A. Paderewski. (Je '43)
  Gross, F. Grand seigneur. (S '43)
  Guthrie, W. Bound for glory. (Ap '43)
  Hadley, C. John Cotton Dana. (O '43)
  Haley, J. E. George W. Littlefield, Texan. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
  Hall, C. S. Benjamin Tallmadge. (O '43)
  Hamilton, A. Exploring the dangerous trades. (My '43)
  Harlow, A. F. Theodore Roosevelt, strenuous American. (O '43)
  Harrison, M. H. Captain of the Andes. (My '43)
  Hartley, L. C. This is Lorence. (Ag '43)
  Hasty, J. E. Done with mirrors. (Mr '43)
  Hatch, A. Glenn Curtiss. (Ap '43)
  Hathaway, K. B. Little locksmith. (N '43)
  Hawthorne, H. Matthew Fontaine Maury. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
  Hawthorne, H. Ox-team miracle. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
  Henle, F. Au Clare de Luce. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
  Herald, G. W. My favorite assassin. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
  Hereford, R. A. Old Man River. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
  Hewitt, E. R. Those were the days. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
  Hilton, J. Story of Dr Wassell. (Je '43)
  Hoeltje, H. H. Sheltering tree. (D '43)
  Hofer, J. St John Capistran, reformer. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
  Holsapple, L. B. Constantine the Great. (Ap '43)
  Holt, M. V. S. George Washington Carver. (My '43)
  Hone, J. M. W. B. Yeats, 1865-1939. (Mr '43)
  Hooker, R. W. Ship's doctor. (Ap '43)
  Howard, A. B. Mary Mapes Dodge of St Nicholas. (Ag '43)
  Hubben, W. Exiled pilgrim. (N '43)
  Hull, H. R. Mayling Soong Chiang. (N '43)
  Hunt, R. D. John Bidwell, prince of California pioneers. (Ap '43)
  Ickes, H. L. Autobiography of a curmudgeon. (My '43)
  Izard, T. C. George Whetstone. (Ap '43)
  Jefferson, T. Jefferson himself. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
  Jessel, G. A. So help me. (Je '43)
  Johnson, H. Other side of Main street. (Ap '43)
  Johnson, J. B. Robert Alexander, Maryland loyalist. (Ap '43)
  Keenan, J. L. Steel man in India. (D '43)
  Kelly, F. C. Wright brothers. (Je '43)
  Kenny, E., and Ostenso, M. And they shall walk. (O '43)
  Kimball, M. G. Jefferson, the road to glory, 1743 to 1776. (My '43)
  Kincaid, R. L. Joshua Fry Speed, Abraham Lincoln's most intimate friend. (N '43)
  Kingdon, F. Jacob's ladder. (Ag '43)
  Knickerbocker, F. W. C. Free minds. (N '43)
  Knox, J. C. Order in the court. (Je '43)
  Koch, A. Philosophy of Thomas Jefferson. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
  Koo, H. O. Hui-lan-Koo. (N '43)
  Kraus, R. Young Lady Randolph. (Je '43)
  Leighton, A. While we are absent. (Je '43)
  Levine, I. D. Mitchell: pioneer of air power. (Ap '43)
  Lewis, C. L. David Glasgow Farragut, v2. (N '43)
  Lockwood, M. Indian chief. (Je '43)
  Long, Z. From the journal of Zadoc Long. (N '43)
  Lorenz, L. John Paul Jones. (S '43)
  Lowe, F. M. Warrior lawyer. (Ap '43)
  Lowe, P. Father and Glorious Descendant. (My '43)

Biography (individual)—Continued
Lowndes, M. A. B. Where love and friendship dwelt. (O '43)
Lowrie, W. Short life of Kierkegaard. (Ap '43)
Ludwig, E. Beethoven. (Ag '43)
Lyon, E. W. Man who sold Louisiana. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Mabee, C. American Leonardo. (Mr '43)
Maguire, W. A. Captain wears a cross. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Maisel, E. M. Charles T. Griffes. (N '43)
Malin, J. C. John Brown and the legend of fifty-six. (S '43)
Malvern, G. Curtain going up! (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Mann, C. Lightning in the sky. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Mann, K. André Gide and the crisis of modern thought. (Je '43)
Mead, S. E. Nathaniel William Taylor. (My '43)
Meade, R. D. Judah P. Benjamin. (S '43)
Mencken, H. L. Heathen days. (Ap '43)
Mizwa, S. P. Nicholas Copernicus. (O '43)
Morehouse, W. George M. Cohan. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Morgan, E. Flower of evil. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Morris, L. R. Threshold in the sun. (S '43)
Mossner, E. C. Forgotten Hume. (My '43)
Mott, F. L. Jefferson and the press. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Nathan, R. Journal for Josephine. (Mr '43)
Natonek, H. In search of myself. (D '43)
Nicolson, H. G. Desire to please. (O '43)
Nixon, R. B. Henry W. Grady, spokesman of the new South. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Nock, A. J. Memoirs of a superfluous man. (O '43)
Nordau, A. D. and M. Max Nordau. (O '43)
O'Faolain, S. Great O'Neill. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Olson, J. C. J. Sterling Morton. (Je '43)
Osborn, G. C. John Sharp Williams. (Ag '43)
Otto, M. C., and others. William James, the man and the thinker. (Je '43)
Park, C. W. Ambassador to industry. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Parrish, M. F. K. Gastronomical me. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Parsons, R. P. Trail to light. (Ag '43)
Partridge, B. Excuse my dust. (O '43)
Phillips, M. M. Within the city wall. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Pierson, L. J. R. Roughly speaking. (Ag '43)
Pollock, C. Harvest of my years. (Ap '43)
Pomeroy, E. M. Sir Charles G. D. Roberts. (O '43)
Ponsonby, A. A. W. H. P. Henry Ponsonby. (D '43)
Pope, A. U. Maxim Litvinoff. (N '43)
Powell, J. H. Richard Rush, Republican diplomat. (D '43)
Pratt, H. E. Personal finances of Abraham Lincoln. (Ag '43)
Proudfit, I. B. Noah Webster. (Ap '43)
Purdy, C. L. S. Stormy victory. (Mr '43)
Rayleigh, R. J. S. Life of Sir J. J. Thomson, O.M. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Rechnitzer, F. E. War correspondent. (O '43)
Retinger, J. H. Conrad and his contemporaries. (Ap '43)
Rewald, J. Georges Seurat. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Reynolds, E. E. Baden-Powell. (Ap '43)
Rizk, S. Syrian Yankee. (Mr '43)
Robbins, H. C., and MacNaught, G. K. Dr Rudolf Bolling Teusler. (Ap '43)
Rukeyser, M. Willard Gibbs. (Ag '43) (1943 Annual)
Schimberg, A. P. Larks of Umbria. (My '43)
Schriftgiesser, K. Oscar of the Waldorf. (D '43)
Schulman, S. Where's Sammy? (D '43)
Schwarz, P. This man Ribbentrop. (O '43)
Seagrave, G. S. Burma surgeon. (S '43)
Seroff, V. I., and Shorat, N. G. Dmitri Shostakovich. (O '43)
Seton-Watson, R. W. Masaryk in England. (Je '43)
Shaw, A. M. William Preston Johnston. (S '43)
Sheean, V. Between the thunder and the sun. (Ap '43)
Shepperson, A. B. John Paradise and Lucy Ludwell of London and Williamsburg. (Ap '43)
Sherrill, H. K. William Lawrence. (My '43)
Simonds, W. A. Henry Ford. (My '43)
Simonson, L. Part of a lifetime. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Smith, H. A. Life in a putty knife factory. (Ap '43)
Smith, M. Life of Ole Bull. (D '43)
Snow, A. N. and H. N. Story of Helen Gould. (O '43)
Sonnichsen, C. L. Roy Bean. (My '43)
Spalding, A. Rise to follow. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Staebler, W. I. Liberal mind of John Morley. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Stevenson, A. Daniel Boone, boy hunter. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Stewart, K. N. News in what we make it. (S '43)
Strauss, P. O. Cripps: advocate extraordinary. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Sugrue, T. There is a river. (Ap '43)
Taylor, R. E. No royal road. (S '43)
Teale, E. W. Dune boy. (N '43)
Terhune, A. M. S. Bert Terhune I knew. (My '43)
Thompson, E. M. Leg man. (Mr '43)
Thorek, M. Surgeon's world. (D '43)
Todorov, K. Balkan firebrand. (S '43)
Truby, A. E. Memoir of Walter Reed. (D '43)
Tucker, L. Clerical errors. (Je '43)
Van Loon, H. W. Thomas Jefferson. (My '43)
Voelker, J. D. Troubleshooter. (Ap '43)
Wadelton, M. J. M. Maggie no doubt. (D '43)
Wall, B. Following Abraham Lincoln. (S '43)
Walska, G. Always room at the top. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Waltz, G. H. Jules Verne. (Mr '43)
Ward, M. Gilbert Keith Chesterton. (N '43)
Wei, Y. C. My revolutionary years. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Weinstock, H. Tchaikovsky. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Wellman, F. G. Life is too short. (N '43)
West, R. S. Gideon Welles. (D '43)
Wilder, W. B. Bounty of the wayside. (S '43)
Wildes, H. E. Lonely Midas. (D '43)
Williams, B. C. Forever young. (My '43)
Williams, W. C. Sweet of Colorado. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Winslow, A. G. Dwelling place. (S '43)
Winston, R. W. Horace Williams. (Ap '43)
Wolfe, T. Letters to his mother. (Je '43)
Wright, F. L. Autobiography. (Je '43)
Yashima, T. New sun. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Zweig, S. World of yesterday. (Je '43)

Juvenile literature

Baker, N. B. Peter the Great. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Barnes, N. Carlota, American empress. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Berry, R. E. Sextant and sails. (Ag '43)
Clark, T. D. Simon Kenton, Kentucky scout. (Je '43)
Criss, M. Pocahontas, young American princess. (Ag '43)
Daugherty, J. H. Abraham Lincoln. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Dean, S. W. Fighting Dan of the Long Rifles. (My '43)
Eberle, I. Wide fields. (D '43)
Ewen, D. Story of George Gershwin. (O '43)
Goss, M. B., and Schauffler, R. H. Brahms, the master. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Gronowicz, A. Chopin. (D '43)
Gronowicz, A. Paderewski. (Je '43)
Harlow, A. F. Bret Harte of the Old West. (Ag '43)
Holland, R. S. Freedom's flag. (S '43)
Ives, M. L. He conquered the Andes. (Je '43)
Judson, C. I. Donald McKay. (D '43)
Mason, M. E. Young Audubon, boy naturalist. (D '43)
Mayo, B. Henry Clay. (N '43)
Rogers, F., and Beard, A. Paul Revere. (D '43)
Roos, A. Man of Molokai. (Je '43)
Wagoner, J. B. Louisa Alcott. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Wood, L. N. Walter Reed, doctor in uniform. (S '43)

Biography (collective)
Basso, H. Mainstream. (D '43)
Cattell, J., ed. Directory of American scholars. (O '43)
Clark, E. T. Chiangs of China. (O '43)
Cooper, A. C., and Palmer, C. A. Twenty modern Americans. (My '43)
Erdman, M. H., ed. Answering distant calls. (Ap '43)
Fitzgerald, B. Never surrender. (N '43)
Guedalla, P. Two marshals: Bazaine, Pétain. (S '43)
Keller, J. G., and Berger, M. Men of Maryknoll. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Kunitz, S. J., and Haycraft, H., eds. Twentieth century authors. (Ap '43)
Leonard, R. A. Stream of music. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Monro, M. T. Book of unlikely saints. (N '43)
Patterson, J. C. America's greatest inventors. (S '43)
Schnittkind, H. T. and D. A. Living biographies. (O '43)
Stone, I. They also ran. (Ag '43)
Taves, I. Successful women. (My '43)
These are the generals. (N '43)
Tully, J. Dozen and one. (Je '43)
Webster, N. Biographical dictionary. (D '43)
Who was who, v3. (O '43)
Who was who in America. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Who's who; the official who's who among students in American universities and colleges, v8. (O '43)
Who's who in aviation. (O '43)
Who's who in library service. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Yost, E. American women of science. (Je '43)

Juvenile literature

Coffman, R. P., and Goodman, N. G. Famous authors for boys and girls. (S '43)
Malvern, G. Valiant minstrel. (D '43)
Van Loon, H. W. Life and times of Simón Bolívar. (D '43)

Biological chemistry
Needham, J. Biochemistry and morphogenesis. (Ap '43)
Williams, R. J. Textbook of biochemistry. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Dictionaries

Malisoff, W. M., ed. Dictionary of bio-chemistry and related subjects. (Ag '43)

Biology
Fenton, C. L. Our living world. (O '43)

Birds
Hickey, J. J. Guide to bird watching. (D '43)
Ripley, S. D. Trail of the money bird. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)

Juvenile literature

Allen, G. E. Everyday birds. (Je '43)
Brown, M. W. Noisy bird book. (Ap '43)
Kane, H. B. Tale of the crow. (My '43)

Legends and stories

Lehman, D. P. Sandy. (Ap '43)

North America

Kortright, F. H. Ducks, geese and swans of North America. (My '43)

Birds of passage. Heilbut, I. (N '43)

Birth control
Beebe, G. W. Contraception and fertility in the southern Appalachians. (Ap '43)

Bismarck, Otto, fürst von
Kolbeck, Sister Orestes. American opinion on the kulturkampf. (N '43)
Bitter justice. Cowan, S. (My '43)
Black angel. Woolrich, C. (Mr '43)
Black eagles are flying. Morse, F. V. (S '43)
Black magic. Edelstadt, V. (D '43)
Black-out in Gretley. Priestley, J. B. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Black rustle. Little, C. and G. (Ag '43)
Blackbirder. Hughes, D. B. F. (O '43)
Blackout at rehearsal. Rea, M. L. P. (O '43)

Blast furnaces
Hudson, R. P. Blast furnace. (Ap '43)
Blind date with Mars. Moats, A.-L. (Mr '43)
Blind dawn. Wilson, S. K. (Je '43)
Blind man's bluff. Kendrick, B. H. (Mr '43)

Blockade of Germany after the armistice, 1918-1919. Bane, S. L., and Lutz, R. H., eds. (O '43)

Blood

Transfusion

Bernheim, B. M. Adventure in blood transfusion. (Ap '43)
Wiener, A. S. Blood groups and transfusion. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Blood for the emperor. Clausen, W. B. (O '43)

Blood groups
Wiener, A. S. Blood groups and transfusion. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Blood on the black market. Dresser, D. (Ag '43)
Blood on the Rising Sun. Haring, D. G. (Ag '43)
Blood transfusion murders. Propper, M. M. (S '43)
Bloodroots in the wake of circumstance. White, F. (N '43)

Blue Ridge mountains
Peattie, R., ed. Great Smokies and the Blue Ridge. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Bluebird, fly up! Justus, M. (Ag '43)
Blueprint for victory. Brett, H. (Je '43)
Blueprint reading for the metal trades. De Vette, W. A., and Kellogg, D. E. (Je '43)

Blueprints
De Vette, W. A., and Kellogg, D. E. Blueprint reading for the metal trades. (Je '43)
Dwight, C. Reading blueprints in the machine industries. (N '43)
Goff, F. L., and Novak, L. R. Reading aircraft blueprints. (O '43)
Heed, H. L. Ship structure and blueprint reading. (Ap '43)
Hobart, D. E. Blue print reading. (O '43)
Niederhoff, A. E. Blueprint reading for the shipbuilding trades. (N '43)
Tomlinson, J. L. Shipbuilding blueprint reading. (Ap '43)
Boatman's manual. Lane, C. D. (My '43)

Boats and boating
Lane, C. D. Boatman's manual. (My '43)
Bobo, the barrage balloon. McConnell, M. (Ag '43)
Body fell on Berlin. Lakin, R. (S '43)

Bogotá, Colombia
Paxton, V. M. Penthouse in Bogotá. (My '43)

Boise (cruiser)
Morris, F. D. Pick out the biggest. (O '43)

Bolivar, Simon

Juvenile literature

Van Loon, H. W. Life and times of Simón Bolívar. (D '43)
Bombardier. Lent, H. B. (Je '43)
Bombed buildings of Britain. Richards, J. M., ed. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Bonaparte, Charles Joseph
Goldman, E. F. Charles J. Bonaparte, patrician reformer. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Book collecting
Smith, H. H. On the gathering of a library. (O '43)
Book of battles. Bart, B. (My '43)
Book of Canadian poetry. Smith, A. J. M., ed. (N '43)
Book of etiquette. Harriman, G. C. (Ap '43)
Book of unlikely saints. Monro, M. T. (N '43)
Book of war letters. Maule, H. E., ed. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Book selection (library science)
Carlson, P. G. Choice of editions. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Heaps, W. A. Book selection for secondary school libraries. (O '43)
Book selection for secondary school libraries. Heaps, W. A. (O '43)
Booklist. American library association. (Je '43)
Bookmen's holiday. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Books
Bookmen's holiday. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Rogers, B. Paragraphs on printing. (O '43)

Books and reading
Daniel, W. G. Reading interests and needs of Negro college freshmen regarding social science materials. (D '43)

Books and reading—Continued
Smith, H. H. On the gathering of a library. (O '43)
Strang, R. M. Exploration in reading patterns. (My '43)
Boom copper. Murdoch, A. (My '43)
Boone, Daniel
Juvenile literature
Stevenson, A. Daniel Boone, boy hunter. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Boot straps. Girdler, T. M. (N '43)
Boothe, Clare (Mrs Henry Robinson Luce)
Henle, F. Au Clare de Luce. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Border bonanza. Tompkins, W. A. (Ag '43)
Borderlands of psychiatry. Cobb, S. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Borgenicht, Louis
Borgenicht, L. Happiest man. (Ap '43)
Borrowed husband. Corliss, A. S. (Je '43)
Botany
Rickett, H. W. Green earth. (S '43)
Juvenile literature
Webber, I. E. S. Up above and down below. (Ap '43)
Botany, Economic
Jaques, H. E. Plants we eat and wear. (N '43)
Bound for glory. Guthrie, W. (Ap '43)
Bounty of the wayside. Wilder, W. B. (S '43)
Bourne, Randolph Silliman
Filler, L. Randolph Bourne. (D '43)
Bow bells. Gibson, K. (D '43)
Bowditch, Nathaniel
Juvenile literature
Berry, R. E. Sextant and sails. (Ag '43)
Bowling
Falcaro, J., and Goodman, M. Bowling for all. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Box office. Barrows, M., and Eaton, G., comps. (D '43)
Boy and a battery. Yates, R. F. (Ap '43)
Boy Jones. Gordon, P. (D '43)
Boy scouts
Clemens, C., and Sibley, E. C. Uncle Dan. (Mr '43)
Boys' book of model boats. Yates, R. F. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Bradley, Francis Herbert
Church, R. W. Bradley's dialectic. (Ap '43)
Bradshaws of Harniss. Lincoln, J. C. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Brahms, Johannes
Juvenile literature
Goss, M. B., and Schauffler, R. H. Brahms, the master. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Brass chills. Philips, J. P. (My '43)
Brave in the saddle. Drago, H. S. (O '43)
Brave laughter. Guiterman, A. (N '43)
Brazil
Economic conditions
Jobim, J. Brazil in the making. (Ag '43)
History
Marchant, A. N. De A. From barter to slavery. (Ap '43)
Brazil builds. Goodwin, P. L. (S '43)
Brazil in the making. Jobim, J. (Ag '43)
Breasted, James Henry
Breasted, C. Pioneer to the past. (My '43)
Brébeuf and his brethren. Pratt, E. J. (Ag '43)
Bret Harte of the Old West. Harlow, A. F. (Ag '43)
Brick construction
Mulligan, J. A. Handbook of brick masonry construction. (Ap '43)
Bride dined alone. Kelsey, V. (O '43)
Bride laughed once. Sanders, M. K., and Edelstein, M. S. (S '43)
Bride saw red. Carson, R. (Mr '43)
Bridge of heaven. Hsiung, S. (S '43)
Bridge to victory. Handleman, H. (D '43)
Bridgehead to victory. Randall, L. V. (Ag '43)
Bridging the Atlantic. Gibbs, P. H., ed. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Bridle-wise. Hatch, A. (Mr '43)
Brief history of the United States. Nevins, A. (Ap '43)
Bright enchantment. Gilmore, C. (My '43)
Bright is the morning. Gibbons, R. F. (N '43)
Bright plain. Eaton, C. E. (S '43)
Bringing up ourselves. Hogue, H. G. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Britain and the British people. Barker, E. (My '43)
Britain in pictures. (O '43)
Britain in the world front. Dutt, R. P. (Mr '43)
Britannica junior. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
British colonial empire. Simnett, W. E. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
British Columbia
Howay, F. W., and others. British Columbia and the United States. (Ap '43)
British Columbia and the United States. Howay, F. W., and others. (Ap '43)
British Commonwealth at war. Elliott, W. Y., and Hall, H. D. (S '43)
British economic interests in the Far East. Gull, E. M. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
British empire. Walker, E. A. (O '43)
British enterprise in Nigeria. Cook, A. N. (Ag '43)
British foreign policy. Langford, R. V. (Je '43)
British labor and the Beveridge plan. Scheu, F. J. (S '43)
British policy and the Turkish reform movement. Bailey, F. E. (S '43)
British policy in Palestine. Hanna, P. L. (Je '43)
British traveller in America, 1836-1860. Berger, M. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
British war economy, 1939-1943. Murphy, M. E. (S '43)
British West Florida. 1763-1783. Johnson, C. (D '43)
Brittle glass. Lofts, N. R. (Mr '43)
Broken cup. Ziegler, J. H. (Je '43)
Bromley, Joseph
Bromley, J. Clear the tracks! (O '43)
Brotherhood of the New Life
Schneider, H. W., and Lawton, G. Prophet and a pilgrim. (Je '43)
Brothers under the skin. McWilliams, C. (Je '43)
Brown, John
Malin, J. C. John Brown and the legend of fifty-six. (S '43)
Brown Americans. Embree, E. R. (D '43)
Brownstone eclogues, and other poems. Aiken, C. P. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Brushland Bill. Huzarski, R. (Je '43)
Budget, Personal
Crawford, M. M. Student folkways and spending at Indiana university, 1940-1941. (N '43)
Build it yourself! Rothman, M. (Je '43)
Building
Burbank, N. L. Carpentry and joinery work. (Je '43)
Gay, C. M., and Parker, H. E. Materials and methods of architectural construction. (D '43)
Grinter, L. E. Elementary structural analysis and design. (Je '43)
Hansen, H. J. Modern timber design. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Estimates
Roberts, T. A. and R. A. Accurate home estimating. (Ap '43)
Repair and reconstruction
Dalzell, J. R., and Townsend, G. How to remodel a house. (Je '43)
Tuomey, D. Home mechanic. (Je '43)
Building for peace at home and abroad. Stewart, M. S. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Building laws
Comer, J. P. New York city building control, 1800-1941. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Building materials
Fryklund, V. C., and Sechrest, C. H. Materials of construction. (O '43)
Gay, C. M., and Parker, H. E. Materials and methods of architectural construction. (D '43)
Building model war planes. Stieri, E. (Je '43)
Building of eternal Rome. Rand, E. K. (Ag '43)
Bull, Ole Bornemann
Smith, M. Life of Ole Bull. (D '43)

Burbank, Luther
  Beaty, J. Y. Luther Burbank, plant magician. (S '43)
Burden of British taxation. Shirras, G. F., and Rostás, L. (Ap '43)
Burma
  Collis, M. Land of the great image. (S '43)
Burma surgeon. Seagrave, G. S. (S '43)
Burmese picnic. Eng title of: Sun is near. Black, D. (S '43)
Burning an empire. Holbrook, S. H. (D '43)
Burns, Robert
  Fitzhugh, R. T., ed. Robert Burns. (S '43)
Burr, George Lincoln
  Burr, G. L. George Lincoln Burr: his life. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Bury me not. Francis, W. (Mr '43)
Bushido, the anatomy of terror. Pernikoff, O. A. J. (Je '43)
Business as a system of power. Brady, R. A. (Mr '43)
Business conditions
Forecasting
  Babson, R. W. Looking ahead fifty years. (My '43)
Business cycles
  Frickey, E. Economic fluctuations in the United States. (N '43)
  Silberling, N. J. Dynamics of business. (S '43)
Business libraries
  Manley, M. C. Public library service to business. (Je '43)
Business of getting well. Sprague, M. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
But gently day. Nathan, R. (O '43)
But soldiers wondered why. Gervasi, F. (Ag '43)
But that was yesterday. Wetherell, J. P. (Mr '43)
Butler died in Brooklyn. Fenisong, R. (Ag '43)
Butte, Montana
  Writers' program, Montana. Copper camp. (O '43)
Buying
  Culliton, J. W. Make or buy. (D '43)
  Gordon, L. J. Consumers in wartime. (Je '43)
  Reid, M. G. Consumers and the market. (N '43)
By nature free. Haydn, H. C. (My '43)
By your leave, sir. Jacobs, H. H. (S '43)
Byrd, William
  Byrd, W. Secret diary of William Byrd of Westover, v2. (Ap '43)

C/o Postmaster. St George, T. R. (O '43)
Cabinet politician. Fowler, D. G. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Cactus fence. Bryan, C., and Madden, M. B. (F '44) (1943 Annual) Caesars of the wilderness. Nute, G. L. (S '43)
Calculus
  Kells, L. M. Calculus. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
  Thompson, S. P. Calculus made easy. (Je '43)
Calculus made easy. Thompson, S. P. (Je '43)
Calculus of tensors
  Craig, H. V. Vector and tensor analysis. (Ag '43)
California
Missions
  Hawthorne, H. California's missions. (My '43)
California, Lower
  Miller, M. Land where time stands still. (My '43)
California's missions. Hawthorne, H. (My '43)
Call to battle. Lull, R. (Mr '43)
Calling all citizens. Rienow, R. (N '43)
Cambridge, England. University
  Glover, T. R. Cambridge retrospect. (N '43)
Cambridge, England. University. Trinity college
  Trevelyan, G. M. Trinity college. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Cambridge, Massachusetts
  Chamberlain, S. Historic Cambridge in four seasons. (Ap '43)
Cambridge retrospect. Glover, T. R. (N '43)
Cameron, Simon
  Crippen, L. F. Simon Cameron. (Je '43)
Camouflage (military science)
  Chesney, C. H. R. Art of camouflage. (O '43)
  Sloane, E. Camouflage simplified. (Mr '43)
Camouflage simplified. Sloane, E. (Mr '43)
Camp hero. Chute, B. J. (Je '43)
Camping
  Drought, R. A. Camping manual. (O '43)
  Geist, R. C. Hiking, camping and mountaineering. (Je '43)
  Mason, B. S. Junior book of camping and woodcraft. (S '43)
Camping manual. Drought, R. A. (O '43)
Campus and classroom. Hill, A. T., ed. (Ap '43)
Can we win the peace? Einzig, P. (Je '43)
Canada
Foreign population
  Coats, R. H., and MacLean, M. C. American-born in Canada. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Foreign relations
  Glazebrook, G. P. de T. Canadian external relations. (S '43)
United States
  Manning, W. R., ed. Diplomatic correspondence of the United States, v2. (Ap '43)
History
  Glazebrook, G. P. de T. Canadian external relations. (S '43)
  Long, M. H. History of the Canadian people, v 1. (Je '43)
  Nute, G. L. Caesars of the wilderness. (S '43)
  Peck, A. M. Pageant of Canadian history. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Sources
  Manning, W. R., ed. Diplomatic correspondence of the United States, v2. (Ap '43)
Nationality
  Neuendorff, G. Studies in the evolution of dominion status. (Je '43)
Politics and government
  Neuendorff, G. Studies in the evolution of dominion status. (Je '43)
Social life and customs
  Peck, A. M. Young Canada. (N '43)
Canadian born in the United States. Truesdell, L. E. (O '43)
Canadian external relations. Glazebrook, G. P. de T. (S '43)
Canadian poetry
Collections
  Smith, A. J. M., ed. Book of Canadian poetry. (N '43)
Canadians in the United States
  Truesdell, L. E. Canadian born in the United States. (O '43)
Cancer
  Hueper, W. C. Occupational tumors and allied diseases. (Je '43)
Candleford Green. Thompson, F. (My '43)
Canning and preserving
  Duncan, A. O. Food processing. (S '43)
  Taylor, D. M. Complete book of home canning. (S '43)
Cape Breton island
  Dennis, C. Cape Breton over. (D '43)
Cape Breton over. Dennis, C. (D '43)
Cape Cod
Description and travel
  Nathan, R. Journal for Josephine. (Mr '43)
Capistran, Saint John. See Giovanni da Capistrano, Saint Capitalism
  Marx, W. J. Twilight of capitalism and the war. (Ap '43)
  Schumpeter, J. A. Capitalism, socialism, and democracy. (Ap '43)
Capitalism, socialism and democracy. Schumpeter, J. A. (Ap '43)
Capricornia. Herbert, X. (Je '43)

Captain Ebony. Cochran, H. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Captain Joe and the Eskimo. Adams, V. M. (D '43)
Captain of the Andes. Harrison, M. H. (My '43)
Captain Peggy of the Mamie L. Dickson, H. (D '43)
Captain Pottle's house. Cooney, B. (D '43)
Captain wears a cross. Maguire, W. A. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Captain's wife. Lewis, E. (N '43)
Caravan. Smith, E. F. (S '43)
Cards
Adams, D. Fun with cards. (S '43)
Care and feeding of children. Holt, L. E. (S '43)
Career guide. Brooke, E. E., and Roos, M. M. B. (S '43)
Careers for girls in science and engineering. Steele, E. M. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Careers for the home economist. Maule, F. (My '43)
Careers in public relations. Broughton, A. (Je '43)
Careers in retailing for young women. McFarren, D. (My '43)
Careers in the making. Logie, I. M. R., ed. (S '43)
Caribbean policy of the United States, 1890-1920. Callcott, W. H. (Ap '43)
Caribbean sea
Callcott, W. H. Caribbean policy of the United States, 1890-1920. (Ap '43)
Caricatures and cartoons
Brown, H. It's a cinch, Private Finch! (Ap '43)
Craven, T., ed. Cartoon cavalcade. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Darrow, W. You're sitting on my eyelashes. (N '43)
Johnson, C. Barnaby. (N '43)
Price, G. It's smart to be people. (Ap '43)
Steig, W. Lonely ones. (Ap '43)
Thurber, J. Men, women and dogs. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Williams, G., ed. It's a funny world. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Williams, J. R. Out our way. (N '43)
Yashima, T. New sun. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Carlota, American empress. Barnes, N. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Carols
Pauli, H. E. Silent night. (D '43)
Wheeler, O. Sing for Christmas. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Caroni gold. Dennison, L. R. (Ag '43)
Carpentry
Burbank, N. L. Carpentry and joinery work. (Je '43)
Rothman, M. Build it yourself! (Je '43)
Carpentry and joinery work. Burbank, N. L. (Je '43)
Cartography
Flexner, W. W., and Walker, G. L. Military and naval maps and grids. (Je '43)
Sharp, H. O. Photogrammetry. (S '43)
Smith, H. T. U. Aerial photographs and their applications. (O '43)
Cartoon cavalcade. Craven, T., ed. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Carver, George Washington
Holt, M. V. S. George Washington Carver. (My '43)
Cary Fordyce. Hauck, L. P. (S '43)
Casco. Adshead, G. L. (Je '43)
Case for Christianity. Lewis, C. S. (O '43)
Case for Mrs Surratt. Campbell, H. J. (N '43)
Case of the absent-minded professor. Stein, A. M. (Ap '43)
Case of the buried clock. Gardner, E. S. (Je '43)
Case of the drowsy mosquito. Gardner, E. S. (O '43)
Case of the smoking chimney. Gardner, E. S. (Mr '43)
Case of the Tea-Cosy's aunt. Eng title of: Death in the blackout. Malleson, L. B. (Ag '43)
Case of the weird sisters. Armstrong, C. (Mr '43)
Casey, Robert Joseph
Casey, R. J. Such interesting people. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Cat next door. Shepard, B. (N '43)
Cat that walked a week. DeJong, M. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Cataloging
Mann, M. Introduction to cataloging and the classification of books. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Law
Basset, E. Cataloging manual for law libraries. (Ap '43)
Cataloging manual for law libraries. Basset, E. (Ap '43)
Catalogs
Michigan. University. William L. Clemens library of American history. Guide to the manuscript collections in the Library, by Howard H. Peckham. (Ap '43)
Catalogs, Union
Downs, R. B., ed. Union catalogs in the United States. (Ag '43)
Cathode rays
Bly, M. C. Guide to cathode ray patterns. (Ag '43)
Catholic foreign mission society of America
Biography
Keller, J. G., and Berger, M. Men of Maryknoll. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Catholic subject headings. Kapsner, O. L., ed. (S '43)
Cats
Juvenile literature
Eberle, I. Our oldest friends. (Ap '43)
Cat's claw. Hitchens, D. B. (O '43)
Cats prowl at night. Fair, A. A. (O '43)
Catspaw for murder. Hitchens, D. B. (My '43)
Cavalcade of the English novel. Wagenknecht, E. C. (S '43)
Cayce, Edgar
Sugrue, T. There is a river. (Ap '43)
Celestial homespun. Burton, K. K. (My '43)
Celia's house. Stevenson, D. E. (Ap '43)
Cellini Smith: detective. Reeves, R. (Je '43)
Cells
Abramson, H. A., and others. Electrophoresis of proteins and the chemistry of cell surfaces. (Je '43)
Cellulose
Plunguian, M. Cellulose chemistry. (D '43)
Cellulose chemistry. Plunguian, M. (D '43)
Censorship
Summers, R. E., comp. Wartime censorship of press and radio. (S '43)
Centennial summer. Idell, A. E. (S '43)
Central America
Juvenile literature
Quinn, V. Picture map geography of Mexico, Central America and the West Indies. (Je '43)
Century of the common man. Wallace, H. A. (S '43)
Ceramic arts. Johnson, W. H., and Newkirk, L. V. (Je '43)
Certain Doctor French. Seifert, E. (My '43)
Certain measure. Glasgow, E. A. G. (N '43)
Chain of prayer across the ages. Fox, S. F., comp. (My '43)
Challenge. Gibson, W. W. (Je '43)
Challenge of listening. McKinney, H. D., and Anderson, W. R. (Je '43)
Challenge to freedom. Wriston, H. M. (S '43)
Challenge to Marion. Carson, J. M. H. (N '43)
Champion caddy. Renick, M. (Je '43)
Chaos or peace. Bain, L. B. (F '44) (1943 Annual) Charities
England
De Schweinitz, K. England's road to social security. (O '43)
Pennsylvania
Levy, H. P. Study in public relations. (S '43)
Charles V, emperor of the Holy Roman empire
Fiction
Zara, L. Against this rock. (O '43)
Charlotte, consort of Maximilian, emperor of Mexico
Fiction
Niles, B. R. Passengers to Mexico. (My '43)

Juvenile literature
Barnes, N. Carlota, American empress. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Chatterduck. Evers, H. and A. (My '43)
Chautauqua, New York
Richmond, R. L. Chautauqua. (Ag '43)
Chemical aspects of light. Bowen, E. J. (Je '43)
Chemical background for engine research. Burk, R. E., and Grummitt, O. J., eds. (N '43)
Chemical dictionary. Campbell, F. H., comp. (Ap '43)
Chemical engineering

Apparatus and supplies
Zimmerman, O. T., and Lavine, I. Chemical engineering laboratory equipment. (F '44) (1943 Annual) Chemical engineering laboratory equipment. Zimmerman, O. T., and Lavine, I. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Chemical engineers' manual. Keyes, D. B., and Deem, A. G. (S '43)
Chemical front. Haynes, W. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Chemical process principles; pt. 1, Material and energy balances. Hougen, O. A., and Watson, K. M. (F '44) (1943 Annual) Chemical refining of petroleum. Kalichevsky, V. A., and Stagner, B. A. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Chemical warfare
Bebie, J. Manual of explosives, military pyrotechnics, and chemical warfare agents. (Je '43)
Haynes, W. Chemical front. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Hessel, F. A., and others. Chemistry in warfare. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Chemistry
Snell, C. T. and F. D. Chemistry made easy. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Dictionaries
Campbell, F. H., comp. Chemical dictionary. (Ap '43)

Tables, etc.
Keyes, D. B., and Deem, A. G. Chemical engineers' manual. (S '43)
Chemistry, Analytic
Dobbins, J. T. Semi-micro qualitative analysis. (D '43)
Gibb, T. R. P. Optical methods of chemical analysis. (Ap '43)

Quantitative
Willard, H. H., and Diehl, H. Advanced quantitative analysis. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Chemistry, Inorganic
Sneed, M. C., and Maynard, J. L. General inorganic chemistry. (S '43)
Chemistry, Organic
Burk, R. E., and Grummitt, O. J., eds. Chemistry of large molecules. (D '43)
Caldwell, W. T. Organic chemistry. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Degering, E. F., and others. Fundamental organic chemistry. (Je '43)
Fuson, R. C., and Snyder, H. R. Organic chemistry. (Je '43)
Gilman, H., and others, eds. Organic chemistry. (Ag '43)
Macy, R. Organic chemistry simplified. (N '43)
Remick, A. E. Electronic interpretations of organic chemistry. (D '43)
Chemistry, Physical and theoretical
Burk, R. E., and Grummitt, O. J., eds. Chemistry of large molecules. (D '43)
Getman, F. H. Outlines of physical chemistry. (D '43)
Margenau, H., and Murphy, G. M. Mathematics of physics and chemistry. (O '43)
Randall, M., and Young, L. E. Elementary physical chemistry. (Ag '43)
Chemistry, Technical
Carlisle, N. V. Your career in chemistry. (Je '43)
Haynes, W. Chemical front. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Hougen, O. A., and Watson, K. M. Chemical process principles; pt. 1, Material and energy balances. (F '44) (1943 Annual) Riegel, E. R. Industrial chemistry. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Schoengold, M. D., ed. Encyclopedia of substitutes and synthetics. (D '43)
Chemistry as a profession
Coith, H. S. So you want to be a chemist? (O '43)
Chemistry in warfare. Hessel, F. A., and others. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Chemistry made easy. Snell, C. T. and F. D. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Chemistry of insecticides and fungicides. Frear, D. E. H. (Je '43)
Chemistry of large molecules. Burk, R. E., and Grummitt, O. J., eds. (D '43)
Chemistry of natural coloring matters. Mayer, F. (Ag '43)
Chemistry of powder and explosives, v 2. Davis, T. L. (Ag '43)
Chemistry of the aliphatic orthoesters. Post, H. W. (N '43)
Chemotherapy
Galdston, I. Behind the sulfa drugs. (My '43)
Chennault, Claire Lee
Hotz, R. B. With General Chennault. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Chess
Wellmuth, F. J., comp. Golden treasury of chess. (S '43)
Chesterton, Gilbert Keith
Ward, M. Gilbert Keith Chesterton. (N '43)
Chiang, Kai-shek
Clark, E. T. Chiangs of China. (O '43)
Chiang, Mei-ling (Sung) (Mme Chiang Kai-shek)
Clark, E. T. Chiangs of China. (O '43)
Hull, H. R. Mayling Soong Chiang. (N '43)
Chiangs of China. Clark, E. T. (O '43)
Chicago
Biography
Poole, E. Giants gone. (Ap '43)
History
Poole, E. Giants gone. (Ap '43)
Politics and government
Wendt, L., and Kogan, H. Lords of the Levee. (Mr '43)
Chicago blueprint. Balderston, J. L. (N '43)
Chicago. Public library
Spencer, G. Chicago public library. (N '43)
Chicago public library. Spencer, G. (N '43)
Chicago strike, 1894
Lindsey, A. Pullman strike. (My '43)
Chicago tribune
Kinsley, P. Chicago tribune. (S '43)
Chicken every Sunday. Taylor, R. (My '43)
Chico goes to the wars. Longstreet, S. (My '43)
Chico of the Andes. Von Hagen, C. B. (Je '43)
Chief modern poets of England and America. Sanders, G. D., and Nelson, J. H., eds. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Chief Seattle. Anderson, E. G. (S '43)
Child development and guidance in rural schools. Strang, R. M., and Hatcher, O. L. (O '43)
Child life in school. Biber, B., and others. (Mr '43)
Child study
Allen, F. H. Psychotherapy with children. (My '43)
Baker, H. V. Children's contributions in elementary school general discussion. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Baruch, D. W. You, your children, and war. (Ag '43) (1943 Annual)
Biber, B., and others. Child life in school. (Mr '43)
Bossard, J. H. S., and Boll, E. S. Family situations. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Davidson, H. H. Personality and economic background. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Fenton, N. Mental hygiene in school practice. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Freud, A., and Burlingham, D. T. War and children. (S '43)
Gesell, A., and others. Infant and child in the culture of today. (My '43)
Hayes, M. L. Study of the classroom disturbances. (N '43)

Strain, F. B. Your child, his family and friends. (S '43)
Tait, J. W. Some aspects of the effect of the dominant American culture upon children of Italian-born parents. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Zeligs, R. Glimpses into child life. (Ap '43)

Childcraft. (O '43)

Children
Garrison, C. G., and Sheehy, E. D. At home with children. (Je '43)

Care and hygiene
Holt, L. E. Care and feeding of children. (S '43)
Kenyon, J. H. Healthy babies are happy babies. (S '43)
Lerrigo, M. O. Children can help themselves. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Charities, protection, etc.
Kershner, H. E. One humanity. (D '43)
National commission for young children. Children's centers. (Ap '43)
Zoff, O. They shall inherit the earth. (D '43)

Management
Bradbury, D. E., and Amidon, E. P. Learning to care for children. (O '43)
Hayes, M. L. Study of the classroom disturbances. (N '43)
Perry, R. D. Children need adults. (O '43)
Preston, G. H. Substance of mental health. (O '43)
Strain, F. B. Your child, his family and friends. (S '43)
Wieman, R. H. W. Does your child obey? (My '43)

Nutrition
Holt, L. E. Care and feeding of children. (S '43)
Monsch, H., and Harper, M. K. Feeding babies and their families. (N '43)

Placing out
Hutchinson, D. C. H. In quest of foster parents. (S '43)

Children, Abnormal and backward
Abel, T. M., and Kinder, E. F. Subnormal adolescent girl. (Ap '43)
Allen, F. H. Psychotherapy with children. (My '43)
Berry, M. G., and Eisenson, J. Defective in speech. (Ap '43)
Singh, J. A. L., and Zingg, R. M. Wolf-children and Feral man. (My '43)

Children, Gifted
Hollingworth, L. A. S. Children above 180 I Q, Stanford-Binet. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Children, Wild
Singh, J. A. L., and Zingg, R. M. Wolf-children and Feral man. (My '43)

Children above 180 I Q, Stanford-Binet. Hollingworth, L. A. S. (F '44) (1943 Annual) Children can help themselves. Lerrigo, M. O. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Children in Canada
Peck, A. M. Young Canada. (N '43)

Children in China
Buck, P. S. Water-buffalo children. (N '43)

Children in North Africa
Stinetorf, L. A. Children of North Africa. (S '43)

Children need adults. Perry, R. D. (O '43)
Children object. Holbrook, S. (Je '43)
Children of North Africa. Stinetorf, L. A. (S '43)
Children under fire. C., S. M. (O '43)
Children's centers. National commission for young children. (Ap '43)
Children's contributions in elementary school general discussion. Baker, H. V. (F '44) (1943 Annual) Children's games from many lands. Millen, N., comp. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Children's literature (books about)

Bibliography
Annotated list of books. (Je '43)
Carpenter, H. M. Gateways to American history. (Ap '43)
Heaps, W. A. Book selection for secondary school libraries. (O '43)

Children's literature (individual titles)
Adams, V. M. Captain Joe and the Eskimo. (D '43)
Adshead, G. L. Casco. (Je '43)
Allen, A. Dollar a share. (S '43)
Allen, M. P. Sun trail. (O '43)
Alton, M. Rise of Richard. (D '43)
Anderson, C. W. Big Red. (D '43)
Angelo, V. Look out yonder. (D '43)
Atwater, M. M. Ski patrol. (Ag '43)
Aulaire, I. M. d' and E. P. d'. Don't count your chicks. (D '43)
Austin, M. Manuel's kite string. (My '43)
Austin, M. Trumpet. (S '43)
Aviation research associates, incorporated. Parts of planes. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Ayling, K. Semper fidelis. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Ayling, K. They fly for victory. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Bailey, B. F. Youngest WAAC. (O '43)
Baker, N. B. Peter the Great. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Barne, K. We'll meet in England. (My '43)
Barnes, N. Carlota, American empress. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Barrows, M. Cocky, the little helicopter. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Barrows, M. Timothy Tiger. (D '43)
Bart, B. Book of battles. (My '43)
Barto, E. N. Jack Horner, and Song of sixpence. (D '43)
Baruch, D. W. Pitter patter. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Battle, F. Jerry goes fishing. (My '43)
Beaty, J. Y. Luther Burbank, plant magician. (S '43)
Bechdolt, J. E., and Merwin, D. Dulcie. (My '43)
Becker, C. Judy goes sailing. (N '43)
Becker, C. Judy's farm visit. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Becker, C. Unlike twins. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Becker, C. Unlike twins and the animals. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual) Bedier, M. J. Horse for Christmas. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Beebe, C. Christmas—this way! (D '43)
Beim, L. L. and J. Spotlight for Danny. (My '43)
Bell, M. E. Pirates of Icy strait. (O '43)
Bell, M. R., and Geyer, D. M. Young cowboys at the Broken Arrow. (S '43)
Berger, J. Subchaser Jim. (O '43)
Berry, R. E. Sextant and sails. (Ag '43)
Best, A. C. There is the land. (D '43)
Bible. Whole. Selections. Small rain. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Bischoff, I. Painter's coach. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Bohanon, P. Golden Kate. (D '43)
Bourgeois, F. Nathan's dark house. (Je '43)
Brier, H. M. Swing shift. (Je '43)
Bright, R. Travels of Ching. (D '43)
Brister, H. Cunning fox. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual) Britcher, P. Cinder's secret. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Britton, K. What makes it tick? (O '43)
Brock, E. L. Topsy-turvy family. (D '43)
Bronson, W. S. Grasshopper book. (O '43)
Brown, B. C., and Arbuthnot, H. Story of England. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Brown, M. W. Child's good night book. (D '43)
Brown, M. W. Noisy bird book. (Ap '43)
Brown, M. W. Shhhhhh. . . . . . bang. (Je '43)
Brown, P. Swish of the curtain. (O '43)
Bruce, M. O. C. K. Sad farm bell. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Bryan, C., and Madden, M. B. Cactus fence. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Bryan, C., and Madden, M. B. Pito's house. (My '43)
Bryant, B. M. Pedie and the twins. (My '43)
Buck, P. S. Water-buffalo children. (N '43)
Bunce, W. H. War belts of Pontiac. (S '43)
Burglon, N. Shark hole. (Je '43)
Burton, V. L. Katy and the big snow. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Busoni, R. Somi builds a church. (N '43)
Campbell, S. A. How's Inky? (D '43)
Carlisle, N. V., ed. How planes fly. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Carroll, R. R. and L. Scuffles. (O '43)
Caudill, R. Barrie and daughter. (D '43)
Chan, C. Good-luck horse. (D '43)

Chandler, C. A. Susie Stuart, home front doctor. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Chase, R., ed. Jack tales. (S '43)
Chute, B. J. Camp hero. (Je '43)
Chute, M. G. Innocent wayfaring. (S '43)
Clark, A. N. Little Navajo bluebird. (My '43)
Clark, T. D. Simon Kenton, Kentucky scout. (Je '43)
Clymer, E. Yard for John. (Ag '43)
Coatsworth, E. J. Thief island. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Coatsworth, E. J. Twelve months make a year. (Je '43)
Coblentz, C. Beggars' Penny. (D '43)
Coe, D. Road to Alaska. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Coffman, R. P., and Goodman, N. G. Famous authors for boys and girls. (S '43)
Colum, P. Frenzied prince. (D '43)
Comfort, M. H. Winter on the Johnny Smoker. (D '43)
Conger, E. M. American warplanes. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Conway, H. Year to grow. (Je '43)
Cook, H. Sammi's army. (Ag '43)
Cooke, M., and others. Mrs Caliper's house. (D '43)
Cooney, B. Captain Pottle's house. (D '43)
Crane, A. Gloucester Joe. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Dahl, R. Gremlins. (Ag '43)
Dalgliesh, A. Little angel. (D '43)
Daniel, H. Fogbound. (N '43)
Davis, B. E. Young Tom Jefferson's adventure chest. (Ap '43)
Davis, L. Stand fast and reply. (D '43)
Davis, L. R. Round Robin. (My '43)
Davisson, E. D. Polkadot of the Flying M ranch. (S '43)
Dean, S. W. Fighting Dan of the Long Rifles. (My '43)
De Jong, D. Level land. (D '43)
DeJong, M. Cat that walked a week. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
DeJong, M. Little stray dog. (S '43)
De Leeuw, A. L. Linda Marsh. (D '43)
De Leeuw, A. L. Patchwork quilt. (D '43)
De Leeuw, H. Peewee the mousedeer. (S '43)
Deming, D. Penny Marsh and Ginger Lee, wartime nurses. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Dennis, M. Pup Himself. (D '43)
Deutsch, B. Welcome. (Ap '43)
De Witt, J. Cowboy Ken. (D '43)
Dickson, H. Captain Peggy of the Mamie L. (D '43)
Ditmars, R. L. Twenty little pets from everywhere. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Downey, F. D. Dog of war. (D '43)
DuBois, T. M. Banjo the crow. (My '43)
Dwight, M. B. Winkie Boo, and other poems. (Ap '43)
Dyett, J. G. From sea to shining sea. (Je '43)
Eberle, I. Our oldest friends. (Ap '43)
Eberle, I. We'll take the skyway. (Ap '43)
Edelstadt, V. Black magic. (D '43)
Edmonds, W. D. Two logs crossing. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Elting, M., and Weaver, R. T. Soldiers, sailors, fliers and marines. (D '43)
Ershov, P. P. Little magic horse. (Mr '43)
Estes, E. Rufus M. (O '43)
Estes, E. Sun and the wind and Mr Todd. (Ap '43)
Evers, H. and A. Chatterduck. (My '43)
Ewen, D. Story of George Gershwin. (O '43)
Eyre, K. W. Spurs for Antonia. (D '43)
Fargo, L. F. Prairie Chautauqua. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Felsen, G. Struggle is our brother. (Ap '43)
Felsen, G. Submarine sailor. (N '43)
Fenner, P. R. Giants and witches and a dragon or two. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Fenton, C. L. Along nature's highway. (Ap '43)
Fenton, C. L. Earth's adventures. (Ap '43)
Fernald, H. C. Jonathan's doorstep. (O '43)
Finger, C. J. High water in Arkansas. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Flack, M. New pet. (O '43)
Flight, J. W., and Fahs, S. B. L. Moses, Egyptian prince, nomad sheikh, lawgiver. (Ap '43)
Forbes, E. Johnny Tremain. (D '43)
Foster, C. J. This rich world. (Je '43)
Foster, E. Gigi. (D '43)
Freeman, M. and I. M. Fun with science. (My '43)
Friskey, M. House that ran away. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Frost, F. M., ed. Legends of the United nations. (N '43)
Gaidar, A. Timur and his gang. (D '43)
Gale, L., ed. Favorite bedtime stories. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Gale, L., ed. Favorite nursery stories. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Garbutt, K. K. Michael, the colt. (Je '43)
Garner, E. Little cat lost. (D '43)
Gates, D. Sensible Kate. (D '43)
Gatti, A. Adventure in black and white. (S '43)
Gatti, E. M. W. and A. Here is Africa. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Gaul, A. T. Picture book of insects. (Je '43)
Gibson, K. Bow bells. (D '43)
Gillham, C. E. Beyond the Clapping mountains. (Je '43)
Glick, C. Oswald's pet dragon. (N '43)
Glover, F. R. First Christmas. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Golden, S. E., ed. Plays of patriotism for young Americans. (My '43)
Gondor, E. I. Secret zoo. (Je '43)
Gordon, P. Boy Jones. (D '43)
Goss, M. B., and Schauffler, R. H. Brahms, the master. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Gould, D. Very first garden. (Je '43)
Grant, G. Secret voyage. (Mr '43)
Griffin, A. R. Here come the marines! (Mr '43)
Grimm, J. L. K. and W. K. Three gay tales from Grimm. (D '43)
Gronowicz, A. Paderewski. (Je '43)
Guberlet, M. L. Seashore parade. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Gury, J. 'Round and 'round horse. (D '43)
Hader, B. H. and E. Mighty hunter. (D '43)
Haig-Brown, R. L. H. Starbuck Valley winter. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Hall, W. N. Telltime the rabbit. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Hark, A. Story of the Pennsylvania Dutch. (Ag '43)
Harkins, P. Coast guard, ahoy! (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Harlow, A. F. Bret Harte of the Old West. (Ag '43)
Harris, L. Big lonely dog. (Je '43)
Hatch, A. Bridle-wise. (Mr '43)
Hawkins, Q. Puppy for keeps. (D '43)
Hayes, F. S. Hosh-ki, the Navajo. (O '43)
Haywood, C. Back to school with Betsy. (O '43)
Henderson, Le G. Augustus helps the army. (Ag '43)
Henderson, Le G. Augustus helps the marines. (D '43)
Heyneman, A., and Kappel, H. Happy hippopotamus. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Hill, M. B. Along comes Judy Jo. (O '43)
Hinkle, T. C. Shep, a collie of the old West. (O '43)
Hoffmann, E. Mischief in Fez. (Je '43)
Hofmann, M. Pearls of Ferrara. (O '43)
Hogan, I. Listen Hitler! (Ag '43)
Hogan, I. Monkey twins. (Mr '43)
Hogan, I. Nicodemus helps Uncle Sam. (S '43)
Hogarth, G. A. Australia. (D '43)
Holberg, R. L. Marching to Jerusalem. (D '43)
Holberg, R. L. Tibby's venture. (D '43)
Holland, R. S. Freedom's flag. (S '43)
Hubbard, M. A. Lone boy. (N '43)
Hunt, M. L. Peddler's clock. (Ag '43)
Huzarski, R. Brushland Bill. (Je '43)
Hylander, C. J. Out of doors in winter. (Ap '43)
Inchfawn, F. Who goes to the wood. (Je '43)
Ives, M. L. He conquered the Andes. (Je '43)
Jackson, C. E. Roger and the fishes. (O '43)
Jacobs, E. A. Trailer trio. (Je '43)
Jacobs, H. H. By your leave, sir. (S '43)
Jewett, E. M. Told on the king's highway. (D '43)
Johnson, M. S. and H. L. Derry the wolfhound. (O '43)
Johnson, W. H., and Newkirk, L. V. Electrical crafts. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Johnston, E. Jamie and the dump truck. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Children's literature—Continued
Jones, E. O. Twig. (Ap '43)
Jones, M. A. Tell me about God. (D '43)
Judson, C. I. Donald McKay. (D '43)
Judson, C. I. People who work in the country and in the city. (Je '43)
Judson, C. I. They came from France. (O '43)
Justus, M. Bluebird, fly up! (Ag '43)
Kane, H. B. Tale of the crow. (My '43)
Karasz, M. Good housekeeping see and sew. (O '43)
Kelly, E. P. Land of the Polish people. (N '43)
Kelsey, A. G. Once the Hodja. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Kenney, A. W. and S. C. Charles Hampton, research chemist. (Ap '43)
Kent, L. A. He went with Magellan. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
King, D. N. Help the farmer. (D '43)
Kingman, L. Pierre Pidgeon. (D '43)
Kjelgaard, J. A. Rebel siege. (D '43)
Knight, M. Alexander's vacation. (O '43)
Knight, R. A. Valiant comrades. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Kohl, G. L. Picture almanac for boys and girls. (Ap '43)
Lamb, C. and M. A. Tales from Shakespeare. (Ap '43)
Lambert, J. Glory be! (Ag '43)
Lang, D. On the dark of the moon. (D '43)
Langdale, H. L. R. Jon of the Albany Belle. (Mr '43)
Lansing, E. H. Ann Bartlett at Bataan. (My '43)
Lansing, E. H. Nancy Naylor flies south. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Lathrop, D. P. Puppies for keeps. (N '43)
Lathrop, W. Monkey ahoy! (Je '43)
Lattimore, E. F. Peachblossom. (O '43)
Lavender, D. S. Trouble at Tamarack. (Je '43)
Lawson, M. A. Dragon John. (N '43)
Leaf, M. Health can be fun. (N '43)
Lederer, C. B. Yanko in America. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Lee, M. H. Village of singing birds. (Je '43)
Leeming, J. Fun with magic. (D '43)
Lehman, D. P. Sandy. (Ap '43)
Lenski, L. Bayou Suzette. (D '43)
Lenski, L. Davy's day. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Lent, H. B. Bombardier. (Je '43)
Leskov, N. S. Steel flea. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
L'Hommedieu, D. K. Nipper the little bull pup. (D '43)
Liger-Belair, E. Gigi and Gogo. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Lindman, M. J. Flicka, Ricka, Dicka and their new friend. (Ap '43)
Lockwood, M. Beckoning star. (Je '43)
Lovelace, M. H. Down town. (N '43)
Lucas, M. S. Vast horizons. (S '43)
Lynch, P. Fiddler's quest. (S '43)
McCloskey, R. Homer Price. (D '43)
McConnell, M. Bobo, the barrage balloon. (Ag '43)
McCracken, H. Biggest bear on earth. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
McCullough, J. G. At our house. (D '43)
MacDonald, G. Big dog, little dog. (Ag '43)
McEwen, J. E. Fairies of the glen. (Je '43)
McEwen, J. E. Once upon a time. (D '43)
McKelvey, G. D. Stories to live by. (Ag '43)
MacMillan, W. Dark treasure. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
McNeer, M. Y. Story of the Great Plains. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
McSwigan, M. Five on a merry-go-round. (S '43)
Malvern, G. Valiant minstrel. (D '43)
Maril, L. Spice and scent. (Je '43)
Mason, F. W. Q-boat. (S '43)
Mason, M. E. Young Audubon. (D '43)
Meader, S. W. Sea snake. (O '43)
Means, F. C. Teresita of the valley. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Meigs, C. L. Mounted messenger. (Je '43)
Merrill, M. Treasure cave trail. (O '43)
Milhous, K. Corporal Keeperupper. (Je '43)
Miller, A. D. Cinderella. (D '43)
Miller, J. Miss Lizzie. (D '43)
Miller, W. H. Lone woodsman. (O '43)
Mitchell, L. S. Red, white and blue auto. (D '43)
Montgomery, R. G. Husky, co-pilot of the Pilgrim. (O '43)
Montgomery, R. G. Trappers' trail. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Morrow, E. R. C. My favorite age. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Murphy, M. A. When Jefferson was young. (My '43)
Neikirk, M. E. All about Oscar. (D '43)
Neilson, F. F. Mocha, the Djuka. (O '43)
Newcomb, C. Silver saddles. (O '43)
Newman, G., and Meyer, E. P. Polly Poppingay, milliner. (D '43)
Norling, J. and E. R. Pogo's fishing trip. (My '43)
Norling, J. and E. R. Pogo's sky ride. (O '43)
North, S. Midnight and Jeremiah. (D '43)
Noyes, A. Secret of Pooduck island. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
O'Malley, P. War wings for Carol. (S '43)
Osgood, H. E. K. Pam Pam. (Ag '43)
Panter-Downes, M. Watling Green. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Parton, E. House between. (Je '43)
Pauli, H. E. Silent night. (D '43)
Paull, G. Squash for the fair. (O '43)
Paulmier, H. C., and Schauffler, R. H., eds. Pan-American day. (My '43)
Peck, A. M. Manoel and the Morning Star. (Je '43)
Peckham, B. C. Other people's children. (Je '43)
Peet, C. Runaway train. (My '43)
Perry, J. Cotton industry. (Ag '43)
Perry, J. Steel industry. (Ag '43)
Phelps, M. Pico and the silver mountain. (Je '43)
Pollock, K. G. Sly Mongoose. (O '43)
Porter, E. B. W. Sandra Kendall of the 4-H. (Ap '43)
Price, M. E. Animals marooned. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Purdy, C. L. S. Stormy victory. (Mr '43)
Quinn, V. Picture map geography of Mexico, Central America and the West Indies. (Je '43)
Ransome, A. Picts and the martyrs. (D '43)
Raymond, L. Child's story of the nativity. (O '43)
Renick, M. Champion caddy. (Je '43)
Reppy, N. Little builders' A B C. (D '43)
Rey, H. A. Tommy helps, too. (S '43)
Rey, H. A. Where's my baby? (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Ridgway, M. V. First steps. (D '43)
Rifkin, L. When I grow up, I'll be a flyer. (Ap '43)
Rifkin, L. When I grow up, I'll be a nurse. (Ap '43)
Robinson, G. Peter Snow, surgeon. (S '43)
Robinson, T. P. Mr Red Squirrel. (N '43)
Rogers, F., and Beard, A. Paul Revere. (D '43)
Roos, A. Man of Molokai. (Je '43)
Rounds, G. Whitey's Sunday horse. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Sackett, B. Sponger's jinx. (D '43)
Saint Exupéry, A. de. Little prince. (My '43)
Sasse, A. B. Terry Carvel's theater caravan. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Sauer, J. L. Fog magic. (D '43)
Schmidt, S. L. Hurricane mystery. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Scott, S. Molly and the tool shed. (O '43)
Seredy, K. Open gate. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Shapiro, I. Steamboat Bill and the captain's top hat. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Shepard, B. Cat next door. (N '43)
Sherman, F. J. Admiral Wags. (S '43)
Shinn, A. V. Sigurdur in Iceland. (Ap '43)
Shore, M., and Oblinger, M. M. Knight of the wilderness. (Je '43)
Simmons, M. I. Sally wins her wings. (My '43)
Simon, C. M. H. Song of tomorrow. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Stebbins, A. E. Small flags waving. (O '43)
Steiner, C. Kiki and Muffy. (D '43)
Steiner, C., and Burlingham, M. Climbing book. (D '43)
Sterne, E. G. Incident in Yorkville. (O '43)
Stevens, W. O. Drummer boy of Burma. (S '43)
Stevenson, A. Daniel Boone, boy hunter. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Stinetorf, L. A. Children of North Africa. (S '43)
Stong, P. D. Missouri canary. (D '43)

Strack, L. H. Magnesium: a magic mineral. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Stuart, F. P. Pledge of Piang. (D '43)
Summers, R. A. Battle of the Sierras. (Je '43)
Swarthout, G. Come soon, tomorrow. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Tate, S. Fluffy. (S '43)
Teal, V. Little woman wanted noise. (Je '43)
Temple, W. H. Web Adams. (My '43)
Thompson, B. J. Oldest story. (O '43)
Thompson, M. W. Pattern for Penelope. (O '43)
Thurber, J. Many moons. (O '43)
Tompkins, J. F. Storks fly home. (D '43)
Tousey, S. Airplane Andy. (Ap '43)
Tousey, S. Dick and the canal boat. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Tousey, S. Lumberjack Bill. (Je '43)
Tousey, S. Old Blue. (Ap '43)
Travers, P. L. Mary Poppins opens the door. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Troy, H. Five golden wrens. (My '43)
True, B., and Henry, M. Their first igloo on Baffin island. (O '43)
Tudor, T. White goose. (D '43)
Tunis, J. R. Keystone kids. (O '43)
Turner, N. B. Sycamore silver. (Ap '43)
Turner, T. Christmas house. (D '43)
Ulreich, N. W. Nura's children go visiting. (Je '43)
Undset, S. Sigurd and his brave companions. (D '43)
Urbahns, E. Tangled web. (D '43)
Urmston, M. Quite contrary. (Je '43)
Van Loon, H. W. Life and times of Simón Bolívar. (D '43)
Van Stockum, H. Gerrit and the organ. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Von Hagen, C. B. Chico of the Andes. (Je '43)
Vorse, M. E. Grubby gets clean. (Ap '43)
Wagoner, J. B. Louisa Alcott. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Wallower, L. Chooky. (Je '43)
Waugh, D. Warm earth. (Je '43)
Webber, F. M. Peter Painter and the holidays. (Ag '43)
Webber, I. E. S. Up above and down below. (Ap '43)
Weber, L. M. Meet the Malones. (N '43)
Wells, P. Pirate's apprentice. (D '43)
Wheeler, O. Sing for Christmas. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Wheeler, P. Hathoo of the elephants. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Whitehead, R. Five and ten. (Je '43)
Whitney, P. A. Window for Julie. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Wilder, L. I. These happy golden years. (My '43)
Wolo. Tweedles be brave! (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Wonsetler, A. H. and J. C. Liberty for Johanny. (D '43)
Wood, L. N. Walter Reed, doctor in uniform. (S '43)
Woodcock, L. P. Hiding places. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
World book encyclopedia. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Wright, A. M. R. Summer at Buckhorn. (D '43)
Wright, F. F. Lucy Ellen's college daze. (D '43)
Writers' program, Pennsylvania. Lumber. (My '43)
Writers' program, Pennsylvania. Orchards in all seasons. (My '43)
Writers' program, Pennsylvania. Pigeons. (My '43)
Yates, E. Mountain born. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Yates, E. Patterns on the wall. (My '43)
Yates, R. F. Boy and a battery. (Ap '43)
Young America's music. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Mystery stories
Barbour, R. H. Mystery of the rubber boat. (Ag '43)
Barbour, R. H. Mystery on the bayou. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Barnett, G. T. and O. E. Fire beads. (Mr '43)
Chapman, M. Trail beyond the Rockies. (Je '43)
Coles, M. Great Caesar's ghost. (D '43)
Farmer, W. Surprise mystery. (S '43)
Garrard, P. Jenny's secret island. (Ag '43)
Lee, A. Vanishing violin. (S '43)
Orton, H. F. Mystery at the old place. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Seidlin, O., and Rypins, S. J. Green wagons. (Je '43)
Taylor, M. PX. (My '43)
Wadsworth, L. A. Masquerade mystery. (Je '43)

Children's literature (collective)
Childcraft. (O '43)
Gruenberg, S. M., ed. Favorite stories old and new. (Mr '43)
Modern wonder books. (Je '43)

Children's plays
Golden, S. E., ed. Plays of patriotism for young Americans. (My '43)

Children's poetry
Dwight, M. B. Winkie Boo, and other poems. (Ap '43)
Robinson, T. P. In and out. (O '43)

Children's songs
Surette, T. W., comp. Songs from many lands. (My '43)

Child's good night book. Brown, M. W. (D '43)
Child's story of the nativity. Raymond, L. (O '43)

Chile
Fergusson, E. Chile. (Ap '43)
Subercaseaux, B. Chile. (Je '43)

Chimpanzees
Yerkes, R. M. Chimpanzees. (Ag '43)

China

Air force

American volunteer group

Greenlaw, O. S. Lady and the Tigers. (O '43)
Hotz, R. B. With General Chennault. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Biography
Clark, E. T. Chiangs of China. (O '43)
La Fargue, T. E. China's first hundred. (S '43)

Civilization
Fung, K. China. (S '43)
Spencer, C. Made in China. (D '43)
Ts'ui, C. Short history of Chinese civilization. (O '43)

Constitutional history
Lacy, C. Is China a democracy? (Je '43)

Economic conditions
Freyn, H. Free China's new deal. (D '43)

Foreign relations

United States

Hornbeck, E. K. United States and the Far East. (Ag '43)

History
Chiang, K. All we are and all we have. (My '43)
Chiang, K. Resistance and reconstruction. (S '43)
Goodrich, L. C. Short history of the Chinese people. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Smedley, A. Battle hymn of China. (O '43)
Ts'ui, C. Short history of Chinese civilization. (O '43)

Politics and government
Abend, H. My life in China, 1926-1941. (D '43)
Lacy, C. Is China a democracy? (Je '43)

Relations (general) with the United States
La Fargue, T. E. China's first hundred. (S '43)

Social life and customs
Allman, N. F. Shanghai lawyer. (N '43)

China. Fung, K. (S '43)
China's first hundred. La Fargue, T. E. (S '43)

Chinese in the United States
Glick, C. Three times I bow. (S '43)
La Fargue, T. E. China's first hundred. (S '43)
Lowe, P. Father and Glorious Descendant. (My '43)

Chinese-Japanese war, 1931-
Abend, H. My life in China, 1926-1941. (D '43)
Alcott, C. D. My war with Japan. (Ag '43)
Oakes, V. A. White man's folly. (Mr '43)

Chinese shawl. Wentworth, P. (My '43)
Choice. Mills, C. (Je '43)
Choice of editions. Carlson, P. G. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Choice of Kipling's verse. Kipling, R. (N '43)
Chooky. Wallower, L. (Je '43)

Chopin, Frederic Francois

Juvenile literature

Gronowicz, A. Chopin. (D '43)

Chouart, Medard, sieur des Groseilliers. See Des Groseilliers, M. C.

Christ and Christian education. Bower, W. C. (Ag '43)

Christ at the peace table. Gilmore, A. F. (Ag '43)

Christian art and symbolism
Stafford, T. A. Christian symbolism in the Evangelical churches. (Ap '43)

Christian bases of world order. Wallace, H. A., and others. (Je '43)

Christian ethics
Coe, G. A. What is religion doing to our consciences? (S '43)
Titus, H. H. What is a mature morality? (My '43)

Christian life
Austin, E. M. Harvest of the spirit. (My '43)
Fosdick, H. E. Three meanings. (Ap '43)
Kleiser, G. Taking God into partnership. (Ag '43)
Lewis, C. S. Screwtape letters. (My '43)

Christian philosophy of history. Case, S. J. (N '43)

Christian symbolism in the Evangelical churches. Stafford, T. A. (Ap '43)

Christianity
Alington, C. A. Christianity in England. (N '43)
Bell, B. I. Church in disrepute. (My '43)
Brown, W. A. New order in the church. (O '43)
Coe, G. A. What is religion doing to our consciences? (S '43)
Ferre, N. F. S. Return to Christianity. (D '43)
Hickman, F. S. Signs of promise. (S '43)
Hughley, J. N. Rethinking our Christianity. (Je '43)
Lewis, C. S. Case for Christianity. (O '43)
Macintosh, D. C. Personal religion. (D '43)
Niebuhr, R. Nature and destiny of man, 2d ser. (My '43)
Reeve, J. J. World of energy. (My '43)
Van Dusen, H. P. What is the church doing? (Je '43)
Wallace, H. A., and others. Christian bases of world order. (Je '43)

Evidences

Baillie, J. Invitation to pilgrimage. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)

Philosophy

Boodin, J. E. Religion of tomorrow. (N '43)
Case, S. J. Christian philosophy of history. (N '43)
Kroner, R. Primacy of faith. (O '43)
Mackay, J. A. Heritage and destiny. (Je '43)

Christianity and civilisation. Wood, H. G. (Ag '43)

Christianity and other religions

Judaism

Klausner, J. From Jesus to Paul. (S '43)
Zeitlin, S. Who crucified Jesus? (Ap '43)

Christianity and politics
Bradley, D. J. Freedom of the soul. (O '43)
Dawson, C. H. Judgment of the nations. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)

Christianity in England. Alington, C. A. (N '43)

Christmas house. Turner, T. (D '43)

Christmas poetry
Wreath of Christmas poems. (My '43)

Christmas stories
Turner, T. Christmas house. (D '43)

Christmas—this way! Beebe, C. (D '43)

Chronological harmony of the Gospels. Hartdegen, S. J. (Ap '43)

Church
Bowie, W. R. Which way ahead? (Je '43)

Church and college
Merriam, T. W., and others. Religious counseling of college students. (N '43)

Church and state
Lee, U. Historic church and modern pacifism. (Je '43)

Church and state in Germany
Herman, S. W. It's your souls we want. (Ap '43)

Church architecture
Cobb, G. Old churches of London. (Ap '43)

Church group activities for young married people. Gleason, G. (Je '43)

Church history
Latourette, K. S. History of the expansion of Christianity; v. 5, The great century in the Americas, Australasia, and Africa. (My '43)
McSorley, J. Outline history of the church by centuries. (S '43)

Modern period

Van Dusen, H. P. What is the church doing? (Je '43)

Church in disrepute. Bell, B. I. (My '43)

Church of England
Dowdell, V. L. Aristotle and Anglican religious thought. (S '43)

Clergy

Austen, F. W. Rectors of two Essex parishes and their times. (S '43)

Church of the Brethren
Ziegler, J. H. Broken cup. (Je '43)

Church unity
Van Dusen, H. P. What is the church doing? (Je '43)

Church work
Gleason, G. Church group activities for young married people. (Je '43)

Churches

London

Cobb, G. Old churches of London. (Ap '43)

Churchill, Jennie (Jerome) (Lady Randolph Churchill)
Kraus, R. Young Lady Randolph. (Je '43)

Churchill, Winston Leonard Spencer
Morton, H. C. V. Atlantic meeting. (Je '43)

Cibola
Farnum, M. A. Seven golden cities. (N '43)

Cincinnati. University
Park, C. W. Ambassador to industry. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Cinderella. Miller, A. D. (D '43)
Cinder's secret. Britcher, P. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Circle in the water. Hull H. R. (Mr '43)
Circuit analysis of A-C power systems, v 1. Clarke, E. (N '43)
Circuit of conquest. Morin, R. (Ag '43)

Cities and towns
Saarinen, E. The city. (Ag '43)

Great Britain

Women's group on public welfare. Our towns, a close-up. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Citizen Tom Paine. Fast, H. M. (Je '43)
Citizens—to arms! Eng title of: Man with the monocle. Weston, G. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Citizenship
Hix, H. G., and others. Towards a better world. (N '43)

United States

Tsiang, I. Question of expatriation in America prior to 1907. (D '43)

City. Saarinen, E. (Ag '43)

City planning
Rodgers, C. New York plans for the future. (Mr '43)
Saarinen, E. The city. (Ag '43)

Civil service

United States

Civil service assembly of the United States and Canada. Committee on employee relations in the public service. Employee relations in the public service. (My '43)

Civilian defense
Great Britain. Ministry of information. Front line. (Ag '43)

Civilization
Collingwood, R. G. New Leviathan. (O '43)
Lindsay, A. D. Religion, science, and society in the modern world. (Ag '43)
Waterman, L. Religion faces the world crisis. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

History
Adams, B. Law of civilization and decay. (S '43)
Fischer, E. Passing of the European age. (D '43)
Kahler, E. Man the measure. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Lucas, H. S. Short history of civilization. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Philosophy
Beard, C. A. and M. R. American spirit. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)

Civilization, Arabic
Hitti, P. K. Arabs. (Ag '43)

Civilization, Christian
Bradley, D. J. Freedom of the soul. (O '43)
Hickman, F. S. Signs of promise. (S '43)
Maritain, J. Twilight of civilization. (Ag '43)
Wood, H. G. Christianity and civilisation. (Ag '43)

Civilization, Greek
Hamilton, E. Great age of Greek literature. (Ap '43)
Little, A. M. G. Myth and society in Attic drama. (S '43)

Civilization, Medieval
O'Sullivan, J. F., and Burns, J. F. Medieval Europe. (D '43)

Civilization, Occidental
Flewelling, R. T. Survival of western culture. (S '43)
Von Beckerath, H. In defense of the West. (O '43)

Clairvoyance
Sugrue, T. There is a river. (Ap '43)

Class distinction
Davidson, H. H. Personality and economic background. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
McConnell, J. W. Evolution of social classes. (My '43)

Classification

Books
Mann, M. Introduction to cataloguing and the classification of books. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Law
Basset, E. Cataloging manual for law libraries. (Ap '43)

Clay, Henry

Juvenile literature
Mayo, B. Henry Clay. (N '43)

Clear the tracks! Bromley, J. (O '43)

Clemenceau, Georges Eugène Benjamin
Bruun, G. Clemenceau. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Clemens, Samuel Langhorne (Mark Twain, pseud)
Clemens, C. Young Sam Clemens. (Ap '43)
Ferguson, J. De L. Mark Twain. (Ag '43)
Clémentine in the kitchen. Chamberlain, S. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Clergy
Dunham, C. F. Attitude of the northern clergy toward the South. (Ap '43)

Correspondence, reminiscences, etc.
Tucker, L. Clerical errors. (Je '43)

Clergymen's wives
Hewitt, A. W. Shepherdess. (S '43)
Clerical errors. Tucker, L. (Je '43)
Climates of tragedy. O'Connor, W. V. (O '43)

Climatology
Blair, T. A. Climatology, general and regional. (Je '43)
Climatology, general and regional. Blair, T. A. (Je '43)
Climbing book. Steiner, C., and Burlingham, M. (D '43)

Clocks and watches

Repairing
Thisell, A. G. Science of watch repairing simplified. (D '43)

Cloth of the tempest. Patchen, K. (D '43)

Clothing and dress
Morton, G. M. Arts of costume and personal appearance. (S '43)

Repairing
Picken, M. B. Mending made easy. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Clouds
Humphreys, W. J. Fogs, clouds and aviation. (D '43)
Clowns and angels. Fowlie, W. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Coal
Swietoslawski, W. Coke formation process and the physico-chemical properties of coals. (O '43)

Juvenile literature
Edelstadt, V. Black magic. (D '43)
Coal dust on the fiddle. Korson, G. G. (S '43)

Coal miners
Coleman, M. Men and coal. (D '43)
Ginzberg, E. Grass on the slag heaps. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Korson, G. G. Coal dust on the fiddle. (S '43)

Coal mines and mining

Wales
Ginzberg, E. Grass on the slag heaps. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Coast guard, ahoy! Harkins, P. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Coastal command. Great Britain. Air ministry. (Je '43)
Coastal command at war. Eng title of: I seek my prey in the waters. Dudley-Gordon, T. (Je '43)
Cocky, the little helicopter. Barrows, M. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Cohan, George Michael
Morehouse, W. George M. Cohan. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Coke
Swietoslawski, W. Coke formation process and the physico-chemical properties of coals. (O '43)
Coke formation process and the physico-chemical properties of coals. Swietoslawski, W. (O '43)

Coleman, Harry J.
Coleman, H. J. Give us a little smile, baby. (S '43)

Coleridge, Samuel Taylor
Sanders, C. R. Coleridge and the Broad church movement. (Je '43)
Coleridge and the Broad church movement Sanders, C. R. (Je '43)
Collected lyrics. Millay, E. St V. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Collected poems. Percy, W. A. (O '43)
Collected poems. Thoreau, H. D. (N '43)
Collective bargaining systems. Pierson, F. C. (Je '43)
College and university library consolidations. Lowell, M. H. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
College physics, abridged. Perkins, H. A. (D '43)

Colleges and universities
Eckert, R. E. Outcomes of general education. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Van Doren, M. Liberal education. (D '43)

United States
Hutchins, R. M. Education for freedom. (Je '43)
Colonel Effingham's raid. Fleming, B. (Ap '43)
Colonel's lady. Montgomery, H. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Colonies
Wales, H. G. Q. Years of blindness. (Je '43)

Color
Watson, E. W. Color and method in painting as seen in the work of 12 American painters. (Je '43)
Color and method in painting as seen in the work of 12 American painters. Watson, E. W. (Je '43).

Color photography
Miller, C. W. Principles of photographic reproduction. (Ap '43)
Colour scheme. Marsh, N. (S '43)

Columba, Saint
Poetry
Farren, R. This man was Ireland. (Ag '43)
Combat aviation. Ayling, K. (D '43)
Combined operations. (Je '43)
Combustion
Burk, R. E., and Grummitt, O. J., eds. Chemical background for engine research. (N '43)
Come in. Frost, R. (My '43)
Come soon, tomorrow. Swarthout, G. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Coming down the Wye. Gibbings, R. (O '43)
Command at sea. Cope, H. F. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual) Command of the air. Douhet, G. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Commerce
Young, J. P. International economy. (Je '43)
Dictionaries
Perol Guerrero, A., comp. New technical and commercial dictionary. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Commercial policy
Leith, C. K., and others. World minerals and world peace. (S '43)
Mallery, O. T. Economic union and durable peace. (Ag '43)
Young, J. P. International economy. (Je '43)
Commercial products
Hessel, M. S., and others. Strategic materials in hemisphere defense. (Ap '43)
Lovering, T. S. Minerals in world affairs. (S '43)
Ward, C. A. Those raw materials. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Substitutes
Bennett, H. Substitutes. (Ap '43)
Common cause. Borgese, G. A. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Common edible mushrooms. Christensen, C. M. (Ap '43)
Common errors in English and how to avoid them. Witherspoon, A. M. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Communication and traffic
Albert, A. L. Electrical fundamentals of communication. (Ap '43)
Communism
Russia
Johnson, H. Secret of Soviet strength. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
United States
Browder, E. R. Victory—and after. (My '43)
Childs, J. L., and Counts, G. S. America, Russia, and the Communist party in the postwar world. (My '43)
Community life
Morgan, A. E. Small community. (Ap '43)
Community music
Wilson, H. R. Lead a song! (Ag '43)
Community workshops for teachers in the Michigan community health project. Otto, H. J. (Je '43)
Company museums. Coleman, L. V. (O '43)
Compend of Luther's theology. Luther, M. (F '44) (1943 Annual) Competition
Neal, A. C. Industrial concentration and price inflexibility. (Ap '43)
Complete acted play from script to final curtain. Crafton, A., and Royer, J. (S '43)
Complete book of home canning. Taylor, D. M. (S '43)
Complete book of sewing. Talbot, C. (Je '43)
Complete etchings. Goya y Lucientes, F. J. de. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Complete guide to interior decoration. House and Garden (periodical). (Ap '43)
Complete guide to North American trees. Curtis, C. C., and Bausor, S. C. (F '44) (1943 Annual) Complete Jefferson. Jefferson, T. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Complete life. Erskine, J. (My '43)
Compound for death. Disney, D. M. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Comprehensive small arms manual. Haven, C. T. (Ap '43)
Compton's pictured encyclopedia. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Concrete, Reinforced
Parker, H. E. Simplified design of reinforced concrete. (S '43)
Sutherland, H., and Reese, R. C. Introduction to reinforced concrete design. (D '43)
Concrete construction
Sutherland, H., and Reese, R. C. Introduction to reinforced concrete design. (D '43)
Condition red. Bell, F. J. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Conduct of life
Fosdick, H. E. On being a real person. (Ap '43)
Gracian y Morales, B. Art of worldly wisdom. (Ap '43)
Greenbie, M. L. B. Art of living in wartime. (Mr '43)
Weston, S. A., ed. Finding your way in life. (Je '43)
White, S. E. Anchors to windward. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Conducting (music)
Ewen, D. Dictators of the baton. (Mr '43)
Wilson, H. R. Lead a song! (Ag '43)
Confederate Mississippi. Bettersworth, J. K. (F '44) (1943 Annual) Confederate states of America
Army
Wiley, B. I. Life of Johnny Reb. (Ap '43)
Biography
Freeman, D. S. Lee's lieutenants; v. 2, Cedar mountain to Chancellorsville. (My '43)
Confessions. Augustine, St. (N '43)
Conflicts. Namier, L. B. (S '43)
Congo song. Cloete, S. (Ap '43)
Congregational churches in the United States
Atkins, G. G., and Fagley, F. L. History of American Congregationalism. (Ap '43)
Conjuring
Leeming, J. Fun with magic. (D '43)
Mussey, J. B. Magic. (Ap '43)
Connecticut
Description and travel
Marlowe, G. F. Old Bay paths. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Connecticut wits. Howard, L. (Mr '43)
Connecticut Yankee. Cross, W. L. (N '43)
Conquest of epidemic disease. Winslow, C. E. A. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual) Conquest of North Africa, 1940-1943. Clifford, A. G. (O '43)
Conrad, Joseph
Retinger, J. H. Conrad and his contemporaries. (Ap '43)
Conrad and his contemporaries. Retinger, J. H. (Ap '43)
Conscientious objector and the law. Cornell, J. D. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Conscientious objectors
Cornell, J. D. Conscientious objector and the law. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual) Consolation
Kelly, B. M., comp. Eternal purpose. (Ag '43)
Conspiracy of the carpenters. Borchardt, H. (S '43)
Conspirators. Prokosch, F. (Mr '43)
Constantine I, the Great, emperor of Rome
Holsapple, L. B. Constantine the Great. (Ap '43)
Constituent assembly for India. See Gangulee, N. Freedom to achieve freedom. (N '43)
Constitution-making in a democracy. O'Rourke, V. A., and Campbell, D. W. (N '43)
Constitutional conventions
Gangulee, N. Freedom to achieve freedom. (N '43)
O'Rourke, V. A., and Campbell, D. W. Constitution-making in a democracy. (N '43)
Consumer and opinion research. Blankenship, A. B. (N '43)
Consumer education
Heil, E. W. Consumer training. (D '43)
Mendenhall, J. E., and Harap, H., eds. Consumer education. (O '43)
Ware, C. F. Consumer goes to war. (Ap '43)
Consumer goes to war. Ware, C. F. (Ap '43)
Consumer training. Heil, E. W. (D '43)
Consumers and the market. Reid, M. G. (N '43)
Consumers in wartime. Gordon, L. J. (Je '43)

Consumption (economics)
Andres, E. M., and Cocanower, C. D. Economics and the consumer. (Je '43)
Barger, H. Outlay and income in the United States. (O '43)
Gordon, L. J. Consumers in wartime. (Je '43)
Wright, D. M. Creation of purchasing power. (Ag '43)
Contraception and fertility in the southern Appalachians. Beebe, G. W. (Ap '43)
Contract bridge
Goren, C. H. Better bridge for better players. (Je '43)
Convalescence
Sprague, M. Business of getting well. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Cook it in a casserole. Brobeck, F. R. (N '43)
Cookery
Adams, C. You'll eat it up. (S '43)
Allen, I. C. B. Double-quick cooking for part-time homemakers. (Ag '43)
Bogert, L. J. Good nutrition for everybody. (Ap '43)
Brobeck, F. R. Cook it in a casserole. (N '43)
Chamberlain, S. Clémentine in the kitchen. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Halliday, E. G., and Noble, I. T. Food chemistry and cookery. (S '43)
Harris, F. L. Victory vitamin cook book for wartime meals. (Ag '43)
Lowe, B. Experimental cookery. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Mills, M. Cooking on a ration. (D '43)
Mystery chef's own cook book. (S '43)
Parrish, M. F. K. Gastronomical me. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Rae, B. Cooking without meat. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Robbins, A. B. 100 meat-saving recipes. (Je '43)
White, M. Diet without despair. (My '43)
Wilder, W. B. Bounty of the wayside. (S '43)
Cooking on a ration. Mills, M. (D '43)
Cooking without meat. Rae, B. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Cooperation
Eldridge, S., and others. Development of collective enterprise. (Je '43)
Wieting, C. M. How to teach consumers' cooperation. (Ap '43)

United States

Landis, B. Y. Cooperative economy. (Ag '43)
Cooperative economy. Landis, B. Y. (Ag '43)
Copernicus, Nicolaus
Mizwa, S. P. Nicholas Copernicus. (O '43)
Copper
Wilkins, R. A., and Bunn, E. S. Copper and copper base alloys. (S '43)
Copper alloys
Wilkins, R. A., and Bunn, E. S. Copper and copper base alloys. (S '43)
Copper camp. Writers' program, Montana. (O '43)
Copper mines and mining
Murdoch, A. Boom copper. (My '43)
Coppersmithing
Voss, L. A. Modern metalsmith. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Cornell, Katharine
Malvern, G. Curtain going up! (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Cornell university
Rogers, W. P. Andrew D. White and the modern university. (S '43)
Corner of heaven. Norris, K. T. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Coronado, Francisco Vazquez de. See Vázquez de Coronado, F.
Coronal. Claudel, P. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Corporal Keeperupper. Milhous, K. (Je '43)
Corporate concentration and public policy. Purdy, H. L., and others. (O '43)
Corporation law
Purdy, H. L., and others. Corporate concentration and public policy. (O '43)
Corpse by any other name. Walling, R. A. J. (My '43)
Corpses at Indian Stones. Wylie, P. (Ap '43)
Corruption (in politics)
Carman, H. J., and Luthin, R. H. Lincoln and the patronage. (Ag '43)
Cosmogony
Berman, L. Behind the universe. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Cost and standard of living
Martin, E. W. Standard of living in 1860. (My '43)

Germany

Oppenheimer-Bluhm, H. Standard of living of German labor under Nazi rule. (O '43)
Costume
Burris-Meyer, E. This is fashion. (S '43)
Lester, K. M. Historic costume. (My '43)
Wilcox, R. T. Mode in costume. (Ap '43)
Cotton

Juvenile literature

Perry, J. Cotton industry. (Ag '43)
Cotton industry. Perry, J. (Ag '43)
Coughlin, John Joseph
Wendt, L., and Kogan, H. Lords of the Levee. (Mr '43)
Count on two days. Walker, M. (N '43)
Country cured. Croy, H. (N '43)
Country life
Damon, B. C. Sense of humus. (Ag '43)
Leighton, C. V. H. Give us this day. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Wilder, W. B. Bounty of the wayside. (S '43)

England

Campbell, M. L. English yeoman. (Ap '43)
Thompson, F. Candleford Green. (My '43)
Courage
Holmes, H. W. Road to courage. (Mr '43)
Wilkinson, B. Courage for crisis. (S '43)
Courage for crisis. Wilkinson, B. (S '43)
Course in powder metallurgy. Baeza, W. J. (S '43)
Court of shadows. Leffingwell, A. (My '43)
Courts

United States

Commager, H. S. Majority rule and minority rights. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Covenant. Sinclair, K. H. N. (O '43)
Cow by the tail. Benton, J. J. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Cowboy Ken. De Witt, J. (D '43)
Cowboys
Benton, J. J. Cow by the tail. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Coyle, Mrs Kathleen
Coyle, K. Magical realm. (Mr '43)
Craft of novel writing. Burack, A. S., ed. (My '43)
Creation (literary, artistic, etc.)
Sachs, H. Creative unconscious. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Creation of purchasing power. Wright, D. M. (Ag '43)
Creative unconscious. Sachs, H. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Credit
Saulnier, R. J., and Jacoby, N. H. Accounts receivable financing. (S '43)
Sprague, J. R. Romance of credit. (S '43)
Crete, Battle of, 1941
Hetherington, J. A. Airborne invasion. (S '43)
Crime and criminals
Barnes, H. E., and Teeters, N. K. New horizons in criminology. (O '43)
Bonger, W. A. Race and crime. (O '43)
Reckless, W. C. Etiology of delinquent and criminal behavior. (N '43)
Roughead, W. Art of murder. (My '43)

Identification

Floherty, J. J. Inside the F. B. I. (S '43)

United States

Collins, F. L. F.B.I. in peace and war. (N '43)
Glueck, S. S. and E. T. Criminal careers in retrospect. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Criminal anthropology
Glueck, S. S. and E. T. Criminal careers in retrospect.
Criminal careers in retrospect. Glueck, S. S. and E. T. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Criminal law
  Perkins, R. M. Elements of police science. (Je '43)
Criminal statistics
  Lunden, W. A. Statistics on crime and criminals. (Ap '43)
Crimson Friday. Disney, D. C. (Ag '43)
Cripps, Sir Stafford
  Strauss, P. O. Cripps: advocate extraordinary. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Cripps, advocate and rebel. Eng title of: Cripps: advocate extraordinary. Strauss, P. O. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual) Cripps: advocate extraordinary. Strauss, P. O. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual) Criticism
  Muller, H. J. Science and criticism. (Je '43)
Crocheting
  Techy, M. Filet crochet lace. (O '43)
Cross, Wilbur Lucius
  Cross, W. L. Connecticut Yankee. (N '43)
Cross and great living. Phifer, W. E. (Je '43)
Crossroads. Verissimo, E. (Ap '43)
Crows
  Kane, H. B. Tale of the crow. (My '43)
Croy, Homer
  Croy, H. Country cured. (N '43)
Crusade for Pan-Europe. Coudenhove-Kalergi, R. N. (N '43)
Cryptography
  Smith, L. D. Cryptography. (Je '43)
Crystallography
  Wahlstrom, E. E. Optical crystallography. (D '43)
Cult of uncertainty. Kandel, I. L. (N '43)
Cultural and racial variations in patterns of intellect. Machover, S. (F '44) (1943 Annual) Cunning fox. Brister, H. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual) Curriculum of democratic education. Peters, C. C. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual) Curriculum principles and social trends. Gwynn, J. M. (D '43)
Curry, John Steuart
  Schmeckebier, L. E. John Steuart Curry's pageant of America. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual) Curtain going up! Malvern, G. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Curtiss, Glenn Hammond
  Hatch, A. Glenn Curtiss. (Ap '43)
Czechoslovakia
History
  Grant Duff, S. German protectorate. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
  Thomson, S. H. Czechoslovakia in European history. (S '43)

D.A.'s daughter. Petersen, H. (Ap '43)
Daily life in Bible times. Bailey, A. E. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Damask cheek. Van Druten, J., and Morris, L. R. (My '43)
Damien de Veuster, Joseph (Father Damien)
Juvenile literature
  Roos, A. Man of Molokai. (Je '43)
Dana, John Cotton
  Hadley, C. John Cotton Dana. (O '43)
Dance of the years. Eng title of: Galantrys. Allingham, M. (N '43)
Dancing saints. Leslie, A. G. (Ag '43)
Danger! keep out. Nichols, E. J. (Mr '43)
Dangerous dead. Brandon, W. (Mr '43)
Daniel Guggenheim fund for the promotion of aeronautics, inc.
  Cleveland, R. M. America fledges wings. (Je '43)
Daniels, Bradford Kempton
  Daniels, B. K. Outer edge. (O '43)
Danse macabre. Masereel, F. (Ap '43)
Danube basin and the German economic sphere. Basch, A. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Danubian countries
  Basch, A. Danube basin and the German economic sphere. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Dark continent. Sullivan, R. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Dark Darragh. Mapother, E. R. (My '43)
Dark duet. Cheyney, P. (Mr '43)
Dark rain falling. Maxwell, G. (My '43)
Dark stain. Appel, B. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Dark treasure. MacMillan, W. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Dark wedding. Sender, R. J. (My '43)
Dark woman. Wren, P. C. (Mr '43)
Darkening hill. Eng title of: Circle in the water. Hull, H. R. (Mr '43)
Darker brother. Moon, B. (O '43)
Darkness and the deep. Fisher, V. (My '43)
Darlan, François
  De Montmorency, A. Enigma of Admiral Darlan. (Je '43)
David, king of Israel
  Cooper, A. D. David. (Ag '43)
David. Cooney, C. T. (My '43)
Davy's day. Lenski, L. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Dawn over the Amazon. Beals, C. (Ag '43)
Dawn's early light. Beebe, E. T. R. (Je '43)
Day of reckoning. Radin, M. (Ag '43)
Daylight on Saturday. Priestley, J. B. (O '43)
Dead look on. Kersh, G. (My '43)
Dead on the track. Street, C. J. C. (Je '43)
Dead reckoning. Walz, A. (S '43)
Dead shall be raised. Eng title of: Murder will speak. Bellairs, G. (O '43)
Death and bitters. Christian, K. (O '43)
Death and to-morrow. Eng title of: Germans came to Paris. De Polnay, P. (N '43)
Death at 7:10. Moore, H. F. S. (O '43)
Death came softly. Rivett, E. C. (O '43)
Death charter. Adams, E. L. (Ag '43)
Death in the blackout. Malleson, L. B. (Ag '43)
Death in the doll's house. Lees, H., and Bachmann, L. P. (Ap '43)
Death is like that. Adams, C. F. (N '43)
Death loves a shining mark. Hocking, A. (Je '43)
Death of a busybody. Bellairs, G. (Je '43)
Death of a saboteur. Footner, H. (Ap '43)
Death of an angel. Rea, M. L. P. (My '43)
Death paints the picture. Lariar, L. (Ag '43)
Death takes a bow. Lockridge, F. L. D. and R. (Je '43)
Death to the French. Eng title of: Rifleman Dodd. Forester, C. S. (My '43)
Death wears a scarab. Long, A. R. (Ag '43)
Debates and debating
  Phelps, E. M., ed. University debaters' annual, 1941-42. (Ap '43)
Debts, Public
  Moulton, H. G. New philosophy of public debt. (S '43)
Decade of sectional controversy, 1851-1861. Simms, H. H. (S '43)
Decisive battles of the U.S.A. Fuller, J. F. C. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Decorating the home. Lewis, E. (Je '43)
Dedication. Jennison, K. W., ed. (D '43)
Deer on the stairs. Cooper, L. F. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Defective in speech. Berry, M. G., and Eisenson, J. (Ap '43)
Defense. Leeb, W. J. F., ritter von. (N '43)
Degeneration
  Adams, B. Law of civilization and decay. (S '43)
Degrees, Academic
  Epler, S. E. Honorary degrees. (N '43)
Delano, Amasa
  Connolly, J. B. Master mariner. (Ap '43)
Delarah. Brown, D. V. (S '43)
Delaware Continentals. Ward, C. L. (Ap '43)
Democratic spirit. Smith, B., ed. (N '43)
Democracy
  Agar, H. Time for greatness. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
  Barker, E. Reflections on government. (Je '43)
  Bingham, A. M. Techniques of democracy. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
  Bradley, D. J. Freedom of the soul. (O '43)
  Brady, R. A. Business as a system of power. (Je '43)
  Campbell, F. S. Menace of the herd. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
  Commager, H. S. Majority rule and minority rights. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
  Conference on science, philosophy and religion in their relation to the democratic way of life. Science, philosophy and religion; third symposium. (Ag '43)

Flamm, I. H. Economic program for a living democracy. (Ap '43)
Griffith, E. S. Modern government in action. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Herridge, W. D. Which kind of revolution? (D '43)
Hix, H. G., and others. Towards a better world. (N '43)
Hough, L. H. Living democracy. (Ag '43)
Laing, A. K. Way for America. (My '43)
Lindsay, A. D. Modern democratic state. (Ag '43)
Marshall, J. Freedom to be free. (Je '43)
Millspaugh, A. C. Democracy, efficiency, stability. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Mursell, J. L. Education for American democracy. (D '43)
Padilla, E. Free men of America. (Je '43)
Perry, C. M., ed. Philosophy of American democracy. (O '43)
Schumpeter, J. A. Capitalism, socialism, and democracy. (Ap '43)
Sheen, F. J. Philosophies at war. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Smith, B., ed. Democratic spirit. (N '43)
Democracy against unemployment. Stead, W. H. (My '43)
Democracy, efficiency, stability. Millspaugh, A. C. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Derry the wolfhound. Johnson, M. S. and H. L. (O '43)

Des Groseilliers, Medard Chouart, sieur
Nute, G. L. Caesars of the wilderness. (S '43)
Desert conquest. Hill, R. (D '43)
Desire to please. Nicolson, H. (O '43)
Destroyer from America. Fernald, J. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual) Destroyer's war. Eng title of: Firedrake. Divine, A. D. (Mr '43)

Detective stories (books about)
Rodell, M. F. Mystery fiction. (Je '43)

Detective stories (individual titles). See Fiction—Mystery and detective stories
Development of collective enterprise. Eldridge, S., and others. (Je '43)
Devil and the Jews. Trachtenberg, J. (O '43)

Devotional exercises
Vernier, P. With the Master. (O '43)

Dewey, John
White, M. G. Origin of Dewey's instrumentalism. (My '43)
Diary of world events. Hopkins, J. A. H., comp. (Je '43)
Dick and the canal boat. Tousey, S. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Dickens digest. Dickens, C. (Ap '43)

Dictators
Neumann, S. Permanent revolution. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Dictators of the baton. Ewen, D. (Mr '43)
Dictionary of bio-chemistry and related subjects. Malisoff, W. M., ed. (Ag '43)
Dictionary of science and technology in English-French-German-Spanish. Newmark, M. (Ag '43)
Dictionary of world literature. Shipley, J. T., ed. (S '43)
Die engineering layouts and formulas. Hinman, C. W. (D '43)

Dieppe raid, 1942
Austin, A. B. We landed at dawn. (Mr '43)
Reynolds, Q. J. Dress rehearsal. (Ap '43)

Dies (metal working)
Hinman, C. W. Die engineering layouts and formulas. (D '43)
Diesel and gas engine power plants. Boyer, G. C. (Je '43)

Diesel engines
Boyer, G. C. Diesel and gas engine power plants. (Je '43)
Diesel publications, inc. Diesel engines. (Je '43)
Goad, E. F. American Diesel engines. (Mr '43)

Diesel engines, Marine
Ford, L. R. Practical marine Diesel engineering. (Je '43)

Diet
Bauer, W. W. and F. A. M. Eat what you want! (Ap '43)
Bogert, L. J. Good nutrition for everybody. (Ap '43)
Glasstone, S. and V. F. C. Food you eat. (Je '43)
Diet without despair. White, M. (My '43)

Differential equations
Reddick, H. W. Differential equations. (Je '43)
Digest of the divine law. Rand, H. B. (Ag '43)
Dinner party. North, J. N. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Diplomatic correspondence of the United States, v2. Manning, W. R., ed. (Ap '43)
Diplomatic history of the United States. Bemis, S. F. (Ap '43)
Directory of American scholars. Cattell, J., ed. (O '43)

Disabled

Rehabilitation, etc.

Doherty, W. B., and Runes, D. D., eds. Rehabilitation of the war injured. (D '43)

Disasters
Sorokin, P. A. Man and society in calamity. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)

Discoveries (in geography)
Anthony, B. K., and Barnes, M. Explorers all. (Je '43)
Lucas, M. S. Vast horizons. (S '43)
Oakeshott, W. F. Founded upon the seas. (Je '43)
Discovering ourselves. Strecker, E. A., and others. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Discovery of freedom. Lane, R. W. (My '43)

Discussion
Baker, H. V. Children's contributions in elementary school general discussion. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Diseases, Industrial
Hamilton, A. Exploring the dangerous trades. (My '43)
Hueper, W. C. Occupational tumors and allied diseases. (Je '43)

Disinfection and disinfectants
Schwarcz, L. Sanitary products. (D '43)
Disorganization, personal and social. Mowrer, E. R. (F '44) (1943 Annual) Displacement of population in Europe. Kulischer, E. M. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Diving, Submarine
Meier, F. Fathoms below. (Je '43)
Do not disturb. McCloy, H. (Je '43)
Do you know labor? Myers, J. (S '43)
Doctor in the making. Ham, A. W., and Salter, M. D. (S '43)
Dr Kildare's search and Dr Kildare's hardest case. Faust, F. (Mr '43)
Doctors aweigh. Oman, C. M. (S '43)
Doctors, beware! McCully, W. (S '43)
Documents relating to Northwest missions. Nute, G. L., ed. (S '43)

Dodge, Mrs Mary (Mapes)
Howard, A. B. Mary Mapes Dodge of St Nicholas. (Ag '43)
Does your child obey? Wieman, R. H. W. (My '43)
Dog of war. Downey, F. D. (D '43)

Dogs
Lytle, J. H. Gun dogs afield. (My '43)
Megargee, E. Dogs. (My '43)

Juvenile literature

Eberle, I. Our oldest friends. (Ap '43)

Legends and stories

Downey, F. D. Dog of war. (D '43)
Goodman, J., ed. Fireside book of dog stories. (Je '43)
Lathrop, D. P. Puppies for keeps. (N '43)
Sherman, F. J. Admiral Wags. (S '43)

Training

Brown, W. F. How to train hunting dogs. (Mr '43)

Doherty, Martin W.
Doherty, M. W. House on Humility street. (Ap '43)
Dollar a share. Allen, A. (S '43)
Dominie's daughter. McCord, J. (My '43)
Done with mirrors. Hasty, J. E. (Mr '43)

Donner party

Fiction

Fisher, V. Mothers. (N '43)
Donovan's brain. Siodmak, K. (Ap '43)
Don't blame the generals. Moorehead, A. (Je '43)

Don't catch me. Powell, R. P. (Mr '43)
Don't count your chicks. Aulaire, I. M. d' and E. P. d' (D '43)

Doolittle, James Harold
  Mann, C. Lightning in the sky. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Double, double, toil and trouble. Feuchtwanger, L. (Je '43)
Double-quick cooking for part-time homemakers. Allen, I. C. B. (Ag '43)
Double tragedy. Crofts, F. W. (S '43)
Doughgirls. Fields, J. (S '43)

Douglas, Donald Wills
  Cunningham, F. Sky master. (S '43)

Down among the dead men. Wentworth, P. (Mr '43)
Down-East spirituals and others. Jackson, G. P., ed. (S '43)
Down town. Lovelace, M. H. (N '43)
Downfall. Reed, D. (My '43)
Dozen and one. Tully, J. (Je '43)
Dragon John. Lawson, M. A. (N '43)

Drama
  Thompson, A. R. Anatomy of drama. (O '43)

Dictionaries, indexes, etc.
  Ottemiller, J. H. Index to plays in collections. (D '43)

History and criticism
  Frick, C. Dramatic criticism of George Jean Nathan. (Ap '43)
  Nathan, G. J. Theatre book of the year, 1942-1943. (O '43)

Dramas
  Barry, P. Without love. (O '43)
  Behrman, S. N. Pirate. (My '43)
  Edmonds, R. Land of cotton, and other plays. (My '43)
  Fields, J. Doughgirls. (S '43)
  Gow, J., and D'Usseau, A. Tomorrow the world. (D '43)
  Hart, M. Winged victory. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
  Housman, L. Palestine plays. (S '43)
  Kingsley, S. Patriots. (S '43)
  Lewis, K. P. Alabama folk plays. (Ag '43)
  Lindsay, H., and Crouse, R. Strip for action. (Ag '43)
  Reed, D. Downfall. (My '43)
  Ryerson, F., and Clements, C. C. Harriet (S '43)
  Van Druten, J., and Morris, L. R. Damask cheek. (My '43)

Collections
  Cerf, B. A. and Cartmell, V. H. Sixteen famous European plays. (My '43)
  Kozlenko, W., comp. 25 non-royalty one-act American comedies. (S '43)
  Mantle, B., ed. Best plays of 1942-43. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
  Mayorga, M. G., ed. Best one-act plays of 1942. (My '43)
  Smith, B. 20 prize-winning non-royalty one-act plays. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Dramatic criticism of George Jean Nathan. Frick, C. (Ap '43)

Drawing people for fun. Vernam, R. (S '43)

Drawings
  Gard, A. Sailors in boots. (My '43)
  Leonardo da Vinci. Leonardo da Vinci; ed. by Goldscheider. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
  Masereel, F. Danse macabre. (Ap '43)

Dream department. Perelman, S. J. (Mr '43)
Dress rehearsal. Reynolds, Q. J. (Ap '43)
Dress right, dress. Flint, M., ed. (D '43)

Dressmaking
  Duncan, I. R. Needles and pins. (S '43)
  Hall, H. Simplified home sewing. (S '43)
  Spears, R. W. Better dressmaking. (Je '43)
  Talbot, C. Complete book of sewing. (Je '43)

Drink to me only. Hueston, E. P. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Driscoll, Florence
  Driscoll, C. B. Kansas Irish. (Je '43)

Drives toward war. Tolman, E. C. (Je '43)

Drummer boy of Burma. Stevens, W. O. (S '43)

Drying and dehydration of foods. Von Loesecke, H. W. (N '43)

Ducks
  Kortright, F. H. Ducks, geese and swans of North America. (My '43)

Duel for the Northland. Singer, K. D. (S '43)
Duet with Nicky. Berezowsky, A. (O '43)
Duke. Aldington, R. (N '43)
Dulcie. Bechdolt, J. E., and Merwin, D. (My '43)
Dune boy. Teale, E. W. (N '43)
Dunnybrook. Carroll, G. H. (D '43)

Duodenum

Ulcer
  Crohn, B. B. Understand your ulcer. (S '43)

Duration. Putnam, G. P. (D '43)

Dutch Guiana
  Hiss, P. H. Netherlands America. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Dutch in the United States
  Vlekke, B. H. M., and Beets, H. Hollanders who helped build America. (O '43)

Dwelling place. Winslow, A. G. (S '43)

Dwellings
  Dalzell, J. R., and Townsend, G. How to remodel a house. (Je '43)
  Hawkins, J. H. Your house. (My '43)

Dwight, Timothy
  Howard, L. Connecticut wits. (Mr '43)

Dyer, Sir Edward
  Brooks, A. Will Shakspere and the Dyer's hand. (Mr '43)

Dynamic capitalism. Hazelett, C. W. (O '43)
Dynamical analogies. Olson, H. F. (D '43)
Dynamics of business. Silberling, N. J. (S '43)
Dynamics of vocational adjustment. Super, D. E. (Ap '43)
Dynamite cargo. Herman, F. S. (My '43)
Dynamo. Flanagan, H. F. (Je '43)

Eakins, Thomas
  McKinney, R. J. Thomas Eakins. (My '43)

Early Pythagorean politics in practice and theory. Minar, E. L. (Ag '43)
Earth's adventures. Fenton, C. L. (Ap '43)

East (Far East)
  Panikkar, K. M. Future of south-east Asia. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Economic conditions
  Gull, E. M. British economic interests in the Far East. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

East (Near East)
  Ben-Horin, E. Middle East. (O '43)
  Ireland, P. W., ed. Near East. (Je '43)

Social life and customs
  Van Ess, J. Meet the Arab. (D '43)

East coast corvette. Monsarrat, N. (N '43)

East Indies
  Vlekke, B. H. M. Nusantara. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

East of Bridgewater. Batchelder, A. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Eastern Europe and the United States. Hanč, J. (D '43)

Eastern question (Balkan)
  Rupp, G. H. Wavering friendship. (Ap '43)

Eastern question (Far East)
  Abend, H. Pacific charter. (Mr '43)
  Buck, P. S. What America means to me. (S '43)
  Falk, E. A. From Perry to Pearl harbor. (Mr '43)
  Greenbie, S. Asia unbound. (N '43)
  Hornbeck, S. K. United States and the Far East. (Ag '43)
  Howard, H. P. America's role in Asia. (Ag '43)
  Lattimore, O. America and Asia. (D '43)
  Morin, R. Circuit of conquest. (Ag '43)
  Oakes, V. A. White man's folly. (Mr '43)
  Peffer, N. Basis for peace in the Far East. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
  Romulo, C. P. Mother America. (D '43)
  Shridharani, K. J. Warning to the West. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
  Viton, A. American empire in Asia? (O '43)
  Wales, H. G. Q. Years of blindness. (Je '43)

Eastern question (Near East)
  Ireland, P. W., ed. Near East. (Je '43)
  Puryear, V. J. France and the Levant from the Bourbon restoration to the peace of Kutiah. (Ap '43)

Eat what you want! Bauer, W. W. and F. A. M. (Ap '43)
Echo of a bomb. Siller, V. (Mr '43)
Economic analysis and public policy. Bowman, M. J., and Bach, G. L. (O '43)
Economic conditions
  Clark, C. Economics of 1960. (S '43)
  Marx, W. J. Twilight of capitalism and the war. (Ap '43)
Economic fluctuations in the United States. Frickey, E. (N '43)
Economic freedom. Noyes, C. E. (Je '43)
Economic history of England. Dietz, F. C. (Je '43)
Economic history of the American people. Bogart, E. L. (Je '43)
Economic mineral deposits. Bateman, A. M. (Ap '43)
Economic planning. Baldwin, C. D. (D '43)
Economic policy
  Baldwin, C. D. Economic planning. (D '43)
  Bowman, M. J., and Bach, G. L. Economic analysis and public policy. (O '43)
  Condliffe, J. B. Agenda for a postwar world. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
  Drucker, P. F. Future of industrial man. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
  Harris, S. E., ed. Postwar economic problems. (Ag '43)
  Herridge, W. D. Which kind of revolution? (D '43)
  Lorwin, L. L. Postwar plans of the United nations. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
  Paterson, I. B. God of the machine. (Je '43)
  Stead, W. H. Democracy against unemployment. (My '43)
  Wright, D. M. Creation of purchasing power. (Ag '43)
  Young, J. P. International economy. (Je '43)
Economic program for a living democracy. Flamm, I. H. (Ap '43)
Economic union and durable peace. Mallery, O. T. (Ag '43)
Economics
  Andres, E. M., and Cocanower, C. D. Economics and the consumer. (Je '43)
  Bowman, M. J., and Bach, G. L. Economic analysis and public policy. (O '43)
  Edie, L. D. Economics: principles and problems. (S '43)
  Hazelett, C. W. Dynamic capitalism. (O '43)
  Normano, J. F. Spirit of American economics. (O '43)
  Silberling, N. J. Dynamics of business. (S '43)
  Spengler, J. J. French predecessors of Malthus. (My '43)
  Stigler, G. J. Theory of competitive price. (S '43)
Economics and problems of labor. Taft, P. (D '43)
Economics and the consumer. Andres, E. M., and Cocanower, C. D. (Je '43)
Economics in uniform. Lauterbach, A. T. (Je '43)
Economics of American industry. Alderfer, E. B., and Michl, H. E. (N '43)
Economics of 1960. Clark, C. (S '43)
Economics of war. Mendershausen, H. (Ag '43)
Economics: principles and problems. Edie, L. D. (S '43)
Economy loading of power plants and electric systems. Steinberg, M. J., and Smith, T. H. (Je '43)
Ecuador
  Franklin, A. B. Ecuador. (Ag '43)
Eddie and the archangel Mike. Benefield, B. (Mr '43)
Editing small newspapers. Rae, W. (Je '43)
Editor accepts. Silvers, E. R. (My '43)
Editorial problem in Shakespeare. Greg, W. W. (Ag '43)
Education
  American council of learned societies. Liberal education re-examined. (N '43)
  Joint commission of the Council for education in world citizenship and the London international assembly. Education and the United nations. (D '43)
  Kotschnig, W. M. Slaves need no leaders. (Mr '43)
  Maritain, J. Education at the crossroads. (O '43)
  Reeves, F. W. Education for today and tomorrow. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
  Sargent, P. E. War and education. (N '43)
  Smith, S., and others. Education and society. (Ap '43)
    Aims and objectives
  Eckert, R. E. Outcomes of general education. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
  Livingstone, R. W. Education for a world adrift. (Je '43)
  Mursell, J. L. Education for American democracy. (D '43)
    Curricula
  Gwynn, J. M. Curriculum principles and social trends. (D '43)
  Peters, C. C. Curriculum of democratic education. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual) Experimental methods
  Berkson, I. B. Education faces the future. (S '43)
  MacConnell, C. M., and others. New schools for a new culture. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
    Philosophy
  Berkson, I. B. Education faces the future. (S '43)
  Meiklejohn, A. Education between two worlds. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
  Van Doren, M. Liberal education. (D '43)
    Africa
  De Marco, R. R. Italianization of African natives. (N '43)
    Asia
  Furnivall, J. S. Educational progress in southeast Asia. (N '43)
    Great Britain
  Livingstone, R. W. Education for a world adrift. (Je '43)
    Michigan
  Otto, H. J. Community workshops for teachers in the Michigan community health project. (Je '43)
    United States
  Ashburn, F. D. Primer for parents. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
  Hill, A. T., ed. Campus and classroom. (Ap '43)
  Kandel, I. L. Cult of uncertainty. (N '43)
  Mursell, J. L. Education for American democracy. (D '43)
  Myer, W. E., and Cross, C. Education for democratic survival. (My '43)
  Stanford university. School of education. Education in wartime and after. (N '43)
  Vickery, W. E., and Cole, S. G. Intercultural education in American schools. (Ag '43)
Education, Elementary
  Elsbree, W. S. Pupil progress in the elementary school. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Education, Higher
  Hutchins, R. M. Education for freedom. (Je '43)
Education, Secondary
  Ashburn, F. D. Primer for parents. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
  Goetting, M. L. Teaching in the secondary school. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
  Greene, H. A., and others. Measurement and evaluation in the secondary school. (Ag '43)
  MacConnell, C. M., and others. New schools for a new culture. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Education and society. Smith, S., and others. (Ap '43)
Education and United nations. Joint commission of the Council for education in world citizenship and the London international assembly. (D '43)
Education at the crossroads. Maritain, J. (O '43)
Education between two worlds. Meiklejohn, A. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Education faces the future. Berkson, I. B. (S '43)
Education for a world adrift. Livingstone, R. W. (Je '43)
Education for American democracy. Mursell, J. L. (D '43)
Education for democratic survival. Myer, W. E., and Cross, C. (My '43)

Education for freedom. Hutchins, R. M. (Je '43)
Education for today and tomorrow. Reeves, F. W. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Education in wartime and after. Stanford university. School of education. (N '43)

Education of children
  Baker, H. V. Children's contributions in elementary school general discussion. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
  Perry, R. D. Children need adults. (O '43)
Educational measurement and evaluation. Remmers, H. H., and Gage, N. L. (N '43)

Educational measurements
  Remmers, H. H., and Gage, N. L. Educational measurement and evaluation. (N '43)

Educational progress in southeast Asia. Furnivall, J. S. (N '43)

Educational psychology
  Biber, B., and others. Child life in school. (Mr '43)

Educational publicity. Fine, B. (Je '43)

Educators

Directories
  Cattell, J., ed. Directory of American scholars. (O '43)

Educators guide to free films. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Educators index of free materials. (Je '43)

Efficiency, Industrial
  Anderson, A. G., and others. Industrial management. (My '43)
  Connelly, J. R. Technique of production processes. (O '43)
  Culliton, J. W. Make or buy. (D '43)
  Heyel, C., ed. Foreman's handbook. (My '43)
  Spriegel, W. R., and Schulz, E. Elements of supervision. (My '43)

Egypt

Civilization
  Glanville, S. R. K., ed. Legacy of Egypt. (Mr '43)

Description and travel
  Golding, L. In the steps of Moses. (N '43)

83 days; the survival of Seaman Izzi. Murphy, M. (O '43)

Elections

United States
  Gosnell, H. F. Grass roots politics. (Ap '43)

Electric batteries

Juvenile literature
  Yates, R. F. Boy and a battery. (Ap '43)

Electric circuits
  Almstead, F. E., and Tuthill, F. R. L. Radio materiel guide. (N '43)
  Clarke, E. Circuit analysis of A-C power systems, v 1. (N '43)
  Kerchner, R. M., and Corcoran, G. F. Alternating-current circuits. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
  Knight, A. R., and Fett, G. H. Introduction to circuit analysis. (O '43)
  Morecock, E. M. Alternating-current circuits. (Ag '43)

Mechanical analogies
  Olson, H. F. Dynamical analogies. (D '43)

Electric communication
  Schulz, E. H., and Anderson, L. T. Experiments in electronics and communication engineering. (O '43)

Electric currents
  Smith, L. R. Elementary applied electricity. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Electric currents, Alternating
  Bishop, C. C. Alternating currents for technical students. (S '43)
  Clarke, E. Circuit analysis of A-C power systems, v 1. (N '43)
  Kerchner, R. M., and Corcoran, G. F. Alternating-current circuits. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Electric discharges
  Lewis, W. B. Electrical counting. (Ag '43)

Electric engineering
  Beauchamp, W. L., and Mayfield, J. C. Basic electricity. (S '43)
  Benjamin, T. D. Fundamentals of electricity. (S '43)
  Blalock, G. C. Elements of electrical circuits and machinery. (D '43)
  Cooke, N. M., and Orleans, J. B. Mathematics essential to electricity and radio. (D '43)
  Cornetet, W. H., and Fox, D. W. Principles of electricity. (Je '43)
  Dull, C. E., and Idelson, M. N. Fundamentals of electricity. (Je '43)
  Feirer, J. L., and Williams, R. O. Basic electricity. (Je '43)
  Johnson, W. H., and Newkirk, L. V. Electrical crafts. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
  Lunt, J. R., and Wyman, W. T. Electricity for everyone. (Ap '43)
  McDougal, W. L., and others. Fundamentals of electricity, for those preparing for war service. (Je '43)
  MacLaren, M. Rise of the electrical industry during the nineteenth century. (O '43)
  Moyer, J. A., and Wostrel, J. F. Industrial electricity and wiring. (Ag '43)
  Newman, Q. B. Marine electric power. (N '43)
  Perry, E. C., and Schafebook, H. V. Fundamental jobs in electricity. (Je '43)
  Rinde, C. A. Electricity and its application to civilian and military life. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
  Shea, W. C. Pre-service course in electricity. (Je '43)

Electric industries
  Lincoln, E. S. Industrial-commercial electrical reference. (O '43)
  MacLaren, M. Rise of the electrical industry during the nineteenth century. (O '43)

Electric lines
  Kurtz, E. B. Lineman's handbook. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Electric plants
  Boyer, G. C. Diesel and gas engine power plants. (Je '43)
  Steinberg, M. J., and Smith, T. H. Economy loading of power plants and electric systems. (Je '43)

Electric power
  Samuels, M. M. Power unleashed. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Electric transformers
  Massachusetts institute of technology. Department of electrical engineering. Magnetic circuits and transformers. (O '43)

Electric waves
  Brainerd, J. G., and others, eds. Ultra-high-frequency techniques. (Je '43)
  Sarbacher, R. I., and Edson, W. A. Hyper and ultrahigh frequency engineering. (N '43)
  Schelkunoff, S. A. Electromagnetic waves. (S '43)

Electric welding
  Chute, G. M. Electronic control of resistance welding. (O '43)
  Coen, M. J. Ship welding handbook. (N '43)
  Rice, W., and others. Fundamentals of electric welding. (Je '43)

Electric wiring
  Moyer, J. A., and Wostrel, J. F. Industrial electricity and wiring. (Ag '43)
  Scull, J. E. Ship wiring. (D '43)
Electrical and radio dictionary. Dunlap, C. H., and Hahn, E. R., eds. (S '43)
Electrical counting. Lewis, W. B. (Ag '43)
Electrical crafts. Johnson, W. H., and Newkirk, L. V. (F '44) (1943 Annual) Electrical fundamentals of communication. Albert, A. L. (Ap '43)

Electricity
  Albert, A. L. Electrical fundamentals of communication. (Ap '43)
  Beauchamp, W. L., and Mayfield, J. C. Basic electricity. (S '43)
  Benjamin, T. D. Fundamentals of electricity. (S '43)
  Cornetet, W. H., and Fox, D. W. Principles of electricity. (Je '43)
  Dull, C. E., and Idelson, M. N. Fundamentals of electricity. (Je '43)
  Feirer, J. L., and Williams, R. O. Basic electricity. (Je '43)
  Hausmann, E. Elements of electricity. (My '43)
  Hector, L. G., and others. Electronic physics. (N '43)
  Johnson, W. H., and Newkirk, L. V. Fundamentals of electricity. (S '43)

Jones, E. W. Fundamentals of applied electricity. (Je '43)
Lunt, J. R., and Wyman, W. T. Electricity for everyone. (Ap '43)
McDougal, W. L., and others. Fundamentals of electricity, for those preparing for war service. (Je '43)
Miller, F. R. Fundamentals of electricity. (Ag '43)
Morgan, A. P. First principles of radio communications. (S '43)
Rinde, C. A. Electricity and its application to civilian and military life. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Shea, W. C. Pre-service course in electricity. (Je '43)
Timbie, W. H. Basic electricity for communications. (S '43)

Dictionaries

Dunlap, C. H., and Hahn, E. R., eds. Electrical and radio dictionary. (S '43)

Electricity and its application to civilian and military life. Rinde, C. A. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Electricity for everyone. Lunt, J. R., and Wyman, W. T. (Ap '43)

Electricity in aeronautics
Matson, R. Aircraft electrical engineering. (D '43)

Electricity on ships
Scull, J. E. Ship wiring. (D '43)

Electrochemistry
Abramson, H. A., and others. Electrophoresis of proteins and the chemistry of cell surfaces. (Je '43)

Electromagnetic waves. Schelkunoff, S. A. (S '43)
Electronic control of resistance welding. Chute, G. M. (O '43)
Electronic interpretations of organic chemistry. Remick, A. E. (D '43)
Electronic physics. Hector, L. G., and others. (N '43)

Electronics
Hector, L. G., and others. Electronic physics. (N '43)
Massachusetts institute of technology. Department of electrical engineering. Applied electronics. (Je '43)
Müller, R. H., and others. Experimental electronics. (Je '43)
Remick, A. E. Electronic interpretations of organic chemistry. (D '43)
Schulz, E. H., and Anderson, L. T. Experiments in electronics and communication engineering. (O '43)
Terman, F. E. Radio engineer's handbook. (O '43)

Electrophoresis of proteins and the chemistry of cell surfaces. Abramson, H. A., and others. (Je '43)

Electroplating
Glasstone, S. Fundamentals of electrochemistry and electrodeposition. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Elementary applied electricity. Smith, L. R. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Elementary avigation. Moore, L. E. (Ag '43)
Elementary mathematics for the machine trades. Weir, J. J. (S '43)
Elementary metallurgy. Frier, W. T. (Mr '43)
Elementary meteorology. Finch, V. C., and others. (Je '43)
Elementary physical chemistry. Randall, M., and Young, L. E. (Ag '43)
Elementary statistical methods. Walker, H. M. (D '43)
Elementary structural analysis and design. Grinter, L. E. (Je '43)
Elementary surveying, v 1. Rayner, W. H. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Elements of aerofoil and airscrew theory. Glauert, H. (Ag '43)
Elements of automotive mechanics. Heitner, J., and others. (Ap '43)
Elements of electrical circuits and machinery. Blalock, G. C. (D '43)
Elements of electricity. Hausmann, E. (My '43)
Elements of food biochemistry. Peterson, W. H., and others. (S '43)
Elements of machines. Verwiebe, F. L., and others. (Ap '43)
Elements of mechanical vibration. Freberg, C. R., and Kemler, E. N. (D '43)
Elements of mineralogy. Winchell, A. N. (Ap '43)
Elements of police science. Perkins, R. M. (Je '43)
Elements of radio. Hellman, C. I. (My '43)
Elements of radio. Marcus, A. and W. (Je '43)
Elements of shop drawing. Willoughby, G. A., and Lappinen, M. (D '43)
Elements of supervision. Spriegel, W. R., and Schulz, E. (My '43)

Elephants
Orr, G. Here come the elephants. (O '43)

Legends and stories

Wheeler, P. Hathoo of the elephants. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Eleven came back. Seeley, M. (Ap '43)

Elocution
Lowrey, S., and Johnson, G. E. Interpretative reading. (Ap '43)

Embryology
Needham, J. Biochemistry and morphogenesis. (Ap '43)

Emerson, Ralph Waldo
Hoeltje, H. H. Sheltering tree. (D '43)

Emigration and immigration
Forsyth, W. D. Myth of open spaces. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Eminent domain
Person, H. S. Mexican oil. (My '43)

Empire. Fischer, L. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Empirical equations and nomography. Davis, D. S. (Je '43)
Employee relations in the public service. Civil service assembly of the United States and Canada. Committee on employee relations in the public service. (My '43)

Employees, Training of
Dodd, A. E., and Rice, J. O., eds. How to train workers for war industries. (Ap '43)
Schaefer, V. G. Job instruction. (Je '43)
Starr, R. B., ed. Foremanship training. (O '43)

Employment in manufacturing, 1899-1939. Fabricant, S. (S '43)

Employment management
Aspley, J. C., and Whitmore, E., eds. Handbook of industrial relations. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Froman, L. A., and Mason, S. B. Industrial supervision. (My '43)
Riegel, J. W. Management, labor and technological change. (N '43)
Schultz, R. S. Wartime supervision of workers. (Ap '43)
Spriegel, W. R., and Schulz, E. Elements of supervision. (My '43)
Tiffin, J. Industrial psychology. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Emulsions
Bennett, H. Practical emulsions. (O '43)
Clayton, W. Theory of emulsions and their technical treatment. (Ag '43)

Encyclopedia Americana, v 30. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Encyclopaedia britannica world atlas. (My '43)
Encyclopedia of substitutes and synthetics. Schoengold, M. D., ed. (D '43)

Encyclopedias and dictionaries
American educator encyclopedia. (O '43)
Britannica junior. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Compton's pictured encyclopedia. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Encyclopedia Americana, v 30. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Kohl, G. L. Picture almanac for boys and girls. (Ap '43)
Nelson's encyclopedia, unabridged. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
New Modern encyclopedia. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
World book encyclopedia. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

End in Africa. Moorehead, A. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
End of the beginning. Churchill, W. L. S. (S '43)
End of track. Mason, V. (S '43)
Enemy brothers. Savery, C. (O '43)
Enemy in sight! Rogers, S. R. H. (Je '43)
Enemy sea. Polonsky, A. (Ag '43)
Engine lathe operations. Whipple, G. G., and Baudek, A. C. (O '43)

Engineering
Cell, J. W. Engineering problems illustrating mathematics. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Keller, E. G. Mathematics of modern engineering, v 2. (Je '43)
Engineering drawing. Sahag, L. M. (Ap '43)
Engineering drawing, practice and theory. Carter, I. N., and Thompson, H. L. (S '43)
Engineering mechanics. Low, B. B. (Je '43)
Engineering mechanics. Singer, F. L. (N '43)
Engineering problems illustrating mathematics. Cell, J. W. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Engineers in battle. Thompson, P. W. (Je '43)
Engines
Hobbs, G. M., and others. Fundamentals of machines, for those preparing for war service. (Ag '43)
England
Description and travel
Morton, H. C. V. I saw two Englands. (Ap '43)
Economic conditions
De Schweinitz, K. England's road to social security. (O '43)
Social life and customs
Thompson, F. Candleford Green. (My '43)
England's road to social security. De Schweinitz, K. (O '43)
English domestic life during the last 200 years. Strong, L. A. G., comp. (S '43)
English drama
History and criticism
Clarkson, P. S., and Warren, C. T. Law of property in Shakespeare and the Elizabethan drama. (Ag '43)
Parrott, T. M., and Ball, R. H. Short view of Elizabethan drama. (Ag '43)
English fiction
Collections
Strong, L. A. G., comp. English domestic life during the last 200 years. (S '43)
History and criticism
Wagenknecht, E. C. Cavalcade of the English novel. (S '43)
English language
Dictionaries
Johnson, S. Young Americans' dictionary. (N '43)
Errors
Use of words
Partridge, E. Usage and abusage. (Ap '43)
Witherspoon, A. M. Common errors in English and how to avoid them. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Pronunciation
Greet, W. C. War words. (My '43)
National broadcasting company. NBC handbook of pronunciation. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Rhetoric
Leacock, S. B. How to write. (Mr '43)
Rime
Wood, C. Unabridged rhyming dictionary. (S '43)
Textbooks for foreigners
Germans
Whyte, J. American words and ways. (S '43)
English literature
Collections
Maugham, W. S., ed. Introduction to modern English and American literature. (Ag '43)
History and criticism
Entwistle, W. J., and Gillett, E. W. Literature of England. (S '43)
Moody, W. V., and Lovett, R. M. History of English literature. (S '43)
English people. Brogan, D. W. (Je '43)
English poetry
Bibliography
Brown, C. F., and Robbins, R. H. Index of Middle English verse. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Collections
Aubin, R. A., ed. London in flames, London in glory. (Ag '43)
Gregory, H., ed. Triumph of life. (N '43)
McClure, J. P., ed. Stag's hornbook. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Moult, T., ed. Best poems of 1942. (S '43)
Sanders, G. D., and Nelson, J. H., eds. Chief modern poets of England and America. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Sheed, F. J., comp. Poetry and life. (Ap '43)
Williams, O., ed. New poems. (O '43)
History and criticism
Chambers, E. K. Sheaf of studies. (Mr '43)
Fairchild, H. N. Religious trends in English poetry, v2. (Ap '43)
English social history. Trevelyan, G. M. (Ap '43)
English yeoman. Campbell, M. L. (Ap '43)
Engravers, American
Zigrosser, C. Artist in America. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Enigma of Admiral Darlan. De Montmorency, A. (Je '43)
Entertaining
Bell, L. P. Parties in wartime. (Je '43)
Epidemics
Winslow, C. E. A. Conquest of epidemic disease. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Equations
Davis, D. S. Empirical equations and nomography. (Je '43)
Equinox. Seager, A. (S '43)
Escape from Java. Van der Grift, C., and Lansing, E. H. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual) Escape from the Balkans. Padev, M. (O '43)
Eskimos
Stefansson, V. Friendly Arctic. (S '43)
Alaska
Hrdlička, A. Alaska diary, 1926-1931. (S '43)
Essays
Erskine, J. Complete life. (My '43)
Klatzkin, J. In praise of wisdom. (D '43)
White, S. E. Speaking for myself. (S '43)
Essays in Thomism. Brennan, R. E., ed. (Je '43)
Essays on the Greek romances. Haight, E. H. (O '43)
Essential mathematics for skilled workers. Keal, H. M., and Leonard, C. J. (Ap '43)
Essentials of drafting. Svensen, C. L. (S '43)
Essentials of industrial health. Sappington, C. O. (O '43)
Essentials of nutrition. Sherman, H. C., and Lanford, C. S. (Ag '43)
Esters
Post, H. W. Chemistry of the aliphatic orthoesters. (N '43)
Esthetics
Kallen, H. M. Art and freedom. (Ap '43)
Pearson, R. M. Experiencing American pictures. (My '43)
Sachs, H. Creative unconscious. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Shoemaker, F. Aesthetic experience and the humanities. (S '43)
Etchers, American
Zigrosser, C. Artist in America. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Etchings
Goya y Lucientes, F. J. de. Complete etchings. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Eternal purpose. Kelly, B. M., comp. (Ag '43)
Ethics
Selsam, H. Socialism and ethics. (O '43)
Titus, H. H. What is a mature morality? (My '43)
Waterman, L. Religion faces the world crisis. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Etiology of delinquent and criminal behavior. Reckless, W. C. (N '43)
Etiquet
Harriman, G. C. Book of etiquette. (Ap '43)

Eugenie, consort of Napoleon III, emperor of the French
Barschak, E. Innocent empress. (S '43)
Eulogy of judges. Calamandrei, P. (Ap '43)
Europe
Civilization
Fischer, E. Passing of the European age. (D '43)
Tschan, F. J., and others. Western civilization. (My '43)
Economic conditions
Basch, A. Danube basin and the German economic sphere. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
History
Chambers, F. P. and others. This age of conflict. (S '43)
Gillespie, J. E., and Netboy, A. Europe in perspective. (Ap '43)
Hall, W. P. World wars and revolutions. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Mackinnon, J. History of modern liberty, v 4. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Newman, B. New Europe. (S '43)
O'Sullivan, J. F., and Burns, J. F. Medieval Europe. (D '43)
Rayner, R. M. Twenty years' truce, 1919-1939. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Tschan, F. J., and others. Western civilization. (My '43)
Kings and rulers
Parsons, J. S. Royalty in the nineteenth century. (S '43)
Politics
Askew, W. C. Europe and Italy's acquisition of Libya. (S '43)
Coudenhove-Kalergi, R. N. Crusade for Pan-Europe. (N '43)
Duggan, S. P. H. Professor at large. (D '43)
Javsicas, G. Shortage of victory. (Mr '43)
Newman, B. New Europe. (S '43)
Sturmthal, A. F. Tragedy of European labor, 1918-1939. (Je '43)
Whitaker, J. T. We cannot escape history. (Ap '43)
Population
Kulischer, E. M. Displacement of population in Europe. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Relations (general) with United States
Hanc, J. Eastern Europe and the United States. (D '43)
Europe and Italy's acquisition of Libya. Askew, W. C. (S '43)
Europe in perspective. Gillespie, J. E., and Netboy, A. (Ap '43)
European powers and South-east Africa. Jackson, M. V. (Ap '43)
European war, 1914-1918
Langsam, W. C. World since 1914. (N '43)
Aerial operations
Michaelis, R. From bird cage to battle plane. (My '43)
Blockades
Bane, S. L., and Lutz, R. H., eds. Blockade of Germany after the armistice, 1918-1919. (O '43)
Food question
Bane, S. L., and Lutz, R. H., eds. Blockade of Germany after the armistice, 1918-1919. (O '43)
Germany
Bane, S. L., and Lutz, R. H., eds. Blockade of Germany after the armistice, 1918-1919. (O '43)
Hungary
Deák, F. Hungary at the Paris peace conference. (My '43)
United States
Bailey, T. A. Policy of the United States toward the neutrals, 1917-1918. (Je '43)
European war, 1939-. See World war, 1939-
Europe's children. Bonney, T. (D '43)
Eustace, Cecil John
Eustace, C. J. House of bread. (D '43)
Evangelicalism
Macintosh, D. C. Personal religion. (D '43)
Evergreen house. Hauck, L. P. (My '43)
Everyday birds. Allen, G. E. (Je '43)
Evidence of things seen. Daly, E. (S '43)
Evolution
Berman, L. Behind the universe. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Huxley, J. S. Evolution, the modern synthesis. (My '43)
Evolution of social classes. McConnell, J. W. (My '43)
Evolution of The Faerie Queene. Bennett, J. W. (S '43)
Evolution, the modern synthesis. Huxley, J. S. (My '43)
Examinations
Greene, H. A., and others. Measurement and evaluation in the secondary school. (Ag '43)
McKown, H. C. How to pass a written examination. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Excess baggage. St John, B. U. (Je '43)
Excuse me, Mrs Meigs. Corbett, E. F. (Ap '43)
Excuse my dust. Partridge, B. (O '43)
Exiled pilgrim. Hubben, W. (N '43)
Exiles
Ludwig, E., and Kranz, H. B., eds. Torch of freedom. (N '43)
Expatriation
Tsiang, I. Question of expatriation in America prior to 1907. (D '43)
Experiencing American pictures. Pearson, R. M. (My '43)
Experiment perilous. Carpenter, M. (My '43)
Experimental cookery. Lowe, B. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Experimental electronics. Müller, R. H., and others. (Je '43)
Experiments in electronics and communication engineering. Schulz, E. H., and Anderson, L. T. (O '43)
Exploration in reading patterns. Strang, R. M. (My '43)
Explorers
Anthony, B. K., and Barnes, M. Explorers all. (Je '43)
Lucas, M. S. Vast horizons. (S '43)
Explorers all. Anthony, B. K., and Barnes, M. (Je '43)
Exploring journalism. Wolseley, R. E., and Campbell, L. R. (N '43)
Exploring the dangerous trades. Hamilton, A. (My '43)
Exploring the graphic arts. Marinaccio, A., and Osborn, B. N. (Je '43)
Exploring the little rivers of New Jersey. Cawley, J. S. and M. (Ap '43)
Exploring the wartime morale of high-school youth. Cronbach, L. J. (N '43)
Exploring tomorrow's agriculture. Eaton, J. W. (S '43)
Explosion. Wallace, F. (My '43)
Explosives
Bebie, J. Manual of explosives, military pyrotechnics, and chemical warfare agents. (Je '43)
Davis, T. L. Chemistry of powder and explosives, v 2. (Ag '43)
Olsen, A. L., and Greene, J. W. Laboratory manual of explosive chemistry. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual) Expression of personality. Wolff, W. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual) Eye
Care and hygiene
Gerling, C. J. Sight saver. (N '43)
Ezra and me. Taber, H. P. (S '43)

F.B.I. in peace and war. Collins, F. L. (N '43)
Fabre, Jean Henri Casimir
Juvenile literature
Eberle, I. Wide fields. (D '43)
Fact and fancy in the T.N.E.C. monographs. Scoville, J., and Sargent, N. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Factories
Protection
Farran, H. D. Industrial guard's manual. (Je '43)

Factory management
  Anderson, A. G., and others. Industrial management. (My '43)
  Connelly, J. R. Technique of production processes. (O '43)
  Froman, L. A., and Mason, S. B. Industrial supervision. (My '43)
  Heyel, C., ed. Foreman's handbook. (My '43)
  National foreman's institute. Foreman's management conference manuals. (O '43)
  Riegel, J. W. Management, labor and technological change. (N '43)
Facts are. Seldes, G. (S '43)
Fables of the glen. McEwen, J. E. (Je '43)
Fairy tales
  Fenner, P. R. Giants and witches and a dragon or two. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
  Gale, L., ed. Favorite bedtime stories. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
  Gale, L., ed. Favorite nursery stories. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
  Grimm, J. L. K. and W. K. Three gay tales from Grimm. (D '43)
Faith
  Cammaerts, E. Upon this rock. (S '43)
  Kroner, R. Primacy of faith. (O '43)
Faith of our children. Jones, M. A. (Ag '43)
Faked passports. Wheatley, D. (My '43)
Falange. Chase, A. (S '43)
Fall guy for murder. Goldman, L. (Mr '43)
Fall of Paris. Erenburg, I. G. (Je '43)
False alarm. Long, M. (Je '43)
Family
  Becker, H., and Hill, R. L., eds. Marriage and the family. (Ap '43)
  Bossard, J. H. S., and Boll, E. S. Family situations. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
  Cavan, R. S. Family. (Ap '43)
  Drummond, L. W. Youth and instruction in marriage and family living. (Je '43)
  Folsom, J. K. Family and democratic society. (Ag '43)
Family and democratic society. Folsom, J. K. (Ag '43)
Family situations. Bossard, J. H. S., and Boll, E. S. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Famous authors for boys and girls. Coffman, R. P., and Goodman, N. G. (S '43)
Fanatic of Fez. Heberden, M. V. (Ag '43)
Fantastic interim. Robinson, H. M. (My '43)
Farewell to the admiral. Cheyney, P. (Je '43)
Farm bloc. McCune, W. (S '43)
Farm life
  Daniels, B. K. Outer edge. (O '43)
  Ladd, C. E., and Eastman, E. R. Growing up in the horse and buggy days. (Mr '43)
Farm on the veldt. Eng title of: No brighter dawn. Jervis, V. M. S. (Je '43)
Farm produce
  Van Dersal, W. R. American land. (O '43)
Farm tenancy
  Raper, A. F. Tenants of the Almighty. (S '43)
Farmer citizen at war. Tolley, H. R. (Ap '43)
Farming for security. Duryee, W. B. (My '43)
Farragut, David Glasgow
  Lewis, C. L. David Glasgow Farragut, v2. (N '43)
Fascism
  Herridge, W. D. Which kind of revolution? (D '43)
  Kotschnig, W. M. Slaves need no leaders. (Mr '43)

Argentina

  Bradford, S. E. Battle for Buenos Aires. (Je '43)

Latin America

  Chase, A. Falange. (S '43)

United States

  Derounian, A. Under cover. (S '43)
Fashion
  Burris-Meyer, E. This is fashion. (S '43)
Father and Glorious Descendant. Lowe, P. (My '43)
Fathoms below. Meier, F. (Je '43)
Fathoms deep. Dawson, M. (O '43)
Favorite American plays of the nineteenth century. Clark, B. H., ed. (N '43)
Favorite bedtime stories. Gale, L., ed. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual) Favorite nursery stories. Gale, L., ed. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Favorite stories old and new. Gruenberg, S. M., ed. (Mr '43)
Favorite tales of long ago. See note under Gale, L., ed. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Fecundity
  Beebe, G. W. Contraception and fertility in the southern Appalachians. (Ap '43)
  Kiser, C. V. Group differences in urban fertility. (Je '43)
Federal power commission and state utility regulation. Baum, R. D. (S '43)
Federal reserve bank of Cleveland
  Blaser, A. F. Federal reserve bank of Cleveland. (S '43)
Feeding babies and their families. Monsch, H., and Harper, M. K. (N '43)
Feeding our armed forces. Hoffman, E. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Female of the species. Queen, E., ed. (S '43)
Fencing
  Nadi, A. On fencing. (Ag '43)
Ferrous production metallurgy. Bray, J. L. (Mr '43)
Festivals
  DuBois, R. D. Get together Americans. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Few happy ones. Van der Veer, J. (O '43)
Ficino, Marsilio
  Kristeller, P. O. Philosophy of Marsilio Ficino. (S '43)
Fiction (books about)

Bibliography

  Carpenter, H. M. Gateways to American history. (Ap '43)
  Fiction catalog, 1941. (My '43)

Technique

  Burack, A. S. ed. Craft of novel writing. (My '43)
  Glasgow, E. A. G. Certain measure. (N '43)
  Rodell, M. F. Mystery fiction. (Je '43)
Fiction (classified according to subject)

Acadians

  Eaton, E. S. M. Sea is so wide. (Ap '43)

Adolescence

  Duncan, J. B. Heather heritage. (Mr '43)
  Robinson, O. Triumvirate. (N '43)
  Saroyan, W. Human comedy. (Ap '43)
  Warrick, L. S. Yesterday's children. (Je '43)
  Weidman, J. Lights around the shore. (Je '43)

Adventure

  Burke, R. Barbary freight. (Ag '43)
  Douglas, D. Haunted harbor. (S '43)
  Gill, T. Jungle harvest. (My '43)
  Marshall, E. Great Smith. (My '43)
  Worts, G. F. Overboard. (Je '43)
  Wren, P. C. Dark woman. (Mr '43)

Airplanes

Accidents

  Parrott, K. U. T. Storm at dusk. (My '43)

Americanization

  Kerr, A B. Strangers no longer. (O '43)

Americans abroad

  Green, A. Just before dawn. (Ap '43)

Amnesia

  Sullivan, R. Dark continent. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Angels

  Baker, F. Sweet chariot. (Ap '43)
  Benefield, B. Eddie and the archangel Mike. (Mr '43)

Animal stories

Dogs

  Bell, V. Two of a kind. (Mr '43)
  Goodman, J., ed. Fireside book of dog stories. (Je '43)

Horses

  Amorim, E. Horse and his shadow. (S '43)
  Lamond, H. G. Kilgour's mare. (N '43)
  McMeekin, C. Red Raskall. (N '43)
  Sture-Vasa, M. A. Thunderhead. (N '34)

Archeology

Wolf, V. Spell of Egypt. (Ap '43)

Architects

Rand, A. Fountainhead. (Je '43)

Army life

Wadelton, T. D. Army brat. (My '43)
Warren, C. M. Only the valiant. (Ap '43)

Artists

Carrick, G. Susan to you. (S '43)
Danz, L. It is still the morning. (N '43)

Authors

Smith, E. F. Caravan. (S '43)

Aviation

Collison, T., ed. This winged world. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Aviators

Bates, H. E. There's something in the air. (Je '43)
Hewes, J. V. High courts of heaven. (Mr '43)
Hurst, J. S. Then gilded dust. (My '43)

Beauty, Personal

Chase, I. In bed we cry. (D '43)

Biblical stories

Asch, S. Apostle. (O '43)
Holmes, J. H. Second Christmas. (D '43)

Biographical novels

Bonaparte, Maria Letizia (Ramolino)

Coryn, M. Good-bye, my son. (Mr '43)

Charles V, emperor of the Holy Roman empire

Zara, L. Against this rock. (O '43)

Lincoln, Mrs Mary (Todd)

Colver, A. Mr Lincoln's wife. (Je '43)

Lisa, Manuel

Seifert, S. Those who go against the current. (N '43)

Murrell, John A.

Kroll, H. H. Rogues' company. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Napoleon I, emperor of the French

Coryn, M. Good-bye, my son. (Mr '43)

Paine, Thomas

Fast, H. M. Citizen Tom Paine. (Je '43)

Robespierre, Maximilien Marie Isidore de

Coryn, M. Incorruptible. (O '43)

Sacagawea

Emmons, D. F. G. Sacajawea of the Shoshones. (N '43)

Smith, John

Marshall, E. Great Smith. (My '43)

Brothers

Clarke, I. C. Welcome. (N '43)
De Vries, P. Handsome heart. (S '43)
Gibbons, R. F. Bright is the morning. (N '43)
Savery, C. Enemy brothers. (O '43)
Slaughter, F. G. Air surgeon. (S '43)

Character studies

Allingham, M. Galantrys. (N '43)
Beffel, E. Hero of Antietam. (S '43)
Bentley, B. Hedge against the sun. (N '43)
Bottome, P. Survival. (O '43)
Bristow, G. Tomorrow is forever. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Bromfield, L. Mrs Parkington. (Mr '43)
Campbell, W. E. M. Looking-glass. (Mr '43)
Chidester, A. No longer fugitive. (O '43)
Cooper, L. F. Deer on the stairs. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Danz, L. It is still the morning. (N '43)
Erskine, J. Voyage of Captain Bart. (Je '43)
Flavin, M. Journey in the dark. (N '43)
Gibbs, S. You don't belong here. (Ag '43)
Hackett, F. Senator's last night. (S '43)
Haydn, H. C. By nature free. (My '43)
Horner, J. M. Wind and the rain. (Je '43)
Howe, H. H. Whole heart. (Mr '43)
Leslie, A. G. Dancing saints. (Ag '43)
Llewellyn, R. None but the lonely heart. (O '43)
Lofts, N. R. Brittle glass. (Mr '43)
McCormick, J. November storm. (Ap '43)
Marquand, J. P. So little time. (S '43)
Mills, C. Choice. (Je '43)
Potts, J. Someone to remember. (My '43)
Power-O'Malley, R. Mrs Cassatt's children. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Roberts, D. J. Man of Malice Landing. (S '43)
Selby, J. Starbuck. (S '43)
Sinclair, U. B. Wide is the gate. (Mr '43)
Slaughter, F. G. Air surgeon. (S '43)
Smith, B. Tree grows in Brooklyn. (S '43)
Tarkington, B. Kate Fennigate. (Je '43)
Warren, R. P. At heaven's gate. (S '43)
Winwar, F. Sentimentalist. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Children, Stories about

Alexander, E. This is my son. (N '43)
Cooney, C. T. David. (My '43)
Sale, E. Recitation from memory. (O '43)
Wilder, M. A. B. Since you went away... (S '43)

Chinese-Japanese war

See Fiction—Historical novels—Chinese-Japanese war

Clairvoyance

Feuchtwanger, L. Double, double, toil and trouble. (Je '43)

Clergy

Abbott, J. L. D. Yours for the asking. (Mr '43)
Comstock, H. T. S. Terry. (O '43)
Goulding, P. So long as we love. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
McCord, J. Dominie's daughter. (My '43)

Coast guard

Knowlton, E. R. Beach patrol. (O '43)

Communism

Blankfort, M. Time to live. (My '43)

Communistic communities

Truax, R. Green is the golden tree. (My '43)

Convent life

Wise, E. V. Mary darlin'. (O '43)

Copper mines and mining

Du Maurier, D. Hungry Hill. (Ag '43)

Cowboys

Easton, R. O. Happy man. (Ap '43)

Crime and criminals

Llewellyn, R. None but the lonely heart. (O '43)
Sender, R. J. Dark wedding. (My '43)

Czechs in the United States

Feld, R. C. Sophie Halenczik, American. (Je '43)

Dancers

Peattie, L. R. Ring finger. (Ap '43)

Drunkards

Hueston, E. P. Drink to me only. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Factories

Priestley, J. B. Daylight on Saturday. (O '43)

Family chronicles

Bromfield, L. Mrs Parkington. (Mr '43)
Caldwell, J. T. Turnbulls. (O '43)
Du Maurier, D. Hungry hill. (Ag '43)
Franzero, C. M. House of Mrs Caroline. (D '43)
Hummel, G. F. Joshua Moore, American. (Je '43)
Kaye-Smith, S. Tambourine, trumpet and drum. (O '43)
Lancaster, G. B. Grand parade. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Longstreet, S. Land I live. (Ap '43)
Miller, M. B. In the days of thy youth. (O '43)
Pine, H. Waltz is over. (Ap '43)
Sinclair, K. H. N. Covenant. (O '43)
Stevenson, D. E. Celia's house. (Ap '43)

Fiction—Family chronicles—Continued
Steward, A. S. Take nothing for your journey. (N '43)
Taylor, R. Chicken every Sunday. (My '43)

Family life

Bell, T. Till I come back to you. (Ag '43)
Blake, D. It's all in the family. (Ap '43)
Chamberlain, G. A. Knoll island. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Chidester, A. No longer fugitive. (O '43)
Colver, A. M. R. Merrivales. (S '43)
Cooney, C. T. David. (My '43)
Forbes, K. Mama's bank account. (My '43)
Heyer, G. Penhallow. (S '43)
Holmes, M. World by the tail. (Je '43)
Kahn, J. To meet Miss Long. (My '43)
Lee, C. P. High noon. (D '43)
Lewis, J. Against a darkening sky. (Mr '43)
Ripperger, H. S. 112 Elm street. (Je '43)
Sale, E. Recitation from memory. (O '43)
Saroyan, W. Human comedy. (Ap '43)
Wilder, M. A. B. Since you went away... (S '43)

Fantasies

Baker, F. Sweet chariot. (Ap '43)
Benefield, B. Eddie and the archangel Mike. (Mr '43)
Burnett, W., ed. Two bottles of relish. (Je '43)
Lewis, C. S. Out of the silent planet. (N '43)
McHugh, V. I am thinking of my darling. (S '43)
Matson, N. H. Bats in the belfry. (Je '43)
Mendelssohn, P. Fortress in the skies. (O '43)
Nathan, R. But gently day. (O '43)
Saint Exupéry, A. de. Little prince. (My '43)
Stern, P. V., ed. Moonlight traveler. (Ag '43)

Farm life

Field, B. Outside leaf. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Sinclair, J. L. In time of harvest. (O '43)

Fascism

Appel, B. Dark stain. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Browne, L. See what I mean? (N '43)

Fathers and daughters

Deeping, W. Slade. (S '43)
Seager, A. Equinox. (S '43)

Fathers and sons

Kantor, M. Happy land. (Mr '43)

Fishing

Knight, J. A. Ol' Bill, and other stories. (Ap '43)

Forests and forestry

Flint, E. C. Pine tree shield. (Ag '43)

French Canadians in the United States

Archambault, A. A. Mill village. (D '43)

Frontier and pioneer life

Brinig, M. Gambler takes a wife. (Ag '43)
Campbell, G. M. G. Thorn-apple tree. (Mr '43)
Daniels, H. M. Muller hill. (N '43)
Dowdey, C. Tidewater. (O '43)
Ostenso, M. O river, remember! (O '43)
Schachner, N. Sun shines west. (N '43)
Schrag, O. Locusts. (D '43)

Future, Novels of the

Beals, C. Dawn over the Amazon. (Ag '43)
Radin, M. Day of reckoning. (Ag '43)

Gangsters

Wolfert, I. Tucker's people. (Je '43)

Germans in Pennsylvania

Richter, C. Free man. (S '43)

Germans in the United States

Pine, H. Waltz is over. (Ap '43)

Gipsies

Smith, E. F. Caravan. (S '43)

Grasshopper plagues

Schrag, O. Locusts. (D '43)

Historical novels

California

Shaftel, G. A. Golden shore. (Ag '43)

Canada

Lancaster, G. B. Grand parade. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Sullivan, A. Three came to Ville Marie. (Mr '43)

Chile

Teilhet, D. L. Retreat from the Dolphin. (D '43)

China

Hurst, J. S. Then gilded dust. (My '43)

Chinese-Japanese war

Chiang, Y. Men of the Burma road. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Lin, A. Flame from the rock. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Lin, A. War tide. (D '43)
Smith, B. Arms are fair. (S '43)

Connecticut

Miers, E. S. Valley in arms. (Je '43)

Egypt

Newcomb, R. T. Janissa. (N '43)

England

Pilgrim, D. Grand design. (O '43)
Walpole, H. Katherine Christian. (Ag '43)

Europe

Zara, L. Against this rock. (O '43)

France

Caldwell, J. T. Arm and the darkness. (Ap '43)
Coryn, M. Good-bye, my son. (Mr '43)

France—Revolution

Coryn, M. Incorruptible. (O '43)

Massachusetts

Degenhard, W. Regulators. (Je '43)

Mexico

Niles, B. R. Passengers to Mexico. (My '43)

Missouri river

Seifert, S. Those who go against the current. (N '43)

Peninsular war, 1807-1814

Forester, C. S. Rifleman Dodd, and The gun. (My '43)

South Africa

Sinclair, K. H. N. Covenant. (O '43)

Texas

Foreman, L. L. Road to San Jacinto. (My '43)

Turkey

Brown, D. V. Delarah. (S '43)

United States

Hummel, G. F. Joshua Moore, American. (Je '43)
Mason, V., ed. Fighting American. (S '43)

United States—Colonial period

Allen, H. Forest and the fort. (My '43)
Kenyon, T. Golden feather. (Ag '43)

United States—Revolution

Beebe, E. T. R. Dawn's early light. (Je '43)
Jennings, J. Shadow and the glory. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Richter, C. Free man. (S '43)

United States—Constitutional period, 1789-1809

Daniels, H. M. Muller hill. (N '43)
David, E. J. As runs the glass. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

United States—War of 1812

Lane, C. D. Fleet in the forest. (D '43)

United States—1815-1861

Fisher, V. Mothers. (N '43)
Schachner, N. Sun shines west. (N '43)

Sublette, C. M., and Kroll, H. H. Perilous journey. (Ap '43)

United States—Black Hawk war, 1832

Fuller, I. Shining trail. (Ag '43)

United States—Reconstruction period, 1865

Crabb, A. L. Supper at the Maxwell house. (S '43)

Yugoslavia

Heydenau, F. Wrath of the eagles. (Ag '43)

Horror tales

Carpenter, M. Experiment perilous. (My '43)
Siodmak, K. Donovan's brain. (Ap '43)

Hospitals and sanatoriums

Arey, J. S. Night duty. (My '43)

Hotels, taverns, etc.

Smith, R. M. Hotel on the lake. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Humor

Benefield, B. Eddie and the archangel Mike. (Mr '43)
Hsiung, S. Bridge of heaven. (S '43)
Iams, J. Prophet by experience. (Ap '43)
Kelland, C. B. Archibald the Great. (Je '43)
Leacock, S. B. Happy stories just to laugh at. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Shulman, M. Barefoot boy with cheek. (Je '43)
Smith, T. Thorne Smith three-bagger. (My '43)
Upson, W. H. Keep 'em crawling. (Mr '43)
Walker, M. Count on two days. (N '43)

Hungarians in the United States

Weidman, J. Lights around the shore. (Je '43)

Hunting

Knight, J. A. Ol' Bill, and other stories. (Ap '43)

Imaginary wars and battles

Beals, C. Dawn over the Amazon. (Ag '43)
Lull, R. Call to battle. (Mr '43)

Indians of North America

Emmons, D. F. G. Sacajawea of the Shoshones. (N '43)

Wars

Warren, C. M. Only the valiant. (Ap '43)

Insanity

Massie, C. Green circle. (Ap '43)

International intrigue

Heberden, M. V. Fanatic of Fez. (Ag '43)
Knight, K. M. Trademark of a traitor. (Ag '43)
Wheatley, D. Faked passports. (My '43)

Interplanetary adventures

Lewis, C. S. Out of the silent planet. (N '43)

Irish in the United States

Reese, J. H. Sheehan's mill. (N '43)

Italians in the United States

De Capite, M. Maria. (Mr '43)
Mangione, J. Mount Allegro. (Mr '43)
Pagano, J. Golden wedding. (My '43)

Jazz orchestras

Willis, G. Tangleweed. (O '43)

Jews and Jewish life

Frank, B. One fair daughter. (N '43)
Singer, J. F. G. This festive season. (D '43)
Wallis, J. H. Niece of Abraham Pein. (Ap '43)

Jews in the United States

Browne, L. See what I mean? (N '43)

Journalists

Duranty, W. Search for a key. (Ap '43)
Gibbs, P. H. Interpreter. (S '43)

Labor and laboring classes

Archambault, A. A. Mill village. (D '43)
McKenney, R. Jake Home. (Ap '43)
Swarthout, G. F. Willow Run. (S '43)

Law and lawyers

Cozzens, J. G. Just and the unjust. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Train, A. C. Yankee lawyer. (O '43)
Winwar, F. Sentimentalist. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Legends and folklore

Przerwa-Tetmajer, K. Tales of the Tatras. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Letters (stories in letter form)

Wilder, M. A. B. Since you went away... (S '43)

Lighthouses

Robertson, W. South from yesterday. (Je '43)

Locality

Africa

Simenon, G. Tropic moon. (Mr '43)

Africa (Kongo)

Cloete, S. Congo song. (Ap '43)

Alabama

Bell, V. Two of a kind. (Mr '43)
Campbell, W. E. M. Looking-glass. (Mr '43)
Gibbons, R. F. Bright is the morning. (N '43)

Arizona

Kelland, C. B. Archibald the Great. (Je '43)
Taylor, R. Chicken every Sunday. (My '43)

Arkansas

Gilmore, C. Bright enchantment. (My '43)
Randall, J. Traveler's end. (O '43)

Australia

Herbert, X. Capricornia. (Je '43)
Lamond, H. G. Kilgour's mare. (N '43)
Tennant, K. Ride on, stranger. (S '43)
Tennant, K. Time enough later. (Mr '43)

Austria

Frank, B. One fair daughter. (N '43)

Austria (Vienna)

Freeman, J. Never call retreat. (Ap '43)

Belgium

Roberts, K. Private report. (S '43)

Bermuda

Power-O'Malley, R. Mrs Cassatt's children. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Brazil

Leão, S. White shore of Olinda. (O '43)
Verissimo, E. Crossroads. (Ap '43)

Burma

Black, D. Sun is near. (S '43)
Buck, P. S. Promise. (D '43)

California

Chambers, W. Invasion! (Je '43)
Easton, R. O. Happy man. (Ap '43)
Greenhood, D. The hill. (My '43)
Lewis, J. Against a darkening sky. (Mr '43)
Norris, K. T. Corner of heaven. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Pagano, J. Golden wedding. (My '43)
Saroyan, W. Human comedy. (Ap '43)
Wilde, I. Red turban. (O '43)
Wilhelm, G. Time between. (Ap '43)

California (Hollywood)

Bristow, G. Tomorrow is forever. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

California (Los Angeles)

Child, N. If I come home. (D '43)

California (San Francisco)

Forbes, K. Mama's bank account. (My '43)

Canada

Campbell, G. M. G. Thorn-apple tree. (Mr '43)
Duncan, J. B. Heather heritage. (Mr '43)
Hendryx, J. B. New rivers calling. (O '43)
Parrott, K. U. T. Storm at dusk. (My '43)

Fiction—Locality—Continued

Canada (northwestern)

Hendryx, J. B. Strange doings on Halfaday creek. (Mr '43)

Canada (Nova Scotia)

Lancaster, G. B. Grand parade. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Canada (Ontario)

Manners, D. J. Under running laughter. (Mr '43)

Central America

Gill, T. Jungle harvest. (My '43)

China

Buck, P. S. Promise. (D '43)
Chiang, Y. Men of the Burma road. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Hsiung, S. Bridge of heaven. (S '43)
Lin, A. Flame from the rock. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Lin, A. War tide. (D '43)
Wallace, K. Rice in the wind. (My '43)

Colombia

Erskine, J. Voyage of Captain Bart. (Je '43)

Colorado

Pagano, J. Golden wedding. (My '43)

Colorado (Denver)

Cowdin, E. All we have built. (My '43)

Connecticut

Archambault, A. A. Mill village. (D '43)
Field, B. Outside leaf. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Czechoslovakia

Holm, G. This was Lidice. (O '43)
Lothar, E. Beneath another sun. (Mr '43)
Pen, J. You can't do that to Svoboda. (My '43)

Ecuador

Gil Gilbert, E. Our daily bread. (S '43)

Egypt

Wolf, V. Spell of Egypt. (Ap '43)

England

Bottome, P. Survival. (O '43)
Cheyney, P. Stars are dark. (N '43)
Coles, M. Without lawful authority. (S '43)
Howard, M. Gay is life. (S '43)
Kaye-Smith, S. Tambourine, trumpet and drum. (O '43)
Savery, C. Enemy brothers. (O '43)
Stephenson, G. Melody in darkness. (My '43)
Strong, L. A. G., comp. English domestic life during the last 200 years. (S '43)

England (provincial and rural)

Allingham, M. Galantrys. (N '43)
Carfrae, E. We who wait. (S '43)
De La Pasture, E. E. M. Late and soon. (Ag '43)
Divine, A. D. Tunnel from Calais. (Mr '43)
Horner, J. M. Wind and the rain. (Je '43)
Lofts, N. R. Brittle glass. (Mr '43)
Neilson, F. Garden of Doctor Persuasion. (Je '43)
Neumann, R. Mr Tibbs passes through. (Mr '43)
Priestley, J. B. Black-out in Gretley. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Rees, R. F. Again we dream. (Je '43)
Seymour, B. K. S. Return journey. (Mr '43)
Smith, E. F. Caravan. (S '43)
Stevenson, D. E. Two Mrs Abbotts. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

England (Cornwall)

Heyer, C. Penhallow. (S '43)

England (London)

Arey, J. S. Night duty. (My '43)
Greene, G. Ministry of fear. (Je '43)
Greenwood, R. Squad goes out. (Je '43)
Hewitt, K. D. Mice are not amused. (Ag '43)
Llewellyn, R. None but the lonely heart. (O '43)
Marshall, R. V. Kitty. (D '43)

Florida

Pratt, T. Barefoot mailman. (S '43)
Von Hesse, M. F. Inherit the wind. . . (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

France

Green, A. Just before dawn. (Ap '43)
Habe, H. Kathrine. (O '43)
Malaquais, J. Men from nowhere. (Ap '43)
Mendelssohn, P. Fortress in the skies. (O '43)

France (Paris)

Erenburg, I. G. Fall of Paris. (Je '43)
Landau, M. A. Fifth seal. (My '43)

France (provincial and rural)

Lloyd, A. E. This was their land. (O '43)
Poncins, G. de M. Home is the hunter. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Georgia

Caldwell, E. Georgia boy. (Je '43)
Fleming, B. Colonel Effingham's raid. (Ap '43)
Mills, C. Choice. (Je '43)

Germany

Feuchtwanger, L. Double, double, toil and trouble. (Je '43)

Great Lakes region

McCormick, J. November storm. (Ap '43)

Hawaiian Islands

MacKay, M. M. For all men born. (Ap '43)
Worts, G. F. Overboard. (Je '43)

Illinois

Corbett, E. F. Golden grain. (N '43)

Illinois (Chicago)

Farrell, J. T. My days of anger. (N '43)

India

Weston, C. G. Indigo. (N '43)
Wren, P. C. Dark woman. (Mr '43)

Indiana

Robinson, O. Triumvirate. (N '43)

Ireland

Du Maurier, D. Hungry Hill. (Ag '43)
Laverty, M. Touched by the thorn. (N '43)
Mapother, E. R. Dark Darragh. (My '43)
O'Brien, K. Last of summer. (My '43)

Italy

Albrand, M. Without orders. (S '43)
Franzero, C. M. House of Mrs Caroline. (D '43)
Mills, C. Choice. (Je '43)

Jamaica

Clarke, I. C. Welcome. (N '43)

Kansas

Hauck, L. P. Evergreen house. (My '43)
Schachner, N. Sun shines west. (N '43)
Schrag, O. Locusts. (D '43)

Kentucky

Abbott, J. L. D. Yours for the asking. (Mr '43)
Steward, A. S. Take nothing for your journey. (N '43)

Long Island

Whiting, H. Listeners. (Mr '43)

Louisiana

Miller, H. T. Wild lilac. (Mr '43)

Maine

Carroll, G. H. Dunnybrook. (D '43)
David, E. J. As runs the glass. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Moore, R. Weir. (Ap '43)
Smith, R. M. Hotel on the lake. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Maryland

Kerr, S. Jenny Devlin. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Wright, M. E. Angel without wings. (S '43)

Massachusetts (Cape Cod)

Bassett, S. W. Anchorage. (Ag '43)
Holton, E. A. For those in peril. (Je '43)
Lincoln, J. C. Bradshaws of Harniss. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Maier, W. Spring flight. (Ap '43)

Mexico

Schiller, Z. L. Mexican time. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Michigan (Detroit)

Lebedeff, V. Heart returneth. (My '43)

Minnesota

Chidester, A. No longer fugitive. (O '43)
Ostenso, M. O river, remember! (O '43)
Wetherell, J. P. But that was yesterday. (Mr '43)
Wise, E. V. Mary darlin'. (O '43)

Mississippi

Welty, E. Wide net. (O '43)

Mississippi valley

Sublette, C. M., and Kroll, H. H. Perilous journey. (Ap '43)

Montana

Brinig, M. Gambler takes a wife. (Ag '43)

Nebraska

Reese, J. H. Sheehan's mill. (N '43)

New England

Goulding, P. So long as we love. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Janeway, E. Walsh girls. (N '43)
Miller, M. B. In the days of thy youth. (O '43)

New Hampshire

Keyes, F. P. W. Also the hills. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Wallis, J. H. Niece of Abraham Pein. (Ap '43)

New Jersey

Halsted, W. Tomorrow fair. (Mr '43)

New Mexico

Martin, C. Hills of home. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Sinclair, J. L. In time of harvest. (O '43)

New York (city)

Appel, B. Dark stain. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Bromfield, L. Mrs Parkington. (Mr '43)
Chase, I. In bed we cry. (D '43)
Gibbs, S. You don't belong here. (Ag '43)
Goldsmith, M. M. Shadows at noon. (S '43)
Halper, A. Only an inch from glory. (N '43)
Hatch, E. Words and music. (Mr '43)
Kahn, J. To meet Miss Long. (My '43)
Leffingwell, A. Court of shadows. (My '43)
McHugh, V. I am thinking of my darling. (S '43)
Saxton, M. Year of August. (Mr '43)
Singer, J. F. G. This festive season. (D '43)
Van Doren, M. Tilda. (Ap '43)
Wolfert, I. Tucker's people. (Je '43)

New York (city) (Brooklyn)

Bell, T. Till I come back to you. (Ag '43)
Benefield, B. Eddie and the archangel Mike. (Mr '43)
Smith, B. Tree grows in Brooklyn. (S '43)

New York (city) (Harlem)

Offord, C. R. White face. (Je '43)

New York (state)

Truax, R. Green is the golden tree. (My '43)

North Carolina

Harris, B. K. Sweet Beulah land. (Ap '43)

Nova Scotia

Eaton, E. S. M. Sea is so wide. (Ap '43)

Pennsylvania (Philadelphia)

Idell, A. E. Centennial summer. (S '43)
Whitney, J. P. Judith. (D '43)

Peru

Alegría, C. Golden serpent. (N '43)

Poland

Frank, B. One fair daughter. (N '43)

Portugal (Lisbon)

Brennan, F. H. Memo to a firing squad. (Mr '43)
Prokosch, F. Conspirators. (Mr '43)

Russia

Aleksander, I. Running tide. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Hughes, P. Retreat from Rostov. (O '43)
Strong, A. L. Wild river. (D '43)
Van Doren, M. Night of the summer solstice. (O '43)

Scotland

Maclean, C. M. Tharrus three. (S '43)
Stevenson, D. E. Celia's house. (Ap '43)
Walsh, M. Spanish lady. (O '43)

South Africa (Rhodesia)

Jervis, V. M. S. No brighter dawn. (Je '43)

South America

Beals, C. Dawn over the Amazon. (Ag '43)

South Sea islands

Douglas, D. Haunted harbor. (S '43)

Spain

Smith, E. F. Caravan. (S '43)

Sweden

Moberg, V. Ride this night! (Je '43)
Morris, E. My darling from the lions. (Ag '43)

Tennessee

Dowdey, C. Tidewater. (O '43)

Tennessee (Nashville)

Crabb, A. L. Supper at the Maxwell house. (S '43)

Texas

Dawson, C. She came to the valley. (N '43)

Tyrol

Lothar, E. Beneath another sun. (Mr '43)

United States (middlewestern)

Flavin, M. Journey in the dark. (N '43)
Hauck, L. P. Cary Fordyce. (S '43)
Wallis, J. H. Synthetic philanthropist. (S '43)
Willis, G. Tangleweed. (O '43)

United States (northwestern)

Case, R. O. White victory. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Stegner, W. Big Rock Candy mountain. (O '43)

United States (southern)

Stuart, J. Taps for Private Tussie. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Warren, R. P. At heaven's gate. (S '43)

United States (southwestern)

Lauritzen, J. Arrows into the sun (Mr '43)
Warren, C. M. Only the valiant. (Ap '43)

United States (western)

Bechdolt, F. R. Hills of fear. (My '43)
Drago, H. S. Brave in the saddle. (O '43)
Drago, H. S. My gun is my law. (Mr '43)
Drago, H. S. Stagecoach kingdom. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Elston, A. V. Guns on the Cimarron. (S '43)
Faust, F. Silvertip's trap. (S '43)
Field, P. Powder Valley vengeance. (My '43)
Foster, B. Man tracks. (Ag '43)
Glidden, F. D. Ramrod. (N '43)
Glidden, F. D. Ride the man down. (Mr '43)
Glidden, J. H. Trail boss. (My '43)
Gooden, A. H. Guns on the high mesa. (My '43)
Gregory, J. Lonely trail. (Ag '43)
Gregory, J. Man from Painted Rock. (O '43)
Hankins, R. M. Lonesome River justice. (My '43)
Haycox, E. Action by night. (My '43)
Haycox, E. Wild bunch. (D '43)
Kent, W. H. B. Range rider. (S '43)
LeMay, A. Useless cowboy. (N '43)
MacDonald, W. C. Rebel ranger. (Ag '43)
Mason, V. End of track. (S '43)
Raine, W. M. Hell and high water. (My '43)

Fiction—Locality—Continued

Robertson, F. C. Grizzly meadows. (Ag '43)
Snow, C. H. Rebel of Ronde valley. (D '43)
Tompkins, W, A. Border bonanza. (Ag '43)
Tuttle, W. C. Hidden blood. (Je '43)
Young, G. R. Tall in the saddle. (My '43)

Uruguay

Amorim, E. Horse and his shadow. (S '43)

Utah

Pagano, J. Golden wedding. (My '43)

Vermont

Holton, E. A. Romantic detour. (Mr '43)

Virginia

Eaton, E. S. M. Sea is so wide. (Ap '43)
Kenyon, T. Golden feather. (Ag '43)
McMeekin, C. Red Raskall. (N '43)
Monsell, H. A. In her own hands. (N '43)

Virginia (Williamsburg)

Beebe, E. T. R. Dawn's early light. (Je '43)

Wales

Lewis, E. Captain's wife. (N '43)
Vaughan, H. Pardon and peace. (Mr '43)

Washington, D.C.

Baldwin, F. Washington, USA. (Ap '43)
Hackett, F. Senator's last night. (S '43)
Nichols, M. G. Passing dream. (Ap '43)
Putnam, G. P. Duration. (D '43)

Washington (state) (Tacoma)

Sale, E. Recitation from memory. (O '43)

West Indies

Cochran, H. Captain Ebony. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Sender, R. J. Dark wedding. (My '43)

Wisconsin

Derleth, A. W. Shadow of night. (N '43)

Love stories

Ashley, E. Girl in overalls. (O '43)
Baldwin, F. You can't escape. (O '43)
Bassett, S. W. Anchorage. (Ag '43)
Benefield, B. Eddie and the archangel Mike. (Mr '43)
Brier, R. Last boat from Beyrouth. (Je '43)
Carson, R. Bride saw red. (Mr '43)
Cockrell, M. B. Lillian Harley. (O '43)
Cockrell, M. B. Yesterday's madness. (My '43)
Corliss, A. S. Say good-bye to Katharine. (Mr '43)
Edginton, M. Stolen honeymoon. (Ag '43)
Erskine, J. Voyage of Captain Bart.. (Je '43)
Estes, H. W. Inconstant flame. (O '43)
Gilmore, C. Bright enchantment. (My '43)
Holton, E. A. For those in peril. (Je '43)
Holton, E. A. Romantic detour. (Mr '43)
Kerr, S. Jenny Devlin. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Loring, E. B. When hearts are light again. (O '43)
Miller, H. T. Hunter's moon. (S '43)
Miller, H. T. Wild lilac. (Mr '43)
Nichols, M. G. For love's sake only. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Norris, K. T. Corner of heaven. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
O'Brien, K. Last of summer. (My '43)
Schiller, Z. L. Mexican time. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Thompson, S. Love leaves no choice. (S '43)
Van Doren, M. Tilda. (Ap '43)
Vaughan, H. Pardon and peace. (Mr '43)

Lumber industry

Manners, D. J. Under running laughter. (Mr '43)

Marine corps

Thomason, J. W. —And a few marines. (Je '43)

Marriage problems

Child, N. If I come home. (D '43)
Corbett, E. F. Excuse me, Mrs Meigs. (Ap '43)
Corliss, A. S. Borrowed husband. (Je '43)
Cowdin, E. All we have built. (My '43)
Franken, R. D. L. Another Claudia. (Je '43)
Halsted, W. Tomorrow fair. (Mr '43)
Hull, H. R. Circle in the water. (Mr '43)
Nichols, M. G. Passing dream. (Ap '43)
Wetherell, J. P. But that was yesterday. (Mr '43)

Marriage versus a career

Carrick, G. Susan to you. (S '43)
Holmes, M. World by the tail. (Je '43)

Mines and mining

Wallace, F. Explosion. (My '43)

Miscegenation

Herbert, X. Capricornia. (Je '43)

Motherhood

Forbes, K. Mama's bank account. (My '43)
Power-O'Malley, R. Mrs Cassatt's children. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Slade, C. B. Lilly Crackell. (Ag '43)

Mothers and daughters

Hayes, D. Mrs Heaton's daughter. (D '43)

Mothers and sons

Carson, R. Bride saw red. (Mr '43)

Mountain whites (Southern mountains)

Stuart, J. Taps for Private Tussie. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Murder stories

Hays, H. R. Stranger on the highway. (Je '43)
Heyer, G. Penhallow. (S '43)
Long, G. M. V. C. Airing in a closed carriage. (Je '43)
Massie, C. Green circle. (Ap '43)
Perdue, V. He fell down dead. (O '43)
Simenon, G. Tropic moon. (Mr '43)

Musicians

Selby, J. Starbuck. (S '43)

Mystery and detective stories

Adams, C. F. Death is like that. (N '43)
Adams, C. F. Up jumped the devil. (Je '43)
Addis, H. Night over the wood. (Ap '43)
Albrand, M. Without orders. (S '43)
Armstrong, C. Case of the weird sisters. (Mr '43)
Avery, R. Murder on the downbeat. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Bailey, H. C. Mr Fortune finds a pig. (My '43)
Barrett, M. Murder at Belle Camille. (O '43)
Barry, J. Pay-off. (S '43)
Barry, J. Third degree. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Bayer, O. W. Paper chase. (Ag '43)
Bellairs, G. Death of a busybody. (Je '43)
Bellairs, G. Murder will speak. (O '43)
Boyd, E. M. Murder breaks trail. (S '43)
Brandon, W. Dangerous dead. (Mr '43)
Brown, Z. J. Siren in the night. (Mr '43)
Burton, M. Who killed the doctor? (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Campbell, H. R. Magic makes murder. (My '43)
Campbell, M. E. Scandal has two faces. (N '43)
Carpenter, M. Experiment perilous. (My '43)
Carr, J. D. She died a lady. (Mr '43)
Caspary, V. Laura. (Mr '43)
Chandler, R. Lady in the lake. (D '43)
Charteris, L. Saint steps in. (N '43)
Chase, A. M. Peril at the spy nest. (Mr '43)
Cheyney, P. Dark duet. (Mr '43)
Cheyney, P. Farewell to the admiral. (Je '43)
Childerness, G. Murder in false face. (Je '43)
Christian, K. Death and bitters. (O '43)
Christie, A. M. Triple threat. (S '43)
Clark, A. A. G. Tragedy at law. (O '43)
Clark, D. Focus on murder. (Ap '43)
Cohen, O. R. Sound of revelry. (O '43)
Collins, M. G. Sister of Cain. (N '43)
Cores, L. M. Painted for the kill. (Ag '43)
Cowan, S. Bitter justice. (My '43)
Coxe, G. H. Alias the dead. (Mr '43)
Coxe, G. H. Murder for two. (Ag '43)
Coxe, G. H. Murder in Havana. (N '43)
Crane, F. K. Pink umbrella. (S '43)
Crofts, F. W. Double tragedy. (S '43)
Cunningham, A. B. Affair at the boat landing. (Mr '43)
Cunningham, A. B. Great Yant mystery. (S '43)
Daly, E. Evidence of things seen. (S '43)
Daly, E. Nothing can rescue me. (Mr '43)

Darby, R. Murder with orange blossoms. (S '43)
Davis, N. Mouse in the mountain. (Mr '43)
Davis, N. Sally's in the alley. (O '43)
Dell, A. Johnny on the spot. (Je '43)
Derleth, A. W. Seven who waited. (Mr '43)
Disney, D. C. Crimson Friday. (Ag '43)
Disney, D. M. Compound for death. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Dougall, B. Singing corpse. (Mr '43)
Douglas, D. Haunted harbor. (S '43)
Dresser, D. Blood on the black market. (Ag '43)
Dresser, D. Murder wears a mummer's mask. (Ap '43)
Du Bois, T. M. Wild duck murders. (D '43)
Dudley, D., and Sheridan, J. What dark secret. (Je '43)
Eberhart, M. G. Man next door. (Je '43)
Eberhart, M. G. Unidentified woman. (D '43)
Echard, M. Before I wake. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Eichler, A. Murder in the radio department. (D '43)
Eisinger, J. Walls came tumbling down. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Fair, A. A. Cats prowl at night. (O '43)
Farjeon, J. J. Murder at a police station. (Ap '43)
Faust, F. Dr Kildare's search and Dr Kildare's hardest case. (Mr '43)
Fenisong, R. Butler died in Brooklyn. (Ag '43)
Fenisong, R. Murder runs a fever. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Fenwick, E. P. Inconvenient corpse. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Ferrars, E. Neck in a noose. (Ap '43)
Fitzsimmons, C. Tied for murder. (S '43)
Footner, H. Death of a saboteur. (Ap '43)
Francis, W. Bury me not. (Mr '43)
Fuller, T. This is murder, Mr Jones. (Ap '43)
Gardner, E. S. Case of the buried clock. (Je '43)
Gardner, E. S. Case of the drowsy mosquito. (O '43)
Gardner, E. S. Case of the smoking chimney. (Mr '43)
Giles, G. E. Target for murder. (Ag '43)
Goldman, L. Fall guy for murder. (Mr '43)
Goldstone, L. A. O as in omen. (S '43)
Goldthwaite, E. K. You did it. (Je '43)
Grafton, C. W. Rat began to gnaw the rope. (Ag '43)
Guthrie, A. B. Murders at Moon Dance. (Je '43)
Hawkins, D. Walls of silence. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Hays, H. R. Stranger on the highway. (Je '43)
Head, M. Smell of money. (Mr '43)
Heberden, M. V. Murder goes astray. (S '43)
Hitchens, D. B. Cat's claw. (O '43)
Hitchens, D. B. Catspaw for murder. (My '43)
Hocking, A. Death loves a shining mark. (Je '43)
Holbrook, M. Wanted: a murderess. (O '43)
Holding, E. S. Old battle-ax. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Holt, A. Bier for a hussy. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Hopkins, S. Murder by inches. (Ap '43)
Hoster, G. Goodbye, dear Elizabeth. (O '43)
Hughes, D. B. F. Omnibus of terror. (Mr '43)
Jordan, E. G. Herself. (My '43)
Kagey, R. Ambush house. (My '43)
Keith, D. Matter of accent. (Mr '43)
Kelsey, V. Bride dined alone. (O '43)
Kelsey, V. Satan has six fingers. (Mr '43)
Kendrick, B. H. Blind man's bluff. (Mr '43)
King, R. Variety of weapons. (S '43)
Knight, C. Affair of the fainting butler. (N '43)
Knight, C. Affair of the jade monkey. (My '43)
Koehler, R. P. Some try murder. (N '43)
Kootz, S. M. Puzzle in paint. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Lakin, R. Body fell on Berlin. (S '43)
Lariar, L. Death paints the picture. (Ag '43)
Lariar, L. He died laughing. (S '43)
Laufèrty, L. Hungry house. (Ag '43)
Lees, H., and Bachmann, L. P. Death in the doll's house. (Ap '43)
Lewis, L. Juliet dies twice. (Ap '43)
Lewis, L. Meat for murder. (D '43)
Little, C. and G. Black rustle. (Ag '43)
Litvinova, I. Moscow mystery. (My '43)
Lockridge, F. L. D. and R. Death takes a bow. (Je '43)
Lombard, N. Grinning pig. (O '43)
Long, A. R. Death wears a scarab. (Ag '43)
Long, A. R. Triple cross murders. (D '43)
Long, M. False alarm. (Je '43)
Lord, G. Murder, plain and fancy. (Mr '43)
Lord, G. Murder with love. (D '43)
McCloy, H. Do not disturb. (Je '43)
McCloy, H. Goblin market. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
McCully, W. Doctors, beware! (S '43)
McDermid, F. Ghost wanted. (Je '43)
Mace, M. Headlong for murder. (My '43)
Mace, M. Motto for murder. (O '43)
Magoon, C. I smell the devil. (D '43)
Mainwaring, D. Hill of the terrified monk. (S '43)
Malleson, L. B. Death in the blackout. (Ag '43)
Malleson, L. B. Woman in red. (N '43)
Malmar, M. Never say die. (Ag '43)
Marks, P. Knave of diamonds. (S '43)
Marlett, M. Another day toward dying. (Mr '43)
Marsh, N. Colour scheme. (S '43)
Mason, S. E. Murder rents a room. (O '43)
Matschat, C. H. Murder at the Black Crook. (Je '43)
Michel, M. S. Sweet murder. (S '43)
Millar, M. Wall of eyes. (O '43)
Moore, H. F. S. Death at 7:10. (O '43)
Morse, F. V. Black eagles are flying. (S '43)
Nash, A. Said with flowers. (Je '43)
Neville, M. Lena hates men. (Je '43)
Nolan, J. C. Final appearance. (My '43)
Offord, L. G. Skeleton key. (S '43)
O'Neil, K. Ninth floor. (O '43)
Oppenheim, E. P. Mr Mirakel. (N '43)
Oursler, F. The shudders. (Mr '43)
Petersen, H. D.A.'s daughter. (Ap '43)
Petersen, H. Old bones. (D '43)
Philips, J. P. Brass chills. (My '43)
Phillpotts, E. Flower of the gods. (S '43)
Postgate, R. W. Somebody at the door. (Je '43)
Powell, R. P. Don't catch me. (Mr '43)
Propper, M. M. Blood transfusion murders. (S '43)
Queen, E., ed. Female of the species. (S '43)
Queen, E. There was an old woman. (My '43)
Rea, M. L. P. Blackout at rehearsal. (O '43)
Rea, M. L. P. Death of an angel. (My '43)
Reeves, R. Cellini Smith: detective. (Je '43)
Reisner, M. Shadows on the wall. (S '43)
Rice, C. Having wonderful crime. (My '43)
Rice, C. Murder through the looking glass. (Mr '43)
Rice, C. Thursday turkey murders. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Rice, C. To catch a thief. (Je '43)
Rivett, E. C. Death came softly. (O '43)
Sampson, R. H. And death came too. (Mr '43)
Sanders, M. K., and Edelstein, M. S. Bride laughed once. (S '43)
Seeley, M. Eleven came back. (Ap '43)
Seifert, E. Certain Doctor French. (My '43)
Shane, S. Lady in a million. (S '43)
Shane, S. Lady in a wedding dress. (Ap '43)
Shriber, L. S. Invitation to murder. (D '43)
Siller, V. Echo of a bomb. (Mr '43)
Siller, V. Good night, ladies. (O '43)
Stafford, M. X marks the dot. (D '43)
Stein, A. M. Case of the absent-minded professor. (Ap '43)
Stevens, F. M. R. Hangman's tie. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Stevens, F. M. R. Murder in tow. (Ap '43)
Stewart, J. I. M. Weight of evidence. (O '43)
Street, C. J. C. Dead on the track. (Je '43)
Strobel, M. Ice before killing. (N '43)
Taylor, P. A. File for record. (Ap '43)
Taylor, P. A. Going, going, gone. (D '43)
Terrall, R. They deal in death. (Je '43)
Thayer, L. Accessory after the fact. (My '43)
Thayer, L. Hanging's too good. (N '43)
Tillett, D. S. Look your last. (D '43)
Upfield, A. W. Murder down under. (Mr '43)
Upfield, A. W. Mystery of Swordfish reef. (D '43)
Upfield, A. W. Wings above the claypan. (Je '43)

Fiction—Mystery and detective stories—Cont.
Walling, R. A. J. Corpse by any other name. (My '43)
Wallis, R. O. S. Too many bones. (O '43)
Walz, A. Dead reckoning. (S '43)
Webb, R. W., and Wheeler, H. C. Scarlet circle. (Je '43)
Wells, A. M. Murderer's choice. (S '43)
Wentworth, P. Chinese shawl. (My '43)
Wentworth, P. Miss Silver deals with death. (D '43)
White, E. L. Man who was not there. (N '43)
Whitney, P. A. Red is for murder. (D '43)
Wilson, M. A. Stalk the hunter. (N '43)
Winchell, P. Down among the dead men. (Mr '43)
Woolrich, C. Black angel. (Mr '43)
Woolrich, C. I wouldn't be in your shoes. (Je '43)
Worts, G. F. Overboard. (Je '43)
Wylie, P. Corpses at Indian Stones. (Ap '43)

Navaho Indians

Lauritzen, J. Arrows into the sun. (Mr '43)

Negro life

Moon, B. Darker brother. (O '43)

Negro problem

Appel, B. Dark stain. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Offord, C. R. White face. (Je '43)

Novels in pictures

Masereel, F. Danse macabre. (Ap '43)

Nurses and nursing

Hancock, L. A. West End nurse. (Mr '43)
Wise, E. V. Mary darlin'. (O '43)
Wright, M. E. Angel without wings. (S '43)

Oil industry

Nichols, E. J. Danger! keep out. (Mr '43)

Old age

Corbett, E. F. Excuse me, Mrs Meigs. (Ap '43)

Overland journeys to the Pacific

Emmons, D. F. G. Sacajawea of the Shoshones. (N '43)
Fisher, V. Mothers. (N '43)

Physicians

Faust, F. Dr Kildare's search and Dr Kildare's hardest case. (Mr '43)
Seifert, E. Certain Doctor French. (My '43)
Seletz, J. Hope deferred. (Je '43)
Slaughter, F. G. Air surgeon. (S '43)
Weld, J. Mark Pfeiffer, M.D. (My '43)

Picaresque novels

Stephenson, G. Melody in darkness. (My '43)

Politics

Borchardt, H. Conspiracy of the carpenters. (S '43)
Dos Passos, J. R. Number one. (Ap '43)
Fleming, B. Colonel Effingham's raid. (Ap '43)

Poor

Slade, C. B. Lilly Crackell. (Ag '43)
Smith, B. Tree grows in Brooklyn. (S '43)

Prehistoric times

Fisher, V. Darkness and the deep. (My '43)

Pseudo-history and biography

Train, A. C. Yankee lawyer. (O '43)

Psychoanalysis

Bottome, P. Survival. (O '43)

Psychological novels

Bowles, J. A. Two serious ladies. (Je '43)
Brier, R. Last boat from Beyrouth. (Je '43)
Campbell, W. E. M. Looking-glass. (Mr '43)
Carpenter, M. Experiment perilous. (My '43)
Cowdin, E. All we have built. (My '43)
Cowlin, D. Winter solstice. (S '43)
De Vries, P. Handsome heart. (S '43)
Golding, L. No news from Helen. (D '43)
Hayes, D. Mrs Heaton's daughter. (D '43)
Hays, H. R. Stranger on the highway. (Je '43)
Heyer, G. Penhallow. (S '43)
Hull, H. R. Circle in the water. (Mr '43)
Janeway, E. Walsh girls. (N '43)
Koestler, A. Arrival and departure. (D '43)
Massie, C. Green circle. (Ap '43)
Sender, R. J. Dark wedding. (My '43)
Seymour, B. K. S. Return journey. (Mr '43)
Simenon, G. Tropic moon. (Mr '43)
Smith, R. P. Journey. (O '43)
Wallace, F. Explosion. (My '43)
Warren, C. M. Only the valiant. (Ap '43)
Weidman, J. Lights around the shore. (Je '43)
White, F. Bloodroots in the wake of circumstance. (N '43)
Whiting, H. Listeners. (Mr '43)

Race problems

Appel, B. Dark stain. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Sanford, J. B. People from heaven. (D '43)

Radio

Morris, H. Tuckers tune in. (S '43)
Smith, C. P. Turn of the dial. (Mr '43)

Ranch life

Amorim, E. Horse and his shadow. (S '43)

Refugees

Heilbut, I. Birds of passage. (N '43)
Hobson, L. Z. Trespassers. (O '43)
Hughes, D. B. F. Blackbirder. (O '43)
Lyttle, J. You are France, Lisette. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Neumann, R. Mr Tibbs passes through. (Mr '43)

Rivers

Guy, E. Heaven is a sunswept hill. (O '43)

Roman Catholic faith

Clarke, I. C. Welcome. (N '43)

Rubber

Baum, V. Weeping wood. (N '43)

Russians in the United States

Lebedeff, V. Heart returneth. (My '43)

Sabotage

Loring, E. B. When hearts are light again. (O '43)
Torrey, W. Night attack. (O '43)
Weston, G. Man with the monocle. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Satire

De Vries, P. Handsome heart. (S '43)
Fleming, B. Colonel Effingham's raid. (Ap '43)
Lewis, S. Gideon Planish. (My '43)
Shulman, M. Barefoot boy with cheek. (Je '43)

School and college life

Farrell, J. T. My days of anger. (N '43)
Person, W. T. Abner Jarvis. (Je '43)
Shulman, M. Barefoot boy with cheek. (Je '43)
Wetherell, J. P. But that was yesterday. (Mr '43)

Sea stories

Aleksander, I. Running tide. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Brier, R. Last boat from Beyrouth. (Je '43)
David, E. J. As runs the glass. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Dorling, H. T. White ensigns. (My '43)
Fernald, J. Destroyer from America. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Forester, C. S. Ship. (Je '43)
French, J. L., ed. Great sea stories. (D '43)
Gilligan, E. Gaunt Woman. (Mr '43)
Gilligan, E. Ringed horizon. (N '43)
Laskier, F. Log book. (O '43)
Polonsky, A. Enemy sea. (Ag '43)
Wichelns, L. Masterson. (My '43)

Sex problems

Baker, D. D. Trio. (S '43)
Cloete, S. Congo song. (Ap '43)

Shakers

Leslie, A. G. Dancing saints. (Ag '43)

Shipbuilding

Hawkins, J. and W. Pilebuck. (Ag '43)

Shipwrecks

McMeekin, C. Red Raskall. (N '43)

Short stories

Baldwin, F. Washington, USA. (Ap '43)
Barrows, M., and Eaton, G., comps. Box office. (D '43)
Bates, H. E. There's something in the air. (Je '43)
Baum, V. Weeping wood. (N '43)
Benet, S. V. Twenty-five short stories. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Benson, S. Women and children first. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Blixen, K. D. Winter's tales. (Je '43)
Burnett, W., ed. Two bottles of relish. (Je '43)
Caldwell, E. Georgia boy. (Je '43)
Cheever, J. Way some people live. (Ap '43)
Christie, A. M. Triple threat. (S '43)
Coates, R. M. All the year round. (D '43)
Collison, T., ed. This winged world. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Curtin, M. A. M., comp. Pilgrims all. (D '43)
Foley, M., ed. Best American short stories, 1943. (O '43)
Furman, A. L., ed. Mystery companion. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Goodman, J., ed. Fireside book of dog stories. (Je '43)
Hale, N. Between the dark and the daylight. (Je '43)
Karloff, B., ed. Tales of terror. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Kerr, A. B. Strangers no longer. (O '43)
Knight, J. A. Ol' Bill, and other stories. (Ap '43)
Leacock, S. B. Happy stories just to laugh at. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Lewis, A. Last inspection. (S '43)
Lowndes, M. A. B. What of the night? (My '43)
Miller, A. D. Hit and run. (Mr '43)
O. Henry memorial award. Prize stories of 1943. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Queen, E., ed. Female of the species. (S '43)
Stern, P. V., ed. Moonlight traveler. (Ag '43)
Thomason, J. W. —And a few marines. (Je '43)
Van Doren, M. Night of the summer solstice. (O '43)
Warner, S. T. Garland of straw. (O '43)
Watts, S. Pale horse. (Ag '43)
Welty, E. Wide net. (O '43)

Sisters

Hauck, L. P. Cary Fordyce. (S '43)
Holton, E. A. For those in peril. (Je '43)
Howard, M. Gay is life. (S '43)
Janeway, E. Walsh girls. (N '43)
Kaye-Smith, S. Tambourine, trumpet and drum. (O '43)
Morris, E. My darling from the lions. (Ag '43)
Patterson, N. When the lights go up again. (S '43)

Skating

Thomas, K. C. Portrait of Laurel. (N '43)

Slave trade

Cochran, H. Captain Ebony. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Small town life

Carson, J. M. H. Challenge to Marion. (N '43)
Hays, H. R. Stranger on the highway. (Je '43)
Morris, H. Tuckers tune in. (S '43)
Rice, J. Windmill circle. (Ag '43)
Seifert, E. Certain Doctor French. (My '43)

Social conditions and problems

Appel, B. Dark stain. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Blankfort, M. Time to live. (My '43)
Browne, L. See what I mean? (N '43)
Gil Gilbert, E. Our daily bread. (S '43)
Llewellyn, R. None but the lonely heart. (O '43)
Saxton, A. P. Grand Crossing. (S '43)
Sinclair, U. B. Wide is the gate. (Mr '43)
Slade, C. B. Lilly Crackell. (Ag '43)
Steinbeck, J. Steinbeck; [selections]. (N '43)
Wallis, J. H. Niece of Abraham Pein. (Ap '43)

Soldiers

Frankau, C. World without end. (Ap '43)

Spies

Adams, E. L. Death charter. (Ag '43)
Albrand, M. Without orders. (S '43)
Ambler, E. Intrigue. (Ap '43)
Brennan, F. H. Memo to a firing squad. (Mr '43)
Cheyney, P. Stars are dark. (N '43)
Cloete, S. Congo song. (Ap '43)
Coles, M. Without lawful authority. (S '43)
Divine, A. D. Tunnel from Calais. (Mr '43)
Greene, G. Ministry of fear. (Je '43)
Hardt, M. Stranger and afraid. (Ag '43)
Heberden, M. V. Fanatic of Fez. (Ag '43)
Hewitt, K. D. Mice are not amused. (Ag '43)
Leffingwell, A. Court of shadows. (My '43)
Priestley, J. B. Black-out in Gretley. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Prokosch, F. Conspirators. (Mr '43)
Rohmer, M. Seven sins. (N '43)
Saxton, M. Year of August. (Mr '43)
Weston, G. Man with the monocle. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Wilson, M. A. Stalk the hunter. (N '43)
Worts, G. F. Overboard. (Je '43)

Submarines

Dawson, M. Fathoms deep. (O '43)

Teachers

Rives, F. Friday, thank God! (My '43)
Sylvin, F. Rusty carrousel. (O '43)

Theater and stage life

Gruen, M. E. Moonset. (Ag '43)
Hayes, D. Mrs Heaton's daughter. (D '43)
Thompson, S. Love leaves no choice. (S '43)

Tobacco

Field, B. Outside leaf. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Translated stories

Chinese

Wu Ch'êng-ên. Monkey. (Ap '43)

French

Coster, C. T. H. de. Glorious adventures of Tyl Ulenspiegl. (D '43)
Malaquais, J. Men from nowhere. (Ap '43)
Simenon, G. Havoc by accident. (Je '43)
Simenon, G. Tropic moon. (Mr '43)

German

Borchardt, H. Conspiracy of the carpenters. (S '43)
Feuchtwanger, L. Double, double, toil and trouble. (Je '43)
Frank, B. One fair daughter. (N '43)
Habe, H. Kathrine. (O '43)
Heilbut, I. Birds of passage. (N '43)
Holm, G. This was Lidice. (O '43)
Lothar, E. Beneath another sun. (Mr '43)

Polish

Przerwa-Tetmajer, K. Tales of the Tatras. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Portuguese

Verissimo, E. Crossroads. (Ap '43)

Russian

Aleksander, I. Running tide. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Erenburg, I. G. Fall of Paris. (Je '43)
Landau, M. A. Fifth seal. (My '43)
Tolstoi, L. N. What men live by. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Van Doren, M. Night of the summer solstice. (O '43)

Spanish

Alegría, C. Golden serpent. (N '43)
Amorim, E. Horse and his shadow. (S '43)
Gil Gilbert, E. Our daily bread. (S '43)
Sender, R. J. Dark wedding. (My '43)

Swedish

Bengtsson, F. G. Red Orm. (My '43)
Goransson-Ljungman, K. Shining sea. (Ag '43)
Moberg, V. Ride this night! (Je '43)

Travel

Bemelmans, L. Now I lay me down to sleep. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Fiction—Travel—Continued
Weidman, J. Lights around the shore. (Je '43)

Trials
Cozzens, J. G. Just and the unjust. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Long, G. M. V. C. Airing in a closed carriage. (Je '43)
Radin, M. Day of reckoning. (Ag '43)
Wallis, J. H. Niece of Abraham Pein. (Ap '43)

Vikings
Bengtsson, F. G. Red Orm. (My '43)

Whaling
Griffin, H. F. Paradise street. (Je '43)

Women in business
Chase, I. In bed we cry. (D '43)
Lofts, N. R. Brittle glass. (Mr '43)
Monsell, H. A. In her own hands. (N '43)

Women in industry
Trask, M. B. Hit the rivet, sister. (D '43)

Women's army corps
Stansbury, J. Bars on her shoulders. (O '43)

World war, 1939-
Albrand, M. Without orders. (S '43)
Aleksander, I. Running tide. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Arey, J. S. Night duty. (My '43)
Balderston, J. L. Chicago blueprint. (N '43)
Bates, H. E. There's something in the air. (Je '43)
Blankfort, M. Time to live. (My '43)
Bottome, P. Survival. (O '43)
Brennan, F. H. Memo to a firing squad. (Mr '43)
Brier, R. Last boat from Beyrouth. (Je '43)
Brophy, J. Spearhead. (Je '43)
Buck, P. S. Promise. (D '43)
Camp, W. M. Retreat, hell! (D '43)
Carfrae, E. We who wait. (S '43)
Chambers, W. Invasion! (Je '43)
Dawson, M. Fathoms deep. (O '43)
Divine, A. D. Tunnel from Calais. (Mr '43)
Dorling, H. T. White ensigns. (My '43)
Erenburg, I. G. Fall of Paris. (Je '43)
Ertz, S. Anger in the sky. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Fernald, J. Destroyer from America. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Forester, C. S. Ship. (Je '43)
Gibbs, P. H. Interpreter. (S '43)
Gilligan, E. Gaunt Woman. (Mr '43)
Gilpatric, G. Action in the North Atlantic. (Ag '43)
Golding, L. No news from Helen. (D '43)
Green, A. Just before dawn. (Ap '43)
Greene, G. Ministry of fear. (Je '43)
Greenwood, R. Squad goes out. (Je '43)
Hackforth-Jones, G. Torpedo! (Je '43)
Hardt, M. Stranger and afraid. (Ag '43)
Hauck, L. P. Evergreen house. (My '43)
Hendryx, J. B. New rivers calling. (O '43)
Henriques, R. D. Q. Voice of the trumpet. (Ap '43)
Hewes, J. V. High courts of heaven. (Mr '43)
Heydenau, F. Wrath of the eagles. (Ag '43)
Holm, G. This was Lidice. (O '43)
Hughes, P. Retreat from Rostov. (O '43)
Kaye-Smith, S. Tambourine, trumpet and drum. (O '43)
Kersh, G. Dead look on. (My '43)
Keyes, F. P. W. Also the hills. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Koestler, A. Arrival and departure. (D '43)
Lawrence, J. Tower of steel. (D '43)
Leffingwell, A. Court of shadows. (My '43)
Lewis, A. Last inspection. (S '43)
Lloyd, A. E. This was their land. (O '43)
Lodwick, J. Running to paradise. (My '43)
Lowndes, M. A. B. What of the night? (My '43)
Lyttle, J. You are France, Lisette. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Mackay, M. M. For all men born. (Ap '43)
Maclean, C. M. Tharrus three. (S '43)
Paul, L. This is my brother. (D '43)
Polonsky, A. Enemy sea. (Ag '43)
Pozner, V. First harvest. (My '43)
Pratt, T. Mr Winkle goes to war. (Ap '43)
Priestley, J. B. Black-out in Gretley. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Priestley, J. B. Daylight on Saturday. (O '43)
Prokosch, F. Conspirators. (Mr '43)
Putnam, G. P. Duration. (D '43)
Randall, J. Traveler's End. (O '43)
Roberts, K. Private report. (S '43)
Rose, D. F. Mr Wicker's war. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Savery, C. Enemy brothers. (O '43)
Upson, W. H. Keep 'em crawling. (Mr '43)
Van Doren, M. Night of the summer solstice. (O '43)
Wallace, K. Rice in the wind. (My '43)
Wheatley, D. Faked passports. (My '43)
Wilder, M. A. B. Since you went away. . . (S '43)
Wilhelm, G. Time between. (Ap '43)
Fiction catalog, 1941. (My '43)
Fiddler's folly and encores. Schauffler, R. H. (Ap '43)
Fiddler's quest. Lynch, P. (S '43)
Fifteen decisive battles of the world. Creasy, E. S. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Fifteen Greek plays. Cooper, L., ed. (S '43)
Fifth seal. Landau, M. A. (My '43)
Fight for air power. Huie, W. B. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Fight for New Guinea. Robinson, P. (S '43)
Fight of the Norwegian church against Nazism. Hoye, B., and Ager, T. M. (My '43)
Fighter facts and fallacies. Lee, J. G. (Je '43)
Fighting American. Mason, V., ed. (S '43)
Fighting Dan of the Long Rifles. Dean, S. W. (My '43)
Fighting fire. Leyson, B. (D '43)
Fighting fleets. Rimington, C. (S '43)
Fighting French. Aghion, R. (Ag '43)
Fightin' oil. Ickes, H. L. (S '43)
Fighting South. Graves, J. T. (Je '43)
Figure drawing
Vernam, R. Drawing people for fun. (S '43)
Fiji
Coulter, J. W. Fiji, little India of the Pacific. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Fiji, little India of the Pacific. Coulter, J. W. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
File for record. Taylor, P. A. (Ap '43)
Filet crochet lace. Techy, M. (O '43)
Filibusters
Warren, H. G. Sword was their passport. (S '43)
Final appearance. Nolan, J. C. (My '43)
Finance
Tax institute. Wartime problems of state and local finance. (O '43)
Young, J. P. International economy. (Je '43)

China
Tamagna, F. M. Banking and finance in China. (Je '43)

United States
Chase, S. Where's the money coming from. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Crum, W. L., and others. Fiscal planning for total war. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Fellner, W. J. Treatise on war inflation. (Je '43)
Moulton, H. G. New philosophy of public debt. (S '43)
Voorhis, H. J. Out of debt, out of danger. (S '43)
Finance, Personal
Wormser, R. A. Personal estate planning in a changing world. (Je '43)
Finding your way in life. Weston, S. A., ed. (Je '43)
Fire beads. Barnett, G. T. and O. E. (Mr '43)
Fire extinction
Leyson, B. W. Fighting fire. (D '43)
Firearms
Castles, W. T., and Kimball, V. F. Firearms and their use. (Ap '43)
Chapel, C. E. Gun care and repair. (Je '43)
Haven, C. T. Comprehensive small arms manual. (Ap '43)
Robinson, C. S. Thermodynamics of firearms. (O '43)
Firearms and their use. Castles, W. T., and Kimball, V. F. (Ap '43)
Firedrake (destroyer)
Divine, A. D. Firedrake. (Mr '43)

Firemen
Leyson, B. W. Fighting fire. (D '43)
Fireside book of dog stories. Goodman, J., ed. (Je '43)
Fireworks
Bebie, J. Manual of explosives, military pyrotechnics, and chemical warfare agents. (Je '43)
Davis, T. L. Chemistry of powder and explosives, v 2. (Ag '43)
First aid in illness and injury
Armstrong, D. B., and Hallock, G. T. What to do till the doctor comes. (S '43)
Graham, S. A., and O'Roke, E. C. On your own. (S '43)
First century of flight in America. Milbank, J. (Je '43)
First Christmas. Glover, F. R. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
First harvest. Pozner, V. (My '43)
First principles of radio communications. Morgan, A. P. (S '43)
First steps. Ridgway, M. V. (D '43)
First the flower, then the fruit. Lucas, J. M. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual) Fiscal planning for total war. Crum, W. L., and others. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Fishery law and legislation
Riesenfeld, S. A. Protection of coastal fisheries under international law. (Je '43)
Fishes
Mississippi valley
Eddy, S., and Surber, T. Northern fishes. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Fishing
Farson, N. Going fishing. (N '43)
Implements and appliances
Major, H. Sure you can fish! (S '43)
Fithian, Philip Vickers
Fithian, P. V. Journal and letters. (S '43)
Five and ten. Whitehead, R. (Je '43)
Five books of Moses. Allis, O. T. (O '43)
Five golden wrens. Troy, H. (My '43)
Five on a merry-go-round. McSwigan, M. (S '43)
Five-year peace plan. Bing, E. J. (S '43)
Flame from the rock. Lin, A. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Fleet in the forest. Lane, C. D. (D '43)
Flicka, Ricka, Dicka and their new friend. Lindman, M. J. (Ap '43)
Flight from terror. Strasser, O., and Stern, M. (Ap '43)
Flight to England. Wylie, I. A. R. (Ap '43)
Floor of the ocean. Daly, R. A. (D '43)
Floral decoration
Dunlop, H. P. Let's arrange flowers. (S '43)
Floriculture
Wilkinson, A. E. Flower encyclopedia and gardener's guide. (Ag '43)
Florida
History
Cabell, J. B., and Hanna, A. J. St Johns. (O '43)
Flower encyclopedia and gardener's guide. Wilkinson, A. E. (Ag '43)
Flower of evil. Morgan, E. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Flower of the gods. Phillpotts, E. (S '43)
Flowers
Freund, G. L. P. American garden flowers. (Ap '43)
Fluffy. Tate, S. (S '43)
Fluid mechanics. Binder, R. C. (D '43)
Flush production. Forbes, G. (Ap '43)
Flying crusader. Eng title of: Mitchell, pioneer of air power. Levine, I. D. (Ap '43)
Flying fortress. Collison, T. (S '43)
Flying furies. Ayling, K. (Mr '43)
Flying health. Kafka, M. M. (S '43)
Flying men and medicine. Barr, E. O. (Je '43)
Flying power. Hylander, C. J. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Focus on murder. Clark, D. (Ap '43)
Fog
Humphreys, W. J. Fogs, clouds and aviation. (D '43)
Fog magic. Sauer, J. L. (D '43)
Fogbound. Daniel, H. (N '43)
Fogs, clouds and aviation. Humphreys, W. J. (D '43)
Folk songs, American
Downes, O., and Siegmeister, E., comps. Treasury of American song. (Ag '43)
Jackson, G. P., ed. Down-East spirituals and others. (S '43)
Korson, G. G. Coal dust on the fiddle. (S '43)
Folklore
Brown, A. C. L. Origin of the Grail legend. (D '43)
North Carolina
Chase, R., ed. Jack tales. (S '43)
Pennsylvania
Korson, G. G. Coal dust on the fiddle. (S '43)
Folklore, Eskimo
Gillham, C. E. Beyond the Clapping mountains. (Je '43)
Following Abraham Lincoln. Wall, B. (S '43)
Food
Duncan, A. O. Food processing. (S '43)
Glasstone, S. and V. F. C. Food you eat. (Je '43)
Graubard, M. A. Man's food. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Pfaffmann, M., and Stern, F. How to teach nutrition to children. (Je '43)
Reid, M. G. Food for people. (O '43)
Analysis
Halliday, E. G., and Noble, I. T. Food chemistry and cookery. (S '43)
Peterson, W. H., and others. Elements of food biochemistry. (S '43)
Food, Dried
Von Loesecke, H. W. Drying and dehydration of foods. (N '43)
Food, Frozen
Tressler, D. K., and Evers, C. F. Freezing preservation of foods. (My '43)
Food and farming in post-war Europe. Lamartine Yates, P., and Warriner, D. (N '43)
Food chemistry and cookery. Halliday, E. G., and Noble, I. T. (S '43)
Food "crisis." Hendrickson, R. F. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Food enough. Black, J. D. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Food for people. Reid, M. G. (O '43)
Food poisoning
Dack, G. M. Food poisoning. (Ag '43)
Food processing. Duncan, A. O. (S '43)
Food supply
Black, J. D. Food enough. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
United States
Hendrickson, R. F. Food "crisis." (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Reid, M. G. Food for people. (O '43)
Food you eat. Glasstone, S. and V. F. C. (Je '43)
Footprints
Mason, G. F. Animal tracks. (O '43)
For all men born. Mackay, M. M. (Ap '43)
For love's sake only. Nichols, M. G. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
For those in peril. Holton, E. A. (Je '43)
For your freedom and ours. Kridl, M., and others, eds. (S '43)
Force and energy
Dull, C. E., and Newlin, I. G. Fundamentals of machines. (Je '43)
Force and freedom. Burckhardt, J. C. (My '43)
Ford, Henry
Simonds, W. A. Henry Ford. (My '43)
Foreign languages and cultures in American education. Kaulfers, W. V., and others, eds. (Ap '43)
Foreman's handbook. Heyel, C., ed. (My '43)
Foreman's management conference manuals. National foremen's institute. (O '43)
Foremanship and safety. MacMillan, C. M. (Ap '43)
Foremanship training. Starr, R. B., ed. (O '43)
Foremen
Heyel, C., ed. Foreman's handbook. (My '43)
MacMillan, C. M. Foremanship and safety. (Ap '43)
National foremen's institute. Foreman's management conference manuals. (O '43)
Schultz, R. S. Wartime supervision of workers. (Ap '43)

Foremen—Continued
Starr, R. B., ed. Foremanship training. (O '43)
Forest and the fort. Allen, H. (My '43)
Forest fires
Holbrook, S. H. Burning an empire. (D '43)
Forever young. Williams, B. C. (My '43)
Forgotten ally. Van Paassen, P. (D '43)
Forgotten front. Lear, J. (Mr '43)
Forgotten Hume. Mossner, E. C. (My '43)
Forming tools
Frey, C. J., and Kogut, S. S. Metal forming by flexible tools. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Formulas for stress and strain. Roark, R. J. (D '43)
Forster, Edward Morgan
Trilling, L. E. M. Forster. (S '43)
Fortress in the skies. Mendelssohn, P. (O '43)
Forward with science. Rusk, R. D. (Je '43)
Foundations
Hool, G. A. and Kinne, W. S. eds. Foundations, abutments, and footings. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Foundations for living. Silver, F., and Ryan, M. G. (O '43)
Foundations of American civilization. Savelle, M. (O '43)
Founded upon the seas. Oakeshott, W. F. (Je '43)
Fountainhead. Rand, A. (Je '43)
Four freedoms and God. Poteat, E. M. (O '43)
Four quartets. Eliot, T. S. (Je '43)
14000 gear ratios. Page, R. M. (Je '43)
Fourth decade. Rosten, N. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Fourth gospel in the early church. Sanders, J. N. (O '43)
Framework of battle. Burr, J. G. (D '43)
France
Maillaud, P. France. (My '43)
Commerce
Levant
Puryear, V. J. France and the Levant from the Bourbon restoration to the peace of Kutiah. (Ap '43)
Foreign relations
Puryear, V. J. France and the Levant from the Bourbon restoration to the peace of Kutiah. (Ap '43)
Free France movement
Aghion, R. Fighting French. (Ag '43)
History
Revolution
Sirich, J. B. Revolutionary committees in the departments of France, 1793-1794. (S '43)
Second empire, 1852-1870
Guérard, A. L. Napoleon III. (S '43)
German occupation, 1940-
De Polnay, P. Germans came to Paris. (N '43)
Politics and government
Marchal, L. Vichy; two years of deception. (Mr '43)
Simon, Y. March to liberation. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Simon, Y. Road to Vichy, 1918-1938. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Winter, G. This is not the end of France. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Wright, G. Raymond Poincaré and the French presidency. (S '43)
France. Maillaud, P. (My '43)
France and the Levant from the Bourbon restoration to the peace of Kutiah. Puryear, V. J. (Ap '43)
Francis of Assisi, Saint
Schimberg, A. P. Larks of Umbria. (My '43)
Franciscans. Third order
Hennrich, K. J. Better life. (F '14) (1943 Annual)
Frederick II, the Great, king of Prussia
Colby, E. Masters of mobile warfare. (O '43)
Free and inexpensive educational materials. (Je '43)
Free China's new deal. Freyn, H. (D '43)
Free man. Richter, C. (S '43)
Free men of America. Padilla, E. (Je '43)
Free minds. Knickerbocker, F. W. C. (N '43)
Free Negro in North Carolina, 1790-1860. Franklin, J. P. (S '43)
Free Negro labor and property holding in Virginia, 1830-1860. Jackson, L. P. (Ap '43)
Free thought
Post, A. Popular freethought in America, 1825-1850. (Ag '43)
Free trade and protection
Tenenbaum, E. A. National socialism vs. international capitalism. (Je '43)
Freedmen
Jackson, L. P. Free Negro labor and property holding in Virginia, 1830-1860. (Ap '43)
Freedom forgotten and remembered. Kuhn, H. (Ag '43)
Freedom of the soul. Bradley, D. J. (O '43)
Freedom to be free. Marshall, J. (Je '43)
Freedom's flag. Holland, R. S. (S '43)
Freezing preservation of foods. Tressler, D. K., and Evers, C. F. (My '43)
French Canada in transition. Hughes, E. C. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
French Canadians
Hughes, E. C. French Canada in transition. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
French-Canadians in New England
Ducharme, J. Shadows of the trees. (Je '43)
French literature
History and criticism
Fowlie, W. Clowns and angels. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
French literature (Old French)
Translations into English
Lancaster C. M., tr. Saints and sinners in old romance. (Ap '43)
French officer's diary. Barlone, D. (Ap '43)
French predecessors of Malthus. Spengler, J. J. (My '43)
Frenzied prince. Colum, P. (D '43)
Frequency modulation. Hund, A. (Je '43)
Frick collection, New York
Dwight, H. G., and Frankfurter, A. M. Art parade. (O '43)
Friday, thank God! Rives, F. (My '43)
Friendly Arctic. Stefansson, V. (S '43)
From barter to slavery. Marchant, A. N. De A. (Ap '43)
From bird cage to battle plane. Michaelis, R. (My '43)
From hell to breakfast. Olsson, C. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
From Jesus to Paul. Klausner, J. (S '43)
From Perry to Pearl harbor. Falk, E. A. (Mr '43)
From sea to shining sea. Dyett, J. G. (Je '43)
From the ground up. Ford, C., and MacBain, A. (Je '43)
From the journal of Zadoc Long. Long, Z. (N '43)
From victory to peace. Hutchinson, P. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Front line. Great Britain. Ministry of information. (Ag '43)
Frontier and pioneer life
Juvenile literature
McNeer, M. Y. Story of the Great Plains. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Alaska
Denison, M. Klondike Mike. (My '43)
California
Chalfant, W. A. Tales of the pioneers. (My '43)
Texas
Hamner, L. V. Short grass and longhorns. (S '43)
West
Benton, J. J. Cow by the tail. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
DeVoto, B. A. Year of decision, 1846. (Ap '43)
Fruit
Lucas, J. M. First the flower, then the fruit. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Fruit culture
Juvenile literature
Writers' program, Pennsylvania. Orchards in all seasons. (My '43)

Fruits of fascism. Matthews, H. L. (N '43)
Fun with cards. Adams, D. (S '43)
Fun with magic. Leeming, J. (D '43)
Fun with science. Freeman, M. and I. M. (My '43)
Fun with your microscope. Yates, R. F. (Je '43)
Fundamental jobs in electricity. Perry, E. C., and Schafebook, H. V. (Je '43)
Fundamental organic chemistry. Degering, E. F., and others. (Je '43)
Fundamental physics. Taylor, L. W. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual) Fundamental radio experiments. Higgy, R. C. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Fundamental shop training, for those preparing for war service. Shuman, J. T., and others. (Je '43)
Fundamentals of applied electricity. Jones, E. W. (Je '43)
Fundamentals of electric welding. Rice, W., and others. (Je '43)
Fundamentals of electricity. Benjamin, T. D. (S '43)
Fundamentals of electricity. Dull, C. E., and Idelson, M. N. (Je '43)
Fundamentals of electricity. Johnson, W. H., and Newkirk, L. V. (S '43)
Fundamentals of electricity. Miller, F. R. (Ag '43)
Fundamentals of electricity, for those preparing for war service. McDougal, W. L., and others. (Je '43)
Fundamentals of electrochemistry and electrodeposition. Glasstone, S. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Fundamentals of engineering drawing. Luzadder, W. J. (S '43)
Fundamentals of immunology. Boyd, W. C. (Ag '43)
Fundamentals of machines. Clark, J. A., and others. (S '43)
Fundamentals of machines. Dull, C. E., and Newlin, I. G. (Je '43)
Fundamentals of machines. Joseph, A. (Je '43)
Fundamentals of machines, for those preparing for war service. Hobbs, G. M., and others. (Ag '43)
Fundamentals of optical engineering. Jacobs, D. H. (F '44) (1943 Annual) Fundamentals of psychiatry. Strecker, E. A. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Fundamentals of radio for those preparing for war service. Gorder, L. O., and others. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Fundamentals of shopwork. Johnson, W. H., and Newkirk, L. V. (My '43)
Fundamentals of shopwork. Owens, A. A., and others. (Ag '43)
Fundamentals of shopwork. Swartz, D. J., and others. (D '43)
Fundamentals of soil science. Millar, C. E., and Turk, L. M. (S '43)
Fundamentals of stress analysis, v 1. Deyarmond, A., and Arslan, A. (D '43)
Fungicides
  Frear, D. E. H. Chemistry of insecticides and fungicides. (Je '43)
Furniture
  Lewis, E. Decorating the home. (Je '43)
  Raeth, G. A. Master homecraft projects. (Ap '43)
Future of industrial man. Drucker, P. F. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Future of south-east Asia. Panikkar, K. M. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

G. I. jungle. Kahn, E. J. (O '43)
Gages
  Donaldson, C., and LeCain, G. H. Tool design. (Je '43)
Galantrys. Allingham, M. (N '43)
Gambler takes a wife. Brinig, M. (Ag '43)
Games
  Millen, N., comp. Children's games from many lands. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
  Tunis, J. R. Lawn games. (S '43)
Gandhi, Mohandas Karamchand
  Raman, T. A. What does Gandhi want? (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Garden islands of the great East. Fairchild, D. G. (N '43)
Garden of Doctor Persuasion. Neilson, F. (Je '43)
Gardening
  Wilkinson, A. E. Flower encyclopedia and gardener's guide. (Ag '43)
  Williams, T. A. Old Dirt Dobber's garden book. (Je '43)
Juvenile literature
  Gould, D. Very first garden. (Je '43)
Gardening for good eating. Fox, H. M. (Je '43)
Gardens
China
  Powell, F. L. In the Chinese garden. (S '43)
Garfield, Sidney Roy
  DeKruif, P. H. Kaiser wakes the doctors. (O '43)
Garland of straw. Warner, S. T. (O '43)
Garment of God. Merriam, J. C. (My '43)
Gas and oil engines
  Boyer, G. C. Diesel and gas engine power plants. (Je '43)
  Polson, J. A. Internal combustion engines. (Ap '43)
Ignition devices
  Morgan, J. D. Principles of ignition. (S '43)
Gas chemists' book of standards for light oils and light oil products. Altieri, V. J. (N '43)
Gases
Absorption and adsorption
  Brunauer, S. Adsorption of gases and vapors. v 1. (N '43)
Gases, Asphyxiating and poisonous
  Henderson, Y., and Haggard, H. W. Noxious gases. (Je '43)
Gastronomical me. Parrish. M. F. K. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Gastronomy
  Wright, R. L. Bed-book of eating and drinking. (Ag '43)
Gateways to American history. Carpenter, H. M. (Ap '43)
Gauchos
  Nichols, M. W. Gaucho. (Ap '43)
Gaunt Woman. Gilligan, E. (Mr '43)
Gay is life. Howard, M. (S '43)
Gearing
  Owen, W. M. Spur gearing. (D '43)
Tables, calculations, etc.
  Page, R. M. 14000 gear ratios. (Je '43)
Geese
  Kortright, F. H. Ducks, geese and swans of North America. (My '43)
Gelatin
  Smith, P. I. Glue and gelatine. (D '43)
General inorganic chemistry. Sneed, M. C., and Maynard, J. L. (S '43)
General metallography. Dowdell, R. L., and others. (Ag '43)
General physics. Blackwood, O. H. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Generals
  These are the generals. (N '43)
Generation risen. Masefield, J. (Ag '43)
Genes and the man. Glass, H. B. (D '43)
Genesis, bk 1. Schwartz, D. (S '43)
Geodesy
  Sharp, H. O. Geodetic control surveys. (S '43)
Geodetic control surveys. Sharp, H. O. (S '43)
Geography
  Renner, G. T. Human geography in the air age. (Ap '43)
  Silber, F. Geography. (Je '43)
Geography of Latin America. Carlson, F. A. (D '43)
Geology
  Billings, M. P. Structural geology. (S '43)
  Engeln, O. D. Geomorphology. (My '43)
  Hinds, N. E. A. Geomorphology. (S '43)
Juvenile literature
  Fenton, C. L. Earth's adventures. (Ap '43)
Maps
  Eardley, A. J. Aerial photographs. (Ap '43)
North America
  Schuchert, C. Stratigraphy of the eastern and central United States. (Je '43)

Geology, Economic
Bateman, A. M. Economic mineral deposits. (Ap '43)
Lovering, T. S. Minerals in world affairs. (S '43)
Geometry, Analytic
Smith, E. S., and others. Analytic geometry. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Geomorphology. Engeln, O. D. (My '43)
Geomorphology. Hinds, N. E. A. (S '43)
Georgia
Social life and customs
Powell, A. G. I can go home again. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Georgia boy. Caldwell, E. (Je '43)
German air weapon, 1870-1914. Cuneo, J. R. See Cuneo, J. R. Winged Mars, v 1
German protectorate. Grant Duff, S. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Germans came to Paris. De Polnay, P. (N '43)
Germans in Argentina
Bradford, S. E. Battle for Buenos Aires. (Je '43)
Germans in Pennsylvania
Juvenile literature
Hark, A. Story of the Pennsylvania Dutch. (Ag '43)
Germans in South America
Arciniegas, G. Germans in the conquest of America. (O '43)
Germans in the United States
Bischoff, R. F. Nazi conquest through German culture. (Ag '43)
Germany
Biography
Graefenberg, R. G. Meet Mr Blank. (N '43)
Civilization
Brickner, R. M. Is Germany incurable? (Je '43)
Winkler, P. Thousand-year conspiracy. (Ap '43)
Commercial policy
Tenenbaum, E. A. National socialism vs. international capitalism. (Je '43)
Economic policy
Basch, A. Danube basin and the German economic sphere. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Borkin, J., and Welsh, C. A. Germany's master plan. (Mr '43)
Munk, F. Legacy of Nazism. (S '43)
Foreign relations
Schwarz, P. This man Ribbentrop. (O '43)
Vansittart, R. G. V. Lessons of my life. (N '43)
History
Javsicas, G. Shortage of victory. (Mr '43)
Pol, H. Hidden enemy. (O '43)
Industries and resources
Borkin, J., and Welsh, C. A. Germany's master plan. (Mr '43)
Nazi movement
Bischoff, R. F. Nazi conquest through German culture. (Ag '43)
Ebenstein, W. Nazi state. (Mr '43)
Hitler, A. Speeches, April 1922-August 1939. (Ag '43)
Jackh, E. War for man's soul. (D '43)
Jansen, J. B., and Weyl, S. Silent war. (Mr '43)
Kuhn, H. Freedom forgotten and remembered. (Ag '43)
Strasser, O., and Stern, M. Flight from terror. (Ap '43)
Tenenbaum, E. A. National socialism vs. international capitalism. (Je '43)
Thompson, D. Listen, Hans. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Winkler, P. Thousand-year conspiracy. (Ap '43)
Politics and government
Seger, G. H., and Marck, S. K. Germany: to be or not to be? (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Religion
Carmer, C. L., ed. War against God. (N '43)
Herman, S. W. It's your souls we want. (Ap '43)
Social conditions
Thompson, D. Listen, Hans. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Germany. Luftwaffe
Hermann, H. Luftwaffe. (Ag '43)
Germany: to be or not to be? Seger, G. H., and Marck, S. K. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Germany's master plan. Borkin, J., and Welsh, C. A. (Mr '43)
Gerrit and the organ. Van Stockum, H. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Gershwin, George
Ewen, D. Story of George Gershwin. (O '43)
Get together Americans. DuBois, R. D. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Ghost wanted. McDermid, F. (Je '43)
Giants and witches and a dragon or two. Fenner, P. R. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Giants gone. Poole, E. (Ap '43)
Gibbs, Archie
Gibbs, A. U-boat prisoner. (S '43)
Gibbs, Josiah Willard
Rukeyser, M. Willard Gibbs. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Gide, Andre Paul Guillaume
Mann, K. André Gide and the crisis of modern thought. (Je '43)
Gideon Planish. Lewis, S. (My '43)
Gigi. Foster, E. (D '43)
Gigi and Gogo. Liger-Belair, E. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Giovanni da Capistrano, Saint
Hofer, J. St John Capistran, reformer. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Girard, Stephen
Wildes, H. E. Lonely Midas. (D '43)
Girdler, Tom Mercer
Girdler, T. M. Boot straps. (N '43)
Girl in overalls. Ashley, E. (O '43)
Girls
Abel, T. M., and Kinder, E. F. Subnormal adolescent girl. (Ap '43)
Gist of mathematics. Moore, J. H., and Mira, J. A. (S '43)
Give us a little smile, baby. Coleman, H. J. (S '43)
Give us this day. Leighton, C. V. H. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Glass
Johnson, W. H., and Newkirk, L. V. Ceramic arts. (Je '43)
Molloy, E., ed. Windows and window glazing. (Je '43)
Glass blowing and working
Wright, R. H. Manual of laboratory glassblowing. (D '43)
Glazes
Koenig, J. H., and Earhart, W. H. Literature abstracts of ceramic glazes. (Je '43)
Glimpses into child life. Zeligs, R. (Ap '43)
Glorious adventures of Tyl Ulenspiegl. Coster, C. T. H. de. (D '43)
Glory be! Lambert, J. (Ag '43)
Glossary of shipbuilding and outfitting terms. Eddington, W. J. (Ag '43)
Gloucester Joe. Crane, A. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Glue
Smith, P. I. Glue and gelatine. (D '43)
Goals for America. Chase, S. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Goblin market. McCloy, H. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
God
Farmer, H. H. Towards belief in God. (Je '43)
Garrigou-Lagrange, R. One God. (O '43)
Joad, C. E. M. God and evil. (Je '43)
Kroner, R. How do we know God? (S '43)
Mackay, J. A. Heritage and destiny. (Je '43)
Rice, M. S. My Father's world. (D '43)
Soares, T. G. Growing concept of God in the Bible. (D '43)
Juvenile literature
Jones, M. A. Tell me about God. (D '43)
God and evil. Joad, C. E. M. (Je '43)
God is my co-pilot. Scott, R. L. (S '43)
God of the machine. Paterson, I. B. (Je '43)
God will help you. Gilkey, J. G. (D '43)
Goebbels experiment. Sington, D., and Weidenfeld, A. (Ag '43)
Going fishing. Farson, N. (N '43)
Going, going, gone. Taylor, P. A. (D '43)

Gold mines and mining
Dennison, L. R. Caroni gold. (Ag '43)
Goldberger, Joseph
Parsons, R. P. Trail to light. (Ag '43)
Golden feather. Kenyon, T. (Ag '43)
Golden grain. Corbett, E. F. (N '43)
Golden Kate. Bohanon, P. (D '43)
Golden serpent. Alegría, C. (N '43)
Golden shore. Shaftel, G. A. (Ag '43)
Golden treasury of chess. Wellmuth, F. J., comp. (S '43)
Golden wedding. Pagano, J. (My '43)
Good and evil
Joad, C. E. M. God and evil. (Je '43)
Lewis, C. S. Problem of pain. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Good-bye, my son. Coryn, M. (Mr '43)
Good housekeeping see and sew. Karasz, M. (O '43)
Good-luck horse. Chan, C. (D '43)
Good night, ladies. Siller, V. (O '43)
Good nutrition for everybody. Bogert, L. J. (Ap '43)
Goodbye, dear Elizabeth. Hoster, G. (O '43)
Goodspeed parallel New Testament. Bible. New Testament. (O '43)
Gospel. Rāmakrishna. (Je '43)
Gould family
Snow, A. N. and H. N. Story of Helen Gould. (O '43)
Government and business tomorrow. Richberg, D. R. (S '43)
Government, business and values. Ruml, B. (S '43)
Government by assassination. Byas, H. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Government of French North Africa. Liebesny, H. J. (F '44) (1943 Annual) Government of labor relations in Sweden. Robbins, J. J. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual) Government ownership
United States
Eldridge, S., and others. Development of collective enterprise. (Je '43)
Government publications
American library association. Committee on public documents. Public documents and World war II. (S '43)
Governors
United States
Macmillan, M. B. War governors in the American revolution. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Grady, Henry Woodfin
Nixon, R. B. Henry W. Grady, spokesman of the new South. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Grail
Brown, A. C. L. Origin of the Grail legend. (D '43)
Grand Crossing. Saxton, A. P. (S '43)
Grand design. Pilgrim, D. (O '43)
Grand parade. Lancaster, G. B. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Grand seigneur. Gross, F. (S '43)
Grandmother drives south. Henley, C. M. J. (Ag '43)
Graphic arts
Marinaccio, A., and Osborn, B. N. Exploring the graphic arts. (Je '43)
Grass on the slag heaps. Ginzberg, E. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Grass roots politics. Gosnell, H. F. (Ap '43)
Grasshopper book. Bronson, W. S. (O '43)
Grasshoppers
Juvenile literature
Bronson, W. S. Grasshopper book. (O '43)
Great age of Greek literature. Hamilton, E. (Ap '43)
Great American customer. Crow, C. (D '43)
Great Britain. Interdepartmental committee on social insurance and allied services
Scheu, F. J. British labor and the Beveridge plan. (S '43)
Great Britain. Parliament
Witmer, H. E. Property qualifications of members of Parliament. (D '43)
Great Britain
Britain in pictures. (O '43)
Church history
Alington, C. A. Christianity in England. (N '43)
Civilization
Barker, E. Britain and the British people. (My '43)
Brogan, D. W. English people. (Je '43)
Colonies
Britain in pictures. (O '43)
Johnson, C. British West Florida, 1763-1783. (D '43)
Simnett, W. E. British colonial empire. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Walker, E. A. British empire. (O '43)
Wright, L. B. Religion and empire. (O '43)
Africa
Hinden, R. Plan for Africa. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
India
Amery, L. C. M. S. India and freedom. (O '43)
Fischer, L. Empire. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Nigeria
Cook, A. N. British enterprise in Nigeria. (Ag '43)
Commerce
United States
Kreider, C. J. Anglo-American trade agreement. (S '43)
Description and travel
Gibbings, R. Coming down the Wye. (O '43)
Ward, A. C. Literary journey through wartime Britain. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Economic conditions
Bowley, A. L., ed. Studies in the national income, 1924-1938. (N '43)
Dietz, F. C. Economic history of England. (Je '43)
Economic policy
Madge, C. Industry after the war. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Murphy, M. E. British war economy, 1939-1943. (S '43)
Emigration and immigration
Forsyth, W. D. Myth of open spaces. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Foreign relations
Langford, R. V. British foreign policy. (Je '43)
Turkey
Bailey, F. E. British policy and the Turkish reform movement. (S '43)
History
Brebner, J. B., and Nevins, A. Making of modern Britain. (Ag '43)
Klingberg, F. J. Main currents in English history. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Mowat, R. B., and Slosson, P. W. History of the English-speaking peoples. (Ap '43)
Trevelyan, G. M. English social history. (Ap '43)
Juvenile literature
Brown, B. C., and Arbuthnot, H. Story of England. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Elizabeth, 1558-1603
Oakeshott, W. F. Founded upon the seas. (Je '43)
Stuarts, 1603-1714
Mackinnon, J. History of modern liberty, v 4. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Stuarts, 1603-1714—Sources
D'Ewes, S. Journal. (Mr '43)
Puritan revolution, 1642-1660
Jordan, W. K. Men of substance. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
History, Military
Keyes, R. J. B. Amphibious warfare and combined operations. (S '43)
History, Naval
Masters, D. Up periscope. (Ag '43)
Oakeshott, W. F. Founded upon the seas. (Je '43)

Great Britain—Continued

Industries and resources

Dietz, F. C. Economic history of England. (Je '43)

Politics and government

Barker, E. Britain and the British people. (My '43)

Relations (general) with the East (Far East)

Gull, E. M. British economic interests in the Far East. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Relations (general) with United States

Gibbs, P. H., ed. Bridging the Atlantic. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Gordon, G. S. Anglo-American literary relations. (Mr '43)

Religion

Hough, L. H. Living democracy. (Ag '43)

Social conditions

Beveridge, W. H. Pillars of security. (O '43)
Trevelyan, G. M. English social history. (Ap '43)
Women's group on public welfare. Our towns, a close-up. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Social life and customs

Campbell, M. L. English yeoman. (Ap '43)

Great Britain. Commandos
Combined operations. (Je '43)

Great Britain. Royal air force
Londonderry, C. S. H. V.-T.-S. Wings of destiny. (S '43)
Michaelis, R. From bird cage to battle plane. (My '43)

Great Britain. Royal air force. Coastal command
Dudley-Gordon, T. I seek my prey in the waters. (Je '43)
Great Britain. Air Ministry. Coastal command. (Je '43)

Great Britain. Royal air force. 71 (Eagle) squadron
Childers, J. S. War Eagles. (Je '43)

Great Britain. Royal air force. Squadron 303
Fiedler, A. Squadron 303. (Ap '43)
Great Caesar's ghost. Coles, M. (D '43)
Great learning. Hughes, E. R., ed. (My '43)
Great offensive. Werner, M. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Great O'Neill. O'Faolain, S. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Great sea stories. French, J. L., ed. (D '43)
Great Smith. Marshall, E. (My '43)
Great Smokies and the Blue Ridge. Peattie, R., ed. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Great Smoky mountains
Peattie, R., ed. Great Smokies and the Blue Ridge. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Great Yant mystery. Cunningham, A. B. (S '43)
Greatest eye in the world. Collins, A. F. (My '43)
Greatest people in the world. Eng title of: There's something in the air. Bates, H. E. (Je '43)

Greece

Foreign relations

Italy

Greece. Hypourgeion tōn exōterikōn. Greek white book. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

History

Pearson, L. Local historians of Attica. (S '43)
Powell, D. Remember Greece. (O '43)

Greece against the Axis. Casson, S. (N '43)

Greek drama

History and criticism

Little, A. M. G. Myth and society in Attic drama. (S '43)
Prentice, W. K. Those ancient dramas called tragedies. (S '43)

Translations into English

Cooper, L., ed. Fifteen Greek plays. (S '43)

Greek fiction

History and criticism

Haight, E. H. Essays on the Greek romances. (O '43)

Greek foundations of traditional logic. Kapp, E. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Greek literature

History and criticism

Hamilton, E. Great age of Greek literature. (Ap '43)

Translations into English

Whall, A. L., ed. Greek reader. (S '43)

Greek miracle. Lavra, S. (N '43)
Greek reader. Whall, A. L., ed. (S '43)
Greek white book. Greece. Hypourgeion tōn exōterikōn. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Green circle. Massie, C. (Ap '43)
Green earth. Rickett, H. W. (S '43)
Green is the golden tree. Truax, R. (My '43)
Green Mountain verse. Pierce, E. H. C., and Flanders, H. H., eds. (N '43)
Green orb. Eng title of: Green circle. Massie, C. (Ap '43)
Green wagons. Seidlin, O., and Rypins, S. J. (Je '43)

Greene county, Georgia
Raper, A. F. Tenants of the Almighty. (S '43)

Greenslet, Ferris
Greenslet, F. Under the bridge. (D '43)
Gremlins. Dahl, R. (Ag '43)

Griffes, Charles Tomlinson
Maisel, E. M. Charles T. Griffes. (N '43)
Grim reapers. Johnston, S. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Grinning pig. Lombard, N. (O '43)
Grizzly meadows. Robertson, F. C. (Ag '43)
Group differences in urban fertility. Kiser, C. V. (Je '43)
Group experience. Baxter, B., and Cassidy, R. F. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Group work
Baxter, B., and Cassidy, R. F. Group experience. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
DuVall, E. W. Personality and social group work. (N '43)

Grouse
Foster, W. H. New England grouse shooting. (Je '43)
Growing concept of God in the Bible. Soares, T. G. (D '43)
Growing up in the horse and buggy days. Ladd, C. E., and Eastman, E. R. (Mr '43)

Growth
Thompson, D. W. On growth and form. (S '43)
Growth of American nationality, 1492-1865. Wellborn, F. W. (N '43)
Growth of American republic. Morison, S. E., and Commager, H. S. (N '43)
Growth of American thought. Curti, M. E. (N '43)
Grubby gets clean. Vorse, M. E. (Ap '43)
Guadalcanal diary. Tregaskis, R. W. (Mr '43)
Guide for church school teachers. Miller, R. C. (D '43)
Guide for the study of American social problems. American social problems study committee. (Je '43)
Guide to bird watching. Hickey, J. J. (D '43)
Guide to cathode ray patterns. Bly, M. C. (Ag '43)
Guide to life and literature of the Southwest. Dobie, J. F. (S '43)
Guide to the manuscript collections in the Library, by Howard H. Peckham. Michigan. University. William L. Clements library of American history. (Ap '43)

Gums and resins, Synthetic
Powers, P. O. Synthetic resins and rubbers. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Gun care and repair. Chapel, C. E. (Je '43)
Gun dogs afield. Lytle, J. H. (My '43)
Gunners get glory. Berry, R. B. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Guns on the Cimarron. Elston, A. V. (S '43)
Guns on the high mesa. Gooden, A. H. (My '43)

Gunsmiths
Chapel, C. E. Gun care and repair. (Je '43)

Guthrie, Woody
Guthrie, W. Bound for glory. (Ap '43)

H.M. corvette. Monsarrat, N. (Mr '43)

Hague. Permanent court of international justice

Hudson, M. O. Permanent court of international justice, 1920-1942. (S '43)

Peaslee, A. J. Permanent United nations. (Ap '43)

Half a hemisphere. Goetz, D. (My '43)

Half a world away. Long, F. (S '43)

Hall, James

Flanagan, J. T. James Hall, literary pioneer of the Ohio valley. (Mr '43)

Hamilton, Alice

Hamilton, A. Exploring the dangerous trades. (My '43)

Hammond's comparative wall atlas. Hammond, C. S., and company. (N '43)

Hammond's universal world atlas. Hammond, C. S., and company. (N '43)

Handbook for home mechanics. O'Hare, E. (D '43)

Handbook for nurse's aides. Orbison, K. B. T. (S '43)

Handbook for prospectors and operators of small mines. Von Bernewitz, M. W. (O '43)

Handbook of brick masonry construction. Mulligan, J. A. (Ap '43)

Handbook of Hispanic source materials and research organizations in the United States. Hilton, R., ed. (Ap '43)

Handbook of industrial relations. Aspley, J. C., and Whitmore, E., eds. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Handbook of medical library practice. Medical library association. (D '43)

Handbook of psychiatry. Lichtenstein, P. M., and Small, S. M. (O '43)

Handbook on plastics. Simonds, H. R., and Ellis, C. (O '43)

Handicraft

Ickis, M. Arts and crafts. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Johnson, W. H., and Newkirk, L. V. Fundamentals of shopwork. (My '43)

Radtke, O. A. Keene cement craft. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Showalter, H. F. Small creations for your tools. (Je '43)

Tuomey, D. Home mechanic. (Je '43)

Zarchy, H. Let's make more things. (My '43)

Indexes

Lovell, E. C., and Hall, R. M., comps. Index to handicrafts, modelmaking, and workshop projects. (Ag '43)

Handsome heart. De Vries, P. (S '43)

Hanging's too good. Thayer, L. (N '43)

Hangman's tie. Stevens, F. M. R. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Happiest man. Borgenicht, L. (Ap '43)

Happy hippopotamus. Heyneman, A., and Kappel, H. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Happy land. Kantor, M. (Mr '43)

Happy landings. Herzberg, M. J., and others. (Ap '43)

Happy man. Easton, R. O. (Ap '43)

Happy stories just to laugh at. Leacock, S. B. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Hardness

Williams, S. R. Hardness and hardness measurements. (Ag '43)

Hardness and hardness measurements. Williams, S. R. (Ag '43)

Hardy, Thomas

Blunden, E. C. Thomas Hardy. (Ap '43)

Harlem, New York (city)

Ottley, R. New world a-coming. (S '43)

Harmonists

Duss, J. S. Harmonists. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Harriet. Ryerson, F., and Clements, C. C. (S '43)

Harris, Thomas Lake

Schneider, H. W., and Lawton, G. Prophet and a pilgrim. (Je '43)

Harte, Bret

Juvenile literature

Harlow, A. F. Bret Harte of the Old West. (Ag '43)

Harvard co-operative society

Gras, N. S. B. Harvard co-operative society past and present, 1882-1942. (S '43)

Harvard university

Chamberlain, S. Historic Cambridge in four seasons. (Ap '43)

Harvest of my years. Pollock, C. (Ap '43)

Harvest of the spirit. Austin, E. M. (My '43)

Hasty, John Eugene

Hasty, J. E. Done with mirrors. (Mr '43)

Hathaway, Mrs Katharine (Butler)

Hathaway, K. B. Little locksmith. (N '43)

Hathoo of the elephants. Wheeler, P. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Haunted harbor. Douglas, D. (S '43)

Hauser, Kaspar

Singh, J. A. L., and Zingg, R. M. Wolf-children and Feral man. (My '43)

Having wonderful crime. Rice, C. (My '43)

Havoc by accident. Simenon, G. (Je '43)

Hawaiian Islands

MacLeod, A. S. Spirit of Hawaii, before and after Pearl Harbor. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

History

Bradley, H. W. American frontier in Hawaii. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)

He conquered the Andes. Ives, M. L. (Je '43)

He died laughing. Lariar, L. (S '43)

He fell down dead. Perdue, V. (O '43)

He went with Magellan. Kent, L. A. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Headlong for murder. Mace, M. (My '43)

Healing of the waters. Wilder, A. N. (Ag '43)

Health can be fun. Leaf, M. (N '43)

Healthy babies are happy babies. Kenyon, J. H. (S '43)

Heart

Diseases

Steincrohn, P. J. Heart disease is curable. (Ag '43)

Heart disease is curable. Steincrohn, P. J. (Ag '43)

Heart of Europe. Mann, K., and Kesten, H., eds. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Heart returneth. Lebedeff, V. (My '43)

Heat

Bailey, N. P. Principles of heat engineering. (Je '43)

Cork, J. M. Heat. (Je '43)

Smith, L. R. Applied mechanics and heat. (Ag '43)

Transmission

McAdams, W. H. Heat transmission. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Heat engines

Grundy, R. H. Theory and practice of heat engines. (S '43)

Wrangham, D. A. Theory and practice of heat engines. (Je '43)

Heat transmission. McAdams, W. H. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Heat treatment of metals. Winning, J. (N '43)

Heathen days. Mencken, H. L. (Ap '43)

Heather heritage. Duncan, J. B. (Mr '43)

Heaven is a sunswept hill. Guy, E. (O '43)

Hecker, Isaac Thomas

Burton, K. K. Celestial homespun. (My '43)

Hedge, Frederic Henry

Wells, R. V. Three Christian transcendentalists. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Hedge against the sun. Bentley, B. (N '43)

Heine, Heinrich

Wormley, S. L. Heine in England. (Ag '43)

Heine in England. Wormley, S. L. (Ag '43)

Heinrich, prince of Prussia. See Henry, prince of Prussia

Helical milling. Felker, C. A., and Paine, H. W. (Ag '43)

Hell and high water. Raine, W. M. (My '43)

Help the farmer. King, D. N. (D '43)

Henry, prince of Prussia

Easum, C. V. Prince Henry of Prussia, brother of Frederick the Great. (Ap '43)

Henry, Caleb Sprague

Wells, R. V. Three Christian transcendentalists. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Herbs

Juvenile literature

Maril, L. Spice and scent. (Je '43)

Here come the elephants. Orr, G. (O '43)

Here come the marines! Griffin, A. R. (Mr '43)

Here is Africa. Gatti, E. M. W. and A. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Here is Alaska. Stefansson, E. (Mr '43)

Here is your war. Pyle, E. T. (N '43)

Heredity
Dahlberg, G. Race, reason and rubbish. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Glass, H. B. Genes and the man. (D '43)
Heritage and destiny. Mackay, J. A. (Je '43)
Heritage of symbolism. Bowra, C. M. (S '43)
Hero in history. Hook, S. (Je '43)
Hero of Antietam. Beffel, E. (S '43)
Heroes
Hook, S. Hero in history. (Je '43)
Thomas, L. J. These men shall never die. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Wells, L. Salute to valor. (My '43)
Herself. Jordan, E. G. (My '43)
He's in the Armored force now. McGhee, A. F. (Ag '43)
He's in the Coast guard now. Felsen, G. (S '43)
He's in the engineers now. Mann, C. (S '43)
He's in the Marine corps now. Israels, J. (N '43)
He's in the merchant marine now. Douglas, J. S., and Salz, A. (O '43)
He's in the paratroops now. Rathbone, A. D. (Je '43)
He's in the Signal corps now. Mann, C. (O '43)
Hewitt, Edward Ringwood
Hewitt, E. R. Those were the days. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Heyer, John Christian Frederick
Bachmann, E. T. They called him father. (Mr '43)
Hidden blood. Tuttle, W. C. (Je '43)
Hidden enemy. Pol, H. (O '43)
Hiding places. Woodcock, L. P. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
High courts of heaven. Hewes, J. V. (Mr '43)
High frequency thermionic tubes. Harvey, A. F. (S '43)
High noon. Lee, C. P. (D '43)
High water in Arkansas. Finger, C. J. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Highway to Tokyo. Rosenfarb, J. (O '43)
Hiking, camping and mountaineering. Geist, R. C. (Je '43)
The hill. Greenhood, D. (My '43)
Hill of the terrified monk. Mainwaring, D. (S '43)
Hills of fear. Bechdolt, F. R. (My '43)
Hills of home. Martin, C. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Historic Cambridge in four seasons. Chamberlain, S. (Ap '43)
Historic church and modern pacifism. Lee, U. (Je '43)
Historic costume. Lester, K. M. (My '43)
Historic mission of Jesus. Cadoux, C. J. (O '43)
Histories and historians of Hispanic America. Wilgus, A. C. (Ap '43)
History
Burckhardt, J. C. Force and freedom. (My '43)
Philosophy
Adams, B. Law of civilization and decay. (S '43)
Case, S. J. Christian philosophy of history. (N '43)
Hook, S. Hero in history. (Je '43)
Strayer, J. R., ed. Interpretation of history. (Je '43)
History, Modern
Chambers, F. P., and others. This age of conflict. (S '43)
Langsam, W. C. World since 1914. (N '43)
Namier, L. B. Conflicts. (S '43)
History, Universal
Boak, A. E. R., and others. World history. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Kahler, E. Man the measure. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Watts, F., ed. Voices of history. (Je '43)
Watts, F., and Leighton, B. E., eds. Voices of history, 1942-43. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Pictorial works
Fish, H. D. Pegs of history. (N '43)
History of American Congregationalism. Atkins, G. G., and Fagley, F. L. (Ap '43)
History of modern liberty, v 4. Mackinnon, J. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
History of music in performance. Dorian, F. (Ap '43)
History of science and its relations with philosophy and religion. Dampier, W. C. D. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
History of social thought. Furfey, P. H. (Mr '43)
History of the American drama. Quinn, A. H. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
History of the expansion of Christianity; v. 5, The great century in the Americas, Australasia, and Africa. Latourette, K. S. (My '43)
History of the Iowa state college of agriculture and mechanic arts. Ross, E. D. (Je '43)
Hit and run. Miller, A. D. (Mr '43)
Hit the rivet, sister. Trask, M. B. (D '43)
Hitler, Adolf
Drama
Reed, D. Downfall. (My '43)
Fiction
Radin, M. Day of reckoning. (Ag '43)
Hobbes, Thomas
Leviathan
Collingwood, R. G. New Leviathan. (O '43)
Hollanders who helped build America. Vlekke, B. H. M., and Beets, H. (O '43)
Hollywood, California
Kimbrough, E. We followed our hearts to Hollywood. (D '43)
Holmes, Oliver Wendell, 1841-1935
Biddle, F. B. Mr Justice Holmes. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Holy communion. Leeson, S. (Je '43)
Home economics
Howe, E. Household hints for homemakers. (My '43)
Marvin, L. Housekeeping made easy. (O '43)
Silver, F., and Ryan, M. G. Foundations for living. (O '43)
Home economics as a profession
Maule, F. Careers for the home economist. (My '43)
Home front. Hinshaw, D. (S '43)
Home front memo. Sandburg, C. (O '43)
Home health and nursing. Long, A. I. (S '43)
Home is the hunter. Poncins, G. de M. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Home mechanic. Tuomey, D. (Je '43)
Home veterinarian's handbook. Baker, E. T. (S '43)
Homer, Winslow
Watson, F. Winslow Homer. (My '43)
Homer Price. McCloskey, R. (D '43)
Hong Kong
Siege, 1941
Brown, W. Hong Kong aftermath. (S '43)
Dew, G. Prisoner of the Japs. (Ag '43)
Proulx, B. A. Underground from Hongkong. (O '43)
Hong Kong aftermath. Brown, W. (S '43)
Honorary degrees. Epler, S. E. (N '43)
Hooker, Rufus W.
Hooker, R. W. Ship's doctor. (Ap '43)
Hope deferred. Seletz, J. (Je '43)
Hopkins, Gerard Manley
Pick, J. Gerard Manley Hopkins. (Ag '43)
Hormones
Corner, G. W. Hormones in human reproduction. (D '43)
Morton, R. A. Application of absorption spectra to the study of vitamins, hormones and coenzymes. (D '43)
Hormones in human reproduction. Corner, G. W. (D '43)
Hornet (aircraft carrier)
Griffin, A. R. Ship to remember. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Horse. Brown, P. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Horse and his shadow. Amorim, E. (S '43)
Horse for Christmas. Bedier, M. J. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Horses
Brown, P. Horse. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Self, M. C. Horses. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Juvenile literature
Eberle, I. Our oldest friends. (Ap '43)
Legends and stories
Garbutt, K. K. Michael, the colt. (Je '43)
Pictures, illustrations, etc.
Brown, P. Horse. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Hosh-ki, the Navajo. Hayes, F. S. (O '43)

Hospital libraries
Mason, M. F. Patients' library. (S '43)
Hotel on the lake. Smith, R. M. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
House between. Parton, E. (Je '43)
House decoration
Gillies, M. D. All about modern decorating. (Je '43)
House and Garden (periodical). Complete guide to interior decoration. (Ap '43)
Lewis, E. Decorating the home. (Je '43)
House of bread. Eustace, C. J. (D '43)
House of Mrs Caroline. Franzero, C. M. (D '43)
House on Humility street. Doherty, M. W. (Ap '43)
House that ran away. Friskey, M. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Household hints for homemakers. Howe, E. (My '43)
Housekeeping made easy. Marvin, L. (O '43)
How a plane flies. Hall, C. G. (My '43)
How do we know God? Kroner, R. (S '43)
How our army grew wings. Chandler, C. de F., and Lahm, F. P. (S '43)
How planes fly. Carlisle, N. V., ed. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
How the army fights. Limpus, L. M. (S '43)
How to be a newspaperman. MacNeil, N. (Je '43)
How to be attractive. Bennett, J. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
How to conduct army correspondence. Coleron, H. C., and Burt, F. A. (N '43)
How to navigate today. Hart, M. R. (My '43)
How to pass a written examination. McKown, H. C. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
How to plan a house. Townsend, G., and Dalzell, J. R. (Ap '43)
How to prepare for military fitness. D'Eliscu, F. (Ag '43)
How to read in science and technology. Howland, H. P., and others. (N '43)
How to remodel a house. Dalzell, J. R., and Townsend, G. (Je '43)
How to teach consumers' cooperation. Wieting, C. M. (Ap '43)
How to teach nutrition to children. Pfaffmann, M., and Stern, F. (Je '43)
How to train hunting dogs. Brown, W. F. (Mr '43)
How to train workers for war industries. Dodd, A. E., and Rice, J. O., eds. (Ap '43)
How to treat the Germans. Ludwig, E. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
How to win the peace. Hambro, C. J. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
How to write. Leacock, S. B. (Mr '43)
Howard university, Washington, D.C.
Dyson, W. Howard university. (Ap '43)
How's Inky? Campbell, S. A. (D '43)
Hsuan-tsang
Fiction
Wu Ch'êng-ên. Monkey. (Ap '43)
Hubben, William
Hubben, W. Exiled pilgrim. (N '43)
Hui-lan-Koo. Koo, H. O. (N '43)
Human comedy. Saroyan, W. (Ap '43)
Human figure in art
Richter, G. M. A. and I. A. Kouroi. (N '43)
Human geography in the air age. Renner, G T. (Ap '43)
Human hand. Wolff, C. (Je '43)
Humanism
Jaeger, W. W. Humanism and theology. (D '43)
20th century
Maritain, J. Twilight of civilization. (Ag '43)
Muller, H. J. Science and criticism. (Je '43)
Humanism and theology. Jaeger, W. W. (D '43)
Humboldt river
Morgan, D. L. The Humboldt. (Ag '43)
Hume, David
Mossner, E. C. Forgotten Hume. (My '43)
Humiliation with honor. Brittain, V. M. (Ag '43)
Humor
Beebe, L. M. Snoot if you must. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Benchley, R. C. Benchley beside himself. (Ag '43)
Cooper, N. G. It's 'ard to go wrong in the cactus. (S '43)
Lariar, L., ed. Army fun book. (S '43)
Masterson, J. R. Tall tales of Arkansaw. (Ag '43)
Nathan, G. J. Beware of parents. (My '43)
Perelman, S. J. Dream department. (Mr '43)
Phelan, P. J., ed. With a merry heart. (Ag '43)
Saturday Evening Post (periodical). Post scripts. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Sousa, J. P. My family right or wrong. (N '43)
Spalding, C. F., and Carney, O. Love at first flight. (S '43)
Taber, H. P. Ezra and me. (S '43)
Humor, Pictorial
Craven, T., ed. Cartoon cavalcade. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Johnson, C. Barnaby. (N '43)
Price, G. It's smart to be people. (Ap '43)
Price, G. Who's in charge here? (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Steig, W. Lonely ones. (Ap '43)
Thurber, J. Men, women and dogs. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Williams, G., ed. It's a funny world. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Williams, J. R. Out our way. (N '43)
Humphreys, David
Howard, L. Connecticut wits. (Mr '43)
Hundred years of medicine. Haagensen, C. D., and Lloyd, W. E. B. (N '43)
Hungary
Foreign relations
Deák, F. Hungary at the Paris peace conference. (My '43)
Hungary at the Paris peace conference. Deák, F. (My '43)
Hungry Hill. Du Maurier, D. (Ag '43)
Hungry house. Lauferty, L. (Ag '43)
Hunter's moon. Miller, H. T. (S '43)
Hunting
Lytle, J. H. Gun dogs afield. (My '43)
New England
Foster, W. H. New England grouse shooting. (Je '43)
Hurricane mystery. Schmidt, S. L. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Husky, co-pilot of the Pilgrim. Montgomery. R. G. (O '43)
Hydraulics
Binder, R. C. Fluid mechanics. (D '43)
Hydrocarbons
Burk, R. E., and Grummitt, O. J., eds. Chemical background for engine research. (N '43)
Hygiene
Funk, J. C. Stay young and live! (Ag '43)
Graham, S. A., and O'Roke, E. C. On your own. (S '43)
Long, A. I. Home health and nursing. (S '43)
Juvenile literature
Leaf, M. Health can be fun. (N '43)
Pfaffmann, M., and Stern, F. How to teach nutrition to children. (Je '43)
Hygiene, Industrial
Gafafer, W. M., ed. Manual of industrial hygiene and medical service in war industries. (N '43)
Sappington, C. O. Essentials of industrial health. (O '43)
Hymns
Jackson, G. P., ed. Down-East spirituals and others. (S '43)
Milligan, H. V., ed. Best loved hymns and prayers of the American people. (Ap '43)
Hyper and ultrahigh frequency engineering. Sarbacher, R. I., and Edson, W. A. (N '43)
Hypnotism
Estabrooks, G. H. Hypnotism. (S '43)

I am thinking of my darling. McHugh, V. (S '43)
I can go home again. Powell, A. G. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
I know Tunisia. Martin, D. B. (O '43)
I saw two Englands. Morton, H. C. V. (Ap '43)

I seek my prey in the waters. Dudley-Gordon, T. (Je '43)
I served on Bataan. Redmond, J. (Ap '43)
I smell the devil. Magoon, C. (D '43)
I took a war job. Von Miklos, J. (S '43)
I was on Corregidor. Willoughby, A. (Ag '43)
I wouldn't be in your shoes. Woolrich, C. (Je '43)
Ice before killing. Strobel, M. (N '43)
Icelandic literature, Modern
Translations into English
  Beck, R., ed. Icelandic poems and stories. (Je '43)
Icelandic poems and stories. Beck, R., ed. (Je '43)
Ickes, Harold Le Clair
  Ickes, H. L. Autobiography of a curmudgeon. (My '43)
Idealism in literature
  Stovall, F. American idealism. (My '43)
If I come home. Child, N. (D '43)
If they don't come back. Prichard, H. A. (S '43)
Illiteracy
  Laubach, F. C. Silent billion speak. (N '43)
Illustrated aviation dictionary. Jordanoff, A. (Ap '43)
Illustrated outline of weather science. Barber, C. W. (Je '43)
Immortality
  Prichard, H. A. If they don't come back. (S '43)
Immunity
  Boyd, W. C. Fundamentals of immunology. (Ag '43)
Impact of federal taxes. Magill, R. F. (Mr '43)
Impact of the war on America. Cornell university. (Je '43)
Imperial federation
  Simnett, W. E. British colonial empire. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
In and out. Robinson, T. P. (O '43)
In bed we cry. Chase, I. (D '43)
In commemoration of William James. James, W. (Ap '43))
In defense of the West. Von Beckerath, H. (O '43)
In her own hands. Monsell, H. A. (N '43)
In peace Japan breeds war. Eckstein, G. (Ap '43)
In praise of wisdom. Klatzkin, J. (D '43)
In quest of foster parents. Hutchinson, D. C. H. (S '43)
In search of maturity. Künkel, F. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
In search of myself. Natonek, H. (D '43)
In the army now. Gach, G. (Ap '43)
In the Chinese garden. Powell, F. L. (S '43)
In the days of thy youth. Miller, M. B. (O '43)
In the high Yemen. Scott, H. (Je '43)
In the steps of Moses. Golding, L. (N '43)
In time of harvest. Sinclair, J. L. (O '43)
Incident in Yorkville. Sterne, E. G. (O '43)
Income
  Barger, H. Outlay and income in the United States. (O '43)
  Bowley, A. L., ed. Studies in the national income, 1924-1938. (N '43)
Income tax
United States
  Blakely, R. G., and Johnson, V. State income taxes. (S '43)
  Magill, R. F. Impact of federal taxes. (Mr '43)
Inconstant flame. Estes, H. W. (O '43)
Inconvenient corpse. Fenwick, E. P. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Incorruptible. Coryn, M. (O '43)
Independence for India? Johnsen, J. E., comp. (S '43)
Index of Middle English verse. Brown, C. F., and Robbins, R. H. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Index to handicrafts, modelmaking, and workshop projects. Lovell, E. C., and Hall, R. M., comps. (Ag '43)
Index to indexes. Ireland, N. O. (My '43)
Index to plays in collections. Ottemiller, J. H. (D '43)
Indexes
Bibliography
  Ireland, N. O. Index to indexes. (My '43)
Indexing (machine shop practice)
  Felker, C. A., and Paine, H. W. Helical milling. (Ag '43)
India
  Collis, M. Land of the great image. (S '43)
  Hoyland, J. S. Indian crisis. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
  Moraes, F. R., and Stimson, R. Introduction to India. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
  Muir, P. This is India. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
  Raman, T. A. Report on India. (D '43)
Nationality
  Anand, M. R. Letters on India. (Je '43)
Politics and government
  Amery, L. C. M. S. India and freedom. (O '43)
  Anand, M. R. Letters on India. (Je '43)
  Barton, W. India's fateful hour. (N '43)
  Brailsford, H. N. Subject India. (N '43)
  Dutt, R. P. Problem of India. (O '43)
  Fischer, L. Empire. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
  Gangulee, N. Freedom to achieve freedom. (N '43)
  Johnsen, J. E., comp. Independence for India? (S '43)
  MacKenzie, D. India's problem can be solved. (O '43)
  Moorehead, A. Don't blame the generals. (Je '43)
  Nehru, J. Unity of India. (Ap '43)
  Raman, T. A. What does Gandhi want? (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Social life and customs
  Keenan, J. L. Steel man in India. (D '43)
India and freedom. Amery, L. C. M. S. (O '43)
Indian chief. Lockwood, M. (Je '43)
Indian crisis. Hoyland, J. S. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Indian experiences. Smith, De C. (My '43)
Indiana university
  Crawford, M. M. Student folkways and spending at Indiana university, 1940-1941. (N '43)
Indians
Antiquities
  Kelemen, P. Medieval American art. (Ag '43)
Art
  Kelemen, P. Medieval American art. (Ag '43)
Indians abroad, 1493-1938. Foreman, C. T. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Indians of North America
  Foreman, C. T. Indians abroad, 1493-1938. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
  Smith, De C. Indian experiences. (My '43)
Alaska
  Hrdlička, A. Alaska diary, 1926-1931. (S '43)
Indians of South America
Brazil
  Marchant, A. N. De A. From barter to slavery. (Ap '43)
India's fateful hour. Barton, W. (N '43)
India's problem can be solved. MacKenzie, D. (O '43)
Indigo. Weston, C. G. (N '43)
Individualism
  Flewelling, R. T. Survival of western culture. (S '43)
  Lane, R. W. Discovery of freedom. (My '43)
Industrial arts
  Schaaf, W. L., ed. Practical outline of mechanical trades for home study. (Ap '43)
Industrial chemistry. Riegel, E. R. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Industrial-commercial electrical reference. Lincoln, E. S. (O '43)
Industrial concentration and price inflexibility. Neal, A. C. (Ap '43)
Industrial electricity and wiring. 3d ed. Moyer, J. A., and Wostrel, J. F. (Ag '43)
Industrial guard's manual. Farren, H. D. (Je '43)
Industrial inspection and assembly. Whittington, E. N. (My '43)
Industrial management. Anderson, A. G., and others. (My '43)

Industrial mobilization
Corson, J. J. Manpower for victory. (Je '43)
Industrial production illustration for students, draftsmen and illustrators. Hoelscher, R. P., and others. (S '43)
Industrial psychology. Tiffin, J. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Industrial radiology. St John, A., and Isenburger, H. R. (Ag '43)
Industrial relations
Abernethy, B. R. Liberty concepts in labor relations. (S '43)
Aspley, J. C., and Whitmore, E., eds. Handbook of industrial relations. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Industrial research
Bichowsky, F. R. Industrial research. (Ap '43)
St John, A., and Isenburger, H. R. Industrial radiology. (Ag '43)
Industrial safety. Blake, R. P., ed. (N '43)
Industrial supervision. Froman, L. A., and Mason, S. B. (My '43)
Industry

Organization, control, etc.

Brady, R. A. Business as a system of power. (Mr '43)
Madge, C. Industry after the war. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Industry after the war. Madge, C. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Industry and state
Drucker, P. F. Future of industrial man. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Flamm, I. H. Economic program for a living democracy. (Ap '43)
Madge, C. Industry after the war. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Queeny, E. M. Spirit of enterprise. (S '43)
Richberg, D. R. Government and business tomorrow. (S '43)
Ruml, B. Government, business and values. (S '43)
Wriston, H. M. Challenge to freedom. (S '43)

United States

Crowther, S. Time to inquire. (Ap '43)
Infant and child in the culture of today. Gesell, A., and others. (My '43)
Infantile paralysis
Kenny, E., and Ostenso, M. And they shall walk. (O '43)
Pohl, J. F. M., and Kenny, E. Kenny concept of infantile paralysis and its treatment. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Infants
Gesell, A., and others. Infant and child in the culture of today. (My '43)

Care and hygiene

Glemser, L. C. Your first baby! (Ag '43)
Kenyon, J. H. Healthy babies are happy babies. (S '43)

Juvenile literature

Peller, L. E., and Mumford, S. W. Our new baby. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Nutrition

Glemser, L. C. Your first baby! (Ag '43)
Inflation (finance)
Fellner, W. J. Treatise on war inflation. (Je '43)
Katona, G. War without inflation. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Inherit the wind. . . Von Hesse, M. F. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Inheritance and succession
Wormser, R. A. Personal estate planning in a changing world. (Je '43)
Injunction. Ferrini, V. (S '43)
Innocent empress. Barschak, E. (S '43)
Innocent wayfaring. Chute, M. G. (S '43)
Insane

Care and treatment

Jaffary, S. K. Mentally ill and public provision for their care in Illinois. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Stern, E. M., and Hamilton, S. W. Mental illness. (Ap '43)
Insect invaders. Standen, A. (Ap '43)
Insecticides
Frear, D. E. H. Chemistry of insecticides and fungicides. (Je '43)
Schwarcz, L. Sanitary products. (D '43)
Insects

Juvenile literature

Gaul, A. T. Picture book of insects. (Je '43)
Insects, Injurious and beneficial
Standen, A. Insect invaders. (Ap '43)
Inside the F. B. I. Floherty, J. J. (S '43)
Insignia
Bunkley, J. W. Military and naval recognition book. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Insignia of the services. Brown, P. (O '43)
Insurance, Social
Cassidy, H. M. Social security and reconstruction in Canada. (S '43)
Insurance, State and compulsory
Beveridge, W. H. Pillars of security. (O '43)
Beveridge, W. H. Social insurance and allied services. (Ap '43)
Cohen, W. J., ed. War and post-war social security. (F '44) (1943 Annual) Intellect
Stoddard, G. D. Meaning of intelligence. (N '43)
Intellectual cooperation
Duggan, S. P. H. Professor at large. (D '43)
Inter-American affairs, 1941. Whitaker, A. P., ed. (Ap '43)
Interamerican statistical yearbook, 1940-1941. (N '43)
Intercultural education in American schools. Vickery, W. E., and Cole, S. G. (Ag '43)
Internal combustion engines. Polson, J. A. (Ap '43)
International cooperation
Alguy, J. S. Permanent world peace. (Je '43)
Angell, N. Let the people know. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Anshen, R. N., ed. Beyond victory. (D '43)
Bonnet, H. Outlines of the future. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Culbertson, E. Summary of the world federation plan. (Je '43)
Culbertson, E. Total peace. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Hambro, C. J. How to win the peace. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Institute on world organization. World organization. (Je '43)
Johnsen, J. E., comp. World peace plans. (N '43)
Joint commission of the council for education in world citizenship and the London international assembly. Education and the United nations. (D '43)
Millspaugh, A. C. Peace plans and American choices. (Ap '43)
Newfang, O. World government. (Je '43)
Oakeley, H. D. Should nations survive? (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Peaslee, A. J. Permanent United nations. (Ap '43)
Ranshofen-Wertheimer, E. F. Victory is not enough. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Stewart, M. S. Building for peace at home and abroad. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Straight, M. W. Make this the last war. (Mr '43)
International economic law of belligerent occupation. Feilchenfeld, E. H. (Ag '43)
International economy. Young, J. P. (Je '43)
International federation
Owen, R. B. Look forward, warrior. (My '43)
International law, Private
Nussbaum, A. Principles of private international law. (O '43)
International law and relations
Feilchenfeld, E. H. International economic law of belligerent occupation. (Ag '43)
Hemleben, S. J. Plans for world peace through six centuries. (Mr '43)
Langsam, W. C. World since 1914. (N '43)
International law of the sea. Higgins, A. P., and Colombos, C. J. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
International motion picture almanac, 1942-43. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
International protection of wild life. Hayden, S. S. (Je '43)

International steel cartel. Hexner, E. (Ag '43)
Interpretation of history. Strayer, J. R., ed. (Je '43)
Interpretative reading. Lowrey, S., and Johnson, G. E. (Ap '43)
Interpreter. Gibbs, P. H. (S '43)
Into the valley. Hersey, J. R. (Mr '43)
Intrigue. Ambler, E. (Ap '43)
Introduction to cataloging and the classification of books. Mann, M. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Introduction to circuit analysis. Knight, A. R., and Fett, G. H. (O '43)
Introduction to group therapy. Slavson, S. R. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Introduction to India. Moraes, F. R., and Stimson, R. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Introduction to modern English and American literature. Maugham, W. S., ed. (Ag '43)
Introduction to modern philosophy in six philosophical problems. Castell, A. (D '43)
Introductory shopwork. Jones, M. M., and Axelrod, A. (O '43)
Invasion! Chambers, W. (Je '43)
Invasion of Germany. Riess, C. (N '43)

Inventions
  Bichowsky, F. R. Industrial research. (Ap '43)

Inventors
  Patterson, J. C. America's greatest inventors. (S '43)

Invitation to murder. Shriber, L. S. (D '43)
Invitation to pilgrimage. Baillie, J. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)

Ions
  Lewis, W. B. Electrical counting. (Ag '43)

Iowa

Public lands
  Lokken, R. L. Iowa public land disposal. (Ap '43)

Iowa public land disposal. Lokken, R. L. (Ap '43)

Iowa state college of agriculture and mechanic arts, Ames
  Ross, E. D. History of the Iowa state college of agriculture and mechanic arts. (Je '43)

Iowa. University. Psychological laboratory
  Seashore, C. E. Pioneering in psychology. (Je '43)

Ireland

Antiquities
  Movius, H. L. Irish stone age. (S '43)

History
  Nicolson, H. G. Desire to please. (O '43)

Irish in the United States
  Driscoll, C. B. Kansas Irish. (Je '43)

Irish stone age. Movius, H. L. (S '43)

Iron

Metallurgy
  Bray, J. L. Ferrous production metallurgy. (Mr '43)

Is China a democracy? Lacy, C. (Je '43)
Is Germany incurable? Brickner, R. M. (Je '43)

Islander (sampan)
  Gessler, C. F. Leaning wind. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Islands of the Pacific
  Daniel, H. Islands of the Pacific. (Ag '43)
Islands of the Pacific. Daniel, H. (Ag '43)
Islands on guard. Follett, H. T. (Ag '43)

Isotopes
  Aston, F. W. Mass spectra and isotopes. (Ag '43)

It is still the morning. Danz, L. (N '43)

Italian or American? Child, I. L. (D '43)

Italianization of African natives. De Marco, R. R. (N '43)

Italians in the United States
  Child, I. L. Italian or American? (D '43)
  Tait, J. W. Some aspects of the effect of the dominant American culture upon children of Italian-born parents. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Italy

Colonies
  De Marco, R. R. Italianization of African natives. (N '43)

Fascist movement
  Matthews, H. L. Fruits of fascism. (N '43)

Foreign relations

Greece
  Greece. Hypourgeion tōn exōrterikōn. Greek white book. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Politics and government
  Massock, R. G. Italy from within. (Mr '43)
  Salvemini, G., and LaPiana, G. What to do with Italy. (O '43)

Italy from within. Massock, R. G. (Mr '43)
It's a cinch, Private Finch! Brown, H. (Ap '43)
It's a funny world. Williams, G., ed. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
It's all in the family. Blake, D. (Ap '43)
It's 'ard to go wrong in the cactus. Cooper, N. G. (S '43)
It's 'ard to go wrong in the suburbs. Eng title of: It's 'ard to go wrong in the cactus. Cooper, N. G. (S '43)
It's smart to be people. Price, G. (Ap '43)
It's your future, make the most of it! Panzer, M. (O '43)
It's your souls we want. Herman, S. W. (Ap '43)

Izzi, Basil Dominic
  Murphy, M. 83 days; the survival of Seaman Izzi. (O '43)

Jack Horner, and Song of sixpence. Barto, E. N. (D '43)
Jack tales. Chase, R., ed. (S '43)

Jackson, Walter Clinton
  North Carolina. University. Woman's college, Greensboro. Walter Clinton Jackson essays. (Je '43)

Jacob's ladder. Kingdon, F. (Ag '43)
Jake Home. McKenney, R. (Ap '43)

James, William
  In commemoration of William James. (Ap '43)
  Otto, M. C., and others. William James, the man and the thinker. (Je '43)

Jamie and the dump truck. Johnston, E. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Janissa. Newcomb, R. T. (N '43)

Japan
  Alcott, C. D. My war with Japan. (Ag '43)
  Byas, H. Government by assassination. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
  Goette, J. A. Japan fights for Asia. (O '43)
  Grew, J. C. Report from Tokyo. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
  Tolischus, O. D. Tokyo record. (Mr '43)

Army
  Lory, H. Japan's military masters. (Ag '43)

Civilization
  Eckstein, G. In peace Japan breeds war. (Ap '43)
  Haring, D. G. Blood on the Rising Sun. (Ag '43)

Description and travel
  McCauley, E. Y. With Perry in Japan. (My '43)
  Patric, J. Why Japan was strong. (S '43)

Foreign relations
  Greenbie, S. Asia unbound. (N '43)

United States
  Hornbeck, S. K. United States and the Far East. (Ag '43)

History, Naval
  Falk, E. A. From Perry to Pearl Harbor. (Mr '43)

Nationalism and nationality
  Holtom, D. C. Modern Japan and Shinto nationalism. (Ap '43)

Politics and government
  Haring, D. G. Blood on the Rising Sun. (Ag '43)

Religion
  Holtom, D. C. Modern Japan and Shinto Nationalism. (Ap '43)

Social life and customs
- Bache, C. Paradox isle. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
- Steiner, J. F. Behind the Japanese mask. (Ap '43)

Japan fights for Asia. Goette, J. A. (O '43)

Japanese in Manchuria
- Pernikoff, O. A. J. Bushido, the anatomy of terror. (Je '43)

Japanese in South America
- Normano, J. F., and Gerbi, A. Japanese in South America. (Ag '43)

Japanese in the United States
- Hynd, A. Betrayal from the East. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Japan's military masters. Lory, H. (Ag '43)

Jazz music
- Panassié, H. Real jazz. (My '43)

Jeeps and jests. Bairnsfather, B. (S '43)

Jefferson, Thomas
- Jefferson, T. Jefferson himself. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
- Kimball, M. G. Jefferson, the road to glory, 1743 to 1776. (My '43)
- Koch, A. Philosophy of Thomas Jefferson. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
- Mott, F. L. Jefferson and the press. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
- Van Loon, H. W. Thomas Jefferson. (My '43)

Drama
- Kingsley, S. Patriots. (S '43)

Juvenile literature
- Davis, B. E. Young Tom Jefferson's adventure chest. (Ap '43)
- Murphy, M. A. When Jefferson was young. (My '43)

Jefferson and the press. Mott, F. L. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Jefferson, the road to glory, 1743 to 1776. Kimball, M. G. (My '43)

Jenny Devlin. Kerr, S. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Jenny's secret island. Garrad, P. (Ag '43)

Jerry goes fishing. Battle, F. (My '43)

Jervis Bay, and other poems. Thwaites, M. (Ap '43)

Jessel, George Albert
- Jessel, G. A. So help me. (Je '43)

Jesus Christ
- Eddy, G. S. Portrait of Jesus. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
- Horton, W. M. Our eternal contemporary. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)

Biography
- Bible. New Testament. Gospels. One story. (D '43)

Birth
- Raymond, L. Child's story of the nativity. (O '43)

Crucifixion
- Zeitlin, S. Who crucified Jesus? (Ap '43)

Fiction
- Holmes, J. H. Second Christmas. (D '43)

Nativity

Juvenile literature
- Glover, F. R. First Christmas. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Passion
- Strodach, P. Z. Were you there? (Je '43)
- Weatherhead, L. D. Personalities of the passion. (Mr '43)

Person and offices
- Cadoux, C. J. Historic mission of Jesus. (O '43)

Teaching
- Gilmore, A. F. Christ at the peace table. (Ag '43)
- Giordani, I. Social message of Jesus. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
- Stamm, F. K. Seeing the multitudes. (S '43)

Jesus' own words. Bible. New Testament. (Ag '43)

Jewish agricultural society
- Davidson, G. Our Jewish farmers and the story of the Jewish agricultural society. (Je '43)

Jewish community. Baron, S. W. (O '43)

Jewish pioneers and patriots. Friedman, L. M. (Je '43)

Jewish population studies. Robison, S. M., and Starr, J., eds. (S '43)

Jews
- Baron, J. L., ed. Stars and sand. (O '43)

Bibliography
- Baron, S. W. Jewish community. (O '43)

Biography
- Schwarz, L. W., ed. Memoirs of my people. (Mr '43)

Liturgy and ritual
- Freehof, S. B. Small sanctuary. (O '43)

Persecution
- Trachtenberg, J. Devil and the Jews. (O '43)

Political and social conditions
- Baron, S. W. Jewish community. (O '43)
- Dushaw, A. I. Anti-Semitism. (O '43)
- Fineberg, S. A. Overcoming anti-Semitism. (Je '43)
- Trachtenberg, J. Devil and the Jews. (O '43)
- Zhabotinskii, V. E. War and the Jew. (Je '43)

Religion
- Klausner, J. From Jesus to Paul. (S '43)
- Zeitlin, S. Who crucified Jesus? (Ap '43)

Jews as farmers
- Davidson, G. Our Jewish farmers and the story of the Jewish agricultural society. (Je '43)

Jews in Palestine
- Hanna, P. L. British policy in Palestine. (Je '43)

Jews in Spain
- Neuman, A. A. Jews in Spain. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)

Jews in the United States
- Friedman, L. M. Jewish pioneers and patriots. (Je '43)
- Janowsky, O. I., ed. American Jew. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
- Robison, S. M., and Starr, J., eds. Jewish population studies. (S '43)

Job analysis
- Fryklund, V. C. Trade and job analysis. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Job instruction. Schaefer, V. G. (Je '43)

Joe Foss, flying marine. Foss, J. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Johnny on the spot. Dell, A. (Je '43)

Johnny Tremain. Forbes, E. (D '43)

Johnson, Henry
- Johnson, H. Other side of Main street. (Ap '43)

Johnston, William Preston
- Shaw, A. M. William Preston Johnston. (S '43)

Jon of the Albany Belle. Langdale, H. L. R. (Mr '43)

Jonathan's doorstep. Fernald, H. C. (O '43)

Jones, John Paul
- Lorenz, L. John Paul Jones. (S '43)

Joshua
- MacVeagh, R., and Costain, T. B. Joshua. (O '43)

Joshua Moore, American. Hummel, G. F. (Je '43)

Journal and letters. Fithian, P. V. (S '43)

Journal for Josephine. Nathan, R. (Mr '43)

Journalism
- MacNeil, N. How to be a newspaperman. (Je '43)
- Mott, F. L. Jefferson and the press. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
- Rae, W. Editing small newspapers. (Je '43)
- Wolseley, R. E., and Campbell, L. R. Exploring journalism. (N '43)

Journalists

Correspondence, reminiscences, etc.
- Abend, H. My life in China, 1926-1941. (D '43)
- Casey, R. J. Such interesting people. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Journalists—Correspondence—Continued
Oakes, V. A. White man's folly. (Mr '43)
Schulman, S. Where's Sammy? (D '43)
Sheean, V. Between the thunder and the sun. (Ap '43)
Smith, H. A. Life in a putty knife factory. (Ap '43)
Stewart, K. N. News is what we make it. (S '43)
Thompson, E. M. Leg man. (Mr '43)
Journey. Smith, R. P. (O '43)
Journey among warriors. Curie, E. (Je '43)
Journey in the dark. Flavin, M. (N '43)
Journey into America. Peattie, D. C. (N '43)
Journey into war. MacVane, J. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Judges
Calamandrei, P. Eulogy of judges. (Ap '43)
Judgment of the nations. Dawson, C. H. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Judith. Whitney, J. P. (D '43)
Judy goes sailing. Becker, C. (N '43)
Judy's farm visit. Becker, C. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Juliet dies twice. Lewis, L. (Ap '43)

Jung, Carl Gustav
Jacobi, J. Psychology of Jung. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Jungle harvest. Gill, T. (My '43)
Junior book of camping and woodcraft. Mason, B. S. (S '43)
Junior high school education. Smith, M. M., and others. (Je '43)

Junior high schools
Smith, M. M., and others. Junior high school education. (Je '43)
Just and the unjust. Cozzens, J. G. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Just before dawn. Green, A. (Ap '43)

Justice, Administration of
Pound, R. Administrative law. (O '43)

Juvenile delinquency
Carr-Saunders, A. M., and others. Young offenders. (Je '43)
Shanas, E., and Dunning, C. E. Recreation and delinquency. (N '43)
Shaw, C. R., and McKay, H. D. Juvenile delinquency and urban areas. (Ap '43)
Juvenile delinquency and urban areas. Shaw, C. R., and McKay, H. D. (Ap '43)

Kaiser, Henry J.
DeKruif, P. H. Kaiser wakes the doctors. (O '43)
Kaiser wakes the doctors. DeKruif, P. H. (O '43)

Kamala, the wolf girl
Singh, J. A. L., and Zingg, R. M. Wolf-children and Feral man. (My '43)

Kansas

History

Malin, J. C. John Brown and the legend of fifty-six. (S '43)
Kansas Irish. Driscoll, C. B. (Je '43)
Kate Fennigate. Tarkington, B. (Je '43)
Katherine Christian. Walpole, H. (Ag '43)
Kathrine. Habe, H. (O '43)
Katy and the big snow. Burton, V. L. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Keats, John
Williams, B. C. Forever young. (My '43)

Keenan, John L.
Keenan, J. L. Steel man in India. (D '43)
Keene cement craft. Radtke, O. A. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Keep 'em crawling. Upson, W. H. (Mr '43)
Kellogg treaty. See Pact of Paris, 1928

Kendall, George Wilkins
Copeland, F. Kendall of the Picayune. (Ag '43)

Kenna, Michael
Wendt, L., and Kogan, H. Lords of the Levee. (Mr '43)

Kenny, Elizabeth
Kenny, E., and Ostenso, M. And they shall walk. (O '43)
Kenny concept of infantile paralysis and its treatment. Pohl, J. F. M., and Kenny, E. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Kenton, Simon

Juvenile literature

Clark, T. D. Simon Kenton, Kentucky scout. (Je '43)
Kentucky poor law. Sunley, E. M. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Keokuk, Sauk chief
Lockwood, M. Indian chief. (Je '43)

Keweenaw Peninsula, Michigan
Murdoch, A. Boom copper. (My '43)

Key, Francis Scott

Juvenile literature

Holland, R. S. Freedom's flag. (S '43)

Keynes, John Maynard
Marget, A. W. Theory of prices, v2. (My '43)
Keystone kids. Tunis, J. R. (O '43)
Khaki is more than a color. Marsden, M. H. E. (Je '43)

Kierkegaard, Søren Aabye
Lowrie, W. Short life of Kierkegaard. (Ap '43)
Kiki and Muffy. Steiner, C. (D '43)
Kilgour's mare. Lamond, H. G. (N '43)
Killers all! Gatti, A. (S '43)

Kingdom of God
Cadoux, C. J. Historic mission of Jesus. (O '43)
Rand, H. B. Digest of the divine law. (Ag '43)

Kingdon, Frank
Kingdon, F. Jacob's ladder. (Ag '43)

Kipling, Rudyard
Carpenter, L. R. Rudyard Kipling, a friendly profile. (S '43)
Kitty. Marshall, R. V. (D '43)
Klondike Mike. Denison, M. (My '43)
Knave of diamonds. Marks, P. (S '43)
Knight of the wilderness. Shore, M., and Oblinger, M. M. (Je '43)
Knoll island. Chamberlain, G. A. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Knots and splices
Kennedy, W. J. Pre-service course in shop practice. (Je '43)
Know your navy now! Ford, F. A. (S '43)
Knowing the weather. Longstreth, T. M. (D '43)

Knox, John Clark
Knox, J. C. Order in the court. (Je '43)

Koo, Hui-lan (Oei)
Koo, H. O. Hui-lan-Koo. (N '43)
Kouroi. Richter, G. M. A. and I. A. (N '43)

Kulturkampf
Kolbeck, Sister Orestes. American opinion on the kulturkampf. (N '43)

Labor and laboring classes
Myers, J. Do you know labor? (S '43)
Taft, P. Economics and problems of labor. (D '43)

Education

Schwarztrauber, E. E. Workers' education. (D '43)

England

De Schweinitz, K. England's road to social security. (O '43)

Europe

Sturmthal, A. F. Tragedy of European labor, 1918-1939. (Je '43)

Germany

Oppenheimer-Bluhm, H. Standard of living of German labor under Nazi rule. (O '43)

Great Britain

Scheu, F. J. British labor and the Beveridge plan. (S '43)

New Haven

McConnell, J. W. Evolution of social classes. (My '43)

Russia

Hubbard, L. E. Soviet labour and industry. (S '43)

United States

Fabricant, S. Employment in manufacturing, 1899-1939. (S '43)

Labor contract

Pierson, F. C. Collective bargaining systems. (Je '43)
Robbins, J. J. Government of labor relations in Sweden. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)

Labor laws and legislation

Eby, H. O. Labor relations act in the courts. (Je '43)

Sweden

Robbins, J. J. Government of labor relations in Sweden. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)

United States

Abernethy, B. R. Liberty concepts in labor relations. (S '43)

Labor relations act in the courts. Eby, H. O. (Je '43)
Laboratory manual for chemical and bacterial analysis of water and sewage. Theroux, F. R., and others. (N '43)
Laboratory manual of explosive chemistry. Olsen, A. L., and Greene, J. W. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Labor's voice in the cabinet. Lombardi, J. (My '43)

La Cloche, James de

Fiction

Pilgrim, D. Grand design. (O '43)

Ladder of progress in Palestine. McCown, C. C. (N '43)
Lady and the Tigers. Greenlaw, O. S. (O '43)
Lady in a million. Shane, S. (S '43)
Lady in a wedding dress. Shane, S. (Ap '43)
Lady in the lake. Chandler, R. (D '43)
Lady in waiting. Gallagher, R. (S '43)
Lady means business. Buchanan, A. (Mr '43)
Lamps of liberty. Pellowe, W. C. S. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Land hunger. Rister, C. C. (Mr '43)
Land I live. Longstreet, S. (Ap '43)
Land of cotton, and other plays. Edmonds, R. (My '43)
Land of suspense. Berggrav, E. J. (N '43)
Land of the great image. Collis, M. (S '43)
Land of the Polish people. Kelly, E. P. (N '43)

Land utilization

Van Dersal, W. R. American land. (O '43)

Land where time stands still. Miller, M. (My '43)
Land workers. Masefield, J. (Ap '43)

Landscape gardening

Chase, I. W. U. Horace Walpole: gardenist. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Language and languages

Study and teaching

Kaulfers, W. V., and others, eds. Foreign languages and cultures in American education. (Ap '43)

Lao Tzŭ

Maurer, H. Old Fellow. (Je '43)

Larks of Umbria. Schimberg, A. P. (My '43)
Last boat from Beyrouth. Brier, R. (Je '43)
Last days of Sevastopol. Voitekhov, B. I. (Je '43)
Last flight from Singapore. Donahue, A. G. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Last inspection. Lewis, A. (S '43)
Last man. Kees, W. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Last man off Wake island. Bayler, W. L. J. (Je '43)
Last of summer. O'Brien, K. (My '43)
Last poems of Elinor Wylie. Wylie, E. H. (Ap '43)
Late and soon. De La Pasture, E. E. M. (Ag '43)

Lathes

Whipple, G. G., and Baudek, A. C. Engine lathe operations. (O '43)

Latin America

Beals, C. Rio Grande to Cape Horn. (O '43)
Carlson, F. A. Geography of Latin America. (D '43)
Downes, J. E., and others. Latin America and hemisphere solidarity. (N '43)
Inman, S. G. Latin America. (Ap '43)
New world guides to the Latin American republics, v 1. (Je '43)
New world guides to the Latin American republics, v2. (O '43)

Civilization

Hilton, R., ed. Handbook of Hispanic source materials and research organizations in the United States. (Ap '43)

Commerce

Olson, P. R., and Hickman, C. A. Pan American economics. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Description and travel

Platt, R. S. Latin America, countrysides and united regions. (Mr '43)
Tomlinson, E. Other Americans. (S '43)

Economic conditions

Olson, P. R., and Hickman, C. A. Pan American economics. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Foreign relations

Quintanilla, L. A Latin American speaks. (Mr '43)

United States

Bemis, S. F. Latin American policy of the United States. (Je '43)
Callcott, W. H. Caribbean policy of the United States, 1890-1920. (Ap '43)

History

Goetz, D. Half a hemisphere. (My '43)
Robertson, W. S. History of the Latin-American nations. (N '43)

Bibliography

Wilgus, A. C. Histories and historians of Hispanic America. (Ap '43)

Relations (general) with United States

Reynolds, T. H., ed. Progress of Pan Americanism. (D '43)
White, J. W. Our good neighbor hurdle. (O '43)

Latin America and hemisphere solidarity. Downes, J. E., and others. (N '43)
Latin America, countrysides and united regions. Platt, R. S. (Mr '43)
Latin American policy of the United States. Bemis, S. F. (Je '43)
Latin American speaks. Quintanilla, L. (Mr '43)

Latin literature

Translations into English

Guinagh, K., and Dorjahn, A. P., eds. Latin literature in translation. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Latin literature in translation. Guinagh, K., and Dorjahn, A. P., eds. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Lauder, Sir Harry

Juvenile literature

Malvern, G. Valiant minstrel. (D '43)

Laura. Caspary, V. (Mr '43)

Law

Holmes, O. W. Mind and faith of Justice Holmes. (Je '43)

Philosophy

Hamburger, M. Awakening of Western legal thought. (Ap '43)

Law and liability in pupil transportation. Punke, H. H. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Law of civilization and decay. Adams, B. (S '43)
Law of property in Shakespeare and the Elizabethan drama. Clarkson, P. S., and Warren, C. T. (Ag '43)
Lawn games. Tunis, J. R. (S '43)

Lawrence, William, bp.

Sherrill, H. K. William Lawrence. (My '43)

Lawyers

Calamandrei, P. Eulogy of judges. (Ap '43)

Correspondence, reminiscences, etc.

Allman, N. F. Shanghai lawyer. (N '43)
Knox, J. C. Order in the court. (Je '43)
Voelker, J. D. Troubleshooter. (Ap '43)

Lays of the new land. Simon, C. M. H. (My '43)

Lead a song! Wilson, H. R. (Ag '43)
Leadership
Baxter, B., and Cassidy, R. F. Group experience. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Cope, H. F. Command at sea. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Copeland, N. Psychology and the soldier. (S '43)
Pennington, L. A., and others. Psychology of military leadership. (Ag '43)
Reed, P. B. Personal leadership for combat officers. (O '43)
Leadership and isolation. Jennings, H. H. (N '43)
League of nations
Alguy, J. S. Permanent world peace. (Je '43)
Institute on world organization. World organization. (Je '43)
Robinson, J., and others. Were the minorities treaties a failure? (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Leaning wind. Gessler, C. F. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Learning, Psychology of
Bergen, C. M. Some sources of children's science information. (N '43)
Learning to care for children. Bradbury, D. E., and Amidon, E. P. (O '43)
Leather
Smith, P. I. Principles and processes of light leather manufacture. (D '43)
Leathernecks. Boswell, R. (N '43)
Leaves from an old Washington diary, 1854-1863. Lomax, E. V. L. (D '43)
Lectures and lecturing
Popular educator library. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Lee's lieutenants; v. 2, Cedar mountain to Chancellorsville. Freeman, D. S. (My '43)
Leg man. Thompson, E. M. (Mr '43)
Legacy of Egypt. Glanville, S. R. K., ed. (Mr '43)
Legacy of Nazism. Munk, F. (S '43)
Legacy of the liberal spirit. Bratton, F. G. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Legends
Frost, F. M., ed. Legends of the United nations. (N '43)
Ireland
Colum, P. Frenzied prince. (D '43)
Legends of the United nations. Frost, F. M., ed. (N '43)
Leighton, Ann
Leighton, A. While we are absent. (Je '43)
Lena hates men. Neville, M. (Je '43)
Lenses
Twyman, F. Prism and lens making. (D '43)
Leonardo da Vinci. Leonardo da Vinci; ed. by Goldscheider. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Lessons of my life. Vansittart, R. G. V. (N '43)
Let the people know. Angell, N. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Let's arrange flowers. Dunlop, H. P. (S '43)
Let's make more things. Zarchy, H. (My '43)
Letter from New Guinea. Haugland, V. (Ag '43)
Letter writing
Reeder, G. A. Letter writing in wartime. (O '43)
Letter writing in wartime. Reeder, G. A. (O '43)
Lettering
Field, W. B. Introduction to architectural drawing. (Ag '43)
Letters
Maule, H. E., ed. Book of war letters. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Wise, J. W., ed. Very truly ours. (D '43)
Letters from England, summer 1942. Banning, M. C. (Ap '43)
Letters from the Argentine. Herron, F. (O '43)
Letters on India. Anand, M. R. (Je '43)
Letters to his mother. Wolfe, T. (Je '43)
Levant
Commerce
France
Puryear, V. J. France and the Levant from the Bourbon restoration to the peace of Kutiah. (Ap '43)
Level land. De Jong, D. (D '43)
Levinson, Salmon Oliver
Stoner, J. E. S. O. Levinson and the Pact of Paris. (S '43)
Liberal education. Van Doren, M. (D '43)
Liberal education re-examined. American council of learned societies. (N '43)
Liberal mind of John Morley. Staebler, W. I. (F '44) (1943 Annual) Liberal theology. Roberts, D. E., and Van Dusen, H. P., eds. (F '44) (1943 Annual) Liberalism
Bratton, F. G. Legacy of the liberal spirit. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Liberalism (religion)
Horton, W. M. Theology in transition. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Roberts, D. E., and Van Dusen, H. P., eds. Liberal theology. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Sanders, C. R. Coleridge and the Broad church movement. (Je '43)
Liberia
Furbay, E. J. D. Top hats and tom-toms. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Hayman, A. I., and Preece, H. Lighting up Liberia. (Ap '43)
Liberty
Abernethy, B. R. Liberty concepts in labor relations. (S '43)
Lane, R. W. Discovery of freedom. (My '43)
Mackinnon, J. History of modern liberty, v 4. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Maritain, J. Rights of man and natural law. (S '43)
Molendyk, C. A., and Edwards, B. C., eds. Thus be it ever. (Ap '43)
Perry, C. M., ed. Philosophy of American democracy. (O '43)
Poteat, E. M. Four freedoms and God. (O '43)
Liberty concepts in labor relations. Abernethy, B. R. (S '43)
Liberty for Johanny. Wonsetler, A. H. and J. C. (D '43)
Librarian and his committee. Savage, E. A. (S '43)
Librarian and the teacher of music. Bohman, E. L., and Dillon, J. K. (Ap '43)
Librarian and the teacher of science. Siebens, C. R. P., and Bartlett, W. L. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Librarians
Who's who in library service. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Libraries
Rossell, B. S. Public libraries in the life of the nation. (S '43)
Instruction in use
Flexner, J. M. Making books work. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Reference department
Chicago. University. Graduate library school. Library institute. Reference function of the library. (Je '43)
Northwest, Pacific
Van Male, J. Resources of Pacific Northwest libraries. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
United States
Manley, M. C. Public library service to business. (Je '43)
Libraries, Children's
Power, E. L. Work with children in public libraries. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Libraries, University and college
Lowell, M. H. College and university library consolidations. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Library administration
Savage, E. A. Librarian and his committee. (S '43)
Library cooperation
Lowell, M. H. College and university library consolidations. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Libya
Askew, W. C. Europe and Italy's acquisition of Libya. (S '43)
Life
Berman, L. Behind the universe. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Smith, T. V. Philosophic way of life in America. (O '43)
Life (biology)
Glass, H. B. Genes and the man. (D '43)
Life and times of Simón Bolívar. Van Loon, H. W. (D '43)

Life and works of Beethoven. Burk, J. N. (Ag '43)
Life in a putty knife factory. Smith, H. A. (Ap '43)
Life in unoccupied France. Lytton, N. S. (S '43)
Life is too short. Wellman, F. G. (N '43)
Life of Johnny Reb. Wiley, B. I. (Ap '43)
Life out there. Bartek, J. F., and Pardue, A. (Ag '43)
Life together. Hope, W. (D '43)
Life with father and mother. Day, C. S. (O '43)
Light
  Bowen, E. J. Chemical aspects of light. (Je '43)
  Hector, L. G., and others. Electronic physics. (N '43)
Light in the window. Walters, J. (S '43)
Lighting up Liberia. Hayman, A. I., and Preece, H. (Ap '43)
Lightning in the sky. Mann, C. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Lights around the shore. Weidman, J. (Je '43)
Lillian Harley. Cockrell, M. B. (O '43)
Lilly Crackell. Slade, C. B. (Ag '43)
Lincoln, Abraham
  Carman, H. J., and Luthin, R. H. Lincoln and the patronage. (Ag '43)
  Kincaid, R. L. Joshua Fry Speed, Abraham Lincoln's most intimate friend. (N '43)
  Pratt, H. E. Personal finances of Abraham Lincoln. (Ag '43)
  Wall, B. Following Abraham Lincoln. (S '43)
    Juvenile literature
  Daugherty, J. H. Abraham Lincoln. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
    Poetry
  Brinnin, J. M. Lincoln lyrics. (My '43)
Lincoln, Mrs Mary (Todd)
    Fiction
  Colver, A. Mr Lincoln's wife. (Je '43)
Lincoln and the patronage. Carman, H. J., and Luthin, R. H. (Ag '43)
Lincoln lyrics. Brinnin, J. M. (My '43)
Linda Marsh. De Leeuw, A. L. (D '43)
Lineman's handbook. Kurtz, E. B. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Lipoids
  Bloor, W. R. Biochemistry of the fatty acids and their compounds. (N '43)
Lisa, Manuel
    Fiction
  Seifert, S. Those who go against the current. (N '43)
Listen, Germany! Mann, T. (Mr '43)
Listen, Hans. Thompson, D. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Listen Hitler! Hogan, I. (Ag '43)
Listeners. Whiting, H. (Mr '43)
Literary journey through wartime Britain. Ward, A. C. (F '44) (1943 Annual) Literary landmarks
    Great Britain
  Ward, A. C. Literary journey through wartime Britain. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Literary market place, 1943. (Ag '43)
Literature
    Collections
  Mann, K., and Kesten, H., eds. Heart of Europe. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
  Molendyk, C. A., and Edwards, B. C., eds. Thus be it ever. (Ap '43)
  Paulmier, H. C., and Schauffler, R. H., eds. Pan-American day. (My '43)
  Readers club, New York. Three readers. (S '43)
  Vogue (periodical). Vogue's first reader. (My '43)
  Woods, R. L., ed. Treasury of the familiar. (Ap '43)
    Dictionaries, indexes, etc.
  Shipley, J. T., ed. Dictionary of world literature. (S '43)
    Study and teaching
  Shoemaker, F. Aesthetic experience and the humanities. (S '43)
Literature, Comparative
  Brown, A. C. L. Origin of the Grail legend. (D '43)
  Wormley, S. L. Heine in England. (Ag '43)
Literature abstracts of ceramic glazes. Koenig, J. H., and Earhart, W. H. (Je '43)
Literature and life in America. Miles, D. H., and Pooley, R. C., eds. (S '43)
Literature of England. Entwistle, W. J., and Gillett, E. W. (S '43)
Lithographers
  Zigrosser, C. Artist in America. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Little angel. Dalgliesh, A. (D '43)
Little builders' A B C. Reppy, N. (D '43)
Little cat lost. Garner, E. (D '43)
Little China. Brodrick, A. H. (Mr '43)
Little locksmith. Hathaway, K. B. (N '43)
Little magic horse. Ershov, P. P. (Mr '43)
Little Navajo bluebird. Clark, A. N. (My '43)
Little prince. Saint Exupéry, A. de. (My '43)
Little stray dog. DeJong, M. (S '43)
Little woman wanted noise. Teal, V. (Je '43)
Littlefield, George Washington
  Haley, J. E. George W. Littlefield, Texan. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Liturgy and personality. Hildebrand, D. von. (Je '43)
Litvinov, Maksim
  Pope, A. U. Maxim Litvinoff. (N '43)
Live stock
  Chapman, P. W. Victory barnyard. (N '43)
Living biographies. Schnittkind, H. T. and D. A. (O '43)
Living democracy. Hough, L. H. (Ag '43)
Living musicians. Ewen, D., ed. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Living thoughts of Clausewitz. Clausewitz, K., von. (Je '43)
Local historians of Attica. Pearson, L. (S '43)
Locusts. Schrag, O. (D '43)
Log book. Laskier, F. (O '43)
Logic
  Kapp, E. Greek foundations of traditional logic. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
London
    Description
  Jones, S. R. London triumphant. (Ag '43)
    Fire, 1666
    Poetry
  Aubin, R. A., ed. London in flames, London in glory. (Ag '43)
London in flames, London in Glory. Aubin, R. A., ed. (Ag '43)
London triumphant. Jones, S. R. (Ag '43)
Lone boy. Hubbard, M. A. (N '43)
Lone woodsman. Miller, W. H. (O '43)
Lonely apples. Phillips, G. S. (Je '43)
Lonely Midas. Wildes, H. E. (D '43)
Lonely ones. Steig, W. (Ap '43)
Lonely trail. Gregory, J. (Ag '43)
Lonesome River justice. Hankins, R. M. (My '43)
Long, Zadoc
  Long, Z. From the journal of Zadoc Long. (N '43)
Long, long ago. Woollcott, A. (D '43)
Long were the nights. Cave, H. B. (D '43)
Longfellow, Henry Wadsworth
    Song of Hiawatha
  Osborn, C. S. and S. B. Schoolcraft, Longfellow, Hiawatha. (My '43)
Look forward, warrior. Owen, R. B. (My '43)
Look out yonder. Angelo, V. (D '43)
Look your last. Tillett, D. S. (D '43)
Looking ahead fifty years. Babson, R. W. (My '43)
Looking-glass. Campbell, W. E. M. (Mr '43)
Lords of the Levee. Wendt, L., and Kogan, H. (Mr '43)
Lord's supper
  Leeson, S. Holy communion. (Je '43)
Louisiana
    Description and travel
  Kane, H. T. Bayous of Louisiana. (N '43)
    History
  Bragg, J. D. Louisiana in the confederacy. (Ap '43)
Louisiana in the confederacy. Bragg, J. D. (Ap '43)

Love
  Cohn, D. L. Love in America. (Je '43)
Love at first flight. Spalding, C. F., and Carney, O. (S '43)
Love in America. Cohn, D. L. (Je '43)
Love leaves no choice. Thompson, S. (S '43)
Lowe, Fat Yuen
  Lowe, P. Father and Glorious Descendant. (My '43)
Lowe, Frank Melville
  Lowe, F. M. Warrior lawyer. (Ap '43)
Lowndes, Marie Adelaide (Belloc)
  Lowndes, M. A. B. Where love and friendship dwelt. (O '43)
Lubrication. Norton, A. E. (O '43)
Lubrication and lubricants
  Burk, R. E., and Grummitt, O. J., eds. Chemical background for engine research. (N '43)
  Norton, A. E. Lubrication. (O '43)
Luce, Mrs Clare (Boothe). See Boothe, C.
Lucullus, Lucius Licinius
  Drama
  Brecht, B. Trial of Lucullus. (S '43)
Lucy Ellen's college daze. Wright, F. F. (D '43)
Luftwaffe. Hermann, H. (Ag '43)
Lumber
  Juvenile literature
  Writers' program, Pennsylvania. Lumber. (My '43)
Lumber trade
  Horn, S. F. This fascinating lumber business. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Lumbering
  Horn, S. F. This fascinating lumber business. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Lumberjack Bill. Tousey, S. (Je '43)
Lutheran church
  Doctrinal and controversial works
  Luther, M. Compend of Luther's theology. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Lydenberg, Harry Miller
  Bookmen's holiday. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Lyman, Eugene William
  Roberts, D. E., and Van Dusen, H. P., eds. Liberal theology. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Machiavellians, defenders of freedom. Burnham, J. (Je '43)
Machine design. Hyland, P. H., and Kommers, J. B. (Ag '43)
Machine shop practice
  Amiss, J. M., and others. Shop mathematics and shop theory. (Ag '43)
  Burnham, R. W. Mathematics for machinists. (S '43)
  Dick, A. A. Shop mathematics. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
  Dwight, C. Reading blueprints in the machine industries. (N '43)
  Herb, C. O. Machine tools at work. (Ap '43)
  Jones, M. M., and Axelrod, A. Introductory shopwork. (O '43)
  Keal, H. M., and Leonard, C. J. Essential mathematics for skilled workers. (Ap '43)
  Kennedy, W. J. Pre-service course in shop practice. (Je '43)
  Knight, R. E. Machine shop projects for trade, vocational, and high school shops. (D '43)
  Ludwig, O. A. Metalwork, technology and practice. (S '43)
  Owens, A. A., and others. Fundamentals of shopwork. (Ag '43)
  Schaaf, W. L. Mathematics for mechanics. (Je '43)
  Shuman, J. T., and others. Fundamental shop training, for those preparing for war service. (Je '43)
  Swartz, D. J., and others. Fundamentals of shopwork. (D '43)
  Weir, J. J. Elementary mathematics for the machine trades. (S '43)
  Whittington, E. N. Industrial inspection and assembly. (My '43)
  Wicks, E. C., and others. Shopwork. (My '43)
  Wilking, S. V., and Cushman, D. J. Test yourself for a war job. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
  Willoughby, G. A., and Lappinen, M. Elements of shop drawing. (D '43)
  Wolfe, J. H., and others. Simplified industrial mathematics. (Je '43)
Machine shop projects for trade, vocational, and high school shops. Knight, R. E. (D '43)
Machine tool primer. Herbert D. Hall foundation. (D '43)
Machine tools
  Donaldson, C., and LeCain, G. H. Tool design. (Je '43)
  Herb, C. O. Machine tools at work. (Ap '43)
  Herbert D. Hall foundation. Machine tool primer. (D '43)
  Molloy, E., ed. Automatics in engineering production. (S '43)
Machine tools at work. Herb, C. O. (Ap '43)
Machinery
  Dull, C. E., and Newlin, I. G. Fundamentals of machines. (Je '43)
  Joseph, A. Fundamentals of machines. (Je '43)
  Lebowitz, S. H. Pre-service course in machine science. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
  Prageman, I. H. Mechanism. (Je '43)
  Verwiebe, F. L., and others. Elements of machines. (Ap '43)
  Design
  Hyland, P. H., and Kommers, J. B. Machine design. (Ag '43)
Machinery, Automatic
  Molloy, E., ed. Automatics in engineering production. (S '43)
Machinery, Kinematics of
  Clark, J. A., and others. Fundamentals of machines. (S '43)
  Lebowitz, S. H. Pre-service course in machine science. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Machinery in industry
  Riegel, J. W. Management, labor and technological change. (N '43)
McKay, Donald
  Juvenile literature
  Judson, C. I. Donald McKay. (D '43)
Mackenzie, Sir Alexander
  Juvenile literature
  Shore, M., and Oblinger, M. M. Knight of the wilderness. (Je '43)
McMaster, John Bach
  Goldman, E. F. John Bach McMaster. (Je '43)
McSorley's wonderful saloon. Mitchell, J. (S '43)
Macy, R.H., and company, New York
  Hower, R. M. History of Macy's of New York. (S '43)
Madagascar
  James, S. South of the Congo. (Mr '43)
Made in Canada. Bonner, M. G. (N '43)
Made in China. Spencer, C. (D '43)
Magellan, Ferdinand
  Juvenile literature
  Kent, L. A. We went with Magellan. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Maggie no doubt. Wadelton, M. J. M. (D '43)
Magic. Mussey, J. B. (Ap '43)
Magic makes murder. Campbell, H. R. (My '43)
Magical realm. Coyle, K. (Mr '43)
Magnesium
  Juvenile literature
  Strack, L. H. Magnesium: a magic mineral. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Magnetic circuits and transformers. Massachusetts institute of technology. Department of electrical engineering. (O '43)
Magnetism
  Massachusetts institute of technology. Department of electrical engineering. Magnetic circuits and transformers. (O '43)
Magnitogorsk, Russia
  Scott, J. Behind the Urals. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)

Maguire, William Augustus
  Maguire, W. A. Captain wears a cross. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Mahoney, Michael Ambrose
  Denison, M. Klondike Mike. (My '43)
Main currents in American history. Gabriel, R. H. (Ag '43)
Main currents in English history. Klingberg, F. J. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Maine
Description and travel
  Richmond, B. Winter harbor. (O '43)
Social life and customs
  Graham, E. M. Our way down East. (O '43)
Views
  Jennison, K. W. Maine idea. (Je '43)
Maine idea. Jennison, K. W. (Je '43)
Mainstream. Basso, H. (D '43)
Majority rule and minority rights. Commager, H. S. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Majors, Alexander
  Hawthorne, H. Ox-team miracle. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Make or buy. Culliton, J. W. (D '43)
Make this the last war. Straight, M. W. (Mr '43)
Makers of modern strategy. Earle, E. M., and others, eds. (D '43)
Making books work. Flexner, J. M. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Making of America. War services program, Pennsylvania. (Ap '43)
Making of modern Britain. Brebner, J. B., and Nevins, A. (Ag '43)
Making of modern New Guinea. Reed, S. W. (O '43)
Malaya
  Thompson, V. M. Postmortem on Malaya. (Mr '43)
Malta epic. Beith, J. H. (D '43)
Malta magnificent. Gerard, F. (N '43)
Malta spitfire. Beurling, G. F., and Roberts, L. (S '43)
Malta story. Coffin, H. M. (S '43)
Mama's bank account. Forbes, K. (My '43)
Mammals
  Cahalane, V. H. Meeting the mammals. (S '43)
  Hamilton, W. J. Mammals of eastern United States. (S '43)
Mammals of eastern United States. Hamilton, W. J. (S '43)
Man
  Berman, L. Behind the universe. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
  Conklin, E. G. Man, real and ideal. (N '43)
  Guyer, M. F. Speaking of man. (Ap '43)
  Kahler, E. Man the measure. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
  Kahn, F. Man in structure and function. (My '43)
  Niebuhr, R. Nature and destiny of man, 2d ser. (My '43)
Man and a school. Doggett, L. L. (D '43)
Man and his works. Thorndike, E. L. (D '43)
Man and resources in the middle Rio Grande valley. Harper, A. G., and others. (N '43)
Man and society in calamity. Sorokin, P. A. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Man behind the flight. Jordanoff, A. (Ap '43)
Man from Painted Rock. Gregory, J. (O '43)
Man in structure and function. Kahn, F. (My '43)
Man in the air. Zim, H. S. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Man next door. Eberhart, M. G. (Je '43)
Man o' War (race horse)
  Anderson, C. W. Big Red. (D '43)
Man of Malice Landing. Roberts, D. J. (S '43)
Man of Molokai. Roos, A. (Je '43)
Man, real and ideal. Conklin, E. G. (N '43)
Man the measure. Kahler, E. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Man tracks. Foster, B. (Ag '43)
Man who loved lions. Eng title of: Man who was not there. White, E. L. (N '43)
Man who sold Louisiana. Lyon, E. W. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Man who was not there. White, E. L. (N '43)
Man with the monocle. Weston, G. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Management, labor and technological change. Riegel, J. W. (N '43)
Managing your mind. Kraines, S. H., and Thetford, E. S. (S '43)
Manoel and the Morning Star. Peck, A. M. (Je '43)
Manpower for victory. Corson, J. J. (Je '43)
Manrique, Sebastiao
  Collis, M. Land of the great image. (S '43)
Man's food. Graubard, M. A. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Man's most dangerous myth. Ashley-Montagu, M. F. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Man's physical universe. Bawden, A. T. (O '43)
Man's poor relations. Hooton, E. A. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Manual for aviation cadets. Hoyt, J. R. (O '43)
Manual for instruction in military maps and aerial photographs. Maclean, N. F., and Olson, E. C. (O '43)
Manual of aircraft materials and manufacturing processes. Wells, T. A. (Ap '43)
Manual of explosives, military pyrotechnics, and chemical warfare agents. Bebie, J. (Je '43)
Manual of industrial hygiene and medical service in war industries. Gafafer, W. M., ed. (N '43)
Manual of laboratory glass-blowing. Wright, R. H. (D '43)
Manual of mechanical movements. Clark, W. M., ed. (N '43)
Manual of ship construction. Manning, G. C. (Je '43)
Manuel's kite string. Austin, M. (My '43)
Manuscripts
  Michigan. University. William L. Clements library of American history. Guide to the manuscript collections in the Library, by Howard H. Peckham. (Ap '43)
Many moons. Thurber, J. (O '43)
Map and aerial photograph reading, complete. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Map interpretation with military applications. Putnam, W. C. (Je '43)
Map of my country. Holmes, J. A. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Map reading and avigation. Field, R. M., and Stetson, H. T. (Ap '43)
Maps
  Field, R. M., and Stetson, H. T. Map reading and avigation. (Ap '43)
  Flexner, W. W., and Walker, G. L. Military and naval maps and grids. (Je '43)
  Putnam, W. C. Map interpretation with military applications. (Je '43)
  Serial map service, v 1. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
  Serial map service atlas. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Maps, Military
  Maclean, N. F., and Olson, E. C. Manual for instruction in military maps and aerial photographs. (O '43)
  Map and aerial photograph reading, complete. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
March of medicine, 1942. New York academy of medicine. (S '43)
March to liberation. Simon, Y. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Marching to Jerusalem. Holberg, R L. (D '43)
Marcion, of Sinope
  Knox, J. Marcion and the New Testament. (Ap '43)
Marcion and the New Testament. Knox, J. (Ap '43)
Marconi, Guglielmo, marchese
  Coe, D. Marconi, pioneer of radio. (S '43)
Marcos de Niza
  Farnum, M. A. Seven golden cities. (N '43)
Maria. De Capite, M. (Mr '43)
Marine electric power. Newman, Q. B. (N '43)
Marine engine and fire room guide. Jacobs, R. H., and Cady, E. L. (Je '43)
Marine engineering
  Dinger, H. C., comp. Questions and answers for marine engineers. (S '43)
  Ford, L. R. Practical marine Diesel engineering. (Je '43)
  Jacobs, R. H., and Cady, E. L. Marine engine and fire room guide. (Je '43)
  Labberton, J. M. Marine engineering. (S '43)
  Osbourne, A., and others, eds. Modern marine engineer's manual. (Ag '43)
Marine engines
  Dinger, H. C., comp. Questions and answers for marine engineers. (S '43)

- Marine fauna
  - Juvenile literature
    - Guberlet, M. L. Seashore parade. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
- Marines at war. Crane, A., ed. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
- Marionettes
  - Green, D. S. Masks and puppets. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
- Maritime law
  - Higgins, A. P., and Colombos, C. J. International law of the sea. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
- Mark Pfeiffer, M.D. Weld, J. (My '43)
- Market surveys
  - Blankenship, A. B. Consumer and opinion research. (N '43)
- Marketing
  - Reid, M. G. Consumers and the market. (N '43)
- Marlborough, John Churchill, 1st duke of
  - Colby, E. Masters of mobile warfare. (O '43)
- Marlowe, Christopher
  - Bakeless, J. E. Tragicall history of Christopher Marlowe. (Ag '43) (1943 Annual)
- Marriage
  - Alsop, G. F., and McBride, M. F. Arms and the girl. (N '43)
  - Becker, H., and Hill, R. L., eds. Marriage and the family. (Ap '43)
  - Cohn, D. L. Love in America. (Je '43)
  - Drummond, L. W. Youth and instruction in marriage and family living. (Je '43)
  - Folsom, J. K. Family and democratic society. (Ag '43)
  - Goldstein, S. E. Meaning of marriage and foundations of the family. (Je '43)
  - Hope, W. Life together. (D '43)
  - Jordan, H. M., ed. You and marriage. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
- Marriage and the family. Becker, H., and Hill, R. L., eds. (Ap '43)
- Marriage law
  - Fishman, N. Married woman's bill of rights. (O '43)
- Married woman's bill of rights. Fishman, N. (O '43)
- Marsh, James
  - Wells, R. V. Three Christian transcendentalists. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
- Mary darlin'. Wise, E. V. (O '43)
- Mary Poppins opens the door. Travers, P. L. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
- Masaryk, Tomáš Garrigue
  - Seton-Watson, R. W. Masaryk in England. (Je '43)
- Masaryk in England. Seton-Watson, R. W. (Je '43)
- Masks
  - Green, D. S. Masks and puppets. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
- Masquerade mystery. Wadsworth, L. A. (Je '43)
- Mass spectra and isotopes. Aston, F. W. (Ag '43)
- Massachusetts
  - Description and travel
    - Marlowe, G. F. Old Bay paths. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
  - History
    - Colonial period
      - Andrews, M. P. Soul of a nation. (O '43)
- Master homecraft projects. Raeth, G. A. (Ap '43)
- Master mariner. Connolly, J. B. (Ap '43)
- Masters of mobile warfare. Colby, E. (O '43)
- Masterson. Wichelns, L. (My '43)
- Material handling
  - Stocker, H. E. Materials handling. (S '43)
- Materials and methods of architectural construction. Gay, C. M., and Parker, H. E. (D '43)
- Materials handling. Stocker, H. E. (S '43)
- Materials of construction. Fryklund, V. C., and Sechrest, C. H. (O '43)
- Mathematics
  - Amiss, J. M., and others. Shop mathematics and shop theory. (Ag '43)
  - Ayres, F. Basic mathematics for aviation. (O '43)
  - Bradley, A. D. Mathematics of air and marine navigation. (My '43)
  - Buchan, A. F., and Borthwick, R. Aviation mathematics. (Ap '43)
  - Buell, C. E. Mathematics for the sheet metal worker in general and aircraft shops. (S '43)
  - Burnham, R. W. Mathematics for machinists. (S '43)
  - Cell, J. W. Engineering problems illustrating mathematics. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
  - Cooke, N. M., and Orleans, J. B. Mathematics essential to electricity and radio. (D '43)
  - Corrington, M. S. Applied mathematics for technical students. (S '43)
  - Dick, A. A. Shop mathematics. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
  - Downer, A. E. Practical mathematics of aviation. (D '43)
  - Eddy, W. C., and others. Wartime refresher in fundamental mathematics. (Ap '43)
  - Grossnickle, F. E., and others. Practice in essential mathematics. (Ag '43)
  - Harper, H. D. Printing shop mathematics. (S '43)
  - Keal, H. M., and Leonard, C. J. Essential mathematics for skilled workers. (Ap '43)
  - Keller, E. G. Mathematics of modern engineering, v 2. (Je '43)
  - Margenau, H., and Murphy, G. M. Mathematics of physics and chemistry. (O '43)
  - Mathematics for pilots. (Je '43)
  - Moore, J. H., and Mira, J. A. Gist of mathematics. (S '43)
  - Naidich, J. Mathematics of flight. (D '43)
  - Newsom, C. V., and Larsen, H. D. Basic mathematics for pilots and flight crews. (Je '43)
  - Robinson, P. H. Aircrews' book of practical mathematics. (Je '43)
  - Schaaf, W. L. Mathematics for everyday use. (Je '43)
  - Schaaf, W. L. Mathematics for mechanics. (Je '43)
  - Walling, S. A., and Hill, J. C. Aircraft mathematics. (N '43)
  - Weir, J. J. Elementary mathematics for the machine trades. (S '43)
  - Wolfe, J. H., and others. Simplified industrial mathematics. (Je '43)
  - Dictionaries
    - James, G. and R. C., eds. Mathematics dictionary. (D '43)
  - Problems, exercises, etc.
    - Lapp, C. J., and others. Mathematics for the emergency. (S '43)
- Matter of accent. Keith, D. (Mr '43)
- Maury, Matthew Fontaine
  - Hawthorne, H. Matthew Fontaine Maury. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
- Maximilian, emperor of Mexico
  - Fiction
    - Niles, B. R. Passengers to Mexico. (My '43)
- Mayling Soong Chiang. Hull, H. R. (N '43)
- Meaning of intelligence. Stoddard, G. D. (N '43)
- Meaning of marriage and foundations of the family. Goldstein, S. E. (Je '43)
- Measurement and evaluation in the secondary school. Greene, H. A., and others. (Ag '43)
- Measuring instruments
  - Felker, C. A. Measuring instruments. (D '43)
- Meat for murder. Lewis, L. (D '43)
- Mechanical drawing
  - Babbitt, A. B., and Swartz, D. J. Mechanical drawing. (Je '43)
  - Berg, E. Mechanical drawing. (O '43)
  - Carter, I. N., and Thompson, H. L. Engineering drawing, practice and theory. (S '43)
  - Hoelscher, R. P., and others. Industrial production illustration for students, draftsmen and illustrators. (S '43)
  - Kenison, E., and McKinney, J. Mechanical drawing. (Ap '43)
  - Luzadder, W. J. Fundamentals of engineering drawing. (S '43)
  - Meadowcroft, N. Aircraft detail drafting. (Ap '43)
  - Sahag, L. M. Engineering drawing. (Ap '43)

Svensen, C. L. Essentials of drafting. (S '43)

Turner, W. W. Basic problems in engineering drawing. (O '43)

Mechanical engineering

Low, B. B. Engineering mechanics. (Je '43)

Mechanical movements

Clark, W. M., ed. Manual of mechanical movements. (N '43)

Mechanical physics. Dingle, H. (Ag '43)

Mechanical vibrations. Bernhard, R. K. (S '43)

Mechanics

Electric analogies

Olson, H. F. Dynamical analogies. (D '43)

Mechanics, Analytic

Chambers, S. D., and Faires, V. M. Analytic mechanics. (N '43)

Mechanics, Applied

Bernhard, R. K. Mechanical vibrations. (S '43)

Biehler, R. M. Applied mechanics. (Je '43)

Low, B. B. Engineering mechanics. (Je '43)

Singer, F. L. Engineering mechanics. (N '43)

Smith, L. R. Applied mechanics and heat. (Ag '43)

Mechanism. Prageman, I. H. (Je '43)

Mechanization, Military

Fuller, J. F. C. Armored warfare. (N '43)

McGhee, A. F. He's in the Armored force now. (Ag '43)

Mediaeval art. Morey, C. R. (Ap '43)

Medical libraries

Medical library association. Handbook of medical library practice. (D '43)

Medical service

Anderson, D., and Baylous, M. When doctors are rationed. (Mr '43)

Medical service, Industrial

DeKruif, P. H. Kaiser wakes the doctors. (O '43)

Medicine

Addresses, essays, lectures

New York academy of medicine. March of medicine, 1942. (S '43)

Bibliography

Medical library association. Handbook of medical library practice. (D '43)

History

Haagensen, C. D., and Lloyd, W. E. B. Hundred years of medicine. (N '43)

Winslow, C. E. A. Conquest of epidemic disease. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Study and teaching

Ham, A. W., and Salter, M. D. Doctor in the making. (S '43)

Medicine, Clerical

Hiltner, S. Religion and health. (My '43)

Medicine, Military

Hume, E. E. Victories of army medicine. (Ag '43)

Maisel, A. Q. Miracles of military medicine. (Mr '43)

Medicine, Naval

Wheeler, W. L. Shipboard medical practice. (N '43)

Medicine and religion

Hiltner, S. Religion and health. (My '43)

Medieval American art. Kelemen, P. (Ag '43)

Medieval Europe. O'Sullivan, J. F., and Burns, J. F. (D '43)

Mediterranean assignment. McMillan, R. (O '43)

Meet Mr Blank. Graefenberg, R. G. (N '43)

Meet the Arab. Van Ess, J. (D '43)

Meet the Malones. Weber, L. M. (N '43)

Meeting the mammals. Cahalane, V. H. (S '43)

Melody in darkness. Stephenson, G. (My '43)

Memo to a firing squad. Brennan, F. H. (Mr '43)

Memoir of Walter Reed. Truby, A. E. (D '43)

Memoirs of a superfluous man. Nock, A. J. (O '43)

Memoirs of my people. Schwarz, L. W., ed. (Mr '43)

Men and coal. Coleman, M. (D '43)

Men and ideas. Lin, M. (Je '43)

Men from Java. Eng title of: Men from nowhere. Malaquais, J. (Ap '43)

Men from nowhere. Malaquais, J. (Ap '43)

Men in motion. Taylor, H. J. (Ag '43)

Men of Maryknoll. Keller, J. G., and Berger, M. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Men of substance. Jordan, W. K. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)

Men of the Burma road. Chiang, Y. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Men, women and dogs. Thurber, J. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Menace of the herd. Campbell, F. S. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Mencken, Henry Louis

Mencken, H. L. Heathen days. (Ap '43)

Mended citadel. Eng title of: Again we dream. Rees, R. F. (Je '43)

Mending made easy. Picken, M. B. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Mennonites

Horsch, J. Mennonites in Europe. (S '43)

Mental diseases

Stern, E. M., and Hamilton, S. W. Mental illness. (Ap '43)

Mental hygiene

Bills, A. G. Psychology of efficiency. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Crow, L. D. and A. V. Mental hygiene in school and home life. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Fenton, N. Mental hygiene in school practice. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Fink, D. H. Release from nervous tension. (S '43)

Hiltner, S. Religion and health. (My '43)

Preston, G. H. Substance of mental health. (O '43)

Strecker, E. A., and others. Discovering ourselves. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Walters, J. Light in the window. (S '43)

Mental hygiene in school and home life. Crow, L. D. and A. V. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Mental hygiene in school practice. Fenton, N. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Mental illness. Stern, E. M., and Hamilton, S. W. (Ap '43)

Mental tests

Greene, H. A., and others. Measurement and evaluation in the secondary school. (Ag '43)

Machover, S. Cultural and racial variations in patterns of intellect. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Stoddard, G. D. Meaning of intelligence. (N '43)

Wilking, S. V., and Cushman, D. J. Test yourself for a war job. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Mentally ill and public provision for their care in Illinois. Jaffary, S. K. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Menus

Adams, C. You'll eat it up. (S '43)

Merchant marine

Merchant ships, 1942. (Je '43)

Great Britain

Rogers, S. R. H. Enemy in sight! (Je '43)

United States

Albion, R. G., and Pope, J. B. Sea lanes in wartime. (Mr '43)

Douglas, J. S., and Salz, A. He's in the merchant marine now. (O '43)

Gibbs, A. U-boat prisoner. (S '43)

Herman, F. Dynamite cargo. (My '43)

Palmer, M. B. We fight with merchant ships. (My '43)

Merchant ships, 1942. (Je '43)

Mercy in hell. Geer, A. (S '43)

Merrivales. Colver, A. M. R. (S '43)

Messiah

Wallis, W. D. Messiahs. (O '43)

Metal cutting

Giachino, J. W. Oxy-acetylene welding and cutting. (Ap '43)

Metal forming by flexible tools. Frey, C. J., and Kogut, S. S. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Metal work

De Vette, W. A., and Kellogg, D. E. Blueprint reading for the metal trades. (Je '43)

Frey, C. J., and Kogut, S. S. Metal forming by flexible tools. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Giachino, J. W., and Feirer, J. L. Basic bench-metal practice and precision measuring. (Je '43)

Metal work—Continued
  Johnson, W. H., and Newkirk, L. V. Fundamentals of shopwork. (My '43)
  Ludwig, O. A. Metalwork, technology and practice. (S '43)
  Voss, L. A. Modern metalsmith. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Metallography
  Barrett, C. S. Structure of metals. (D '43)
  Dowdell, R. L., and others. General metallography. (Ag '43)
  Frier, W. T. Elementary metallurgy. (Mr '43)
  Kehl, G. L. Principles of metallographic laboratory practice. (Je '43)
Metallography of aluminum alloys. Mondolfo, L. F. (F '44) (1943 Annual) Metallurgical problems. Butts, A. (S '43)
Metallurgy
  Biringucci, V. Pirotechnia. (Je '43)
  Butts, A. Metallurgical problems. (S '43)
  Coonan, F. L. Principles of physical metallurgy. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
  Frier, W. T. Elementary metallurgy. (Mr '43)
Metals
  Seitz, F. Physics of metals. (D '43)
Tables, calculations, etc.
  Hoyt, S. L. Metals and alloys data book. (D '43)
Testing
  Williams, S. R. Hardness and hardness measurements. (Ag '43)
  Zmeskal, O. Radiographic inspection of metals. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Metals, Powdered
  Baëza, W. J. Course in powder metallurgy. (S '43)
Metals and alloys data book. Hoyt, S. L. (D '43)
Metalwork. See Metal work
Meteorology
  Barber, C. W. Illustrated outline of weather science. (Je '43)
  Blair, T. A. Weather elements. (Ap '43)
  Brunt, D. Weather study. (Ap '43)
  Finch, V. C., and others. Elementary meteorology. (Je '43)
  Humphreys, W. J. Ways of the weather. (Ap '43)
  Kendrew, W. G. Weather. (Ap '43)
  Spitz, A. N. Start in meteorology. (Ap '43)
Meteorology in aeronautics
  Aerology for pilots. (D '43)
  Chapin, M. K. Why men can fly. (Ap '43)
  Kendrew, W. G. Weather. (Ap '43)
Mexican oil. Person, H. S. (My '43)
Mexican time. Schiller, Z. L. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Mexico
Foreign relations
United States
  Person, H. S. Mexican oil. (My '43)
History
Wars of independence, 1810-1821
  Warren, H. G. Sword was their passport. (S '43)
Revolution, 1910-
  Brenner, A. Wind that swept Mexico. (Ag '43)
Juvenile literature
  Quinn, V. Picture map geography of Mexico, Central America and the West Indies. (Je '43)
Mice are not amused. Hewitt, K. D. (Ag '43)
Michael, the colt. Garbutt, K. K. (Je '43)
Michigan community health project
  Otto, H. J. Community workshops for teachers in the Michigan community health project. (Je '43)
Microchemistry
  Dobbins, J. T. Semi-micro qualitative analysis. (D '43)
Micromeritics. Dalla Valle, J. M. (Ag '43)
Microscope and its use. Muñoz, F. J., and Charipper, H. A. (O '43)
Microscope and microscopy
  Muñoz, F. J., and Charipper, H. A. Microscope and its use. (O '43)
  Yates, R. F. Fun with your microscope. (Je '43)
Middle ages
History
  O'Sullivan, J. F., and Burns, J. F. Medieval Europe. (D '43)
Middle East. Ben-Horin, E. (O '43)
Midnight and Jeremiah. North, S. (D '43)
Mighty hunter. Hader, B. H. and E. (D '43)
Mikes don't bite. Sioussat, H. J. (Ap '43)
Military and naval maps and grids. Flexner, W. W., and Walker, G. L. (Je '43)
Military and naval recognition book. Bunkley, J. W. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Military art and science
  Clausewitz, K. von. Living thoughts of Clausewitz. (Je '43)
  Clausewitz, K. von. On war. (N '43)
  Fuller, J. F. C. Armored warfare. (N '43)
  Infantry journal, incorporated. Reader. (N '43)
  Limpus, L. M. How the army fights. (S '43)
  Vilfroy, D. War in the west. (Je '43)
  Wintringham, T. H. Story of weapons and tactics. (My '43)
  Wright, Q. Study of war. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Military biography
  Earle, E. M., and others, eds. Makers of Modern strategy. (D '43)
Military engineering
  Leyson, B. W. Army engineers in review. (Ap '43)
  Mann, C. He's in the engineers now. (S '43)
  Thompson, P. W. Engineers in battle. (Je '43)
Military geography
  Van Valkenburg, S., ed. America at war. (My '43)
Military occupation
  Feilchenfeld, E. H. International economic law of belligerent occupation. (Ag '43)
Military ski manual. Harper, F. (Ag '43)
Mill village. Archambault, A. A. (D '43)
Milling machinery
  Felker, C. A., and Paine, H. W. Helical milling. (Ag '43)
Milton, John
  Barker, A. E. Milton and the Puritan dilemma. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Paradise lost
  Lewis, C. S. Preface to Paradise lost. (Ap '43)
Milton and the Puritan dilemma. Barker, A. E. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Mind. Schilder, P. (S '43)
Mind and faith of Justice Holmes. Holmes, O. W. (Je '43)
Mind, medicine and man. Zilboorg, G. (Je '43)
Mineral oils
  Altieri, V. J. Gas chemists' book of standards for light oils and light oil products. (N '43)
Mineralogy
  Winchell, A. N. Elements of mineralogy. (Ap '43)
Minerals in the body
  Davis, A. Vitality through planned nutrition. (My '43)
Minerals in world affairs. Lovering, T. S. (S '43)
Mines and mineral resources
  Leith, C. K., and others. World minerals and world peace. (S '43)
Mingled chime. Beecham, T. (Je '43)
Ministry of fear. Greene, G. (Je '43)
Minnesota. University. General college
  Eckert, R. E. Outcomes of general education. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Minorities
  McWilliams, C. Brothers under the skin. (Je '43)
  Robinson, J., and others. Were the minorities treaties a failure? (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Minute of prayer. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Miracle in Hellas. Wason, E. (Je '43)
Miracles of military medicine. Maisel, A. Q. (Mr '43)

Mirror for Americans. Brown, R. H. (N '43)
Mirror of Baudelaire. Baudelaire, C. P. (My '43)
Mischief in Fez. Hoffmann, E. (Je '43)
Miss Lizzie. Miller, J. (D '43)
Miss Silver deals with death. Wentworth, P. (D '43)

Missionaries
Erdman, M. H., ed. Answering distant calls. (Ap '43)
Keller, J. G., and Berger, M. Men of Maryknoll. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Wright, L. B. Religion and empire. (O '43)

Missions
Latourette, K. S. History of the expansion of Christianity; v. 5, The great century in the Americas, Australasia, and Africa. (My '43)
Leber, C. T. Unconquerable. (Ag '43)
Soper, E. D. Philosophy of the Christian world mission. (S '43)

Northwest
Nute, G. L., ed. Documents relating to Northwest missions. (S '43)

Philippine Islands
Laubach, F. C. Silent billion speak. (N '43)

Missions, Medical
Seagrave, G. S. Burma surgeon. (S '43)

Mississippi

History
Bettersworth, J. K. Confederate Mississippi. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Mississippi river
Hereford, R. A. Old Man River. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Missouri canary. Stong, P. D. (D '43)
Mr Fortune finds a pig. Bailey, H. C. (My '43)
Mr Jelly's business. Eng title of: Murder down under. Upfield, A. W. (Mr '43)
Mr Lincoln's wife. Colver, A. (Je '43)
Mr Mirakel. Oppenheim, E. P. (N '43)
Mr Red Squirrel. Robinson, T. P. (N '43)
Mr Tibbs passes through. Neumann, R. (Mr '43)
Mr Wicker's war. Rose, D. F. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Mr Winkle goes to war. Pratt, T. (Ap '43)
Mr Zenith and other poems. Doro, E. (S '43)
Mrs Caliper's house. Cooke, M., and others. (D '43)
Mrs Cassatt's children. Power-O'Malley, R. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Mrs England goes on living. Blackwood, F. (My '43)
Mrs Heaton's daughter. Hayes, D. (D '43)
Mrs Parkington. Bromfield, L. (Mr '43)

Mitchell, William
Levine, I. D. Mitchell: pioneer of air power. (Ap '43)
Mocha, the Djuka. Neilson, F. F. (O '43)
Mode in costume. Wilcox, R. T. (Ap '43)
Modern democratic state. Lindsay, A. D. (Ag '43)
Modern government in action. Griffith, E. S. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Modern Japan and Shinto nationalism. Holtom. D. C. (Ap '43)
Modern marine engineer's manual. Osbourne, A., and others, eds. (Ag '43)
Modern metalsmith. Voss, L. A. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Modern Negro art. Porter, J. A. (D '43)
Modern Russian history. Kornilov, A. A. (S '43)
Modern science in our environment. Dull, C. E., and others. (Ap '43)
Modern timber design. Hansen, H. J. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Modern warfare. Sikorski, W. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Modern wonder books. (Je '43)
Modernistic chip carving. Mankin, V. J. (My '43)

Mohammedan empire
Hitti, P. K. Arabs. (Ag '43)
Molly and the tool shed. Scott, S. (O '43)
Moment of truth. Sweeny, C. (Je '43)

Money
Marget, A. W. Theory of prices, v2. (My '43)

Juvenile literature
Foster, C. J. This rich world. (Je '43)

Monkey. Wu Ch'êng-ên. (Ap '43)
Monkey ahoy! Lathrop, W. (Je '43)
Monkey twins. Hogan, I. (Mr '43)

Montana
Howard, J. K. Montana. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Moon
Fisher, G. C. Story of the moon. (Mr '43)
Moonlight traveler. Stern, P. V., ed. (Ag '43)
Moonset. Gruen, M. E. (Ag '43)

Moore, George Edward
Schilpp, P. A., ed. Philosophy of G. E. Moore. (My '43)

Morale
Bowman, A. Morale of the American revolutionary army. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Copeland, N. Psychology and the soldier. (S '43)
Cronbach, L. J. Exploring the wartime morale of high-school youth. (N '43)
Holmes, H. W. Road to courage. (Mr '43)
MacCurdy, J. T. Structure of morale. (N '43)
Morale of the American revolutionary army. Bowman, A. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Moran, Edward Joseph
Morris, F. D. Pick out the biggest. (O '43)
More stories of famous operas. Newman, E. (Je '43)

Morgan, Daniel

Juvenile literature
Dean, S. W. Fighting Dan of the Long Rifles. (My '43)

Morley of Blackburn, John Morley, 1st viscount
Knickerbocker, F. W. C. Free minds. (N '43)
Staebler, W. I. Liberal mind of John Morley. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Morphology
Needham, J. Biochemistry and morphogenesis. (Ap '43)

Morris, Lloyd R.
Morris, L. R. Threshold in the sun. (S '43)

Morse, Samuel Finley Breese
Mabee, C. American Leonardo. (Mr '43)

Morton, Julius Sterling
Olson, J. C. J. Sterling Morton. (Je '43)
Moscow dateline, 1941-1943. Cassidy, H. C. (Ag '43)
Moscow mystery. Litvinova, I. (My '43)

Moses
Golding, L. In the steps of Moses. (N '43)

Juvenile literature
Flight, J. W., and Fahs, S. B. L. Moses, Egyptian prince, nomad sheikh, lawgiver. (Ap '43)
Mother America. Romulo, C. P. (D '43)
Mother Russia. Hindus, M. G. (Ag '43)
Mothers. Fisher, V. (N '43)

Motion
Skemp, J. B. Theory of motion in Plato's later dialogues. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Motion study
Bailey, N. R. Motion study for the supervisor. (My '43)

Motor trucks
Barger, C. G. Automotive mechanics. (My '43)
Motor (periodical). Truck repair manual, 1943. (Je '43)
Motto for murder. Mace, M. (O '43)
Mount Allegro. Mangione, J. (Mr '43)
Mountain born. Yates, E. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Mountaineering
Geist, R. C. Hiking, camping and mountaineering. (Je '43)
Mountains wait. Broch, T. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Mounted messenger. Meigs, C. L. (Je '43)
Mouse in the mountain. Davis, N. (Mr '43)

Moving picture plays
Gassner, J., and Nichols, D., eds. Twenty best film plays. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Moving pictures
Kimbrough, E. We followed our hearts to Hollywood. (D '43)

Catalogs
Weaver, G. G., comp. Bibliography of motion pictures for vocational and technical schools. (Ag '43)

Moving pictures—Continued

History

Taylor, D., and others. Pictorial history of the movies. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Yearbooks

International motion picture almanac, 1942-43. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Moving pictures in education
- Educators guide to free films. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
- Weaver, G. G., comp. Bibliography of motion pictures for vocational and technical schools. (Ag '43)

Muller hill. Daniels, H. M. (N '43)

Murder
- Roughead, W. Art of murder. (My '43)

Murder at a police station. Farjeon, J. J. (Ap '43)
Murder at Belle Camille. Barrett, M. (O '43)
Murder at the Black Crook. Matschat, C. H. (Je '43)
Murder breaks trail. Boyd, E. M. (S '43)
Murder by inches. Hopkins, S. (Ap '43)
Murder down under. Upfield, A. W. (Mr '43)
Murder for two. Coxe, G. H. (Ag '43)
Murder goes astray. Heberden, M. V. (S '43)
Murder in false face. Childerness, G. (Je '43)
Murder in Havana. Coxe, G. H. (N '43)
Murder in the radio department. Eichler, A. (D '43)
Murder in tow. Stevens, F. M. R. (Ap '43)
Murder, M.D. Eng title of: Who killed the doctor? Burton, M. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual) Murder on the downbeat. Avery, R. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Murder, plain and fancy. Lord, G. (Mr '43)
Murder rents a room. Mason, S. E. (O '43)
Murder runs a fever. Fenisong, R. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Murder through the looking glass. Rice, C. (Mr '43)
Murder wears a mummer's mask. Dresser, D. (Ap '43)
Murder will speak. Bellairs, G. (O '43)
Murder with love. Lord, G. (D '43)
Murder with orange blossoms. Darby, R. (S '43)
Murderer's choice. Wells, A. M. (S '43)
Murder's a swine. Eng title of: Grinning pig. Lombard, N. (O '43)
Murders at Moon Dance. Guthrie, A. B. (Je '43)

Murrell, John A.

Fiction

Kroll, H. H. Rogues' company. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Museums
- Coleman, L. V. Company museums. (O '43)

Mushrooms
- Christensen, C. M. Common edible mushrooms. (Ap '43)

Music
- Hendelson, W., and Zucker, P., eds. Music lovers' almanac. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
- Taubman, H. H. Music on my beat. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
- Young America's music. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Acoustics and physics

Bartholomew, W. T. Acoustics of music. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Analysis, interpretation, appreciation

Burk, C., and others. America's musical heritage. (N '43)
Dorian, F. History of music in performance. (Ap '43)
McKinney, H. D., and Anderson, W. R. Challenge of listening. (Je '43)
Siegmeister, E., ed. Music lover's handbook. (N '43)
Stokowski, L. Music for all of us. (O '43)

Anecdotes, facetiae, satire, etc.

Schauffler, R. H. Fiddler's folly and encores. (Ap '43)

History and criticism

Prunières, H. New history of music. (My '43)
Sachs, C. Rise of music in the ancient world. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Instruction and study

Bohman, E. L., and Dillon, J. K. Librarian and the teacher of music. (Ap '43)
Mursell, J. L. Music in American schols. (N '43)

Performance

Dorian, F. History of music in performance. (Ap '43)

Boston

Johnson, H. E. Musical interludes in Boston, 1795-1830. (N '43)

France

Schrade, L. Beethoven in France. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

United States

Burk, C., and others. America's musical heritage. (N '43)

Music, Primitive
- Sachs, C. Rise of music in the ancient world. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Music for all of us. Stokowski, L. (O '43)
Music in American schools. Mursell, J. L. (N '43)
Music lovers' almanac. Hendelson, W., and Zucker, P., eds. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Music lover's handbook. Siegmeister, E., ed. (N '43)
Music on my beat. Taubman, H. H. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Musical interludes in Boston, 1795-1830. Johnson, H. E. (N '43)

Musicians
- Ewen, D. Dictators of the baton. (Mr '43)
- Hendelson, W., and Zucker, P., eds. Music lovers' almanac. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
- Leonard, R. A. Stream of music. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
- Taubman, H. H. Music on my beat. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Correspondence, reminiscences, etc.

Beecham, T. Mingled chime. (Je '43)
Spalding, A. Rise to follow. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Walska, G. Always room at the top. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Dictionaries

Ewen, D., ed. Living musicians. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Musicians, American
- Ewen, D., ed. Living musicians. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Mussolini, Benito
- Matthews, H. L. Fruits of fascism. (N '43)

Mutiny in January. Van Doren, C. C. (My '43)
My darling from the lions. Morris, E. (Ag '43)
My days of anger. Farrell, J. T. (N '43)
My family right or wrong. Sousa, J. P. (N '43)
My Father's world. Rice, M. S. (D '43)
My favorite age. Morrow, E. R. C. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
My favorite assassin. Herald, G. W. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
My fighting congregation. Taggart, W. C., and Cross, C. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
My gun is my law. Drago, H. S. (Mr '43)
My life in China, 1926-1941. Abend, H. (D '43)
My native land. Adamic, L. (D '43)
My revolutionary years. Wei, Y. C. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
My war with Japan. Alcott, C. D. (Ag '43)
Mystery at the old place. Orton, H. F. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Mystery chef's own cook book. (S '43)
Mystery companion. Furman, A. L., ed. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Mystery fiction. Rodell, M. F. (Je '43)
Mystery of Swordfish reef. Upfield, A. W. (D '43)
Mystery of the rubber boat. Barbour, R. H. (Ag '43)
Mystery on the bayou. Barbour, R. H. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Myth and society in Attic drama. Little, A. M. G. (S '43)
Myth of open spaces. Forsyth, W. D. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Mythology in literature
- Little, A. M. G. Myth and society in Attic drama. (S '43)

NBC handbook of pronunciation. National broadcasting company. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Nameless. Williams, L. J. (My '43)
Names, Geographical
Greet, W. C. War words. (My '43)
Names, Personal
Greet, W. C. War words. (My '43)
Nancy Naylor flies south. Lansing, E. H. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Napoleon I, emperor of the French
Colby, E. Masters of mobile warfare. (O '43)
Napoleon III, emperor of the French
Guérard, A. L. Napoleon III. (S '43)
Nathan, George Jean
Frick, C. Dramatic criticism of George Jean Nathan. (Ap '43)
Nathan, Robert
Nathan, R. Journal for Josephine. (Mr '43)
Nathan's dark house. Bourgeois, F. (Je '43)
National characteristics
Suhr, E. G. Two currents in the thought stream of Europe. (D '43)
National characteristics, American
Adams, J. T. American. (O '43)
Basso, H. Mainstream. (D '43)
Cohn, D. L. Love in America. (Je '43)
National characteristics, Argentine
Herron, F. Letters from the Argentine. (O '43)
National characteristics, English
Brogan, D. W. English people. (Je '43)
National characteristics, German
Bischoff, R. F. Nazi conquest through German culture. (Ag '43)
Brickner, R. M. Is Germany incurable? (Je '43)
Jackh, E. War for man's soul. (D '43)
Ludwig, E. How to treat the Germans. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Thompson, D. Listen, Hans. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Vansittart, R. G. V. Lessons of my life. (N '43)
National characteristics, Japanese
Eckstein, G. In peace Japan breeds war. (Ap '43)
Pernikoff, O. A. J. Bushido, the anatomy of terror. (Je '43)
Steiner, J. F. Behind the Japanese mask. (Ap '43)
National consciousness. Sulzbach, W. (Je '43)
National nutrition. Fishbein, M. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
National socialism. international capitalism. Tenenbaum, E. A. (Je '43)
Nationalism and nationality
Oakeley, H. D. Should nations survive? (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Sulzbach, W. National consciousness. (Je '43)
Natonek, Hans
Natonek, H. In search of myself. (D '43)
Natural history
Fuller, R. T. Now that we have to walk. (Ap '43)

Juvenile literature

Fenton, C. L. Along nature's highway. (Ap '43)
Hylander, C. J. Out of doors in winter. (Ap '43)
Waugh, D. Warm earth. (Je '43)
Natural history with a camera. Brownell, L. W. (Ap '43)
Natural law
Maritain, J. Rights of man and natural law. (S '43)
Natural resources
Harper, A. G., and others. Man and resources in the middle Rio Grande valley. (N '43)
Lieber, R. America's natural wealth. (My '43)
Naturalist at large. Barbour, T. (N '43)
Naturalists

Correspondence, reminiscences, etc.

Barbour, T. Naturalist at large. (N '43)
Teale, E. W. Dune boy. (N '43)
Naturalization

United States

Tsiang, I. Question of expatriation in America prior to 1907. (D '43)
Nature
Merriam, J. C. Garment of God. (My '43)
Rice, M. S. My Father's world. (D '43)
Nature and destiny of man, 2d sér. Niebuhr, R. (My '43)
Nature photography
Brownell, L. W. Natural history with a camera. (Ap '43)
Navaho Indians
Haile, B. Origin legend of the Navaho flintway. (S '43)
Navaho language
Haile, B. Origin legend of the Navaho flintway. (S '43)
Naval architecture
Liljegren, C. O. Naval architecture as art and science. (O '43)
Manning, G. C. Manual of ship construction. (Je '43)
Naval architecture as art and science. Liljegren, C. O. (O '43)
Naval history
Stevens, W. O., and Westcott, A. F. History of sea power. (Ap '43)
Naval officer's guide. Ageton, A. A. (My '43)
Naval reserve guide. Forster, G. F., and Cady, E. L. (Ap '43)
Navigation
Bradley, A. D. Mathematics of air and marine navigation. (My '43)
Cugle, C. H. Practical navigation. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Favill, J. Primer of celestial navigation. (O '43)
Gatty, H. Raft book. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Hart, M. R. How to navigate today. (My '43)
Kells, L. M., and others. Piloting and maneuvering of ships. (S '43)
Lane, C. D. Boatman's manual. (My '43)
Rider, P. R., and Hutchinson, C. A. Navigational trigonometry. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Navigation (aeronautics)
Air navigation. (S '43)
Aircraft navigation. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Field, R. M., and Stetson, H. T. Map reading and navigation. (Ap '43)
Hamilton, E. R. Air navigation. (Je '43)
Kingsland, J. C., and Seager, D. W. Navigation. (O '43)
Lamb, S. G., and Jordan, H. T. Air navigation for beginners. (Je '43)
Lyon, T. C. Aerial navigation. (S '43)
McIntosh, C. H. Radio navigation for pilots. (Je '43)
Moore, L. E. Elementary avigation. (Ag '43)
Redpath, P. H., and Coburn, J. M. Air transport navigation. (S '43)
Surgeoner, D. H. Navigation and meteorology. (S '43)
Weems, P. V. H. Air navigation. (Je '43)
Zim, H. S. Air navigation. (My '43)
Navigation and meteorology. Surgeoner, D. H. (S '43)
Navigational trigonometry. Rider, P. R., and Hutchinson, C. A. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual) Navy at war. Baldwin, H. W. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Navy has wings. Pratt, F. (Ap '43)
Navy reader. Fetridge, W. H., ed. (S '43)
Navy woman's handbook. Collins, C. R. (Ap '43)
Nazi conquest through German culture. Bischoff, R. F. (Ag '43)
Nazi state. Ebenstein, W. (Mr '43)
Near East. Ireland, P. W., ed. (Je '43)
Neck in a noose. Ferrars, E. (Ap '43)
Needles and pins. Duncan, I. R. (S '43)
Negro in colonial New England, 1620-1776. Greene, L. J. (Ag '43)
Negroes
Embree, E. R. Brown Americans. (D '43)
Johnson, C. S. Patterns of Negro segregation. (Ap '43)
La Farge, J. Race question and the Negro. (N '43)
Odum, H. W. Race and rumors of race. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Negroes—Continued

Economic conditions

Jackson, L. P. Free Negro labor and property holding in Virginia, 1830-1860. (Ap '43)
Sterner, R. M. E., and others. Negro's share. (S '43)

Education

Daniel, W. G. Reading interests and needs of Negro college freshmen regarding social science materials. (D '43)

Employment

Jackson, L. P. Free Negro labor and property holding in Virginia, 1830-1860. (Ap '43)

Detroit

Lee, A. M., and Humphrey, N. D. Race riot. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

New England

Greene, L. J. Negro in colonial New England, 1620-1776. (Ag '43)

New York (city)

Ottley, R. New world a-coming. (S '43)

North Carolina

Franklin, J. P. Free Negro in North Carolina, 1790-1860. (S '43)

Virginia

Jackson, L. P. Free Negro labor and property holding in Virginia, 1830-1860. (Ap '43)

Negro's share. Sterner, R. M. E., and others. (S '43)
Net impressions. Keller, A. G. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Netherlands America. Hiss, P. H. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Netherlands Indies
Vlekke, B. H. M. Nusantara. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Description and travel

Fairchild, D. G. Garden islands of the great East. (N '43)

Neutrality
Bailey, T. A. Policy of the United States toward the neutrals, 1917-1918. (Je '43)

Nevada
Morgan, D. L. The Humboldt. (Ag '43)
Never call retreat. Freeman, J. (Ap '43)
Never say die. Malmar, M. (Ag '43)
Never surrender. Fitzgerald, B. (N '43)
New approach to philosophy. Rice, C. Y. (O '43)
New constitution now. Hazlitt, H. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
New encyclopedia of modern sewing. Dickson, S., and Blondin, F., eds. (O '43)

New England

History

Howe, H. F. Prologue to New England. (My '43)

Colonial period

Greene, L. J. Negro in colonial New England, 1620-1776. (Ag '43)

New England grouse shooting. Foster, W. H. (Je '43)
New Europe. Newman, B. (S '43)
New eyes for invisibles. Jones, R. M. (Je '43)
New frontiers in American painting. Kootz, S. M. (Ag '43)

New Guinea

Description and travel

Haugland, V. Letter from New Guinea. (Ag '43)
Ripley, S. D. Trail of the money bird. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)

New Guinea (territory)
Reed, S. W. Making of modern New Guinea. (O '43)

New Haven

Social conditions

McConnell, J. W. Evolution of social classes. (My '43)

New history of music. Prunières, H. (My '43)
New horizons in criminology. Barnes, H. E., and Teeters, N. K. (O '43)

New Jersey
Cawley, J. S. and M. Exploring the little rivers of New Jersey. (Ap '43)
Wildes, H. E. Twin rivers: the Raritan and the Passaic. (Ap '43)
New Leviathan. Collingwood, R. G. (O '43)
New order in the church. Brown, W. A. (O '43)
New pet. Flack, M. (O '43)
New philosophy of public debt. Moulton, H. G. (S '43)
New poems. Thomas, D. (O '43)
New poems. Williams, O., ed. (O '43)
New rivers calling. Hendryx, J. B. (O '43)
New schools for a new culture. MacConnell, C. M., and others. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
New sun. Yashima, T. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
New technical and commercial dictionary. Perol Guerrero, A., comp. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
New Treasury of war poetry. Clarke, G. H., ed. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
New viewpoints on the Spanish colonization of America. Zavala, S. A. (S '43)
New world a-coming. Ottley, R. (S '43)
New world guides to the Latin American republics, v 1. (Je '43)
New world guides to the Latin American republics, v 2. (O '43)
New world is born. Levinthal, L. H. (N '43)

New York (city). Fire department
Leyson, B. W. Fighting fire. (D '43)

New York (city)

Description

Monaghan, F., and Lowenthal, M. This was New York. (Je '43)

Politics and government

Rodgers, C. New York plans for the future. (Mr '43)

Public works

Rodgers, C. New York plans for the future. (Mr '43)

Social life and customs

Beebe, L. M. Snoot if you must. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Day, C. S. Life with father and mother. (O '43)
Monaghan, F., and Lowenthal, M. This was New York. (Je '43)
Natonek, H. In search of myself. (D '43)

New York (state). Constitution
O'Rourke, V. A., and Campbell, D. W. Constitution-making in a democracy. (N '43)

New York (state)

Social life and customs

Ladd, C. E., and Eastman, E. R. Growing up in the horse and buggy days. (Mr '43)
New York city building control, 1800-1941. Comer, J. P. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
New York plans for the future. Rodgers, C. (Mr '43)

New York Yankees
Graham, F. New York Yankees. (Je '43)

New Zealand
Nash, W. New Zealand. (D '43)
Newman treasury. Newman, J. H. (Ag '43)
News is what we make it. Stewart, K. N. (S '43)

Newspapers
Rae, W. Editing small newspapers. (Je '43)

Ney, Elisabet
Fortune, J., and Burton, J. Elisabet Ney. (My '43)
Nicodemus helps Uncle Sam. Hogan, I. (S '43)
Niece of Abraham Pein. Wallis, J. H. (Ap '43)

Nigeria
Cook, A. N. British enterprise in Nigeria. (Ag '43)
Night attack. Torrey, W. (O '43)
Night duty. Arey, J. S. (My '43)
Night of the summer solstice. Van Doren, M. (O '43)
Night over the wood. Addis, H. (Ap '43)
Night-work. Eng title of: Night duty. Arey, J. S. (My '43)
Ninth floor. O'Neil, K. (O '43)
Nipper the little bull pup. L'Hommedieu, D. K. (D '43)
No boundary. Marshall, L. G. (O '43)
No brighter dawn. Jervis, V. M. S. (Je '43)
No longer fugitive. Chidester, A. (O '43)
No news from Helen. Golding, L. (D '43)

No quarter. Simonov, K. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
No royal road. Taylor, R. E. (S '43)
Nock, Albert Jay
  Nock, A. J. Memoirs of a superfluous man. (O '43)
Noisy bird book. Brown, M. W. (Ap '43)
Nomenclature of naval vessels. (Ap '43)
Nomography (mathematics)
  Davis, D. S. Empirical equations and nomography. (Je '43)
None but the lonely heart. Llewellyn, R. (O '43)
Nordau, Max Simon
  Nordau, A. D. and M. Max Nordau. (O '43)
North Africa. Brodrick, A. H. (Mr '43)
North American college, Rome
  Doherty, M. W. House on Humility street. (Ap '43)
North window. Flexner, H. (My '43)
Northern fishes. Eddy, S., and Surber, T. (F '44) (1943 Annual) Northwest, Canadian
  Downes, P. G. Sleeping island. (Je '43)
Northwest, Pacific
  Howay, F. W., and others. British Columbia and the United States. (Ap '43)
Norway

Church history

  Höye, B., and Ager, T. M. Fight of the Norwegian church against Nazism. (My '43)

Description and travel

  Berggrav, E. J. Land of suspense. (N '43)

History

German occupation, 1940-

  Höye, B., and Ager, T. M. Fight of the Norwegian church against Nazism. (My '43)
Notes toward a supreme fiction. Stevens, W. (Je '43)
Nothing can rescue me. Daly, E. (Mr '43)
November storm. McCormick, J. (Ap '43)
Now I lay me down to sleep. Bemelmans, L. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Now is the moment. Rugg, H. O. (Ag '43)
Now that we have to walk. Fuller, R. T. (Ap '43)
Noxious gases. Henderson, Y., and Haggard, H. W. (Je '43)
Nuclear physics
  Pollard, E. C., and Davidson, W. L. Applied nuclear physics. (Je '43)
Number one. Dos Passos, J. R. (Ap '43)
Nura's children go visiting. Ulreich, N. W. (Je '43)
Nursery schools
  National commission for young children. Children's centers. (Ap '43)
Nurses and nursing
  Long, A. I. Home health and nursing. (S '43)
  Orbison, K. B. T. Handbook for nurse's aides. (S '43)

Juvenile literature

  Rifkin, L. When I grow up, I'll be a nurse. (Ap '43)
Nurses in action. Flikke, J. O. (My '43)
Nusantara. Vlekke, B. H. M. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Nutrition
  Bauer, W. W. and F. A. M. Eat what you want! (Ap '43)
  Bogert, L. J. Good nutrition for everybody. (Ap '43)
  Davis, A. Vitality through planned nutrition. (My '43)
  Duncan, A. O. Food processing. (S '43)
  Fishbein, M. National nutrition. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
  Glasstone, S. and V. F. C. Food you eat. (Je '43)
  Graubard, M. A. Man's food. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
  Monsch, H., and Harper, M. K. Feeding babies and their families. (N '43)
  Peterson, W. H., and others. Elements of food biochemistry. (S '43)
  Sherman, H. C. Science of nutrition. (S '43)
  Sherman, H. C., and Lanford, C. S. Essentials of nutrition. (Ag '43)

O as in omen. Goldstone, L. A. (S '43)
O river, remember! Ostenso, M. (O '43)
Obedience
  Wieman, R. H. W. Does your child obey? (My '43)
Oberlin college
  Fletcher, R. S. History of Oberlin college. (N '43)
Occupational tumors and allied diseases. Hueper, W. C. (Je '43)
Occupations
  Carlisle, N. V. Wartime opportunities for men. (D '43)
  Lehman, M., and Yarmon, M. Opportunities in the armed forces. (Ap '43)
  Super, D. E. Dynamics of vocational adjustment. (Ap '43)
Ocean
  Sverdrup, H. U. Oceanography for meteorologists. (D '43)
  Sverdrup, H. U., and others. Oceans. (My '43)
Ocean bottom
  Daly, R. A. Floor of the ocean. (D '43)
Oceanography for meteorologists. Sverdrup, H. U. (D '43)
Oceans. Sverdrup, H. U., and others. (My '43)
Oklahoma

History

  Rister, C. C. Land hunger. (Mr '43)
Ol' Bill, and other stories. Knight, J. A. (Ap '43)
Old battle-ax. Holding, E. S. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Old Bay paths. Marlowe, G. F. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Old Blue. Tousey, S. (Ap '43)
Old bones. Petersen, H. (D '43)
Old churches of London. Cobb, G. (Ap '43)
Old Dirt Dobber's garden book. Williams. T. A. (Je '43)
Old Fellow. Maurer, H. (Je '43)
Old Man River. Hereford, R. A. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Old Nameless. Shalett, S. (Ag '43)
Old principles and the new order. McNabb, V. J. (My '43)
Old Thad Stevens. Current, R. N. (Ap '43)
Oldest story. Thompson, B. J. (O '43)
Oliphant, Laurence
  Schneider, H. W., and Lawton, G. Prophet and a pilgrim. (Je '43)
Omnibus. Feeney, L. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Omnibus of terror. Hughes, D. B. F. (Mr '43)
On being a real person. Fosdick, H. E. (Ap '43)
On fencing. Nadi, A. (Ag '43)
On growth and form. Thompson, D. W. (S '43)
On the dark of the moon. Lang, D. (D '43)
On the gathering of a library. Smith, H. H. (O '43)
On war. Clausewitz, K. von. (N '43)
On your own. Graham, S. A., and O'Roke, E. C. (S '43)
Once the Hodja. Kelsey, A. G. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Once upon a time. McEwen, J. E. (D '43)
One continent redeemed. Ramsey, G. H. (D '43)
One fair daughter. Frank, B. (N '43)
One God. Garrigou-Lagrange, R. (O '43)
One humanity. Kershner, H. E. (D '43)
112 Elm street. Ripperger, H. S. (Je '43)
100 meat-saving recipes. Robbins, A. B. (Je '43)
One man's West. Lavender, D. S. (My '43)
One of our pilots is safe. Simpson, W. (S '43)
One—one—one. Eng title of: Torpedo! Hackforth-Jones, G. (Je '43)
One story. Bible. New Testament. Gospels. (D '43)
One world. Willkie, W. L. (My '43)
O'Neill, Hugh, 2d earl of Tyrone. See Tyrone, Hugh O'Neill, 2d earl of Only an inch from glory. Halper, A. (N '43)
Only the valiant. Warren, C. M. (Ap '43)
Open gate. Seredy, K. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual) Opera

History

  Loewenberg, A., comp. Annals of opera. (S '43)

Operas
Stories, plots, etc.
Dike, H. Stories from the great Metropolitan operas. (Ap '43)
Newman, E. More stories of famous operas. (Je '43)
Operation of aircraft engines. (Ag '43)
Opportunities in the armed forces. Lehman, M., and Yarmon, M. (Ap '43)
Optical crystallography. Wahlstrom, E. E. (D '43)
Optical instruments
Gibb, T. R. P. Optical methods of chemical analysis. (Ap '43)
Jacobs, D. H. Fundamentals of optical engineering. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Optical methods of chemical analysis. Gibb, T. R. P. (Ap '43)
Optics
Jacobs, D. H. Fundamentals of optical engineering. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Optics, Physical
Wahlstrom, E. E. Optical crystallography. (D '43)
Orchards in all seasons. Writers' program, Pennsylvania. (My '43)
Ordeal of Sergeant Smoot. Paul, L. (S '43)
Order in the court. Knox, J. C. (Je '43)
Ore deposits
Bateman, A. M. Economic mineral deposits. (Ap '43)
Newhouse, W. H., ed. Ore deposits as related to structural features. (Je '43)
Ore deposits as related to structural features. Newhouse, W. H., ed. (Je '43)
Organic chemistry. Caldwell, W. T. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Organic chemistry. Fuson, R. C., and Snyder, H. R. (Je '43)
Organic chemistry. Gilman, H., and others, eds. (Ag '43)
Organic chemistry simplified. Macy, R. (N '43)
Origin legend of the Navaho flintway. Haile, B. (S '43)
Origin of Dewey's instrumentalism. White, M. G. (My '43)
Origin of the Grail legend. Brown, A. C. L. (D '43)
Origins and background of the second World war. Haines, C. G., and Hoffman, R. J. S. (Ag '43)
Origins of American sociology. Bernard, L. L. and J. S. (N '43)
Origins of Prussianism. Treitschke, H. G., von. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Origins of the American revolution. Miller, J. C. (S '43)
Oscar of the Waldorf. Schriftgiesser, K. (D '43)
Oscillators
Brainerd, J. G., and others, eds. Ultra-high-frequency techniques. (Je '43)
Oswald's pet dragon. Glick, C. (N '43)
Other Americans. Tomlinson, E. (S '43)
Other people's children. Peckham, B. C. (Je '43)
Other side of Main street. Johnson, H. (Ap '43)
Our army today. Banning, K. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Our daily bread. Gil Gilbert, E. (S '43)
Our eternal contemporary. Horton, W. M. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Our good neighbor hurdle. White, J. W. (O '43)
Our Jewish farmers and the story of the Jewish agricultural society. Davidson, G. (Je '43)
Our living world. Fenton, C. L. (O '43)
Our navy, a fighting team. Taussig, J. K., and Cope, H. F. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Our new baby. Peller, L. E., and Mumford, S. W. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Our oldest friends. Eberle, I. (Ap '43)
Our soldiers speak. Matthews, W., and Wecter, D. (Ap '43)
Our towns, a close-up. Women's group on public welfare. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Our United States, how it grew. Elms, F. R. (My '43)
Our way down East. Graham, E. M. (O '43)
Our young folks. Fisher, D. F. C. (N '43)
Out in the boondocks. Horan, J. D., and Frank, G., eds. (O '43)
Out of debt, out of danger. Voorhis, H. J. (S '43)
Out of doors in winter. Hylander, C. J. (Ap '43)
Out of my mind. Brush, K. I. (N '43)
Out of the blue. Wilder, R. (Mr '43)
Out of the silent planet. Lewis, C. S. (N '43)
Out of this nettle, danger. Dodds, H. W. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Out our way. Williams, J. R. (N '43)
Outcomes of general education. Eckert, R. E. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Outdoor life
Graham, S. A., and O'Roke, E. C. On your own. (S '43)
Outer edge. Daniels, B. K. (O '43)
Outlay and income in the United States. Barger, H. (O '43)
Outline history of the church by centuries. McSorley, J. (S '43)
Outlines of physical chemistry. Getman, F. H. (D '43)
Outlines of the future. Bonnet, H. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Outside leaf. Field, B. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Overboard. Worts, G. F. (Je '43)
Overcoming anti-Semitism. Fineberg, S. A. (Je '43)
Overland journeys to the Pacific
Paden, I. D. Wake of the prairie schooner. (D '43)
Ox-team miracle. Hawthorne, H. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Oxy-acetylene welding and cutting. Giachino, J. W. (Ap '43)

Paccioli, Luca
Taylor, R. E. No royal road. (S '43)
Pacific blackout. Raleigh, J. M. (My '43)
Pacific charter. Abend, H. (Mr '43)
Pacific is my beat. Wheeler, K. (D '43)
Pacific ocean
Bartek, J. F., and Pardue, A. Life out there. (Ag '43)
Rickenbacker, E. V. Seven came through. (Ap '43)
Whittaker, J. C. We thought we heard the angels sing. (My '43)
Pact of Paris, 1928
Stoner, J. E. S. O. Levinson and the Pact of Paris. (S '43)
Paderewski, Ignacy Jan
Juvenile literature
Gronowicz, A. Paderewski, (Je '43)
Pageant of Canadian history. Peck, A. M. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual) Pageant of romance. Thomas, L. J. and F. R. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual) Pain
Lewis, C. S. Problem of pain. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Paine, Thomas
Fiction
Fast, H. M. Citizen Tom Paine. (Je '43)
Paint
Mattiello, J. J., ed. Protective and decorative coatings, v 3. (D '43)
Painted for the kill. Cores, L. M. (Ag '43)
Painters
Craven, T. Story of painting. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Painters, American
Magazine of art. Painters and sculptors of modern America. (My '43)
Watson, E. W. Color and method in painting as seen in the work of 12 American painters. (Je '43)
Painters and sculptors of modern America. Magazine of art. (My '43)
Painter's coach. Bischoff, I. (F '44) (1943 Annual) Painting
History
Craven, T. Story of painting. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Technique
Watson, E. W. Color and method in painting as seen in the work of 12 American painters. (Je '43)
Painting, American
Kootz, S. M. New frontiers in American painting. (Ag '43)

Paintings, American
Kootz, S. M. New frontiers in American painting. (Ag '43)
Paintings, Dutch
Rembrandt Hermanszoon van Rijn. Selected paintings. (S '43)
Paintings, Italian
Leonardo da Vinci. Leonardo da Vinci; ed. by Goldscheider. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Pair skating and dancing on ice. Dench, R., and Stewart,, R. (N '43)
Pale horse. Watts, S. (Ag '43)
Palestine
Antiquities
McCown, C. C. Ladder of progress in Palestine. (N '43)
History
Hanna, P. L. British policy in Palestine. (Je '43)
Jewish-Arab question
Van Paassen, P. Forgotten ally. (D '43)
Politics and government
Lindsley, L. S. War is people. (Ap '43)
Social life and customs
Bailey, A. E. Daily life in Bible times. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Palestine plays. Housman, L. (S '43)
Palmistry
Wolff, C. Human hand. (Je '43)
Pam Pam. Osgood, H. E. K. (Ag '43)
Pamphleteer monthly. (Je '43)
Pamphlets
Bibliography
Educators index of free materials. (Je '43)
Free and inexpensive educational materials. (Je '43)
Pamphleteer monthly. (Je '43)
Practical index system. (Je '43)
Vertical file service catalog. (Je '43)
Pan-American day. Paulmier, H. C., and Schauffler, R. H., eds. (My '43)
Pan American economics. Olson, P. R., and Hickman, C. A. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Pan Americanism
Downes, J. E., and others. Latin America and hemisphere solidarity. (N '43)
Paulmier, H. C., and Schauffler, R. H. eds. Pan-American day. (My '43)
Whitaker, A. P., ed. Inter-American affairs, 1941. (Ap '43)
Paneuropa-union
Coudenhove-Kalergi, R. N. Crusade for Pan-Europe. (N '43)
Pangermanism
Pol, H. Hidden enemy. (O '43)
Winkler, P. Thousand-year conspiracy. (Ap '43)
Pan Pacific relations
Falk, E. A. From Perry to Pearl harbor. (Mr '43)
Panic of 1857. Van Vleck, G. W. (D '43)
Panics
Van Vleck, G. W. Panic of 1857. (D '43)
Paper chase. Bayer, O. W. (Ag '43)
Paper making and trade
Hunter, D. Papermaking. (Ap '43)
Parachute troops
Miksche, F. O. Paratroops. (Ap '43)
Paradise, John
Shepperson, A. B. John Paradise and Lucy Ludwell of London and Williamsburg. (Ap '43)
Paradise, Lucy (Ludwell)
Shepperson, A. B. John Paradise and Lucy Ludwell of London and Williamsburg. (Ap '43)
Paradise street. Griffin, H. F. (Je '43)
Paradox isle. Bache, C. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Paragraphs on printing. Rogers, B. (O '43)
Paralysis, Anterior spinal. See Infantile paralysis
Paratroops. Miksche, F. O. (Ap '43)
Pardon and peace. Vaughan, H. (Mr '43)
Paris-underground. Shiber, E. (O '43)
Parker, Henry
Jordan, W. K. Men of substance. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Parrish, Mrs Mary Frances (Kennedy)
Parrish, M. F. K. Gastronomical me. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Part of a lifetime. Simonson, L. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Particles
Dalla Valle, J. M. Micromeritics. (Ag '43)
Parties in wartime. Bell, L. P. (Je '43)
Partridge, Bellamy
Partridge, B. Excuse my dust. (O '43)
Parts of planes. Aviation research associates, incorporated. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Passaic river
Wildes, H. E. Twin rivers: the Raritan and the Passaic. (Ap '43)
Passengers to Mexico. Niles, B. R. (My '43)
Passing dream. Nichols, M. G. (Ap '43)
Passing of the European age. Fischer, E. (D '43)
Passport to treason. Hynd, A. (Je '43)
Pastoral work
Powell, S. W. Where are the people? (My '43)
Patchwork quilt. De Leeuw, A. L. (D '43)
Patent law for chemists, engineers and students. Biesterfeld, C. H. (D '43)
Patent laws and legislation
Bennett, W. B. American patent system. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Biesterfeld, C. H. Patent law for chemists, engineers and students. (D '43)
Patents
Bennett, W. B. American patent system. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Path to perfection. Sangster, W. E. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Patients' library. Mason, M. F. (S '43)
Patriotic plays
Golden, S. E. ed. Plays of patriotism for young Americans. (My '43)
Patriots. Kingsley, S. (S '43)
Pattern for Penelope. Thompson, M. W. (O '43)
Pattern making
Hall, J. R. Practical wood patternmaking. (S '43)
Patterns and principles of Spanish art. Hagen, O. F. L. (Ag '43)
Patterns of Negro segregation. Johnson, C. S. (Ap '43)
Patterns on the wall. Yates, E. (My '43)
Paul, Saint
Klausner, J. From Jesus to Paul. (S '43)
Fiction
Asch, S. Apostle. (O '43)
Pay-off. Barry, J. (S '43)
Payne, David Lewis
Rister, C. C. Land hunger. (Mr '43)
Peace
Alguy, J. S. Permanent world peace. (Je '43)
Brittain, V. M. Humiliation with honor. (Ag '43)
Brown, P. M. Science of peace. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Hemleben, S. J. Plans for world peace through six centuries. (Mr '43)
May, M. A. Social psychology of war and peace. (Ag '43)
Roman Catholic church. Pope. Principles for peace. (N '43)
Peace and reconstruction. O'Shaughnessy, M. J. (O '43)
Peace plans and American choices. Millspaugh, A. C. (Ap '43)
Peace we fight for. Motherwell, H. (Ap '43)
Peachblossom. Lattimore, E. F. (O '43)
Pearls of Ferrara. Hofmann, M. (O '43)
Peddler's clock. Hunt, M. L. (Ag '43)
Pedie and the twins. Bryant, B. M. (My '43)
Peewee the mousedeer. De Leeuw, H. (S '43)
Pegs of history. Fish, H. D. (N '43)
Penhallow. Heyer, G. (S '43)
Pennsylvania German literature
Robacker, E. F. Pennsylvania German literature. (F '44) (1943 Annual) Penny Marsh and Ginger Lee, wartime nurses. Deming, D. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Penthouse in Bogotá. Paxton, V. M. (My '43)
People from heaven. Sanford, J. B. (D '43)
People who work in the country and in the city. Judson, C. I. (Je '43)
People's peace, by representatives of the United nations. (S '43)

Peptides
  Cohn, E. J., and Edsall, J. T. Proteins, amino acids and peptides as ions and dipolar ions. (D '43)
Perception
  Schilder, P. Mind. (S '43)
Perfection
  Sangster, W. E. Path to perfection. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Peril at the spy nest. Chase, A. M. (Mr '43)
Perilous journey. Sublette, C. M., and Kroll, H. H. (Ap '43)
Permanent court of international justice, 1920-1942. Hudson, M. O. (S '43)
Permanent revolution. Neumann, S. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Permanent United nations. Peaslee, A. J. (Ap '43)
Permanent world peace. Alguy, J. S. (Je '43)
Persecution
  Myers, G. History of bigotry in the United States. (S '43)
Personal estate planning in a changing world. Wormser, R. A. (Je '43)
Personal finances of Abraham Lincoln. Pratt, H. E. (Ag '43)
Personal leadership for combat officers. Reed, P. B. (O '43)
Personal problems and morale. Geisel, J. B. (D '43)
Personal religion. Macintosh, D. C. (D '43)
Personalities of the passion. Weatherhead, L. D. (Mr '43)
Personality
  Davidson, H. H. Personality and economic background. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
  Du Vall, E. W. Personality and social group work. (N '43)
  Fosdick, H. E. On being a real person. (Ap '43)
  Hildebrand, D. von. Liturgy and personality. (Je '43)
  Jennings, H. H. Leadership and isolation. (N '43)
  Künkel, F. In search of maturity. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
  Wolff, W. Expression of personality. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual) Personality and economic background. Davidson, H. H. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual) Personality and social change. Newcomb, T. M. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Personality and social group work. Du Vall, E. W. (N '43)
Personality unlimited. Dengel, V. (N '43)
Personnel service in education
  Strang, R. M., and Hatcher, O. L. Child development and guidance in rural schools. (O '43)
Peru
Description and travel
  Lear, J. Forgotten front. (Mr '43)
Petain, Henri Philippe Benoni Omer
  Guedalla, P. Two marshals: Bazaine, Pétain. (S '43)
  Martel, F. Petain. (N '43)
Peter I, the Great, emperor of Russia
Juvenile literature
  Baker, N. B. Peter the Great. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Peter Painter and the holidays. Webber, F. M. (Ag '43)
Peter Snow, surgeon. Robinson, G. (S '43)
Peter the Great. Baker, N. B. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Petroleum
  Kalichevsky, V. A. Amazing petroleum industry. (Je '43)
  Kalichevsky, V. A., and Stagner, B. A. Chemical refining of petroleum. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Mexico
  Person, H. S. Mexican oil. (My '43)
Petroleum industry and trade
  Forbes, G. Flush production. (Ap '43)
  Ickes, H. L. Fightin' oil. (S '43)
Pets
  Ditmars, R. L. Twenty little pets from everywhere. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Philharmonic-symphony society of New York
  Erskine, J. Philharmonic-symphony society of New York. (Mr '43)
Philippine islands
  Marquardt, F. S. Before Bataan and after. (S '43)
Description and travel
  Fairchild, D. G. Garden islands of the great East. (N '43)
Politics and government
  Romulo, C. P. Mother America. (D '43)
Phillips, Margaret Mann
  Phillips, M. M. Within the city wall. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Philosophic way of life in America. Smith, T. V. (O '43)
Philosophical essays in honor of Edgar Arthur Singer. Clarke, F. P., and Nahm, M. C., eds. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual) Philosophies at war. Sheen, F. J. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Philosophy
  Clarke, F. P., and Nahm, M. C., eds. Philosophical essays in honor of Edgar Arthur Singer. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
  Dampier, W. C. D. History of science and its relations with philosophy and religion. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
  Jeans, J. H. Physics and philosophy. (Ap '43)
  Rice, C. Y. New approach to philosophy. (O '43)
  Smith, T. V. Philosophic way of life in America. (O '43)
History
  Suhr, E. G. Two currents in the thought stream of Europe. (D '43)
Philosophy, American
  Sheldon, W. H. America's progressive philosophy. (Ap '43)
Philosophy, Ancient
  Hamburger, M. Awakening of Western legal thought. (Ap '43)
Philosophy, Chinese
  Hughes, E. R., ed. Great learning. (My '43)
  Lin, Y. Between tears and laughter. (S '43)
Philosophy, Greek
  Kapp, E. Greek foundations of traditional logic. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Philosophy, Indic
  Rāmakrishna. Gospel. (Je '43)
Philosophy, Modern
  Castell, A. Introduction to modern philosophy in six philosophical problems. (D '43)
  Runes, D. D., ed. Twentieth century philosophy. (N '43)
Philosophy of American democracy. Perry, C. M., ed. (O '43)
Philosophy of G. E. Moore. Schilpp, P. A., ed. (My '43)
Philosophy of Marsilio Ficino. Kristeller, P. O. (S '43)
Philosophy of the Christian world mission. Soper, E. D. (S '43)
Philosophy of Thomas Jefferson. Koch, A. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Phonograph records
  Panassié, H. Real jazz. (My '43)
Photogrammetry. Sharp, H. O. (S '43)
Photographers
  Schulman, S. Where's Sammy? (D '43)
Photographic books
  Fung, K. China. (S '43)
  Jennison, K. W., ed. Dedication. (D '43)
  Peet, C. Runaway train. (My '43)
  Stefansson, E. Here is Alaska. (Mr '43)
Photographic surveying
  Sharp, H. O. Photogrammetry. (S '43)
  Smith, H. T. U. Aerial photographs and their applications. (O '43)
Photography
  Mees, C. E. K. Theory of photographic process. (Ap '43)
  Miller, C. W. Principles of photographic reproduction. (Ap '43)
  Neblette, C. B. Photography. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
  Wulff, L. Sports photography. (Ap '43)

Yearbooks
U.S.A. at war. U.S. camera, 1944. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Photography, Aerial
Eardley, A. J. Aerial photographs. (Ap '43)
Maclean, N. F., and Olson, E. C. Manual for instruction in military maps and aerial photographs. (O '43)
Map and aerial photograph reading, complete. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Putnam, W. C. Map interpretation with military applications. (Je '43)
Sharp, H. O. Photogrammetry. (S '43)
Smith, H. T. U. Aerial photographs and their applications. (O '43)
Photography, Commercial
Coleman, H. J. Give us a little smile, baby. (S '43)
Photography of birds
Kane, H. B. Tale of the crow. (My '43)
Physical conditioning. Stafford, G. T., and Duncan, R. O. (Ap '43)
Physical education and training
Craine, H. C. Teaching athletic skills in physical education. (Ap '43)
D'Eliscu, F. How to prepare for military fitness. (Ag '43)
Schwendener, N. History of physical education in the United States. (Ap '43)
Stafford, G. T., and Duncan, R. O. Physical conditioning. (Ap '43)
Physical geography
Engeln, O. D. Geomorphology. (My '43)
Hinds, N. E. A. Geomorphology. (S '43)
Putnam, W. C. Map interpretation with military applications. (Je '43)
United States
Muelder, H. R., and Delo, D. M. Years of this land. (Ag '43)
Physicians
Correspondence, reminiscences, etc.
Hamilton, A. Exploring the dangerous trades. (My '43)
Physics
Blackwood, O. H. General physics. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Cheronis, N. D., and others. Study of the physical world. (D '43)
Dingle, H. Mechanical physics. (Ag '43)
Dingle, H. Sub-atomic physics. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Fletcher, G. L., and others. Unified physics. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Hobbs, G. M., and others. Fundamentals of machines, for those preparing for war service. (Ag '43)
Knapp, E. J. Basic physics for pilots and flight crews. (Ag '43)
Lemon, H. B., and Ference, M. Analytical experimental physics. (S '43)
Lindsay, R. B. Student's handbook of elementary physics. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Luhr, O. Physics tells why. (O '43)
Margenau, H., and Murphy, G. M. Mathematics of physics and chemistry. (O '43)
Perkins, H. A. College physics, abridged. (D '43)
Physics manual for pilots. (S '43)
Rusk, R. D. Forward with science. (Je '43)
Saunders, F. A. Survey of physics for college students. (N '43)
Taylor, L. W. Fundamental physics. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Verwiebe, F. L., and others. Elements of machines. (Ap '43)
White, M. W., ed. Practical physics. (N '43)
Juvenile literature
Freeman, M. and I. M. Fun with science. (My '43)
Philosophy
Jeans, J. H. Physics and philosophy. (Ap '43)
Physics and philosophy. Jeans, J. H. (Ap '43)
Physics manual for pilots. (S '43)
Physics of blown sand and desert dunes. Bagnold, R. A. (Mr '43)
Physics of metals. Seitz, F. (D '43)
Physics tells why. Luhr, O. (O '43)
Pick out the biggest. Morris, F. D. (O '43)
Pico and the silver mountain. Phelps, M. (Je '43)
Pictorial history of the movies. Taylor, D., and others. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Picts and the martyrs. Ransome, A. (D '43)
Picture almanac for boys and girls. Kohl, G. L. (Ap '43)
Picture book of insects. Gaul, A. T. (Je '43)
Picture map geography of Mexico, Central America and the West Indies. Quinn, V. (Je '43)
Pictures
Pearson, R. M. Experiencing American pictures. (My '43)
Pierre Pidgeon. Kingman, L. (D '43)
Pierson, Mrs Louise John (Randall)
Pierson, L. J. R. Roughly speaking. (Ag '43)
Pigeons
Juvenile literature
Writers' program, Pennsylvania. Pigeons. (My '43)
Pigments
Mayer, F. Chemistry of natural coloring matters. (Ag '43)
Pilebuck. Hawkins, J. and W. (Ag '43)
Pilgrims all. Curtin, M. A. M., comp. (D '43)
Pillars of security. Beveridge, W. H. (O '43)
Piloting and maneuvering of ships. Kells, L. M., and others. (S '43)
Pilotin' comes natural. Way, F. (Je '43)
Pilots and pilotage
Kells, L. M., and others. Piloting and maneuvering of ships. (S '43)
Pine tree shield. Flint, E. C. (Ag '43)
Pink umbrella. Crane, F. K. (S '43)
Pioneer to the past. Breasted, C. (My '43)
Pioneering in psychology. Seashore, C. E. (Je '43)
Pipe fitting
Miller, L. A. Plumbing and pipe-fitting layout job sheets. (D '43)
Pirate. Behrman, S. N. (My '43)
Pirate's apprentice. Wells, P. (D '43)
Pirates of Icy strait. Bell, M. E. (O '43)
Pirotechnia. Biringucci, V. (Je '43)
Pito's house. Bryan, C., and Madden, M. B. (My '43)
Pitter patter. Baruch, D. W. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Place of oral reading in the school program. Hyatt, A. V. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Plan for Africa. Hinden, R. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Plane and spherical trigonometry. Nelson, A. L., and Folley, K. W. (D '43)
Plane trigonometry made plain. Carson, A. B. (Je '43)
Plans for world peace through six centuries. Hemleben, S. J. (Mr '43)
Plant breeding
Beaty, J. Y. Luther Burbank, plant magician. (S '43)
Plant introduction
Fairchild, D. G. Garden islands of the great East. (N '43)
Plantation life
Byrd, W. Secret diary of William Byrd of Westover, v 2. (Ap '43)
Plants we eat and wear. Jaques, H. E. (N '43)
Plastic materials
Du Bois, J. H. Plastics. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Lougee, E. F. Plastics from farm and forest. (Je '43)
Mansperger, D. E., and Pepper, C. W. Plastics, problems and processes. (S '43)
Plastics
Johnson, W. H., and Newkirk, L. V. Ceramic arts. (Je '43)
Simonds, H. R., and Ellis, C. Handbook on plastics. (O '43)
Plastics. Du Bois, J. H. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Plastics from farm and forest. Lougee, E. F. (Je '43)
Plastics, problems and processes. Mansperger, D. E., and Pepper, C. W. (S '43)
Plato
Skemp, J. B. Theory of motion in Plato's later dialogues. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Play
Garrison, C. G., and Sheehy, E. D. At home with children. (Je '43)

Plays of patriotism for young Americans. Golden, S. E., ed. (My '43)
Pleasures of sailing. Sanford, A. B. (Je '43)
Pledge of Piang. Stuart, F. P. (D '43)
Plight of man and the power of God. Lloyd-Jones, D. M. (My '43)
Plowing. See Tillage
Plowman's folly. Faulkner, E. H. (S '43)
Plumbing
  Miller, L. A. Plumbing and pipe-fitting layout job sheets. (D '43)
  Plum, S. M. Plumbing practice and design. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Plumbing and pipe-fitting layout job sheets. Miller, L. A. (D '43)
Plywood
  Wood, A. D., and Linn, T. G. Plywoods. (O '43)
Pocahontas
  Juvenile literature
  Criss, M. Pocahontas, young American princess. (Ag '43)
Poems and verses. Eden, H. P. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Poems of the New World. Noyes, A. (Ap '43)
Poetry
  Bowra, C. M. Heritage of symbolism. (S '43)
  Maritain, J. Art and poetry. (N '43)
  Collections
  Davidman, J., ed. Songs and battle cries of a world at war; war poems of the United nations. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
  Wreath of Christmas poems. (My '43)
Poetry (individual)
  Aiken, C. P. Brownstone eclogues, and other poems. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
  Auslander, J. Unconquerables. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
  Balabanova, A. Tears. (N '43)
  Barker, G. Sacred and secular elegies. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
  Barney, D. Selected poems, old and new. (Ap '43)
  Batchelder, A. East of Bridgewater. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
  Baudelaire, C. P. Mirror of Baudelaire. (My '43)
  Benton, W. This is my beloved. (Ap '43)
  Boggs, T. Arenas. (S '43)
  Brinnin, J. M. Lincoln lyrics. (My '43)
  Brown, H. P. M. Violent. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
  Bullett, G. W. Winter solstice. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
  Chubb, T. C. Time to speak. (N '43)
  Claudel, P. Coronal. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
  Coffin, R. P. T. Primer for America. (Ag '43)
  DeJong, D. C. Across the board. (Je '43)
  Derleth, A. W. Rind of earth. (Je '43)
  Doro, E. Mr Zenith and other poems. (S '43)
  Eaton, C. E. Bright plain. (S '43)
  Eden, H. P. Poems and verses. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
  Eliot, T. S. Four quartets. (Je '43)
  Farren, R. This man was Ireland. (Ag '43)
  Fearing, K. Afternoon of a pawnbroker. (O '43)
  Ferrini, V. Injunction. (S '43)
  Flexner, H. North window. (My '43)
  Frost, R. Come in. (My '43)
  George, S. A. Poems. (My '43)
  Gibson, W. W. Challenge. (Je '43)
  Guiterman, A. Brave laughter. (N '43)
  Hölderlin, J. C. F. Some poems. (S '43)
  Holland, R. E. Song of Tekakwitha. (My '43)
  Holmes, J. A. Map of my country. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
  Kees, W. Last man. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
  Kipling, R. Choice of Kipling's verse. (N '43)
  Lewis, A. Raiders' dawn. (S '43)
  McNeill, L. Time is our house. (S '43)
  Marshall, L. G. No boundary. (O '43)
  Masefield, J. Land workers. (Ap '43)
  Masefield, J. Wonderings. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
  Maxwell, G. Dark rain falling. (My '43)
  Millay, E. St V. Collected lyrics. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
  Miller, A. D. Cinderella. (D '43)
  North, J. N. Dinner party. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
  Noyes, A. Poems of the New World. (Ap '43)
  Patchen, K. Cloth of the tempest. (D '43)
  Patchen, K. Teeth of the lion. (S '43)
  Péguy, C. P. Basic verities. (My '43)
  Percy, W. A. Collected poems. (O '43)
  Phillips, G. S. Lonely apples. (Je '43)
  Pipes, J. Ziba. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
  Pratt, E. J. Brébeuf and his brethren. (Ag '43)
  Rilke, R. M. Poems. (My '43)
  Rosenberg, H. Trance above the streets. (N '43)
  Rosten, N. Fourth decade. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
  Schwartz, D. Genesis, bk 1. (S '43)
  Sitwell, E. Street songs. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
  Spain, R. L. Rock and cumulus. (Je '43)
  Starrett, V. Autolycus in limbo. (My '43)
  Stevens, W. Notes toward a supreme fiction. (Je '43)
  Thomas, D. New poems. (O '43)
  Thoreau, H. D. Collected poems. (N '43)
  Thwaites, M. Jervis Bay, and other poems. (Ap '43)
  Welshimer, H. Shining rain. (My '43)
  Wilder, A. N. Healing of the waters. (Ag '43)
  Wilkinson, B. American reasons. (Je '43)
  Williams, L. J. Nameless. (My '43)
  Wilson, S. K. Blind dawn. (Je '43)
  Wylie, E. H. Last poems of Elinor Wylie. (Ap '43)
Poetry and life. Sheed, F. J., comp. (Ap '43)
Pogo's fishing trip. Norling, J. and E. R. (My '43)
Pogo's sky ride. Norling, J. and E. R. (O '43)
Poincaré, Raymond
  Wright, G. Raymond Poincaré and the French presidency. (S '43)
Poland
  Civilization
  Kridl, M., and others, eds. For your freedom and ours. (S '43)
  History
  Halecki, O. History of Poland. (Ap '43)
  German occupation, 1939-
  Strzetelski, S. Where the storm broke. (Mr '43)
  Sources
  Kridl, M., and others, eds. For your freedom and ours. (S '43)
  Juvenile literature
  Kelly, E. P. Land of the Polish people. (N '43)
Police
  Perkins, R. M. Elements of police science. (Je '43)
Police, Private
  Farren, H. D. Industrial guard's manual. (Je '43)
Policy of the United States toward the neutrals, 1917-1918. Bailey, T. A. (Je '43)
Political economy of population. Mukerjee, R. (N '43)
Political parties
  United States
  Binkley, W. E. American political parties. (N '43)
  Cousens, T. W. Politics and political organizations in America. (Mr '43)
Political science
  Bingham, A. M. Techniques of democracy. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
  Burckhardt, J. C. Force and freedom. (My '43)
  Burnham, J. Machiavellians, defenders of freedom. (Je '43)
  Collingwood, R. G. New Leviathan. (O '43)
  Griffith, E. S. Modern government in action. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
  Minar, E. L. Early Pythagorean politics in practice and theory. (Ag '43)
  Oakeshott, M. J. Social and political doctrines of contemporary Europe. (S '43)
  Paterson, I. B. God of the machine. (Je '43)
  Plato. Republic; tr. by F. M. Cornford. (Ap '43)
  History
  Coomaraswamy, A. K. Spiritual authority and temporal power in the Indian theory of government. (Ap '43)
  Lin, M. Men and ideas. (Je '43)

Politics, Practical
Anderson, H. D., and Davidson, P. E. Ballots and the democratic class struggle. (Ag '43)
Cousens, T. W. Politics and political organizations in America. (Mr '43)
Politics and political organizations in America. Cousens, T. W. (Mr '43)
Politics of this war. Harvey, R. F. (My '43)
Polkadot of the Flying M ranch. Davisson, E. D. (S '43)
Pollock, Channing
Pollock, C. Harvest of my years. (Ap '43)
Polly Poppingay, milliner. Newman, G., and Meyer, E. P. (D '43)
Polymers and polymerization
Burk, R. E., and Grummitt, O. J., eds. Chemistry of large molecules. (D '43)
Ponsonby, Sir Henry Frederick
Ponsonby, A. A. W. H. P. Henry Ponsonby. (D '43)
Poor laws
Kentucky
Sunley, E. M. Kentucky poor law. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Pop Warner's book for boys. Warner, G. S., and Wright, L. (Ap '43)
Popular freethought in America, 1825-1850. Post, A. (Ag '43)
Population
Forsyth, W. D. Myth of open spaces. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Mukerjee, R. Political economy of population. (N '43)
Spengler, J. J. French predecessors of Malthus. (My '43)
Thompson, W. S. Population problems. (N '43)
Population problems. Thompson, W. S. (N '43)
Port of New York authority
Bard, E. W. Port of New York authority. (Ag '43)
Portrait of Jesus. Eddy, G. S. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Portrait of Laurel. Thomas, K. C. (N '43)
Portraits of our presidents. Pach, A. (My '43)
Ports of British Columbia. Rothery, A. E. (S '43)
Portugal
Civilization
Hilton, R., ed. Handbook of Hispanic source materials and research organizations in the United States. (Ap '43)
Portuguese American poetry
Collections
Fitts, D., ed. Anthology of contemporary Latin American poetry. (Mr '43)
Portuguese in Brazil
Marchant, A. N. De A. From barter to slavery. (Ap '43)
Post scripts. Saturday Evening Post (periodical). (F '44) (1943 Annual) Postal service
United States
Fowler, D. G. Cabinet politician. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Postmortem on Malaya. Thompson, V. M. (Mr '43)
Postwar economic problems. Harris, S. E., ed. (Ag '43)
Postwar plans of the United nations. Lorwin, L. L. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Potash in North America. Turrentine, J. W. (S '43)
Potash industry and trade
Turrentine, J. W. Potash in North America. (S '43)
Pottery
Johnson, W. H., and Newkirk, L. V. Ceramic arts. (Je '43)
Radtke, O. A. Keene cement craft. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Poultry
Chapman, P. W. Victory barnyard. (N '43)
Taylor, J. C. Backyard poultry keeping. (S '43)
Powder Valley vengeance. Field, P. (My '43)
Power unleashed. Samuels, M. M. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Practical emulsions. Bennett, H. (O '43)
Practical guide to successful farming. Moreland, W. S., ed. (S '43)
Practical index system. (Je '43)
Practical marine Diesel engineering. Ford, L. R. (Je '43)
Practical mathematics of aviation. Downer, A. E. (D '43)
Practical navigation. Cugle, C. H. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Practical outline of mechanical trades for home study. Schaaf, W. L., ed. (Ap '43)
Practical physics. White, M. W., ed. (N '43)
Practical radio communication. Nilson, A. R., and Hornung, J. L. (D '43)
Practical wood patternmaking. Hall, J. R. (S '43)
Practice in essential mathematics. Grossnickle, F. E., and others. (Ag '43)
Prairie Chautauqua. Fargo, L. F. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Prairie schooner caravan. Prairie schooner. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Prayer
Hazelton, R. Root and flower of prayer. (My '43)
Prayer poems. Armstrong, O. V. and H., comps. (Ap '43)
Prayers
Fox, S. F., comp. Chain of prayer across the ages. (My '43)
Milligan, H. V., ed. Best loved hymns and prayers of the American people. (Ap '43
Minute of prayer. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Sperry, W. L., ed. Prayers for private devotions in war-time. (S '43)
Prayers for private devotions in war-time. Sperry, W. L., ed. (S '43)
Preacher looks at war. Poling, D. A. (O '43)
Preaching
Allen, A. Art of preaching. (S '43)
Booth, J. N. Quest for preaching power. (Je '43)
Macartney, C. E. N. Six kings of the American pulpit. (Je '43)
Noyes, M. P. Preaching the word of God. (O '43)
Preaching from the prophets. Yates, K. M. (Ap '43)
Preaching the word of God. Noyes, M. P. (O '43)
Precocity. See Children, Gifted
Preface to Paradise lost. Lewis, C. S. (Ap '43)
Prefaces to peace. (S '43)
Pregnancy
Gallagher, R. Lady in waiting. (S '43)
Pre-service course in automotive mechanics. Frost, J. V. (Je '43)
Pre-service course in electricity. Shea, W. C. (Je '43)
Pre-service course in machine science. Lebowitz, S. H. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Pre-service course in shop practice. Kennedy, W. J. (Je '43)
Presidential campaign and election of 1892. Knoles, G. H. (F '44) (1943 Annual) Presidents (United States)
Portraits
Pach, A. Portraits of our presidents. (My '43)
Terms of office
Stein, C. W. Third-term tradition. (S '43)
Press
Germany
Ullstein, H. Rise and fall of the house of Ullstein. (Ap '43)
United States
Seldes, G. Facts are. (S '43)
Pressing machinery
Hinman, C. W. Die engineering layouts and formulas. (D '43)
Pretorian prefect from Commodus to Diocletian. Howe, L. L. (N '43)
Preview of history. Swing, R. G. (O '43)
Price control. Kjellstrom, E. T. H., and others. (Je '43)
Price control in the war economy. Hirsch, J. (Je '43)
Prices
Hirsch, J. Price control in the war economy. (Je '43)
Kjellstrom, E. T. H., and others. Price control. (Je '43)
Marget, A. W. Theory of prices, v2. (My '43)

Prices—Continued
Neal, A. C. Industrial concentration and price inflexibility. (Ap '43)
Schultz, T. W. Redirecting farm policy. (O '43)
Stigler, G. J. Theory of competitive price. (S '43)
Primacy of faith. Kroner, R. (O '43)
Primates
Hooton, E. A. Man's poor relations. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Primer for America. Coffin, R. P. T. (Ag '43)
Primer for parents. Ashburn, F. D. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Primer for readers. Tenney, E. A., and Wardle, R. M. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Primer of celestial navigation. Favill, J. (O '43)
Principles and practice of radio servicing. Hicks, H. J. (S '43)
Principles and processes of light leather manufacture. Smith, P. I. (D '43)
Principles for peace. Roman Catholic church. Pope. (N '43)
Principles of aeronautical radio engineering. Sandretto, P. C. (My '43)
Principles of electricity. Cornetet, W. H., and Fox, D. W. (Je '43)
Principles of flying. (Je '43)
Principles of heat engineering. Bailey, N. P. (Je '43)
Principles of ignition. Morgan, J. D. (S '43)
Principles of metallographic laboratory practice. Kehl, G. L. (Je '43)
Principles of photographic reproduction. Miller, C. W. (Ap '43)
Principles of physical metallurgy. Coonan, F. L. (F '44) (1943 Annual) Principles of private international law. Nussbaum, A. (O '43)
Printing, Practical
Harper, H. D. Printing shop mathematics. (S '43)
Rogers, B. Paragraphs on printing. (O '43)
Printing shop mathematics. Harper, H. D. (S '43)
Prism and lens making. Twyman, F. (D '43)
Prisms
Twyman, F. Prism and lens making. (D '43)
Prisoner of the Japs. Dew, G. (Ag '43)
Prisons
Barnes, H. E., and Teeters, N. K. New horizons in criminology. (O '43)
Japan
Yashima, T. New sun. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Private report. Roberts, K. (S '43)
Prize stories of 1943. O. Henry memorial award. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual) Probation and parole in theory and practice. Pigeon, H. D. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Probation system
Pigeon, H. D. Probation and parole in theory and practice. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Problem of India. Dutt, R. P. (O '43)
Problem of pain. Lewis, C. S. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Problems of a changing social order. Gillette, J. M., and Reinhardt, J. M. (Je '43)
Process practices in the aircraft industry. Klein, F. D. (Ap '43)
Produce trade
Taylor, H. C. and A. D. World trade in agricultural products. (S '43)
Profession, Choice of
Broadley, M. E. Square pegs in square holes. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Logie, I. M. R., ed. Careers in the making. (S '43)
Steele, E. M. Careers for girls in science and engineering. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Super, D. E. Dynamics of vocational adjustment. (Ap '43)
Professor at large. Duggan, S. P. H. (D '43)
Progress of Pan Americanism. Reynolds, T. H., ed. (D '43)
Prologue to New England. Howe, H. F. (My '43)
Promise. Buck, P. S. (D '43)
Propaganda
Seldes, G. Facts are. (S '43)
Propaganda, German
Bischoff, R. F. Nazi conquest through German culture. (Ag '43)
Derounian, A. Under cover. (S '43)
Ettlinger, H. Axis on the air. (N '43)
Sington, D., and Weidenfeld, A. Goebbels experiment. (Ag '43)
Propellers, Aerial
Falk, K. H. Aircraft propeller handbook. (S '43)
Glauert, H. Elements of aerofoil and airscrew theory. (Ag '43)
Property
Clarkson, P. S., and Warren, C. T. Law of property in Shakespeare and the Elizabethan drama. (Ag '43)
Property qualifications of members of Parliament. Witmer, H. E. (D '43)
Prophet and a pilgrim. Schneider, H. W., and Lawton, G. (Je '43)
Prophet by experience. Iams, J. (Ap '43)
Prophets
Yates, K. M. Preaching from the prophets. (Ap '43)
Prospecting
Von Bernewitz, M. W. Handbook for prospectors and operators of small mines. (O '43)
Protection of coastal fisheries under international law. Riesenfeld, S. A. (Je '43)
Protective and decorative coatings, v 3. Mattiello, J. J., ed. (D '43)
Proteins
Abramson, H. A., and others. Electrophoresis of proteins and the chemistry of cell surfaces. (Je '43)
Cohn, E. J., and Edsall, J. T. Proteins, amino acids and peptides as ions and dipolar ions. (D '43)
Proteins, amino acids and peptides as ions and dipolar ions. Cohn, E. J., and Edsall, J. T. (D '43)
Providence and government of God
Gilkey, J. G. God will help you. (D '43)
Lewis, C. S. Problem of pain. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Psychoanalysis
Levine, M. Psychotherapy in medical practice. (My '43)
Sachs, H. Creative unconscious. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Psychology
Jacobi, J. Psychology of Jung. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Strecker, E. A., and others. Discovering ourselves. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Thorndike, E. L. Man and his works. (D '43)
Psychology, Applied
Burnett, V. E. You and your public. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Copeland, N. Psychology and the soldier. (S '43)
Geisel, J. B. Personal problems and morale. (D '43)
Hogue, H. G. Bringing up ourselves. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Kraines, S. H., and Thetford, E. S. Managing your mind. (S '43)
Künkel, F. In search of maturity. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Langer, W. C. Psychology and human living. (Je '43)
Mowrer, E. R. Disorganization, personal and social. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Strode, J. and P. R. Social skills in case work. (Ag '43)
Tiffin, J. Industrial psychology. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Weston, S. A., ed. Finding your way in life. (Je '43)
Psychology, Pathological
Brickner, R. M. Is Germany incurable? (Je '43)
Cobb, S. Borderlands of psychiatry. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Fink, D. H. Release from nervous tension. (S '43)
Levine, M. Psychotherapy in medical practice. (My '43)
Lichtenstein, P. M., and Small, S. M. Handbook of psychiatry. (O '43)
Schilder, P. Mind. (S '43)
Strecker, E. A., and others. Discovering ourselves. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Strecker, E. A. Fundamentals of psychiatry. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Zilboorg, G. Mind, medicine and man. (Je '43)

Psychology, Physiological
Roberts, W. H. Psychology you can use. (Ag '43)
Seashore, C. E. Pioneering in psychology. (Je '43)
Tolman, E. C. Drives toward war. (Je '43)
Psychology and human living. Langer, W. C. (Je '43)
Psychology and the soldier. Copeland, N. (S '43)
Psychology of efficiency. Bills, A. G. (F '44) (1943 Annual) Psychology of Jung. Jacobi, J. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Psychology of military leadership. Pennington, L. A., and others. (Ag '43)
Psychology you can use. Roberts, W. H. (Ag '43)

Psychotherapy
Levine, M. Psychotherapy in medical practice. (My '43)
Slavson, S. R. Introduction to group therapy. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Psychotherapy in medical practice. Levine, M. (My '43)
Psychotherapy with children. Allen, F. H. (My '43)
Public documents and World war II. American library association. Committee on public documents. (S '43)
Public libraries in the life of the nation. Rossell, B. S. (S '43)
Public library service to business. Manley, M. C. (Je '43)

Public opinion
Blankenship, A. B. Consumer and opinion research. (N '43)

United States

Kolbeck, Sister Orestes. American opinion on the kulturkampf. (N '43)

Public speaking
Hoffman, W. G. Speaker's notebook. (Je '43)
Public trusteeship. Heaney, N. S. (N '43)

Public utilities

United States

Baum, R. D. Federal power commission and state utility regulation. (S '43)

Publicity
Broughton, A. Careers in public relations. (Je '43)
Burnett, V. E. You and your public. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Fine, B. Educational publicity. (Je '43)
Levy, H. P. Study in public relations. (S '43)

Publishers and publishing

Directories

Literary market place, 1943. (Ag '43)

Pückler-Muskau, Hermann Ludwig Heinrich, fürst von
Gross, F. Grand seigneur. (S '43)
Pullman strike. Lindsey, A. (My '43)
Punch in, Susie! Giles, N. (O '43)
Pup Himself. Dennis, M. (D '43)
Pupil progress in the elementary school. Elsbree, W. S. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Puppies for keeps. Lathrop, D. P. (N '43)
Puppy for keeps. Hawkins, Q. (D '43)
Puzzle in paint. Kootz, S. M. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

PX. Taylor, M. (My '43)

Pythagoras and Pythagorean school
Minar, E. L. Early Pythagorean politics in practice and theory. (Ag '43)

Q-boat. Mason, F. W. (S '43)

Quebec (province)
Hughes, E. C. French Canada in transition. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Queens die proudly. White, W. L. (Ag '43)
Quest for preaching power. Booth, J. N. (Je '43)
Question of expatriation in America prior to 1907. Tsiang, I. (D '43)
Questions and answers for marine engineers. Dinger, H. C., comp. (S '43)
Quite contrary. Urmston, M. (Je '43)

Quotations
Lawson, R. Watchwords of liberty. (S '43)

Rabinowitz, Shalom (Shalom Aleichem, pseud)
Samuel, M. World of Sholom Aleichem. (Ap '43)

Raccoons

Legends and stories

Lang, D. On the dark of the moon. (D '43)

Race
Ashley-Montagu, M. F. Man's most dangerous myth. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Bonger, W. A. Race and crime. (O '43)
Race and crime. Bonger, W. A. (O '43)
Race and rumors of race. Odum, H. W. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Race problems
Ashley-Montagu, M. F. Man's most dangerous myth. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Buck, P. S. What America means to me. (S '43)
Laidler, H. W., ed. Role of the races in our future civilization. (Je '43)
McWilliams, C. Brothers under the skin. (Je '43)
Race question and the Negro. La Farge, J. (N '43)
Race, reason and rubbish. Dahlberg, G. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual) Race riot. Lee, A. M., and Humphrey, N. D. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Radiation
Bowen, E. J. Chemical aspects of light. (Je '43)

Radio
Almstead, F. E., and Tuthill, F. R. L. Radio materiel guide. (N '43)
Brainerd, J. G., and others, eds. Ultra-high-frequency techniques. (Je '43)
Coe, D. Marconi, pioneer of radio. (S '43)
Cooke, N. M., and Orleans, J. B. Mathematics essential to electricity and radio. (D '43)
Gorder, L. O., and others. Fundamentals of radio for those preparing for war service. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Hellman, C. I. Elements of radio. (My '43)
Hicks, H. J. Principles and practice of radio servicing. (S '43)
Higgy, R. C. Fundamental radio experiments. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Marcus, A. and W. Elements of radio. (Je '43)
Morgan, A. P. First principles of radio communications. (S '43)
Nilson, A. R., and Hornung, J. L. Practical radio communication. (D '43)
Reck, F. M. Radio from start to finish. (Ap '43)
Suffern, M. G. Basic radio principles. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Terman, F. E. Radio engineer's handbook. (O '43)
Timbie, W. H. Basic electricity for communications. (S '43)
Williams, R. E., and Scarlott, C. A. Radio—I. (Je '43)

Dictionaries

Dunlap, C. H., and Hahn, E. R., eds. Electrical and radio dictionary. (S '43)

Laws and regulation

Robinson, T. P. Radio networks and the federal government. (S '43)

Radio broadcasting
National broadcasting company. NBC handbook of pronunciation. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Robinson, T. P. Radio networks and the federal government. (S '43)
Seldes, G. Facts are. (S '43)
Sioussat, H. J. Mikes don't bite. (Ap '43)
Wylie, M., ed. Best broadcasts of 1940-41. (Ap '43)

Radio engineering
Sarbacher, R. I., and Edson, W. A. Hyper and ultrahigh frequency engineering. (N '43)
Radio engineer's handbook. Terman, F. E. (O '43)

Radio frequency modulation
Hund, A. Frequency modulation. (Je '43)
Radio from start to finish. Reck, F. M. (Ap '43)

Radio in aeronautics
McIntosh, C. H. Radio navigation for pilots. (Je '43)

Radio in aeronautics—Continued
Sandretto, P. C. Principles of aeronautical radio engineering. (My '43)

Radio in education

Bibliography

Cooper, I. M. Bibliography on educational broadcasting. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Radio materiel guide. Almstead, F. E., and Tuthill, F. R. L. (N '43)
Radio navigation for pilots. McIntosh, C. H. (Je '43)
Radio networks and the federal government. Robinson, T. P. (S '43)

Radio plays
Brecht, B. Trial of Lucullus. (S '43)
Weiser, N. S., ed. Writer's radio theatre, 1941. (My '43)
Wylie, M., ed. Best broadcasts of 1940-41. (Ap '43)

Radio receivers
Ghirardi, A. A. Radio troubleshooter's handbook. (S '43)

Radio sermons
Clements, B. Speaking in parables. (S '43)
Radio troubleshooter's handbook. Ghirardi, A. A. (S '43)
Radiographic inspection of metals. Zmeskal, O. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Radiography
American society for testing materials. Symposium on radiography. (D '43)
St John, A., and Isenburger, H. R. Industrial radiology. (Ag '43)

Industrial applications

Hirst, H. X-rays in research and industry. (O '43)
Zmeskal, O. Radiographic inspection of metals. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Radiotherapy
Hart, A. These mysterious rays. (Je '43)
Radisson, Pierre Esprit
Nute, G. L. Caesars of the wilderness. (S '43)
Raft, and Socrates asks why. Linklater, E. (Je '43)
Raft book. Gatty, H. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Raiders' dawn. Lewis, A. (S '43)
Railroading from the head end. Farrington, S. K. (My '43)

Railroads
Bromley, J. Clear the tracks! (O '43)

United States

Farrington, S. K. Railroading from the head end. (My '43)

Ramrod. Glidden, F. D. (N '43)

Ranch life
Hammer, L. V. Short grass and longhorns. (S '43)
Lavender, D. S. One man's West. (My '43)
Swift, K. Who could ask for anything more? (O '43)
Van der Veer, J. Few happy ones. (O '43)

Range rider. Kent, W. H. B. (S '43)

Raritan river
Wildes, H. E. Twin rivers: the Raritan and the Passaic. (Ap '43)

Rat began to gnaw the rope. Grafton, C. W. (Ag '43)

Rationalism
Murphy, A. E. Uses of reason. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Reader. Infantry journal, incorporated. (N '43)
Reader over your shoulder. Graves, R., and Hodge, A. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Readers

Indexes

Rue, E., comp. Subject index to books for primary grades. (My '43)

Reading
Hyatt, A. V. Place of oral reading in the school program. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Tenney, E. A., and Wardle, R. M. Primer for readers. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Reading, Psychology of Luckiesh, M., and Moss, F. K. Reading as a visual task. (Je '43)

Reading aircraft blueprints. Goff, F. L., and Novak, L. R. (O '43)

Reading as a visual task. Luckiesh, M., and Moss, F. K. (Je '43)
Reading blueprints in the machine industries. Dwight, C. (N '43)
Reading interests and needs of Negro college freshmen regarding social science materials. Daniel, W. G. (D '43)
Real jazz. Panassié, H. (My '43)

Reality
Murphy, A. E. Uses of reason. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Reason
Murphy, A. E. Uses of reason. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Rebel of Ronde valley. Snow, C. H. (D '43)
Rebel ranger. MacDonald, W. C. (Ag '43)

Rebel siege. Kjelgaard, J. A. (D '43)

Reciprocal trade agreements program. Pearson, J. C. (S '43)

Reciprocity
Pearson, J. C. Reciprocal trade agreements program. (S '43)

Recitation from memory. Sale, E. (O '43)

Reconstruction (1939-)
Abend, H. Pacific charter. (Mr '43)
Alguy, J. S. Permanent world peace. (Je '43)
Anshen, R. N., ed. Beyond victory. (D '43)
Bain, L. B. Chaos or peace. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Bing, E. J. Five-year peace plan. (S '43)
Bonnet, H. Outlines of the future. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Borgese, G. A. Common cause. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Brant, I. Road to peace and freedom. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Buck, P. S. What America means to me. (S '43)
Chase, S. Goals for America. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Chevalier, S. War's end and after. (N '43)
Childs, J. L., and Counts, G. S. America, Russia, and the Communist party in the postwar world. (My '43)
Condliffe, J. B. Agenda for a postwar world. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Culbertson, E. Summary of the world federation plan. (Je '43)
Culbertson, E. Total peace. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Dawson, C. H. Judgment of the nations. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Dodds, H. W. Out of this nettle, danger. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Drucker, P. F. Future of industrial man. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Einzig, P. Can we win the peace? (Je '43)
Gibbs, P. H., ed. Bridging the Atlantic. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Hanč, J. Eastern Europe and the United States. (D '43)
Harris, S. E., ed. Postwar economic problems. (Ag '43)
Hutchinson, P. From victory to peace. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Johnsen, J. E., comp. World peace plans. (N '43)
Joint commission of the Council for education in world citizenship and the London international assembly. Education and the United nations. (D '43)
Kotschnig, W. M. Slaves need no leaders. (Mr '43)
Laski, H. J. Reflections on the revolution of our time. (Ag '43)
Lorwin, L. L. Postwar plans of the United nations. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
MacIver, R. M. Towards an abiding peace. (S '43)
Madge, C. Industry after the war. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Miller, H. H. Yours for tomorrow. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Millspaugh, A. C. Peace plans and American choices. (Ap '43)
Motherwell, H. Peace we fight for. (Ap '43)
Myer, W. E., and Cross, C. Education for democratic survival. (My '43)
Newfang, O. World government. (Je '43)
Noyes, C. E. Economic freedom. (Je '43)
O'Shaughnessy, M. J. Peace and reconstruction. (O '43)
Owen, R. B. Look forward, warrior. (My '43)
Parkes, H. B. World after war. (Ap '43)
Peaslee, A. J. Permanent United nations. (Ap '43)

People's peace, by representatives of the United nations. (S '43)
Prefaces to peace. (S '43)
Ranshofen-Wertheimer, E. F. Victory is not enough. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Stewart, M. S. Building for peace at home and abroad. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Wallace, H. A. Century of the common man. (S '43)

East (Far East)

Peffer, N. Basis for peace in the Far East. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)

Germany

Graefenberg, R. G. Meet Mr Blank. (N '43)
Ludwig, E. How to treat the Germans. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Seger, G. H., and Marck, S. K. Germany: to be or not to be? (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Winkler, P. Thousand-year conspiracy. (Ap '43)

Italy

Salvemini, G., and LaPiana, G. What to do with Italy. (O '43)

United States

Rugg, H. O. Now is the moment. (Ag '43)

Recreation
Shanas, E., and Dunning, C. E. Recreation and delinquency. (N '43)
Rectors of two Essex parishes and their times. Austen, F. W. (S '43)
Red is for murder. Whitney, P. A. (D '43)
Red Orm. Bengtsson, F. G. (My '43)
Red Raskall. McMeekin, C. (N '43)
Red River valley
Pritchett, J. P. Red River valley. (Ap '43)
Red turban. Wilde, I. (O '43)
Red, white and blue auto. Mitchell, L. S. (D '43)
Redemption
Robinson, H. W. Redemption and revelation in the actuality of history. (Je '43)
Redemption and revelation in the actuality of history. Robinson, H. W. (Je '43)
Redirecting farm policy. Schultz, T. W. (O '43)
Rediscovering South America. Franck, H. A. (Ap '43)
Reed, Walter
Truby, A. E. Memoir of Walter Reed. (D '43)

Juvenile literature

Wood, L. N. Walter Reed, doctor in uniform. (S '43)
Reference function of the library. Chicago. University. Graduate library school. Library institute. (Je '43)
Reflections on government. Barker, E. (Je '43)
Reflections on history. Eng title of: Force and freedom. Burckhardt, J. C. (My '43)
Reflections on the revolution of our time. Laski, H. J. (Ag '43)
Refractories. Norton, F. H. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Refractory materials
Norton, F. H. Refractories. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Refrigeration and refrigerating machinery
Venemann, H. G. Refrigeration theory and applications. (Ap '43)
Refrigeration theory and applications. Venemann, H. G. (Ap '43)
Regulators. Degenhard, W. (Je '43)
Regulatory administration. Graham, G. A., and Reining, H., eds. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual) Rehabilitation of the tuberculous. Pattison, H. A. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Rehabilitation of the war injured. Doherty, W. B., and Runes, D. D., eds. (D '43)
Release from nervous tension. Fink, D. H. (S '43)
Relief practice in a family agency. Community service society of N.Y. Family service. (N '43)
Religion
Waterman, L. Religion faces the world crisis. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Philosophy

Kroner, R. How do we know God? (S '43)
Religion and empire. Wright, L. B. (O '43)
Religion and health. Hiltner, S. (My '43)
Religion and science
Lindsay, A. D. Religion, science, and society in the modern world. (Ag '43)
Needham, J. Time: the refreshing river. (O '43)
Raven, C. E. Science, religion, and the future. (S '43)
Reeve, J. J. World of energy. (My '43)
Religion faces the world crisis. Waterman, L. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Religion in literature
Fairchild, H. N. Religious trends in English poetry, v2. (Ap '43)
Religion of tomorrow. Boodin, J. E. (N '43)
Religion, science, and society in the modern world. Lindsay, A. D. (Ag '43)
Religious counseling of college students. Merriam, T. W., and others. (N '43)
Religious education
Bower, W. C. Christ and Christian education. (Ag '43)
Jones, M. A. Faith of our children. (Ag '43)
Miller, R. C. Guide for church school teachers. (D '43)
Religious liberty
Myers, G. History of bigotry in the United States. (S '43)
Religious literature

Collections

Smith, R. P., ed. Tree of life. (Ap '43)
Religious poetry
Armstrong, O. V. and H., comps. Prayer poems. (Ap '43)

Bibliography

Brown, C. F., and Robbins, R. H. Index of Middle English verse. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Religious trends in English poetry, v2. Fairchild, H. N. (Ap '43)
Remember Greece. Powell, D. (O '43)
Renaissance

Italy

Taylor, R. E. No royal road. (S '43)
Rendezvous with Rommel. Eng title of: Mediterranean assignment. Macmillan, R. (O '43)
Renunciation of war treaty. See Pact of Paris, 1928
Repairing
Hawkins, J. H. Your house. (My '43)
O'Hare, E. Handbook for home mechanics. (D '43)
Tuomey, D. Home mechanic. (Je '43)
Report from Tokyo. Grew, J. C. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Report on India. Raman, T. A. (D '43)
Report on North Africa. Crawford, K. G. (N '43)
Reporters and reporting
Williams, W., and Narvig, W. van. Secret sources. (S '43)
Representative American speeches: 1942-1943. Baird, A. C., ed. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Representative government and representation
Barker, E. Reflections on government. (Je '43)
Reproduction
Corner, G. W. Hormones in human reproduction. (D '43)
Republic. Beard, C. A. (N '43)
Republic; tr. by F. M. Cornford. Plato. (Ap '43)
Resistance and reconstruction. Chiang, K. (S '43)
Resources of Pacific Northwest libraries. Van Male, J. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Retail trade
McFerran, D. Careers in retailing for young women. (My '43)
Reid, M. G. Consumers and the market. (N '43)
Rethinking our Christianity. Hughley, J. N. (Je '43)
Retreat from Rostov. Hughes, P. (O '43)
Retreat from the Dolphin. Teilhet, D. L. (D '43)
Retreat, hell! Camp, W. M. (D '43)
Retreat with Stilwell. Belden, J. (Ap '43)
Return journey. Seymour, B. K. S. (Mr '43)

Return to Christianity. Ferre, N. F. S. (D '43)
Reveille. Henderson, D. M., and others, eds. (D '43)
Revelation
Robinson, H. W. Redemption and revelation in the actuality of history. (Je '43)
Revere, Paul
Juvenile literature
Rogers, F., and Beard, A. Paul Revere. (D '43)
Revolutionary committees in the departments of France, 1793-1794. Sirich, J. B. (S '43)
Revolutionary generation, 1763-1790. Greene, E. B. (F '44) (1943 Annual) Revolutions
Laski, H. J. Reflections on the revolution of our time. (Ag '43)
Rewinding data for direct-current armatures. Van Brunt, G. A., and Roe, A. C. (D '43)
Reynolds, Quentin James
Rechnitzer, F. E. War correspondent. (O '43)
Rhetoric
Graves, R., and Hodge, A. Reader over your shoulder. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Ribbentrop, Joachim von
Schwarz, P. This man Ribbentrop. (O '43)
Rice in the wind Wallace, K. (My '43)
Richelieu, Armand Jean du Plessis, cardinal, duc de
Fiction
Caldwell, J. T. Arm and the darkness. (Ap '43)
Ride on, stranger. Tennant, K. (S '43)
Ride the man down. Glidden, F. D. (Mr '43)
Ride this night! Moberg, V. (Je '43)
Rifleman Dodd, and The gun. Forester, C. S. (My '43)
Rifles
Smith, W. O. Sharps rifle. (D '43)
Rights of man and natural law. Maritain, J. (S '43)
Rind of earth. Derleth, A. W. (Je '43)
Ring finger. Peattie, L. R. (Ap '43)
Ringed horizon. Gilligan, E. (N '43)
Rio Grande to Cape Horn. Beals, C. (O '43)
Rio Grande valley
Harper, A. G., and others. Man and resources in the middle Rio Grande valley. (N '43)
Rise and fall of the house of Ullstein. Ullstein, H. (Ap '43)
Rise of American economic life. Bining, A. C. (D '43)
Rise of music in the ancient world. Sachs, C. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Rise of our free nation. McGuire, E., and Portwood, T. B. (My '43)
Rise of Richard. Alton, M. (D '43)
Rise of the electrical industry during the nineteenth century. MacLaren, M. (O '43)
Rise to follow. Spalding, A. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual) Rivers
New Jersey
Cawley, J. S. and M. Exploring the little rivers of New Jersey. (Ap '43)
Rizk, Salom
Rizk, S. Syrian Yankee. (Mr '43)
Road to Alaska. Coe, D. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Road to courage. Holmes, H. W. (Mr '43)
Road to peace and freedom. Brant, I. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Road to San Jacinto. Foreman, L. L. (My '43)
Road to Vichy, 1918-1938. Simon, Y. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Roberts, Sir Charles George Douglas
Pomeroy, E. M. Sir Charles G. D. Roberts. (O '43)
Robertson, Archibald Thomas
Gill, E. A. T. Robertson. (My '43)
Robespierre, Maximilien Marie Isidore de
Fiction
Coryn, M. Incorruptible. (O '43)
Robinson, Henry
Jordan, W. K. Men of substance. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Rock and cumulus. Spain, R. L. (Je '43)
Rock gardens
Mansfield, T. C. Alpines in colour and cultivation. (Ap '43)
Roger and the fishes. Jackson, C. E. (O '43)
Rogues' company. Kroll, H. H. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Role of the races in our future civilization. Laidler, H. W., ed. (Je '43)
Roman Catholic church
Converts
Eustace, C. J. House of bread. (D '43)
History
McSorley, J. Outline history of the church by centuries. (S '43)
Liturgy and ritual
Hildebrand, D. von. Liturgy and personality. (Je '43)
Missions
Edwards, E. J. These two hands. (Ap '43)
Roman Catholic literature
Collections
Phelan, P. J., ed. With a merry heart. (Ag '43)
Roman Catholic poetry
Collections
Sheed, F. J., comp. Poetry and life. (Ap '43)
Romance of credit. Sprague, J. R. (S '43)
Romances
Lancaster, C. M., tr. Saints and sinners in old romance. (Ap '43)
Romantic detour. Holton, E. A. (Mr '43)
Romanticism
Barzun, J. Romanticism and the modern ego. (D '43)
Rome
Civilization
Rand, E. K. Building of eternal Rome. (Ag '43)
History
Rand, E. K. Building of eternal Rome. (Ag '43)
Empire
Smith, C. E. Tiberius and the Roman empire. (N '43)
Politics and government
Howe, L. L. Pretorian prefect from Commodus to Diocletian. (N '43)
Roosevelt, Franklin Delano
Morton, H. C. V. Atlantic meeting. (Je '43)
Roosevelt, Theodore
Harlow, A. F. Theodore Roosevelt, strenuous American. (O '43)
O'Gara, G. C. Theodore Roosevelt and the rise of the modern navy. (O '43)
Roosevelt's foreign policy, 1933-1941. United States. President, 1933- (F. D. Roosevelt). (Ap '43)
Root and flower of prayer. Hazelton, R. (My '43)
Roots in the earth. Waring, P. A., and Teller, W. M. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Roots of Bergson's philosophy. Scharfstein, B. (N '43)
Rosché, Louis
Hereford, R. A. Old Man River. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Roughly speaking. Pierson, L. J. R. (Ag '43)
'Round and 'round horse. Gury, J. (D '43)
Round Robin. Davis, L. R. (My '43)
Round trip to Russia. Graebner, W. (My '43)
Roundup time. Perry, G. S., ed. (N '43)
Rowan, Archibald Hamilton
Nicolson, H. G. Desire to please. (O '43)
Royalty in the nineteenth century. Parsons, J. S. (S '43)
Rubber
Wilson, C. M. Trees and test tubes. (Je '43)
Rubber, Artificial
Powers, P. O. Synthetic resins and rubbers. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Rufus M. Estes, E. (O '43)
Runaway train. Peet, C. (My '43)
Running tide. Aleksander, I. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Running to paradise. Lodwick, J. (My '43)
Rural schools
  Strang, R. M., and Hatcher, O. L. Child development and guidance in rural schools. (O '43)
Rush, Richard
  Powell, J. H. Richard Rush, Republican diplomat. (D '43)
Russia
  Hindus, M. G. Mother Russia. (Ag '43)
Army
  Basseches, N. Unknown army. (Ag '43)
  Marks, S. J. Bear that walks like a man. (My '43)
Description and travel
  Graebner, W. Round trip to Russia. (My '43)
Economic conditions
  Dobb, M. H. Soviet economy and the war. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
  Johnson, H. Secret of Soviet strength. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
  Scott, J. Behind the Urals. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
  Williams, A. R. Russians. (Mr '43)
Foreign policy
  Dallin, D. J. Russia and postwar Europe. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
  Dallin, D. J. Soviet Russia's foreign policy. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Foreign relations
  Marks, S. J. Bear that walks like a man. (My '43)
Austria
  Rupp, G. H. Wavering friendship. (Ap '43)
United States
  Childs, J. L., and Counts, G. S. America, Russia, and the Communist party in the postwar world. (My '43)
History
  Kornilov, A. A. Modern Russian history. (S '43)
  Sumner, B. H. Short history of Russia. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
  Vernadskii, G. V. Ancient Russia. (O '43)
History, Military
  Basseches, N. Unknown army. (Ag '43)
Industries and resources
  Hubbard, L. E. Soviet labour and industry. (S '43)
Politics and government
  Chamberlin, W. H. Russian enigma. (D '43)
  Williams, A. R. Russians. (Mr '43)
Religion
  Iswolsky, H. Soul of Russia. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Social conditions
  Johnson, H. Secret of Soviet strength. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Russia and postwar Europe. Dallin, D. J. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Russia fights. Brown, J. E. (S '43)
Russian enigma. Chamberlin, W. H. (D '43)
Russian literature
Collections
  Cournos, J., ed. Treasury of Russian life and humor. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual) Guerney, B. G., ed. Treasury of Russian literature. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Russian poetry
  Kaun, A. S. Soviet poets and poetry. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Russians. Williams, A. R. (Mr '43)
Rusty carrousel. Sylvin, F. (O '43)

S. O. Levinson and the Pact of Paris. Stoner, J. E. (S '43)
Sabotage
  Hynd, A. Passport to treason. (Je '43)
  Irwin, W. H. and Johnson, T. M. What you should know about spies and saboteurs. (Ag '43)
Sacagawea
Fiction
  Emmons, D. F. G. Sacajawea of the Shoshones. (N '43)
Sacajawea of the Shoshones. Emmons, D. F. G. (N '43)
Sacred and secular elegies. Barker, G. (F '44) (1943 Annual) Sad farm bell. Bruce, M. O. C. K. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Safety appliances
  MacMillan, C. M. Foremanship and safety. (Ap '43)
Saga of San Demetrio. Jesse, F. T. (Mr '43)
Said with flowers. Nash, A. (Je '43)
Sailing
  Stanford, A. B. Pleasures of sailing. (Je '43)
Sailors in boots. Gard, A. (My '43)
St Denis (abbey)
  Crosby, S. M. Abbey of St Denis, 475-1122. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
St John Capistran, reformer. Hofer, J. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
St Johns river
  Cabell, J. B., and Hanna, A. J. St Johns. (O '43)
St Nicholas (magazine)
  Howard, A. B. Mary Mapes Dodge of St Nicholas. (Ag '43)
St Paul's Epistle to the Ephesians. Synge, F. C. (F '44) (1943 Annual) Saint steps in. Charteris, L. (N '43)
Saints
  Monro, M. T. Book of unlikely saints. (N '43)
Saints and sinners in old romance. Lancaster, C. M., tr. (Ap '43)
Sally wins her wings. Simmons, M. I. (My '43)
Sally's in the alley. Davis, N. (O '43)
Salmon, Lucky Maynard
  Brown, L. F. Apostle of democracy. (Ag '43)
Salute me! Bristol, G. T. (S '43)
Salute to valor. Wells, L. (My '43)
Salvage
  Meier, F. Fathoms below. (Je '43)
Salvation
  Lloyd-Jones, D. M. Plight of man and the power of God. (My '43)
Sammi's army. Cook, H. (Ag '43)
Sand dunes
  Bagnold, R. A. Physics of blown sand and desert dunes. (Mr '43)
San Demetrio (tanker)
  Jesse, F. T. Saga of San Demetrio. (Mr '43)
Sandra Kendall of the 4-H. Porter, E. B. W. (Ap '43)
Sandy. Lehman, D. P. (Ap '43)
Sanitary engineering
  Theroux, F. R., and others. Laboratory manual for chemical and bacterial analysis of water and sewage. (N '43)
Sanitary products. Schwarcz, L. (D '43)
San Martin, José de
  Harrison, M. H. Captain of the Andes. (My '43)
Juvenile literature
  Ives, M. L. He conquered the Andes. (Je '43)
Satan has six fingers. Kelsey, V. (Mr '43)
Satire
  Campbell, O. J. Shakespeare's satire. (Ag '43)
  Lewis, C. S. Screwtape letters. (My '43)
Saving and thrift
  Wormser, R. A. Personal estate planning in a changing world. (Je '43)
Say good-bye to Katharine. Corliss, A. S. (Mr '43)
Scandal has two faces. Campbell, M. E. (N '43)
Scarlet circle. Webb, R. W., and Wheeler, H. C. (Je '43)
Scene in passing. Eng title of: Mr Tibbs passes through. Neumann, R. (Mr '43)
Schliemann's first visit to America. Schliemann, H. (N '43)
Schneider, Herman
  Park, C. W. Ambassador to industry. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Scholars

Directories

Cattell, J., ed. Directory of American scholars. (O '43)

Scholasticism

Brennan, R. E., ed. Essays in Thomism. (Je '43)

School children

Transportation

Punke, H. H. Law and liability in pupil transportation. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

School libraries

Bohman, E. L., and Dillon, J. K. Librarian and the teacher of music. (Ap '43)

School libraries (high school)

Heaps, W. A. Book selection for secondary school libraries. (O '43)

Siebens, C. R. P., and Bartlett, W. L. Librarian and the teacher of science. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

School of the citizen sailor. Bolander, L. H., and others. (D '43)

Schoolcraft, Henry Rowe

Osborn, C. S. and S. B. Schoolcraft, Longfellow, Hiawatha. (My '43)

Schulman, Samuel

Schulman, S. Where's Sammy? (D '43)

Science

Allen, J. S., and others. Atoms, rocks and galaxies. (D '43)

American association of scientific workers. Boston-Cambridge branch. Science from shipboard. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Baker, J. R. Scientific life. (S '43)

Bawden, A. T. Man's physical universe. (O '43)

Cheronis, N. D., and others. Study of the physical world. (D '43)

Dull, C. E., and others. Modern science in our environment. (Ap '43)

Gray, G. W. Science at war. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Low, A. M., ed. Science looks ahead. (Je '43)

Needham, J. Time: the refreshing river. (O '43)

Schaaf, W. L., ed. Practical outline of mechanical trades for home study. (Ap '43)

Shapley, H., and others, eds. Treasury of science. (D '43)

Dictionaries

Newmark, M. Dictionary of science and technology in English-French-German-Spanish. (Ag '43)

History

Dampier, W. C. D. History of science and its relations with philosophy and religion. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Juvenile literature

Basic science education series. (Je '43)

Philosophy

Muller, H. J. Science and criticism. (Je '43)

Study and teaching

Bergen, C. M. Some sources of children's science information. (N '43)

Howland, H. P., and others. How to read in science and technology. (N '43)

Tables, etc.

Lang, E. H. Technical handbook for solving problems in shop or factory. (Ag '43)

Yearbooks

Ratcliff, J. D., ed. Science year book of 1943. (Je '43)

Science and criticism. Muller, H. J. (Je '43)

Science at war. Gray, G. W. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Science from shipboard. American association of scientific workers. Boston-Cambridge branch. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Science looks ahead. Low, A. M., ed. (Je '43)

Science of nutrition. Sherman, H. C. (S '43)

Science of peace. Brown, P. M. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Science of watch repairing simplified. Thisell, A. G. (D '43)

Science, philosophy and religion; third symposium. Conference on science, philosophy and religion in their relation to the democratic way of life. (Ag '43)

Science, religion, and the future. Raven, C. E. (S '43)

Science year book of 1943. Ratcliff, J. D., ed. (Je '43)

Scientific expeditions

Andrews, R. C. Under a lucky star. (O '43)

Scientific life. Baker, J. R. (S '43)

Screwtape letters. Lewis, C. S. (My '43)

Scuffles. Carroll, R. R. and L. (O '43)

Sculptors, American

Magazine of art. Painters and sculptors of modern America. (My '43)

Sculpture

Leonardo da Vinci. Leonardo da Vinci; ed. by Goldscheider. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Rothschild, L. Sculpture through the ages. (Ag '43) (1943 Annual)

Sculpture, Greek

Richter, G. M. A. and I. A. Kouroi. (N '43)

Sculpture through the ages. Rothschild, L. (Ag '43) (1943 Annual)

Sea is so wide. Eaton, E. S. M. (Ap '43)

Sea lanes in wartime. Albion, R. G., and Pope, J. B. (Mr '43)

Sea power

Stevens, W. O., and Westcott, A. F. History of sea power. (Ap '43)

Sea snake. Meader, S. W. (O '43)

Seagrave, Gordon Stifler

Seagrave, G. S. Burma surgeon. (S '43)

Seals (animals)

Legends and stories

Adshead, G. L. Casco. (Je '43)

Search for a key. Duranty, W. (Ap '43)

Seashore parade. Guberlet, M. L. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Seattle, chief of the Suquamish and allied tribes

Anderson, E. G. Chief Seattle. (S '43)

Sechura desert

Lear, J. Forgotten front. (Mr '43)

Second Christmas. Holmes, J. H. (D '43)

Secret diary of William Byrd of Westover, v 2. Byrd, W. (Ap '43)

Secret of Pooduck island. Noyes, A. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Secret of Soviet strength. Johnson, H. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Secret service

Germany

Chase, A. Falange. (S '43)

Hynd, A. Passport to treason. (Je '43)

United States

Bryan, G. S. Spy in America. (S '43)

Secret sources. Williams, W., and Narvig, W. van. (S '43)

Secret voyage. Grant, G. (Mr '43)

Secret zoo. Gondor, E. I. (Je '43)

See what I mean? Browne, L. (N '43)

Seeing the multitudes. Stamm, F. K. (S '43)

Selected poems, old and new. Barney, D. (Ap '43)

Semi-micro qualitative analysis. Dobbins, J. T. (D '43)

Semper fidelis. Ayling, K. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Senate Foreign relations committee. Dennison, E. E. (My '43)

Senator's last night. Hackett, F. (S '43)

Sense of humus. Damon, B. C. (Ag '43)

Sensible Kate. Gates, D. (D '43)

Sentimentalist. Winwar, F. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Serbs choose war. Mitchell, R. (N '43)

Sergeant says. Cannon, J. J. (Mr '43)

Serial map service, v 1. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Serial map service atlas. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Sermons

Clarke, W. K. L. Teaching sermons. (Ap '43)

Pellowe, W. C. S. Lamps of liberty. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Phifer, W. E. Cross and great living. (Je '43)

Sermons, Jewish

Levinthal, I. H. New world is born. (N '43)

Seurat, George Pierre
Rewald, J. Georges Seurat. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Sevastopol
Siege, 1942
Voitekhov, B. I. Last days of Sevastopol. (Je '43)
Seven came through. Rickenbacker, E. V. (Ap '43)
Seven golden cities. Farnum, M. A. (N '43)
Seven sins. Rohmer, M. (N '43)
Seven who waited. Derleth, A. W. (Mr '43)
Seventy thousand miles of war. Chaplin, W. W. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Sewing
Dickson, S., and Blondin, F., eds. New encyclopedia of modern sewing. (O '43)
Duncan, I. R. Needles and pins. (S '43)
Hall, H. Simplified home sewing. (S '43)
Picken, M. B. Mending made easy. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Talbot, C. Complete book of sewing. (Je '43)
Juvenile literature
Karasz, M. Good housekeeping see and sew. (O '43)
Sextant and sails. Berry, R. E. (Ag '43)
Shadow and the glory. Jennings, J. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Shadow of night. Derleth, A. W. (N '43)
Shadows at noon. Goldsmith, M. M. (S '43)
Shadows of the trees. Ducharme, J. (Je '43)
Shadows on the wall. Reisner, M. (S '43)
Shakespeare, William
Campbell, O. J. Shakespeare's satire. (Ag '43)
Spencer, T. Shakespeare and the nature of man. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Authorship
Brooks, A. Will Shakspere and the Dyer's hand. (Mr '43)
Criticism, Textual
Greg, W. W. Editorial problem in Shakespeare. (Ag '43)
Knowledge
Law
Clarkson, P. S., and Warren, C. T. Law of property in Shakespeare and the Elizabethan drama. (Ag '43)
Stories and paraphrases
Lamb, C. and M. A. Tales from Shakespeare. (Ap '43)
Shakespeare and the nature of man. Spencer, T. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Shakespeare's satire. Campbell, O. J. (Ag '43)
Shanghai lawyer. Allman, N. F. (N '43)
Shark hole. Burglon, N. (Je '43)
Sharps rifle. Smith, W. O. (D '43)
She came to the valley. Dawson, C. (N '43)
She died a lady. Carr, J. D. (Mr '43)
Sheaf of studies. Chambers, E. K. (Mr '43)
Shearwaters
Lockley, R. M. Shearwaters. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Sheean, Vincent
Sheean, V. Between the thunder and the sun. (Ap '43)
Sheehan's mill. Reese, J. H. (N '43)
Sheet metal pattern layouts. Anderson, E. P., comp. (Je '43)
Sheet metal work
Buell, C. E. Mathematics for the sheet metal worker in general and aircraft shops. (S '43)
Reid, H. B. Simplified methods in sheet metal layout. (Ag '43)
Pattern making
Anderson, E. P., comp. Sheet metal pattern layouts. (Je '43)
Shelter trees in war and peace. Felt, E. P. (D '43)
Sheltering tree. Hoeltje, H. H. (D '43)
Shep, a collie of the old West. Hinkle, T. C. (O '43)
Shepard, Mrs Helen Miller (Gould)
Snow, A. N. and H. N. Story of Helen Gould. (O '43)
Shepherdess. Hewitt, A. W. (S '43)
Shhhhhh. . . . . bang. Brown, M. W. (Je '43)
Shifting and incidence of taxation. Mering, O. O. von. (Je '43)
Shining rain. Welshimer, H. (My '43)
Shining sea. Göransson-Ljungman, K. (Ag '43)
Shining trail. Fuller, I. (Ag '43)
Shinto
Holtom, D. C. Modern Japan and Shinto nationalism. (Ap '43)
Ship. Forester, C. S. (Je '43)
Ship models
Grimwood, V. R. American ship models and how to build them. (Je '43)
Yates, R. F. Boys' book of model boats. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Ship outfitter's handbook. Hansen, E. M. (D '43)
Ship propulsion
Newman, Q. B. Marine electric power. (N '43)
Ship structure and blueprint reading. Heed, H. L. (Ap '43)
Ship to remember. Griffin, A. R. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Ship welding handbook. Coen, M. J. (N '43)
Ship wiring. Scull, J. E. (D '43)
Shipboard medical practice. Wheeler, W. L. (N '43)
Shipbuilding
Heed, H. L. Ship structure and blueprint reading. (Ap '43)
Niederhoff, A. E. Blueprint reading for the shipbuilding trades. (N '43)
Tomlinson, J. L. Shipbuilding blueprint reading. (Ap '43)
Dictionaries
Eddington, W. J. Glossary of shipbuilding and outfitting terms. (Ag '43)
Nomenclature of naval vessels. (Ap '43)
Shipbuilding blueprint reading. Tomlinson, J. L. (Ap '43)
Shipping
United States
Albion, R. G., and Pope, J. B. Sea lanes in wartime. (Mr '43)
Ships
Equipment and supplies
Hansen, E. M. Ship outfitter's handbook. (D '43)
Ship's doctor. Hooker, R. W. (Ap '43)
Shock of recognition. Wilson, E., ed. (Ag '43)
Shop mathematics. Dick, A. A. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Shop mathematics and shop theory. Amiss, J. M., and others. (Ag '43)
Shopwork. Wicks, E. C., and others. (My '43)
Short course in surveying. Davis, R. E., and Kelly, J. W. (S '43)
Short cut to Tokyo. Ford, C. (Je '43)
Short grass and longhorns. Hamner, L. V. (S '43)
Short history of Chinese civilization. Ts'ui, C. (O '43)
Short history of civilization. Lucas, H. S. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Short history of Russia. Sumner, B. H. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Short history of the Chinese people. Goodrich, L. C. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Short life of Kierkegaard. Lowrie, W. (Ap '43)
Short stories
Collections
Collison, T., ed. This winged world. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Foley, M., ed. Best American short stories, 1943. (O '43)
Karloff, B., ed. Tales of terror. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
O. Henry memorial award. Prize stories of 1943. (Ja '44) 1943 Annual)
Queen, E., ed. Female of the species. (S '43)
Stern, P. V., ed. Moonlight traveler. (Ag '43)
Short story
Kamerman, S. E., ed. Writing the short short story. (My '43)
Silvers, E. R. Editor accepts. (My '43)
Short view of Elizabethan drama. Parrott, T. M., and Ball, R. H. (Ag '43)
Shortage of victory. Javsicas, G. (Mr '43)

Shorthand
Rowe, C. E. Writing of infrequently used words in shorthand. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Shostakovich, Dmitri Dmitrievich
Seroff, V. I., and Shorat, N. G. Dmitri Shostakovich. (O '43)
Should nations survive? Oakeley, H. D. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Shrubs
Van Melle, P. J. Shrubs and trees for the small place. (Je '43)
Shudders. Oursler, F. (Mr '43)
Siberia
Lengyel, E. Siberia. (Mr '43)
Sick, The
Sprague, M. Business of getting well. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Sight saver. Gerling, C. J. (N '43)
Signs of promise. Hickman, F. S. (S '43)
Sigurd and his brave companions. Undset, S. (D '43)
Sigurdur in Iceland. Shinn, A. V. (Ap '43)
Silent billion speak. Laubach, F. C. (N '43)
Silent night. Pauli, H. E. (D '43)
Silent war. Jansen, J. B., and Weyl, S. (Mr '43)
Silver saddles. Newcomb, C. (O '43)
Silvertip's trap. Faust, F. (S '43)
Simonson, Lee
Simonson, L. Part of a lifetime. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Simplified design of reinforced concrete. Parker, H. E. (S '43)
Simplified home sewing. Hall, H. (S '43)
Simplified industrial mathematics. Wolfe, J. H., and others. (Je '43)
Simplified methods in sheet metal layout. Reid, H. B. (Ag '43)
Sinai
Description and travel
Golding, L. In the steps of Moses. (N '43)
Since you went away. . . Wilder, M. A. B. (S '43)
Sing for Christmas. Wheeler, O. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Singapore
Weller, G. A. Singapore is silent. (My '43)
Siege, 1942
Donahue, A. G. Last flight from Singapore. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Playfair, G. Singapore goes off the air. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Singapore goes off the air. Playfair, G. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Singapore is silent. Weller, G. A. (My '43)
Singer, Edgar Arthur
Clarke, F. P., and Nahm, M. C., eds. Philosophical essays in honor of Edgar Arthur Singer. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Singing corpse. Dougall, B. (Mr '43)
Singing games
Henius, F., ed. & tr. Songs and games of the Americas. (S '43)
Siren in the night. Brown, Z. J. (Mr '43)
Sister of Cain. Collins, M. G. (N '43)
Six kings of the American pulpit. Macartney, C. E. N. (Je '43)
Sixteen famous European plays. Cerf, B. A. and Cartmell, V. H. (My '43)
Skating
Dench, R., and Stewart, R. Pair skating and dancing on ice. (N '43)
Skeleton key. Offord, L. G. (S '43)
Ski patrol. Atwater, M. M. (Ag '43)
Ski troops
Harper, F. Military ski manual. (Ag '43)
Sky is my witness. Moore, T. (O '43)
Sky master. Cunningham, F. (S '43)
Sky's the limit! Hall, C. G., and Merkle, R. A. (D '43)
Skyways to Berlin. Redding, J. M, and Leyshon, H. I. (O '43)
Slade. Deeping, W. (S '43)
Slavery in the United States
Simms, H. H. Decade of sectional controversy, 1851-1861. (S '43)
New England
Greene, L. J. Negro in colonial New England, 1620-1776. (Ag '43)
Slaves need no leaders. Kotschnig, W. M. (Mr '43)
Sleeping island. Downes, P. G. (Je '43)
Slide rule
Harris, C. O. Slide rule simplified. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Sommers, H. H., and others. Slide rule and its use. (S '43)
Sly Mongoose. Pollock, K. G. (O '43)
Small community. Morgan, A. E. (Ap '43)
Small creations for your tools. Showalter, H. F. (Je '43)
Small flags waving. Stebbins, A. E. (O '43)
Small rain. Bible. Whole. Selections. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Small sanctuary. Freehof, S. B. (O '43)
Smell of money. Head, M. (Mr '43)
Smith, Harry Allen
Smith, H. A. Life in a putty knife factory. (Ap '43)
Smith, Jedediah Strong
Juvenile literature
Allen, M. P. Sun trail. (O '43)
Smith, John
Fiction
Marshall, E. Great Smith. (My '43)
Smoke streams. Ludington, C. T. (O '43)
Smuts, Jan Christiaan
Crafford, F. S. Jan Smuts. (N '43)
Snoot if you must. Beebe, L. M. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Snow above town. Hough, D. (Mr '43)
So help me. Jessel, G. A. (Je '43)
So little time. Marquand, J. P. (S '43)
So long as we love. Goulding, P. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
So you want to be a chemist? Coith, H. S. (O '43)
Soap
Schwarcz, L. Sanitary products. (D '43)
Social and political doctrines of contemporary Europe. Oakeshott, M. J. (S '43)
Social background of the Old Testament. Jacobson, D. (Ap '43)
Social conditions
Campbell, F. S. Menace of the herd. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Folsom, J. K. Family and democratic society. (Ag '43)
Sorokin, P. A. Man and society in calamity. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Social economics of agriculture. Gee, W. P. (Ap '43)
Social institutions in an era of world upheaval. Barnes, H. E. (Je '43)
Social insurance and allied services. Beveridge, W. H. (Ap '43)
Social message of Jesus. Giordani. I. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Social problems
American social problems study committee. Guide for the study of American social problems. (Je '43)
Barnes, H. E. Social institutions in an era of world upheaval. (Je '43)
Ellwood, C. A. Sociology. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Gillette, J. M., and Reinhardt, J. M. Problems of a changing social order. (Je '43)
Keller, A. G. Net impressions. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Mowrer, E. R. Disorganization, personal and social. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Walsh, M. E. American social problems. (S '43)
Social psychology
Brickner, R. M. Is Germany incurable? (Je '43)
Campbell, F. S. Menace of the herd. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Jennings, H. H. Leadership and isolation. (N '43)
May, M. A. Social psychology of war and peace. (Ag '43)
Mowrer, E. R. Disorganization, personal and social. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Sorokin, P. A. Man and society in calamity. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Tolman, E. C. Drives toward war. (Je '43)
Social psychology of war and peace. May, M. A. (Ag '43)

Social sciences
Bernard, L. L. and J. S. Origins of American sociology. (N '43)
Kinneman, J. A., and Browne, R. G. America in transition. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
North Carolina. University. Woman's college, Greensboro. Walter Clinton Jackson essays. (Je '43)
Rienow, R. Calling all citizens. (N '43)
Turkington, G. A., and Conley, P. M. Your country and mine. (My '43)

Study and teaching
Daniel, W. G. Reading interests and needs of Negro college freshmen regarding social science materials. (D '43)
Long, F. E., and Halter, H. Social-studies skills. (Ap '43)
Wesley, E. B. Teaching the social studies. (Je '43)
Social security and reconstruction in Canada. Cassidy, H. M. (S '43)
Social skills in case work. Strode, J. and P. R. (Ag '43)
Social-studies skills. Long, F. E., and Halter, H. (Ap '43)
Social work
Community service society of N.Y. Family service. Relief practice in a family agency. (N '43)
Strode, J. and P. R. Social skills in case work. (Ag '43)
Witmer, H. L. Social work. (Ap '43)
Socialism
Schumpeter, J. A. Capitalism, socialism, and democracy. (Ap '43)
Selsam, H. Socialism and ethics. (O '43)
Socialism and ethics. Selsam, H. (O '43)
Society under analysis. Pendell, E., and others, eds. (Je '43)
Sociology
Barnes, H. E. Social institutions in an era of world upheaval. (Je '43)
Bernard, L. L. and J. S. Origins of American sociology. (N '43)
Ellwood, C. A. Sociology. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Melbo, I. R., and others. American scene. (Ap '43)
Mill, J. S. Spirit of the age. (Ap '43)
Oakeshott, M. J. Social and political doctrines of contemporary Europe. (S '43)
Pendell, E., and others., eds. Society under analysis. (Je '43)

History
Furfey, P. H. History of social thought. (Mr '43)

Juvenile literature
Basic social education series. (Je '43)
Sociology, Biblical
Jacobson, D. Social background of the Old Testament. (Ap '43)
Sociology, Christian
Bell, B. I. Church in disrepute. (My '43)
Brown, W. A. New order in the church. (O '43)
Coe, G. A. What is religion doing to our consciences? (S '43)
Dawson, C. H. Judgment of the nations. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Giordani, I. Social message of Jesus. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Hickman, F. S. Signs of promise. (S '43)
La Farge, J. Race question and the Negro. (N '43)
Lindsay, A. D. Religion, science, and society in the modern world. (Ag '43)
McNabb, V. J. Old principles and the new order. (My '43)
Marx, W. J. Twilight of capitalism and the war. (Ap '43)
O'Shaughnessy, M. J. Peace and reconstruction. (O '43)
Roman Catholic church. Pope. Principles for peace. (N '43)
Sheen, F. J. Philosophies at war. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Wallace, H. A., and others. Christian bases of world order. (Je '43)
Sociology, Rural
Gee, W. P. Social economics of agriculture. (Ap '43)
Morgan, A. E. Small community. (Ap '43)
Soil exhaustion and the Civil war. Bagley, W. C. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Soils
Faulkner, E. H. Plowman's folly. (S '43)
Millar, C. E., and Turk, L. M. Fundamentals of soil science. (S '43)

United States
Bagley, W. C. Soil exhaustion and the Civil war. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Soils (engineering)
Terzaghi, K. von. Theoretical soil mechanics. (S '43)
Soldiers, Letters to
Reeder, G. A. Letter writing in wartime. (O '43)
Soldiers, sailors, fliers and marines. Elting, M., and Weaver, R. T. (D '43)
Some aspects of the effect of the dominant American culture upon children of Italian-born parents. Tait, J. W. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Some poems. Hölderlin, J. C. F. (S '43)
Some sources of children's science information. Bergen, C. M. (N '43)
Some try murder. Koehler, R. P. (N '43)
Somebody at the door. Postgate, R. W. (Je '43)
Someone to remember. Potts, J. (My '43)
Somi builds a church. Busoni, R. (N '43)
Song of Tekakwitha. Holland, R. E. (My '43)
Song of tomorrow. Simon, C. M. H. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Songs and battle cries of a world at war. Davidman, J., ed. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Songs and games of the Americas. Henius, F., ed. & tr. (S '43)
Songs from many lands. Surette, T. W., comp. (My '43)
Songs of many wars. Adler, K., ed. (N '43)
Soong family
Clark, E. T. Chiangs of China. (O '43)
Sophie Halenczik, American. Feld, R. C. (Je '43)
Soul of a nation. Andrews, M. P. (O '43)
Soul of Russia. Iswolsky, H. (F '44) (1943 Annual) Sound of revelry. Cohen, O. R. (O '43)
South
Graves, J. T. Fighting South. (Je '43)
South Africa
James, S. South of the Congo. (Mr '43)
Sowden, L. Union of South Africa. (S '43)
South America

Description and travel
Franck, H. A. Rediscovering South America. (Ap '43)
Frank, W. D. South American journey. (Je '43)
Henley, C. M. J. Grandmother drives south. (Ag '43)

History
Arciniegas, G. Germans in the conquest of America. (O '43)
Haskins, C. P. Amazon. (Ag '43)
South American journey. Frank, W. D. (Je '43)
South from Corregidor. Morrill, J. H., and Martin, W. T. (My '43)
South from yesterday. Robertson, W. (Je '43)
South of the Congo. James, S. (Mr '43)
South Sea islands
Gessler, C. F. Leaning wind. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Southwest

Bibliography
Dobie, J. F. Guide to life and literature of the Southwest. (S '43)

Discovery and exploration
Farnum, M. A. Seven golden cities. (N '43)
Southwest passage. Lardner, J. (Ap '43)
Soviet economy and the war. Dobb, M. H. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Soviet labour and industry. Hubbard, L. E. (S '43)
Soviet poets and poetry. Kaun, A. S. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Soviet Russia's foreign policy. Dallin, D. J. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual) Soviet strength. Eng title of: Secret of Soviet strength. Johnson, H. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Spain
Madariaga, S. de. Spain. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Civilization
Hilton, R., ed. Handbook of Hispanic source materials and research organizations in the United States. (Ap '43)
Colonies
Zavala, S. A. New viewpoints on the Spanish colonization of America. (S '43)
Foreign relations
Hamilton, T. J. Appeasement's child. (Mr '43)
History
Brenan, G. Spanish labyrinth. (S '43)
Madariaga, S. De. Spain. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Civil war, 1936-1939
Lindsley, L. S. War is people. (Ap '43)
Longstreet, S. Chico goes to the wars. (My '43)
Salter, C. Try-out in Spain. (Je '43)
Politics and government
Brenan, G. Spanish labyrinth. (S '43)
Hamilton, T. J. Appeasement's child. (Mr '43)
Spalding, Albert
Spalding, A. Rise to follow. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Spaniards in America
Zavala, S. A. New viewpoints on the Spanish colonization of America. (S '43)
Spanish-American poetry
Collections
Fitts, D., ed. Anthology of contemporary Latin American poetry. (Mr '43)
Hays, H. R., ed. 12 Spanish American poets. (N '43)
Spanish labyrinth. Brenan, G. (S '43)
Spanish lady. Walsh, M. (O '43)
Spanish language
Dictionaries
Perol Guerrero, A., comp. New technical and commercial dictionary. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Speaker's notebook. Hoffman, W. G. (Je '43)
Speaking for myself. White, S. E. (S '43)
Speaking in parables. Clements, B. (S '43)
Speaking of man. Guyer, M. F. (Ap '43)
Spearhead. Brophy, J. (Je '43)
Spectrum analysis
Aston, F. W. Mass spectra and isotopes. (Ag '43)
Bowen, E. J. Chemical aspects of light. (Je '43)
Speech
Berry, M. F., and Eisenson, J. Defective in speech. (Ap '43)
Lowrey, S., and Johnson, G. E. Interpretative reading. (Ap '43)
Speeches, addresses, etc.
Baird, A. C., ed. Representative American speeches: 1942-1943. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Speeches, April 1922-August 1939. Hitler, A. (Ag '43)
Speed, Joshua Fry
Kincaid, R. L. Joshua Fry Speed, Abraham Lincoln's most intimate friend. (N '43)
Spell of Egypt. Wolf, V. (Ap '43)
Spenser, Edmund
Faerie queene
Bennett, J. W. Evolution of The Faerie queene. (S '43)
Spice and scent. Maril, L. (Je '43)
Spies
Bryan, G. S. Spy in America. (S '43)
Chase, A. Falange. (S '43)
Hynd, A. Betrayal from the East. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Hynd, A. Passport to treason. (Je '43)
Irwin, W. H., and Johnson, T. M. What you should know about spies and saboteurs. (Ag '43)
Spin in, dumbwhacks. Ryan, R. N. (S '43)
Spirit of American economics. Normano, J. F. (O '43)
Spirit of enterprise. Queeny, E. M. (S '43)
Spirit of Hawaii, before and after Pearl Harbor. MacLeod, A. S. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Spirit of the age. Mill, J. S. (Ap '43)
Spiritual authority and temporal power in the Indian theory of government. Coomaraswamy, A. K. (Ap '43)
Spiritual life
Jones, R. M. New eyes for invisibles. (Je '43)
Sponger's jinx. Sackett, B. (D '43)
Sports
Craine, H. C. Teaching athletic skills in physical education. (Ap '43)
Tunis, J. R. Lawn games. (S '43)
Warner, G. S., and Wright, L. Pop Warner's book for boys. (Ap '43)
Wulff, L. Sports photography. (Ap '43)
Sports photography. Wulff, L. (Ap '43)
Spotlight for Danny. Beim, L. L. and J. (My '43)
Spring flight. Maier, W. (Ap '43)
Springboard to Berlin. (N '43)
Springfield college
Doggett, L. L. Man and a school. (D '43)
Spur gearing. Owen, W. M. (D '43)
Spurs for Antonia. Eyre, K. W. (D '43)
Spy in America. Bryan, G. S. (S '43)
Squad goes out. Greenwood, R. (Je '43)
Squadron 303. Fiedler, A. (Ap '43)
Square knot, tatting, fringe and needle work. Graumont, R., and Hensel, J. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual) Square pegs in square holes. Broadley, M. E. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Squash for the fair. Paull, G. (O '43)
Stagecoach kingdom. Drago, H. S. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Stag's hornbook. McClure, J. P., ed. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Stalk the hunter. Wilson, M. A. (N '43)
Stalwart Sweden. Joesten, J. (O '43)
Stand fast and reply. Davis, L. (D '43)
Standard of living in 1860. Martin, E. W. (My '43)
Standard of living of German labor under Nazi rule. Oppenheimer-Bluhm, H. (O '43)
Star finder. Neely, H. M. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Starbuck. Selby, J. (S '43)
Starbuck Valley winter. Haig-Brown, R. L. H. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual) Stars
Atlases
Neely, H. M. Star finder. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Stars and sand. Baron, J. L., ed. (O '43)
Stars are dark. Cheyney, P. (N '43)
Start in meteorology. Spitz, A. N. (Ap '43)
State, The
Collingwood, R. G. New Leviathan. (O '43)
Hamburger, M. Awakening of Western legal thought. (Ap '43)
Lindsay, A. D. Modern democratic state. (Ag '43)
Oakeley, H. D. Should nations survive? (F '44) (1943 Annual)
State income taxes. Blakey, R. G., and Johnson, V. (S '43)
Statesmen
Burnham, J. Machiavellians, defenders of freedom. (Je '43)
Statistics
Walker, H. M. Elementary statistical methods. (D '43)
Worthing, A. G., and Geffner, J. Treatment of experimental data. (D '43)
Statistics on crime and criminals. Lunden, W. A. (Ap '43)
Stay young and live! Funk, J. C. (Ag '43)
Steamboat Bill and the captain's top hat. Shapiro, I. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Steamboats
Way, F. Pilotin' comes natural. (Je '43)
Steel
Winning, J. Heat treatment of metals. (N '43)
Metallurgy
Bray, J. L. Ferrous production metallurgy. (Mr '43)
Steel and timber structures. Hool, G. A., and Kinne, W. S., eds. (D '43)

Steel flea. Leskov, N. S. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Steel industry. Perry, J. (Ag '43)
Steel industry and trade
  Girdler, T. M. Boot straps. (N '43)
  Hexner, E. International steel cartel. (Ag '43)
  Keenan, J. L. Steel man in India. (D '43)
  Scott, J. Behind the Urals. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)

Juvenile literature

  Perry, J. Steel industry. (Ag '43)
Steel man in India. Keenan, J. L. (D '43)
Steinbeck; [selections]. Steinbeck, J. (N '43)
Sterne, Laurence
  Hartley, L. C. This is Lorence. (Ag '43)
Stevens, Thaddeus
  Current, R. N. Old Thad Stevens. (Ap '43)
Stewart, Kenneth Norman
  Stewart, K. N. News is what we make it. (S '43)
Stilwell, Joseph Warren
  Belden, J. Retreat with Stilwell. (Ap '43)
Stolen honeymoon. Edginton, M. (Ag '43)
Stomach

Ulcers

  Crohn, B. B. Understand your ulcer. (S '43)
Stone age
  Movius, H. L. Irish stone age. (S '43)
Stone that burns. Haynes, W. (Ap '43)
Stories from the great Metropolitan operas. Dike, H. (Ap '43)
Stories to live by. McKelvey, G. D. (Ag '43)
Storks fly home. Tompkins, J. F. (D '43)
Storm at dusk. Parrott, K. U. T. (My '43)
Stormy victory. Purdy, C. L. S. (Mr '43)
Story of Dr Wassell. Hilton, J. (Je '43)
Story of England. Brown, B. C., and Arbuthnot, H. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Story of flying. Black, A. (S '43)
Story of George Gershwin. Ewen, D. (O '43)
Story of Helen Gould. Snow, A. N. and H. N. (O '43)
Story of painting. Craven, T. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Story of the Americas. Baldwin, L. D. (S '43)
Story of the Great Plains. McNeer, M. Y. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Story of the moon. Fisher, G. C. (Mr '43)
Story of the Pennsylvania Dutch. Hark, A. (Ag '43)
Story of weapons and tactics. Wintringham, T. H. (My '43)
Stowe, Mrs Harriet Elizabeth (Beecher)

Drama

  Ryerson, F., and Clements, C. C. Harriet. (S '43)
Strachey, Giles Lytton
  Beerbohm, M. Lytton Strachey. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Strains and stresses
  Deyarmond, A., and Arslan, A. Fundamentals of stress analysis, v 1. (D '43)
  Greenwood, E. J. A., and Silverman, J. R. Stress analysis for airplane draftsmen. (D '43)
  Hansen, H. J. Modern timber design. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
  Hool, G. A., and Kinne, W. S., eds. Stresses in framed structures. (D '43)
  Morris, C. T., and Carpenter, S. T. Structural frameworks. (D '43)
  Roark, R. J. Formulas for stress and strain. (D '43)
Strange doings on Halfaday creek. Hendryx, J. B. (Mr '43)
Stranger and afraid. Hardt, M. (Ag '43)
Stranger on the highway. Hays, H. R. (Je '43)
Strangers no longer. Kerr, A. B. (O '43)
Strategic materials in hemisphere defense. Hessel, M. S., and others. (Ap '43)
Strategy
  Blunt, V. E. R. Use of air power. (S '43)
  Burr, J. G. Framework of battle. (D '43)
  Colby, E. Masters of mobile warfare. (O '43)
  Earle, E. M., and others, eds. Makers of modern strategy. (D '43)
  Erfurth, W. Surprise. (S '43)
  Kernan, W. F. We can win this war. (My '43)
  Leeb, W. J. F., ritter von. Defense. (N '43)
  Randall, L. V. Bridgehead to victory. (Ag '43)
  Riess, C. Invasion of Germany. (N '43)
  Sikorski, W. Modern warfare. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
  Werner, M. Attack can win in '43. (Ag '43)
  Werner, M. Great offensive. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
  Wheeler-Nicholson, M. Are we winning the hard way? (Ap '43)
Stratigraphy of the eastern and central United States. Schuchert, C. (Je '43)
Stream flow. Grover, N. C., and Harrington, A. W. (Ag '43)
Stream measurements
  Grover, N. C., and Harrington, A. W. Stream flow. (Ag '43)
Stream of music. Leonard, R. A. (F '44) (1943 Annual) Street songs. Sitwell, E. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Strength of materials
  Merriman, M. Strength of materials. (S '43)
Stress analysis for airplane draftsmen. Greenwood, E. J. A., and Silverman, J. R. (D '43)
Stresses in framed structures. Hool, G. A., and Kinne, W. S. eds. (D '43)
Strip for action. Lindsay, H., and Crouse, R. (Ag '43)
Structural frameworks. Morris, C. T., and Carpenter, S. T. (D '43)
Structural geology. Billings, M. P. (S '43)
Structure and properties of alloys. Brick, R. M., and Phillips, A. (Ap '43)
Structure of metals. Barrett, C. S. (D '43)
Structure of morale. MacCurdy, J. T. (N '43)
Structures, Theory of
  Grinter, L. E. Elementary structural analysis and design. (Je '43)
  Hool, G. A., and Kinne, W. S., eds. Steel and timber structures. (D '43)
  Hool, G. A., and Kinne, W. S., eds. Stresses in framed structures. (D '43)
  Morris, C. T., and Carpenter, S. T. Structural frameworks. (D '43)
Struggle for airways in Latin America. Burden, W. A. M. (Ag '43)
Struggle is our brother. Felsen, G. (Ap '43)
Struggle with the Stuarts. See Mackinnon, J. History of modern liberty, v4
Stuart, Gilbert

Juvenile literature

  Bischoff, I. Painter's coach. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Student folkways and spending at Indiana University, 1940-1941. Crawford, M. M. (N '43)
Students
  Crawford, M. M. Student folkways and spending at Indiana University, 1940-1941. (N '43)
  Cronbach, L. J. Exploring the wartime morale of high-school youth. (N '43)
  Ham, A. W., and Salter, M. D. Doctor in the making. (S '43)
  Merriam, T. W., and others. Religious counseling of college students. (N '43)
  Who's who; the official who's who among students in American universities and colleges, v8. (O '43)
Student's handbook of elementary physics. Lindsay, R. B. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Studies in the evolution of dominion status. Neuendorff, G. (Je '43)
Studies in the national income, 1924-1938. Bowley, A. L., ed. (N '43)
Study in public relations. Levy, H. P. (S '43)
Study of the classroom disturbances. Hayes, M. L. (N '43)
Study of the physical world. Cheronis, N. D, and others. (D '43)
Study of war. Wright, Q. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Sub-atomic physics. Dingle, H. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Subchaser Jim. Berger, J. (O '43)
Subconsciousness
  Miller, J. G. Unconsciousness. (O '43)
Subject headings
  Kapsner, O. L., ed. Catholic subject headings. (S '43)
Subject index to books for primary grades. Rue, E., comp. (My '43)
Subject India. Brailsford, H. N. (N '43)
Submarine sailor. Felsen, G. (N '43)
Subnormal adolescent girl. Abel, T. M., and Kinder, E. F. (Ap '43)

Substance of mental health. Preston, G. H. (O '43)
Substitutes. Bennett, H. (Ap '43)
Success
  Buchanan, A. Lady means business. (Mr '43)
  Panzer, M. It's your future, make the most of it! (O '43)
Successful women. Taves, I. (My '43)
Such interesting people. Casey, R. J. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Suffering
  Glover, C. A. Victorious suffering. (My '43)
Sulfonamides
  Galdston, I. Behind the sulfa drugs. (My '43)
Sulfur industry
  Haynes, W. Stone that burns. (Ap '43)
Summary of the world federation plan. Culbertson, E. (Je '43)
Summer at Buckhorn. Wright, A. M. R. (D '43)
Sun and the wind and Mr Todd. Estes, E. (Ap '43)
Sun is near. Black, D. (S '43)
Sun shines west. Schachner, N. (N '43)
Sun trail. Allen, M. P. (O '43)
Supper at the Maxwell house. Crabb, A. L. (S '43)
Sure you can fish! Major, H. (S '43)
Surgeons
Correspondence, reminiscences, etc.
  Albee, F. H. Surgeon's fight to rebuild men. (Ap '43)
  Hooker, R. W. Ship's doctor. (Ap '43)
  Seagrave, G. S. Burma surgeon. (S '43)
  Thorek, M. Surgeon's world. (D '43)
Surgeon's fight to rebuild men. Albee, F. H. (Ap '43)
Surgeon's world. Thorek, M. (D '43)
Surgery, Military
  Doherty, W. B., and Runes, D. D., eds. Rehabilitation of the war injured. (D '43)
Surprise. Erfurth, W. (S '43)
Surprise mystery. Farmer, W. (S '43)
Surratt, Mrs Mary Eugenia (Jenkins)
  Campbell, H. J. Case for Mrs Surratt. (N '43)
Survey of physics for college students. Saunders, F. A. (N '43)
Surveying
  Davis, R. E., and Kelly, J. W. Short course in surveying. (S '43)
  Rayner, W. H. Elementary surveying, v 1. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
  Sharp, H. O. Geodetic control surveys. (S '43)
Survival. Bottome, P. (O '43)
Survival of western culture. Flewelling, R. T. (S '43)
Susan to you. Carrick, G. (S '43)
Susie Stuart, home front doctor. Chandler, C. A. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual) Suzy-Q. Hardison, P., and Wormser, A. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Swans
  Kortright, F. H. Ducks, geese and swans of North America. (My '43)
Sweden
Politics and government
  Joesten, J. Stalwart Sweden. (O '43)
Swedes in the United States
  Hokanson, N. M. Swedish immigrants in Lincoln's time. (Ap '43)
Swedish immigrants in Lincoln's time. Hokanson, N. M. (Ap '43)
Sweet, William Ellery
  Williams, W. C. Sweet of Colorado. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Sweet Beulah land. Harris, B. K. (Ap '43)
Sweet chariot. Baker, F. (Ap '43)
Sweet murder. Michel, M. S. (S '43)
Sweet of Colorado. Williams, W. C. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Swing shift. Brier, H. M. (Je '43)
Swish of the curtain. Brown, P. (O '43)
Sword of bone. Rhodes, A. (O '43)
Sword of Lionheart. Massey, V. (S '43)
Sword was their passport. Warren, H. G. (S '43)
Sycamore silver. Turner, N. B. (Ap '43)
Symbolism in literature
  Bowra, C. M. Heritage of symbolism. (S '43)
Symposium on radiography. American society for testing materials. (D '43)
Synthetic adhesives. Smith, P. I. (D '43)
Synthetic philanthropist. Wallis, J. H. (S '43)
Synthetic products
  Schoengold, M. D., ed. Encyclopedia of substitutes and synthetics. (D '43)
Synthetic resins and rubbers. Powers, P. O. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Syrian Yankee. Rizk, S. (Mr '43)
Syrians in the United States
  Rizk, S. Syrian Yankee. (Mr '43)

Taboo
  Webster, H. Taboo. (O '43)
Tactics
  Keyes, R. J. B. Amphibious warfare and combined operations. (S '43)
  Wintringham, T. H. Story of weapons and tactics. (My '43)
Take 'er up alone, Mister. Hibbits, J. J. (N '43)
Take nothing for your journey. Steward, A. S. (N '43)
Taking God into partnership. Kleiser, G. (Ag '43)
Tale of the crow. Kane, H. B. (My '43)
Tales, Mexican
  Bryan, C., and Madden, M. B. Cactus fence. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Tales, Polish
  Przerwa-Tetmajer, K. Tales of the Tatras. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Tales from Shakespeare. Lamb, C. and M. A. (Ap '43)
Tales of terror. Karloff, B., ed. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Tales of the pioneers. Chalfant, W. A. (My '43)
Tales of the Tatras. Przerwa-Tetmajer, K. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Tall in the saddle. Young, G. R. (My '43)
Tall tales of Arkansaw. Masterson, J. R. (Ag '43)
Tallmadge, Benjamin
  Hall, C. S. Benjamin Tallmadge. (O '43)
Tambourine, trumpet and drum. Kaye-Smith, S. (O '43)
Tangled web. Urbahns, E. (D '43)
Tangleweed. Willis, G. (O '43)
Tanks (military science)
  Poliakov, A. White mammoths. (Ap '43)
Tanning
  Smith, P. I. Principles and processes of light leather manufacture. (D '43)
Taps for Private Tussie. Stuart, J. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Target: Germany. United States. Army air forces. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual) Target for murder. Giles, G. E. (Ag '43)
Tariff
United States
  Pearson, J. C. Reciprocal trade agreements program. (S '43)
Tatting
  Graumont, R., and Hensel, J. Square knot, tatting, fringe and needle work. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Taxation
  Hazelett, C. W. Dynamic capitalism. (O '43)
  Mering, O. O. von. Shifting and incidence of taxation. (Je '43)
Great Britain
  Shirras, G. F., and Rostás, L. Burden of British taxation. (Ap '43)
United States
  Magill, R. F. Impact of federal taxes. (Mr '43)
Taxation, State
  Blakey, R. G., and Johnson, V. State income taxes. (S '43)
Taylor, Nathaniel William
  Mead, S. E. Nathaniel William Taylor. (My '43)
Tchaikovski, Peter Ilyitch
  Purdy, C. L. S. Stormy victory. (Mr '43)
  Weinstock, H. Tchaikovsky. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Teachers
Hayes, M. L. Study of the classroom disturbances. (N '43)
Teachers, Training of
Otto, H. J. Community workshops for teachers in the Michigan community health project. (Je '43)
Teaching
Goetting, M. L. Teaching in the secondary school. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Teaching athletic skills in physical education. Craine, H. C. (Ap '43)
Teaching in the secondary school. Goetting, M. L. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Teaching sermons. Clarke, W. K. L. (Ap '43)
Teaching the social studies. Wesley, E. B. (Je '43)
Teale, Edwin Way
Teale, E. W. Dune boy. (N '43)
Tears. Balabanova, A. (N '43)
Technical handbook for solving problems in shop or factory. Lang, E. H. (Ag '43)
Technique of production processes. Connelly, J. R. (O '43)
Techniques of democracy. Bingham, A. M. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual) Technology
Low, A. M., ed. Science looks ahead. (Je '43)
Dictionaries
Newmark, M. Dictionary of science and technology in English-French-German-Spanish. (Ag '43)
Perol Guerrero, A., comp. New technical and commercial dictionary. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Juvenile literature
Britton, K. What makes it tick? (O '43)
Study and teaching
Howland, H. P., and others. How to read in science and technology. (N '43)
Techow, Ernest Werner. See Tessier, E.
Teeth of the lion. Patchen, K. (S '43)
Tegakouita, Catharine
Poetry
Holland, R. E. Song of Tekakwitha. (My '43)
Tekakwitha, Kateri. See Tegakouita, C.
Telescope
Collins, A. F. Greatest eye in the world. (My '43)
Television
National television system committee. Television standards and practice. (Je '43)
Tell me about God. Jones, M. A. (D '43)
Telltime the rabbit. Hall, W. N. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Ten commandments. Robinson, A. L., ed. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Tenants of the Almighty. Raper, A. F. (S '43)
Tennessee Valley authority
Pritchett, C. H. Tennessee Valley authority. (Ag '43)
Teresita of the valley. Means, F. C. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Terhune, Albert Payson
Terhune, A. M. S. Bert Terhune I knew. (My '43)
Territorial waters
Riesenfeld, S. A. Protection of coastal fisheries under international law. (Je '43)
Terry. Comstock, H. T. S. (O '43)
Terry Carvel's theater caravan. Sasse, A. B. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Tessier, Ernest, originally Ernest Werner Techow
Herald, G. W. My favorite assassin. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Test yourself for a war job. Wilking, S. V., and Cushman, D. J. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Teusler, Rudolf Bolling
Robbins, H. C., and MacNaught, G. K. Dr Rudolf Bolling Teusler. (Ap '43)
Teutonic knights
Treitschke, H. G., von. Origins of Prussianism. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Texas
History
Juvenile literature
Johnson, S. J. Texas. (O '43)
Textbook of biochemistry. Williams, R. J. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Textile fabrics
Dooley, W. H. Textiles. (My '43)
Textile industry
Dooley, W. H. Textiles. (My '43)
Textiles. Dooley, W. H. (My '43)
Tharrus three. Maclean, C. M. (S '43)
Theater
Stage settings and scenery
Simonson, L. Part of a lifetime. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Yearbooks
Mantle, B., ed. Best plays of 1942-43. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
United States
Nathan, G. J. Theatre book of the year, 1942-1943. (O '43)
Theatre book of the year, 1942-1943. Nathan, G. J. (O '43)
Their first igloo on Baffin island. True, B., and Henry, M. (O '43)
Then gilded dust. Hurst, J. S. (My '43)
Theodore Roosevelt and the rise of the modern navy. O'Gara, G. C. (O '43)
Theology
Horton, W. M. Theology in transition. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Jaeger, W. W. Humanism and theology. (D '43)
Roberts, D. E., and Van Dusen, H. P. eds. Liberal theology. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Scott, E. F. Varieties of New Testament religion. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Theology in transition. Horton, W. M. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Theoretical soil mechanics. Terzaghi, K. von. (S '43)
Theory and practice of central banking. Morgan, E. V. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Theory of competitive price. Stigler, G. J. (S '43)
Theory of emulsions and their technical treatment. Clayton, W. (Ag '43)
Theory of motion in Plato's later dialogues. Skemp, J. B. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Theory of photographic process. Mees, C. E. K. (Ap '43)
Theory of prices, v 2. Marget, A. W. (My '43)
There is a river. Sugrue, T. (Ap '43)
There is the land. Best, A. C. (D '43)
There was an old woman. Queen, E. (My '43)
There's something in the air. Bates, H. E. (Je '43)
Thermochemistry
Burk, R. E., and Grummitt, O. J., eds. Chemical background for engine research. (N '43)
Thermodynamics of firearms. Robinson, C. S. (O '43)
These are the generals. (N '43)
These happy golden years. Wilder, L. I. (My '43)
These men shall never die. Thomas, L. J. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
These mysterious rays. Hart, A. (Je '43)
These two hands. Edwards, E. J. (Ap '43)
They also ran. Stone, I. (Ag '43)
They call it Pacific. Lee, C. (My '43)
They called him father. Bachmann, E. T. (Mr '43)
They came as friends. Myklebost, T. (Mr '43)
They came from France. Judson, C. I. (O '43)
They deal in death. Terrall, R. (Je '43)
They fly for victory. Ayling, K. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
They made me a leatherneck. Vance, R. B. (S '43)
They sent me to Iceland. Goodell, J. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
They shall inherit the earth. Zoff, O. (D '43)
They shall not have me. Hélion, J. (O '43)
They who wait. Guerlain, R. (Ag '43)
They're all yours, Uncle Sam. Barsis, M. (N '43)
Thief island. Coatsworth, E. J. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Third degree. Barry, J. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Third-term tradition. Stein, C. W. (S '43)
Thirty seconds over Tokyo. Lawson, T. W. (S '43)
This age of conflict. Chambers, F. P., and others. (S '43)
This exciting air. Guyton, B. T. (Ag '43)

- This fascinating lumber business. Horn, S. F. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
- This festive season. Singer, J. F. G. (D '43)
- This is Congress. Young, R. A. (Mr '43)
- This is fashion. Burris-Meyer, E. (S '43)
- This is India. Muir, P. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
- This is Lorence. Hartley, L. C. (Ag '43)
- This is murder, Mr Jones. Fuller, T. (Ap '43)
- This is my beloved. Benton, W. (Ap '43)
- This is my brother. Paul, L. (D '43)
- This is my son. Alexander, E. (N '43)
- This is not the end of France. Winter, G. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
- This man Ribbentrop. Schwarz, P. (O '43)
- This man was Ireland. Farren, R. (Ag '43)
- This rich world. Foster, C. J. (Je '43)
- This time for keeps. MacCormac, J. (Mr '43)
- This was Lidice. Holm, G. (O '43)
- This was New York. Monaghan, F., and Lowenthal, M. (Je '43)
- This was their land. Lloyd, A. E. (O '43)
- This winged world. Collison, T., ed. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
- Thomas Aquinas, Saint
  - Brennan, R. E., ed. Essays in Thomism. (Je '43)
  - Summa theologica
  - Garrigou-Lagrange, R. One God. (O '43)
- Thompson, Edward McCray
  - Thompson, E. M. Leg man. (Mr '43)
- Thomson, Sir Joseph John
  - Rayleigh, R. J. S. Life of Sir J. J. Thomson, O.M. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
- Thorek, Max
  - Thorek, M. Surgeon's world. (D '43)
- Thorn-apple tree. Campbell, G. M. G. (Mr '43)
- Thorne Smith three-bagger. Smith, T. (My '43)
- Those ancient dramas called tragedies. Prentice, W. K. (S '43)
- Those raw materials. Ward, C. A. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
- Those were the days. Hewitt, E. R. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
- Those who go against the current. Seifert, S. (N '43)
- Thought and thinking
  - Schilder, P. Mind. (S '43)
- Thousand-year conspiracy. Winkler, P. (Ap '43)
- Three against Rommel. Eng title of: Conquest of North Africa. Clifford, A. (O '43)
- Three came to Ville Marie. Sullivan, A. (Mr '43)
- Three Christian transcendentalists. Wells, R. V. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
- Three for Cordelia. Eng title of: Tharrus three. Maclean, C. M. (S '43)
- Three gay tales. Grimm, J. L. K. and W. K. (D '43)
- Three meanings. Fosdick, H. E. (Ap '43)
- Three of a kind. Cain, J. M. (My '43)
- Three readers. Readers club, New York. (S '43)
- Three things we can believe in. Oursler, F. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
- Three times I bow. Glick, C. (S '43)
- Threshold in the sun. Morris, L. R. (S '43)
- Through Japanese barbed wire. Priestwood, G. (D '43)
- Thucydides
  - Finley, J. H. Thucydides. (Ap '43)
- Thunderhead. Sture-Vasa, M. A. (N '43)
- Thursday turkey murders. Rice, C. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
- Thus be it ever. Molendyk, C. A., and Edwards, B. C., eds. (Ap '43)
- Tibby's venture. Holberg, R. L. (D '43)
- Tiberius, emperor of Rome
  - Smith, C. E. Tiberius and the Roman empire. (N '43)
- Tiberius and the Roman empire. Smith, C. E. (N '43)
- Tidewater. Dowdey, C. (O '43)
- Tied for murder. Fitzsimmons, C. (S '43)
- Tilda. Van Doren, M. (Ap '43)
- Till I come back to you. Bell, T. (Ag '43)
- Tillage
  - Faulkner, E. H. Plowman's folly. (S '43)
- Timber
  - Hansen, H. J. Modern timber design. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
- Timbers
  - Record, S. J., and Hess, R. W. Timbers of the New World. (Ag '43)
- Timbers of the New World. Record, S. J., and Hess, R. W. (Ag '43)
- Time between. Wilhelm, G. (Ap '43)
- Time enough later. Tennant, K. (Mr '43)
- Time for greatness. Agar, H. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
- Time for change. Hehmeyer, A. F. W. (S '43)
- Time is our house. McNeill, L. (S '43)
- Time: the refreshing river. Needham, J. (O '43)
- Time to act. MacLeish, A. (Je '43)
- Time to inquire. Crowther, S. (Ap '43)
- Time to live. Blankfort, M. (My '43)
- Time to speak. Chubb, T. C. (N '43)
- Timothy Tiger. Barrows, M. (D '43)
- Timur and his gang. Gaidar, A. (D '43)
- To all hands. Brown, J. M. (D '43)
- To catch a thief. Rice, C. (Je '43)
- To meet Miss Long. Kahn, J. (My '43)
- Todorov, Kosta
  - Todorov, K. Balkan firebrand. (S '43)
- Tokyo record. Tolischus, O. D. (Mr '43)
- Told on the king's highway. Jewett, E. M. (D '43)
- Toleration
  - Myers, G. History of bigotry in the United States. (S '43)
- Tommy helps, too. Rey, H. A. (S '43)
- Tomorrow fair. Halsted, W. (Mr '43)
- Tomorrow is forever. Bristow, G. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
- Tomorrow the world. Gow, J., and D'Usseau, A. (D '43)
- Tomorrow we fly. Stout, W. B., and Reck, F. M. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
- Too many bones. Wallis, R. O. S. (O '43)
- Tool design. Donaldson, C., and LeCain, G. H. (Je '43)
- Tools
  - Kennedy, W. J. Pre-service course in shop practice. (Je '43)
- Top hats and tom-toms. Furbay, E. J. D. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
- Topsy-turvy family. Brock, E. L. (D '43)
- Torch of freedom. Ludwig, E., and Kranz, H. B., eds. (N '43)
- Torpedo! Hackforth-Jones, G. (Je '43)
- Torpedo 8. Wolfert, I. (S '43)
- Torque converters or transmissions. Heldt, P. M. (S '43)
- Total peace. Culbertson, E. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
- Totalitarianism
  - Neumann, S. Permanent revolution. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
  - Sheen, F. J. Philosophies at war. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
- Touched by the thorn. Laverty, M. (N '43)
- Toughest fighting in the world. Johnston, G. H. (O '43)
- Towards a better world. Hix, H. G., and others. (N '43)
- Towards an abiding peace. MacIver, R. M. (S '43)
- Towards belief in God. Farmer, H. H. (Je '43)
- Tower of steel. Lawrence, J. (D '43)
- Toys
  - Showalter, H. F. Small creations for your tools. (Je '43)
- Tracking and trailing
  - Mason, G. F. Animal tracks. (O '43)
- Trade and job analysis. Fryklund, V. C. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
- Trade and professional associations
  - Brady, R. A. Business as a system of power. (Mr '43)
- Trade unions
  - Seidman, J. I. Union rights and union duties. (O '43)
  - United States
  - Pierson, F. C. Collective bargaining systems. (Je '43)
- Trademark of a traitor. Knight, K. M. (Ag '43)
- Traffic courts. Warren, G. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
- Traffic regulations
  - Warren, G. Traffic courts. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
- Tragedy
  - O'Connor, W. V. Climates of tragedy. (O '43)
  - Prentice, W. K. Those ancient dramas called tragedies. (S '43)
- Tragedy at law. Clark, A. A. G. (O '43)

Tragedy of European labor, 1918-1939. Sturmthal, A. F. (Je '43)
Tragicall history of Christopher Marlowe. Bakeless, J. E. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Trail beyond the Rockies. Chapman, M. (Je '43)
Trail boss. Glidden, J. H. (My '43)
Trail of the money bird. Ripley, S. D. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Trail to light. Parsons, R. P. (Ag '43)
Trailer trio. Jacobs, E. A. (Je '43)
Trance above the streets. Rosenberg, H. (N '43)
Transcendentalism
  Wells, R. V. Three Christian transcendentalists. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Transformations (mathematics)
  Gardner, M. F., and Barnes, J. L. Transients in linear systems, v 1. (Je '43)
Transients (electricity)
  Gardner, M. F., and Barnes, J. L. Transients in linear systems, v 1. (Je '43)
Transients in linear systems, v 1. Gardner, M. F., and Barnes, J. L. (Je '43)
Transport for war, 1942-1943. Hungerford, E. (Ag '43)
Transportation
  Carlisle, N. V. Your career in transportation. (Je '43)
United States
  Hungerford, E. Transport for war, 1942-1943. (Ag '43)
Trappers' trail. Montgomery, R. G. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Travelers, English
  Berger, M. British traveller in America, 1836-1860. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Traveler's End. Randall, J. (O '43)
Travels in Afghanistan. Fox, E. F. (Je '43)
Travels of Ching. Bright, R. (D '43)
Treasure cave trail. Merrill, M. (O '43)
Treasury of American song. Downes, O., and Siegmeister, E., comps. (Ag '43)
Treasury of Russian life and humor. Cournos, J., ed. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual) Treasury of Russian literature. Guerney, B. G., ed. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Treasury of science. Shapley, H., and others, eds. (D '43)
Treasury of the familiar. Woods, R. L., ed. (Ap '43)
Treatise on war inflation. Fellner, W. J. (Je '43)
Treatment of experimental data. Worthing, A. G., and Geffner, J. (D '43)
Tree grows in Brooklyn. Smith, B. (S '43)
Tree of life. Smith, R. P., ed. (Ap '43)
Trees
  Felt, E. P. Shelter trees in war and peace. (D '43)
  Record, S. J., and Hess, R. W. Timbers of the New World. (Ag '43)
  Van Melle, P. J. Shrubs and trees for the small place. (Je '43)
North America
  Curtis, C. C., and Bausor, S. C. Complete guide to North American trees. (F '44) (1943 Annual) Trees and test tubes. Wilson, C. M. (Je '43)
Trespassers. Hobson, L. Z. (O '43)
Trial of Lucullus. Brecht, B. (S '43)
Trials
  Roughead, W. Art of murder. (My '43)
Trianon, Treaty of, June 4, 1920
  Deák, F. Hungary at the Paris peace conference. (My '43)
Trigonometry
  Nelson, A. L., and Folley, K. W. Plane and spherical trigonometry. (D '43)
Trigonometry, Plane
  Carson, A. B. Plane trigonometry made plain. (Je '43)
Trigonometry, Spherical
  Rider, P. R., and Hutchinson, C. A. Navigational trigonometry. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Trinity college. Trevelyan, G. M. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Trio. Baker, D. D. (S '43)
Triple cross murders. Long, A. R. (D '43)
Triple threat. Christie, A. M. (S '43)
Triumph of life. Gregory, H., ed. (N '43)
Triumvirate. Robinson, O. (N '43)
Tropic moon. Simenon, G. (Mr '43)
Trouble at Tamarack. Lavender, D. S. (Je '43)
Troubleshooter. Voelker, J. D. (Ap '43)
Trumbull, John
  Howard, L. Connecticut wits. (Mr '43)
Trumpet. Austin, M. (S '43)
Trusts, Industrial
  Borkin, J., and Welsh, C. A. Germany's master plan. (Mr '43)
  Hexner, E. International steel cartel. (Ag '43)
  Neal, A. C. Industrial concentration and price inflexibility. (Ap '43)
  Purdy, H. L., and others. Corporate concentration and public policy. (O '43)
Trusts and trustees
  Heaney, N. S. Public trusteeship. (N '43)
Try-out in Spain. Salter, C. (Je '43)
Tschirky, Oscar
  Schriftgiesser, K. Oscar of the Waldorf. (D '43)
Tuberculosis
  Pattison, H. A. Rehabilitation of the tuberculous. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Tubman, Mrs Harriet (Ross)
  Conrad, E. Harriet Tubman. (D '43)
Tucker, Louis
  Tucker, L. Clerical errors. (Je '43)
Tucker's people. Wolfert, I. (Je '43)
Tuckers tune in. Morris, H. (S '43)
Tulsa, Oklahoma
  Debo, A. Tulsa. (S '43)
Tumors
  Hueper, W. C. Occupational tumors and allied diseases. (Je '43)
Tungsten
  Li, K., and Wang, C. Tungsten. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Tunis expedition. Zanuck, D. F. (My '43)
Tunisia
Social life and customs
  Martin, D. B. I know Tunisia. (O '43)
Tunnel from Calais. Divine, A. D. (Mr '43)
Turco-Italian war, 1911-1912
  Askew, W. C. Europe and Italy's acquisition of Libya. (S '43)
Turkey
Foreign relations
Great Britain
  Bailey, F. E. British policy and the Turkish reform movement. (S '43)
Turn of the dial. Smith, C. P. (Mr '43)
Turnbulls. Caldwell, J. T. (O '43)
Twain, Mark. See Clemens, S. L.
Tweedles be brave! Wolo. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Twelve months make a year. Coatsworth, E. J. (Je '43)
Twelve months that changed the world. Lesueur, L. E. (S '43)
12 Spanish American poets. Hays, H. R., ed. (N '43)
Twentieth century authors. Kunitz, S. J., and Haycraft, H. eds. (Ap '43)
Twentieth century philosophy. Runes, D. D., ed. (N '43)
Twenty best film plays. Gassner, J., and Nichols, D., eds. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
25 non-royalty one-act American comedies. Kozlenko, W., comp. (S '43)
Twenty-five short stories. Benet, S. V. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Twenty little pets from everywhere. Ditmars, R. L. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Twenty modern Americans. Cooper, A. C., and Palmer, C. A. (My '43)
20 prize-winning non-royalty one-act plays. Smith, B. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Twenty years' truce, 1919-1939. Rayner, R. M. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Twig. Jones, E. O. (Ap '43)
Twilight of capitalism and the war. Marx, W. J. (Ap '43)
Twilight of civilization. Maritain, J. (Ag '43)
Twin rivers: the Raritan and the Passaic. Wildes, H. E. (Ap '43)
Two bottles of relish. Burnett, W., ed. (Je '43)
Two currents in the thought stream of Europe. Suhr, E. G. (D '43)
Two logs crossing. Edmonds, W. D. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Two marshals: Bazaine, Pétain. Guedalla, P. (S '43)

Two Mrs Abbotts. Stevenson, D. E. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Two of a kind. Bell, V. (Mr '43)
Two serious ladies. Bowles, J. A. (Je '43)

Tyrone, Hugh O'Neill, 2d earl of
O'Faolain, S. Great O'Neill. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)

U.S. camera, 1944. U.S.A. at war. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
U-boat prisoner. Gibbs, A. (S '43)

Ullstein aktien-gesellschaft
Ullstein, H. Rise and fall of the house of Ullstein. (Ap '43)

Ultra-high-frequency techniques. Brainerd, J. G., and others, eds. (Je '43)
Ultra-violet light and its applications. Dake, H. C., and De Ment, J. A. (S '43)

Ultra-violet rays
Dake, H. C., and De Ment, J. A. Ultra-violet light and its applications. (S '43)

Unabridged rhyming dictionary. Wood, C. (S '43)
Uncle Dan. Clemens, C., and Sibley, E. C. (Mr '43)
Unconquerable. Leber, C. T. (Ag '43)
Unconquerables. Auslander, J. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Unconquered isle. Eng title of: Malta epic. Beith, J. H. (D '43)
Unconsciousness. Miller, J. G. (O '43)
Under a lucky star. Andrews, R. C. (O '43)
Under cover. Derounian, A. (S '43)
Under running laughter. Manners, D. J. (Mr '43)
Under the bridge. Greenslet, F. (D '43)
Underground from Hongkong. Proulx, B. A. (O '43)
Understand your ulcer. Crohn, B. B. (S '43)
Unemployed. Ginzberg, E., and others. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Unemployment
Ginzberg, E. and others. Unemployed. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Stead, W. H. Democracy against unemployment. (My '43)

Unidentified woman. Eberhart, M. G. (D '43)
Unified physics. Fletcher, G. L., and others. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Union catalogs in the United States. Downs, R. B., ed. (Ag '43)
Union of South Africa. Sowden, L. (S '43)
Union rights and union duties. Seidman, J. I. (O '43)

United mine workers of America
Coleman, M. Men and coal. (D '43)

United nations, 1942-
Bonnet, H. United nations on the way. (Ap '43)
Bonnet, H. United nations; what they are, what they may become. (S '43)
Browder, E. R. Victory—and after. (My '43)
Holborn, L. W., ed. War and peace aims of the United nations. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Lorwin, L. L. Postwar plans of the United nations. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Mathews, B. J. United we stand. (D '43)
Parkes, H. B. World after war. (Ap '43)
Peaslee, A. J. Permanent United nations. (Ap '43)
Straight, M. W. Make this the last war. (Mr '43)

United nations on the way. Bonnet, H. (Ap '43)
United nations; what they are, what they may become. Bonnet, H. (S '43)

United States. Congress
McCune, W. Farm bloc. (S '43)
Young, R. A. This is Congress. (Mr '43)

United States. Congress. Senate. Foreign relations committee
Dennison, E. E. Senate Foreign relations committee. (My '43)

United States. Constitution
Hazlitt, H. New constitution now. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Hehmeyer. A. F. W. Time for change. (S '43)

Amendments

Orfield, L. B. Amending of the federal Constitution. (Je '43)

United States. Federal bureau of investigation
Collins, F. L. F.B.I. in peace and war. (N '43)
Floherty, J. J. Inside the F. B. I. (S '43)

United States. Federal power commission
Baum, R. D. Federal power commission and state utility regulation. (S '43)

United States. Labor, Department of Lombardi, J. Labor's voice in the cabinet. (My '43)

United States. National labor relations board
Eby, H. O. Labor relations act in the courts. (Je '43)

United States. Office of war information
Davis, E. H., and Price, B. War information and censorship. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

United States. Temporary national economic committee
Scoville, J., and Sargent, N. Fact and fancy in the T.N.E.C. monographs. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

United States. Work projects administration
Howard, D. S. WPA and federal relief policy. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

United States

Armed services

Army-navy guide. (My '43)
Bolander, L. H., and others. School of the citizen sailor. (D '43)
Lehman, M., and Yarmon, M. Opportunities in the armed forces. (Ap '43)

Insignia

Brown, P. Insignia of the services. (O '43)
Bunkley, J. W. Military and naval recognition book. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Juvenile literature

Elting, M., and Weaver, R. T. Soldiers, sailors, fliers and marines. (D '43)

Army

Banning, K. Our army today. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Carlisle, N. V. Wartime opportunities for men. (D '43)
Detzer, K. W., ed. Army reader. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Greene, J. I. What you should know about army ground forces. (S '43)
Limpus, L. M. How the army fights. (S '43)
Rimington, C. Fighting fleets. (S '43)

Air corps

Ford, C., and MacBain, A. From the ground up. (Je '43)
Hibbits, J. J. Take 'er up alone, Mister! (N '43)
Huie, W. B. Fight for air power. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Ryan, R. N. Spin in, dumbwhacks. (S '43)

Air corps—VIII bomber command

United States. Army air forces. Target: Germany. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Armored force

McGhee, A. F. He's in the Armored force now. (Ag '43)

Army nurse corps

Flikke, J. O. Nurses in action. (My '43)

Biography

These are the generals. (N '43)

Corps of engineers

Leyson, B. W. Army engineers in review. (Ap '43)
Mann, C. He's in the engineers now. (S '43)

History

Bowman, A. Morale of the American revolutionary army. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Medical department

Hume, E. E. Victories of army medicine. (Ag '43)

Military life

Bristol, G. T. Salute me! (S '43)
Brown, H. It's a cinch, Private Finch! (Ap '43)
Cannon, J. J. Sergeant says. (Mr '43)
Gach, G. In the army now. (Ap '43)
Marsden, M. H. E. Khaki is more than a color. (Je '43)

Montgomery, H. Colonel's lady. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Paul, L. Ordeal of Sergeant Smoot. (S '43)
St George, T. R. C/o Postmaster. (O '43)
St John, B. U. Excess baggage. (Je '43)
United States army illustrators of Fort Custer. As soldiers see it. (S '43)

Military life—Drama

Army play by play. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Parachute troops

Rathbone, A. D. He's in the paratroops now. (Je '43)

Physical training

D'Eliscu, F. How to prepare for military fitness. (Ag '43)

Rations

Hoffman, E. Feeding our armed forces. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Records and correspondence

Coleron, H. C., and Burt, F. A. How to conduct army correspondence. (N '43)

Signal corps

Davis, H. M., and Fassett, F. G. What you should know about the Signal corps. (My '43)
Mann, C. He's in the Signal corps now. (O '43)

Biography

Basso, H. Mainstream. (D '43)
Cattell, J., ed. Directory of American scholars. (O '43)
Cooper, A. C., and Palmer, C. A. Twenty modern Americans. (My '43)
Johnson, G. W. American heroes and hero-worship. (O '43)
Logie, I. M. R., ed. Careers in the making. (S '43)
Stone, I. They also ran. (Ag '43)
Vlekke, B. H. M., and Beets, H. Hollanders who helped build America. (O '43)
Who was who in America. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Civilization

Agar, H. Time for greatness. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Alexander, R. C., and others. American democracy today and tomorrow. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Beard, C. A. and M. R. American spirit. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Curti, M. E. Growth of American thought. (N '43)
Greene, E. B. Revolutionary generation, 1763-1790. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Miller, H. H. Yours for tomorrow. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Paterson, I. B. God of the machine. (Je '43)
Peattie, D. C. Journey into America. (N '43)
Robinson, H. M. Fantastic interim. (My '43)
Rugg, H. O. Now is the moment. (Ag '43)

Commerce

Great Britain

Kreider, C. J. Anglo-American trade agreement. (S '43)

Commercial policy

Mallery, O. T. Economic union and durable peace. (Ag '43)
Pearson, J. C. Reciprocal trade agreements program. (S '43)

Constitutional law

Orfield, L. B. Amending of the federal Constitution. (Je '43)

Description and travel

Berger, M. British traveller in America, 1836-1860. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Menefee, S. C. Assignment: U. S. A. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Schliemann, H. Schliemann's first visit to America. (N '43)

Economic conditions

Alexander, R. C., and others. American democracy today and tomorrow. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Babson, R. W. Looking ahead fifty years. (My '43)
Bining, A. C. Rise of American economic life. (D '43)
Bogart, E. L. Economic history of the American people. (Je '43)
Chase, S. Goals for America. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Cochran, T. C., and Miller, W. Age of enterprise. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Crow, C. Great American customer. (D '43)
Frickey, E. Economic fluctuations in the United States. (N '43)
Lieber, R. America's natural wealth. (My '43)
Martin, E. W. Standard of living in 1860. (My '43)
Scoville, J., and Sargent, N. Fact and fancy in the T.N.E.C. monographs. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Silberling, N. J. Dynamics of business. (S '43)
Van Vleck, G. W. Panic of 1857. (D '43)

Economic policy

Agar, H. Time for greatness. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Chase, S. Goals for America. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Chase, S. Where's the money coming from. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Crowther, S. Time to inquire. (Ap '43)
Fellner, W. J. Treatise on war inflation. (Je '43)
Flamm, I. H. Economic program for a living democracy. (Ap '43)
Harvey, R. F. Politics of this war. (My '43)
Hirsch, J. Price control in the war economy. (Je '43)
Normano, J. F. Spirit of American economics. (O '43)
Noyes, C. E. Economic freedom. (Je '43)
Queeny, E. M. Spirit of enterprise. (S '43)
Stewart, M. S. Building for peace at home and abroad. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Ware, C. F. Consumer goes to war. (Ap '43)
Wriston, H. M. Challenge to freedom. (S '43)

Executive departments

Pound, R. Administrative law. (O '43)

Foreign population

DuBois, R. D. Get together Americans. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Miller, K. D. We who are America. (D '43)

Pictorial works

Alland, A. American counterpoint. (O '43)

Foreign relations

Bailey, T. A. Policy of the United States toward the neutrals, 1917-1918. (Je '43)
Bemis, S. F. Diplomatic history of the United States. (Ap '43)
Brant, I. Road to peace and freedom. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Dennison, E. E. Senate Foreign relations committee. (My '43)
Howard, H. P. America's role in Asia. (Ag '43)
Lippmann, W. United States foreign policy. (Ag '43)
Parkes, H. B. World after war. (Ap '43)
Quintanilla, L. A Latin American speaks. (Mr '43)
Stoner, J. E. S. O. Levinson and the Pact of Paris. (S '43)
Straight, M. W. Make this the last war. (Mr '43)
United States. President, 1933-(F. D. Roosevelt). Roosevelt's foreign policy, 1933-1941. (Ap '43)
Viton, A. American empire in Asia? (O '43)
Welles, S. World of the four freedoms. (Je '43)

Canada

Manning, W. R., ed. Diplomatic correspondence of the United States, v2. (Ap '43)

China

Hornbeck, S. K. United States and the Far East. (Ag '43)

East (Far East)

Peffer, N. Basis for peace in the Far East. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)

Japan

Hornbeck, S. K. United States and the Far East. (Ag '43)

United States—Foreign relations—Continued

Latin America

Bemis, S. F. Latin American policy of the United States. (Je '43)
Callcott, W. H. Caribbean policy of the United States, 1890-1920. (Ap '43)

Mexico

Person, H. S. Mexican oil. (My '43)

Russia

Childs, J. L., and Counts, G. S. America, Russia, and the Communist party in the postwar world. (My '43)

Government publications

American library association. Committee on public documents. Public documents and World war II. (S '43)
Merritt, L. C. United States government as publisher. (O '43)

Historical geography

Maps

Adams, J. T., ed. Atlas of American history. (Ag '43)

History

Adams, J. T. The American. (O '43)
Benians, E. A. United States. (O '43)
Bolander, L. H., and others. School of the citizen sailor. (D '43)
Dumond, D. L. History of the United States. (Je '43)
Faulkner, H. U. American political and social history. (N '43)
Gabriel, R. H. Main currents in American history. (Ag '43)
Johnson, G. W. American heroes and hero-worship. (O '43)
McGuire, E., and Portwood, T. B. Rise of our free nation. (My '43)
Morison, S. E., and Commager, H. S. Growth of American republic. (N '43)
Mowat, R. B., and Slosson, P. W. History of the English-speaking peoples. (Ap '43)
Muelder, H. R., and Delo, D. M. Years of this land. (Ag '43)
Nevins, A. Brief history of the United States. (Ap '43)
Nevins, A. and Commager, H. S. America, the story of a free people. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Peattie, D. C. Journey into America. (N '43)
War services program, Pennsylvania. Making of America. (Ap '43)
Wellborn, F. W. Growth of American nationality, 1492-1865. (N '43)

Bibliography

Carpenter, H. M. Gateways to American history. (Ap '43)

Juvenile literature

Elms, F. R. Our United States, how it grew. (My '43)
Lawson, R. Watchwords of liberty. (S '43)

Poetry

Benét, S. V. Western star. (S '43)

Sources

Michigan. University. William L. Clements library of American history. Guide to the manuscript collections in the Library, by Howard H. Peckham. (Ap '43)

Colonial period

Greene, E. B. Revolutionary generation, 1763-1790. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Miller, J. C. Origins of the American revolution. (S '43)
Savelle, M. Foundations of American civilization. (O '43)

Revolution

Greene, E. B. Revolutionary generation, 1763-1790. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Van Doren, C. C. Mutiny in January. (My '43)

Revolution—Causes

Miller, J. C. Origins of the American revolution. (S '43)

Revolution—Regimental histories

Ward, C. L. Delaware Continentals. (Ap '43)

Confederation, 1783-1789

Greene, E. B. Revolutionary generation, 1763-1790. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Civil war

Freeman, D. S. Lee's lieutenants; v. 2, Cedar mountain to Chancellorsville. (My '43)

Civil war—Causes

Bagley, W. C. Soil exhaustion and the Civil war. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Simms, H. H. Decade of sectional controversy, 1851-1861. (S '43)

Civil war—Naval operations

West, R. E. Gideon Welles. (D '43)

Civil war—Personal narratives

Upson, T. F. With Sherman to the sea. (Ap '43)
Wiley, B. I. Life of Johnny Reb. (Ap '43)

Civil war—Religious aspects

Dunham, C. F. Attitude of the northern clergy toward the South. (Ap '43)

Civil war—Swedish troops

Hokanson, N. M. Swedish immigrants in Lincoln's time. (Ap '43)

1865-

Hayward, W. S., and Hamilton, D. A. American people. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

20th century

Robinson, H. M. Fantastic interim. (My '43)

History, Military

Fuller, J. F. C. Decisive battles of the U.S.A. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Matthews, W., and Wecter, D. Our soldiers speak. (Ap '43)
Williams, B. A., ed. Amateurs at war. (Ag '43)

History, Naval

Albion, R. G., and Pope, J. B. Sea lanes in wartime. (Mr '43)
Alden, C. S., and Westcott, A. F. United States navy. (O '43)
Falk, E. A. From Perry to Pearl harbor. (Mr '43)
King, C. Atlantic charter. (Ag '43)

Industries and resources

Alderfer, E. B., and Michl, H. E. Economics of American industry. (N '43)
Bogart, E. L. Economic history of the American people. (Je '43)

Intellectual life

Curti, M. E. Growth of American thought. (N '43)

Juvenile literature

Dyett, J. G. From sea to shining sea. (Je '43)

Manufactures

Fabricant, S. Employment in manufacturing, 1899-1939. (S '43)

Navy

Baldwin, H. W. Navy at war. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Bell, F. J. Condition red. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Carlisle, N. V. Wartime opportunities for men. (D '43)
Collins, C. R. Navy woman's handbook. (Ap '43)
Fetridge, W. H., ed. Navy reader. (S '43)
Ford, F. A. Know your navy now! (S '43)
Johnston, S. Grim reapers. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Taussig, J. K., and Cope, H. F. Our navy, a fighting team. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Air service

Pratt, F. Navy has wings. (Ap '43)

History

King, C. Atlantic charter. (Ag '43)
O'Gara, G. C. Theodore Roosevelt and the rise of the modern navy. (O '43)

Medical corps

Oman, C. M. Doctors aweigh. (S '43)

Naval reserve
Forster, G. F., and Cady, E. L. Naval reserve guide. (Ap '43)

Officers
Cope, H. F. Command at sea. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Officers' handbooks
Ageton, A. A. Naval officer's guide. (My '43)

Pictorial works
Gard, A. Sailors in boots. (My '43)

Officials and employees
Civil service assembly of the United States and Canada. Committee on employee relations in the public service. Employee relations in the public service. (My '43)

Politics and government
Agar, H. Time for greatness. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Alexander, R. C., and others. American democracy today and tomorrow. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Anderson, H. D., and Davidson, P. E. Ballots and the democratic class struggle. (Ag '43)
Beard, C. A. Republic. (N '43)
Binkley, W. E. American political parties. (N '43)
Cousens, T. W. Politics and political organizations in America. (Mr '43)
Fowler, D. G. Cabinet politician. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Harvey, R. F. Politics of this war. (My '43)
Hazlitt, H. New constitution now. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Hehmeyer, A. F. W. Time for change. (S '43)
Ickes, H. L. Autobiography of a curmudgeon. (My '43)
Laing, A. K. Way for America. (My '43)
McMahon, J. L. American government. (My '43)
Millspaugh, A. C. Democracy, efficiency, stability. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Perry, C. M., ed. Philosophy of American democracy. (O '43)
Stein, C. W. Third-term tradition. (S '43)
Stone, I. They also ran. (Ag '43)

Revolution
Macmillan, M. B. War governors in the American revolution. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

1783-1865
Simms, H. H. Decade of sectional controversy, 1851-1861. (S '43)

1865-
Clemens, S. L. Washington in 1868. (Ag '43)
Knoles, G. H. Presidential campaign and election of 1892. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

20th century
Crowther, S. Time to inquire. (Ap '43)
Grafton, S. American diary. (S '43)
Hinshaw, D. Home front. (S '43)
Queeny, E. M. Spirit of enterprise. (S '43)
Wriston, H. M. Challenge to freedom. (S '43)
Young, R. A. This is Congress. (Mr '43)

Population
Kiser, C. V. Group differences in urban fertility. (Je '43)
Robison, S. M., and Starr, J., eds. Jewish population studies. (S '43)

Public works
Howard, D. S. WPA and federal relief policy. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Race question
Embree, E. R. Brown Americans. (D '43)
Johnson, C. S. Patterns of Negro segregation. (Ap '43)
La Farge, J. Race question and the Negro. (N '43)
Lee, A. M., and Humphrey, N. D. Race riot. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
McWilliams, C. Brothers under the skin. (Je '43)
Myers, G. History of bigotry in the United States. (S '43)
Odum, H. W. Race and rumors of race. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Vickery, W. E., and Cole, S. G. Intercultural education in American schools. (Ag '43)

Relations (general) with China
La Fargue, T. E. China's first hundred. (S '43)

Relations (general) with Europe
Hanc, J. Eastern Europe and the United States. (D '43)

Relations (general) with Great Britain
Gibbs, P. H., ed. Bridging the Atlantic. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Gordon, G. S. Anglo-American literary relations. (Mr '43)

Relations (general) with Latin America
Reynolds, T. H., ed. Progress of Pan Americanism. (D '43)
White, J. W. Our good neighbor hurdle. (O '43)

Religion
Post, A. Popular freethought in America, 1825-1850. (Ag '43)

Social conditions
Alexander, R. C., and others. American democracy today and tomorrow. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
American social problems study committee. Guide for the study of American social problems. (Je '43)
Cochran, T. C., and Miller, W. Age of enterprise. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Gillette, J. M., and Reinhardt, J. M. Problems of a changing social order. (Je '43)
Melbo, I. R., and others. American scene. (Ap '43)
Ogburn, W. F., ed. American society in wartime. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Walsh, M. E. American social problems. (S '43)

Social life and customs
Cohn, D. L. Love in America. (Je '43)
Crow, C. Great American customer. (D '43)

United States and the Far East. Hornbeck, S. K. (Ag '43)

United States. Army. Women's army corps
Barsis, M. They're all yours, Uncle Sam! (N '43)
Flint, M., ed. Dress right, dress. (D '43)
Phillips, H. I. All-out Arlene. (S '43)
Pollock, E. R. Yes, ma'am! (Ag '43)
Shea, N. B. Waacs. (Ag '43)

United States. Coast guard
Bell, K. Always ready! (O '43)
Felsen, G. He's in the Coast guard now. (S '43)

United States foreign policy. Lippmann, W. (Ag '43)
United States government as publisher. Merritt, L. C. (O '43)

United States. Marine corps
Ayling, K. Semper fidelis. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Boswell, R. Leathernecks. (N '43)
Crane, A., ed. Marines at war. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Griffin, A. R. Here come the marines! (Mr '43)
Horan, J. D., and Frank, G., eds. Out in the boondocks. (O '43)
Israels, J. He's in the Marine corps now. (N '43)
Tregaskis, R. W. Guadalcanal diary. (Mr '43)
Vance, R. B. They made me a leatherneck. (S '43)

United States naval expedition to Japan, 1852-1854
McCauley, E. Y. With Perry in Japan. (My '43)

United States. Naval reserve. Women's reserve
Angel, J. Angel of the navy. (S '43)
Barsis, M. They're all yours, Uncle Sam! (N '43)
Ross, N. W. WAVES. (D '43)

United States. Navy. Air service. Torpedo squadron 8
Wolfert, I. Torpedo 8. (S '43)

United States. Navy. Armed guard
Berry, R. B. Gunners get glory. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

United we stand. Mathews, B. J. (D '43)
Unity of India. Nehru, J. (Ap '43)
University debaters' annual, 1941-42. Phelps, E. M., ed. (Ap '43)

Unknown army. Basseches, N. (Ag '43)
Unlike twins. Becker, C. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Unlike twins and the animals. Becker, C. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Up above and down below. Webber, I. E. S. (Ap '43)
Up jumped the devil. Adams, C. F. (Je '43)
Up periscope. Masters, D. (Ag '43)
Upon this rock. Cammaerts, E. (S '43)
Usage and abusage. Partridge, E. (Ap '43)
Use of air power. Blunt, V. E. R. (S '43)
Useless cowboy. LeMay, A. (N '43)
Uses of reason. Murphy, A. E. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Vacuum tubes
Chute, G. M. Electronic control of resistance welding. (O '43)
Harvey, A. F. High frequency thermionic tubes. (S '43)
Valiant comrades. Knight, R. A. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Valiant minstrel. Malvern, G. (D '43)
Valley in arms. Miers, E. S. (Je '43)
Vancouver, British Columbia
Rothery, A. E. Ports of British Columbia. (S '43)
Vanishing violin. Lee, A. (S '43)
Varieties of New Testament religion. Scott, E. F. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Variety of weapons. King, R. (S '43)
Varnish and varnishing
Mattiello, J. J., ed. Protective and decorative coatings, v 3. (D '43)
Vassar experimental theatre
Flanagan, H. F. Dynamo. (Je '43)
Vast horizons. Lucas, M. S. (S '43)
Vazquez de Coronado, Francisco
Farnum, M. A. Seven golden cities. (N '43)
Vector analysis
Craig, H. V. Vector and tensor analysis. (Ag '43)
Vector and tensor analysis. Craig, H. V. (Ag '43)
Vegetable encyclopedia and gardener's guide. Tiedjens, V. A. (Je '43)
Vegetable gardening
Burdett, J. H. Victory garden manual. (Ag '43)
Foley, D. J., and Meikle, C. E. Vegetable gardening in color. (My '43)
Fox, H. M. Gardening for good eating. (Je '43)
Tiedjens, V. A. Vegetable encyclopedia and gardener's guide. (Je '43)
Vegetable gardening in color. Foley, D. J., and Meikle, C. E. (My '43)
Venezuela
Description and travel
Dennison, L. R. Caroni gold. (Ag '43)
Verne, Jules
Waltz, G. H. Jules Verne. (Mr '43)
Vertical file service catalog. (Je '43)
Vertical warfare. Drake, F. V. (S '43)
Very first garden. Gould, D. (Je '43)
Very truly ours. Wise, J. W., ed. (D '43)
Veterinary medicine
Baker, E. T. Home veterinarian's handbook. (S '43)
Vibration
Bernhard, R. K. Mechanical vibrations. (S '43)
Freberg, C. R., and Kemler, E. N. Elements of mechanical vibration. (D '43)
Vichy; two years of deception. Marchal, L. (Mr '43)
Victoria, queen of Great Britain
Ponsonby, A. A. W. H. P. Henry Ponsonby. (D '43)
Victoria, British Columbia
Rothery, A. E. Ports of British Columbia. (S '43)
Victories of army medicine. Hume, E. E. (Je '43)
Victorious suffering. Glover, C. A. (My '43)
Victory—and after. Browder, E. R. (My '43)
Victory barnyard. Chapman, P. W. (N '43)
Victory garden manual. Burdett, J. H. (Ag '43)
Victory is not enough. Ranshofen-Wertheimer, E. F. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Victory through Africa. Dashiell, S. (S '43)
Victory vitamin cook book for wartime meals. Harris, F. L. (Ag '43)
Village of singing birds. Lee, M. H. (Je '43)
Villages
Morgan, A. E. Small community. (Ap '43)
Violent. Brown, H. P. M. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Virginia
History
Colonial period
Andrews, M. P. Soul of a nation. (O '43)
Social life and customs
Byrd, W. Secret diary of William Byrd of Westover, v 2. (Ap '43)
Fithian, P. V. Journal and letters. (S '43)
Virus diseases
Rockefeller institute for medical research, New York. Virus diseases. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Vitality through planned nutrition. Davis, A. (My '43)
Vitamins
Davis, A. Vitality through planned nutrition. (My '43)
Harris, F. L. Victory vitamin cook book for wartime meals. (Ag '43)
Morton, R. A. Application of absorption spectra to the study of vitamins, hormones and coenzymes. (D '43)
Vocational education
Fryklund, V. C. Trade and job analysis. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Vocational guidance
Brooke, E. E., and Roos, M. M. B. Career guide. (S '43)
Logie, I. M. R., ed. Careers in the making. (S '43)
Ward, D. S., and Selberg, E. M. Youth and jobs. (Je '43)
Voelker, John Donaldson (Robert Traver, pseud)
Voelker, J. D. Troubleshooter. (Ap '43)
Vogue's first reader. Vogue (periodical). (My '43)
Voice of the trumpet. Henriques, R. D. Q. (Ap '43)
Voices of history. Watts, F. (Je '43)
Voices of history, 1942-43. Watts, F., and Leighton, B. E., eds. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Volumetric analysis
Kolthoff, I. M., and Stenger, V. A. Volumetric analysis, v 1. (F '44) (1943 Annual) Volumetric analysis, v. 1. Kolthoff, I. M., and Stenger, V. A. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Voting
Anderson, H. D., and Davidson, P. E. Ballots and the democratic class struggle. (Ag '43)
Gosnell, H. F. Grass roots politics. (Ap '43)
Voyage of Captain Bart. Erskine, J. (Je '43)
Voyages and travels
Andrews, R. C. Under a lucky star. (O '43)
Barbour, T. Naturalist at large. (N '43)

Waacs. Shea, N. B. (Ag '43)
WAVES. Ross, N. W. (D '43)
WPA and federal relief policy. Howard, D. S. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Wadelton, Mrs Maggie Jeanne (Melody)
Wadelton, M. J. M. Maggie no doubt. (D '43)
Wages
Spengler, J. J. French predecessors of Malthus. (My '43)
Great Britain
Bowley, A. L., ed. Studies in the national income, 1924-1938. (N '43)
Wake of the prairie schooner. Paden, I. D. (D '43)
Waldorf-Astoria hotel, New York
Schriftgiesser, K. Oscar of the Waldorf. (D '43)
Walking
Fuller, R. T. Now that we have to walk. (Ap '43)
Geist, R. C. Hiking, camping and mountaineering. (Je '43)
Wall of eyes. Millar, M. (O '43)

Walls came tumbling down. Eisinger, J. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual) Walls of silence. Hawkins, D. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Walpole, Horace, 4th earl of Orford
  Chase, I. W. U. Horace Walpole: gardenist. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Walsh girls. Janeway, E. (N '43)

Walska, Ganna
  Walska, G. Always room at the top. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Waltz is over. Pine, H. (Ap '43)
Wanted: a murderess. Holbrook, M. (O '43)
Wanted: women in war industry. Baker, L. N. (Ag '43)

War
  Clausewitz, K., von. Living thoughts of Clausewitz. (Je '43)
  Clausewitz, K. von. On war. (N '43)
  Gray, G. W. Science at war. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
  Sikorski, W. Modern warfare. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
  Stanford university. School of education. Education in wartime and after. (N '43)
  Wright, Q. Study of war. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)

Economic aspects
  Crum, W. L., and others. Fiscal planning for total war. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
  Feilchenfeld, E. H. International economic law of belligerent occupation. (Ag '43)
  Gordon, L. J. Consumers in wartime. (Je '43)
  Lauterbach, A. T. Economics in uniform. (Je '43)

Influence and results
  Sargent, P. E. War and education. (N '43)
War against God. Carmer, C. L., ed. (N '43)
War and children. Freud, A., and Burlingham, D. T. (S '43)
War and education. Sargent, P. E. (N '43)
War and peace aims of the United nations. Holborn, L. W., ed. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
War and peace in the Pacific. Institute of Pacific relations, 8th conference, 1942. (S '43)
War and post-war social security. Cohen, W. J., ed. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

War and psychology
  May, M. A. Social psychology of war and peace. (Ag '43)

War and religion
  Lee. U. Historic church and modern pacifism. (Je '43)
  Poling, D. A. Preacher looks at war. (O '43)
War and the Jew. Zhabotinskiĭ, V. E. (Je '43)
War belts of Pontiac. Bunce, W. H. (S '43)
War correspondent. Rechnitzer, F. E. (O '43)
War discovers Alaska. Driscoll, J. (My '43)
War Eagles. Childers, J. S. (Je '43)
War for man's soul. Jäckh, E. (D '43)
War governors in the American revolution. Macmillan, M. B. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
War in the sun. Hodson, J. L. (Ag '43)
War in the west. Vilfroy, D. (Je '43)
War information and censorship. Davis, E. H., and Price, B. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
War is people. Lindsley, L. S. (Ap '43)
War of confusion. Bain, L. B. (Mr '43)
War planes of all nations. Winter, W. J. (S '43)
War poems of the United nations. Davidman, J., ed. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

War songs
  Adler, K., ed. Songs of many wars. (N '43)
War; third year. McInnis, E. W. (Ap '43)
War tide. Lin, A. (D '43)
War wings for Carol. O'Malley; P. (S '43)
War without inflation. Katona, G. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
War words. Greet, W. C. (My '43)
Warm earth. Waugh, D. (Je '43)
Warning to the west. Shridharani, K. J. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Warplane and how it works. Leyson, B. (S '43)
Warrior lawyer. Lowe, F. M. (Ap '43)
War's end and after. Chevalier, S. (N '43)

Warships
  Rimington, C. Fighting fleets. (S '43)
  Taussig, J. K., and Cope, H. F. Our navy, a fighting team. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Wartime censorship of press and radio. Summers, R. E., comp. (S '43)
Wartime jobs for girls. Lingenfelter, M. R. (Je '43)
Wartime opportunities for men. Carlisle, N. V. (D '43)
Wartime opportunities for women. Steele, E. M. (S '43)
Wartime problems of state and local finance. Tax institute. (O '43)
Wartime refresher in fundamental mathematics. Eddy, W. C., and others. (Ap '43)
Wartime supervision of workers. Schultz, R. S. (Ap '43)

Washington, D.C.
  Stevens, W. O. Washington: the Cinderella city. (My '43)

Social life and customs
  Lomax, E. V. L. Leaves from an old Washington diary, 1854-1863. (D '43)
Washington in 1868. Clemens, S. L. (Ag '43)
Washington, USA. Baldwin, F. (Ap '43)

Wassell, Corydon McAlmont
  Hilton, J. Story of Dr Wassell. (Je '43)
Watchwords of liberty. Lawson, R. (S '43)
Water-buffalo children. Buck, P. S. (N '43)

Water power
  Pritchett, C. H. Tennessee Valley authority. (Ag '43)
Watling Green. Panter-Downes, M. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Wavering friendship. Rupp, G. H. (Ap '43)
Way for America. Laing, A. K. (My '43)
Way of a pilot. Sutton, B. (Mr '43)
Way some people live. Cheever, J. (Ap '43)
Ways of the weather. Humphreys, W. J. (Ap '43)
We can win this war. Kernan, W. F. (My '43)
We cannot escape history. Whitaker, J. T. (Ap '43)
We Chinese women. Chiang, M. S. (My '43)
We fight with merchant ships. Palmer, M. B. (My '43)
We followed our hearts to Hollywood. Kimbrough, E. (D '43)
We landed at dawn. Austin, A. B. (Mr '43)
We thought we heard the angels sing. Whittaker, J. C. (My '43)
We were free. Joffé, C. (Ag '43)
We who are America. Miller, K. D. (D '43)
We who wait. Carfrae, E. (S '43)
Weapons and tactics. Eng title of: Story of weapons and tactics. Wintringham, T. H. (My '43)

Weather
  Brunt, D. Weather study. (Ap '43)
  Humphreys, W. J. Ways of the weather. (Ap '43)
  Longstreth, T. M. Knowing the weather. (D '43)
  Tannehill, I. R. Weather around the world. (D '43)
Weather. Kendrew, W. G. (Ap '43)
Weather around the world. Tannehill, I. R. (D '43)
Weather elements. Blair, T. A. (Ap '43)

Weather forecasting
  Starr, V. P. Basic principles of weather forecasting. (Ap '43)
Weather study. Brunt, D. (Ap '43)
Web Adams. Temple, W. H. (My '43)

Webster, Noah
  Proudfit, I. B. Noah Webster. (Ap '43)
Weeping wood. Baum, V. (N '43)

Wei, Yü-hsiu (Chêng)
  Wei, Y. C. My revolutionary years. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Weight of evidence. Stewart, J. I. M. (O '43)
Weir. Moore, R. (Ap '43)
Welcome. Clarke, I. C. (N '43)
Welcome. Deutsch, B. (Ap '43)

Welding
  Giachino, J. W. Oxy-acetylene welding and cutting. (Ap '43)
  Moyer, J. A. Welding. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
We'll meet in England. Barne, K. (My '43)
We'll take the skyway. Eberle, I. (Ap '43)

Welles, Gideon
  West, R. E. Gideon Welles. (D '43)

Wellington, Arthur Wellesley, 1st duke of
  Aldington, R. Duke. (N '43)

Wellman, Frederick Creighton
  Wellman, F. G. Life is too short. (N '43)
Were the minorities treaties a failure? Robinson, J., and others. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Were you there? Strodach, P. Z. (Je '43)

Wesley, John
  Sangster, W. E. Path to perfection. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

West
  Description and travel
  Paden, I. D. Wake of the prairie schooner. (D '43)
  Smith, De C. Indian experiences. (My '43)
  History
  DeVoto, B. A. Year of decision, 1846. (Ap '43)
  Hawthorne, H. Ox-team miracle. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)

West End nurse. Hancock, L. A. (Mr '43)

West Florida (province)
  Johnson, C. British West Florida 1763-1783. (D '43)

West Indies
  Follett, H. T. Islands on guard. (Ag '43)
  Juvenile literature
  Quinn, V. Picture map geography of Mexico, Central America and the West Indies. (Je '43)

West Indies, Netherlands
  Hiss, P. H. Netherlands America. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Western civilization. Tschan, F. J. (My '43)
Western star. Benét, S. V. (S '43)

Westinghouse, George
  Garbedian, H. G. George Westinghouse. (My '43)

What America means to me. Buck, P. S. (S '43)
What dark secret. Dudley, D., and Sheridan, J. (Je '43)
What does Gandhi want? Raman, T. A. (Ag 43) (1942 Annual)
What is a mature morality? Titus, H. H. (My '43)
What is religion doing to our consciences? Coe, G. A. (S '43)
What is the church doing? Van Dusen, H. P. (Je '43)
What makes it tick? Britton, K. (O '43)
What men live by. Tolstoĭ, L. N. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
What of the night? Lowndes, M. A. B. (My '43)
What to do aboard a transport. See American association of scientific workers. Science from shipboard
What to do till the doctor comes. Armstrong, D. B., and Hallock, G. T. (S '43)
What to do with Italy. Salvemini, G. and LaPiana, G. (O '43)
What you should know about army ground forces. Greene, J. I. (S '43)
What you should know about spies and saboteurs. Irwin, W. H., and Johnson, T. M. (Ag '43)
What you should know about the Signal corps. Davis, H. M., and Fassett, F. G. (My '43)
When doctors are rationed. Anderson, D., and Baylous, M. (Mr '43)
When hearts are light again. Loring, E. B. (O '43)
When I grow up, I'll be a flyer. Rifkin, L. (Ap '43)
When I grow up, I'll be a nurse. Rifkin, L. (Ap '43)
When Jefferson was young. Murphy, M. A. (My '43)
When the lights go up again. Patterson, N. (S '43)
Where are the people? Powell, S. W. (My '43)
Where love and friendship dwelt. Lowndes, M. A. B. (O '43)
Where the storm broke. Strzetelski, S. (Mr '43)
Where's my baby? Rey, H. A. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Where's Sammy? Schulman, S. (D '43)
Where's the money coming from. Chase, S. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Whetstone, George
  Izard, T. C. George Whetstone. (Ap '43)

Which kind of revolution? Herridge, W. D. (D '43)
Which way ahead? Bowie, W. R. (Je '43)
While we are absent. Leighton, A. (Je '43)

Whistler, James Abbott McNeill
  Lane, J. W. Whistler. (My '43)

White, Andrew Dickson
  Rogers, W. P. Andrew D. White and the modern university. (S '43)

White ensigns. Dorling, H. T. (My '43)
White face. Offord, C. R. (Je '43)
White goose. Tudor, T. (D '43)
White mammoths. Poliakov, A. (Ap '43)
White man's folly. Oakes, V. A. (Mr '43)
White shore of Olinda. Leão, S. (O '43)
White victory. Case, R. O. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual) Whitey's Sunday horse. Rounds, G. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Whitman, Walt
  Canby, H. S. Walt Whitman, an American. (D '43)

Whittington, Richard
  Juvenile literature
  Gibson, K. Bow bells. (D '43)

Who could ask for anything more? Swift, K. (O '43)
Who crucified Jesus? Zeitlin, S. (Ap '43)
Who dare to live. Watt, F. B. (O '43)
Who goes to the wood. Inchfawn, F. (Je '43)
Who killed the doctor? Burton, M. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Who was who, v3. (O '43)
Whole heart. Howe, H. H. (Mr '43)
Who's in charge here? Price, G. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Who's who; the official who's who among students in American universities and colleges, v8. (O '43)
Who's who in aviation. (O '43)
Why a Jewish state? Feuer, L. I. (Je '43)
Why Japan was strong. Patric, J. (S '43)
Why men can fly. Chapin, M. K. (Ap '43)
Why women cry. Hawes, E. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Wide fields. Eberle, I. (D '43)
Wide is the gate. Sinclair, U. B. (Mr '43)
Wide net. Welty, E. (O '43)
Wild bunch. Haycox, E. (D '43)
Wild duck murders. Du Bois, T. M. (D '43)

Wild life, Conservation of Gabrielson, I. N. Wildlife refuges. (Je '43)
  Hayden, S. S. International protection of wild life. (Je '43)

Wild lilac. Miller, H. T. (Mr '43)
Wild river. Strong, A. L. (D '43)
Wildcats over Casablanca. Wordell, M. T., and Seiler, E. N. (S '43)
Wildlife refuges. Gabrielson, I. N. (Je '43)
Will Shakspere and the Dyer's hand. Brooks, A. (Mr '43)

Williams, Henry Horace
  Winston, R. W. Horace Williams. (Ap '43)

Williams, John Sharp
  Osborn, G. C. John Sharp Williams. (Ag '43)

Willow Run. Swarthout, G. (S '43)
Wilson's ideals. Wilson, W. (Ag '43)
Wind and the rain. Horner, J. M. (Je '43)
Wind that swept Mexico. Brenner, A. (Ag '43)
Windmill circle. Rice, J. (Ag '43)
Window for Julie. Whitney, P. A. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Windows
  Molloy, E., ed. Windows and window glazing. (Je '43)

Windows and window glazing. Molloy, E., ed. (Je '43)

Winds
  Bagnold, R. A. Physics of blown sand and desert dunes. (Mr '43)

Winged Mars, v 1. Cuneo, J. R. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Winged victory. Hart, M. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Wings above the claypan. Upfield, A. W. (Je '43)
Wings of destiny. Londonderry, C. S. H. V.-T.-S. (S '43)
Wings over America. Bruno, H. A. (Ap '43)
Winkie Boo, and other poems. Dwight, M. B. (Ap '43)

Winslow, Anne Goodwin
  Winslow, A. G. Dwelling place. (S '43)

Winter harbor. Richmond, B. (O '43)
Winter on the Johnny Smoker. Comfort, M. H. (D '43)
Winter solstice. Bullett, G. W. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Winter solstice. Cowlin, D. (S '43)
Winter's tales. Blixen, K. D. (Je '43)
Wisconsin. University. School for workers
  Schwarztrauber, E. E. Workers' education. (D '43)
With a merry heart. Phelan, P. J., ed. (Ag '43)
With General Chennault. Hotz, R. B. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
With Perry in Japan. McCauley, E. Y. (My '43)
With Sherman to the sea. Upson, T. F. (Ap '43)
With the Master. Vernier, P. (O '43)
Within the city wall. Phillips, M. M. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Within the cup. Eng title of: Survival. Bottome, P. (O '43)
Without lawful authority. Coles, M. (S '43)
Without love. Barry, P. (O '43)
Without orders. Albrand, M. (S '43)
Without passport. Coons, J. (Ag '43)
Wolf-children and Feral man. Singh, J. A. L., and Zingg, R. M. (My '43)
Wolfe, Thomas
  Wolfe, T. Letters to his mother. (Je '43)
Woman
Biography
  Taves, I. Successful women. (My '43)
Employment
  Baker, L. N. Wanted: women in war industry. (Ag '43)
  Giles, N. Punch in, Susie! (O '43)
  Hawes, E. Why women cry. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Health and hygiene
  Alsop, G. F., and McBride, M. F. Arms and the girl. (N '43)
Law
  Fishman, N. Married woman's bill of rights. (O '43)
Occupations
  Lingenfelter, M. R. Wartime jobs for girls. (Je '43)
  McFarren, D. Careers in retailing for young women. (My '43)
  Steele, E. M. Careers for girls in science and engineering. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
  Steele, E. M. Wartime opportunities for women. (S '43)
  Von Miklos, J. I took a war job. (S '43)
Woman in red. Malleson, L. B. (N '43)
Women and children first. Benson, S. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Women as scientists
  Yost, E. American women of science. (Je '43)
Women in business
  Buchanan, A. Lady means business. (Mr '43)
Women in Great Britain
  Blackwood, F. Mrs England goes on living. (My '43)
Wonderings. Masefield, J. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Woodcarving
  Hellum, A. W., and Gottshall, F. H. You can whittle and carve. (Ap '43)
  Mankin, V. J. Modernistic chip carving. (My '43)
Woodwork
  Johnson, W. H., and Newkirk, L. V. Fundamentals of shopwork. (My '43)
  Rothman, M. Build it yourself! (Je '43)
  Showalter, H. F. Small creations for your tools. (Je '43)
Words and music. Hatch, E. (Mr '43)
Work with children in public libraries. Power, E. L. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Workers' education. Schwarztrauber, E. E. (D '43)
Works of prose. Heine, H. (My '43)
World after war. Parkes, H. B. (Ap '43)
World book encyclopedia. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
World by the tail. Holmes, M. (Je '43)
World government. Newfang, O. (Je '43)
World history. Boak, A. E. R., and others. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
World minerals and world peace. Leith, C. K., and others. (S '43)
World of energy. Reeve, J. J. (My '43)
World of Sholom Aleichem. Samuel, M. (Ap '43)
World of the four freedoms. Welles, S. (Je '43)
World of yesterday. Zweig, S. (Je '43)
World organization. Institute on world organization. (Je '43)
World peace plans. Johnsen, J. E., comp. (N '43)
World politics
  Bain, L. B. War of confusion. (Mr '43)
  Borgese, G. A. Common cause. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
  Coudenhove-Kalergi, R. N. Crusade for Pan-Europe. (N '43)
  Curie, E. Journey among warriors. (Je '43)
  Drucker, P. F. Future of industrial man. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
  Duggan, S. P. H. Professor at large. (D '43)
  Haines, C. G., and Hoffman, R. J. S. Origins and background of the second World war. (Ag '43)
  Jackson, M. V. European powers and South-east Africa. (Ap '43)
  Laing, A. K. Way for America. (My '43)
  Langsam, W. C. World since 1914. (N '43)
  Laski, H. J. Reflections on the revolution of our time. (Ag '43)
  Lin, Y. Between tears and laughter. (S '43)
  Parkes, H. B. World after war. (Ap '43)
  Prefaces to peace. (S '43)
  Ranshofen-Wertheimer, E. F. Victory is not enough. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
  Rayner, R. M. Twenty years' truce, 1919-1939. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
  Viton, A. American empire in Asia? (O '43)
  Wallace, H. A. Century of the common man. (S '43)
  Watts, F., ed. Voices of history. (Je '43)
  Watts, F., and Leighton, B. E., eds. Voices of history, 1942-43. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
  Willkie, W. L. One world. (My '43)
World since 1914. Langsam, W. C. (N '43)
World trade in agricultural products. Taylor, H. C. and A. D. (S '43)
World war, 1939-
  Angell, N. Let the people know. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
  Bonnet, H. United Nations; what they are, what they may become. (S '43)
  Borgese, G. A. Common cause. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
  Browder, E. R. Victory—and after. (My '43)
  Buck, P. S. What America means to me. (S '43)
  Combined operations. (Je '43)
  Greet, W. C. War words. (My '43)
  Haines, C. G., and Hoffman, R. J. S. Origins and background of the second World war. (Ag '43)
  Herridge, W. D. Which kind of revolution? (D '43)
  Hopkins, J. A. H., comp. Diary of world events. (Je '43)
  Kernan, W. F. We can win this war. (My '43)
  Laski, H. J. Reflections on the revolution of our time. (Ag '43)
  Leeb, W. J. F., ritter von. Defense. (N '43)
  Longstreet, S. Chico goes to the wars. (My '43)
  McInnis, E. W. War: third year. (Ap '43)
  MacLeish, A. Time to act. (Je '43)
  Mathews, B. J. United we stand. (D '43
  Molendyk, C. A., and Edwards, B. C., eds. Thus be it ever. (Ap '43)
  Randall, L. V. Bridgehead to victory. (Ag '43)
  Riess, C. Invasion of Germany. (N '43)
  Sweeny, C. Moment of truth. (Je '43)
  Swing, R. G. Preview of history. (O '43)
  Wells, L. Salute to valor. (My '43)
  Werner, M. Attack can win in '43. (Ag '43)
  Wheeler-Nicholson, M. Are we winning the hard way? (Ap '43)
  Whitaker, J. T. We cannot escape history. (Ap '43)
  Williams, W., and Narvig, W. van. Secret sources. (S '43)
Addresses, sermons, etc.
  Massey, V. Sword of Lionheart. (S '43)
  Welles, S. World of the four freedoms. (Je '43)
Aerial operations
  Ayling, K. They fly for victory. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

World war, 1939—Aerial operations—Continued
Beurling, G. F., and Roberts, L. Malta spitfire. (S '43)
Caldwell, C. C. Air power and total war. (S '43)
Childers, J. S. War Eagles. (Je '43)
Donahue, A. G. Last flight from Singapore. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Drake, F. V. Vertical warfare. (S '43)
Dudley-Gordon, T. I seek my prey in the waters. (Je '43)
Foss, J. Joe Foss, flying marine. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Great Britain. Air ministry. Coastal command. (Je '43)
Hardison, P., and Wormser, A. Suzy-Q. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Hermann, H. Luftwaffe. (Ag '43)
Hetherington, J. A. Airborne invasion. (S '43)
Johnston, S. Grim reapers. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Lawson, T. W. Thirty seconds over Tokyo. (S '43)
Michaelis, R. From bird cage to battle plane. (My '43)
Michie, A. A. Air offensive against Germany. (Ap '43)
Miksche, F. O. Paratroops. (Ap '43)
Moore, T. Sky is my witness. (O '43)
Redding, J. M. and Leyshon, H. I. Skyways to Berlin. (O '43)
Richards, J. M., ed. Bombed buildings of Britain. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Robinson, P. Fight for New Guinea. (S '43)
Scott, R. L. God is my co-pilot. (S '43)
Sutton, B. Way of a pilot. (Mr '43)
United States. Army air forces. Target: Germany. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
White, W. L. Queens die proundly. (Ag '43)
Wolfert, I. Torpedo 8. (S '43)
Wordell, M. T., and Seiler, E. N. Wildcats over Casablanca. (S '43)

Agriculture and the war
Tolley, H. R. Farmer citizen at war. (Ap '43)

Animals in the war
Dempewolff, R. Animal reveille. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Art and the war
Crane, A., ed. Marines at war. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Campaigns and battles
Werner, M. Great offensive. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)

Africa, North
Hill, R. Desert conquest. (D '43)
Wordell, M. T., and Seiler, E. N. Wildcats over Casablanca. (S '43)

Tunisia
Bennett, L. Assignment to nowhere. (S '43)

Causes
Bain, L. B. War of confusion. (Mr '43)
Javsicas, G. Shortage of victory. (Mr '43)
Sheen, F. J. Philosophies at war. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Titus, H. H. What is a mature morality? (My '43)

Censorship
Summers, R. E., comp. Wartime censorship of press and radio. (S '43)

Children
Baruch, D. W. You, your children, and war (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Bonney, T. Europe's children. (D '43)
Brindze, R. You can help your country win. (S '43)
C., S. M. Children under fire. (O '43)
Freud, A., and Burlingham, D. T. War and children. (S '43)
Kershner, H. E. One humanity. (D '43)
Zoff, O. They shall inherit the earth. (D '43)

Documents, etc, sources
Holborn, L. W., ed. War and peace aims of the United nations. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Watts, F., ed. Voices of history. (Je '43)
Watts, F., and Leighton, B. E., eds. Voices of history, 1942-43. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Drama
Hart, M. Winged victory. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Economic aspects
Hessel, M. S., and others. Strategic materials in hemisphere defense. (Ap '43)
Hirsch, J. Price control in the war economy. (Je '43)
Katona, G. War without inflation. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Lauterbach, A. T. Economics in uniform. (Je '43)
Menderhausen, H. Economics of war. (Ag '43)
Ware, C. F. Consumer goes to war. (Ap '43)

Great Britain
Murphy, M. E. British war economy, 1939-1943. (S '43)

Russia
Dobb, M. H. Soviet economy and the war. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

United States
Brindze, R. You can help your country win. (S '43)

Evacuation of civilians
Women's group on public welfare. Our towns, a close-up. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Finance
Chase, S. Where's the money coming from. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Crum, W. L. and others. Fiscal planning for total war. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Fellner, W. J. Treatise on war inflation. (Je '43)
Tax institute. Wartime problems of state and local finance. (O '43)
Voorhis, H. J. Out of debt, out of danger. (S '43)

Food question
Hendrickson, R. F. Food "crisis." (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Food supply
Black, J. D. Food enough. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Hospitals, charities, etc.
Thomas, E. W. Ambulance in Africa. (N '43)

Humor, caricatures, etc.
Bairnsfather, B. Jeeps and jests. (S '43)
Barsis, M. They're all yours, Uncle Sam! (N '43)
Paul, L. Ordeal of Sergeant Smoot. (S '43)
Phillips, H. I. All-out Arlene. (S '43)
Shackelford, L. T. As I see it. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Influence and results
Babson, R. W. Looking ahead fifty years. (My '43)

Jews
Van Paassen, P. Forgotten ally. (D '43)
Zhabotinskii, V. E. War and the Jew. (Je '43)

Labor problems
Corson, J. J. Manpower for victory. (Je '43)

Medical and sanitary affairs
Doherty, W. B., and Runes, D. D., eds. Rehabilitation of the war injured. (D '43)
Geer, A. Mercy in hell. (S '43)
Seagrave, G. S. Burma surgeon. (S '43)

Migration
Kulischer, E. M. Displacement of population in Europe. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Naval operations
Baldwin, H. W. Navy at war. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Bell, F. J. Condition red. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Brown, J. M. To all hands. (D '43)
Cant, G. America's navy in world war II. (S '43)
Cave, H. B. Long were the nights. (D '43)
Divine, A. D. Firedrake. (Mr '43)
Douglas, J. S., and Salz, A. He's in the merchant marine now. (O '43)

Fetridge, W. H., ed. Navy reader. (S '43)
Griffin, A. R. Ship to remember. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Herman, F. S. Dynamite cargo. (My '43)
Monsarrat, N. East coast corvette. (N '43)
Monsarrat, N. H.M. corvette. (Mr '43)
Morris, F. D. Pick out the biggest. (O '43)
Rogers, S. R. H. Enemy in sight! (Je '43)
Shalett, S. Old Nameless. (Ag '43)

Submarine

Masters, D. Up periscope. (Ag '43)

Peace

Brittain, V. M. Humiliation with honor. (Ag '43)
Bing, E. J. Five-year peace plan. (S '43)
Condliffe, J. B. Agenda for a postwar world. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Dodds, H. W. Out of this nettle, danger. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Einzig, P. Can we win the peace? (Je '43)
Fischer, L. Empire. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Gilmore, A. F. Christ at the peace table. (Ag '43)
Hambro, C. J. How to win the peace. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Hutchinson, P. From victory to peace. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Johnsen, J. E., comp. World peace plans. (N '43)
Lorwin, L. L. Postwar plans of the United nations. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
MacIver, R. M. Towards an abiding peace (S '43)
Motherwell, H. Peace we fight for. (Ap '43)
Newman, B. New Europe. (S '43)
O'Shaughnessy, M. J. Peace and reconstruction. (O '43)
People's peace, by representatives of the United nations. (S '43)
Prefaces to peace. (S '43)
Ranshofen-Wertheimer, E. F. Victory is not enough. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Swing, R. G. Preview of history. (O '43)
Vansittart, R. G. V. Lessons of my life. (N '43)

Personal narratives, American

Bartek, J. F., and Pardue, A. Life out there. (Ag '43)
Bayler, W. L. J. Last man off Wake island. (Je '43)
Belden, J. Retreat with Stilwell. (Ap '43)
Bennett, L. Assignment to nowhere. (S '43)
Berry, R. B. Gunners get glory. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Brown, J. E. Russia fights. (S '43)
Brown, J. M. To all hands. (D '43)
Cassidy, H. C. Moscow dateline, 1941-1943. (Ag '43)
Chaplin, W. W. Seventy thousand miles of war. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Clausen, W. B. Blood for the emperor. (O '43)
Coffin, H. M. Malta story. (S '43)
Crawford, K. G. Report on North Africa. (N '43)
Dashiell, S. Victory through Africa. (S '43)
Dew, G. Prisoner of the Japs. (Ag '43)
Donahue, A. G. Last flight from Singapore. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Foss, J. Joe Foss, flying marine. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Gallagher, W. Back door to Berlin. (O '43)
Geer, A. Mercy in hell. (S '43)
Gervasi, F. But soldiers wondered why. (Ag '43)
Gibbs, A. U-boat prisoner. (S '43)
Goodell, J. They sent me to Iceland. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Greenlaw, O. S. Lady and the Tigers. (O '43)
Handleman, H. Bridge to victory. (D '43)
Haugland, V. Letter from New Guinea. (Ag '43)
Herman, F. S. Dynamite cargo. (My '43)
Hersey, J. R. Into the valley. (Mr '43)
Hill, R. Desert conquest. (D '43)
Horan, J. D., and Frank, G., eds. Out in the boondocks. (O '43)
Ingersoll, R. M. Battle is the pay-off. (N '43)
Kahn, E. J. G. I. jungle. (O '43)
Lardner, J. Southwest passage. (Ap '43)
Lawson, T. W. Thirty seconds over Tokyo. (S '43)
Lee, C. They call it Pacific. (My '43)
Lesueur, L. E. Twelve months that changed the world. (S '43)
MacVane, J. Journey into war. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Maguire, W. A. Captain wears a cross. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Maule, H. E., ed. Book of war letters. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Mitchell, R. Serbs choose war. (N '43)
Moats, A.-L. Blind date with Mars. (Mr '43)
Moore, T. Sky is my witness. (O '43)
Morrill, J. H., and Martin, W. T. South from Corregidor. (My '43)
Murphy, M. 83 days. (O '43)
Pyle, E. T. Here is your war. (N '43)
Raleigh, J. M. Pacific blackout. (My '43)
Redding, J. M., and Leyshon, H. I. Skyways to Berlin. (O '43)
Redmond, J. I served on Bataan. (Ap '43)
Reynolds, Q. J. Dress rehearsal. (Ap '43)
Rickenbacker, E. V. Seven came through. (Ap '43)
Scott, R. L. God is my co-pilot. (S '43)
Sheean, V. Between the thunder and the sun. (Ap '43)
Shiber, E. Paris-underground. (O '43)
Spellman, F. J. Action this day. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Springboard to Berlin. (N '43)
Taggart, W. C., and Cross, C. My fighting congregation. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Taylor, H. J. Men in motion. (Ag '43)
Thomas, E. W. Ambulance in Africa. (N '43)
Tregaskis, R. W. Guadalcanal diary. (Mr '43)
Weller, G. A. Singapore is silent. (My '43)
Wheeler, K. Pacific is my beat. (D '43)
White, W. L. Queens die proudly. (Ag '43)
Whittaker, J. C. We thought we heard the angels sing. (My '43)
Willkie, W. L. One world. (My '43)
Willoughby, A. I was on Corregidor. (Ag '43)
Wise, J. W., ed. Very truly ours. (D '43)
Wordell, M. T., and Seiler, E. N. Wildcats over Casablanca. (S '43)
Zanuck, D. F. Tunis expedition. (My '43)

Personal narratives, Australian

Johnston, G. H. Toughest fighting in the world. (O '43)

Personal narratives, Bulgarian

Padev, M. Escape from the Balkans. (O '43)

Personal narratives, Canadian

Beurling, G. F., and Roberts, L. Malta spitfire. (S '43)
Proulx, B. A. Underground from Hongkong. (O '43)

Personal narratives, Dutch

Van der Grift, C., and Lansing,, E. H. Escape from Java. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Personal narratives, English

Austin, A. B. We landed at dawn. (Mr '43)
Clifford, A. G. Conquest of North Africa, 1940-1943. (O '43)
Gerard, F. Malta magnificent. (N '43)
Hodson, J. L. War in the sun. (Ag '43)
Lytton, N. S. Life in unoccupied France. (S '43)
McMillan, R. Mediterranean assignment. (O '43)
Monsarrat, N. East coast corvette. (N '43)
Monsarrat, N. H.M. corvette. (Mr '43)
Moorehead, A. Don't blame the generals. (Je '43)
Moorehead, A. End in Africa. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Olsson, C. From hell to breakfast. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Playfair, G. Singapore goes off the air. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Ramsey, G. H. One continent redeemed. (D '43)
Rhodes, A. Sword of bone. (O '43)
Simpson, W. One of our pilots is safe. (S '43)
Sutton, B. Way of a pilot. (Mr '43)

Personal narratives, French

Barlone, D. French officer's diary. (Ap '43)
Curie, E. Journey among warriors. (Je '43)

Personal narratives, Norwegian

Broch, T. Mountains wait. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)

World war, 1939—Personal narratives—Cont.

Personal narratives, Russian

Poli͡akov, A. White mammoths. (Ap '43)
Simonov, K. No quarter. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Petroleum supply

Ickes, H. L. Fightin' oil. (S '43)

Pictorial works

Baldwin, H. W. Navy at war. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Bonney, T. Europe's children. (D '43)
Crane, A., ed. Marines at war. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Jennison, K. W., ed. Dedication. (D '43)
Masefield, J. Generation risen. (Ag '43)
Monaghan, F. World war II, v1. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
U.S.A. at war. U.S. camera, 1944. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
United States army illustrators of Fort Custer. As soldiers see it. (S '43)

Poetry

Auslander, J. Unconquerables. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Clarke, G. H., ed. The new Treasury of war poetry. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Davidman, J., ed. Songs and battle cries of a world at war; war poems of the United nations. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Henderson, D. M., and others, eds. Reveille. (D '43)
Lewis, A. Raiders' dawn. (S '43)
Masefield, J. Generation risen. (Ag '43)
Watt, F. B. Who dare to live. (O '43)

Prisoners and prisons, German

Guerlain, R. They who wait. (Ag '43)
Haedrich, M. Barrack 3, room 12. (Ap '43)
Hélion, J. They shall not have me. (O '43)
Joffé, C. We were free. (Ag '43)
Shiber, E. Paris-underground. (O '43)

Prisoners and prisons, Japanese

Brown, W. Hong Kong aftermath. (S '43)
Dew, G. Prisoner of the Japs. (Ag '43)
Long, F. Half a world away. (S '43)
Priestwood, G. Through Japanese barbed wire. (D '43)
Proulx, B. A. Underground from Hongkong. (O '43)

Propaganda

Ettlinger, H. Axis on the air. (N '43)
Sington, D., and Weidenfeld, A. Goebbels experiment. (Ag '43)

Public opinion

Cronbach, L. J. Exploring the wartime morale of high-school youth. (N '43)

Religious aspects

Carmer, C. L., ed. War against God. (N '43)
Hutchinson, P. From victory to peace. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Poteat, E. M. Four freedoms and God. (O '43)

Secret service

Irwin, W. H., and Johnson, T. M. What you should know about spies and saboteurs. (Ag '43)
Singer, K. D. Duel for the Northland. (S '43)

Territorial questions

Panikkar, K. M. Future of south-east Asia. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Transportation

Hungerford, E. Transport for war, 1942-1943. (Ag '43)
Palmer, M. B. We fight with merchant ships. (My '43)

Women's work

Alsop, G. F., and McBride, M. F. Arms and the girl. (N '43)
Angel, J. Angel of the navy. (S '43)
Baker, L. N. Wanted: women in war industry. (Ag '43)
Banning, M. C. Letters from England, summer 1942. (Ap '43)
Giles, N. Punch in, Susie! (O '43)
Hawes, E. Why women cry. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Ross, M. S. American women in uniform. (Ag '43)
Steele, E. M. Wartime opportunities for women. (S '43)
Von Miklos, J. I took a war job. (S '43)

Africa

Committee on Africa, the war, and peace aims. Atlantic charter and Africa. (Ap '43)
Dashiell, S. Victory through Africa. (S '43)
Gervasi, F. But soldiers wondered why. (Ag '43)
Maisel, A. Q. Africa, facts and forecasts. (Je '43)
Ramsey, G. H. One continent redeemed. (D '43)

Africa, North

Clifford, A. G. Conquest of North Africa, 1940-1943. (O '43)
Crawford, K. G. Report on North Africa. (N '43)
Gallagher, W. Back door to Berlin. (O '43)
McMillan, R. Mediterranean assignment. (O '43)
MacVane, J. Journey into war. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Moorehead, A. Don't blame the generals. (Je '43)
Moorehead, A. End in Africa. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Springboard to Berlin. (N '43)

Alaska

Driscoll, J. War discovers Alaska. (My '43)

Aleutian islands

Ford, C. Short cut to Tokyo. (Je '43)
Handleman, H. Bridge to victory. (D '43)

Australia

Kahn, E. J. G. I. jungle. (O '43)
Lardner, J. Southwest passage. (Ap '43)
Raleigh, J. M. Pacific blackout. (My '43)

Balkan states

Padev, M. Escape from the Balkans. (O '43)

Baltic states

Meiksins, G. Baltic riddle. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Burma

Belden, J. Retreat with Stilwell. (Ap '43)
Greenlaw, O. S. Lady and the Tigers. (O '43)
Seagrave, G. S. Burma surgeon. (S '43)

China

Chiang, K. All we are and all we have. (My '43)
Chiang, M. S. We Chinese women. (My '43)
Hotz, R. B. With General Chennault. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Lin, Y. Between tears and laughter. (S '43)

East (Far East)

Abend, H. Pacific charter. (Mr '43)
Lattimore, O. America and Asia. (D '43)
Lee, C. They call it Pacific. (My '43)
Morin, R. Circuit of conquest. (Ag '43)
Shridharani, K. J. Warning to the West (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)

East (Near East)

Ireland, P. W., ed. Near East. (Je '43)

France

Aghion, R. Fighting French. (Ag '43)
Barlone, D. French officer's diary. (Ap '43)
De Montmorency, A. Enigma of Admiral Darlan. (Je '43)
Lindsley, L. S. War is people. (Ap '43)
Lytton, N. S. Life in unoccupied France. (S '43)
Maillaud, P. France. (My '43)
Marchal, L. Vichy; two years of deception. (Mr '43)
Martel, F. Petain. (N '43)
Shiber, E. Paris-underground. (O '43)
Simon, Y. March to liberation. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Simpson, W. One of our pilots is safe. (S '43)
Vilfroy, D. War in the west. (Je '43)
Winter, G. This is not the end of France. (F '44) (1943 Annual)

Germany

Graefenberg, R. G. Meet Mr Blank. (N '43)
Jackh, E. War for man's soul. (D '43)

Jansen, J. B., and Weyl, S. Silent war. (Mr '43)
Mann, T. Listen, Germany! (Mr '43)
Michie, A. A. Air offensive against Germany. (Ap '43)
Riess, C. Invasion of Germany. (N '43)
Seger, G. H., and Marck, S. K. Germany: to be or not to be? (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Thompson, D. Listen, Hans. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)

Great Britain

Banning, M. C. Letters from England, summer 1942. (Ap '43)
Beveridge, W. H. Pillars of security. (O '43)
Blackwood, F. Mrs England goes on living. (My '43)
Churchill, W. L. S. End of the beginning. (S '43)
Dutt, R. P. Britain in the world front. (Mr '43)
Great Britain. Ministry of information. Front line. (Ag '43)
Hough, L. H. Living democracy. (Ag '43)
Richards, J. M., ed. Bombed buildings of Britain. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Ward, A. C. Literary journey through wartime Britain. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Wylie, I. A. R. Flight to England. (Ap '43)

Colonies

Elliott, W. Y., and Hall, H. D. British Commonwealth at war. (S '43)

Greece

Casson, S. Greece against the Axis. (N '43)
Lavra, S. Greek miracle. (N '43)
Powell, D. Remember Greece. (O '43)
Wason, E. Miracle in Hellas. (Je '43)

Iceland

Goodell, J. They sent me to Iceland. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

India

Anand, M. R. Letters on India. (Je '43)
Barton, W. India's fateful hour. (N '43)
MacKenzie, D. India's problem can be solved. (O '43)
Muir, P. This is India. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Raman, T. A. What does Gandhi want? (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)

Italy

Massock, R. G. Italy from within. (Mr '43)

Japan

Alcott, C. D. My war with Japan. (Ag '43)
Brett, H. Blueprint for victory. (Je '43)
Byas, H. Government by assassination. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Goette, J. A. Japan fights for Asia. (O '43)
Grew, J. C. Report from Tokyo. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Haring, D. G. Blood on the Rising Sun. (Ag '43)
Rosenfarb, J. Highway to Tokyo. (O '43)
Tolischus, O. D. Tokyo record. (Mr '43).

Java

Van der Grift, C., and Lansing, E. H. Escape from Java. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)

Malay peninsula

Thompson, V. M. Postmortem on Malaya. (Mr '43)
Weller, G. A. Singapore is silent. (My '43)

Malta

Beith, J. H. Malta epic. (D '43)
Beurling, G. F., and Roberts, L. Malta spitfire. (S '43)
Coffin, H. M. Malta story. (S '43)
Gerard, F. Malta magnificent. (N '43)

Netherlands Indies

Raleigh, J. M. Pacific blackout. (My '43)

New Guinea

Johnston, G. H. Toughest fighting in the world. (O '43)
Kahn, E. J. G. I. jungle. (O '43)
Robinson, P. Fight for New Guinea. (S '43)

New Zealand

Nash, W. New Zealand. (D '43)

Norway

Myklebost, T. They came as friends. (Mr '43)

Pacific ocean

Bayler, W. L. J. Last man off Wake island. (Je '43)
Clausen, W. B. Blood for the emperor. (O '43)
Horan, J. D., and Frank, G., eds. Out in the boondocks. (O '43)
Institute of Pacific relations. 8th Conference, 1942. War and peace in the Pacific. (S '43)
Wheeler, K. Pacific is my beat. (D '43)

Philippine islands

Morrill, J. H., and Martin, W. T. South from Corregidor. (My '43)
Redmond, J. I served on Bataan. (Ap '43)
Willoughby, A. I was on Corregidor. (Ag '43)

Poland

Fiedler, A. Squadron 303. (Ap '43)
Strzetelski, S. Where the storm broke. (Mr '43)

Russia

Brown, J. E. Russia fights. (S '43)
Cassidy, H. C. Moscow dateline, 1941-1943. (Ag '43)
Chamberlin, W. H. Russian enigma. (D '43)
Dallin, D. J. Soviet Russia's foreign policy. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
Graebner, W. Round trip to Russia. (My '43)
Hindus, M. G. Mother Russia. (Ag '43)
Lesueur, L. E. Twelve months that changed the world. (S '43)
Marks, S. J. Bear that walks like a man. (My '43)
Poliakov, A. White mammoths. (Ap '43)
Voitekhov, B. I. Last days of Sevastopol. (Je '43)
Williams, A. R. Russians. (Mr '43)

Scandinavia

Singer, K. D. Duel for the Northland. (S '43)

Sicily

Brown, J. M. To all hands. (D '43)

Solomon islands

Ayling, K. Semper fidelis. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Cave, H. B. Long were the nights. (D '43)
Foss, J. Joe Foss, flying marine. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Hersey, J. R. Into the valley. (Mr '43)
Tregaskis, R. W. Guadalcanal diary. (Mr '43)
Wolfert, I. Battle for the Solomons. (Mr '43)

South Africa

Sowden, L. Union of South Africa. (S '43)
Gervasi, F. But soldiers wondered why. (Ag '43)

Spain

Hamilton, T. J. Appeasement's child. (Mr '43)

Sweden

Joesten, J. Stalwart Sweden. (O '43)

Tunis

Zanuck, D. F. Tunis expedition. (My '43)

Tunisia

Ingersoll, R. M. Battle is the pay-off. (N '43)
Pyle, E. T. Here is your war. (N '43)

United States

Brett, H. Blueprint for victory. (Je '43)
Cornell university. Impact of the war on America. (Je '43)
Corson, J. J. Manpower for victory. (Je '43)
Detzer, K. W., ed. Army reader. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Grafton, S. American diary. (S '43)
Harvey, R. F. Politics of this war. (My '43)
Hinshaw, D. Home front. (S '43)
Lattimore, O. America and Asia. (D '43)
MacCormac, J. This time for keeps. (Mr '43)
Menefee, S. C. Assignment: U. S. A. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Mohair, A. L., and Benardete, D., eds. American expression on the war and the peace (O '43)
Myer, W. E., and Cross, C. Education for democratic survival. (My '43)
Ogburn, W. F., ed. American society in wartime. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Sandburg, C. Home front memo. (O '43)

World war, 1939—United States—Continued
Thomas, L. J. These men shall never die. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
United States. President, 1933- (F. D. Roosevelt). Roosevelt's foreign policy, 1933-1941. (Ap '43)
Van Valkenburg, S., ed. America at war. (My '43)
Wallace, H. A. Century of the common man. (S '43)

Yugoslavia

Adamic, L. My native land. (D '43)
Mitchell, R. Serbs choose war. (N '43)
World war II, v 1. Monaghan, F. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
World wars and revolutions. Hall, W. P. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
World without end. Frankau, G. (Ap '43)
Wrath of the eagles. Heydenau, F. (Ag '43)
Wreath of Christmas poems. (My '43)
Wright, Frank Lloyd
Wright, F. L. Autobiography. (Je '43)
Wright, Orville
Kelly, F. C. Wright brothers. (Je '43)
Wright, Wilbur
Kelly, F. C. Wright brohters. (Je '43)
Wright brothers. Kelly, F. C. (Je '43)
Writer's radio theatre, 1941. Weiser, N. S., ed. (My '43)
Writing of infrequently used words in shorthand. Rowe. C. E. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Writing the short short story. Kamerman, S. E., ed. (My '43)
Wye river
Gibbings, R. Coming down the Wye. (O '43)
Wyoming

Social life and customs

Hough, D. Snow above town. (Mr '43)

X marks the dot. Stafford, M. (D '43)
X rays
American society for testing materials. Symposium on radiography. (D '43)
Hart, A. These mysterious rays. (Je '43)
Hirst, H. X-rays in research and industry. (O '43)
X-rays in research and industry. Hirst, H. (O '43)

Yankee doodles. Russell, F. A., ed. (N '43)
Yankee lawyer. Train, A. C. (O '43)
Yanko in America. Lederer, C. B. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Yard for John. Clymer, E. (Ag '43)
Yashima, Taro
Yashima, T. New sun. (Ja '44) (1943 Annual)
Year of August. Saxton, M. (Mr '43)
Year of battle. Eng title of: Don't blame the generals. Moorehead, A. (Je '43)
Year of decision, 1846. DeVoto, B. A. (Ap '43)
Year to grow. Conway, H. (Je '43)
Yearbooks (statistical, historical, etc.)
Interamerican statistical yearbook, 1940-1941. (N '43)
Years of blindness. Wales, H. G. Q. (Je '43)
Years of this land. Muelder, H. R., and Delo, D. M. (Ag '43)
Yeats, William Butler
Horn, J. M. W. B. Yeats, 1865-1939. (Mr '43)
Yellow fever
Truby, A. E. Memoir of Walter Reed. (D '43)
Yemen, Arabia
Scott, H. In the high Yemen. (Je '43)
Yes, ma'am! Pollock, E. R. (Ag '43)
Yesterday's children. Warrick, L. S. (Je '43)
Yesterday's madness. Cockrell, M. B. (My '43)
You and marriage. Jordan, H. M., ed. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
You and your public. Burnett, V. E. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
You are France, Lisette. Lyttle, J. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
You can help your country win. Brindze, R. (S '43)
You can whittle and carve. Hellum, A. W., and Gottshall, F. H. (Ap '43)
You can't do that to Svoboda. Pen, J. (My '43)
You can't escape. Baldwin, F. (O '43)
You did it. Goldthwaite, E. K. (Je '43)
You don't belong here. Gibbs, S. (Ag '43)
You, your children, and war. Baruch, D. W. (Ag '43) (1942 Annual)
You'll eat it up. Adams, C. (S '43)
Young America's aviation annual, 1942-1943. (My '43)
Young Americans' dictionary. Johnson, S. (N '43)
Young Audubon. Mason, M. E. (D '43)
Young Canada. Peck, A. M. (N '43)
Young cowboys at the Broken Arrow. Bell, M. R., and Geyer, D. M. (S '43)
Young Lady Randolph. Kraus, R. (Je '43)
Young offenders. Carr-Saunders, A. M., and others. (Je '43)
Young Sam Clemens. Clemens, C. (Ap '43)
Young Tom Jefferson's adventure chest. Davis, B. E. (Ap '43)
Youngest WAAC. Bailey, B. F. (O '43)
Your arthritis. Phelps, A. E. (Ag '43)
Your career in chemistry. Carlisle, N. V. (Je '43)
Your career in transportation. Carlisle, N. V. (Je '43)
Your child, his family and friends. Strain, F. B. (S '43)
Your country and mine. Turkington, G. A., and Conley, P. M. (My '43)
Your first baby! Glemser, L. C. (Ag '43)
Your house. Hawkins, J. H. (My '43)
Your neck in a noose. Eng title of: Neck in a noose. Ferrars, E. (Ap '43)
You're sitting on my eyelashes. Darrow, W. (N '43)
Yours for the asking. Abbott, J. L. D. (Mr '43)
Yours for tomorrow. Miller, H. H. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Youth
Fisher, D. F. C. Our young folks. (N '43)
Geisel, J. B. Personal problems and morale. (D '43)
Youth and instruction in marriage and family living. Drummond, L. W. (Je '43)
Youth and jobs. Ward, D. S., and Selberg, E. M. (Je '43)
Youthbuilders' clubs
Holbrook, S. Children object. (Je '43)
Yugoslavia
Adamic, L. My native land. (D '43)

Ziba. Pipes, J. (F '44) (1943 Annual)
Zionism
Feuer, L. I. Why a Jewish state? (Je '43)
Hanna, P. L. British policy in Palestine. (Je '43)
Zhabotinskiĭ, V. E. War and the Jew. (Je '43)
Zoology

North America

Mason, G. F. Animal tracks. (O '43)
Zweig, Stefan
Zweig, S. World of yesterday. (Je '43)

Directory of Publishers

A.L.A. American Library Association, 520 N Michigan Av, Chicago 11

Abingdon. Abingdon Press, N.Y. See Abingdon-Cokesbury

Abingdon-Cokesbury. Abingdon-Cokesbury Press, Hdqrs, 810 Broadway, Nashville 2, Tenn; 150 5th Av, N.Y.
Division of Meth. Pub. House; imprint of Clermont Press used when publishing for author or doing outside printing.
Consolidation of Abingdon; Cokesbury Press; and Stockton Press

Abraham Lincoln Assn, 803 1st Nat. Bank Bldg, Springfield, Ill.

Aero Pubs, Inc, 2328 W 7th St, Los Angeles; Canadian Agent, General Pub. Co, Ltd, 17 Queen St, E, Toronto, 2

Alliance Bk. Alliance Book Corporation, Chicago. See Ziff-Davis

Am. Artists. American Artists Group, Inc, 106 7th Av, N.Y.

Am. Assn. of Museums, Old Nat. Museum Bldg, Washington, D.C.

Am. Bk. American Book Company, 88 Lexington Av, N.Y. 16 [Cable Address: Ambooko New York]; 360 N Michigan Av, Chicago; 300 Pike St, Cincinnati; 126 Newbury St, Boston; 91 Cone St, NW, Atlanta; 1319 Young St, Dallas; 121 2d St, San Francisco; Canadian Agent, Gage

Am. Council on Educ, 744 Jackson Pl, NW, Washington 6, D.C.

Am. Council on Public Affairs, 2153 Florida Av, Washington, D.C.
Also use imprint Public Affairs Press

Am. Education Press, Inc, 400 S Front St, Columbus 15, Ohio; 580 5th Av, N.Y; Canadian Agent, Moyer School Supplies, 106 York St, Toronto

Am. Electroplaters Soc, 545 5th Av, N.Y.

Am. Gas Assn, Inc, 420 Lexington Av, N.Y. 17

Am. Geographical Soc. American Geographical Society of New York, Broadway & 156th St, N.Y. 32

Am. Inst. of Mining & Metallurgical Engineers, 29 W 39th St, N.Y.

Am. Oriental Soc, F. J. Stephens, Sec-Treas, 329 Sterling Memorial Lib, New Haven, Conn.
Am. Oriental Ser. and Offprint Ser. no longer handled by Yale Univ. Press

Am. Philological Assn, L. R. Shero, Sec, Swarthmore College, Swarthmore, Pa; refer trade orders (excepting members) to Lancaster Press, Inc, Lancaster, Pa; English Agent, Blackwell

Am. Philosophical Soc, Independence Sq, Philadelphia 6 Publications no longer distributed by Univ. of Pa. Press

Am. Photographic Pub. American Photographic Publishing Company, 353 Newbury St, Boston [Cable Address: Amphoco]

Am.-Scandinavian Foundation, 116 E 64th St, N.Y. [Cable Address: Scanfoun]

Am. Soc. for Metals, 7301 Euclid Av, Cleveland

Am. Soc. for Testing Materials, 260 S Broad St, Philadelphia 2 [Cable Address: Testing]

Am. Tech. Soc, 850 E 58th St, Chicago 37; Canadian Agent, General Pub. Co, Ltd, 17 Queen St, E, Toronto, 2
Agents for all publications of the Am. School of Correspondence

Americana Corp, 2 W 45th St, N.Y.

Appleton-Century. D. Appleton-Century Company, Inc, 35 W 32d St, N.Y. 1 [Cable Address: Hilandero]; 34 Bedford St, Strand, London, WC 2; Canadian Agents, Ryerson Press; (music) G. V. Thompson, 193 Yonge St, Toronto
Consolidated D. Appleton Company and Century Company

Arcadia. Arcadia House, Inc, 70 5th Av, N.Y; Canadian Agent, McLeod
Formerly connected with Godwin, but now publish independently
Also use imprints of Jordan House and Mystery House

Argus. Argus Books, Inc, 16 N Michigan Av, Chicago

Assn. Press. Association Press (Nat. Council of the Y.M.C.A.) 347 Madison Av, N.Y. 17
Trade bks. pub. jointly with Revell under imprint Assn. Press-Revell

Associated Pubs, Inc, 1538 9th St, NW, Washington, D.C.

Audel. Theo. Audel & Company, 49 W 23d St, N.Y. 10

Augsburg. Augsburg Publishing House, 425-429 S 4th St, Minneapolis, 15
Publishers for the Norwegian Lutheran Church of America

Augustin. J.J. Augustin, Inc, 125 E 23d St, N.Y. 10; Agent for Am. Ethnological Soc.

Barnes, A. S. A. S. Barnes & Co, 67 W 44th St, N.Y 18; Lone Star School Bk. Depository, 707 Browder St, Dallas; Agents, Copp; Stacey
Acquired the publications of Am. Sports Pub.

Barnes & Noble, Inc, 105 5th Av, N.Y. [Cable Address: Barnobinc, New York]

Barrows. M. Barrows & Company (H. Tanner Olsen) 443 4th Av, N.Y. 16; Canadian Agent, McClelland

Beacon Press. The Beacon Press, Inc, 25 Beacon St, Boston 8; 330 S Dearborn St, Chicago; 2400 Allston Way, Berkeley, Calif. [Cable Address: Beapress]; English Agent, Lindsey
Formerly pub. as Am. Unitar.

Beckley-Cardy. Beckley-Cardy Company, 1632 Indiana Av, Chicago 16 [Cable Address: Becarco]; Agents, Ryerson Press; Moyer School Supplies, 106 York St, Toronto

Benham. Benham & Co, Ltd, 24 High St, Colchester, Essex, England

Binfords. Binfords & Mort, Publishers, 102 NW 9th Av, Portland 4, Ore; Canadian Agent, McClelland
Originally pub. as Metropolitan Press

Bloch. Bloch Publishing Company, Inc, 31 W 31st St, N.Y. [Cable Address: Blochbooks]

Blue Ribbon Bks, Inc, Garden City, N.Y; Blue Ribbon Bks. (Canada) Ltd, 215-217 Victoria St, Toronto, 2; English Agent, Doubleday (London)
Also publish as Halcyon House Publications
Acquired the publications of Burt. For Burt Home Library see Random House
Ownership acquired by Doubleday (Garden City Pub. Co)

Bobbs. Bobbs-Merrill Company, 724 N Meridian St, Indianapolis 7; 468 4th Av, N.Y. [Cable Address: Bobbs Indianapolis]; Canadian Agent, McClelland

Books, Inc, 1140 Broadway, N.Y; 120 Boylston St, Boston; Canadian Agent, McLean Merchandise Sales, 29 Melinda St, Toronto

Bowker. R. R. Bowker Company, 62 W 45th St, N.Y; English Agent, Whitaker

Broadman. The Broadman Press, Sunday School Bd, Southern Baptist Convention, 127 9th Av, N, Nashville 3, Tenn.
Acquired the publications of Foreign Mission Bd. (Southern Baptist Convention)

Brookings. Brookings Institution, 722 Jackson Pl, NW, Washington 6, D.C; English Agent, Faber

Bruce Pub. Bruce Publishing Company, 524-544 N Milwaukee St, Milwaukee 1; 330 W 42d St, N.Y; 66 E South Water St, Chicago [Cable Address: Brucemilwa]; Canadian Agent (educ bks) Ryerson Press; English Agents, Batsford; Coldwell

Bruce, St Paul. Bruce Publishing Company, 2642 University Av, St Paul, Minn; Box 1586 Minneapolis; English Agent, Batsford

Burton Pub. Burton Publishing Company, 3629 Central Av, Kansas City, Mo.

Callaghan. Callaghan & Company, Inc, 401 E Ohio St, Chicago 11

Cambridge. Cambridge Univ. Press, Bentley House, 200 Euston Rd, London, NW 1; Agents, Macmillan and branches

Acquired the publications of Inst. of Actuaries

Publish for Nat. Inst. of Economic and Social Research

Carnegie Endowment. Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, 700 Jackson Pl, NW, Washington, D.C.; 405 W 117th St, N.Y; English Agent, Oxford

Catholic Univ. of Am, Michigan Av, NE, Washington 17, D.C.

Address The Catholic Univ. of Am. Press

Cattell. Jacques Cattell Press, N Queen St & McGovern Av, Lancaster, Pa.

Caxton Printers, Ltd, Caldwell, Idaho; refer trade orders to Reilly & Lee; Wilde (New England States); Canadian Agent, Copp; Central European Agent, Orbis; Agent for other European countries, Four Continent

Chapman & Grimes, Inc, (Mt Vernon Press) 30 Winchester St, Boston [Cable Address: Seegee]; Canadian Agent, Saunders, S.J.R.

Chemical Pub. Chemical Publishing Company, Easton, Pa. See Chemical Pub. Co.

Chemical Pub. Co, Inc, 26 Court St, Brooklyn 2, N.Y. [Cable Address: Benbal]; Canadian Agent, General Pub. Co, Ltd, 17 Queen St, E, Toronto, 2

Acquired the publications of Chemical Pub.

Civil Service Assembly. Civil Service Assembly of the United States & Canada, 1313 E 60th St, Chicago

Collins. William Collins Sons & Co, Ltd. (Collins Clear-Type Press) 425 4th Av, N.Y; 48 Pall Mall, London, SW 1; 144 Cathedral St, Glasgow, C 4; Wm. Collins Sons & Co. (Canada) Ltd, 70 Bond St, Toronto, 2; Collins Bros & Co, Ltd, Box 476AA, Sydney, N.S.W. [Cable Address: Folio Sydney]; 527 Little Collins St, Melbourne, C 1, Victoria, Australia; Wyndham St, Auckland, N.Z; Canadian Agent (educ bks) Ryerson Press

Colonial Williamsburg, Inc, Box 215, Williamsburg, Va; refer trade orders to Dietz

Colt. The Colt Press (Jane Grabhorn and William Roth) 617 Montgomery St, San Francisco 9; Eastern Agent, John S. Clapp, Stuyvesant Av, Rye, N.Y.

Columbia Educ. Bks, Inc, 151 N. Michigan Av, Chicago

Columbia Univ. Press, 2960 Broadway, N.Y. 27; Agents, Oxford (London and Bombay); King (for studies in Hist, Economics & Public Law); Am. Agent for the publications of the League of Nations

Acquired the publications of Facsimile Text Soc.

Have division, King's Crown Press

Commerce Clearing House, Inc, 214 N Michigan Av, Chicago; 350 5th Av, N.Y; 220 Munsey Bldg, Washington, D.C.

Commonwealth Fund. Commonwealth Fund, Division of Publications, 41 E 57th St, N.Y. 22

Compton. F. E. Compton & Co, 1000 N Dearborn St, Chicago

Comstock Pub. Co, Inc, 124 Roberts Pl, Cornell Heights, Ithaca, N.Y; Canadian Agent, McClelland

Cornell Maritime. Cornell Maritime Press, 241 W 23d St, N.Y. 11; Canadian Agent, General Pub. Co, Ltd, 17 Queen St, E, Toronto, 2

Cornell Univ. Press, 124 Roberts Pl, Cornell Heights, Ithaca, N.Y.

Council on Foreign Relations, Inc, 45 E 65th St, N.Y.

Coward-McCann, Inc, 2 W. 45th St, N.Y. 19; Canadian Agent, Longmans (Toronto)

Creative Age. Creative Age Press, Inc, 11 E 44th St, N.Y. 17; Canadian Agent, McClelland

Crofts. F. S. Crofts & Co, 101 5th Av, N.Y; refer trade orders to Dodd; Agents (trade) Oxford (Toronto); (educ) Clarke, Irwin

Crowell. The Thomas Y. Crowell Company, 432 4th Av, N.Y. 16 [Cable Address: Tycrowell New York]; Canadian Agent, Oxford (Toronto)

Crown. Crown Pubs, 419 4th Av, N.Y. 16 [Cable Address: Letout New York]; Canadian Agent, Ryerson Press

Arden Bk. Co. publications again handled by Arden Bk.

Subsidiary of Outlet

Purchased the assets and publications of Covici

Cupples. Cupples & Leon Company, 470 4th Av, N.Y. [Cable Address: Cupleon]; Canadian Agent, Ryerson Press

Dartnell Corp, 4660 Ravenswood Av, Chicago 40; 400 Madison Av, N.Y. Cable Address: Elville, New York; Darnell Bldg, Letchworth, Hertfordshire, England; Canadian Agent, General Pub. Co, Ltd, 17 Queen St, E, Toronto, 2

Also use imprint of Dartnell Press

Dartnell Press. See Dartnell Corp.

Day. John Day Co, Inc, 2 W 45th St, N.Y. 19; Canadian Agent, Longmans (Toronto)

Daye. Stephen Daye Press, Inc, Room 12, 67 Main St, Brattleboro, Vt; 48 E 43d St, N.Y. 17

Destiny. Destiny Publishers, 22 Summit Av, Haverhill, Mass.

Publishers for Anglo-Saxon Federation of Am.

Devin-Adair. Devin-Adair Company, 23-25 E 26th St, N.Y.

Dial Press, Inc, 432 4th Av, N.Y. [Cable Address: Dialpubco]; Canadian Agent, Longmans (Toronto)

Dietz. Dietz Press, 112 E Cary St, Richmond 19, Va.

Dodd. Dodd, Mead & Company, Inc, 432 4th Av, N.Y. 16 [Cable Address: Dodd New York]; Dodd, Mead & Company (Canada) Ltd, 215-219 Victoria St, Toronto

Acquired the Book dept. of Yachting

Dorrance. Dorrance & Company, Inc, 364 Drexel Bldg, 5th & Chestnut Sts, Philadelphia 6

Doubleday. Doubleday, Doran & Company, Inc, Garden City, N.Y. 20 [Cable Address: Doubledor New York]; 91 Great Russell St, London, WC 1; Canadian Agent, McClelland

A consolidation of Doubleday, Page & Co, George H. Doran Co, Nelson Doubleday, Inc, and Garden City Pub. Co.

Acquired ownership of Blue Ribbon Bks; publish as Heyday House; and sold textbook publications to Odyssey

Sun Dial publications now obtainable directly, though still connected with Doubleday

Dryden. The Dryden Press, Inc, 103 Park Av, N.Y. 17

Acquired the publications of Cordon

Duell. Duell, Sloan & Pearce, Inc, 270 Madison Av, N.Y. 16 [Cable Address: Swordswords]; Canadian Agent, Collins (Toronto)

Duke Univ, Durham, N.C; Agents, Cambridge; Maruzen

Address Duke Univ. Press

Dutton. E.P. Dutton & Co, Inc, 286-302 4th Av, N.Y. 10 [Cable Address: Yardfar New York]; Canadian Agent, Smithers

Elgin. Elgin Press, 16-24 S State St, Elgin, Ill.

Connected with Brethren Pub.

Encyclopaedia Britannica, Inc, 20 N Wacker Drive, Chicago; 90 Dean St, Soho Sq, London, W 1; 342 Madison Av, N.Y.

Falmouth. Falmouth Publishing House, 4 Milk St, Portland, Me.

Also publish as Dirigo Editions

Family Welfare. Family Welfare Association of America, 122 E 22d St, N.Y.

Farrar. Farrar & Rinehart, Inc, 232 Madison Av, N.Y. 16 [Cable Address: Farrine]; Canadian Agent, Oxford (Toronto)

Faxon. F. W. Faxon Company, 83-91 Francis St, Back Bay, Boston; English Agent, Grafton & Co.

Fellowship of Reconciliation. See Fellowship Publications

Fellowship Publications, 2929 Broadway, N.Y.

Formerly publish as Fellowship of Reconciliation (N Y)

Fine Editions. Fine Editions Press, 227 E 45th St, N.Y. 17

Fischer, L.B. L. B. Fischer Publishing Corporation, 381 4th Av, N.Y. 16; Canadian Agent, McClelland

Fordham Univ. Press, E Fordham Rd, N.Y.

Foundation Press, Inc, 222 W Adams St, Chicago

Friendship Press, 156 5th Av, N.Y.; Canadian Agent, Ryerson Press

See also Missionary Educ. Movement

Funk. Funk & Wagnalls Company, 354-360 4th Av, N.Y. 10; 17A Farringdon St, London, EC 4; Canadian Agents, Oxford; (dictionaries) Ryerson Press

Funk, W. Wilfred Funk, Inc, 354 4th Av, N.Y; refer trade orders to Follett; Canadian Agent, Longmans (Toronto)

Garden City Pub. Co, Inc, Garden City, N.Y. 20; Canadian Agent, Blue Ribbon Bks. (Toronto)

Acquired ownership of Blue Ribbon Bks. and the publications of Windward

Also publish as New Home Lib.

See also Doubleday

Ginn. Ginn and Company (Athenæum Press) Statler Bldg, Park Sq, Boston 17 [Cable Address: Eginn Boston]; 2301-2311 Prairie Av, Chicago; 70 5th Av, N.Y. [Cable Address: Eginn New York]; 165 Luckie St, NW, Atlanta; 1510 Young St, Dallas; 199 E Gay St, Columbus, Ohio; 45 2d St, San Francisco [Cable Address: Eginn San Francisco]; 863 Bay St, Toronto; 7 Queen Sq, Southampton Row, London, WC 1

Gold Label. Gold Label Books, Inc, 386 4th Av, N.Y.; Canadian Agent, McLeod

Again pub. under own imprint

Goodheart-Willcox. The Goodheart-Willcox Company, Inc, 2009 S Michigan Av, Chicago 16 [Cable Address: Goodwill Chicago]; Canadian Agent, General Pub. Co, Ltd, 17 Queen St, E, Toronto, 2

Gotham Bkmart. Gotham Bookmart Press, 51 W 47th St, N.Y.

Grafton & Co. (Frank Hamel) Coptic House, 51 Great Russell St, London, WC 1 [Cable Address: Copticity]

Greenberg, Publisher, Inc, 400 Madison Av, N.Y. 17 [Cable Address: Greenink]; Canadian Agent, McLeod

Also publish as Regent House; Pickwick Press

Grosset. Grosset & Dunlap, Inc, 1107 Broadway, N.Y. 10 [Cable Address: Groslap, New York]; Canadian Agent, McLeod

Purchased the business of Barse & Co.

Hall & McCreary. Hall & McCreary Company, 434 S Wabash Av, Chicago; Calif. School Bk. Depository, 1233 S. Hope St, Los Angeles

Hammond. C. S. Hammond & Co, Inc, 88 Lexington Av, N.Y. [Cable Address: Birham]

Harcourt. Harcourt, Brace & Company, Inc, 383 Madison Av, N.Y. 17; for high school texts only: 1525 E 53d St, Chicago [Cable Address: Harbrace, New York]; Canadian Agent, McLeod

Harper. Harper & Brothers (Pleiad Press Imprint) 49 E 33d St, N.Y. 16 [Cable Address: Harpsam]; 90 Great Russell St, London, WC 1; Canadian Agent, Musson

Acquired the publications of Hoeber which will remain under the imprint: Paul B. Hoeber, Inc, Medical Bk. Dept. of Harper & Brothers

Harvard Univ. Bur. of Business Research, Soldiers Field, Boston 63

Harvard Univ. Press, Pub. Dept, 38 Quincy St, Cambridge 38, Mass; English Agent, Oxford

Acquired the Loeb Classical Library from Putnam

Harvest. Harvest House, 50 W 17th St, N.Y; Canadian Agent, Smithers Subsidiary of Metro Publications

Hastings House, 67 W 44th St, N.Y. 18; Canadian Agent, Saunders, S.J.R.

Heath. D. C. Heath & Company, 285 Columbus Av, Boston 16; 180 Varick St, N.Y; 1815 Prairie Av, Chicago; 29 Pryor St, NE, Atlanta; 182 2d St, San Francisco; 713 Browder St, Dallas; Agents, Copp; Harrap

Hebrew Union College, Clifton Av, Cincinnati

Affiliated branch of Union of Am. Hebrew Congregations

Heffer. W. Heffer & Sons, Ltd, 3-4 Petty Cury, Cambridge, England [Cable Address: Heffer Cambridge]; Canadian Agent, I. L. Hobden, 70 Bond St, Toronto, 2

Henley. The Norman W. Henley Publishing Company, 17-19 W 45th St, N.Y. [Cable Address: Norhenle]; Canadian Agent, General Pub. Co, Ltd, 17 Queen St, E, Toronto, 2

Herder. B. Herder Book Company, 15-17 S Broadway, St Louis 2; 33 Queen Sq, London, WC 1

Holiday. Holiday House, Inc, 72 5th Av, N.Y. 11; Canadian Agent, Saunders, S.J.R.

Holt. Henry Holt & Company, Inc, 257 4th Av, N.Y. 10; for educ. bks. only: 2626 Prairie Av, Chicago; 149 New Montgomery St, San Francisco [Cable Address: Aytcholt New York]; Agents, (trade) Oxford (Toronto); (educ) Clarke, Irwin

Houghton. Houghton Mifflin Company (Riverside Press, Cambridge) 2 Park St, Boston 7; 432 4th Av, N.Y; 2500 Prairie Av, Chicago; 500 Howard St, San Francisco; 715 Browder St, Dallas; 39 Harris St, Atlanta [Cable Address: Mulier, Boston]; Canadian Agents, Allen, T; Renouf; English Agent, Constable

For the duration of the war Textbook Dept. of Reynal will be handled by Houghton

Howard Univ. Graduate School, 2401 6th St, NW, Washington, D.C.

Howell, Soskin. Howell, Soskin, Publishers, Inc, 11-17 E 45th St, N.Y. 17; Canadian Agent, Allen, T.

Humphries. Bruce Humphries, Inc, 30 Winchester St, Boston; 16 E 43d St, N.Y; Agents: Daniel; Fritze; Ryerson Press; Taraporevala; Hicks, Smith & Wright, Ltd, 3 Harris St, Wellington, N.Z.

Successors to Four Seas Co.

Also publish as Int. Pocket Lib. Corp.

Industrial Press, 140-148 Lafayette St, N.Y; Agents, Machinery; General Pub. Co, Ltd, 17 Queen St, E, Toronto, 2

Industrial Publications, Inc, 59 E Van Buren St, Chicago

Inor. Inor Publishing Company, Inc, 207 4th Av, N.Y; Sweet Springs, Mo.

Inst. of Pacific Relations, Am. Council, 1 E 54th St, N.Y. 22 [Cable Address: Inparel]; 1795 California St, San Francisco; 316 Dillingham Bldg, Honolulu, Hawaii

Int. Mark Twain Soc, Webster Groves, Mo.

Int. Pubs. International Publishers Co, Inc, 381 4th Av, N.Y. 16 [Cable Address: Interbook]

Int. Textbook. International Textbook Company, 1001 Wyoming Av, Scranton 9, Pa.

Interscience. Interscience Publishers, Inc, 215 4th Av, N.Y. 3; English Agent, Imperia

Publish in cooperation with Nordeman

Iowa State College Press, Ames, Iowa

Formerly pub. as Collegiate

Publishers for bks. in Science & Technology for Iowa State College of Agric.

Iowa State Hist. Soc, Iowa City, Iowa

Island Workshop. Island Workshop Press Coop, Inc, 470 W 24th St, N.Y. 11

Use imprint Island Press

Jewish Pub. The Jewish Publication Society of America, 225 S 15th St, Philadelphia 2

Johns Hopkins Press, Homewood, Baltimore; English Agent, Oxford

Judd. Orange Judd Publishing Company, Inc, 15 E 26th St, N.Y; English Agent, Routledge; Canadian Agent, General Pub. Co, 17 Queen St, E, Toronto, 2

Kaleidograph. Kaleidograph Press, 624 N Vernon Av, Dallas 8
Formerly Kaleidoscope
Kinsey. H. C. Kinsey & Company, Inc, N.Y. See Putnam
Knopf. Alfred A. Knopf, 501 Madison Av, N.Y. 22 [Cable Address: Knopf]; Canadian Agent, Ryerson Press
Acquired the publications of The Wm. Penn Pub. Corp, N.Y, successors to The Penn Pub. Co, Philadelphia. Plays formerly pub. by them are now pub. by Penn Play

La. State Univ. Press, University, La.
Laidlaw. Laidlaw Brothers, Inc, 221 4th Av, N.Y. 3; 328 S Jefferson St, Chicago; 770 Mission St, San Francisco; refer all orders except educ. bks. to Whitman, A; Canadian Agent, Clarke, Irwin
Successors to Laird
Lippincott. J. B. Lippincott Company, 227-231 S 6th St, Philadelphia 5 [Cable Address: Lippcot Philadelphia]; 521 5th Av, N.Y; 333 W Lake St, Chicago; Aldine House, 10-13 Bedford St, London, WC 2; Canadian Agent, Longmans (Toronto); (medical dept only) 2083 Guy St, Montreal
Acquired the publications of Carrick
Little. Little, Brown & Company, 34 Beacon St, Boston 6 [Cable Address: Brownlit]; Canadian Agent, McClelland; (educ bks) Macmillan (Toronto); (elementary educ bks) Ryerson Press
Publishers for Atlantic Monthly Press Publications
Liveright. Liveright Publishing Corporation, 386 4th Av, N.Y. 16 [Cable Address: Liveright, New York]; Canadian Agent, Smithers
Formerly Boni & Liveright
Longmans. Longmans, Green & Company, Inc, 55 5th Av, N.Y. 3 [Cable Address: Freegrove New York]; 215-219 Victoria St, Toronto, 2; Ambleside, 43 Albert Drive, London, SW 19; 53 Nicol Rd, Bombay; Chittaranjan Av, Calcutta; for school books only: 221 E 20th St, Chicago
Lothrop. Lothrop, Lee & Shepard Co, 386 4th Av, N.Y; 126 Newbury St, Boston; Canadian Agent, Longmans (Toronto)
Owned and operated by Crown

McBride. Robert M. McBride & Company, 116 E 16th St, N.Y. 3 [Cable Address: Brideco]; Canadian Agent, McLeod
Own and control Dodge
McGraw. McGraw-Hill Book Company, Inc, 330 W 42d St, N.Y. 18; 68 Post St, San Francisco; Aldwych House, Aldwych, London, WC 2 [Cable Address: McGraw Hill New York]; Canadian Agents, McLeod; (Mechanical) General Pub. Co, Ltd, 17 Queen St, E, Toronto 2
Trade Bks. pub. under name Whittlesey House
McKay. David McKay Company, 604-608 S Washington Sq, Philadelphia 6; 9 Rockefeller Plaza, N.Y; Canadian Agent, Musson
McKnight. McKnight & McKnight, 109-111 W Market St, Bloomington, Ill; Canadian Agent, Moyer School Supplies, 106 York St, Toronto
Macmillan. The Macmillan Company, 60 5th Av, N.Y. 11 [Cable Address: Pachamac New York]; 2459 Prairie Av, Chicago 16; 1701 Ross Av, Dallas 1; 240 Newbury St, Boston 16; 289 Peach Tree St, NE, Atlanta 3; 350 Mission St, San Francisco 5; The Macmillan Co. of Canada, Ltd, St Martin's House, 70 Bond St, Toronto, 2; Macmillan & Co, Ltd, 10 St Martin's St, Leicester Sq, London, WC 2 [Cable Address: Publish London]; 276 Hornby Rd, Bombay; Patullo Rd, Mount Rd. P.O, Madras, India; 294 Bow Bazar St, Calcutta; 32-34 Flinders St, Melbourne, C 1, Victoria, Australia
Macrae Smith Co, Lewis Tower Bldg. 225 S 15th St, Philadelphia 2 [Cable Address: Macsco]; Agent, Mill; Canadian Agent, Am. News Co. (Toronto)
Marquette Univ. Press, 1131 W Wisconsin Av, Milwaukee
Marquis. A. N. Marquis Company, 919 N Michigan Av, Chicago [Cable Address: Marquis]
Mennonite. Mennonite Pub. House, 610-614 Walnut Av, Scottdale, Pa.
Merriam. G. & C. Merriam Company, 47 Federal St, Springfield 2, Mass; Canadian Agent, Allen, T.
Messner. Julian Messner, Inc, Publishers, 8 W 40th St, N.Y. 18; Canadian Agent, Smithers
Acquired the publications of King, A.H.
Middlebury College, Middlebury, Vt.
Address The Middlebury College Press
Military Service. Military Service Publishing Company, 100 Telegraph Bldg, Harrisburg, Pa.
Sell bks. pub. by all military journals
Formerly Nat. Service Pub. Co.
Mill. M. S. Mill Co, Inc, 286 5th Av, N.Y. 1; Canadian Agent, McLeod
Miss. Valley Press, Oxford, Ohio
Modern Lib. Modern Library, Inc, 20 E 57th St, N.Y. 22; Canadian Agent, Macmillan (Toronto); English Agent, Hamilton, H; (Modern Lib. Giants) Lane
Owned and controlled by Random House
Morehouse. Morehouse-Gorham Company, Inc, 14 E 41st St, N.Y. 17 [Cable Address: Housemore, New York]
Consolidated Morehouse Publishing Company and Edwin S. Gorham, Inc.
Morrow. William Morrow & Co, Inc, 386 4th Av, N.Y. 16 [Cable Address: Wilmorrow]; Canadian Agent, McClelland
Also publish as Jefferson House
Murray & Gee, Inc, 1622 N Highland Av, Los Angeles; Eastern Agent, Mill
Museum of Modern Art, 11 W 53d St, N.Y. [Cable Address: Modernart]

N.Y. Public Lib, 5th Av & 42d St, N.Y.
Nat. Aeronautics. National Aeronautics Council, Inc, 37 W 47th St, N.Y.
Subsidiary of Wise
Nat. Bur. of Economic Research, Inc, 1819 Broadway, N.Y. 23
Nat. Catholic Welfare Conf, 1312 Massachusetts Av, NW, Washington, 5, D.C.
Nat. Educ. Alliance, 37 W 47th St, N.Y.
Nat. Foremen. National Foremen's Inst, Inc, Deep River, Conn. [Cable Address: Naft]; 60 E 42d St, N.Y; 360 N Michigan Av, Chicago
Subsidiary Bur. of Business Practice
Nat. Home Lib. National Home Library Foundation, 1213 St Matthews Ct, NW, Washington, D.C.
Nat. Probation Assn, Inc, 1790 Broadway, N.Y. 19; 110 Sutter St, San Francisco 4
Nelson. Thomas Nelson & Sons, 385 Madison Av, N.Y; 91 Wellington St, W, Toronto, 2; Parkside Works, Dalkeith Rd, Edinburgh, 4; (incorporating T. C. & E. Jack, Ltd) 3 Henrietta St, London, WC 2
Transferred Elementary & High School Textbooks to Newson; also College Text Dept. to Ronald Nelson, C.C. C. C. Nelson Publishing Company, 213-215 E Washington St, Appleton, Wis.
New Directions, Norfolk, Conn; 67 W 44th St, N.Y. 18
Nickerson & Collins. Nickerson & Collins Co, 435 N Waller Av, Chicago
Northwestern Univ, Evanston, Ill.
Norton. W. W. Norton & Company, Inc, 70 5th Av, N.Y. [Cable Address: Seagull]; Canadian Agent, McLeod

Ore. State College, Corvallis, Ore.
Oxford. Oxford University Press, 114 5th Av, N.Y. 11 [Cable Address: Frowde]; 480-486 University Av, Toronto, 2; (including imprints of Clarendon Press, and Humphrey Milford), Amen House, Warwick Sq, London, EC 4 [Cable Address: Oxonian London]; St Luke's House, Young St, Edinburgh; 205 Flinders Lane, Melbourne, C 1, Victoria, Australia; B.I. Bldg, Nicol Rd, Bombay; Markham's Bldgs, Adderley St, Cape Town; US Agent for Phaidon Press Bks; Canadian Agent (educ) Clarke, Irwin
For music publications address Fischer, Carl; Oxford Univ. Press, 36 Soho Sq, London, W 1
Publish Home Univ. Lib. publications formerly pub. by Butterworth, T.

Pa. Bk. Service, Cameron & Keller Sts, Harrisburg, Pa.

Packard & Co. Packard & Company, 417 S Dearborn St, Chicago

Pantheon Bks, Inc, 41 Washington Sq, N.Y. 3

Penn. The Wm. Penn Publishing Corp, N.Y. See Knopf

Philosophical Lib, Inc, 15 E 40th St, N.Y. 16
Now handling their own publications

Phoenix. Phoenix Press, 419 4th Av, N.Y. 16
Also use imprint of Gramercy Pub. Co.
Subsidiary of Outlet

Pilgrim Press (of the Congregational Pub. Soc) 14 Beacon St, Boston 8; 19 S La Salle St, Chicago

Pitman. Pitman Pub. Corp, 2-6 W 45th St, N.Y. 19; Sir Isaac Pitman & Sons (Canada) Ltd, Pitman House, 381-383 Church St, Toronto; Sir Isaac Pitman & Sons, Ltd, Pitman House, 39-41 Parker St, Kingsway, London, WC 2; refer trade orders to The Book Centre, Ltd, N Circular Rd, Neasden, London, NW, 10; Box 4504, G.P.O, Melbourne, Victoria, Australia; 27 Beckett's Bldg, Johannesburg, S Africa; A. H. Wheeler & Co, Calcutta; Pitman Press, Bath, England
Acquired the publications of Wilson, E; the aeronautical publications of Gale

Pond-Ekberg. The Pond-Ekberg Company, 9-11 Andrew St, Springfield, Mass.

Prairie. Prairie Press, Muscatine, Iowa

Prentice-Hall, Inc, 70 5th Av, N.Y. 11; Hobart Bldg, 582 Market St, San Francisco; Canadian Agent, McClelland

Presbyterian Bd. Presbyterian Board of Christian Education, Publication Department (The Westminster Press) Witherspoon Bldg, Philadelphia 7; depositories at 156 5th Av N.Y; 8 S Dearborn St, Chicago; 234 McAllister St, San Francisco; Granite Bldg, Pittsburgh

Press of James A. Decker, Prairie City, Ill.
Also use imprint of Village Press
See also Black Faun

Princeton Univ. Press, Princeton, N.J; English Agent, Oxford; Canadian Agent, Ryerson Press

Professional & Tech. Press, 11 W 42d St, N.Y. 18

Putnam. G. P. Putnam's Sons (Knickerbocker Press) Putnam Bldg, 2-6 W 45th St, N.Y. 19; Putnam & Co, Ltd, 42 Great Russell St, London, WC 1 [Cable Address: Putnam, New York]; Canadian Agent, Allen, T; for Putnam (London) McClelland
Acquired the publications of Kinsey; also handle and sell all Minton publications
Loeb Classical Library acquired by Harvard Univ. Press

Radio. Radio & Technical Publishing Company, N.Y. See Farrar

Rand McNally. Rand McNally & Company, 536 S Clark St, Chicago 5 [Cable Address: Ranally Chicago]; 111 8th Av, N.Y. 11; 559 Mission St, San Francisco 5; (educ bks) 2009 Terrace Pl, Nashville 4, Tenn; 1104 Nat. Press Bldg, Washington 4, D.C; Canadian Agent, Allen, T. (educ bks) Gage

Rand School. Rand School Press, 7 E 15th St, N.Y.

Random House, Inc. 20 E 57th St, N.Y. 22; Canadian Agent, Macmillan (Toronto)
Acquired all titles by Marcel Proust from Boni and those by Gertrude Stein from Plain Edition; also purchased Burt Home Library from Blue Ribbon Bks. Own and control Modern Lib; merged with Smith, H. April 1, 1936. Handle the Nonesuch Library Series of Nonesuch; also handle Carlton House Publications again

Readers Club, 41 E 57th St, N.Y.

Revell. Fleming H. Revell Company, 158 5th Av, N.Y. 10; English Agent, Oliphants
Also pub. trade bks. jointly with Assn. Press under imprint Assn. Press-Revell

Reynal. Reynal & Hitchcock, 386 4th Av, N.Y. 16; Canadian Agent, McClelland
For the duration: Reynal will handle books of Stewart; Bks. of Reynal Textbook Dept. will be handled by Houghton

Ronald. The Ronald Press Company, 15 E 26th St, N.Y. 10
Acquired the College Text bks. of Nelson

Row. Row, Peterson & Company, 1911 Ridge Av, Evanston, Ill; 131 E 23d St, N.Y; 149 New Montgomery St, San Francisco [Cable Address: Ropeco]; Canadian Agents, Copp; (dramatic) Robinson, A.M.

Roy Pubs, a.n. 25 W 45th St, N.Y. 19

Rudge. William E. Rudge's Sons, Inc, 225 Varick St, N.Y.
Supersedes the old firm of W. E. Rudge

Russell Sage. Russell Sage Foundation, 130 E 22d St, N.Y. 10

Rutgers Univ. Press, New Brunswick, N.J.

Ryerson Press (United Church Pub. House) 299 Queen St, W, Toronto, 2 [Cable Address: Guardian Toronto]
For educ. matters address The Educational Dept.

Salloch. William Salloch, 344 E 17th St, N.Y. 3

Sargent. Porter Edward Sargent, 11 Beacon St, Boston

Saunders. W. B. Saunders Company, 218 West Washington Sq, Philadelphia 5; 7 Grape St, Shaftesbury Av, London, WC 2

Sci-Art Pubs, Harvard Sq, Cambridge, Mass.

Science Press, N Queen St & McGovern Av, Lancaster, Pa.

Scott. Scott, Foresman & Company, 623-633 S Wabash Av, Chicago 5; 114-120 E 23d St, N.Y; 29 Pryor St, NE, Atlanta; 308 Santa Fe Bldg, Dallas [Cable Address: Scoresman, Chicago]; Canadian Agent, Gage

Scott, W.R. William R. Scott, Inc, Box 331, N Bennington, Vt; 72 5th Av, N.Y; Canadian Agent, Saunders, S.J.R.

Scribner. Charles Scribner's Sons, 597-599 5th Av, N.Y. 17; 23 Bedford Sq, London, WC 1 [Cable Address: Halcanero]; for school bks. only: 320 E 21st St, Chicago; Canadian Agent, Saunders, S.J.R.

Sheed. Sheed & Ward, Inc, Ludgate House, 110-111 Fleet St, London, EC 4; 63 5th Av, N.Y. 3 [Cable Address: Stanza, New York]; Agents (trade) Oxford (Toronto); (educ) Clarke, Irwin

Sheet Metal. Sheet Metal Publication Co. (Edwin A. Scott Pub. Co) 45 W 45th St, N.Y. 19

Sheet Metal Worker (Edwin A. Scott Pub. Co) N.Y. See Sheet Metal

Sheridan. Sheridan House, Inc, 257 4th Av, N.Y. 10; Canadian Agent, McLeod
Purchased the publications of Furman also Macaulay for remaindering

Silver. Silver, Burdett & Company, Everett Bldg, 45 E 17th St, N.Y. 3; Wesleyan Bldg, 581 Boylston St, Boston; 221 E 20th St, Chicago; 149 New Montgomery St, San Francisco; Canadian Agent, Gage

Simmons-Boardman. Simmons-Boardman Publishing Corporation, 30 Church St, N.Y. 7; 105 W Adams St, Chicago; Terminal Tower, 50 Public Sq, Cleveland; Nat. Press Bldg, Washington, D.C; Canadian Agent, General Pub. Co, Ltd, 17 Queen St, E, Toronto, 2

Simon & Schuster, Inc, 1230 6th Av, Rockefeller Center, N.Y. 20; Refer trade orders to 100 6th Av, N.Y. 13 [Cable Address: Essandess]; Canadian Agent, Musson

Smith, P. Peter Smith, 321 5th Av, N.Y.

Smith, Richard R. Richard R. Smith, 120 E 39th St, N.Y. 16
Also use imprint of Margent Press

Smith, T.E. Turner E. Smith & Co, 441 W Peachtree St, NE, Atlanta; Canadian Agent, Copp
Successors to Smith, Hammond & Co.

Smith & Durrell, Inc, 67 W 44th St, N.Y. 18; Canadian Agent, McLeod
Formerly pub. as Harrison-Hilton
Subsidiary of Barnes, A.S.

Social Science Research Council, 230 Park Av, N.Y. [Cable Address: Socscience New York]

Southern Meth. Univ. Arnold Foundation, Dallas
Issue the publications of Inst. of Public Affairs

St Anthony Guild. St Anthony Guild Press, 508 Marshall St, Paterson 3, N.J.

Stackpole Sons, Cameron & Kelker Sts, Harrisburg, Pa; Canadian Agent, Allen, T.

Stanford Univ. Press, Stanford University, Calif. [Cable Address: Sunipress]; English Agent, Oxford; depositories: Maruzen; Nijhoff

Stechert. G. E. Stechert & Company [Alfred Hafner] 31-37 E 10th St, N.Y. 3; 2 Star Yard, Carey St, London, WC 2; Hospitalstr 10, Leipzig, Germany; 16 rue de Conde, Paris, 6e [Cable Address: Stechert co]

Stewart. George W. Stewart, Publisher, Inc, 67 W 44th St, N.Y; Canadian Agent, McLeod
For the duration refer trade orders to Reynal

Stokes. Frederick A. Stokes Company, 227-231 S 6th St, Philadelphia; 521 5th Av, N.Y; Canadian Agent, Longmans (Toronto)

Studio. Studio Publications, 66 Chandos Pl, London, WC 2; 381 4th Av, N.Y. 16 [Cable Address: Studiopubs]; Canadian Agent, Musson

Sun Dial. Sun Dial Press, Inc, Garden City, N.Y; Canadian Agent, Blue Ribbon Bks. (Toronto)
See also Doubleday

Swift, J.S. John S. Swift Co, Inc, 2100 Locust St, St Louis; 455 W 30th St, N.Y; Walsh Bldg, 5 E 3d St, Cincinnati

Teachers College, Columbia University, 525 W 120th St, N.Y. 27

Thomas, C.C. Charles C. Thomas, Publisher, 220 E Monroe St, Springfield, Ill. [Cable Address: Thomas Springfield]; Agents, Chicago Med; Stacey; Bailliere; Angus; Fritze; Lawyers Co-op; M. V. Fresneda, Apartado 1947, Havana, Cuba; Scheltema's & Holkema's, Rokin 74-76, Amsterdam, Netherlands; Pop. Bk. Depot, Grant Rd, Bombay, 7; Mezhdunarodnaja Kniga, Kuibyshev, U.S.S.R.; Canadian Agent, Ryerson Press

Transatlantic. Transatlantic Arts, 69-81, 108th St, Forest Hills, N.Y; 45 Great Russell St, London, W.C. 1
Owned and operated by Vajna

Tudor. Tudor Publishing Company, 221-227 4th Av, N.Y; Canadian Agent, Musson

Twentieth Century Fund, Inc, 330 W 42d St, N.Y. 18

U.S. Naval Inst. United States Naval Institute, Secretary & Treasurer of the United States Naval Institute, Annapolis, Md.

Ungar. Frederick Ungar Publishing Co, 105 E 24th St, N.Y. 10; Western Distributor, Perkins

Union of Am. Hebrew Congregations (Riverdale Press) 32-34 W 6th St, Cincinnati
See also Hebrew Union College

United Lutheran Pub. United Lutheran Publication House, 1228-1234 Spruce St, Philadelphia; 860 N Wabash Av, Chicago; 610 Smithfield St, Pittsburgh; Drawer 190, 1617 Sumter St, Columbia, S.C.
Publishers for the United Lutheran Church in America
Trade name Muhlenberg Press

Univ. of Ala, University, Ala.

Univ. of Calif, Berkeley 4, Calif; English Agent, Cambridge
Address The University of Calif. Press, California Hall, Berkeley, Calif.

Univ. of Chicago Press, 5750 Ellis Av, Hyde Park Station, Chicago 37; California School Bk. Depository, 159 New Montgomery St, San Francisco; Lone Star School Bk. Depository, 707 Browder St, Dallas; Agents, Cambridge; Gage

Univ. of Ill, Urbana, Ill.
Address The Univ. of Ill. Press

Univ. of Iowa, Iowa City, Iowa
Address The Dept. of Publications

Univ. of Kan, Lawrence, Kan.

Univ. of Mich, Ann Arbor, Mich; European Agent, Oxford
Address The University of Mich. Press, 311 Maynard St, Ann Arbor, Mich.

Univ. of Minn, Minneapolis 14; British Agent, Oxford
Address The University of Minn. Press

Univ. of N.C. Press, Box 510, Chapel Hill, N.C; English Agent, Oxford

Univ. of Neb, Lincoln, Neb.
Address The University of Neb. Press

Univ. of Okla. Press, Faculty Exchange, Norman, Okla.

Univ. of Pa. Press, 3622 Locust St, Philadelphia; Canadian Agent, Ryerson Press; English Agent, Oxford
Acquired the series Studies and Documents from Lake, K.
Am. Philosophical Soc. again distributes own publications

Univ. of Pittsburgh, Bigelow & Parkman Sts, Pittsburgh
Address The University of Pittsburgh Press

Univ of Toronto Press, Toronto, 5
Books formerly imprinted Univ. of Toronto Lib. are now pub. by the Press

Univ. of Wis. Press, 811 State St, Madison, Wis.
Requests for Pharmaceutical publications should be addressed to the Director of the Pharmaceutical Experiment Station, Madison, Tenn.

Vanderbilt Univ. Press, Kirkland Hall, Nashville, Tenn.

Vanguard. Vanguard Press, Inc, 424 Madison Av, N.Y; Canadian Agent, Copp
Macy-Masius merged with this company in 1928

Van Nostrand. D. Van Nostrand Company, Inc, 250 4th Av, N.Y. 3 [Cable Address: Bowline]; Canadian Agent, General Pub. Co, Ltd, 17 Queen St, E, Toronto, 2; (high school bks) Gage

Viking. The Viking Press, Inc, 18 E 48th St, N.Y. 17; Canadian Agent, Macmillan (Toronto)

Wagner, J.F. Joseph F. Wagner, Inc, 53 Park Pl, N.Y; English Agent, Herder

Wahr. George Wahr, 103-105 N Main St, Ann Arbor, Mich.

Washburn. Ives Washburn, Inc, 27-29 W 57th St, N.Y. 19; Canadian Agent, Smithers

Watson-Guptill. Watson-Guptill Publications, Inc, 330 W 42d St, N.Y. 18
Subsidiary of Reinhold

Webb. Webb Book Publishing Company, 55-79 E 10th St, St Paul 1, Minn.

Whitman, A. Albert Whitman & Company, 560 W Lake St, Chicago 6; Eastern Agent, Barrows; Canadian Agent, McLeod
Acquired all the publications except educational of Laidlaw Bros.

Wilde. W. A. Wilde Company, 131 Clarendon St, Boston; Canadian Agent, Upper Canada Tract Soc, 406 Yonge St, Toronto

Wiley. John Wiley & Sons, Inc, 440 4th Av, N.Y. 16 [Cable Address: Jonwile, New York]; depository at Tech. Bk. Co, 432 Market St, San Francisco; Agents, Renouf; Chapman

Willett. Willett, Clark & Company, 37 W Van Buren St, Chicago [Cable Address: Wilbook]; 35 E 20th St, N.Y; Canadian Agent, Ryerson Press

Wilson, H.W. The H. W. Wilson Company, 950-972 University Av, N.Y. 52 [Cable Address: Wilsondex]; Agents, W. & R. Holmes, 3-11 Dunlop St, Glasgow; C 1; G. Hedeler, Kurzestr 4, Leipzig, C 1, Germany

Winston. John C. Winston Company, 1006-1016 Arch St, Philadelphia 7 [Cable Address: Winston Philadelphia]; 623-629 S Wabash Av, Chicago; 60 Front St, W, Toronto
Also publish as Universal Bk. & Bible House

Wise. Wm. H. Wise & Company, 50 W 47th St, N.Y; Agent, Mill; Canadian Agent, Musson
See also Nat. Aeronautics

Wise Bk. Co, 381 4th Av, N.Y; Canadian Agent, McLeod

Wood. William Wood & Company (Division of the Williams & Wilkins Co) Mt Royal & Guilford Avs, Baltimore

World Bk. World Book Company, 313 Park Hill Av, Yonkers 5, N.Y. [Cable Address: Foresta Yonkers]; 2126 Prairie Av, Chicago; 441 W Peachtree St, NE, Atlanta; 14 Beacon St, Boston; 707 Browder St, Dallas; 149 New Montgomery St, San Francisco; 408 SW 5th Av, Portland, Ore; Canadian Agents, Gage; Renouf

World Peace. World Peace Foundation, 40 Mt Vernon St, Boston

World Pub. The World Publishing Co, 2231 W 110th St, Cleveland 2; 14 W 49th St, Rockefeller Center, N.Y; 209 S State St, Chicago; 414 Maxfield Bldg, Los Angeles; 60 Front St, W, Toronto [Cable Address: Worlds]
Formerly pub. as World Syndicate

Writer. The Writer, Inc, 8 Arlington St, Boston

Yale Univ. Press, 143 Elm St, New Haven 7, Conn; 386 4th Av, N.Y; English Agent, Oxford; Canadian Agent, Ryerson Press
Am. Oriental Ser. and Offprint Ser. of Am. Oriental Soc. now obtainable from Am. Oriental Soc.

Ziff-Davis. Ziff-Davis Publishing Company, Michigan Sq Bldg, 540 N Michigan Av, Chicago 11; 270 Madison Av, N.Y.
Acquired the publications of Alliance Bk. now dissolved.

R
Z
1219
C95
1943

GTU LIBRARY
3 2400 00643 0627

Reference